SECTION 325-A. Scope of law.—Any person employed as signalman, towerman, gateman, lever man, agent, train dispatcher, telegraph or telephone operator, in a railroad signal tower or public railroad station to receive or transmit a telegraphic or telephonic message or train order for the movement of trains and who works eight hours or more in any twenty-four each and every day continuously, and all lever men employed in connection with the reception or transmission of a telegraphic or telephonic message or train order for the movement of trains and who work the number of hours aforesaid must have and shall be allowed at least two days of twenty-four hours each in each and every calendar month for rest with the regular compensation; except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by accident, fire, flood, or danger to life or property, and for such extra service in case or cases of such emergency, such employee or employees who shall work on extra days by reason of such emergency shall be paid in addition to his regular compensation for and during the calendar month in which such extra service shall be rendered an amount equal to his average daily compensation for each day during which he performs such extra service. Any person or persons, company, corporation, or association who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall on conviction pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) for each violation thereof, and such fine shall be recovered by an action of debt in the name of the State of Maryland for the use of the State, which shall sue for it against such person, company, corporation, or association violating this section, said suit to be instituted in any court of this State having appropriate jurisdiction, and such fine when recovered, as aforesaid, shall be paid without any deduction whatever, one-half thereof to the informer and the balance thereof to be paid into the public-school fund of the State of Maryland.

ARTICE 23.—Employment of children—Messenger service

SECTION 375. Night work.—[Forbids telegraph, telephone, and messenger companies to employ any person under 14 in messenger service, or anyone under 16 between 8 p. m. and 8 a. m.]

SEC. 376. Minors not to go to certain places.—[Forbids same to cause or permit any minor to go to any house of ill repute or questionable character.]

SEC. 377. Penalty.—[Penalties of fine or imprisonment or both for violations.]

ARTICLE 23.—Accidents on railroads, etc.—Reports and investigations

SECTION 434. Duty of commission.—[The public service commission must investigate all accidents on street and steam railroads causing loss of life or personal injury which in its judgment require investigation. Reports are to be made of such accidents within 30 days, but may not be admitted as evidence in any suit for damages.]

ARTICLE 27.—Labor agreements not conspiracy

SECTION 33. Combinations not conspiracy, when.—An agreement or combination by two or more persons to do or procure to be done any act in contemplation or furtherance of a trade dispute between employers and workmen, shall not be indictable as a conspiracy, if such act, committed by one person, would not be punishable as an offense; nothing in this section shall affect the law relating to riot, unlawful assembly, breach of the peace, or any offense against any person or against property.

ARTICLE 27.—Seats for female employees in mercantile establishments

SECTION 260. Seats required.—[Proprietors of wholesale and retail stores, and other places where female help is employed to serve the public, must furnish each female employee a chair or stool for use when not actively engaged in the duties of her employment; use must not be forbidden. Penalties are provided; department of health to enforce.]

ARTICLE 27—Factory regulations

SECTION 264. Establishments to be registered.—The owner of every factory, manufacturing and mechanical establishment and workshop, and of every store or other mercantile establishment employing five or more persons shall register same with the bureau of statistics and information, giving the name and home address of the owner, and if the owner is a corporation the name and home address of its president and manager or chief business agent, the address of the business, the name under which it is carried on, the number of employees, and such other data as the chief of the bureau of statistics and information may require. Such registration of existing establishments shall be made within six months after April 16, 1914; those hereafter established shall be so registered within thirty days after the commencement of business. Within thirty days after a change in the location of any such establishment the owner thereof shall file with the bureau of statistics and information the new address of the business, together with such other information as the chief of said bureau may require. The registration required by this section shall be made upon blanks supplied by the bureau of statistics and information.

Sec. 265. Information to be furnished.—The owner, operator, manager, or lessee of any factory, workshop, warehouse, elevator, foundry, machine shop, store or other mercantile, manufacturing or mechanical establishment, or any agent, superintendent, subordinate, or employee thereof, or any person employing or directing any labor of any kind whatsoever, shall, when requested by the chief of the bureau of statistics and information, furnish any information in his possession or under his control which the chief of said bureau is authorized to require, and for the purpose of inspection shall admit the chief of said bureau or his authorized representative to any place which is affected by this subtitle or which is required by law to be inspected. Any person who refuses to admit the chief of said bureau, or person authorized by him, to any such establishment, or to furnish any such information, or who refuses to answer or untruthfully answers questions lawfully put to him by the chief of said bureau, or any deputy of said chief, in a circular or otherwise, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof by a court of competent jurisdiction shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense.

Sec. 266. Sprinkling required.—The proprietors or managers of shirt factories in the State of Maryland are hereby required to sprinkle the floors of said factories every morning with water, and any proprietor or manager failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined the sum of ten dollars, and cost of prosecution, for each and every offense, one-half of said fine to go to the informer, balance to be paid into the treasury of the State.

Sec. 267. Standing or sitting on molds forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation or association engaged in the manufacture of cigars to cause or permit any person, whether employee or member of such firm, corporation or association or other person to stand or sit on or upon any mold, form or press that may be used in the molding forming or pressing of cigars during the course or process of manufacture while such mold, form or press is being so used; and any such person, firm, corporation or association violating or causing to be violated the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than five dollars ($5) for the first offense; and not more than fifty dollars ($50) for the second and each subsequent offense.

Sec. 268. Workrooms in tenements, etc.—No room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house, and no part of any tenement or dwelling house, shall be used for the purpose of manufacturing, in whole or in part, altering, repairing or finishing therein, any articles whatsoever, except for the exclusive use of the person so using any part of such tenement or dwelling house, or the immediate members of his household without a license therefor as provided in this section.

Application for such license shall be made to the chief of the bureau of statistics and information by any member of a family desiring to do such work in any room or apartment of a tenement or dwelling house. Such application shall designate the location of the room or apartment, the number of persons to be employed therein, the street and number of and the full name and address of the owner of the building in which the room or apartment is located, and shall be signed by the applicant. Application blanks shall be prepared and furnished by the bureau of statistics and information in such form as the chief thereof may determine.

Upon receipt of such application the chief of the bureau of statistics and information shall consult the records of the local health department or board, or other appropriate local authority charged with the duty of sanitary inspection, and if such records show the presence of any infectious, contagious or communicable disease, or the existence of any insanitary conditions in or about such room or apartment, the chief of said bureau may, without making an inspection of the premises deny such application for a license until such time as the records of the said department, board or other local authority show that the said premises are free from all such infectious, contagious or communicable disease, and from all insanitary conditions. Before, however, any such license is granted, an inspection of the room or apartment sought to be licensed must be made by the duly authorized inspector of the bureau of statistics and information and a statement must be filed in said bureau as a matter of public record to the effect that the records of the local health department or board or other local authority charged with the duty of sanitary inspection do not show the existence of any infections, contagious or communicable disease or of any insanitary conditions in or about said room or apartment. Such statement must further show the results of the inspection of such premises, and must be dated and signed in ink by the inspector responsible therefor. If the chief of the bureau of statistics and information ascertain that such room or apartment is free from infections, contagious or communicable disease and is in proper sanitary condition he shall grant a license permitting the use of such room or apartment for the purpose of manufacturing and stating the number of persons allowed to work therein. An inspection of each licensed tenement or dwelling house workshop shall be made not less than once in every six months to determine whether or not the conditions under which such license was granted and all laws relating to such premises are being complied with.

No articles shall be manufactured in whole or in part, altered, repaired or finished in any room or apartment of a tenement or dwelling house where there is or has been a case of infectious, contagious or communicable disease until such time as the local department or board of health shall certify to the bureau of statistics and information that such disease has terminated and that the room or apartment has been properly disinfected, if disinfection after such disease is required by law or by the rules and regulations of such department or board. No person, firm or corporation shall hire, employ or contract with any person to manufacture in whole or in part, alter, repair or finish any articles in any room or apartment of any tenement or dwelling house, unless a license has been issued therefor as aforesaid. No room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house shall be used for the manufacture in whole or in part, altering, repairing or finishing of any articles except by the immediate members of the family living therein, which shall be limited to a husband and wife, their children or the children of either. No room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house shall be used for the manufacture in whole or in part, altering, repairing or finishing of any articles unless such room or apartment contain at least five hundred cubic feet of air space for every person working therein.

Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the employment of a tailor or seamstress by any person or family for the purpose of making altering, repairing or finishing any article of wearing apparel for the use of such person or family. This section shall not apply to any workshop on the main or ground floor of any tenement or dwelling house, which is not used for sleeping or cooking, which has a separate entrance to the street and which is entirely separate from the rest of the building.

Sec. 269. Making clothing, etc., in lofts.—No person, firm, or corporation shall work in, or hire, or employ any person to work in any loft, workshop or factory in any building whatsoever at making in whole or in part any articles or clothing, hats, gloves, furs, feathers, artificial flowers, purses, cigars or cigarettes without a license therefor from the chief of the bureau of statistics and information stating the maximum number of persons allowed to be employed therein.

Application for such license shall be made to the chief of the bureau of statistics and information upon blanks to be prepared and furnished by him. Such application shall state the location, street and number of the loft, workshop or factory to be licensed, the number of persons to be employed therein, and such other information as the chief of the said bureau may require, and shall be signed in ink by the person or firm or officer of the corporation conducting the work in such loft, workshop or factory.

No such license shall be granted until such premises have been inspected by an inspector of the bureau of statistics and information and a statement filed in said bureau as a matter of public record, showing the results of said inspection and signed in ink by the inspector responsible therefor.

No such license shall be granted for such premises unless the laws requiring fire escapes and proper exits thereto and separate privies for male and female employees and all other laws relating to the health and safety of employees in such establishment have been fully complied with, and unless every such loft, workshop or factory sought to be licensed shall contain at least five hundred cubic feet of air space for every person employed therein.

SEC. 270. Register of workers.—Every employer or manufacturer, whether a person, firm or corporation, contracting for the manufacture in whole or in part, altering, repairing or finishing of any articles in a tenement or dwelling house, or in any room or workshop outside of his, their or its own establishment, or giving out of materials from which they or any part of them are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, in a tenament or dwelling house, or in any room or workshop outside of his, their or its own establishment, shall keep a register of the names and addresses, plainly written in English, of the persons to whom such articles or materials are given to be so manufactured, altered, repaired or finished or with whom such employer or manufacturer has contracted to do the same, and shall issue with all such articles or materials a label bearing the name and place of business of such employer or manufacturer legibly written or printed in English.

It shall be the duty of every employer or manufacturer and of every person contracting for the manufacture, altering, repairing or finishing of any articles or giving out any such articles or materials to ascertain from the bureau of statistics and information whether or not the room or apartment in which such articles or materials are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished is licensed as provided in this act; and none of the said articles nor any material from which they or any part of them are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished shall be given out or sent to any person to be so worked upon in any room or apartment of a tenement or dwelling house or workshop outside of his, their or its own establishment which is not licensed as provided in this subtitle.

The register mentioned in this section shall be subject to inspection by any inspector of the bureau of statistics and information, and a copy thereof, as well as such other information in regard thereto as such inspector may require shall be furnished upon demand.

SEC. 271. Revocation of license.—Any license granted under sections 268 and 269 may be revoked by the chief of the bureau of statistics and information if the licensee thereunder, or his or its duly authorized agent, shall fail, refuse or neglect to comply with any of the conditions under which same was granted, or with any law relating to the premises licensed, or if the health of the community or of the persons employed thereunder requires it.

SEC. 273. Right to inspect.—The chief of the bureau of industrial statistics, or his assistant, or any inspector, shall have authority to enter any room in any tenement or dwelling house, workshop, manufacturing establishment, mill, factory or place where any goods are manufactured, for the purpose of inspection. The person, firm or corporation owning or controlling or managing such places shall furnish access to and information in regard to such places to the said chief of the bureau of industrial statistics or his deputies at any and all reasonable times while work is being carried on.

SEC. 274. Duties.—The chief of the bureau of industrial statistics shall appoint two deputies as assistants, whose duty it shall be to make such inspection of the tenements, dwelling-houses, factories, workshops, mills and such other places as he may designate and to do such other work as the said chief of the bureau of industrial statistics shall designate.

SEC. 275. Violations.—[Penalties for violations, or refusing access or information to inspectors, are $5 to $100, or imprisonment 10 days to 1 year, or both.]

ARTICLE 27.—Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 344. Mendicant, etc., occupations.—[Employment in mendicant, acrobatic, etc., occupations of children under 14 is forbidden; similar lists are found in section 2223 of the Delaware Code.]

[For sections 358–361, see similar provisions of sections 375–377 of article 23, above.]

[Section 476 resembles section 344, but applies to children under 16 years of age (sec. 344 is of later enactment)].

ARTICLE 27.—Employment of women as waiters, etc.

SECTION 442. Employment in theaters, etc., forbidden.—It shall not be lawful for any proprietor, lessee, or manager of any theatre, museum, or other place of amusement to employ women or girls as waiters, or to permit them to act in such theater or place of amusement, or among the audience or frequenters of such theater or place of amusement, as waiters, or for the purpose or under the pretense of selling, serving, receiving orders or pay for spirituous or malt liquors, wines, lager beer, or any other refreshments or merchandise.

ARTICLE 33.—Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 91. Attempting to influence vote.— * * * Any employer, whether a body corporate, firm, or individual, and any officer or agent of any employer who shall refuse to allow its or his employee or employees sufficient time not exceeding four hours within which to vote or who shall directly or indirectly prevent or hinder its or his employee or employees from exercising the right herein granted by any form of inducement whatever, or by threats, express or implied, that the exercise by said employee or employees of the right herein granted will be followed by a discharge from said employment or by a reduction in salary or wages, or who shall influence or attempt to influence its or his employee or employees not to exercise the right herein granted upon any pretext whatever shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall for each and every offense pay a fine not exceeding the sum of five hundred dollars or be imprisoned in jail for a period not exceeding six months, or both, in the discretion of the court.

ARTICLE 43.—Occupational diseases—Reports

SECTION 5g (added 1912, ch. 165). Physicians to report.—Every physician attending on or called in to visit a patient whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorous, arsenic, or mercury or their compounds, or from anthrax, or from compressed-air illness, or any other ailment or disease contracted as a result of the nature of the patient's employment, shall send to the State board of health a written notice stating the name and full postal address and place of employment of the patient, and the nature of the occupation and the disease from which in the opinion of the physician the patient is suffering, with such other specific information as may be required by the State board of health. If any physician, when required by this section to send notice, fails forthwith to send the same, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten dollars. It shall be the duty of the State board of health to enforce the provisions of this section, and it may call upon the local boards of health and health officers for assistance, and it shall be the duty of all boards and officers so called upon for such assistance to render the same. It shall furthermore be the duty of said State board of health to transmit such data to the chief of the Maryland Bureau of Statistics and Information, who shall record said data and include the same and summary thereof in his annual report.

SECTION 102. [Same as sec. 206, art. 27.]

ARTICLE 47.—Wages as preferred claims—In assignments, etc.

SECTION 15. Insolvency.—[Receivers of insolvents are to pay first the wages or salaries of clerks, servants, salesmen, or employees for not more than three months prior to the execution of the assignment, etc., next after the legitimate costs, taxes, and commissions, excepting lien claims recorded at least three months prior to the assignment.]

ARTICLE 48.—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 76. Unsafe scaffolding.—It shall be the duty of the police commissioners, marshal of police, or other persons in charge of the police force of any city or town of this State, when complaint is made to them or any of them that the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, irons, or ropes of any swinging or stationary scaffolding used in the painting, cleaning, or pointing of any building within the limits of such city or town are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to the life or limb of any person, to detail a competent police officer to examine, and, if necessary, test the same; immediately after making such examination or test he shall attach thereto a certificate stating that he has made such examination or test and that he has found such slings, hangers, irons, or ropes, or any of them, safe or unsafe, as the case may be; if he declares unsafe the whole or any portion of such swinging or stationary scaffolding, he shall at once, in writing, notify the person or persons responsible for the same of the fact, and warn them against using or suffering or permitting any person or persons to use them, and such notice may be served upon the person or persons responsible, or by conspicuously affixing it to the condemned or defective article; after such notice is served or affixed, it shall be the duty of the responsible person or persons to remove or cause to be removed the scaffolding, or that part of it which has been condemned, or to alter and strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe, in the discretion of the officer who has tested or examined it, or his superiors.

SEC. 77. Strength of scaffolding.—All swinging and stationary scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear three times the maximum weight required to be dependent from or placed thereon when in use, and not more than one man shall be allowed on a given scaffold to each tackle and each man shall be provided with a life line sufficiently strong to bear twice his weight, secured independently of the other scaffolding.

SEC. 78. Access to premises.—Any officer detailed to examine or test any scaffolding or portion thereof as required by sections * * * shall have free and unobstructed access at all reasonable hours to any building or premises containing them or where they may be in use.

SEC. 79. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine not less than $25 nor more than $100.]

ARTICLE 77.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTIONS 153 (amended 1922, ch. 474), 153A. Requirement.—[School attendance is required in Baltimore City and in the counties, respectively, of children 14 to 16 years of age, unless "regularly and lawfully employed to labor at home or elsewhere."]

SEC. 155. Violation.—[Employing a child unlawfully absent from school is a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 166. Inspection.—[Attendance officers may visit all establishments where minors are employed to ascertain whether or not the law is violated.]

ARTICLE 83.—Assignments of claims on wages—Sending claims outside of State

SECTION 15. Assignment of wage claims.—[Citizens of the State are forbidden to send or transfer any claim for debt against a resident of the State for collection outside the State with the intent of depriving the debtor of the benefit of the wage exemption laws of the State. Violator is liable for amount collected and also (sec. 18) is punishable for a misdemeanor.]

ARTICLE 89.—Commissioner of labor and statistics

SECTION 1 (as amended 1922, ch. 29). Appointment, etc.—The office of commissioner of labor and statistics is hereby created. The term of office of said commissioner shall be two years, and until his successor shall be appointed and shall have qualified, said term beginning on the first Monday of May succeeding his appointment, except that the commissioner first appointed under this act shall be appointed on the taking effect of this act and hold office until the first Monday of May, 1924, and until his successor shall qualify. Any vacancy shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired term. The governor may at any time remove the commissioner from office for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. The salary of the commissioner shall be $3,000 per annum. The said commissioner shall be allowed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of his duties.

The commissioner of labor and statistics is authorized and empowered to appoint and employ such deputies, inspectors, assistants, and employees of every kind as may be necessary for the performance of the duties now or hereafter imposed upon him by this or any other law: Provided, however, That such appointments and employments, and the compensation to be allowed therefor, shall in each and every case be subject to the approval of the governor.

[The duties and powers of the former State board of labor and statistics and of the inspectors of female labor are transferred and devolved upon the commissioner above provided for.]

SEC. 2 (as amended 1916, ch. 406). Duties.—It shall be the duty of the said State board of labor and statistics:

1st. To collect statistics concerning and examine into the condition of labor in this State, with especial reference to wages, and the causes of strikes and disagreements between employers and employees.

2d. To collect information in regard to the agricultural conditions and products of the several counties of the State, the acreage under cultivation and planted to the various crops, the character and price of lands, the live stock, et cetera, and all other matters pertaining to agricultural pursuits, which may be of general interest and calculated to attract immigration to the State.

3d. To collect information in regard to the mineral products of the State, the output of mines, quarries, and so forth, and the manufacturing industries.

4th. To collect information in regard to railroads and other transportation companies, shipping, and commerce.

5th. To keep a bureau of general information, and to this end all officers and institutions of this State, including officers of the general assembly, are directed to transmit to the State board of labor and statistics all reports, as soon as published.

6th. To classify and arrange the information and data so obtained, and as soon as practicable after entering upon the duties of its office, publish the same in substantial book form and annually thereafter revise and republish the same.

SEC. 2A. Offices to be established.—It shall be the duty of the State board of labor and statistics to organize, establish and conduct free employment agencies, in such parts of the State as such board may deem advisable, for the free use of the citizens of the State of Maryland, for the purpose of securing employment for unemployed persons who may register in said agencies, and for the purpose of securing help or labor for persons registering as applicants for help or labor. The said board shall investigate the extent and the cause or causes of unemployment in this State, and the remedies therefor adopted and applied in the States of this country and in other countries, and report thereon to the governor, and shall do all in its power to bring together employers seeking employees and working and laboring people seeking employment.

SEC. 3. Duty of chief of bureau.—Upon information furnished by an employer of labor, whether person, firm, or corporation, or by a committee of employees, or from any other reliable source, that a controversy or dispute has arisen between employer and employees, involving ten or more persons, which controversy may result in a strike or lockout, the Chief of the Bureau of Industrial Statistics of Maryland, or such person officially connected with said bureau of industrial statistics as may be deputized in writing by the said chief of said bureau of industrial statistics, shall at once visit the place of controversy or dispute and seek to mediate between the parties, if in his discretion it is necessary so to do.

SEC. 4. Arbitration.—If mediation can not be effected as provided for in section 1 [3] of this subtitle, the chief of the bureau of industrial statistics, or such person officially connected with said bureau as may be by him deputized in writing, may, at his discretion, endeavor to secure the consent of the parties to the controversy or dispute to the formation of a board of arbitration, which board shall be composed of one employer and one employee engaged in the same or similar occupation to the one in which the dispute exists, but who are not parties to the controversies or dispute, and to be selected by the respective parties to the controversy; the third arbitrator may be selected by the two first-named arbitrators, and said third arbitrator so selected shall be president of the board of arbitration; and upon the failure of the two first-named arbitrators, as aforesaid, to agree upon the third arbitrator, then the chief of said bureau of industrial statistics shall act as third arbitrator, or he may deputize, in writing, some person officially connected with said bureau to so act, and the said chief, or the person who may be so deputized by him, shall act as president of said board.

SEC. 5. Powers of board.—The president of the said board, provided in section 4 of this subtitle, shall have power to summon witnesses, enforce their attendance and administer oaths and hear and determine the matter in dispute, and within three days after the investigation render a decision thereon, a copy of which shall be furnished each party to the dispute, and shall be final.

SEC. 6. Agreements of parties.—In all such cases of dispute, as aforesaid, as in all other cases, if the parties mutually agree that the matter in dispute shall be arbitrated and determined in a mode different from the one hereby prescribed, such agreement shall be valid, and the award and determination thereon by either mode of arbitration shall be final and conclusive between the parties. It shall be lawful in all cases for an employer or employee, by writing under his hand, to authorize any person to act for him in submitting to arbitration and attending the same.

SEC. 8. Failure to secure agreements.—Should the chief of the bureau of industrial statistics or the person deputized by him, as aforesaid, fail to mediate or secure the consent of the parties to the controversy or dispute to submit the matter to arbitration, then the said chief of the bureau of industrial statistics or person deputized by him, as aforesaid, shall proceed to thoroughly investigate the cause of the dispute or controversy; he shall have the authority to summons both parties to appear before him and take their statements, in writing or under oath, and having ascertained which party is, in his judgment, mainly responsible and blameworthy for the continuance of said controversy or dispute, shall publish a report in some daily newspaper, assigning such responsibility or blame over his official signature.

SEC. 9. Investigation.—For the purposes of the investigation, as aforesaid, the chief of said bureau of industrial statistics or such person as he may deputize in writing, as aforesaid, shall have power to administer oaths, to issue summons for the attendance of witnesses, to enforce the attendance of witnesses, production of papers and books, to the same extent that power is possessed by courts of record or judges thereof in this State.

SEC. 10. Information confidential.—All information of a personal character or pertaining to the private business of any person, firm, or corporation, or which might have a tendency to expose the profits or methods of doing business by any person, firm or corporation, coming to the knowledge of the chief of said bureau or person deputized by him, or to the arbitrators selected under the aforesaid provisions, shall be deemed confidential and so treated, and all documents and testimony taken shall be filed in the office of the bureau of industrial statistics.

SEC. 11 (added 1916, ch. 406). Local boards.—It shall be the duty of the State board of labor and statistics to do all in its power to promote the voluntary arbitration, mediation and conciliation of controversies and disputes between employers and employees, and to avoid resort to lockouts, boycotts, black lists, discriminations and legal proceedings in or arising out of such controversies and disputes and matters of employment. In pursuance of this duty, the said board may, whenever it deems advisable, but subject to the approval of the governor, appoint boards of arbitration for the consideration and settlement of such controversies and disputes, and may provide for the necessary expenses of such arbitration boards, and for such reasonable compensation to the members serving thereon as the said board may deem proper, not exceeding, however, the sum of five dollars per day for each member for each day during which such member is engaged in work upon such arbitration boards. The said board shall prescribe rules of procedure for such arbitration boards, and the said arbitration boards shall have the power to conduct investigations and hold hearings, to summon witnesses, and enforce their attendance through the ordinary processes of law in the cities and counties in which such arbitration boards may meet, subject to all the penalties for nonattendance to which witnesses in ordinary civil cases are subject, and in like manner may require the production of books, documents and papers and may administer oaths, all to the same extent that such powers are possessed and exercised by the civil courts of the State; and said arbitration boards shall make, report and publish findings for the settlement of such controversies and disputes. The said board of labor and statistics shall itself have like power to conduct investigations and hold hearings, summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses, administer oaths, require the production of books, documents and papers, and make and publish reports and findings with respect to any and all matters covered by this section. Subject to the approval of the governor, the board may appoint and designate a deputy, and fix his compensation, who shall be known as the chief mediator, and who, together with any assistants who may be assigned by the board, shall have in charge the execution of the provisions of this section, under the direction and supervision of the board. The chief mediator may act upon any board of arbitration, but in such event he shall receive no compensation therefor in addition to his ordinary salary. Nothing in this section contained shall affect the provisions with respect to arbitration and award contained in article 7 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, title "Arbitration and Award," nor the provisions with respect to arbitration contained in sections 223 to 228, inclusive, of the Baltimore City charter.

Article 89.—Mine regulations

Sections 16–176 (added 1922, ch. 307). Safety, etc.—[This is a complete code governing the operation of bituminous coal mines in the State. Definitions are given, a bureau of mines created with a chief mine engineer in charge, mine inspectors, not less than two, are provided for, and an examining board to pass upon the qualifications of mine foremen and fire bosses, who must hold certificates. Standard requirements as to maps, shafts, hoisting, haulage, ventilation, signals, electric installations, timbering, fire protection, blasting (shot firers may be required in gaseous or dusty mines), weighing and checkweighmen, provisions for accidents, etc., are found. No boy under 16 and no female may work in or about any mine. No person may work alone until the operator is satisfied that he will not endanger his fellow workmen.]

Article 100.—Hours of labor of employees in cotton and woolen mills

Section 1. Ten hours a day's work.—No corporation or manufacturing company engaged in manufacturing either cotton or woolen yarns, fabrics, or domestics of any kind, incorporated under the laws of this State, and no officer, agent, or servant of such named corporation or manufacturing company, and no person or firm owning or operating such corporation or manufacturing company within the limits of this State, and no agent or servant of such firm or person shall require, permit, or suffer his, its, or their employees in its, his, or their service, or under his, its, or their control to work for more than ten hours during each or any day of twenty-four hours for one full day's work and shall make no contract or agreement with such employees or any of them providing that they or he shall work for more than ten hours for one day's work during each or any day of twenty-four hours and said ten hours shall constitute one full day's work.

Sec. 2. Male adult employees.—Any such named corporation or manufacturing company within the limits of this State shall be allowed under the provisions of this section, the privilege of working male employees, over the age of twenty-one years over the limit of ten hours for the express purpose only of making repairs and improvements and getting fires made, steam up and the machinery ready for use in their work, which can not be done during the limits of the ten hours; the extra compensation for all such work to be settled between such corporation and manufacturing companies and the employees: Provided, That nothing in this article shall be so construed as to prohibit any employer from making a contract with his male employees, over the age of twenty-one years, to work by the hour for such time as may be agreed upon.

Sec. 3. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines not exceeding $100, and costs.]

ARTICLE 100.—Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 4 (as amended 1916, ch. 222). Age.—[The employment of children under 14 in mills, factories, workshops, mercantile establishments, offices, hotels, restaurants, bootblacking stands, messenger, or delivery service, etc., is forbidden.]

SEC. 6. School time.—[The employment of any child under 14 at any work for hire during school hours is forbidden unless the child has fulfilled the requirements for school attendance.]

SECS. 7 and 8 (as amended 1916, ch. 222). Dangerous occupations.—[Forbids employment under 16 in specified dangerous occupations, "or any other occupation dangerous to life and limb, or injurious to the health or morals." Similar list appears in sec. 3145, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 9 (as amended 1916, ch. 222). Certificates.—[Children 14 to 16 before engaging in occupations specified in secs. 4 and 5 must have employment certificates on file at place of employment and accessible for inspection.]

SEC. 10. Inspection.—[Attendance officers, etc., may require production of certificates for inspection.]

SEC. 11 (as amended 1916, ch. 222).—Return of certificates.—[On termination of employment, employer must return certificate to issuing officer. Child may have new certificate without reexamination, but must have physician's certificate of fitness for new work.]

SEC. 12 (as amended 1916, ch. 222), sec. 13 (as amended 1918, ch. 495), sec. 14 (as amended 1916, ch. 222), sec. 15 (as amended 1918, ch. 495), sec 16 (as amended 1916, ch. 222), sec. 17, and sec. 18. Issue.—[These sections relate to the issue of certificates (sec. 15 for vacation employments); evidence of school attendance (completed fifth grade); age (14 in all cases); and physical ability for work applied for, are prerequisites.]

SECS. 19, 20. Children apparently under 16.—[If inspectors find a child employed who is apparently under 16, certificate or proof of age may be demanded or employment terminated.]

SEC. 21. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 18 in designated dangerous employment is forbidden. See sec. 3148, Delaware Code, for similar list.]

SEC. 22A (added 1916, ch. 222). Work time.—[No child under 16 may work in establishments named in sec. 4 more than 6 days or 48 hours per week or more than 8 hours per day, or between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m.]

SEC. 23 (as amended 1916, ch. 222). Girls under 16.—[Forbids employment of girls under 16 in work requiring constant standing.]

SEC. 24. Messenger or delivery service.—[Forbids employment of minors under 18 in messenger or delivery service in cities of 20,000 population or over between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 25 (as amended 1916, ch. 222). Posting of law.—[Requires sections of law as to hours and schedule of work time to be posted.]

SEC. 26 (as amended 1916, ch. 222). News boys.—[Boys under 12 and girls under 16 may not distribute or sell newspapers, etc., in any city of 20,000 population or above; but special badge issues for boys 10 or over to distribute papers on a regular route between 2:30 and 5 p. m.]

SEC. 27. Street trades.—[Forbids boys under 14 and girls under 16 in cities of 20,000 population or over to work as bootblacks or in other street trades except as newsboys, or in distributing circulars, etc.]

SECS. 28 to 31 (all as amended 1916, ch. 222), 32, and 33. Permits for street trades.—[Relate to the issue of permits and badges for newsboys and those engaging in street trades under 16 years of age. Permit does not allow work between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m., nor during school hours, unless an employment certificate is held.]

SEC. 34. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is by factory inspectors, attendance officers, and other authorized inspectors whose duty it is to make complaint in case of discovered violations.]

SEC. 35. Evidence.—[Failure to produce employment certificate on request of officer is prima facie evidence of illegal employment.]

SEC. 36. Exceptions.—[Law is not to interfere with industrial education.]

SEC. 36A (amended 1922, ch. 350). Temporary permits.—[Commissioner of labor and statistics may, on recommendation of school superintendents, issue temporary permits to children over 14 who are mentally retarded and may exercise vocational supervision over such children until 18.]

SECS. 37 to 46 (all but 38, 44, and 45 amended 1916, ch. 222). Penalty.—[Relate to violations and penalties.]

SEC. 47 (as amended 1922, ch. 350). Fees.—[Certificates are to issue without fee, except that in the counties physicians are entitled to a fee of $1, to be paid by the commissioner of labor and statistics.]

SEC. 48 (as amended 1916, ch. 222) Inspectors.—[Authorizes appointment of 4 inspectors at $1,000, 4 officers and inspectors at $1,200; also one or more "regular physicians and other attendants," to assist in carrying out the provisions of this law.]

ARTICLE 100.—Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 51 (as amended 1916, ch. 147). Ten-hour day.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work in any manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile, printing, baking or laundering establishment more than ten hours in any one day, nor more than sixty hours in any one week, nor more than eight hours in any one day, if any part of her work is done before six o'clock in the morning or after ten o'clock in the evening of the said day, nor shall any female be employed or permitted to work for more than six hours continuously at any one time in any of the aforesaid establishments in which three or more such persons are employed, without an interval of, at least, a half hour, except that such female may be so employed for not more than six and a half hours continuously at one time, if she shall not be permitted to work during the remainder of the day in her said employment: Provided, further, That the invalidity of this act, shall in no way affect the validity of any other portion thereof, which can be given effect, without such invalid part. But the provisions of this section shall not apply to females employed in the canning or preserving, or preparing for canning or preserving of perishable fruit and vegetables: And provided further, That in any retail mercantile establishments located outside of the city of Baltimore a female may be permitted to work on Saturdays and on Christmas Eve and the five working days next preceding Christmas Eve not more than twelve hours, if during each of such Saturdays and Christmas Eve and five days aforesaid the female so employed shall have at least two rest intervals of not less than one hour each, and this provision shall only apply to such mercantile establishments as have during the remainder of the calendar year a working day of not more than nine hours.

SEC. 52. Schedule of hours.—Every employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every room of any manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile, printing, baking or laundering establishment in which any females are employed, a printed notice stating the provisions of this law and the hours of beginning and stopping work. The printed form of such notice shall be furnished by the chief of the Maryland Bureau of Statistics and Information.

PUBLIC LOCAL LAWS—CODE OF 1888

ARTICLE 1.—Hours of labor in mines

SECTION 194. Ten hours a day's work.—The period of employment of workingmen employed in and about the mines of Allegany and Garrett Counties shall be ten hours per day, said hours to be computed from the time of beginning said day's labor: Provided, That the time of beginning said day's labor shall be seven o'clock, a. m.; but nothing herein contained shall in any way preclude any workingman in and about said mines from working a greater number of hours should he so desire, and enter into contract with the owner or owners or managers of any of said mines—such additional hours to be computed as overtime, and to be paid for.

SEC. 195. Penalty.—Any person, body corporate, agent, manager or employer, who shall violate any of the provisions of the foregoing section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than fifty dollars.

ARTICLE 4.—Hours of labor on public works—Baltimore

SECTION 31a (as amended 1910, ch. 94, p. 642). 1. Eight hours a day's work.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, or mechanics who may be employed by or on behalf of the mayor and city council of Baltimore, except in cases of extraordinary emergency, which may arise in time of war or in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property or human life: Provided, That in all such cases the laborer, workman, or mechanic so employed and working to exceed eight hours per calendar day shall be paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work: Provided further, That the rate of per diem wages paid to laborers, workmen or mechanics employed directly by the mayor and city council of Baltimore shall not be less than two dollars per diem: Provided further, That not less than the current rate of per diem wages in the locality where the work is performed shall be paid to laborers, workmen or mechanics employed by contractors or subcontractors in the execution of any contract or contracts, in any public work within the city of Baltimore.

2. Employees of contractors.—All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the mayor and city council of Baltimore with any person or persons or corporation, for the performance of any work with[in] the city of Baltimore, shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work, and it shall be unlawful for any such person or persons or corporation to require or permit any laborer, workman or mechanic to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work, except in the cases and upon the conditions provided in section 2 [1] of this act.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $10 to $50, one-half of such fine to go to the informer.]

4. Limitation.—The provisions of this act should not apply to the employees of the fire department, Bay View Asylum or the Baltimore City Jail.

MASSACHUSETTS

GENERAL LAWS—1921

CHAPTER 23.—Department of labor and industries

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 306). Department established.—There shall be a department of labor and industries, under the supervision and control of a commissioner of labor and industries, in this chapter called the commissioner, an assistant commissioner, who shall be a woman, and three associate commissioners, one of whom shall be a representative of labor and one a representative of employers of labor.

SEC. 2. Term of commissioner.—Upon the expiration of the term of office of a commissioner, an assistant commissioner, or an associate commissioner, his successor shall be appointed for three years by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council. The commissioner shall receive such salary not exceeding seventy-five hundred dollars, and the assistant commissioner and associate commissioners such salaries, not exceeding four thousand dollars each, as the governor and council determine.

SEC. 3 (as amended 1921, ch. 306). Duties.—The commissioner shall be the executive and administrative head of the department. He shall have charge of the administration and enforcement of all laws, rules, and regulations which it is the duty of the department to administer and enforce, and shall direct all inspections and investigations except as otherwise provided. He shall organize in the department a division of standards and such other divisions as he may from time to time determine, and may assign the officers and employees of the department thereto. He shall prepare for the consideration of the assistant commissioner and the associate commissioners rules and regulations for the conduct of the department and all other rules and regulations which the department is authorized by law to make, and they shall, except as otherwise provided, take effect when approved by the associate commissioners and the assistant commissioner, or upon such date as they determine. The commissioner may designate the assistant commissioner or an associate commissioner to discharge the duties of the commissioner during his absence or disability.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1922, ch. 196). Appointees.—The commissioner, assistant commissioner and associate commissioners may, with the approval of the governor and council, appoint, and fix the salaries of, not more than five directors, and may, with like approval, remove them. One of them, to be known as the director of standards, shall have charge of the division of standards, and each of the others shall be assigned to take charge of a division. The commissioner may employ, for periods not exceeding ninety days, such experts as may be necessary to assist the department in the performance of any duty imposed upon it by law, and such employment shall be exempt from chapter thirty-one. Except as otherwise provided in section eleven, the commissioner may employ and remove such inspectors, investigators, clerks, and other assistants as the work of the department may require, and fix their compensation. Four inspectors shall be men who, before their employment as such, have had at least three years' experience as building construction workmen. The commissioner may require that certain inspectors in the department, not more than seven in number, shall be persons qualified by training and experience in matters relating to health and sanitation. The commissioner may employ temporarily, from time to time, such persons to act as surveyors of lumber as he may find necessary for making the surveys applied for, and such employment shall be exempt from chapter thirty-one. He may fix their compensation and, subject to his approval, they may be allowed reasonable expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1921, ch. 306). To give whole time.—All directors, inspectors, and other permanent employees of the department shall devote their whole time to the affairs of the department; and all directors and inspectors and such other employees as may be designated by the commissioner shall, before entering upon their duties, be sworn to the faithful performance thereof.

The number of inspectors heretofore authorized by law may be increased only with the approval of the governor and council. The commissioner, assistant commissioner, and associate commissioners shall determine from time to time how many of the inspectors employed shall be women.

SEC. 6. Assistant commissioner.—In all matters relating specifically to women and minors the assistant commissioner shall have and exercise such duties and authority as may be prescribed by the commissioner, with the approval of the associate commissioners.

SEC. 7. Associate commissioners.—The associate commissioners shall constitute the board of conciliation and arbitration, and shall have the powers and perform the duties given them by chapter one hundred and fifty relative to conciliation and arbitration of industrial disputes, and chapter one hundred and fifty-one relative to the minimum wage. The board shall have assigned to it such assistants from the officers and employees of the department as the commissioner and the board from time to time determine.

CHAPTER 31.—Public works—Preference of citizens

SECTION 19. Preference.—In all work of any branch of the service of the Commonwealth, or of any city or town therein, citizens of the Commonwealth shall be given preference.

CHAPTER 32.—Retirement of employees

SECTIONS 39–41. Associations; exemption of funds, etc.—[Associations may be formed for the purpose of providing annuities, pensions, or endowments for employees retiring from employment on account of age. Contributions to a retirement fund may be deducted by the employer and paid to the association, together with such of his own contributions as the by-laws may provide for. Provision must be made for payments to representatives or appointees of employees dying before reaching the age of retirement, or for those leaving the service before becoming entitled to annuities. The by-laws must be approved by the commissioner of insurance, and annual reports must be made to him; he may also verify the statements by examining books and papers; but the association is not otherwise subject to laws relating to insurance companies. The property of such associations, the employees' contributions, and their annuity rights are exempt from taxation, from the bankruptcy laws, and from execution or attachment. Assignments of rights in such funds are invalid.]

CHAPTER 55.—Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 27. Threats.—No person shall, by threatening to discharge a person from his employment or to reduce his wages, or by promising to give him employment at higher wages, attempt to influence a voter to give or to withhold his vote, or, because of the giving or withholding of a vote, discharge a person from his employment or reduce his wages.

CHAPTER 76.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 463). Age.—[Every child under 16 who has not completed the sixth grade of school and not holding an employment certificate and employed in some regular occupation for at least 6 hours a day, or holding a permit to engage in profitable employment at home must attend school during the full term, unless mentally or physically disqualified.]

CHAPTER 101.—Employment of children in street trades

SECTION 19. Regulations.—[Aldermen or selectmen may make regulations, consistent with the general laws, governing the employment of children as bootblacks or in the sale of merchandise.]

SECS. 20, 21. Violations.—[Persons having charge of minors, or persons employing minors, who violate or aid any minor to violate the provisions of this act may be fined or imprisoned.]

CHAPTER 111.—Vaccination of employees in factories

SECTION 182. Vaccination may be required.—The board of health of a town where any incorporated manufacturing company * * * is situated may, if it decides that it is necessary for the health of the inmates or of the public safety, require the authorities of said establishment * * * at the expense thereof, to cause all said inmates to be vaccinated.

CHAPTER 140.—Private employment offices

SECTIONS 41, 42. License required.—[Persons conducting employment offices for servants, laborers, etc., other than seamen, must have a license, issued by the local authorities, who may also revoke such license at pleasure.]

SEC. 43. Fees.—[No fee may be demanded from an applicant for work unless employment of the kind demanded is furnished.]

SEC. 44. Return of fee.—[If the employee is discharged within 10 days not for fault of his own, he may, on demand, have returned five-sixths of any fee paid on account of the employment.]

SEC. 45. Law to be printed.—[Sections 43 to 46 must be printed on each license, and also posted in the offices.]

SEC. 46. Violations.—[Keepers violating the law may be fined and have their licenses suspended or revoked.]

CHAPTER 143.—Factory, etc., regulations—Plans for buildings

SECTION 15. Building regulations.—Except in Boston, no building which is designed to be used, or in which alteration shall be made for the purpose of using it, or continuing its use, in whole or in part, as a * * * factory, workshop or mercantile or other establishment, and to have accommodations for ten or more employees, * * * shall be erected, and no alteration shall be made therein until a copy of the plans and specifications thereof has been deposited with the supervisor of plans by the person causing its erection or alteration or by the architect thereof. Such plans and specifications shall include those for heating, ventilation and sanitation, if the supervisor of plans so requires. Such building shall not be so erected or altered without sufficient egresses and other means of escape from fire, properly located and constructed. * * * After a certificate of approval or a specification of requirement has been issued, no change shall be made in the plans or specification or in the building without the written permission of the supervisor of plans.

CHAPTER 143.—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 17. Protection against falling material.—If, in the erection of an iron or steel framed building, the spaces between the girders or floor beams of any floor are not filled or covered by the permanent construction of said floors before another story is added to the building, a close plank flooring shall be placed and maintained over such spaces from the time when the beams or girders are placed in position until said permanent construction is applied; but openings protected by a strong handrailing not less than four feet high may be left through said floors for the passage of workmen or material: Provided, That when such flooring can not be used without serious interference with the work of construction, such provision shall be made to protect the workmen from falling material as the inspector shall direct.

SEC. 18. Staging required.—In the construction of any iron or steel framed building having a clear story of twenty-five feet elevation or more, a staging with a close plank flooring shall be placed under and not more than ten feet below the under side of the whole extent of the beams, girders or trusses of such story upon which iron or steel workers are working.

SEC. 19. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine, $50 to $500.]

CHAPTER 143.—Factory, etc., regulations—Fire escapes

SECTION 21. Fire escapes.—Except in Boston, any building * * * in which ten or more persons are employed in a factory, workshop, mercantile or other establishment * * * the owner, lessee or mortgagee in possession whereof is notified in writing by an inspector that sections fifteen to sixty, inclusive, apply thereto, shall be provided with proper egresses or other means of escape from fire sufficient for the use of all persons * * * employed * * * therein, but no owner, lessee or mortagee in possession of such building shall be deemed to have violated this provision unless he has been notified in writing by an inspector as to what additional egresses or means of escape from fire are necessary, and for thirty days has neglected or refused to provide the same. The egresses and means of escape shall be kept unobstructed, in good repair and ready for use; and, if the inspector so directs in writing, every such egress shall be properly lighted and provided with a sign having on it the word "Exit" in letters not less than five inches in height, and so made and placed as plainly to indicate to persons within the building the situation of such egresses; stairways shall have suitable handrails; egress doors and windows shall open outwardly, and women or children shall not be employed in a factory, workshop, mercantile or other establishment in a room above the second story from which there is only one egress. The certificate of the inspector shall be conclusive evidence of a compliance with the said requirements: * * * Stairways on the outside of the building shall have suitable rail landings at each story above the first, accessible at each story from doors or windows, and such landings, doors and windows shall be kept clear of ice, snow and other obstructions.

Secs. 22, 23. Obstructions.—[Fire escapes and stairways must be kept free from obstruction, under penalties for noncompliance.]

Sec. 24. Fire extinguishers.—Except in Boston, the basement and each story of a building which is subject to section twenty-one shall be supplied with means of extinguishing fire, consisting of a hose attached to a suitable water supply and capable of reaching any part of such basement or story, or of such portable apparatus as the inspector shall direct; and such appliances shall be kept at all times ready for use and in good condition.

Sec. 25. Flues and pipes.—Except in Boston, no wooden flue or air duct for heating or ventilating purposes shall be placed or remain placed in any building subject to sections fifteen and twenty-one, and no pipe for conveying hot air or steam in such building shall be placed or remain placed within one inch of any woodwork, unless protected to the satisfaction of the inspector by suitable guards or casings of incombustible material.

Sections 2–4. Rules.—[The State board of boiler rules, with the assistance of the attorney general, is to formulate rules for the construction, installation, and inspection of boilers, and prescribe tests and standards of equipment, safety appliances, etc. Public hearings are to be held in connection with the formulation of such regulations, and changes take effect 6 months after their approval by the governor and council.]

Secs. 5–27, 29–33. Steam boilers.—[The division of inspection of the department of public safety is charged with the enforcement of the inspection law, and of the rules adopted by the board. Boilers, including those carrying more than 15 pounds pressure used for heating public buildings and apartments, and of more than 3 horsepower in industrial use, must have annual inspections, and boilers may not be used without a certificate of inspection. No one may tamper with safety appliances prescribed by this board, or load a safety valve beyond the certified allowed pressure. Owners and users pay a fee for inspection, $5 for an internal and external inspection and $2 for an external inspection or for each cast-iron sectional boiler inspected. Inspections by insurance companies are accepted, their inspectors to hold certificates of competency from the division of inspection.]

Secs. 34–41. Compressed air tanks.—[Air tanks of more than 50 pounds pressure to the square inch, used for operating pneumatic machinery, can not be used unless the owner or user has a certificate showing inspection within two years, or has a policy of insurance with certificate from an insurance inspector. The board of boiler rules prescribes regulations for size, shape, construction, pressure, equipment, etc. The fee for inspection is $3.]

Chapter 149.—Labor law—Definitions

Section 1. Meaning of terms.—In this chapter the following words, unless a different meaning is required by the context or is specifically prescribed, shall have the following meanings:

"Associate commissioners," the associate commissioners of the department of labor and industries.

"Buildings used for industrial purposes" or "industrial establishments" shall include factories, workshops, bakeries, mechanical establishments, laundries, foundries, tenement-house workrooms, all other buildings or parts thereof where manufacturing is carried on, and mercantile establishments as defined in this section.

"Child," a person under eighteen.

"Commissioner," the commissioner of labor and industries.

"Cooperative courses," courses approved as such by the department of education and conducted in public schools where technical or related instruction is given in conjunction with practical experience by employment in cooperating factories, manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishments or workshops.

"Department," the department of labor and industries.

"Employment," any trade, occupation or branch of industry, any particular method or process used therein, and the service of any particular employer; but it shall not include private, domestic service or service as a farm laborer.

"Extraordinary emergency," danger to property, life, public safety or public health.

"Factory," any premises where mechanical power is used in aid of any manufacturing process there carried on.

"Industrial disease" or "occupational disease," any ailment or disease caused by the nature or circumstance of the employment.

"Industrial health inspector," an inspector qualified by training and experience in matters relating to health and sanitation.

"Inspector," an inspector of the department of labor and industries, except an inspector of the division of standards.

"Ironworks," a mill, forge or any premises where any process is carried on for converting iron into malleable iron, steel or tin plate, or for otherwise making or converting steel.

"Manufacturing establishments," any premises, room or place used for the purpose of making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing or adapting for sale any article or part thereof.

"Mechanical establishments," any premises, other than a factory as above defined, where machinery is employed in connection with any work or process carried on therein.

"Mercantile establishments," any premises used for the purposes of trade in the purchase or sale of any goods or merchandise, and any premises used for a restaurant or for publicly providing and serving meals.

"Place of employment," every place, whether indoors or out or underground, and the premises appurtenant thereto, into, in or upon which any employee goes or remains either temporarily or regularly in the course of his employment.

"Print works," any premises where the process of printing figures, patterns or designs upon yarn or cloth, or upon any woven or felted fabric not paper, is carried on.

"Safe" or "safety," such freedom from danger to life, safety and health of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

"Woman," a female eighteen or over.

"Workshop," any premises, room or place, not a factory as above defined, wherein manual labor is exercised by way of trade or for purposes of gain in or incidental to a process of making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing or adapting for sale any article or part thereof, and to which or over which premises, room or place the employer of the persons working therein has the right of access or control; but the exercise of such manual labor in a private house or private room by the family dwelling therein or by any of them, or if a majority of the persons therein employed are members of such family, shall not of itself constitute such house or room a workshop.

Chapter 149.—Department of labor and industries

Section 2. Enforcement of laws.—The department shall, except as otherwise specifically provided, enforce the provisions of this chapter and shall have all necessary powers therefor.

Sec. 3. Inspections and investigations.—The inspection and investigation carried on by the department shall be a regular and systematic inspection and investigation of all places of employment and the conditions of safety and health pertaining thereto.

Sec. 4. Reports to department of public health.—The department shall promptly report to the department of public health all cases of disease in industrial establishments affecting the health of the community.

SEC. 5. Investigations.—The department may investigate conditions existing in any line of industry, and such investigations may be extended outside of the Commonwealth to procure information to promote industrial development or to improve industrial conditions. It shall receive all complaints concerning conditions existing in any industry carried on in the Commonwealth, or concerning alleged violations of any laws enforced under its direction, and shall thereupon make or direct all needful and appropriate investigations and prosecutions.

SEC. 6. Safety.—It shall investigate from time to time employments and places of employment, and determine what suitable safety devices or other reasonable means or requirements for the prevention of accidents shall be adopted or followed in any or all such employments or places of employment; and also shall determine what suitable devices or other reasonable means or requirements for the prevention of industrial or occupational diseases shall be adopted or followed in any or all such employments or places of employment; and shall make reasonable rules, regulations, and orders applicable to either employers or employees or both for the prevention of accidents and the prevention of industrial or occupational diseases.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1921, ch. 306). Committees.—The commissioner, assistant commissioner, and associate commissioners of the department may appoint committees, on which employers and employees shall be represented, to make such investigations and recommend rules and regulations.

SEC. 8 (as amended 1921, ch. 306). Hearings.—Before adopting any rule or regulation under section six, a public hearing shall be given, and not less than ten days before the hearing a notice thereof shall be published in at least three newspapers, of which one shall be published in Boston. Such rules or regulations shall, when approved by the associate commissioners and the assistant commissioner, be published in like manner and, subject to section thirty-seven of chapter thirty, shall take effect thirty days after such publication or at such later time as the associate commissioners and assistant commissioner may fix. Before adopting any order a hearing shall be given thereon, of which a notice of not less than ten days shall be given to the persons affected thereby.

SEC. 9. Appeals.—Any person affected by an order, rule or regulation of the department may appeal to the associate commissioners within such time as they by vote may fix, but not less than ten days after notice of the order or the taking effect of the rules or regulations. The associate commissioners shall thereupon give a hearing, and thereafter may amend, suspend, or revoke such order, rule, or regulation. Pending the hearing the commissioner may suspend the order, rule or regulation appealed from. Any persons aggrieved by an order approved by the associate commissioners may appeal to the superior court within fifteen days after the date of approval. The superior court may annul the order if it is found to exceed the authority of the department, and upon petition of the commissioner may enforce all valid orders issued by the department. This section shall not deprive any person of any other lawful remedy.

SEC. 10. Entry.—In order to make investigations under section six, members or employees of the department may at any time enter places of employment when being used for business purposes.

SEC. 11. Reports as to occupational diseases.—The department may require every physician treating a patient whom he believes to be suffering from any ailment or disease contracted as a result of the nature, circumstances or conditions of the patient's employment to report such information relating thereto as it may require, within such time as it may fix, and it may issue a list of such diseases which shall be regularly reported upon by physicians, and may add to or change such list at any time. Copies of all such reports and all statistics and data compiled therefrom shall be kept by it, and shall be furnished on request to the department of industrial accidents and the department of public health.

SEC. 12. Authority of rules and regulations.—If any rule or regulation made under authority of section sixty-four of chapter one hundred and fifty-two conflicts with or differs from a rule or regulation of the department, its rule or regulation shall prevail.

SEC. 13. Violations forbidden.—No person shall violate any reasonable rule, regulation, order or requirement made by the department under section seven or eleven.

SEC. 14. Reports.—The commissioner shall make an annual report, including the reports required by sections one hundred and sixty and one hundred and seventy of this chapter, section ten of chapter one hundred and fifty, section fifteen of chapter one hundred and fifty-one, and section fifty-seven of chapter ninety-eight.

Sec. 15 (as amended 1921, ch. 306). Districts.—With the approval of the associate commissioners and the assistant commissioner, the commissioner may divide the Commonwealth into inspection districts, and assign the necessary number of inspectors thereto.

Sec. 16. Penalty for accepting reward or bribe.—An inspector who directly or indirectly receives a reward, gift or gratuity on account of his official services shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than three months, and shall also be discharged from office.

Sec. 17 (as amended 1921, ch. 306). Entering buildings.—For the enforcement of the provisions of this chapter, the commissioner, the assistant commissioner and the associate commissioners, the director of the division of industrial safety and inspectors may enter all buildings and parts thereof used for industrial purposes and examine the methods of protection from accident, the means of escape from fire, the sanitary provisions, the lighting and means of ventilation, and make investigations as to the employment of women and minors and as to compliance with all provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 18. Health of children in factories.—Every industrial health inspector shall inform himself concerning the health of all minors employed in factories within his district; and whenever he may deem it advisable or necessary, he shall call the ill health or physical unfitness of any minor to the attention of his parents, guardians or employer and of the department.

Chapter 149.—Interference with employment—Strikes

Section 19. Interference forbidden.—No person shall, by intimidation or force, prevent or seek to prevent a person from entering into or continuing in the employment of any person.

Sec. 20. Joining labor unions.—No person shall, himself or by his agent, coerce or compel a person into a written or oral agreement not to join or become a member of a labor organization as a condition of his securing employment or continuing in the employment of such person.

Sec. 21. Fraudulent advertisements concerning employment.—Whoever knowingly causes to be printed or published a false or fraudulent notice or advertisement for help or for obtaining work or employment shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or both.

Sec. 22. Advertising for employees during strikes.—If an employer, during the continuance of a strike, lockout or other labor trouble among his employees, publicly advertises in newspapers or by posters or otherwise for employees, or by himself or his agents solicits persons to work for him to fill the places of strikers, he shall plainly and explicitly mention in such advertisements or oral or written solicitations that a strike, lockout or other labor trouble exists among his employees.

Sec. 23. Notice of strike.—No person, during the continuance of a strike, lockout or other labor trouble among his employees or those of another person, shall directly or indirectly procure or attempt to procure, or assist in any way in procuring or attempting to procure, persons to fill the places of employees involved in such strike, lockout or other labor trouble, if such persons are or have been solicited by means of advertisements or oral or written statements in which it has not been plainly and explicitly mentioned that a strike, lockout or other labor trouble exists in the establishment where such persons are to be employed. This provision shall apply whether such advertisements or oral or written solicitations were made within or without the Commonwealth.

After investigation by and upon complaint of the department, any person violating any provision of this or the preceding section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars.

Sec. 24. Peaceful persuasion.—No person shall be punished criminally, or held liable or answerable in any action at law or suit in equity, for persuading or attempting to persuade, by printing or otherwise, any other person to do anything, or to pursue any line of conduct not unlawful or actionable or in violation of any marital or other legal duty, unless such persuasion or attempt to persuade is accompanied by injury or threat of injury to the person, property, business or occupation of the person persuaded or attempted to be persuaded, or by disorder or other unlawful conduct on the part of the person persuading or attempting to persuade, or is a part of an unlawful or actionable conspiracy.

SECTION 25. Selection of lodgings.—Every employee in public work shall lodge, board and trade where and with whom he elects; and no person or his agents or employees under contract with the commonwealth, a county, city or town, or with a department, board, commission or officer acting therefor, for the doing of public work shall directly or indirectly require, as a condition of employment therein, that the employee shall lodge, board or trade at a particular place or with a particular person. This section shall be made a part of the contract for such employment.

SEC. 26. Preference for citizens.—In the employment of mechanics, teamsters and laborers in the construction of public works by the Commonwealth, or by a county, town, or district, or by persons contracting therewith for such construction, preference shall first be given to citizens of the Commonwealth who have served in the Army or Navy of the United States in time of war and have been honorably discharged therefrom or released from active duty therein, and who are qualified to perform the work to which the employment relates; and secondly, to citizens of the Commonwealth generally, and, if they can not be obtained in sufficient numbers, then to citizens of the United States; and every contract for such work shall contain a provision to this effect. The wages for a day's work paid to mechanics and teamsters employed in the construction of public works as aforesaid shall be not less than the customary and prevailing rate of wages for a day's work in the same trade or occupation in the locality where such public works are constructed: Provided, That no town in the construction of public works shall be required to give preference to veterans not residents of such town over citizens thereof. Any contractor who knowingly and willfully violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 27. Disputes as to wages.—In case of any dispute as to such customary and prevailing rate of wages, the department shall investigate the wages paid in the trade or occupation in the locality which such public works are under construction, and decide what rate of wages shall be paid.

SEC. 28. Action against cities or towns.—A person to whom a debt is due for labor performed in constructing a building, sewer or drain, or water works or other public works owned by a town, under a contract with any person having authority from or rightfully acting for such town in furnishing such labor, shall have a right of action against such town to recover such debt if, within thirty days after he ceases to perform such labor, he files in the clerk's office of the town against which he claims such right of action a written statement under oath of the amount of the debt so due to him, and the names of the persons for whom and by whose employment the labor was performed, and if, within sixty days after he ceases to perform such labor, he commences such action. Such right of action shall not be lost by reason of a mistake in stating the amount due; but the claimant shall not recover as damages a larger amount than is named in said statement as due to him, with interest. No person who has contracted to furnish labor other than his own in such construction shall have such right of action.

SEC. 30 (as amended 1923, ch. 236). Eight-hour day.—The service of all laborers, workmen and mechanics now or hereafter employed by the Commonwealth or any county therein or any town which, by vote of the city council, or of the voters at a town meeting, accepts this section or has accepted section one of chapter two hundred and forty of the General Acts of nineteen hundred and sixteen, or by any contractor or subcontractor for or upon any public works of the Commonwealth or of any county therein or of any such town is hereby restricted to eight hours in any one day and to forty-eight hours in any one week. No officer of the Commonwealth, except as provided herein, or of any county or of any such town, no such contractor or subcontractor or other person whose duty it is to employ, direct or control the service of such laborers, workmen or mechanics shall require or permit any such laborer, workman or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any one day, or more than forty-eight hours in any one week, except in cases of extraordinary emergency. The provisions of this section shall not prohibit the employment by the State department of public works, or by any contractor or subcontractor for said department, of laborers, workmen and mechanics for more than eight hours in any one day in the construction or reconstruction of highways when, in the opinion of the commissioner of labor and industries, public necessity so requires.

SEC. 31. Employees in certain cities and towns.—The service of all laborers, workmen and mechanics now or hereafter employed by any town which has accepted section twenty of chapter one hundred and six of the Revised Laws, or section forty-two of chapter five hundred and fourteen of the Acts of nineteen hundred and nine, or said section forty-two, as affected by chapter four hundred and ninety-four of the Acts of nineteen hundred and eleven, and which has not accepted section one of chapter two hundred and forty of the General Acts of nineteen hundred and sixteen, or by any contractor or sub-contractor for or upon any public works of any such town, is hereby restricted to eight hours in any one day. No officer of any such town, no such contractor or subcontractor or other person whose duty it is to employ, direct or control the service of such laborers, workmen or mechanics shall require or permit any such laborer, workman or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any one day except in cases of extraordinary emergency. But any such town may accept the preceding section and shall thereupon become subject thereto.

SEC. 32. Definitions.—In construing sections thirty and thirty-one, engineers shall be regarded as mechanics, and a threat of loss of employment or a threat to obstruct or prevent the obtaining of employment or to refrain from employing in the future shall be considered to be "requiring."

SEC. 33. Limitation of application.—It shall not be a violation of section thirty or thirty-one if, in the event of a Saturday half holiday being given to a laborer, workman, or mechanic, his hours of labor upon other working days are increased sufficiently to make a total of forty-eight hours for his week's work.

SEC. 34 (as amended 1924, ch. 237). Contracts to contain certain stipulations.—Every contract, except for the purchase of material or supplies, involving the employment of laborers, workmen, or mechanics, to which the Commonwealth or any county or any town, subject to section thirty, is a party, shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman, or mechanic working within the Commonwealth, in the employ of the contractor, subcontractor, or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract, shall be required or permitted to work more than eight hours in any one day or more than forty-eight hours in any one week, except in cases of extraordinary emergency, or in case any town subject to section thirty-one is a party to such a contract, more than eight hours in any one day, except as aforesaid: Provided, That in contracts entered into by the department of public works for the construction or reconstruction of highways there may be inserted in said stipulation a provision that said department, or any contractor or subcontractor for said department, may employ laborers, workmen, and mechanics for more than eight hours in any one day in such construction or reconstruction when, in the opinion of the commissioner of labor and industries, public necessity so requires. Every such contract not containing the aforesaid stipulation shall be null and void.

SEC. 35. Violations.—[Violations of sections 30, 31, or 34 entail a penalty of not over $1,000, or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both.]

SEC. 36. Exceptions.—Sections thirty, thirty-one, and thirty-four shall not apply to the preparation, printing, shipment, and delivery of ballots to be used at a caucus, primary, State, city, or town election nor during the sessions of the general court to persons employed in legislative printing or binding; nor shall they apply to persons employed in any State, county, or municipal institution, on a farm, or in the care of the grounds, in the stable, in the domestic or kitchen and dining-room service or in storerooms or offices, or to persons employed by the commissioners of the Massachusetts nautical school, on boats maintained by the State police for the enforcement of certain laws in the waters of the Commonwealth, or in connection with the care and maintenance of State armories, or to the purchase, operation, or lease of farm machinery by the Department of Agriculture.

SEC. 37. Nine-hour day.—In any town not subject to section thirty or thirty-one nine hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, and mechanics employed by or on behalf of such town.

SEC. 42. Day work basis.—So far as possible, all work by laborers, workmen, and mechanics employed by the Commonwealth or by any officer, department, board, or commission on behalf of the Commonwealth, shall be on the day work basis.

SEC. 43. Equal opportunity.—The application of a citizen of the Commonwealth for employment in any department of the Commonwealth or of any political subdivision thereof or in any department of a street railway company, operated, owned, controlled or financially aided in any way by the Commonwealth, or by any political subdivision thereof, shall not be affected by the applicant's national origin, race, or color.

CHAPTER 149.—Weekly day of rest—Holidays

SECTION 45. Labor on legal holidays.—Whoever requires an employee to work in any mill or factory on any legal holiday, except to perform such work as is both absolutely necessary and can lawfully be performed on Sunday, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 46. Labor not to make up time lost.—No person shall require or request any employee of a manufacturing or mechanical establishment to work more hours in any one day than is limited by law, in order to make up time lost by reason of a legal holiday.

SEC. 47. Sunday labor.—Whoever, except at the request of the employee, requires an employee engaged in any commercial occupation or in the work of any industrial process not subject to the following section or in the work of transportation or communication to do on Sunday the usual work of his occupation, unless he is allowed during the six days next ensuing twenty-four consecutive hours without labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars; but this and the following section shall not be construed as allowing any work on Sunday not otherwise authorized by law.

SEC. 48. One day's rest in seven.—Every employer of labor engaged in carrying on any manufacturing or mercantile establishment in the Commonwealth shall allow every person, except those specified in section fifty, employed in such manufacturing or mercantile establishment at least twenty-four consecutive hours of rest in every seven consecutive days. No employer shall operate any such manufacturing or mercantile establishment on Sunday unless he has complied with section fifty-one. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of fifty dollars.

SEC. 49. Exceptions.—The two preceding sections shall not apply to establishments used for the manufacture or distribution of gas, electricity, milk or water, hotels, restaurants, drug stores, livery stables or garages, nor to the tranportation, sale or delivery of food.

SEC. 50. Same.—Sections forty-seven and forty-eight shall not apply to (a) janitors; (b) watchmen; (c) employees whose duties include no work on Sunday other than (1) setting sponges in bakeries, (2) caring for live animals, (3) maintaining fires, (4) caring for machinery; (d) employees engaged in the preparation, printing, publication, sale or delivery of newspapers; (e) farm or personal service; (f) any labor called for by an emergency that could not reasonably have been anticipated.

SEC. 51. List of persons working on Sunday.—Before operating on Sunday, every employer subject to section forty-eight shall post in a conspicuous place on the premises a schedule containing a list of his employees who are required or allowed to work on Sunday and designating the day of rest for each, and shall file a copy of such schedule with the department, and promptly file with it a copy of every change therein. No employee shall be required or allowed to work on the day of rest designated for him.

SEC. 52. Records.—Every employer subject to section forty-eight shall keep a time book, open to inspection by the department, showing the names and addresses of all employees and the hours worked by each of them in each day. Whoever violates this or the preceding section shall be punished by a fine of fifty dollars.

CHAPTER 149.—Employment of women and children

SECTION 53. Boxes to be provided with casters.—Boxes, baskets and other receptacles weighing with their contents seventy-five pounds or over, which are to be moved by female employees in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment, shall be provided with pulleys or casters connected with such boxes or other receptacles, so as to be moved easily from place to place in such establishments. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars for every day during which such violation continues.

SEC. 54. Employment in core rooms.—The department shall investigate core rooms where women are employed, and shall make rules regulating the employment of women therein. The rules shall relate to the structure and location of the rooms, the emission of gases and fumes from ovens, and the size and weight which the women shall be allowed to lift or work on. A copy of the rules shall be posted in every core room where women are employed. Whoever violates any such rule shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 55. Employment before and after childbirth.—No woman shall knowingly be employed in laboring in a mercantile, manufacturing or mechanical establishment within two weeks before or four weeks after childbirth. The foregoing provision shall be included in the notice with regard to the employment of women required to be posted in such establishments.

SEC. 56 (as amended 1921, ch 280). Hours of labor.—No child and no woman shall be employed in laboring in any factory or workshop, or in any manufacturing, mercantile, mechanical establishment, telegraph office or telephone exchange, or by any express or transportation company, or in any laundry, hotel, manicuring or hair dressing establishment, motion-picture theater, or as an elevator operator, or as a switchboard operator in a private exchange, more than nine hours in any one day except that hotel employees who are not employed in a manufacturing, mercantile or mechanical establishment connected with a hotel may be employed more than nine but not more than ten hours in any one day; and in no case shall the hours of labor exceed forty-eight in a week, except that in manufacturing establishments where the employment is determined by the department to be by seasons, the number of such hours in any week may exceed forty-eight, but not fifty-two: Provided, That the total number of such hours in any year shall not exceed an average of forty-eight hours a week for the whole year, excluding Sundays and holidays; and if any child or woman shall be employed in more than one such place, the total number of hours of such employment shall not exceed forty-eight hours in any one week. Every employer, except those hereinafter designated, shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such persons are employed a printed notice stating the number of hours' work required of them on each day of the week, the hours of beginning and stopping work, and the hours when the time allowed for meals begins and ends, or, in case of mercantile establishments and of establishments exempted from sections ninety-nine and one hundred, the time, if any, allowed for meals. The employment of any such person at any time other than as stated in said printed notice shall be deemed a violation of this section unless it appears that such employment was to make up time lost on a previous day of the same week in consequence of the stopping of machinery upon which such person was employed or dependent for employment; but no stopping of machinery for less than thirty consecutive minutes shall justify such overtime employment, nor shall such overtime employment be authorized until a written report of the day and hour of its occurrence and its duration is sent to the department, nor shall such overtime employment be authorized because of the stopping of machinery for the celebration of any holiday. Every employer engaged in furnishing public service, or in any other kind of business in respect to which the department shall find that public necessity or convenience requires the employment of children or women by shifts during different periods or parts of the day, shall post in a conspicuous place in every room where such persons are employed a printed notice stating separately the hours of employment for each shift or tour of duty and the amount of time allowed for meals. A list by name of the employees, stating in which shift each is employed, shall be kept on file at each place of employment for inspection by employees and by officers charged with the enforcement of the law. In cases of extraordinary emergency or extraordinary public requirement, this section shall not apply to employers engaged in public service or in other kinds of business in which shifts may be required as hereinbefore stated; but in such cases no employment in excess of the hours hereby authorized shall be considered as legalized until a written report of the day and hour of its occurrence and its duration is sent to the department.

SEC. 57. Violations.—[Violations entail a penalty of fine, $50 to $100.]

SEC. 58. Operating elevators.—Any law restricting the hours of women and minors laboring in factories or workshops, or in mercantile, manufacturing or mechanical establishments, shall, unless it is otherwise expressly provided, apply to women and minors operating elevators in such establishments, or in any building occupied in whole or in part by any such establishment, or in any office building.

SEC. 59. Night work.—No person, and no agent or officer of a person, shall employ a woman over twenty-one in any capacity for the purpose of manufacturing before six o'clock in the morning or after ten o'clock in the evening, or in the manufacture of textile goods after six o'clock in the evening. Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars.

SEC. 60 (as amended 1921, ch. 410). Age.—[Except as provided in section 69, children under 14 may not be employed in or about any factory, workshop, mechanical or mercantile establishment, barber shop, public stable, garage, brick or lumber yard, telephone or telegraph office, as bootblack or messenger, in building work, or any contract or wage-earning industry in tenement or other houses; nor in any work for wages during school hours; nor between 6 p. m. and 6.30 a. m.]

SEC. 61. Dangerous occupations.—[Children under 16 may not be employed to operate or assist in operating a specified list of machines, etc. For similar list see Delaware Code, sec. 3145.]

SEC. 62. Dangerous occupations.—[This section enumerates employments forbidden to children under 18 years of age. For similar law see Delaware Code, sec. 3148.]

SEC. 63. Power of department.—[The department of labor and industries may, after hearings duly held, extend the above lists by the inclusion of occupations, processes, etc., found dangerous or injurious to the health or morals of children under 16 or 18 respectively.]

SEC. 64. Immoral resorts.—[No minor may be sent to a disorderly house or place of immoral resort or amusement.]

SEC. 65 (as amended 1921, ch. 410). Hours of labor.—[No child under 16 may be employed in the establishments named in section 60, or where an employment certificate is required, for more than 6 days or 48 hours per week, nor more than 8 hours per day, nor, except as provided in section 69, between 6 p. m. and 6.30 a. m. Attendance on a continuation school or class is counted as work time.]

SEC. 66. Night work.—[Boys under 18 and girls under 21 may not be employed in the establishments named in section 60 between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m., nor in textile establishments after 6 p. m., but girls under 21 may act as telephone operators till 11 p. m.]

SEC. 67. Hours of labor.—[Except as provided in section 56, boys under 18 and girls under 21 may not be employed in the establishments, etc., named in section 60 more than 6 days or 54 hours per week, or more than 10 hours in a day.]

SEC. 68. Messengers.—[No minor may be employed as messenger or delivery boy between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m., messengers for newspaper offices excepted.]

SEC. 69 (as amended 1921, ch. 410), 70–73. Street trades.—[Boys under 12 and girls under 18 in cities of over 50,000 inhabitants may not engage in any trade in any street or public place. No minor over 14 can sell or deliver newspapers and periodicals during school hours nor between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m., nor without a badge. The badge is issued on a finding of physical and mental competence, must be displayed while the holder is working, and can not be transferred. Boys under 16 may not engage in street trades between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m., nor during school hours unless they are holders of an employment certificate.]

SEC. 74. Schedule to be posted.—[Except as provided in section 56, a schedule of work time and time for meals for the minors employed in any establishment must be posted therein; employment not in accordance therewith is a violation of the law, and changes may not be made without the consent of the commissioner.]

SEC. 75. Forms.—[The forms required to be posted by sections 56 and 74 are to be furnished by the department, on application.]

SECS. 76, 77. Enforcement.—[Inspectors and school attendance officers shall enforce the provisions as to factory employments and street trades, respectively.]

SECS. 78–84. Violations.—[These sections prescribe penalties on employers, parents, officials, minors and others violating or permitting violations, or hindering the enforcement of the various provisions of the preceding sections.]

Secs. 86 (as amended 1921, ch. 351), 87-93, 94 (as amended 1921, ch. 351), 95-98. Employment certificates.—[Employment certificates are required for the employment of children 14 to 16 years of age in any factory, workshop or mechanical or mercantile establishment, issued by the superintendent of schools or a person authorized by him. Conditions are a promise of employment, completion of the sixth grade at school, evidence of age (records or physician's certificate), and certificate of physical fitness. Certificates must be kept on file, and a list of employed children must be posted in the building. Penalties for violation and provisions for enforcement by inspectors and attendance officers are given. These may visit all places of employment and inspect files and lists. Children 16 to 21 must hold educational certificates, and if they have not completed the sixth grade, attendance on evening schools or a day school is a condition of employment.]

Sec. 99. Time for meals.—Women and children, five or more in number, who are employed in the same factory shall be allowed their mealtimes at the same hour, except that any such persons who begin work in such factory at a later hour in the morning than other such persons employed therein may be allowed their mealtimes at a different hour; but no such persons shall be employed during the regular meal hour in tending the machines or doing the work of any other women or children in addition to their own.

Sec. 100. Rest period.—No child or woman shall be employed for more than six hours at one time in a factory or workshop in which five or more such persons are employed without an interval of at least forty-five minutes for a meal; but such child or woman may be so employed for not more than six and one half hours at one time if such employment ends not later than one o'clock in the afternoon and if he or she is then dismissed from the factory or workshop for the remainder of the day; or for not more than seven and one-half hours at one time if he or she is allowed sufficient opportunity for eating a lunch during the continuance of such employment, and if such employment ends not later than two o'clock in the afternoon, and he or she is then dismissed from the factory or workshop for the remainder of the day. An employer, superintendent, overseer or agent who violates any provision of this or the preceding section shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars.

Sec. 101. Exemptions.—The two preceding sections shall not apply to iron works, glass works, paper mills, letterpress establishments, print works, bleaching works or dyeing works; and the department, if it is proved to its satisfaction that in any other class of factories or workshops it is necessary, by reason of the continuous nature of the processes or of special circumstances affecting such class, to exempt it from the two preceding sections and that such exemption can be made without injury to the health of the women or children affected thereby, may, with the approval of the governor, issue a certificate granting such exemption, public notice whereof shall, without expense to the Commonwealth, be given in the manner directed by said department.

Sec. 102. Responsibility of employer.—If a minor or a woman shall, without the orders, consent or knowledge of the employer or of the superintendent, overseer or other agent of the employer, labor in a manufacturing or mechanical establishment, factory or workshop during a part of any time allowed for meals in such establishment, factory or workshop, according to the notice required by section fifty-six, and if a copy of such notice was posted in a conspicuous place in the room where such labor was performed, with a rule of the establishment, factory or workshop forbidding such minor or woman to labor during such time, neither the employer nor a superintendent, overseer or other agent of the employer shall be held responsible for such labor.

Sec. 103. Seats.—Whoever employs women or children in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment shall provide for their use and permit them to use suitable seats whenever they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties of their employment, and shall also provide for their use and permit them to use suitable seats while at work, except when the work can not properly be performed in a sitting position. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than thirty dollars.

Sec. 104. Acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations.—[Acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations are forbidden to children under 15. For the text of a similar law, see Delaware Code, sec. 2223.]

SECTION 106. Drinking water.—All industrial establishments shall provide fresh and pure drinking water to which their employees shall have access during working hours. Any person owning, in whole or in part, managing, controlling or superintending any industrial establishment in which this section is violated shall, on the complaint of the local board of health, the selectmen of a town or an inspector, be punished by a fine of one hundred dollars.

SEC. 107. Water for humidifying.—The water used for humidifying purposes by any person operating a factory or workshop shall be of such degree of purity as not to give rise to any impure or foul odors, and shall be so used as not to be injurious to the health of persons employed in such factories or workshops. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine not less than ten nor more than one thousand dollars.

SECS. 108-110. Measure of humidity.—[Thermometers or other devices must be provided and kept in order, to record the degree of humidity in the weaving and spinning departments of textile factories where water is used for humidifying purposes. The number of daily readings and standards of humidity and temperature are prescribed.]

SEC. 111. Sources of water for humidifying.—Water used for humidifying purposes in a textile factory shall be taken either from a public supply of drinking water, or from some other source of pure water, or from a supply of water which, although in the opinion of the department not suitable for drinking purposes, is sufficiently free from impurities to be not dangerous to the health of employees when used for humidifying purposes; and all ducts for the introduction or distribution of humidified air shall be kept clean.

SEC. 112. Violations.—Whoever fails to comply with any provision of sections one hundred and eight to one hundred and eleven, inclusive, after being requested so to do by an inspector, shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars.

SEC. 113. Lighting, ventilation, etc.—Every factory, workshop, manufacturing, mechanical and mercantile establishment shall be well lighted, well ventilated and kept clean and free from insanitary conditions, according to reasonable rules and regulations adopted by the department with reference thereto.

SEC. 114. Effect of industries on eyesight.—The industrial health inspectors shall, when obtaining information concerning the proper lighting of industrial establishments, make such investigation concerning the eye and vision in their relation to occupational diseases, including injuries to the eyes of employees and to the pathological effects produced or promoted by the circumstances under which the various occupations are carried on, as in the opinion of the department is practicable, and it shall from time to time issue such printed matter containing suggestions to employers and employees for the protection of the eyes of the employees as it may deem advisable.

SEC. 115. Preventing injury to eyes.—If it appears to an inspector that in any industrial establishment, from the nature of the work or the machinery used in connection therewith, or from other circumstances, there is danger of injury to the eyes of employees engaged in such work, and that the danger of injury may be decreased or prevented by any mechanical device or other practicable means, he shall, if the department so directs, order in writing that such device or other means shall be provided therein; and the proprietors and managers of the industrial establishment shall comply with the order. Violations of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than two hundred dollars for each week during which the violation continues, but a criminal prosecution for such violation shall not be begun unless a person has for four weeks after the receipt of a written order from an inspector neglected to comply therewith.

SEC. 116. Lighting.—Upon the request of any inspector of the division of inspection of the department of public safety or upon the request of any five employees in a factory or workshop, the department shall investigate and ascertain whether or not such factory or workshop is inadequately lighted. If the department is of opinion, after such investigation, that the factory or workshop is not properly lighted, it shall notify the owner or person in charge, and shall specify what changes should be made in order to light it properly, and the owner or lessee thereof shall make the changes so specified as soon as it can be done with reasonable diligence. If such owner or lessee fails to comply with any such order he shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, provided such failure is not the result of causes beyond his control.

SEC. 117. Ventilation.—A factory where five or more persons and a workshop where five or more women or children are employed shall, while work is carried on therein, be so ventilated that the air shall not become so impure as to be injurious to the health of the persons employed therein, and so that all gases, vapors, dust or other impurities injurious to health, generated in the course of the manufacturing process or handicraft carried on therein, shall so far as practicable be rendered harmless.

SEC. 118. Dust removal.—If, in such a workshop or factory, any process is carried on by which dust is caused which may be inhaled to an injurious extent by the persons employed therein, and it appears to an inspector that such inhalation would be substantially diminished without unreasonable expense by the use of a fan or by other mechanical means, such fan or other mechanical means, if he so directs, shall be provided, maintained and used.

SEC. 119. Hoods for grinding machines.—Any person operating a factory or workshop where emery wheels or belts or buffing wheels or belts injurious to the health of employees are used shall provide such wheels and belts with a hood or hopper connected with suction pipes, and with fans or blowers, in accordance with the following section, which apparatus shall be so placed and operated as to protect any person using such wheel or belt from the particles or dust produced by its operation, and to convey the particles or dust either outside of the building or to some receptacle so placed as to receive and confine them.

SEC. 120 (as amended 1921, ch. 50). Same.—Every such wheel shall be fitted with a hood or hopper of such form and so placed that the particles or dust produced by the operation of the wheel or of any belt connected therewith shall fall or will be thrown into such hood or hopper by centrifugal force; and the fans or blowers shall be of such size and shall be run at such speed as will produce a volume and velocity of air in the suction and discharge pipes sufficient to convey all particles or dust from the hood or hopper through the suction pipes and so outside of the building or to a receptacle as aforesaid. The hoods or hoppers shall be so constructed and the suction pipes and connections shall be suitable and efficacious and such as shall be approved by the department.

SEC. 121. Exemption from application.—The two preceding sections shall not apply to grinding machines upon which water is used at the point of grinding contact, nor to solid emery wheels used in sawmills or in planing mills or in other woodworking establishments, nor to any emery wheel six inches or less in diameter used in establishments where the principal business is not emery wheel grinding.

SEC. 122. Violations.—[Violations of sections 117 to 121, inclusive, are punishable by fine, $25 to $100, or imprisonment 2 months, or both, for subsequent offense; prosecution only after four weeks' neglect of notice.]

SEC. 123. Inspection.—Inspectors, upon receipt of a notice signed by any person having knowledge of the facts that any factory or workshop subject to sections one hundred and nineteen and one hundred and twenty is not provided with the apparatus prescribed thereby, shall visit and inspect such factory or workshop, and for that purpose may enter therein during working hours; and if they ascertain that the owner, proprietor or manager thereof has failed to comply with said sections, they shall make complaint to a court or trial justice having jurisdiction, and cause such owner, proprietor, or manager to be prosecuted.

SEC. 124. Communication with engine room.—In every manufacturing establishment where the machinery is operated by steam, communication shall be provided between each room where such machinery is placed and the room where the engineer is stationed by means of speaking tubes, electric bells or appliances to control the motive power, or such other means as shall be satisfactory to an inspector, if in his opinion such communication is necessary.

SEC. 125. Violations.—[Violations of the foregoing section are punishable as in sec. 122.]

SEC. 126. Locking doors.—No outside or inside doors of any building where operatives are employed shall be so locked, bolted or otherwise fastened during the hours of labor as to prevent free egress. Any person having charge of a building or room therein any exit door of which shall be found locked, bolted or otherwise fastened contrary to this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonmen for not more than one year, or both.

SEC. 127. Guards for gears.—The belting, shafting, gearing, drums and all machinery having movable parts in all factories, workshops, mechanical, and mercantile establishments, if so placed as, in the opinion of the department, to be dangerous to employees while engaged in their ordinary duties, shall be securely guarded so far as practicable. No machinery except steam engines in a factory, workshop, mechanical or mercantile establishment shall be cleaned while running if written objection is made by an inspector.

SEC. 128. Traversing machinery in cotton mills.—The owner of a cotton factory erected after May twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety-six, in which there is any traversing carriage of a self-acting mule installed, or of any cotton factory erected previously to such date in which thereafter such traversing carriage is installed, who permits such carriage to travel within twelve inches of any pillar, column, pier or fixed structure shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars.

SEC. 129. Openings in hoistways.—The openings of hoistways, hatchways and well holes upon every floor of a factory or mercantile building shall be protected by sufficient trapdoors or self-closing hatches, or such other safeguards as an inspector directs; and due diligence shall be used to keep such trapdoors closed at all times except when in actual use by the occupant of the building having the use and control of the same.

SEC. 130. Storage of explosives.—Explosive or inflammable compounds shall not be so stored or used in any factory as to obstruct or render hazardous the egress of operatives in case of fire.

SEC. 131. Guards for shuttles.—Any person owning, managing or operating a factory where looms are used shall equip them with such guards or other devices as will prevent injury to employees from shuttles falling or being thrown from the looms. Such guards or devices shall be made of such material and be placed in such manner as shall be approved by the department. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars for every week during which the violation continues.

SEC. 132. Suction shuttles.—No proprietor of a factory nor any officer or agent or other person shall require or permit the use of suction shuttles, or any form of shuttle in the use of which any part of the shuttle or any thread is put in the mouth or touched by the lips of the operator. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars.

SECS. 133–138. Toilets.—[These sections require adequate and convenient water closets and washing facilities in industrial establishments, separate provisions to be made for the two sexes. If a lessee makes changes on orders from an inspector, he may recover an equitable amount from the owner. A special provision requires washing and dressing rooms in foundries where ten or more men are employed, with running hot and cold water, and a separate water closet, both to be connected with the foundry building, and properly heated and ventilated.]

SEC. 139. Lockers.—In any mercantile or manufacturing establishment or hotel where the nature of the work renders it necessary for any or all employees, before beginning work, to make a substantially complete change of clothing, exclusive of underclothing, separate lockers, closets or other receptacles, each with a lock and key, shall be provided for the use of such employees. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than twenty dollars.

SEC. 140. Receptacles for expectoration.—Suitable receptacles for expectoration shall be provided in all factories and workshops by the proprietors thereof, the same to be of such form, construction and number as shall be satisfactory to the board of health of the town where the factory or workshop is situated.

SEC. 141 (as amended, 1921, ch. 53). Medical chest, etc.—Every person operating a factory, shop, or mechanical establishment where machinery is used for any manufacturing or other purpose except for elevators, or for heating or hoisting apparatus shall keep and maintain, free of expense to the employees, such medical or surgical chest, or both, as shall be required by the department, containing plasters, bandages, absorbent cotton, gauze, and all other necessary medicines, instruments and appliances for the treatment of persons injured or taken ill upon the premises. Every such person employing one hundred or more persons shall, if so required by the department, provide accommodations satisfactory to it, for the treatment of persons injured or taken ill upon the premises, and also suitable and sanitary facilities for heating or warming food to be consumed by those employees of the factory, shop or mechanical establishment who so desire. Every person carrying on a mercantile establishment where twenty or more women or children are employed shall in the manner aforesaid provide such medical and surgical chest as the department may require. Whoever violates any provision hereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than five hundred dollars for every week during which such violation continues.

SEC. 142. Cloths for cleaning printing presses.—All publishers and printers shall use a sanitary cloth or other sanitary material in cleaning their presses.

CHAPTER 149.—Manufactures in tenements

SECTION 143. Licensing, inspection, and registration.—A room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house shall not be used for the purpose of making, altering, repairing, or finishing therein wearing apparel of any description, except by the members of the family dwelling therein; and a family desiring to make, alter, repair, or finish wearing apparel of any description in a room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house shall first procure a license therefor from the department. A license may be applied for by and issued to any member of a family desiring to do such work. No person shall hire, employ, or contract with a member of a family which does not hold a license therefor to make, alter, repair, or finish such wearing apparel in any room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house as aforesaid. Every room or apartment where such wearing apparel is made, altered, repaired, or finished shall be kept in a cleanly condition and be subject to the inspection and examination of the department to ascertain whether said room or apartment or such wearing apparel or any parts thereof are clean and free from vermin and from infectious or contagious matter. A room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house, which is not used for living or sleeping purposes and is not connected with a room or apartment used for living or sleeping purposes and has a separate and distinct entrance from the outside shall not be subject to this section, nor shall this section prevent the employment of a tailor or seamstress by any person or family for the making of wearing apparel for the use of such person or family. Every person hiring, employing, or contracting with a member of a family holding a license hereunder for making, altering, repairing, or finishing wearing apparel to be done outside the premises of such person shall keep a register of the names and addresses plainly written in English of the persons so hired, employed, or contracted with, and shall forward a copy of such register once a month to the department.

SEC. 144. Disease.—If an inspector finds evidence of infectious or contagious disease or of vermin present in a workshop, or in a room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house where wearing apparel is made, altered or repaired, or in goods manufactured or in process of manufacture therein, he shall report the same to the department, which shall notify the local board of health to examine said workshop, room or apartment and the materials used therein; and if the board of health finds that said workshop, tenement or dwelling house is in an unhealthy condition, and that the clothing and materials used therein are unfit for use, it shall issue such orders as public safety may require.

SEC. 145. Tags required, when.—Whoever sells or exposes for sale wearing apparel of any description made in a tenement or dwelling house for which the family dwelling therein has not procured the license required by section one hundred and forty-three shall have affixed to each article of wearing apparel a tag or label not less than two inches in length and one inch in width, upon which shall legibly be printed or written the words "tenement made" and the name of the State and town where such article was made.

SEC. 146. Violations.—No person shall sell or expose for sale any such article of wearing apparel without a tag or label as aforesaid affixed thereto, or willfully remove, alter or destroy such tag or label upon any such article when exposed for sale, or sell or expose for sale any such article with a false or fraudulent label affixed thereto. Whoever violates any provision of this section or section one hundred and forty-three or one hundred and forty-five shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 147. Clothing made outside State.—If it is reported to an inspector or to the department that ready-made articles of wearing apparel of any description are being shipped to this Commonwealth, having been manufactured under unhealthy conditions, said inspector shall examine said goods and the condition of their manufacture; and if they contain vermin or have been made in improper places or under unhealthy conditions, he shall so report to the department, which shall thereupon notify the department of public health, which shall make such orders as are necessary to protect the public health.

CHAPTER 149.—Payment of wages—Weekly pay day

SECTION 148 (as amended 1924, ch. 145). Who to pay wages weekly.—Every person engaged in carrying on in a city a hotel or club, and every person engaged in carrying on within the Commonwealth a theater, moving picture house, dance hall, factory, workshop, manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, mine, quarry, railroad or street railway, or telephone, telegraph, express, transportation or water company, or in the erection, alteration, repair or removal of any building or structure, or the construction or repair of any railroad, street railway, road, bridge, sewer, gas, water or electric-light works, pipes or lines, shall pay weekly each employee engaged in his business, and every person employing musicians, janitors, porters or watchmen shall pay weekly each such employee, the wages earned by him to within six days of the date of said payment if employed for six days in a week or to within seven days of the date of said payment if employed seven days in the week, or, in the case of an employee who has worked for a period of less than six days, hereinafter called a casual employee, shall, within seven days after the termination of such period, pay the wages earned by such casual employee during such period; but any employee leaving his employment shall be paid in full on the following regular pay day; and any employee discharged from such employment shall be paid in full on the day of his discharge, or in Boston as soon as the laws requiring pay rolls, bills and accounts to be certified shall have been complied with; and the Commonwealth, its departments, officers, boards and commissions shall so pay every mechanic, workman and laborer employed by it or them, and every person employed by it or them in any penal or charitable institution, and every county and city shall so pay every employee engaged in its business the wages or salary earned by him, unless such mechanic, workman, laborer or employee requests in writing to be paid in a different manner; and every town shall so pay each employee in its business if so required by him; but an employee absent from his regular place of labor at a time fixed for payment shall be paid thereafter on demand. This section shall not apply to an employee of a cooperative corporation or association if he is a stockholder therein unless he requests such corporation to pay him weekly, nor to casual employees, as hereinbefore defined, employed by the Commonwealth or by a county, city or town. The department of public utilities, after hearing, may exempt any railroad corporation from paying weekly any of its employees if it appears that such employees prefer less frequent payments, and that their interests and the interests of the public will not suffer thereby. No person shall by a special contract with an employee or by any other means exempt himself from this section or section one hundred and fifty. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars.

SEC. 149. Warrant for violation.—A justice or clerk of a district court, or a trial justice, may upon the application of any employee issue a summons to an employer to appear and show cause why a warrant should not issue against him for a violation of the preceding section. Upon the return of such summons and after a hearing the justice may issue a warrant upon the complaint of any such employee.

SEC. 150. Complaint for violation.—The department may make complaint against any person for a violation of section one hundred and forty-eight within three months after the date thereof. On the trial no defense for failure to pay as required, other than the attachment of such wages by trustee process or a valid assignment thereof or a valid set-off against the same, or the absence of the employee from his regular place of labor at the time of payment, or an actual tender to such employee at the time of payment of the wages so earned by him, shall be valid. The defendant shall not set up as a defense a payment of wages after the bringing of the complaint. An assignment of future wages payable weekly under section one hundred and forty-eight shall not be valid if made to the person from whom such wages are to become due or to any person on his behalf, or if made or procured to be made to another person for the purpose of relieving the employer from the obligation to pay weekly.

SEC. 151. Payment during work time.—Persons carrying on any manufacturing business employing one hundred or more persons shall, on the day chosen as pay day, pay such of their employees as are on that day working in the manufacturing establishment, before the close of the regular working hours.

Sec. 152. Deductions for tardiness.—There shall not be deducted from the wages of an employee in any factory, workshop, manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, or from the wages of a mechanic, workman or laborer, on account of the employee's coming late to work, a sum in excess of the proportionate wage which would have been earned during the time actually lost. Whoever violates this or the preceding section shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars.

Sec. 153. Fines for imperfect weaving.—No system used by manufacturers for grading the work of a weaver shall affect or lessen the wages of the weaver except for imperfections in his own work; and in no case shall the wages of those engaged in weaving be affected by fines or otherwise unless the imperfections complained of are first exhibited and pointed out to the person whose wages are to be affected; and a fine shall not be imposed upon any person for imperfect weaving unless this section is first complied with and the amount of the fines is agreed upon by both parties.

Sec. 154. Same.—No employer shall impose a fine upon an employee engaged at weaving for imperfections arising during the process of weaving. Whoever violates this or the preceding section shall for the first offense be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars and for a subsequent offense by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars.

Sec. 155. Specifications for weavers.—The occupier or manager of every cotton factory shall supply to each person engaged as a weaver in said factory and paid by the piece, cut or yard a printed or written ticket with each warp which shall contain the following specifications as to the work to be done and wages paid: The number of cuts, the number of yards per cut or piece, the price per yard, cut or piece, the number of picks per inch and the number of reeds to the inch. Said occupier or manager shall also supply to each person engaged as a frame tender a specification of the number of roving and price per hank, and to each person engaged as a warper or web drawer a specification of the number of threads in the warp and the rate of compensation, and to each operative paid by the pound a specification of the price to be paid per pound; said specification shall be furnished in each case on a printed or written ticket within three days after said operative begins work.

Sec. 156. Nature of specifications.—The occupier or manager of every textile factory shall post in every room where any employees work by the job, in legible writing or printing, and in sufficient numbers to be easily accessible to such employees, specifications of the character of each kind of work to be done by them, and the rate of compensation. Such specifications in the case of weaving rooms shall state the intended and maximum length of a cut or piece, the count per inch of reed, and the number of picks per inch, width of loom, width of cloth woven in the loom, and the price per cut or piece, or per pound; or, if payment is made per pick or per yard, the price per pick or per yard; and each warp shall bear a designating ticket or mark of identification. In roving or spinning rooms, the number of roving or yarn and the price per hank for each size machine shall be stated; and each machine shall bear a ticket stating the number of the roving or yarn made upon it. In spooling rooms the boxes shall bear a ticket stating the number of pounds the box contains and the price per pound. The maximum length of a cut or piece shall not exceed its intended length by more than three per cent; but if it appears that a variation in excess of the amount hereinbefore set forth has been caused in whole or in part by any weaver in the employ of any person charged with the violation of this section, it shall be deemed a sufficient defense to a prosecution. The said specifications shall also contain a detailed schedule of the method of computation of the price of cotton or silk or mixed cotton and silk weaving to be paid by the said occupier or manager, and no particular in the specifications shall be expressed by means of symbols, but every particular shall be sufficiently clear and complete to enable the operative to determine readily the price payable for the cut or piece.

[Violation entails a fine of $100 for first offense, $200 for second, and $500 or imprisonment 1 month, or both, for a subsequent offense.]

Sec. 157. Violations.—[Violations of sec. 155 are punishable, for a first offense, by a fine, $25 to $50; and for subsequent offenses, $50 to $100. Interfering with an inspector in enforcing secs. 155 and 156 is similarly punishable.]

Sec. 158. Deductions for stoppage of machinery.—Deductions shall not be made from the wages of women or children paid by the day or hour, and employed in manufacturing or mechanical establishments, while machinery is stopped, if said women or children are refused the privilege of leaving the mill while the damage to said machinery is being repaired; and if they are detained in their workrooms during such time they shall not be compelled to make up time lost by such stopping unless compensated therefor at their regular rates of wages. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty dollars.

SEC. 159. Notice of discharge.—A person engaged in manufacturing who requires from his employees, under penalty or forfeiture of a part of the wages earned by them, a notice of intention to leave such employ shall be liable to a like forfeiture if, without similar notice, he discharges an employee.

CHAPTER 149.—Public employment offices

SECTION 160. Establishment.—The department may establish and maintain in such cities as may be selected by it after investigation, with the approval of the governor and council, employment offices for the purpose of bringing together those seeking employment and those desiring to employ, and may maintain such offices now established. The commissioner shall make an annual report as to free employment offices.

SEC. 161. Superintendent and clerks.—The commissioner shall appoint for each of the offices provided for in the preceding section a superintendent who shall, under the direction of the commissioner, perform the duties hereinafter set forth or such as he may require. The commissioner may also appoint an assistant superintendent and such clerks as he may deem necessary for the proper conduct of the business of said employment offices. The location of each office established under the preceding section shall be plainly indicated by a proper sign.

SEC. 162. Records; information regarding strikes.—The superintendents of said employment offices shall receive applications from those seeking employment and from those desiring to employ, and shall register them in such manner as may be prescribed by the commissioner, and shall take such other action as the commissioner may deem best to promote the purposes of said offices. Said superintendents shall also receive applications from alien immigrants seeking employment in agricultural labor and from those desiring to employ immigrants in agricultural labor, and shall take such other action as the commissioner may deem best to promote a more general distribution of alien immigrants throughout the agricultural sections of the Commonwealth.

In directing applicants for employment to an employer in whose establishment a strike is in progress, the commissioner, superintendents or other departmental employees shall inform the applicant of the strike.

SEC. 163. Fees prohibited.—No fees shall in any case be taken from those seeking the benefits of said employment offices. Any superintendent or clerk who directly or indirectly charges or receives any fee in the performance of his duties shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in jail for not more than one month, and shall be disqualified from holding further connection with said office.

SEC. 164. Preference to residents.—In registering applications for employment and for employees wanted, preference shall be given to residents of the Commonwealth.

SEC. 165. Reports.—Each superintendent shall make to the commissioner such reports of applications for labor or employment and of other details of the work of his office as the commissioner may require. The commissioner shall cause reports showing the business of the several offices to be prepared at regular intervals and to be exchanged among the said offices, and shall supply them to the newspapers and to citizens upon request; and the several superintendents shall post such reports in a conspicuous place in their offices so that they may be open to public inspection.

SEC. 166. Appropriation.—There shall be allowed and paid, upon the approval of the commissioner, for salaries and for contingent expenses in connection with the establishment and maintenance of free employment offices, such sum as the general court may annually appropriate therefor.

SEC. 167. Information regarding demands.—The commissioner may furnish weekly to the clerks of all towns in the Commonwealth printed bulletins showing the demand for employment, classified by occupations to such extent as may be practicable and indicating the town where the employees are wanted. Such information shall be based on the applications for employees under this chapter.

SEC. 168. Posting.—Every town clerk shall post the lists received as aforesaid in one or more conspicuous places in the town. A town clerk who fails to comply with this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than ten dollars.

CHAPTER 149.—Statistics of labor and manufactures

SECTIONS 169–172. Reports.—[The commissioner is to make annual reports of statistical information obtained by him. The attendance of witnesses with books and papers may be required, and examinations had under oath. The data called for may include capital, products, number of employees by sex and whether adults or children, wages, weeks of operation, etc. Such information is confidential, and must not be so used as to disclose private affairs.]

CHAPTER 149.—Employers' liability—Waivers

SECTION 177A (added 1922, ch. 215). Waivers forbidden.—No person shall, by a special contract with his employees, exempt himself from liability which he may be under to them for injuries suffered by them in their employment and resulting from the negligence of the employer or of a person in his employ.

CHAPTER 149.—Posting notices, etc.

SECTION 179. Powers of department.—The department may require employers to post in conspicuous positions in any place of employment such placards, posters or signs for the information of employees as it may issue.

CHAPTER 149.—Public works—Preference of citizens

SECTION 179A (added 1922, ch. 517). Preference directed.—In the awarding of contracts for public work by the Commonwealth or by a county, city or town or by persons contracting therewith to do such work, preference shall be given to persons who are citizens of the United States and to partnerships, all of whose members are such citizens. Any person who knowingly and willfully violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars. Nothing in this section shall require the acceptance of a higher bid in preference to a lower bid.

CHAPTER 150.—Conciliation and arbitration—State board

SECTION 1. Duties of board.—The board of conciliation and arbitration of the department of labor and industries, in this chapter called the board, shall perform the duties required by this chapter.

SEC. 2. Rules of procedure.—The department of labor and industries shall from time to time establish rules of procedure for the board.

SEC. 3. Conciliation and investigation.—The mayor of a city or the selectmen of a town, having knowledge that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened or has actually occurred therein, shall at once give notice to the board. Notice may be given by the employer or by the employees concerned in the controversy, strike or lockout. When the board has knowledge that a strike or lockout, which involves an employer and his present or former employees, is seriously threatened or has actually occurred, and such employer at that time is employing, or upon the occurrence of the strike or lockout was employing, not less than twenty-five persons in the same general line of business in any town in the Commonwealth, the board shall, as soon as may be, communicate with such employer and employees and endeavor by mediation to obtain an amicable settlement, or endeavor to persuade them to submit the controversy to a local board of conciliation and arbitration established under section nine or to the board. If a settlement is not agreed upon and the parties refuse to submit the matter in dispute to arbitration, the board shall investigate the cause of such controversy and ascertain which of the parties thereto is mainly responsible or blameworthy for the existence or continuance of the same, and shall, unless a settlement of the controversy is reached, make and publish a report finding such cause and assigning such responsibility or blame. The board may employ agents to assist in said investigation. It shall, upon the request of the governor, investigate and report upon a controversy if in his opinion it seriously affects or threatens seriously to affect the public welfare. The board shall have the same powers for the foregoing purpose as are given to it by sections five to eight, inclusive. The board shall by publication or otherwise inform employers and employees of their duty to give notice to the board before resorting to a strike or lock-out and of the provisions of this chapter affecting the rights of employers and employees relative to industrial disputes.

SEC. 4. Advertising during strikes.—The provisions of sections twenty-two and twenty-three of chapter one hundred and forty-nine relative to advertising during strikes shall cease to be operative when the board shall determine that the business of the employer, in respect to which the strike or other labor trouble occurred, is being carried on in the normal and usual manner and to the normal and usual extent. Upon the application of the employer, this question shall be determined by said board, but only after a full hearing at which all persons involved shall be entitled to be heard and represented by counsel. The board shall give at least three days' notice of the hearing to the strikers and employees by publication in at least three daily newspapers published in the Commonwealth, and by mailing a copy of said notice, postage prepaid, to the employers and to the accredited representatives of the strikers or workmen interested, when their addresses are known; and in every case the board shall make every reasonable and diligent effort to give notice to said strikers or interested workmen.

SEC. 5. Arbitration.—If a controversy not involving questions which may be the subject of an action at law or suit in equity exists between a person employing not less than twenty-five persons in the same general line of business and his employees, the board shall, upon application as provided in the following section, as soon as practicable visit the place where the controversy exists and make careful inquiry into its cause, and may, with the consent of the governor, conduct such inquiry outside the Commonwealth. The board shall hear all persons interested who come before it, advise the respective parties what ought to be done or submitted to by either or both to adjust said controversy, and make a written decision thereof which shall at once be made public, shall be open to public inspection and shall be recorded by the board. A short statement thereof may, in the discretion of the board, be published in the annual report, and the board shall cause a copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of the town in which said business is carried on. Said decision shall for six months be binding upon the parties who join in said application, or until the expiration of sixty days after either party has given notice in writing to the other party and to the board of his intention not to be bound thereby. Such notice may be given to said employees by posting it in three conspicuous places in the shop or factory where they work.

SEC. 6. Application for arbitration.—The application shall be signed by the employer or by a majority of his employees in the department of the business in which the controversy exists, or by their duly authorized agent, or by both parties, and if signed by an agent claiming to represent a majority of the employees, the board shall satisfy itself that he is duly authorized so to do; but the names of the employees giving the authority shall be kept secret. The application shall contain a concise statement of the existing controversy and a promise to continue in business or at work without any lockout or strike until the decision of the board, if made within three weeks after the date of filing the application. The board shall forthwith, after such filing, cause public notice to be given of the time and place for a hearing on the application, unless both parties join in the application and present therewith a written request that no public notice be given. If such request is made, notice of the hearings shall be given to the parties in such manner as the board may order, and the board may give public notice thereof, notwithstanding such request. If the petitioner or petitioners fail to perform the promise made in the application, the board shall proceed no further thereon without the written consent of the adverse party.

SEC. 7. Assistants.—In all controversies in which application is made under the preceding section, each party may, in writing, nominate fit persons to act in the case as expert assistants to the board, and the board may appoint one from among the persons so nominated by each party. If the application is signed by both parties, the board shall employ special experts at the request of either party. One such expert shall be selected from a list furnished by each party to the controversy. Said experts shall be skilled in and conversant with the business or trade concerning which the controversy exists; they shall be sworn by a member of the board to the faithful performance of their official duties, and a record of their oath shall be made in the case. Said experts shall, if required, attend the sessions of the board, and under its direction shall obtain and report information concerning the wages paid and the methods and grades of work prevailing in establishments within the Commonwealth similar to that in which the controversy exists, and they may submit to the board at any time before a final decision any facts, advice, arguments or suggestions which they may consider applicable to the case. No decision of said board shall be announced in a case in which said experts have acted without notice to them of a time and place for a final conference on the matters included in the proposed decision. Such experts shall receive from the Commonwealth a sum not exceeding ten dollars each for every day of actual service and their necessary traveling expenses. The board may appoint such additional experts as it considers necessary, who shall be qualified in like manner and, under the direction of the board, shall perform like duties and be paid the same fees as the experts who are nominated by the parties.

Sec. 8. Witnesses.—In all investigations, and inquiries or proceedings conducted by the board, any member thereof may summon witnesses, may administer oaths, take testimony, and require the production of books and documents. Each witness shall certify in writing the amount of his travel and attendance, and the amount due to him shall be paid forthwith by the board.

Sec. 9. Local boards.—The parties to any controversy described in section five may submit it in writing to a local board of conciliation and arbitration, which may be composed either of three members mutually agreed upon, or of a member chosen by the employer, a member chosen by the employees or their authorized representative, and a third, who shall be chairman, chosen by the other two. Such local board shall have and exercise, relative to matters referred to it, all the powers of the State board, and its decision shall have such binding effect as may be agreed upon in the written submission. Such local board shall have exclusive jurisdiction of the controversy submitted to it, but it may ask the advice and assistance of the board. The decision of such local board shall be rendered within ten days after the close of any hearing held by it, and shall forthwith be filed with the clerk of the city or town where the controversy arose, and a copy thereof shall be forwarded by said clerk to the State board. Each of such arbitrators shall be entitled to receive from the treasury of the city or town where the controversy arose, with the approval in writing of the mayor of the city or the selectmen of the town, the sum of three dollars for each day of actual service, not exceeding ten dollars for any one arbitration.

Sec. 10. Report.—The commissioner of labor and industries shall make an annual report of the acts of the board in performing the duties required by this chapter.

Section 1. Investigation.—The board of conciliation and arbitration of the department of labor and industries in performing the duties required by this chapter shall be known as the minimum wage commission, in this chapter called the commission. It shall investigate the wages paid to female employees in any occupation if it has reason to believe that the wages paid to a substantial number of such employees are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living and to maintain the worker in health.

Sec. 2. Wage boards.—If after such investigation the commission is of the opinion that in the occupation in question the wages paid to a substantial number of female employees are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living and to maintain the worker in health, it shall establish a wage board consisting of an equal number of representatives of employers in the occupation in question, and of persons to represent the female employees in said occupation, and of one or more disinterested persons appointed by it to represent the public; but the representatives of the public shall not exceed one half of the number of representatives of either of the other parties. The commission shall give notice to employers and employees in said occupation by publication or otherwise of its determination to establish a wage board and of the number of representatives of employers and of employees to be chosen therefor, and shall request that said employers and employees, respectively, nominate such representatives by furnishing names to it.

The representatives of employers and employees shall be selected by the commission from names furnished by the employers and by the employees, respectively: Provided, That the same are furnished within ten days after such request: And provided further, That at least twice as many names respectively are furnished as are required. If less than this number of names are furnished for representatives, either of employers or of employees, at least one half the names so furnished shall be selected, and the remaining places necessary may be filled by the commission by appointments made directly from employers, including officers of corporations, associations, and partnerships, or from employees in the occupation, as the case may be. The commission shall designate as chairman one of the representatives of the public, and shall make rules and regulations governing the selection of members and the modes of procedure of the wage boards, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions rising with reference to the validity of the procedure and of the determinations of the wage boards. The members of wage boards shall be compensated at the same rate as jurors, and they shall be allowed the necessary traveling and clerical expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, these payments to be made from the appropriation for the expenses of the commission. The commission may fill vacancies arising in a duly constituted wage board by appointing a sufficient number of suitable persons to complete the representation of the employers, employees or public, as the case may be.

SEC. 3. Duties of wage boards.—The commission may transmit to each wage board all pertinent information in its possession relative to the wages paid in the occupation in question. Each wage board shall take into consideration the needs of the employees, the financial condition of the occupation and the probable effect thereon of any increase in the minimum wages paid, and shall endeavor to determine the minimum wage, whether by time rate or piece rate, suitable for a female employee of ordinary ability in the occupation in question, or for any or all of the branches thereof, and also suitable minimum wages for learners and apprentices and for minors under eighteen. When a majority of the members of a wage board shall agree upon minimum wage determination, they shall report such determination to the commission, together with the reasons therefor and the facts relating thereto.

SEC. 4. Action on determinations of wage boards.—Upon receipt of a report from a wage board, the commission shall review the same, and may approve or disapprove any or all of the determinations recommended, or may recommit the subject to the same wage board or to a new one. If the commission approves any or all of the determinations of the wage board it shall, after not less than fourteen days' notice to employers paying a wage less than the minimum wage approved, give a public hearing to such employers, and if, after such public hearing, the commission finally approves the determination, it shall enter a decree of its findings and note thereon the names of employers, so far as they may be known to it, who fail or refuse to accept such minimum wage and agree to abide by it. The commission shall thereafter publish at such times and in such manner as it may deem advisable a summary of its findings and of its recommendations. It shall also at such times and in such manner as it shall deem advisable publish the facts, as it may find them to be, as to the acceptance of its recommendations by the employers engaged in the industry to which any of its recommendations relate, and may publish the names of employers whom it finds to be following or refusing to follow such recommendations.

An employer who files a declaration under oath in the supreme judicial or superior court to the effect that compliance with the recommendation of the commission would render it impossible for him to conduct his business at a reasonable profit shall be entitled to a review of said recommendation by the court under the rules of equity procedure. The burden of proving the averments of said declaration shall be upon the complainant. If, after such review, the court finds the averments of the declaration to be sustained, it may issue an order restraining the commission from publishing the name of the complainant as one who refuses to comply with its recommendations. But such review, or any order issued by the court thereupon, shall not be an adjudication affecting the commission as to any employer other than the complainant, and shall in no way affect its right to publish the names of those employers who comply with its recommendations. The type in which the employers' names shall be printed shall not be smaller than that in which the news matter of the newspaper is printed. The publication shall be attested by the signatures of at least a majority of the commission.

SEC. 5. Revision of decrees. Whenever a minimum wage rate has been established in any occupation, the commission may, upon petition of either employers or employees, or in its opinion such action is necessary to meet changes in the cost of living may without such petition, reconvene the wage board or establish a new one, and any recommendation made by such wage board shall be dealt with in the same manner as the original recommendation of a wage board.

SEC. 6. Special license.—For any occupation in which a minimum time rate only has been established, the commission may issue to any woman physically defective a special license authorizing the employment of the licensee for a wage less than the legal minimum wage: Provided, That it is not less than the special minimum wage for that person.

SEC. 7. Rates for minors.—The commission may at any time inquire into the wages paid to minors in any occupation in which the majority of employees are minors, and may, after giving public hearings, determine minimum wages suitable therefor. When the commission has made such a determination, it may proceed in the same manner as if the determination had been recommended to it by a wage board.

SEC. 8. Records.—Every employer of women and minors shall keep a register of the names, addresses, and occupations of all women and minors employed by him, together with a record of the amount paid each week to each woman and minor, and if the commission shall so require, shall also keep for a specified period, not exceeding six months, a record of the hours worked by such employees, and shall, on request of the commission or of the department of labor and industries, permit the commission or any of its members or agents, or the department or any duly accredited agent thereof, to inspect the said register and to examine such parts of the books and records of employers as relate to the wages paid to women and minors, and the hours worked by such employees. Any employer failing to keep a register or records as herein provided, or refusing to permit their inspection or examination shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars. The commission may also subpœna witnesses, administer oaths and take testimony, and require the production of books and documents. Such witnesses shall be summoned in the same manner and be paid by the Commonwealth the same fees as witnesses before the superior court.

SEC. 9. Statistical information.—Upon request of the commission, the department of labor and industries shall cause to be gathered such statistics and other data as the commission may require, and the cost thereof shall be paid out of the appropriation made for the expenses of the commission in reference to the minimum wage.

SEC. 10. Discrimination against employees.—No employer shall discharge or in any other manner discriminate against any employee because such employee has testified, or is about to testify, or has served or is about to serve upon a wage board, or is or has been active in the formation thereof, or has given or is about to give information concerning the conditions of such employee's employment, or because the employer believes that the employee may testify, or may serve upon a wage board, or may give information concerning the conditions of the employee's employment, in any investigation or proceeding relative to the enforcement of this chapter. Whoever violates this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred nor more than one thousand dollars.

SEC. 11. Inspection.—The commission shall from time to time determine whether employers in each occupation investigated are obeying its decrees, and shall publish in the manner provided in section four, the name of any employer whom it finds to be violating any such decree.

SEC. 12. Refusal to publish findings.—[This section proposed fines for newspapers refusing to publish names of recalcitrant employers. It was declared unconstitutional as interfering with the rights of publishers to make their own contracts. Com. v. Boston Transcript Co. (1924), 144 N. E. 400.]

SEC. 13. Action for damages.—No member of the commission and no newspaper publisher, proprietor, editor or employee thereof, shall be liable to an action for damages for publishing the name of any employer as provided for in this chapter, unless such publication contains some wilful misrepresentation.

SEC. 14. Posting notices.—The commission may require employers in any occupation to post notices of its hearings or of nominations for wage boards, or of decrees that apply to their employees, in such reasonable way and for such length of time as it may direct. Whoever refuses or fails to post such notices or decrees, when so required, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars. The department of labor and industries shall enforce this section.

SEC. 15. Annual report.—The commissioner of labor and industries shall make an annual report of the acts of the commission in performing the duties required by this chapter.

CHAPTER 153.—Liability of employers for nonfatal injuries to employees

SECTION 1. Injuries caused by negligence, etc.—If personal injury is caused to an employee, who at the time of the injury, is in the exercise of due care by reason of—

First. A defect in the condition of the ways, works or machinery connected with or used in the business of the employer, which arose from, or had not been discovered or remedied in consequence of, the negligence of the employer or of a person in his service who had been intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the ways, works or machinery were in proper condition; or,

Second. The negligence of a person in the service of the employer who was intrusted with and was exercising superintendence and whose sole or principal duty was that of superintendence, or, in the absence of such superintendent, of a person acting as superintendent with the authority or consent of such employer; or,

Third. The negligence of a person in the service of the employer who was in charge or control of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, elevated train or train upon a railroad or elevated railway;

The employee, or his legal representatives, shall, subject to the eight following sections, have the same rights to compensation and of action against the employer as if he had not been an employee, nor in the service, nor engaged in the work, of the employer.

A car which is in use by, or which is in possession of, a railroad corporation, or an elevated car which is in use by or which is in possession of an elevated railway corporation, shall be considered as a part of the ways, works or machinery of the corporation which uses or has it in possession, within the meaning of clause first, whether it is owned by such corporation or by some other company or person. One or more cars which are in motion, whether attached to an engine or not, shall constitute a train within the meaning of clause third of this section, and whoever, as a part of his duty for the time being, physically controls or directs the movements of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, elevated train or train shall be deemed to be a person in charge or control of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, elevated train or train within the meaning of said clause.

This section shall not apply to injuries caused to domestic servants or farm laborers by fellow employees.

To maintain an action under this statute it is necessary that the exercise of due care by the employee should be proved. Where there is no evidence that decedent was free from negligence a verdict for defendant is proper. 39 N. E. 188.

This chapter is not a bar to an action at common law in cases included within its terms, but in which an employee might have maintained an action before the law was passed. 150 Mass. 190.

This statute is an enlargement of the employee's rights at common law; but such enlargement does not extend to the case of a parent suing for the loss of services of a minor child injured through the negligence of an employer. 83 N. E. 332.

An employer is not liable to a contractor's employee. 41 N. E. 678.

This chapter does not render cities liable for injuries to their employees. 161 Mass. 368.

An employee injured through the negligence of a fellow servant in handling or using a machine, tool, or appliance which is itself in a proper condition has no right of action against his employer under this section. 147 Mass. 753.

An employee injured in work outside the line of his duty can not recover under this section, even though he was exercising due care. 150 Mass. 362.

A superintendent temporarily working as an ordinary employee is not thereby relieved of the obligation to use due care for the safety of the employees. 83 N. E. 332.

It may not be necessary that works or ways belong to an employer to make him liable for defects therein, but it must at least appear that he has control of them and that their use in his business is by his authority, express or implied. 156 Mass. 298.

A track owned and maintained on his premises by an individual is no part of a railroad company's ways so as to render it liable for the death of an employee occasioned by a defect therein. 160 Mass. 260.

Subsection 3 does not cover the negligence of an engineer blowing off steam in a roundhouse and injuring a machinist. 41 N. E. 289.

Nor does an electric motor on a street railway come within its provisions. 50 N. E. 536.

If an action is based on the negligence of a superintendent, it must be shown that such negligence occurred not only during the superintendence but substantially in the exercise of it. 156 Mass 293.

The employer is not answerable for the negligence of a person who, though intrusted with superintendence, is at the time and in the doing of the act complained of engaged in the duties of a common workman and not exercising superintendence. 156 Mass. 342.

A workman usually on the same level with fellow workmen, but occasionally put in charge of a gang in the absence of the usual foreman, is not solely or principally a superintendent within the meaning of clause two. 38 N. E. 440.

A foreman detailed a workman for duty for which he was obviously incompetent. Held, that the employer was liable for personal injuries resulting to a fellow workman. 39 N. E. 1007.

Loaded freight cars received by a railroad company from and belonging to other roads to be hauled by such company over part of its road in due course of business are a part of the works and machinery of such company. 38 N. E. 508.

A brakeman was injured by a defective brake wheel on an empty freight car, the property of another company, which was being hauled in transfer. Held, that such car was not a part of the ways, works or machinery connected with or used in the business of the employer, so as to make the company liable under this section. 155 Mass. 21.

Brakemen on detached cars running by the impetus given by a locomotive are not in such charge or control as to entitle employees injured by their negligence to recover under this section. Nor is the foreman of a switching gang who merely points out to the conductor of a switching train where he wishes the cars placed, in charge of the train within the meaning of this chapter. 42 N. E. 112.

SEC. 2. Contributory negligence.—An employee or his legal representative shall not be entitled under section one of this chapter or under chapter two hundred and twenty-nine to any right of action for damages against his employer if such employee knew of the defect or negligence which caused the injury, and failed within a reasonable time to give, or cause to be given, information thereof to the employer, or to some person superior to himself in the service of the employer who was intrusted with general superintendence.

SEC. 3. Known defects.—If a defect in the ways, works or machinery of an employer has been reported to the person whose duty it is to remedy said defect, or cause it to be remedied, or to report its existence, and such defect is not remedied within a reasonable time, and by reason of said defect an employee is injured, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of such injury.

SEC. 4. Risk of injury not assumed.—An employee of a railroad corporation injured by any locomotive, car or train used contrary to any provision of sections one hundred and fifty-five and one hundred and fifty-seven to one hundred and fifty-nine, inclusive, of chapter one hundred and sixty shall not be deemed to have assumed the risk of such injury, although he continues in the employment of such corporation after the unlawful use of such locomotive, car or train has been brought to his knowledge. An employee of a railroad corporation injured by any locomotive, car or train by reason of the negligence of any other employee of the corporation shall not be deemed to have assumed the risk of such injury.

SEC. 5. Damages.—The amount of damages awarded in an action under section one for a personal injury to an employee, in which no damages for his death are awarded, shall not exceed four thousand dollars.

SEC. 6. Notice.—No action for the recovery of damages for injury under section one of this chapter or for death under section four or seven of chapter two hundred and twenty-nine shall be maintained unless notice of the time, place and cause of the injury is given to the employer within sixty days, and the action is commenced within one year, after the accident which causes the injury or death. Such notice shall be in writing, signed by the person injured or by a person in his behalf. If the person injured dies within the time required for giving the notice his executor or administrator may give such notice within sixty days after his appointment; and in such case the action may be begun within one year after the appointment of such executor or administrator. If from physical or mental incapacity it is impossible for the person injured to give the notice within the time provided in this section, he may give it within ten days after such incapacity has been removed, and if he dies within said ten days his executor or administrator may give such notice within sixty days after his appointment. If the employer dies without such notice having been given and before the time for giving such notice has elapsed, the notice may be given to his executor or administrator, and the time within which the notice may be given as herein provided, shall run from the appointment of the executor or administrator. A notice given under this section shall not be held invalid or insufficient solely by reason of an inaccuracy in stating the time, place or cause of the injury if it is shown that there was no intention to mislead, and that the employer was not in fact misled thereby. If the employer dies without such action having been brought and before the time for bringing the action has elapsed, the action may be begun against his executor or administrator not less than six months and not more than one year after the executor or administrator has given bond for the performance of his trust. Any form of written communication signed by the person so injured, or by some person in his behalf, or by his executor or administrator, or by some person in behalf of such executor or administrator, containing the information that the person was so injured, giving the time, place and cause of the injury or death, shall be considered a sufficient notice.

SEC. 7. Employees of contractors and subcontractors.—If an employee enters into a contract, written or verbal, with an independent contractor to do a part of such employer's work, or if such contractor enters into a contract with a subcontractor to do all or any part of the work comprised in such contractor's work with the employer, such contract or subcontract shall not bar the liability of the employer for injuries to the employees of such contractor or subcontractor caused by any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery or plant, if they are the property of the employer or are furnished by him and if such defect arose, or had not been discovered or remedied, through the negligence of the employer or of some person entrusted by him with the duty of seeing that they were in proper condition.

The inference from this section plainly is that the employer shall be liable when a contractor's employee is injured by reason of a defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, or plant furnished by the employer to the contractor which continues through the negligence of the employer or of his agent. 158 Mass. 232.

SEC. 8. Mitigation of damages.—An employer who has contributed to an insurance fund created and maintained for the mutual purpose of indemnifying an employee for personal injuries for which compensation may be recovered under section one or to any relief society formed under sections eighty-six, eighty-seven and eighty-eight of chapter one hundred and fifty-nine, or the corresponding provisions of earlier laws may prove in mitigation of the damages recoverable by an employee under said section one, such proportion of the pecuniary benefit received by such employee from any such fund or society on account of such contribution of said employer as the contribution of such employer to such fund or society bears to the whole contribution thereto.

SEC. 9. Inspection of place of accident.—A justice of the superior court may, upon petition setting forth in ordinary language that the servant or employee of a certain person has been injured in the course of his employment, through some defect in the ways, works, or machinery owned or used by the employer, and that it is necessary in order to protect the interests of the injured person that an examination should be made of the ways, works, or machinery through whose defect the injury occurred, and after such notice to the employer as any justice of said court may direct or approve, and a hearing, grant an order directing the employer or person in control of such ways, works, or machinery to permit the person named in said order to make such examination, under conditions as shall be set forth in the order.

CHAPTER 156.—Employee representation

SECTION 23. On board of directors.—A manufacturing corporation may provide by by-law for the nomination and election by its employees of one or more of these as members of its board of directors. All such elections shall be held at the works of the corporation on the day of the annual meeting, and the voting shall be by secret ballot. If less than a majority of those entitled to vote participate in the election there shall be no election, and the vacancy shall be filled as provided in the preceding section. A director elected by the employees shall have the same rights and powers and shall be subject to the same duties and responsibilities as a director elected by the stockholders.

CHAPTER 159.—Accidents on railroads—Reports, etc.

SECTION 28. Notice.—[Railroad corporations must give immediate notice to the county medical examiner residing nearest to the place of accident of all accidents resulting in loss of life and must also notify the department of public utilities within 24 hours both of such accidents and of any accidents required by it to be reported.]

SEC. 29. Investigation.—[An inspector, under the direction of the department, shall investigate all accidents causing death or imperiling life, and may investigate any other accident.]

SEC. 30. Employees' complaints.—[Employees may make written complaint of defects in ways, works, etc., of a railroad, and the department shall not disclose the name of the complainant.]

CHAPTER 159.—Railway, etc., relief associations

SECTION 86. Organization.—Seven or more persons, a majority of whom are residents of the Commonwealth, being employees of any railroad, railway, or steamboat corporation, organized under the laws of the Commonwealth, may form a corporation under chapter one hundred and eighty for the purpose of receiving, managing, and applying such property and funds as it may receive by contribution, assessment, or otherwise for the improvement and benefit of its members, and for their relief and the relief of their families in case of sickness, injury, inability to labor, or other cases of need.

SEC. 87. By-laws and records.—The by-laws of such corporation shall be approved by the department [of public utilities], and shall prescribe the manner in which, and the officers and agents by whom, the purpose of its incorporation may be carried out, and also the manner in which its property may be invested. Such corporation shall annually, and as often as may be required by the department, render to it such statements of its membership and financial transactions and such other information relative thereto as the department may consider necessary for a proper exhibit of its business and standing. The department may verify such statement by an examination of the books and papers of the corporation; and whoever, having charge or custody of such books and papers, neglects to comply with this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 88. Joint organization.—A railroad corporation operating a railroad or portion thereof in the Commonwealth, or a railway company, may, by vote of its directors, associate itself with seven or more of its employees in forming a corporation under section eighty-six, or may, upon the invitation of any such corporation, become a member thereof, and may from time to time aid such corporation by contributions to its funds or otherwise. The by-laws of such corporation shall provide for the manner in which the railroad corporation or railway company shall vote and be represented in said corporation. The funds of such corporation shall not be liable to attachment by trustee process, or be liable to be taken on execution or on any other process, legal or equitable, to satisfy any debt or liability of the railroad corporation or railway company or of any member of the corporation.

SECTIONS 96, 99, 100. Action against railroad.—[Where a debt is due for labor performed in constructing a railroad or railway under contract with an authorized person other than the corporation the laborer may file in the office of the clerk of the city or town a statement on oath of the amount of the debt, and the person by whom employed. Action may then be brought against the corporation or company. The right of action is not lost by stating a larger sum than is due, but no recovery can be had for a larger amount than that named. Actions must be begun within sixty days after the plaintiff ceased to perform the labor for which the payment is sought.]

CHAPTER 160.—Railroads—Employees

SECTION 178. Color blindness.—A railroad corporation shall not employ any person or keep him in its employ in a position requiring the employee to distinguish form or color signals, unless he has been examined for color blindness or other defective sight by a competent person employed by the corporation and has received a certificate that he is not disqualified for such position by color blindness or other defective sight. A railroad corporation which violates this section shall forfeit one hundred dollars.

SEC. 179. Engineers.—No person shall act as a locomotive engineer unless he has been employed two years as a locomotive fireman or as an engineer's helper, or was employed as a locomotive engineer before June tenth, nineteen hundred and eleven.

SEC. 180. Conductors.—No person shall act as a conductor on a railroad train unless he has been employed as a brakeman for two years, or was employed as a conductor on a railroad train before June tenth, nineteen hundred and eleven.

SEC. 181. Causing violations.—No person shall knowingly engage, promote, require, persuade, prevail upon, or cause any person to act in violation of either of the two preceding sections.

SEC. 182. Scope.—The three preceding sections shall not apply to the operating of locomotive engines by engine hostlers in or around engine houses, or to any railroad other than a standard-gauge railroad. In the event of the disability of an engineer or conductor on the road, railroad companies may employ persons without the qualifications prescribed by sections one hundred and seventy-nine and one hundred and eighty, but only for the purpose of reaching a terminal station.

SEC. 183. Penalty.—Any violation of any provision of the four preceding sections shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, and each day's violation shall constitute a separate offence.

SEC. 184. Rest days.—Every person employed as signalman, towerman, leverman, agent, train dispatcher, telegrapher, or telephone operator in a railroad signal tower or railroad station, and every other person employed by a railroad in the operating of trains by the use of the telegraph, telephone, or signal and interlocking switching machines shall be allowed two days of twenty-four hours each in every month for rest with regular compensation, except in a case of extraordinary emergency caused by accident, fire, flood, or danger to life or property, when the said period of rest shall be allowed after the emergency is past. Any violation of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars.

CHAPTER 161.—Protection of employees on street railways

SECTIONS 101, 102. Platforms to be inclosed.—[These sections require, under penalty, that platforms of street railways on which employees must stand be inclosed from December 1 to March 31, so as to afford protection from wind and weather.]

CHAPTER 161.—Hours of labor of employees on street railways

SECTION 103. Day's work.—A day's work for all conductors, guards, drivers, motormen, brakemen, dispatchers, and gatemen employed by or on behalf of a street railway or elevated railway company shall not exceed nine hours, and shall be so arranged by the employer that it shall be performed within eleven consecutive hours. No officer or agent of any such company shall require from said employees more than nine hours' work for a day's labor. Threat of loss of employment or threat to obstruct or prevent the obtaining of employment by the employees, or threat to refrain from employing any employee in the future shall be considered "requiring," within the meaning of this section. But this section shall not prevent an employee of the character mentioned herein, if he so desires, from working more hours than those prescribed herein for extra compensation. A company violating any provision of this section shall forfeit not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars.

CHAPTER 164.—Sale of stock to employees of corporations

SECTION 19 (as amended 1924, ch. 172). Sale by certain corporations authorized.—[The directors of gas and electric companies may offer new issues of stock as authorized, or unsubscribed shares of previous issues, to employees of the companies on such terms and subject to such conditions as the department of public utilities may approve.]

CHAPTER 164.—Gas and electric companies—Accidents

SECTION 95. Reports.—Corporations, persons and municipalities engaged in the manufacture or sale of gas or electricity shall, within twenty-four hours after every accident caused by gas or electricity manufactured or supplied by them, whereby an employee or other person is injured, rendered insensible, or killed, report in writing to the department [of public utilities] stating the time, place and circumstances of the accident and such other facts relative thereto as the department may require. The chief of police of the town, and the medical examiner of the district, where such accident occurs shall, in writing, report the same to the department. The chief of police shall so report within twenty-four hours, and the medical examiner within seven days, after he has notice thereof. The members of the department shall personally investigate all such cases requiring investigation.

SECTION 15. Objects of corporations.—Corporations may be formed under this chapter for improving the condition of any employees in any one or more trades or employments, either relative to their employment or to the promotion of education, temperance, morality, or social intercourse among them, or for paying benefits to sick or unemployed members, or to persons dependent upon deceased members or otherwise.

SEC. 16. Requirements.—The commissioner of corporations and taxation shall not indorse his approval upon the certificate of organization of any such corporation, unless satisfied that the purposes thereof are lawful, that its by-laws are consistent with law and conform to the requirements of the two following sections.

SEC. 17. By-laws.—The by-laws shall contain clear and distinct provisions relative to the election, admission and expulsion of members; the titles, duties, powers and tenure of the officers of the corporation and their election and removal; the number of members required for a quorum; the call for special meetings; the adoption, amendment and repeal of by-laws; the purposes to which the funds of the corporation may be applied and for which assessments may be laid upon the members; the conditions upon which a member or persons dependent upon a deceased member shall be entitled to benefits, if any are to be given by the corporation; the imposition of fines and forfeitures, if any; the deposit, investment and custody of the funds of the corporation; the periodical audit of the accounts of the treasurer and the method of voting on shares of stock, if any are issued by the corporation. A by-law shall not be repealed or amended, or an additional by-law adopted, unless notice of such proposed action shall have been given at a previous meeting; and such repeal, amendment or adoption shall not take effect until it has been approved by the commissioner of corporations and taxation as conformable to law.

SEC. 18. Expulsion of members.—No member of such corporation shall be expelled by vote of less than a majority of all the members thereof, nor by vote of less than three-quarters of the members present and voting upon such expulsion. Every member of such corporation and every person who has an interest in its funds shall be entitled to examine its books and records.

SEC. 19. Fines.—No fine or notice of intention to impose a fine by any union or any other association, incorporated or unincorporated, or by any authorized representative thereof, upon any member, according to the rules to which such member has agreed to conform, shall be held to be unlawful or coercive as to such member or as to any other person: Provided, That such fine is reasonable in amount and is for a legal purpose.

CHAPTER 198.—Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 1. Amount.—[Wages due any clerk, servant, or operative for labor within a year preceding the death of the employer, not exceeding $100, rank next after debts given a preference under the laws of the United States, and public rates, taxes, and excise duties.]

CHAPTER 216.—Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

SECTION 118. Rank.—[Wages as above rank next after costs and legal fees in proceedings in insolvency, debts due the United States, and debts and taxes due the Commonwealth or any subdivision thereof.]

CHAPTER 246.—Exemption of wages from attachment

SECTION 28. Amounts exempt.—[Wages in amount not exceeding $20 are exempt from attachment except for necessaries furnished the debtor or his family, as to which but $10 are exempt.]

SEC. 30. Attachment of exempt wages.—[One who willfully causes or aids in causing exempt wages to be attached in order to delay their payment as entitled is subject to a fine of not over $50 to the use of the injured person.]

SEC. 32. Absolute exemptions.—[Wages of a defendant's wife or minor child may not be attached for his debt; nor may a seaman's wages be seized, but fishermen are not included in this exemption.]

CHAPTER 266.—Labor organizations—Unlawful use of insignia

SECTION 69. Use forbidden.—Whoever, not being a member of a society, association or labor union, for the purpose of representing that he is a member thereof, willfully wears or uses the insignia, ribbon, badge, rosette, button or emblem thereof, if it has been registered in the office of the State secretary, shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or both.

CHAPTER 271.—Bribery of employees

SECTION 39. Illegal gifts, etc.—Whoever corruptly gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee or servant any gift or gratuity whatever, with intent to influence his action in relation to the business of his principal, employer or master; or an agent, employee or servant who corruptly requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in relation to the business of his principal, employer or master; or agent, employee or servant who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies or other articles either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer or master, receives directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor; and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee or servant such commission, discount or bonus, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than five hundred dollars or by such fine and by imprisonment for not more than one year; except that if the person who commits the said offense acts as agent or officer of any person, to employ persons as clerks, laborers or otherwise, the offence shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the State prison for not more than three years. The district attorneys in their respective districts shall prosecute all violations of this section. No person shall be excused from attending, testifying or producing books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents before any court or in obedience to the subpœna of any court having jurisdiction of the offence described herein on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to criminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture. But no person shall be liable to any suit or prosecution, civil or criminal, for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before said court or in obedience to its subpœna or in any such case or proceeding.

CHAPTER 271.—Discharge, etc., of employees of public service corporations

SECTION 40. Use of influence forbidden.—[The appointment, promotion, suspension or discharge of employees by public service corporations at the request of State or municipal officers or employees is forbidden; and such persons are forbidden to interfere, directly or indirectly, with such employees.]

MICHIGAN

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE V.—Employment of labor

SECTION 29 (as amended 1920). Power of legislature.—The legislature shall have power to enact laws relative to the hours and conditions under which men, women and children may be employed.

COMPILED LAWS—1915

Occupational diseases—Reports

SECTION 5166. What diseases to be reported.—Every physician attending or called upon to treat a patient whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic or mercury, or their compounds, or from anthrax, or from compressed-air illness, contracted as a result of the nature of the patient's employment, shall send to the State board of health, who shall transmit to the commissioner of labor a notice stating the name, post-office address and place of employment of the patient, the length of time of such employment, and the disease from which in the opinion of the physician, the patient is suffering.

SEC. 5168. Violations.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and of the prosecuting attorney of the county where anyone violating the provisions of this act may reside, to prosecute all violations of the provisions of this act which shall come to the knowledge of them or either of them.

Department of labor

[This office was superseded by the department of labor and industry, created by No. 43, Acts of 1921 (see p. 558). Provisions of law affecting the new department are as follows:]

SECTION 5323 (as amended 1923, No. 206). Duties.—It shall be the duty of the commission to collect in the manner herein provided, assort, systematize and present to the governor, on or before the first day of January of each year in which a regular session of the legislature is held, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in this State, including the penal institutions thereof, particularly concerning the hours of labor, the number of employees and sex thereof, and the daily wages earned, the condition of all manufacturing establishments, hotels, stores, workshops and premises, where labor is employed, except farms and households, with such other matter relating to the industrial, social, educational, moral and sanitary conditions of the laboring classes and the productive industries of the State, including the name of firms, companies or corporation, where located, the kind of goods produced or manufactured, the time operated each year, the number of employees, male or female, the number engaged in clerical work and the number engaged in manual labor, with a classification of the number of each sex engaged in each occupation and the average daily wages paid each: Provided, That the commission or any one connected with its office, shall not publish, make public, nor give to any individual or to the public the individual statistics obtained from any manufacturing establishment, but all such statistics may be published in connection with other similar statistics and given to the public in aggregate and averages: Provided further, That nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit other State departments from taking transcripts of such individual statistics for statistical and classification purposes only.

SEC. 5324. Witnesses.—Such department or any member thereof shall have full power to examine witnesses on oath, compel the attendance of witnesses, the giving of testimony and the production of papers while acting in any part of this State, and witnesses may be summoned by such department or any member thereof, by its process in the same manner, and paid the same fees as are allowed to witnesses attending in the circuit court of any county. Any person duly subpœnaed under the provisions of this section, who shall willfully neglect to attend or testify at the place named in the subpœna served for such purpose, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction before any court of competent jurisdiction may be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court: Provided, That no witness shall be compelled to go outside of the county in which he or she resides to testify.

Sec. 5326. Officials to furnish information.—Said department may collect the information called for in section two of this act [sec. 5323], or such information as shall by the commissioner be considered essential to perfect the work of the department, from the several State, county, city, village, and township officers, and from the officers of prisons, penal and reformatory institutions, or by means of special canvassers under the direction of the commissioner, and it shall be the duty of all such officers to furnish upon the written or printed request of the commissioner such information as shall be considered necessary for the department upon blanks furnished by said department.

Sec. 5327. Township, etc., officers.—It shall be the duty of the several supervisors of the townships, and the supervisor and assessor of the wards of cities in this State, at the time of assessing the property thereof, to obtain the facts and information determined upon by said department, as provided in section five of this act [sec. 5326], in accordance with the terms, conditions, and requirements of said blanks, and to return said blanks properly filled and duly certified to by such officer without delay to the commissioner of labor at Lansing.

Sec. 5328. Access to factories, etc.—The commissioner, his deputy, and deputy factory inspectors are authorized to enter any factory, workshops, hotel, store, or other place where labor is employed when open or in operation, for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics relating to hours of labor, wages, industrial, economic, and sanitary conditions or matters; and if any employer or his or her agent or agents shall refuse to allow the officers of said department to so enter; or shall refuse to give such information when requested by said commissioner or deputy factory inspector, then such employer or his or her agent or agents shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than ninety days or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 5329. False statements, etc.—Any person who shall willfully and intentionally testify falsely before said commissioner or any authorized deputy shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the State prison for a period not exceeding five years, and any person who shall refuse to testify before said commissioner or before any deputy thereof shall on conviction thereof be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisonment not exceeding sixty days or both in the discretion of the court: Provided, That no person or corporation shall be required to answer any question that shall be an improper subject of inquiry or foreign to the object of this act.

Employment of women and children

Section 5330 (as amended 1923, No. 206). Nine-hour day.—No male under the age of eighteen years, and no female shall be employed, permitted or suffered to work in any factory, mill, warehouse, workshop, quarry, clothing, dressmaking or millinery establishment or any place where the manufacture of any kinds of goods is carried on, or where any goods are prepared for manufacturing, or in any laundry, store, shop, or any other mercantile establishment, or in any office or restaurant, theater, concert hall, music hall, hotel, or operating an elevator, or on street or electric railways, for a period longer than an average of nine hours a day or fifty-four hours in any week nor more than ten hours in any one day; and all such establishments shall keep posted a copy of this section printed in large type, in a conspicuous place. In establishments having a time clock such copy shall be posted near the time clock. Copies of this section suitable for posting shall be furnished upon the application of any employer by the commission: Provided, however, That the provision of this section in relation to the hours of employment shall not apply to nor affect any person engaged in preserving perishable goods in fruit and vegetable canning establishments. No female under the age of eighteen years shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment between the hours of six o'clock p. m. and six o'clock a. m. No child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed in any manufacturing establishment or workshop, quarry, mine or messenger service in this State between the hours of six o'clock p. m. and six o'clock a. m. No child under the age of eighteen years shall be employed between the hours of ten o'clock p. m. and five o'clock a. m. in the transmission, distribution or delivery of messages or merchandise.

Sec. 5331 (as amended 1923, No. 206). Age limit; permits.—[Employment under 15 is forbidden during school hours in mercantile institutions, factories, workshops, offices, hotels, laundries, mines, quarries, theaters, bowling alleys, pool rooms, operating elevators, or in telegraph or messenger service; if 14, may work on Saturday or other days outside of school hours except in mines, theaters, bowling alleys, pool rooms or operating elevators. Registers must be kept to 18, and permits obtained to 17; or if there is no continuation school in the district to 16. Requirements for permits are schooling to complete the sixth grade, evidence of age, and medical certificate. Limited vacation permits are also provided for.]

Sec. 5332 (as amended 1923, No. 206). Dangerous occupations.—[All females and males under 18 are forbidden to clean moving machinery, or engage in any hazardous employment, or where health would be injured or morals depraved. Females may not be unnecessarily required to stand constantly. No child under 12 may be employed in any theater or playhouse, music, or dance hall, or pool or billiard room. Employment to 18 is limited to 54 hours per week not over 10 hours in any one day.]

Factory, etc., regulations

Section 5333. Hoistways, etc., to be guarded.—It shall be the duty of the owner, agent, or lessee of any manufacturing establishment where hoisting shafts or wellholes are used, to cause the same to be properly inclosed and secured. It shall be the duty of the owner, agent, or lessee to provide or cause to be provided at all elevator openings in any manufacturing establishment, workshop, hotel, or store, proper trap or automatic doors or automatic gates so constructed as to open and close by the action of elevators either ascending or descending. The deputy factory inspector shall inspect the cables, gearing, or other apparatus of elevators in manufacturing establishments, workshops, hotels, and stores at least once in each year, and more frequently if necessary, and require that the same be kept in a safe condition, and shall have power to condemn any elevator if in his opinion the same be unsafe, and stop the operation of such elevator until the same be put in safe condition.

The employee does not assume the risks where the employer violates this statute. 106 N. W. 211.
But the employer does not lose the defense of contributory negligence. 113 N. W. 1120.

Sec. 5334. Fire escapes.—* * * Factory inspectors shall have power to order fire escapes on all manufacturing establishments, * * * and office buildings two or more stories in height, * * * If in the opinion of the factory inspector it be necessary to insure the safety of persons in such places; said fire escape or means of egress, or as many thereof as may be deemed sufficient by the inspector, shall be provided, and where it is necessary to provide fire escapes on the outside of such building they shall consist of landings and balconies at each floor above the first, to be built according to specifications provided by the factory inspector. * * * Factory inspectors shall in writing notify the owner, agent, or lessee of such manufacturing establishments, * * * and office buildings of the required location and specifications of such escapes as may be ordered and as to all failures to comply with the provisions of this act. Any person, firm, or corporation, * * * who shall violate or cause to be violated any of the provisions of this section, or shall fail or refuse to erect or cause to be erected any fire escape ordered by any factory inspector, under authority of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned for not less than three months nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 5335. Stairways.—Stairways with substantial handrails shall be provided in manufacturing establishments, and where in the opinion of the factory inspector it be necessary, the steps of such stairs in all such establishments shall be substantially covered with rubber securely fastened thereon, for the better safety of persons employed in said establishments. The stairs shall be properly screened at sides and bottom where females are employed, and the outside doors of such establishments shall swing outwardly, and no doors shall be locked, bolted,or fastened during working hours.

SEC. 5336 (as amended 1923, No. 206). Safety guards.—It shall be the duty of the owner of any factory, storehouse or warehouse, or his agent, superintendent or other person in charge of the same, to furnish or supply, or cause to be furnished or supplied, and equip all machinery in use with proper shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing belts on or off pulleys. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, copartnership or corporation, to operate or cause to be operated, any of the machinery or equipment mentioned in this section, without it being first properly equipped with proper safety devices and guards. All gearing and belting shall be provided with proper safeguards, and when necessary, machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys. All vats, saws, pans, planers, cogs, set screws, gearing, and machinery of every description shall be properly guarded. The commission after hearing duly had shall have power to condemn such machinery and equipment if the same is unsafe, and stop the operation of such machinery and equipment until same be put in safe condition. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, or agent thereof, to install or place in operation any of the machinery or equipment mentioned in this section unless the same be equipped with proper safeguards, or unless the same be approved by the commission or factory inspector. When requested in writing by any owner of such machinery or equipment, or agent of such owner, the commission shall within six days cause such machinery to be inspected. The commission, or factory inspector, as the case may be, shall determine whether such machinery or equipment is properly guarded. The findings of the commission or inspector shall be in writing and a copy shall be furnished said owner, or his agent, and a copy shall be filed in the office of the commission at Lansing. A fee of not to exceed five dollars may be charged for each such inspection. Such fees shall be turned into the State treasury and placed in the general fund.

SEC. 5337. Emery wheels.—Exhaust fans shall be provided for the purpose of carrying off dust from emery wheels and grindstones and dust-creating machinery, wherever deemed necessary by the factory inspector.

SEC. 5338. Toilets, etc.—[Suitable toilet and dressing rooms must be provided by the employer. Separate rooms shall be kept for the different sexes. Where railway cars are used for sleeping or living purposes (other than transportation of passengers) the same shall be kept sufficiently heated and lighted. Violations shall be prosecuted by the factory inspector or other proper authority.]

SEC. 5339. Inspectors.—The commissioner of labor shall be the chief factory inspector and the deputy commissioner of labor and deputy factory inspectors shall be factory inspectors in the meaning of this act. At least two of such deputy factory inspectors shall be women. Said factory inspectors are hereby empowered to visit and inspect at all reasonable hours, as often as practicable or required, the factories, workshops and other manufacturing establishments in this State where the manufacture of goods is carried on, and all hotels where any person or persons are employed, also all stores in this State. Deputy factory inspectors shall report to the commissioner of labor at such time and manner as he may require. It shall also be the duty of the factory inspectors to enforce all the provisions of this act and to prosecute all violations of the same before a magistrate or in a court of competent jurisdiction in this State.

The admission of an inspector to a factory is subject to reasonable regulations of the proprietor. Refusing admission by a certain door and directing the use of another affording convenient access is not a violation of the law. 76 N. W. 89.

SEC. 5340. Reports.—Deputy factory inspectors shall return to the commissioner of labor, as he may require, detailed reports of the results of all inspections, together with statistics gathered, and said commissioner shall keep on file in this office at Lansing a record of all reports so returned. A copy of the report on such inspection and of any order in reference thereto shall be served by the factory inspector on the superintendent, owner or manager of each building, establishment or workshop inspected. Service of such order shall be accepted and a duplicate thereof signed by such superintendent, owner or manager. If the superintendent, owner or manager of whom such signatnre is demanded shall refuse to so sign such acceptance of service, an affidavit by the inspector showing the facts of such service, demand of signature and refnsal shall be sufficient evidence of service when dnly filed; but such superintendent, owner or manager shall not thereby be released from any criminal liability attending his refusal under this act. Deputy factory inspectors and special canvassers shall have the same power to administer oaths as is now given to notaries public, in cases where persons desire to verify docnments connected with the proper enforcement of this act.

Sec. 5341. Annual inspections.—For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, the commissioner of labor is hereby authorized and required to cause at least an annual inspection of all manufacturing establishments, factories, hotels, workshops and stores. Such inspection may be made by the commissioner of labor, the deputy commissioner of labor, the deputy factory inspectors, or such other person as may be appointed by the commissioner of labor for the purpose of making such inspection. Such persons shall be under the control and direction of the commissioner of labor. All compensation for services and expenses provided for in this act shall be paid by the State treasurer upon the warrant of the auditor general and andited by the auditor general: Provided, That the commissioner of labor shall present to the governor on or before the first day of April of each year, a report of snch inspection, with such recommendations as may in his jndgment be necessary.

Sec. 5342. Enforcement.—The prosecuting attorney of any county of this State is hereby authorized and shall, upon the complaint on oath of the commissioner of labor or any factory inspector, or of any citizen of the United States, if approved by any factory inspector, prosecute to termination before any court of competent jurisdiction, in the name of the people of the State, actions or proceedings against any person or persons reported to him to have violated any of the provisions of this act.

Sec. 5343. Permits for sweat shops.—No room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house shall be used for the mannfacture of coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, skirts, dresses, cloaks, hats, caps, suspenders, jerseys, blouses, waists, waistbands, underwear, neckwear, furs, fur trimming, fur garments, shirts, hosiery, pnrses, feathers, artificial flowers, cigarettes or cigars, and no person, firm or corporation shall hire or employ any persons to work in any room, apartment or in any building or parts of buildings, at making in whole or in part any of the articles mentioned in this section, without first obtaining a written permit from the factory inspector or one of his deputies, stating the maximum number of persons allowed to be employed therein and that the building or part of building intended to be used for such work or bnsiness is thoroughly cleaned, sanitary and fit for occupancy for such work or business. Such permit shall not be granted until an inspection of such premises is made by the factory inspector or one of his deputies. Said permit may be revoked by the factory inspector at any time the health of the community or of those so employed may reqnire it. It shall be framed and posted in a conspicuons place in the room, or in one of the rooms to which it relates. Every person, firm, company or corporation contracting for the manufacture of any of the articles mentioned in this section, or giving out the incomplete material from which they or any of them are to be made, or to be wholly or partially finished, shall, before contracting for the manufactnre of any of said articles, or giving out said material from which they or any of them are to be made, require the production by such contractor, person or persons of said permit from the factory inspector, as required in this section, and shall keep a written register of the names and addresses of all persons to whom such work is given to be made, or with whom they may have contracted to do the same. Such register shall be produced for inspection and a copy thereof shall be furnished on demand by the factory inspector or one of his deputies: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prevent the employment of a seamstress by any family for manufacturing articles for such family use. None of the work mentioned in this section shall be done in any room or apartment used for living or sleeping purposes, or which is connected with the room or rooms used for such purposes, and which has not a separate and distinct outside entrance for use of others than members of the family dwelling therein. Not less than two hundred fifty cubic feet of air space shall be allowed for each person employed, and all work rooms shall be provided with sufficient means of light, heat and ventilation as may be prescribed by the chief factory inspector. It shall be the duty of local boards of health, health officers and physicians to report within twenty-four hours to the deputy factory inspector in their respective districts each and every case of contagious or infectious disease coming officially to their knowledge. The chief factory inspector or any duly appointed deputy factory inspector shall have power to seize and take charge of all articles found that are being made or partially made, finished, cleaned or repaired in unhealthy or insanitary places where there are contagious or infectious diseases, in violation of the law, and may proceed to disinfect, condemn or destroy the same as in the opinion of the local board of health officer, the public health or safety may require. Whenever it is reported to the chief factory inspector or to the State board of health, or to either of them, that any of the articles named in this section are being or have been shipped into this State, having previously been manufactured in whole or in part under unhealthy conditions, said chief factory inspector shall examine said goods and the condition of their manufacture, and if upon such examination said goods or any of them are found to contain vermin or to have been made in improper places or under unhealthy conditions, he shall make report thereof to the State board of health, which board shall thereupon make such order or orders as the public health and safety may require: Provided, That in stores where goods are manufactured, altered or repaired, workrooms shall be provided with proper heat, light and ventilation, as prescribed in this section.

Sec. 5344. Changes in buildings.—Factory inspectors shall have power to order all improvements herein specified, such as the repairing of elevators, the installment of wash and dressing rooms and water-closets. When such improvements are found necessary orders for same shall be served on the owner of the building or premises: Provided, That whenever the owner of such buildings or premises as mentioned in this act be a nonresident of this State said order may be made on his resident agent or the tenant of such buildings or premises. If the tenant be required to make such improvements he may deduct the cost thereof from the amount of rent for use of such buildings or premises.

Sec. 5345. Seats for female employees.—All persons who employ females in stores, shops, offices or manufactories, as clerks, assistants, operatives or helpers in any business, trade or occupation carried on or operated by them, shall be required to procure and provide proper and suitable seats for all such females, and shall permit the use of such seats, rests or stools as may be necessary, and shall not make any arbitrary rules, regulations, or orders preventing the use of such stools or seats at reasonable times. No employer of female help shall neglect or refuse to provide seats as provided in this act, nor shall make any rules, orders or regulations in their shops, stores or other places of business requiring females to remain standing when not necessarily in service or labor therein.

Sec. 5347. Arrangement of foundries.—All entrances to foundries shall be constructed and maintained so as to minimize drafts. All passageways in foundries, now in operation or hereafter to be built, shall be constructed and maintained of sufficient width to make them reasonably safe for the workmen, and no unnecessary obstruction shall be allowed in such passageways during the hours of casting. Whenever a foundry is so constructed or operated that smoke, steam, dust, or noxious gases are not promptly carried off by the general ventilation, exhaust fans shall be provided. No salamanders or open fire places shall be used, unless ample provisions be made for conveying the gases arising therefrom directly from the building. Foundries shall be reasonably well lighted throughout working hours, and reasonably well heated during the cold and inclement weather. Hot water shall be kept available for washing purposes during the season in which artificial heating is necessary. When it is thought necessary and advisable by a State factory inspector, facilities shall be provided for drying the clothing of persons employed therein. All pits around furnaces in any such foundry shall be covered with substantial iron gratings. All stairways around such furnaces shall be constructed of iron. There shall be kept on hand at all times in every foundry a reasonable supply of limewater, sweet oil, vaseline, bandages and absorbent cotton for use by the workmen in case of burns or accident. It is hereby made the duty of each and every State factory inspector to enforce the provisions of this section. Any place or establishment where metal castings or cores are made shall be deemed a foundry within the meaning of this act.

SEC. 5348. Blowers for emery wheels.—All persons, companies or corporations operating any factory or workshop, where wheels or emery belts of any description are in general use, either leather, leather covered, felt, canvas, paper, cottou, or wheels or belts rolled or coated with emery or corundum, or cotton wheels used as buffs, shall provide the same with fans or blowers or similar apparatus, which shall be placed in such a position or manner as to protect the person or persons using the same from the particles of dust produced and caused thereby, and to carry the dust arising from, or thrown off by such wheels or belts while in operation, directly to the outside of the building or to some other receptacle placed so as to receive and confine such dust: Provided, That grinding machines upon which water is used at the point of grinding contact shall be exempt from the conditions of this act: Provided further, That this act shall not apply to solid emery wheels used in sawmills or planing mills or other woodworking establishments.

SEC. 5349. Hoods.—It shall be the duty of any person, company or corporation operating any such factory or workshop to provide or construct such appliances, apparatus, machinery or other things necessary to carry out the purposes of this act, as set forth in the preceding section, as follows: Each and every such wheel shall be fitted with a sheet or cast iron hood or hopper of such form and so applied to such wheel or wheels that the dust or refuse therefrom will fall from such wheels or will be thrown into such hood or hopper by centrifugal force and be carried off by the current of air into a suction pipe attached to such hood or hopper.

SEC. 5350. Pipes.—Each and every such wheel six inches or less in diameter shall be provided with a three-inch suction pipe, wheels six inches to twenty-four inches in diameter with four-inch suction pipes, wheels from twenty-four inches to thirty-six inches in diameter with five-inch suction pipes, and all wheels larger in diameter than those stated above shall be provided each with a suction pipe not less than six inches in diameter. The suction pipe from each wheel so specified must be full size to the main trunk suction pipe, and the said main suction pipe to which smaller pipes are attached shall, in its diameter and capacity, be equal to the combined areas of such smaller pipes attached to the same, and the discharge pipe from the exhaust fan connected with such suction pipe or pipes shall be as large or larger than the suction pipe.

SEC. 5351. Speed of fans.—It shall be the duty of any person, company or corporation operating any such factory or workshop, to provide the necessary fans or blowers to be connected with such pipe or pipes, as above set forth, which shall be run at such rate of speed as will produce a velocity of air in such suction or discharge pipes of at least nine thousand feet per minute or an equivalent suction or pressure of air equal to raising a column of water not less than five inches high in an U-shaped tube. All branch pipes must enter the main trunk pipe at an angle of forty-five degrees or less. The main suction or trunk pipe shall be below the polishing or buffing wheels and as close to the same as possible, and be either upon the floor or beneath the floor on which the machines are placed to which such wheels are attached. All bends, turns or elbows in such pipes must be made with easy smooth surfaces having a radius in the throat of not less than two inches diameter, of the pipe on which they are connected.

SEC. 5352. Enforcement; basements, etc.—It shall be the duty of any factory inspector, sheriff, constable or prosecuting attorney of any county in this State, in which any such factory or workshop is situated, upon receiving notice in writing, signed by any person or persons having knowledge of such facts, that such factory or workshop is not provided with such appliances as herein provided for, to visit any such factory or workshop and inspect the same, and for such purpose they are hereby authorized to enter any factory or workshop in this State during working hours, and upon ascertaining the facts that the proprietors or managers of such factories or workshops have failed to comply with the provisions of this act, to make complaint of the same in writing before a justice of the peace or police magistrate having jurisdiction, who shall thereupon issue his warrant directed to the owner, manager or director of such factory or workshop, who shall be thereupon proceeded against for the violation of this act as hereinafter mentioned, aud it is made the duty of the prosecuting attorney to prosecute all cases under this act. No person shall be employed to operate any of the wheels, buffers or belts mentioned in this act in any basement, so called, or in any room lying wholly or partly beneath the surface of the ground, unless such workroom shall be provided with sufficient means of light, heat and ventilation as shall be prescribed by the State factory inspector. No female shall be employed in operating or using any of the wheels or belts specified in this section.

SEC. 5353. Hair-picking machines.—All persons, companies or corporations operating any upholstering or mattress establishments or other establishments, factory or place where hair, moss, tow or cotton is used for filling, shall provide the same with hair-picking machines when ordered by the commissioner, deputy commissioner of labor or deputy factory inspector, which shall be placed in such a position or manner as to carry away the dust arising from or thrown off by such machines while in operation directly to the outside of the building or to some other receptacle established so as to receive and confine such dust, and the same shall be placed within such establishment, place or factory within three months after having been ordered to be so placed by the commissioner, deputy commissioner of labor or deputy factory inspector.

SEC. 5354. Low-water alarms on steam boilers.—All stationary steam boilers operated or used, or caused to be operated or used, by any person, firm or corporation within the State of Michigan, shall, whenever so ordered by the chief factory inspector or any of his duly authorized deputies, have upon them some device which will sound an alarm for the purpose of calling the attention of the engineer, fireman or person in charge of any such boiler to the depth of the water in the boiler before the same reaches the danger point: Provided, That the kind of device or alarm used shall be approved by the chief factory inspector of the State; and he or any of the duly authorized deputies shall be authorized to enter upon the premises of any person, firm or corporation within this State for the purpose of inspecting any stationary steam boiler so used or operated.

SEC. 5355. Operating boilers without alarms.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate any stationary steam boiler without its having a low-water alarm attached thereto, after the chief factory inspector or any duly authorized deputy has ordered the same to be used as specified in this act.

Free public employment offices

SECTION 5356 (as amended 1923, No. 206). Establishment; duties.—The commission is hereby authorized to organize and establish in this State such free employment bureaus as it deems advisable for the purpose of receiving applications of persons seeking employment and applications of persons seeking to employ labor. Such bureaus shall be designated and known as Michigan public employment bureaus. The commission shall control the public employment bureaus authorized by this act. No compensation or fee shall be charged or received directly or indirectly from persons applying for employment or help through any such bureaus. It shall be the duty of said commission to use all diligence in securing the cooperation of employers of labor with the purpose and objects of said employment bureau. To this end it shall be competent for said commission to advertise in the columns of newspapers or to use other mediums for such situations as it or its agents have applicants to fill, and for such help as may be called for by employers. Said commission may also advertise in a general way for the cooperation of large contractors and employers, in such trade journals or special publications as reach such employers, whether such trade journals are published in the State of Michigan or not, and it may pursue such other methods as in its judgment will best tend to accomplish the purpose of this act: Provided, That all managers or superintendents in charge of State public employment bureaus shall devote their entire time to the work of their office while receiving salary or wages from the State.

SEC. 5357. Appointments.—The commissioner of labor is authorized to appoint such assistants as may be necessary for the proper administration of such free employment bureaus. All such assistants shall be under the control and direction of the commissioner of labor, and shall receive such compensation as he shall determine. * * *

Private employment offices

SECTION 5415. License.—[License is required, the annual fee therefor being $25, except in cities of over 200,000 population, where it is $100. Commissioner of labor issues licenses and may make rules and regulations. Parts of act must be posted in the place of business.]

SEC. 5416 (as amended 1917, No. 244). Bond.—[Bond of $1,000 is required conditioned on the observance of the act. Aggrieved claimants may also have recourse to the bond.]

SEC. 5417. Registers.—[Registers are required, showing name, age, sex, trade or occupation, fee charged, wages to be paid, etc.]

SEC. 5418. Receipts.—[Receipts must be given showing particulars of all transactions.]

SEC. 5419 (as amended 1921, No. 38). Fees.—[Fees may not exceed 10 per cent of the first month's wage, except in teachers' agencies. If a registration fee is charged and no place secured within a month, one-half the fee must be repaid if demanded. Registration fee may not exceed $1.]

SEC. 5420. Orders; fraud.—[Applicants may not be sent out except as requested. Fraudulent promises and advertising are forbidden.]

SEC. 5421. Immoral resorts.—[Sending any person to an immoral resort is forbidden.]

SEC. 5422. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine to $200 or imprisonment to 90 days, or both.]

NOTE.—This act is constitutional. The business is one that may properly be regulated, and no arbitrary powers are conferred on the commissioner of labor. The validity of section 5419 was not considered, but as it is severable, the act would stand even if this were eliminated. Brazee v. People, 241 U. S. 340, 36 Sup. Ct. 561; People v. Brazee, 149 N. W. 1053.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 5496. Liability declared.—Every common carrier railroad company in this State shall be liable to any of its employees, or, in case of his death, to his personal representative for the benefit of his widow and children, if any; if none, then for his parents; if none, then for his next of kin, for all damages which may result from the negligence of any such railroad company or from the negligence of any of its officers, agents or employees, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to the negligence of any such common carrier railroad company in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, road bed, works, boats, wharves, coal docks, or other equipment.

SEC. 5497. Contributory negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such common carrier railroad company under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for personal injury to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery: Provided, That the negligence of such employee was of a lesser degree than the negligence of such company, its officers, agents or employees: Provided further, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier railroad company of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury of such employee, and such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 5498. Definition.—The words "railroad company," as used in this act, shall be taken to embrace any company, association, corporation, or person managing, maintaining, operating, or in possession of a common carrier railroad in whole or in part within this State, whether as owner, contractor, lessee, mortgagee, trustee, assignee or receiver.

SEC. 5499. Contracts not a defense.—No contract of employment, insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity for injury or death entered into by or on behalf of any employee, nor the acceptance of any such insurance, relief benefit or indemnity by the person entitled thereto, shall constitute any bar or defense to any action brought to recover damages for personal injuries to, or death of such employee: Provided, however, That upon the trial of such action, the defendant may set off therein any sum it has contributed toward any such insurance, relief benefit or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or, in case of his death, to his personal representative.

SEC. 5500. Rights not impaired.—Nothing in this act shall be held to limit the duty of common carrier railroad companies, or impair the rights of employees under existing laws of the State.

SEC. 5501. Exemptions.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to employees working in shops or offices.

NOTE.—Street railways are common carriers within the meaning of this act. Arends v. Grand Rapids R. Co., 172 Mich. 448, 138 N. W. 195.

Mine regulations—Metal mines

SECTION 5502. Inspectors.—[Inspectors, competent by experience and training, are to be biennially elected in counties in which there are iron or copper mines.]

SEC. 5507. Deputies.—[Deputies not exceeding 3, may be appointed by the inspector to perform such duties as he may prescribe.]

SEC. 5509. Inspectors; hoisting.—[Inspectors must visit each working mine in their counties every 60 days and may order such changes as may seem needful for the safety of the workers therein. Hoisting of men and materials must be by separate shafts or compartments, tops of shafts must be guarded, etc.]

SEC. 5510. Employer liable, when.—[If workmen are injured while continuing in employment in a place condemned by the inspector, the operator is liable therefor.]

SEC. 5511. Maps.—[Operators must furnish maps, guide inspectors through their workings, and facilitate the work of inspection, under penalty of fine up to $500.]

SEC. 5513. Notice of need of inspection.—[Notice of need of inspection must be followed by immediate inspection. Such notice "shall be forever privileged in any court, either civil or criminal."]

SEC. 5514. Reports.—[Annual reports are to be made to the clerk of the county and to the commissioner of labor, showing, among other things, the accidents causing injury or death of persons, and whether due to the negligence of employers or of employees.]

Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTION 5516. [Definitions.]

SEC. 5517 (as amended 1919, No. 177). Inspector.—[An inspector is to be appointed by the commissioner of labor, with the approval of the governor, of at least 8 years' experience in the mine.]

SEC. 5518. Police powers.—[The inspector has police powers, and may arrest violators of this act and stop operations in which dangerous and unlawful conditions are found.]

SEC. 5519. Entry.—[The inspector may enter any mine at any and all seasonable times for purposes of inspection, but not so as to unreasonably obstruct or hinder operations.]

SEC. 5520. Posting inspection reports.—[Results of inspections are to be posted at entrances to mines. Personal inspection must be made at least quarterly.]

SEC. 5521. Weights, etc.—[The mine inspector is ex officio inspector of weights, measures, and scales used at coal mines.]

SEC. 5522. Test weights.—[Test weights must be furnished for both track scales and smaller scales.]

SEC. 5523. Weighmen.—[Weighmen must make oath to render impartial service. Miners may employ a checkweighman, who shall also be sworn.]

SECS. 5524–5559. Safety provisions.—[Maps are required, and ventilation, illuminating and lubricating oil, the installation of electricity, fire equipment, the location of boiler and engine rooms and stables, means of egress, the equipment of hoists, means of communication, signals, places of refuge, blasting, etc., are regulated. Wash houses must be furnished on request of 20 employees, or one-third the employees if less than 20 are employed, first-aid supplies are required, and a supply of timber. Engineers must be sober and competent, and the mine foreman must make inspection of all work places twice a week.]

SEC. 5560. Fraud.—No person shall erase or change a mark of reference or monument made in connection with measurements; change the checks or cars; wrongfully check a car, or do any act with intent to defraud, and operator shall place stump mark at end of each measurement in narrow work.

Arbitration and mediation of labor disputes—State board

SECTION 5564. Scope of law.—The provisions of this act shall apply to employers and employees in the following industries: Railroads, mines, public utilities, including electric light, power and water; Provided, however, That the employers and employees of such other industries, not herein enumerated, who may mutually agree to come under the operation of this act, may do so by filing with the commissioner of mediation and conciliation, such agreement.

SEC. 5565. Application to board.—Whenever a controversy concerning wages, hours of labor, or other conditions of employment between an employer, or employers, and employees subject to this act, interrupting or threatening to interrupt the business of said employer or employers to the detriment of the public interest, either party to such controversy may apply to the board of mediation and conciliation created by this act and invoke its services for the purpose of bringing about an amicable adjustment of the controversy; or the respective parties to the controversy may, on their own initiative, enter into an agreement to submit the matters in controversy to arbitration under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5566. Procedure.—Upon the request of either party to a controversy the board of mediation and conciliation shall, with all practicable expedition, put itself in communication with the parties to such controversy and shall use its best efforts, by mediation and conciliation, to bring them to an agreement; and if such efforts to bring about an amicable adjustment through mediation and conciliation shall be unsuccessful, the said board shall at once endeavor to induce the parties to submit their controversy to arbitration under the provisions of this act. During the carrying on of the mediation proceedings under this act, neither party to the proceedings shall avail itself of the time to secure any advantage over the other side in the event of the failure of the mediators to bring about a settlement of the controversy or an agreement to arbitrate. In any case in which a controversy arises over the meaning of the application of any agreement reached through mediation under the provisions of this act, either party to the said agreement may apply to the board of mediation and conciliation for an opinion from said board as to the meaning or application of said agreement, or of such part of it as may be in dispute, and the said board shall upon receipt of such request, give its opinion as soon as may be practicable.

SEC. 5567. Arbitration.—Whenever a controversy shall arise between an employer, or employers, and employees subject to this act, which can not be settled through mediation and conciliation in the manner hereinbefore provided, or which the respective parties prefer to submit directly to arbitration, such controversy may be submitted to the arbitration of a board of four persons who shall be chosen in the following manner: The employer, or employers, parties to the controversy shall name one arbitrator, and the employees one; and the two thus named shall select the remaining two arbritrators necessary to make up the board of four; but in the event of their failure to name the two arbitrators, or one of them, within fifteen days after their first meeting, the said two arbitrators, or one of them, if the first two arbitrators have agreed upon one of the two, shall be named by the board of mediation and conciliation. In the event that the employees concerned in any given controversy are not organized, such employees may select a committee and give it the right to represent them and to name the arbitrator who is to be named by the employees as above provided in this section.

SEC. 5568. Agreements.—The agreement to arbitrate—

First, Shall be in writing;

Second, Shall stipulate that the arbitration is had under the provisions of this act;

Third, Shall be signed by duly accredited representatives of the employer, or employers, and of the employees;

Fourth, Shall state specifically the questions to be submitted to the said board for decision;

Fifth, Shall stipulate that a majority of the said board shall be competent to make a valid and binding award;

Sixth, Shall fix a period from the date of the naming of the arbitrator or arbitrators necessary to complete the board of four within which the said board shall commence its hearings;

Seventh, Shall fix a period from the beginning of the hearings within which the said board shall make and hand down its award;

Eighth, Shall provide for the date from which the award shall become effective and shall fix the period during which the said award shall continue in force;

Ninth, Shall provide that the respective parties to the award will faithfully execute the same and abide by its provisions;

Tenth, Shall provide that the award and the papers and proceedings, including the testimony relating thereto, certified under the hands of the arbitrators, shall be filed in the office of the board of mediation and conciliation;

Eleventh, And may also provide that any dispute arising as to the meaning or the application of the provisions of any award made by a board of arbitration shall be referred back to the same board or to a subcommittee of such board for a ruling, which ruling shall have the same force and effect as the original award; and if any member of the original board is unable or unwilling to serve, another arbitrator shall be named in the same manner as such original arbitrator was named.

SEC. 5569. Powers of arbitrators.—For the purposes of this act the arbitrators herein provided for, or either of them, shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations, sign subpœnas, require the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production of such books, papers, contracts, agreements, and documents material to a just determination of the matters under investigation as may be ordered by the court; and may invoke the aid of the courts of the State to compel witnesses to attend and testify and to produce such books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents to the same extent and under the same conditions and penalties as is provided for in the act creating the railroad commission of this State and the amendments thereto.

SEC. 5570. Agreements to be acknowledged.—Every agreement of arbitration under this act shall be acknowledged by the parties thereto before a notary public or a clerk of a court of record or before a member of the board of mediation and conciliation, the members of which are hereby authorized to take such acknowledgments; and when so acknowledged, shall be delivered to a member of said board or transmitted to the office of said board, there to be placed on file. When such agreement of arbitration has been filed with the said board, or one of its members, and when the said board or a member thereof, has been furnished the names of the arbitrators chosen by the respective parties to the controversy, the board or a member thereof, shall cause a notice in writing to be served upon the said arbitrators, notifying them of their appointment, requesting them to meet promptly to name the remaining arbitrators necessary to complete the board, and advising them of the period within which they are empowered to name such arbitrators. When the arbitrators selected by the respective parties have agreed upon the remaining arbitrators they shall notify the board of mediation and conciliation; and in the event of their failure to agree upon both or either of the necessary arbitrators within the fifteen days, as hereinbefore provided, they shall at the expiration of such period, notify the board of mediation and conciliation of the arbitrators selected, if any, or of their failure to make or to complete such selection. If the parties to an arbitration desire the reconvening of a board to pass upon any dispute arising over the meaning or application of any provisions of an award, they shall jointly so notify the board of mediation and conciliation and shall state in such written notice, the question or questions to be submitted for decision to such reconvened board. The board of mediation and conciliation shall thereupon promptly communicate with the members of the board of arbitration and arrange for the reconvening of the board and shall notify the respective parties to the controversy of the time and place at which the board shall meet for hearings upon the matter in controversy to be submitted to it.

SEC. 5571. Hearings.—The board of arbitration shall organize and select its own chairman and make all necessary rules for conducting its hearing; and in its award or awards the said board shall confine itself to findings, or recommendations, directly bearing upon the questions submitted to it for decision. All testimony before said board shall be given under oath or affirmation. The board may employ such assistants as may be necessary in carrying on its work. It shall furnish a certified copy of its awards to the respective parties to the controversy, and shall transmit the original award, together with the papers and proceedings and a transcript of the testimony taken at the hearings, certified under the hands of the arbitrators, to the office of the board of mediation and conciliation.

SEC. 5572. Employees of receivers.—Whenever receivers appointed by the courts of the State of Michigan, or subject thereto, are in possession and control of the business of employers covered by this act, the employees of such employers shall have the right to be heard through their representatives in such court upon all questions affecting the terms and conditions of their employment; and no reduction of wages shall be made by such receivers without the authority of the court therefor, after notice to such employees, said notice to be given not less than twenty days before the hearing upon the receivers' petition or application.

SEC. 5573. Compensation.—Each member of the board of arbitration created under the provisions of this act shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the board of mediation and conciliation, together with his traveling and other necessary expenses.

SEC. 5574. Commissioner to be appointed.—Within thirty days after the passage of this act, there shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, a commissioner of mediation and conciliation, whose salary shall be two thousand five hundred [dollars] per annum, and necessary expenses, and who shall be provided with an office by the board of State auditors. Said commissioner shall hold office for a term of two years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, and shall be removed by the governor only for misconduct in office. The commissioner of mediation and conciliation shall place his entire time at the disposal of his official duties. The governor shall also appoint by and with the advice and consent of the senate, one other person who shall, together with the commissioner of mediation and conciliation, constitute the board of mediation and conciliation referred to in various places in this act. The person so appointed shall be required to give only such time to the work of said board as may be necessary to carry on its work satisfactorily, and he shall receive ten dollars per diem, together with traveling and other necessary expenses, while actually engaged in his duties in connection with the work of the board.

SEC. 5575. Office force.—The commissioner of mediation and conciliation shall have power to employ such assistance for his office or for the work of the board of mediation and conciliation as may be provided for in the appropriation acts of the legislature.

SEC. 5576. Expenditures; reports.—[Salaries and expenses, the latter not to exceed $6,000, are to be provided for as other State expenses. Annual reports are authorized.]

Water-closets for workmen on buildings

SECTION 5578. To be provided, when.—It shall be the duty of all architects to insert a clause in the specifications for all buildings providing for suitable temporary water-closets for the use of workmen employed on such buildings while in the course of erection, unless closets are already maintained on such premises; and it shall also be the duty of the contractor or person erecting such building to erect such closet within the first week after commencing work thereon.

SEC. 5579. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $5 to $25, or imprisonment to 30 days, or both.]

Employment of labor—Work away from home

SECTION 5580. Restrictions.—[Contracts involving removal from home must be in writing, specifying conditions of employment, wages, and payments. If children under 16 are employed, parents' written consent is required; also of the truant officer of the locality. Such child must be returned home on written request of the parents.]

SEC. 5581. Repayment of advances for transportation.—Every person, who, with intent to defraud, shall accept or receive transportation provided by or at the instance or expense of his employer, from any point in this State to or in the direction of the place where he has contracted to perform labor for, or render services to such employer, or who shall knowingly, and with intent to defraud, accept or receive the benefit of any other pecuniary advancements made by or at the instance and cost of his employer, under an agreement on the part of such person to perform labor or render services in repayment of the cost of such transportation or of such other benefits, shall be deemed and adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor if he shall neglect or refuse to render services or perform labor of an equal value to the full amount paid for such transportation or other benefits, or shall neglect or refuse to pay such employer in money the amount paid therefor. The value of the services to be rendered, or labor to be performed shall be determined by the price agreed to be paid therefor by such employer under his contract with the employee. The failure or refusal of any such employee to perform such labor or to render such services in accordance with his contract, or to pay in money the amount paid for such transportation or other benefits, shall be prima facie evidence of his intent to defraud.

Hours of labor

SECTION 5587. Ten hours' work.—In all factories, workshops, salt blocks, sawmills, logging or lumber camps, booms or drives, mines or other places used for mechanical, manufacturing, or other purposes within the State of Michigan, where men or women are employed, ten hours per day shall constitute a legal day's work, and any proprietor, stockholder, manager, clerk, foreman, or other employers of labor who shall require any person or persons in their employ to perform more than ten hours per day, shall be compelled to pay such employees for all overtime or extra hours at the regular per diem rate, unless there be an agreement to the contrary.

A contract containing no restrictions as to hours of labor and made with knowledge of a custom requiring more than ten hours' labor on the part of a company's employees and on which semimonthly payments were accepted as full compensation could not be sued on to recover for time worked in excess of ten hours per day. 82 Mich. 658.

Irregular occupations and employment by the week, month, or year are not within the statute. 85 Mich. 147.

SEC. 5588. Contracts without provision as to time.—In all contracts, engagements or agreements to labor in any mechanical, manufacturing, or other labor calling, where such contracts or agreements are silent, or no express condition specified, ten hours shall constitute a day's work, and the contract or agreement shall be so construed.

SEC. 5589. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $5 to $50.]

SEC. 5591. Application of law. Nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to domestic or farm laborers, or other laborers who agree to work more than ten hours per day.

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 5979 (as amended 1919, No. 132). Attendance required.—[Attendance to 16 is required unless (among other reasons) the child is 14, has completed the sixth grade, and his "services are essential to the support" of his parents; or is 14, has completed the eighth grade, and is regularly employed at some lawful work.]

SECS. 5989–5992. Assistance.—[Children under 16 whose services are needed for the support of parents may be assisted by payments of not more than $3 per person or $6 per family per week during the school year.]

Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 7208. Scrip, etc., to be redeemable in money.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation to sell, give, deliver or in any manner issue, directly or indirectly, to any person employed by him or it, in payment of wages due for labor, or as advances on the wages of labor not due, any scrip, token, order, or other evidence of indebtedness purporting to be payable or redeemable otherwise than in money. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall be punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or imprisonment for not more than thirty days or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and any such scrip, token, order, or other evidence of indebtedness issued in violation of the provisions of this act, whatever its provisions as to the time or manner of payment shall be, in legal effect, an instrument for the unconditional payment of money only on demand, and the amount thereof may be collected in money by an holder thereof in a civil action against the corporation selling, delivering or in any manner or for any purpose issuing the same; and such holder may be either the person to whom such instrument was originally issued or who acquired the same by purchase and delivery.

SEC. 7209. Evidence. Any scrip, token, order, or other evidence of indebtedness, issued in violation of the provisions of this act, and presented by the holder thereof, shall be taken as prima facie evidence, in any court of competent jurisdiction, of the guilt or indebtedness of any corporation selling, giving, delivering or in any manner issuing the same.

SEC. 7210. Who made defendants.—Any person selling, giving, delivering or in any manner issuing said scrip, token, order, or other evidence of indebtedness in behalf of any corporation in violation of the provisions of the preceding sections shall be the defendant to the criminal action, and the corporation shall be held as defendant to the civil action: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply, when any employee shall voluntarily request or consent to receive scrip, tokens or orders upon any person, company or corporation in payment, or part payment, of wages due, or to become due, to such employee.

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 7222. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 in acrobatic, mendicant, etc., employments is forbidden. For text of similar law see sec. 2223, Delaware Code.]

Railroads—Reports, etc., of accidents—Inspection—Rules

SECTION 8141. Accidents.—[Railroads are directed to report all accidents to the railroad commission, which may make investigation if it deems the public interests require it.]

SEC. 8142. Inspection.—[The commission may, on complaint or otherwise, inspect equipment, tracks, bridges, etc., as to safety for employees and the public, and may give notice of needed changes, which must be made, under penalty.]

SEC. 8296. Companies to furnish rules.—It shall be the duty of every railroad corporation in this State to furnish to each of its employees of every grade a printed or written copy of its rules and regulations relative to their respective duties, and any conductor, engineer, servant, or other employee of any such railroad corporation, who shall knowingly violate any of the printed or written rules or regulations of such company, shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or to an imprisonment in the county jail not more than three months, or both, such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Railroads—Bridges, etc., over tracks

SECTION 8358. Height.—[No bridge may be erected less than 18 feet above a railroad track except in cities and villages having the power to regulate the height, unless by written consent of the commissioner of railroads. This does not apply to railroad bridges.]

SEC. 8368 (as amended 1921, No. 288). Wires.—[No wire, electrical or other, may be strung across the tracks of any railroad except as approved by the public utilities commission.]

SEC. 8370 (as amended 1921, No. 288). Enforcement.—[The commission may inspect all places where tracks are crossed by wires, and if they should be of greater height, may order changes, no wire to be less than 22 feet from the established grade.]

Railroads—Bridges, etc., over tracks—Telltales

SECTIONS 8400, 8401. Required when.—[If any bridge, viaduct, etc., is less than 7 feet above the roof of freight cars used on a railroad, telltales or warning cords must be placed at a distance fixed by the commissioner of railroads, the cords, straps or ropes to be not more than 9 inches apart, for a space of 8 feet directly over the track. If two bridges, etc., are less than 100 feet apart, no guard need be erected between them.]

Railroads—Qualifications of employees

SECTION 8403. Experience to be stated.—Every person hereafter employed upon any steam railroad in this State in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor or flagman shall file in the office of the Michigan Railroad Commission an affidavit, in such form as the commission may prescribe, setting forth the length of railroad experience of the person making the same, and for what company or companies and in what capacity performed.

SEC. 8404. Engineers.—No person shall run or operate any locomotive or other motor power upon any railroad in the State of Michigan without first having served three years as fireman prior to qualifying for freight service and two years as a freight engineer before qualifying for passenger service.

SEC. 8405. Conductors.—No person shall act or engage to act as a conductor on a railroad freight train in this State without having for two years prior thereto served or worked in the capacity of a brakeman or conductor on a freight or passenger train on a line of road; nor shall any person act or engage to act as a conductor on a passenger train in this State without having for one year prior thereto served or worked in the capacity of a conductor of a freight or passenger train on a line of road.

SEC. 8406. Telegraph operators.—It shall be unlawful for any common carrier by railroad, carrying freight or passengers between points in this State, to employ any telegraph operator who has not had at least thirty days' experience in the handling of train orders under the tutorship of an experienced telegraph operator and shall have attained the age of nineteen years.

SEC. 8407. Flagmen.—No person shall act or engage to act as a flagman on a railroad train in this State without having for three months prior thereto served or worked as a brakeman on a freight train or passenger train on a line of road.

SEC. 8408. Employment forbidden.—No railroad company by its officers, agents or employees shall knowingly engage or employ any person to act in the capacity of locomotive engineer, conductor or flagman in violation of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 8409. Construction of act.—Nothing in this act shall be construed as applying to the running or operating of engines in taking said engines to or from trains at division terminals by engine hostlers, or of the shifting of cars or making up trains or doing any work appurtenant thereto, or engine houses, trams or freight yards by switchmen or yardmen, or in the case of the disability of an engineer or a conductor or a flagman while out on the road between division terminals, or in case of relief or wrecking trains, in case of accident or wreck.

SEC. 8410. Exemptions.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to any railroad company within this State nor the receiver or lessee thereof, whose line of railway is less than thirty miles in length, nor shall anything herein contained relieve any railroad company from the negligence of any of its employees. In case any railroad company is unable to hire a sufficient number of men having the experience for the respective positions specified in this act, at the average rate of wages paid by said company during the next preceding year, it shall be deemed a substantial compliance with this act if such company shall employ from among such men as are available those having the highest qualifications as to experience and efficiency.

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTION 8581 (as amended 1919, No. 320). Inclosed platforms.—[Electric, cable, etc., street cars requiring workmen to be on the platforms, must have such platforms inclosed from November 1 to April 1 of each year so as to protect such workmen from the inclemencies of the weather. Such inclosed platforms "shall be so heated as to be suitably and adequately warm."]

Mine regulations—Metal mines

SECTION 9014. Drilling.—[Operators of iron or copper mines must so arrange their work underground that no employee shall operate a power or machine drill more than 150 feet distant from the other persons regularly and continuously employed in the same working.]

Labor organizations—Incorporation

SECTION 9823. Incorporation.—Any number of persons, not less than five, may associate themselves together and become a body corporate and politic for the improvement of their several social and material interests, the regulation of their wages, the laws and conditions of their employment, the protection of their joint and individual rights in the prosecution of their trades or industrial avocations, the collection and payment of funds for the benefit of sick, disabled or unemployed members, the securing of benefits to the families of deceased members, and for such other and further objects of material benefit and protection as are germane to the purposes of this act. The persons so associating shall execute articles of association as hereinafter provided, sign and acknowledge the same before some officer duly authorized by the laws of this State to take acknowledgment of deeds, and upon the execution and acknowledgment of said articles of association aforesaid, the said association shall become a body politic for the purposes set forth in said articles of agreement.

SEC. 9825. Articles to state what.—The articles of association shall state:

First, The names of persons associating in the first instance with their places of residence;

Second, The purposes of the association, conforming with the provisions of this act;

Third, The corporate name and period of incorporation, not to exceed a period of thirty years;

Fourth, The terms, conditions, and qualifications of membership in the corporation;

Fifth, The officers and committees created, with the names of officers and members of committees first selected, the terms of such officers and members, and the time of holding an annual meeting.

SEC. 9829. Incorporation of existing bodies.—All societies, unions or associations of tradesmen or laborers actually existing and conducting their affairs under a constitution or articles of association, may become a body corporate and politic, for the general purposes of this act, upon filing a copy of their constitution or articles of the association, society, or union, verified by the oath of one of the executive officers of such society, association, or union in the office of the secretary of state, and a like verified copy in the office of the county clerk of the county where such association, society, or union is formed. All societies, unions, and associations, becoming corporations as above provided, shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 9831. Vesting of property.—All moneys, properties, or rights in action, equitably belonging to any society, union or association at the time the same shall become incorporated under the provisions of this act, shall vest in the corporation so formed, and may be recovered by such corporation in an action of assumpsit, or on the case, from any person unlawfully withholding the same.

[Similar provision is made for the incorporation of mechanics' associations, secs. 9795 to 9805; labor associations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, secs. 9806 to 9812; arbeiter bunds, secs. 9813 to 9818; trades-unions, secs. 9819 to 9822; and assemblies of Knights of Labor, secs. 10305 to 10310.]

Accident insurance—Choice of companies

SECTION 11357. Coercion as to insurance.—It shall hereafter be unlawful for any company or corporation doing business in this State or for any of the officers and agents of any such company or corporation, to require any of the employees of such company or corporation to take out or obtain a life, accident or life and accident policy in favor of such employee or other person in any particular or designated life, accident or life and accident company or association.

SEC. 11358. Contracts void.—All contracts hereinafter made between any such company or corporation and any employee of said company or corporation requiring or stipulating that the employee so contracting shall procure, obtain or have a policy of insurance in any particular or designated company or association shall be void: Provided, That nothing in the foregoing provisions of this act is intended to prohibit, or shall be construed as prohibiting the employers of labor and the persons employed from voluntarily making agreements with each other for contributions of money by the latter to any fund to be accumulated in their behalf and for their benefit in common with others, and in such case from further agreeing that the employer may deduct from their wages, from time to time, the sums due from them under such agreement.

SEC. 11359. Violations.—[Violations by company or corporation entail a fine of not more than $200; by shareholder or agent, imprisonment not exceeding 60 days, or fine not more than $100, or both.]

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments

SECTION 13614. Rank.—[Labor debts entitled to preference under State laws are to be paid next after taxes and costs.]

Suits for wages—Security for costs not required

SECTION 14179. Security for costs not required, when.—In any suit brought to recover for the personal work and labor of the plaintiff, security for costs shall not be ordered in case the plaintiff shall make and file with the court an affidavit that he has a good and meritorious cause of action and is unable to procure security for costs.

Execution on judgments for wages not to be stayed

SECTION 14294. Execution forthwith.—* * * In suits to recover for the personal work and labor of the defendant [plaintiff], or any member of his family, execution shall, on application of the person in whose favor the judgment was rendered, his agent or attorney, be issued forthwith after the rendition of the judgment.

Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 14365. Amount.—[To a householder who is head of a family, 60 per cent of his employer's indebtedness for labor, not over $30 and at least $8, is exempt from garnishment; to one "not a householder having a family," 30 per cent of the employer's indebtedness is exempt; and if the defendant is not a householder, not over $15 is exempt, though in all cases at least $4 is exempt.]

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

SECTION 14622. Rank.—[In cases of insolvency labor debts take precedence over all other debts which were not a lien on the estate or some portion thereof prior to the performance of the labor.]

Intimidation of employees

SECTION 15010. Making threats, etc.—If any person or persons shall, by threats, intimidations, or otherwise, and without authority of law, interfere with, or in any way molest, or attempt to interfere with, or in any way molest or disturb, without such authority, any mechanic or other laborer, in the quiet and peaceable pursuit of his lawful avocation, such person or persons shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be severally punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail where the offense shall have been committed, not less than one month nor more than one year, or by both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court; but if such punishment be by fine, the offender shall be imprisoned in such jail until the same be paid, not exceeding ninety days.

Antitrust law—Exemptions

SECTION 15038 (as amended 1917, No. 171). Route lists.—This act shall not apply * * * to any contract of employment under which the employer furnishes or discloses to the employee a list of customers or patrons, commonly called a route list, within certain territory in which such employee is to work, in which contract the employee agrees not to perform similar services in such territory for another engaged in a like or competing line of business for a period of ninety days after the termination of such contract or services.

SEC. 15100. Labor organizations.—The provisions of this act shall not apply * * * to the services of laborers or artisans who are formed into societies or organizations for the benefit and protection of their members.

Forced contributions from employees

SECTION 15118. Exacting contributions.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor, by himself, his agent, clerk or servant to require any employee, or person seeking employment, as a condition of such employment, or continuance therein, to make and enter into any contract, oral or written, whereby such employee or applicant for employment shall agree to contribute directly or indirectly to any fund for charitable, social or beneficial purpose or purposes.

SEC. 15119. Making deductions from wages.—It shall be unlawful for any such employer, by himself, his agent, clerk or servant, to deduct from the wages of any employee, directly or indirectly, any part thereof without the full and free consent of such employee, obtained without intimidation or fear of discharge for refusal to permit such deduction.

SEC. 15120. Individual liability.—If the employer be a firm or corporation, each and every member of said firm, and each and every managing officer of the corporation, shall be liable to punishment under this act; and any clerk, servant or agent of any such employer who shall do or attempt to do any act forbidden by this act, shall be equally liable with his employer or employers as principal, for any such violations of this act.

SEC. 15121. Violations.—[Violations entail fine, $25 to $100, or imprisonment 10 to 90 days.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 15174. Attempting to control vote.—Any person who shall directly or indirectly discharge or threaten to discharge any persons who may be in his employ for the purpose of influencing his vote at any election in this State * * * shall be deemed guilty of corrupt practice, and on conviction thereof shall be punished as provided for in section four of this act [fined not less than twenty-five nor more than two hundred dollars].

Guards on corn huskers

SECTION 15268. Sale or use of unguarded huskers.—Hereafter it shall be unlawful for any person, partnership, association or corporation, or for any officer or agent thereof, to sell or offer for sale, or to use within the State of Michigan, the machine commonly known as a corn husker, unless the same is safeguarded by an automatic feeder or other safety device, that shall compel the person, or persons feeding said machine, to stand at a reasonably safe distance from the snapping rollers, and designed effectually to protect the person or persons operating the same from bodily injury while engaged in such operation.

Bribery, etc., of employees

SECTION 15590 (as amended 1923, No. 146). Bribery.—It shall be unlawful for any person to give, offer or promise to an agent, employee or servant of another or any other person, any commission, gift or gratuity whatever, or to do an act beneficial to such agent, employee, or servant or another, with intent to influence the action of such agent, employee, or servant in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; or for an agent, employee or servant to request or accept for himself or another any commission, gift or gratuity or any promise to make any commission, gift or gratuity to himself or another or the doing of an act beneficial to himself or another, according to any agreement or understanding between him and any other person to the effect he shall act in any particular manner in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business.

2 (added 1923, No. 146). Fraud.—It shall be unlawful for any person, corporation, partnership, or other organization to use or to give to an agent, employee, or servant or another, or for any agent, employee, or servant, to use, approve, or certify, with intent to deceive the principal, employer or master, any receipt, account, invoice, or other document in respect of which the principal, employer, or master is interested, which contains any statement which is false, erroneous, or defective in any material particular or which omits to state fully the fact of any commission, money, property, or other valuable thing having been given or agreed to be given to such agent, employee or servant.

3 (added 1923, No. 146). Evidence not admissible.—Evidence shall not be admissible in any proceeding or prosecution under this act to show that a gift or acceptance of any commission, money, property, or other valuable thing as is mentioned in this act is customary in any business, trade, or calling, nor shall the customary nature of such transaction be any defense in any such proceeding or prosecution.

4 (added 1923, No. 146). Evidence required.—In any proceeding or prosecution under this act no person shall be excused from attending and testifying or from producing documentary evidence in obedience to the subpœna of the court on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to criminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture. But no natural person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may testify when compelled to do so over his objection, or produce evidence, documentary, or otherwise, in obedience to the subpœna: Provided, That no natural person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying.

5 (added 1923, No. 146). State's evidence immune from prosecution.—The first person committing offense within the purview of this act, who shall report the facts, under oath, to the prosecuting attorney of the county where the offense is triable and who shall give evidence tending to the conviction of any other person charged with an offense under this act shall be granted full immunity from prosecution under this act with respect to the offense reported.

6 (added 1923, No. 146). Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine not exceeding $300, or imprisonment not more than 1 year, or both.]

7 (added 1923, No. 146). Proviso.—If any provision of this act shall, for any reason, be adjudged to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of the act.

Act No. 92.—Discharge of railroad employees—Hearings

Section 1. Hearings required, when.—It shall be unlawful for any common carrier by railroad, its agents, superintendents, managers, or employees owning or operating any line or lines of railroad in this State and engaged in commerce by railroad, employing any special agent, detective, or person commonly known as a spotter for the purpose of investigation and obtaining and reporting to the employer, its agents, superintendents, or managers information concerning its employees to discipline or discharge any of its employees where such act of discipline or discharge is based upon the report of such special agent, detective, or spotter, which involves a question of integrity, honesty, or breach of any rule of the employer unless such employer, its agents, superintendents, or managers shall first give notice to such employee so reported and grant a hearing to him when he so requests and upon demand by said employee, the employer at such hearing shall state the specific charges against said employee, and the accused employee shall have the right to demand and be confronted with the person making such report to his employer, and to have the right at such hearing to cross-examine the agent, detective, or spotter making such report, and shall have the right to employ counsel to represent him at such hearing.

Sec. 2. Violations.—[Violations incur penalty of fine not more than $300, or imprisonment not more than 6 months, or both. Where the offender is an officer or employee of a common carrier by railroad, the penalty of imprisonment shall be imposed on such officer or employee.]

Act No. 256.—Insurance—Unemployment—Accident

Part Three

Chapter I

Section 14 (as amended 1923, No. 71). Insurance corporations.—Any number of persons, not less than thirteen, may associate together and form an incorporated company for the following purposes, to wit:

First, To insure railway employes against loss of position resulting from discharge or retirement;

Second, To insure any person against bodily injury or death by accident, or against disability on account of sickness;

Third, To insure the lives and health of persons and every insurance pertaining thereto, and to grant, purchase or dispose of annuities.

Chapter II

Section 14. Provisions of policies.—Every such [health and accident] policy so issued shall contain standard provisions, which shall be in the words and in the order hereinafter set forth and be preceded in every policy by the caption "standard provisions." In each such standard provision wherever the word "insurer" is used, there shall be substituted therefor "company" or "corporation" or "association" or "society" or such other word as will properly designate the insurer. Such standard provision shall be:

* * * * * * * *

(12) A standard provision providing for cancellation of the policy at the instance of the insured which shall be in the following form:

(A) 12. If the insured shall at any time change his occupation to one classified by the insurer as less hazardous than that stated in the policy, the insurer, upon written request of the insured, and surrender of the policy, will cancel the same and will return to the insured the unearned premium.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 22. Exemption.—Nothing in this subdivision, however, shall apply to or affect any policy of liability or workmen's compensation insurance or any general or blanket policy of insurance issued to any municipal corporation or department thereof, or to any corporation, copartnership, association or individual employer, police or fire department, underwriter's corps, salvage bureau, or like associations or organizations, where the officers, members or employees or classes or departments thereof are insured for their individual benefit against specified accidental bodily injuries or sickness while exposed to the hazards of the occupation or otherwise in consideration of a premium intended to cover the risks of all the persons insured under such policy.

* * * * * * *

CHAPTER III

SECTION 1. Who may incorporate; purpose.—Any number of persons, not less than seven, residents of this State, may incorporate for the purpose of carrying on, upon the assessment or cooperative plan, the lines of casualty insurance herein enumerated.

SEC. 2. Classes of insurance.—The classes of insurance which may be carried on by companies incorporated under this chapter shall be as follows:

(a) Providing to members indemnity for disability or death by accident, and disability by sickness, and may provide a funeral benefit not exceeding $200 separate or in conjunction with accident and sickness indemnity.

(b) Providing indemnity to members not exceeding $500 to any one member, for loss of position arising from discharge or retirement, in companies composed of conductors, engineers, or motormeu of steam and electric railways, or of other similar trades or occupations.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 3. When to begin business.—No corporation doing business under subsection (a) or (b) of section two hereof shall commence business, unless it shall have procured bona fide agreements for iusurance therein from at least two hundred eligible persons, * * * shall have received at least one assessment thereon in cash from each of such persons, according to the rate and plan set forth in its article of association, which amount so received in cash shall aggregate for (a) at least $1,000; for (b) $200 * * *; nor until it has fully organized by the election of the proper and suitable officers and the secretary and treasurer shall have given good and sufficient bonds to the association to be held by the president of the association, for the faithful performance of their duties, which bonds shall not be less than $2,000 and shall be at least twice the amount of money liable to come into their hands as such officers at any one time, said bonds to be approved by the commissioner of insurance. The president and secretary of such corporation shall furnish under oath to the commissioner of insurance proof of such agreements for insurance, giving the name, residence, age, and amount of insurance applied for by each applicant and the amount of assessment actually paid by each applicant, and also proof of the election and qualification of the officers, aud the custodian of the funds of any such corporation shall furnish to the commissioner of insurance a certificate under oath that he has received and holds in trust for the benefit of the beneficiaries of such applicants, the sum required as above set forth herein.

SEC. 4. Directors.—The property, business and affairs of such corporation, organized under the laws of this State, shall be managed by not less than five nor more than twenty directors or trustees, to be chosen by and from the members at their annual meeting. They shall hold office for one year, and until their successors are chosen: Provided, It shall be lawful to designate the trustees or directors for the first year in the articles of associatiou.

[Details as to reserves, assessments, etc., follow.]

Act No. 239.—Employment of labor—Equal pay for women

Section 1. Discrimination forbidden.—Hereafter it shall be unlawful for any employer of labor in this State, employing both males and females in the manufacture or production of any article, to discriminate in any way in the payment of wages as between sex or to pay any female engaged in the manufacture or production of any article of like value, workmanship, and production a less wage, by time or piecework, than is being paid to males similarly employed in such manufacture, production, or in any employment formerly performed by males: Provided, however, That no female shall be given any task, disproportionate to her strength, nor shall she be employed in any place detrimental to her morals, her health, or her potential capacity for motherhood.

Sec. 2. Penalty.—Any person, persons, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Section 1. Acts forbidden.—Any employer or agent or representative of an employer or other person having authority from his employer to hire, employ, or direct the services of other persons in the employment of said employer, who shall demand or receive directly or indirectly from any person then in the employment of said employer, any fee, gift, or any remuneration, or consideration or any part or portion of any tips or gratuities received by such employee while in the employment of said employer, in consideration or as a condition of such employment, or hiring or employing any person to perform such services for such employer or of permitting said person to continue in such employment, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than two hundred fifty dollars for such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 2. Act construed.—Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to apply to employment agencies or employment agents licensed and operating under the laws of this State.

Act No. 342.—Provisions for accidents—Railroads

Section 1. First-aid kits.—On and after the first day of November, nineteen hundred nineteen, every railroad company owning and operating any steam railway or any interurban electric railway, wholly or partly within this State, shall provide and carry in one coach on every train owned or used by said company for the conveyance and carriage of passengers, a first-aid cabinet near the door thereof and within easy view, reach, and access of passengers occupying such car, which cabinet shall at all times contain the various contents specified in section two, to be used for the safety and aid of passengers in case of emergencies: Provided, This section shall not apply to caboose cars on freight trains, nor to electric street cars operated wholly within the cities for local traffic.

Sec. 2. Supplies.—The first-aid cabinet shall at all times be equipped with and contain the following contents in a clean and sanitary condition:

(1) Eight standard first-aid packages for wounds, each one of which shall contain one dozen pieces of antiseptic lintine or felted cotton, one dozen gauze bandages with compress attached, and one triangular bandage.
(2) Ten ounces absorbent lint.
(3) Two burn-dressing packets.
(4) Four packages absorbent gauze, each containing one yard.
(5) Six packages absorbent cotton, each containing four ounces.
(6) One spool adhesive plaster, one inch wide.
(7) Twelve cotton roller bandages, two inches wide.
(8) Twelve cotton roller bandages, two and one-half inches wide.
(9) Eight linton gauze bandages, one inch wide.
(10) Eight linton gauze bandages, two inches wide.
(11) Twelve linton gauze bandages, two and one-half inches wide.

(12) One four-ounce bottle aromatic spirits of ammonia.
(13) One pint of tincture of iodine.
(14) Twelve wooden splints.
(15) Six packages safety pins.
(16) Three tourniquets.
(17) Two pairs of scissors.

SEC. 3. Removal.—Any person or employee of any railroad company who shall remove or carry away from their proper place, except in case of an accident or emergency, any of the contents specified in section two, which are required to be kept in the passenger cars and interurban cars by the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of an offense, and upon conviction thereof may be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine not exceeding $100.]

SEC. 5. Enforcement.—The provisions of this act shall be enforced by the State board of health.

ACT No. 43.—Department of labor and industry

SECTION 1. Department created.—There is hereby created a department to be known and designated as the Department of Labor and Industry of the State of Michigan, which shall possess the powers and perform the duties hereby granted and imposed. The administration of said powers and duties shall be vested in a commission of three members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. Each member of the commission shall devote his entire time in the performance of the duties of his office. Each member of said commission shall qualify by taking and filing the constitutional oath of office and shall hold office until the appointment and qualification of his successor. Any vacancy shall be filled in the same manner as appointments are made in the first instance. The chairman of such commission shall be appointed by the governor, and shall have general charge of and supervision over the administrative affairs of such department in so far as relates to the division and assignment of the work thereof. It shall be the duty of the board of State auditors to provide suitable offices at the city of Lansing for the department hereby created.

SEC. 2. Rules.—The commission may adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with law for the governing of its own organization and procedure. It shall also adopt a suitable seal, of which all the courts shall take judicial notice, and all orders and official proceedings shall be authenticated thereby. The commission shall have power to appoint such deputies, assistants, and employees as may be necessary for the performance of the duties hereby imposed, the compensation to be paid thereto and the number of such deputies, assistants, and employees to be subject to the approval of the State administrative board. Each of such deputies shall take and file the constitutional oath of office and shall possess all of the power and authority conferred by Act number ten of the Public Acts of Michigan, of the first extra session of nineteen hundred twelve, and the amendments thereto, upon the deputy members of the industrial accident board, and by Act number two hundred eighty-five of the Public Acts of Michigan of nineteen hundred nine, and amendments thereto, upon the deputy commissioner of labor. Each member of the commission shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars; and all officers and employees of the department shall be entitled to their necessary expenses incurred while traveling in performance of any of the duties hereby imposed. All salaries and expenses hereby authorized shall be paid in the same manner as the salaries and expenses of other State officers and employees are paid.

SEC. 3. Powers.—The powers and duties now vested by law in the industrial accident board, the department of labor, the State labor commissioner, the board of boiler rules, created by Act number one hundred seventy-four of the Public Acts of nineteen hundred seventeen, and the industrial relations commission are hereby transferred to and vested in the department of labor and industry hereby created. Immediately on the taking effect of this act the boards, departments, commission, and officers whose powers and duties are hereby transferred shall be abolished, and whenever reference thereto is made in any law of the State reference shall be deemed to be intended to be made to the department of labor and industry. Any hearing or other proceeding pending before any such department, board, commission, or officers shall not be abated but shall be deemed to be transferred to the commission provided for in section one of this act, and shall be conducted and determined thereby in accordance with the provisions of the law governing such hearing or proceeding.

SEC. 4. Reports.—On or before the first day of January of each year in which a regular session of the legislature is held, the commission shall make and file with the governor a report covering the preceding biennial period, covering the activities of the department, and the receipts and disbursements made thereby. Said report shall be accompanied by the recommendations of the commission with reference to such changes in the laws applying to or affecting industrial and labor conditions as the said commission may deem expedient. Said report shall, if so ordered by the board of State auditors, be printed by the board of State auditors and shall be distributed in such manner and to such persons, organizations, institutions, and officials as the board of State auditors may direct.

SEC. 5. Act in effect.—This act shall take effect on the first day of July, nineteen hundred twenty-one; and all acts or parts of acts in any way contravening the provisions of this act shall be deemed to be superseded and repealed as of said date. All records, files, and other papers belonging to any of the departments, boards, commissions, and offices the duties of which are hereby transferred to the department of labor and industry shall be turned over to said department and shall be continued as a part of the records and files thereof.

MINNESOTA

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 1.—Suits for wages—No property exempt

SECTION 12. No exemption from judgments for wages.—* * * A reasonable amount of property shall be exempt from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability. The amount of such exemption shall be determined by law: Provided, however, That all property so exempted shall be liable to seizure and sale for any debts incurred to any person for work done or materials furnished in the construction, repair, or improvement of the same: And provided further, That such liability to seizure and sale shall also extend to all real property for any debt incurred to any laborer or servant for labor or service performed.

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 2979 (as amended 1923, ch. 78). Attendance required.—[School attendance is required to 16 years of age, but if 14 and help is required in or about the house, children may be excused between April 1 and November 1 except in cities of the first and second class.]

SEC. 2982. Employment during school.—[Knowingly employing during the school session any child unlawfully absent from school is a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 2984. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor is authorized to assist in the enforcement of this act.]

Department of labor and industries

[This department is under the control of the industrial commission of the State: See chapter 81, Acts of 1921. Its duties are devolved on that commission, so that the following sections, so far as not inconsistent with the act of 1921, remain in force.]

SECTION 3813. * * * Appointees.—All other officers and employees of the department except the assistant labor commissioner and one stenographer shall be appointed by the labor commissioner from a list of persons whose competency shall have been certified to by a board of examiners as provided in sections 3 to 7 of this act, and shall remain in office until removed by the commissioner. The assistant labor commissioner and one stenographer shall be appointed by the commissioner without such examination: Provided, That the commissioner of labor upon the removal from office of any officer or employee appointed after examination by the board of examiners, shall file a statement in writing, giving the reasons for said removal, with the secretary of state, which statement shall be open to public inspection. The failure of the commissioner to make and file such statement within five days after such removal shall operate to reinstate such official or employee. No removal of any officer or employee covered by this act shall be made except for neglect of duty, incompetence, insubordination, intoxication or immorality: Provided, That all officers of the department shall hold office until their respective successors qualify.

SEC. 3814. Qualifications.—No person shall be eligible to appointment as a chief factory inspector, elevator inspector, railroad inspector or factory inspector in the department of labor who is not possessed of practical experience and knowledge in and of the operation of such machinery, appliances and work places as he may be called upon to inspect; and every person desiring such an appointment shall be required to pass such a competitive examination touching his general qualifications and his knowledge of the trade and technical phases of the work required in such position as may be deemed necessary by the board of examiners to the proper discharge of the duties of such position. No person shall be appointed to the position of deputy labor commissioner who is not possessed of such qualifications as the board of examiners may determine necessary. No person shall be appointed superintendent of the bureau of women and children who is not competent to investigate and report to the commissioner of labor upon the conditions under which women and children are at work in all factories, workshops, hotels, restaurants, mercantile establishments and other places where women and children are employed, with such recommendations as will promote the health and welfare of the women and children so employed in this State. No person shall be appointed as a local manager or other employee of the State free employment offices who is not possessed of such knowledge as the board of examiners may deem necessary for the proper fulfillment of the duties of such position. No person shall be competent for appointment as statistician in the department of labor who has not demonstrated his competency to the satisfaction of the board of examiners, by his fulfillment of similar duties at a previous time, or, in the absence of, or in addition to previous experience, can not satisfactorily pass such examination as the board of examiners shall provide for the filling of such statistical position. Experts and special agents appointed by the commissioner to assist in statistical or investigation work shall have such qualifications and pass such examinations as the board of examiners may specify. The commissioner of labor shall be empowered to temporarily appoint properly qualified persons who have not passed such examinations as are provided in sections 2 and 3 [3813, 3814] of this act for a period of not to exceed sixty (60) days' duration: Provided, That such appointments may not be renewed at the expiration of said sixty (60) days unless such appointee has passed the regular examination for such position. No person shall be eligible to appointment to any position in the department of labor, who, in addition to passing such examinations or meeting such requirements as are specified by law, is unable to satisfy the board of examiners and the appointing officers of his moral, mental and physical fitness to hold such position.

SEC. 3815. Examiners.—To carry out the provisions of sections 2 and 3 [3813, 3814] of this act a board of examiners is hereby created[,] consisting of the State labor commissioner and two persons appointed by the governor. The labor commissioner shall be an ex-officio member of said board and the other members shall be appointed for a term of two years beginning the first Monday in January of each odd numbered year: Provided, That the first appointments under this section shall be made on or before June 1, 1913. In case of the inability of any member of this board to be present at any examination, the governor shall appoint a competent person to act in his place. The State labor commissioner shall be the secretary of such board and shall keep the records, which shall contain all the proceedings of the board in reference to examinations and of its actions in carrying out the provisions of this act, and all examination papers, which shall be public records. The secretary of the board shall likewise keep and have open to the inspection of the public a list of the names of the persons who are eligible to appointment. Two (2) members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. A chairman shall be elected by the board from its number. No member of the board shall receive any compensation for his services herein required, except his reasonable and necessary expenses, which shall be paid out of the fund appropriated for the maintenance of the department of labor in the same manner as other charges against such fund are paid.

SEC. 3816 (as amended 1919, ch. 109). Examinations.—The board of examiners shall provide suitable lists of questions for such examinations which shall be submitted to the applicants in such manner as the board may determine; and a list shall be made of the successful applicants, from which list the labor commissioner shall make selections for the positions above named. The board also may certify, for promotion or transfer to another position, with or without a competitive examination, any employee who has demonstrated his competency to the satisfaction of the board.

SEC. 3818. Definitions.—The words "factory" and "mill," as used in this chapter, shall mean any premises where water, steam, electrical or other mechanical power is used in the aid of manufacturing or printing process there carried on. The term "workshop," as so used, shall mean any premises, room or place, not factory or mill as above defined, wherein manual labor is exercised by way of trade or for purpose of gain in or incidental to a process of making, altering, repairing, cleaning, ornamenting, finishing or adapting for sale or use any article or part thereof. The term "engineering work," as so used, shall mean any work of construction, operation, alteration, or repair of a railroad or street railway, of the works or offices of any gas, telephone, telegraph, water, electric light, or mining company, or upon any sewer, bridge, tunnel, or building. The term "mercantile establishments" shall mean any wholesale or retail establishment, theater, bowling alley, pool room or other place of amusement, hotels, restaurants, photograph galleries, [and] warehouses. But nothing herein shall interfere with the powers conferred by law upon the railroad and warehouse commissioners or the county mine inspectors.

SEC. 3819 (as amended 1919, ch. 110). Duties and powers.—The department shall enforce all laws regulating the employment of minors and women, the protection of the health, lives, limbs, and rights of the working classes, and those prescribing the qualifications of persons in trades and crafts, and shall be clothed with the same powers for the enforcement of the compulsory education and truancy laws as those conferred on truant officers by section 1448, Revised Laws of 1905. It shall be empowered to gather statistics relating to all branches of labor, to labor troubles and unions, and to the economic and social conditions of the laboring classes. In the discharge of its duties the members and employees of the department may enter any factory, mill, workshop, warehouse, mercantile establishment, office, engineering work or other place where persons are employed, or any office from which such place of employment is directed or managed, at all reasonable times, give such direction as may be necessary to enforce the laws, and remain while engaged in their official duties. They may also enter any place where intoxicating beverages are sold, for the purpose of enforcing the child labor and school attendance laws or other duties imposed upon them. Any member of the department of labor and industries may issue subpœnas and take testimony, and compel the attendance of witnesses, and shall have authority to administer oaths and take testimony under oath, but no person shall be compelled to attend as a witness unless he is paid the fees provided for witnesses in the district court.

The bureau of women and children shall have power to enforce and cause to be enforced, by complaint in any court or otherwise, all laws and local ordinances relating to the health, morals, comfort, and general welfare of women and children.

SEC. 3820. Free employment bureaus.—The department may establish State free employment bureaus in the cities of St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Winona, and one in the northwestern portion of the State, for the purpose of receiving applications from persons seeking employment, and applications from employers desiring to employ labor. There shall be no fee or compensation charged or received, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment, or from those desiring to employ labor through said bureaus. Every application made by an employer or an employee to the free employment bureau shall be void after thirty days from its receipt, unless the same be renewed by the applicant.

The managers of the State free employment offices shall cause to be received and recorded in books kept for that purpose, the names of all persons applying for employment, as well as the addresses of all persons, firms or corporations applying to employ labor, designating opposite the name and address of each applicant the character of employment desired or offered. Such managers shall also perform such other duties pertaining to the work of the State free employment bureau in the collection of labor statistics and in keeping the books and accounts of such bureau as the commissioner may require, and shall report monthly all business transacted by such offices to the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 3821. Reports.—On request of the department, and within the time limited therein, every employer of labor, any officer of a labor organization, or any other person from whom the department of labor shall find it necessary to gather information, shall make a certified report to the department upon blanks furnished by it, of all matters covered by the request. The names of persons or concerns supplying such information shall not be disclosed. Every notice, order, or direction given by the department shall be in writing, signed by any officer or inspector of the department, or a person specially designated for the purpose, and be served by him. Papers so served and all records and documents of the department are hereby declared public documents and shall not be destroyed within two years after their return or receipt by the department.

SEC. 3822. Appeal to courts.—Within ten days after the service of any order or direction of the department, any person aggrieved may apply to a judge of the district court for an order restraining its enforcement, and upon not more than thirty (30) days' notice a hearing may be had before such court, or before three impartial expert referees appointed by the court, who shall file their report within ten days after the hearing. The court may alter, annul or affirm the order or direction complained of; the decision to be based upon the hearing by the court, or upon the report of the referees. Such decision shall take the place of the original order. In cases of affirmance, the losing parties shall pay a reasonable compensation to the referees, to be fixed by the court. In cases of decisions rendered adverse to the order of the department of labor, such compensation shall be paid out of the appropriation for the support of the department.

SEC. 3823. Local ordinances.—Whenever the department learns of a violation of a local ordinance for the protection of employees, it shall give written notice thereof to the proper municipal authorities, and take any steps permissible under the ordinance for its enforcement.

SEC. 3824. Reports.—The department shall report to the legislature at each regular session. Such reports shall contain an account of the doings of the department, the statistics gathered by it; a statement of all violations of law which come to its knowledge, and any proceedings had in consequence; and such recommendations as the commissioner may deem proper. The report shall be printed and distributed as in the case of other executive documents. The commissioner shall also be empowered to issue and have distributed special reports or bulletins on subjects investigated by the department that are of special interest to the welfare and prosperity of the State. Such special reports and bulletins shall be printed as in the case of other executive documents.

SEC. 3825 (as amended 1917, ch. 13). Offenses.—Any officer, agent, or employee of the department who shall disclose the name of any person supplying information at the request of the department shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who, having been duly subpœnaed, shall refuse to attend or testify in any hearing under the direction of said commissioner shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any owner or occupant of any factory, mill, workshop, engineering work, store, or other place enumerated in section 8 [sec. 3819] of this act, or agent of such person, who shall refuse to admit thereto any officer, agent, or employee of the department seeking entrance in the discharge of his duty, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person, firm, or corporation, or any of its officers or agents, who or which shall refuse to file with the department such reports as are required by it under the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3828. Division for deaf.—There shall be created in the bureau of labor a division devoted to the deaf.

SEC. 3829. Chief.—The commissioner of labor shall appoint a competent man to take charge of such division who shall devote his time to the special work of labor for the deaf, under the supervision of the commissioner. He shall collect statistics of the deaf, ascertain what trades or occupations are most suitable for them, and best adapted to promote their interest, and shall use his best efforts to aid them in securing such employment as they may be fitted to engage in.

He shall keep a census of the deaf and obtain facts, information, and statistics as to their condition in life with a view to the betterment of their lot. He shall endeavor to obtain statistics and information of the conditions of labor and employment and education of the deaf in other States with a view to promoting the general welfare of the deaf of this State.

SEC. 3830. Title.—He shall be designated as chief of the bureau of labor for the deaf.

Hours of labor

SECTION 3831 (as amended 1917, ch. 248). Ten-hour day.—Unless a shorter time be agreed upon, or be provided by law, the standard day's work for hire shall be ten hours. Every employer and other person having control who shall compel any person to labor more than ten hours in any one day, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; but persons of sixteen years of age and over, unless expressly forbidden by law, may labor extra hours for extra pay; and this section shall not apply to farm laborers, to domestic servants employed by the week or month, or to persons engaged in the care of live stock.

SEC. 3832 (as amended 1921, ch. 388). Eight-hour day.—No person employed in manual labor upon any work for the State, whether such work be done by contract or otherwise, shall be required or permitted to labor more than eight hours in any calendar day except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood, or danger to life and property, military or naval employment in time of war, and road work.

SEC. 3833. Public contracts.—Every contract made by or in behalf of the State which may involve the employment of labor shall provide in terms for compliance with section 3832, and for the forfeiture by the contractor to the State of ten dollars for each and every violation thereof. Every inspector or other person whose duty it is to see that such contract is duly performed shall report all such violations to the proper disbursing officer, who shall withhold the amounts so forfeited from the contract price. No sum so withheld shall ever be paid unless the disbursing officer shall first certify to the governor, in writing, that the forfeiture was imposed through an error as to the facts. Every State officer, and every person acting for or in behalf of the State, who shall violate any provision of this section or section 3832, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 3839. Employment under 14 years.—[Employment of children under 14 is forbidden in factories, mills, workshops, mines, or building or engineering work; or in any business during any part of the school term.]

SEC. 3840. Employment under 16 years.—[No employment to 16 during sessions of school is permitted unless an employment certificate is kept on file.]

SECS. 3841–3844. Certificates.—[Relate to issue, requirements, etc., of certificates; school records (completion of common school work), proof of age, and physician's certificate of health and fitness are required.]

SEC. 3845. Work time.—[No child under 16 may work more than 48 hours per week or 8 per day, nor between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. Schedule of working hours and meal times must be posted.]

SEC. 3846. Violations.—[Penalties are provided of fines, $25 to $50 for each violation, and added sums for each day's continuance.]

SEC. 3847. Enforcement.—[Officials of the labor department and truant officers may inspect all work places and examine lists.]

SEC. 3848. Dangerous, etc., occupations.—[Employment under 16 in specified dangerous or harmful occupations, or any other employment daugerous to life, health, or morals is forbidden. For similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code. Females under 16 may not be employed to stand constantly.]

SEC. 3849. Messenger service.—[No boy under 18 may act as messenger or delivery boy between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m.; nor may a female under 21 be so employed at any time.]

SEC. 3850. Penalty.—[Failure to produce a physician's certificate on demand of enforcement officers is a misdemeanor.]

Factory regulations—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 3862. Safeguards about machinery, etc.—The intaking side of all engaging-toothed or other gears, rolls, drums and slides of every description ou any type of machine; the spaces between fixed and moving parts of or at any machine, or between the latter or any part of it and structures near it, leaving insufficient clearance for any person employed thereon or near it; all pulleys and clutches; all belts, cables, bands and driving ropes or chains; all fly wheels, shafting, spindles, levers, connecting rods and links, couplings, or projections thereon, or upon reciprocating or moving parts of machines; all counter weights and balance gears and their suspension; all dangerous parts of machinery; all systems of electrical wiring and transmissions, all dynamos and other electrical apparatus and appliances of every description; and all prime movers in any factory, school, mercantile establishment, mill, workshop, engineering operation, or other places where persons are employed, or otherwise engaged, shall be fenced, boxed or otherwise protected to the fullest degree practicable; Provided, however, That the above shall apply only to all machinery and apparatus above described when located less thau six (6) feet above the working floor. All machinery, apparatus, furniture, fixtures, ways, structures, and other equipment shall be so placed or guarded in relation to one another as to be safe for all persons thereabouts employed, and all points which are rendered unsafe by the relative positions of such things shall be securely guarded. Every dangerous place of every description in or near to which any employee is obliged to pass or to be employed, shall be securely fenced, inclosed, or otherwise protected. No grindstone, tool, or appliance, or machine of any description shall be used when the same is known to be cracked or otherwise defective. If a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded, the use thereof may be prohibited by the commissioner of labor or any factory inspector and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used until made safe.

SEC. 3863. Belt shifters.—Every owner of a factory, mill or workshop where machinery is in use shall furnish or cause to be furnished, whenever practicable, belt shifters or other safe mechanical contrivance for the purpose of throwing belts on or off pulleys; and whenever practicable, machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys. Whenever in the opinion of the labor commissioner it becomes necessary, exhaust fans of sufficient power or other devices shall be provided for carrying off dust from emery wheels, grindstones and other dust creating machinery.

SEC. 3864 (as amended 1919, ch. 107). Communication with power room.—Where the machinery in any room is propelled by power transmitted directly from another room or from another building and the machinery in each workroom can not be disconnected and stopped in such workroom, communication shall be provided between each workroom in which machinery is placed and the room in which the engineer or other person having control of the power-generating apparatus is stationed by means of speaking tubes, electric bells, telephones, or appliances that may control the motive power.

SEC. 3865. Distance of moving parts from floor.—No part of the motors, gearing, belts, pulleys, shafts, or clutches or other apparatus conveying the power of a prime mover to machines shall be less than six feet from the floor unless it is securely guarded.

SEC. 3866. Sale of unguarded machinery.—Whenever practicable the points of danger in any machine or mechanism shall be securely guarded by the maker, and the manufacture or sale of any machine or mechanism not so guarded is hereby prohibited.

SEC. 3867. Handrails, etc.—All vats, pans or other receptacles containing molten metal or hot or corrosive liquids, or otherwise dangerous liquids, below the floor level; all pits or other openings in the floor or surface of the ground; all gangways and inclined footways, or other places from which a person might fall; shall be provided with adequate handrails and foot guards or other equally effective protection, and in establishments where women are employed or where it is deemed necessary by the labor commissioner, stairways shall be built solid and without openings between the treads.

SEC. 3868. Lighting.—All stairways and inclined footways, and all points where there is a break or change in the floor level or in the character of the floor surface, where persons may have to walk or pass, and all dangerous places, all prime movers and all moving parts of machinery where, on or about which persons work or pass, or may have to work or pass in emergencies, shall be kept properly and sufficiently lighted during working hours.

SEC. 3869. Removal of guards.—No employees in any factory, mill, workshop, or upon any engineering work, nor any other person, by permission or otherwise, shall remove, displace or destroy any guard for dangerous machinery, or other safety device, which the employer shall have provided under the requirements of this chapter, or any other law, save under rules established by the employer therefor. Safety appliances removed for the purpose of making repairs, adjustments, or for other purposes permitted or required by the employer shall be immediately replaced when such purpose is accomplished.

SEC. 3870. Dangerous occupations for children.—[This section contains a list similar to that in sec. 3848, above. Women are forbidden to oil or clean moving machinery.]

SEC. 3872. Overcrowding.—The floor space in any factory, mill, workshop or mercantile establishment shall not be crowded with machinery in a manner dangerous to the employees, or in excess of the sustaining power of floors or walls, nor be overcrowded with materials or products so as to be a menace to employees or in excess of the sustaining power of the floor and walls.

SEC. 3873. Hoistways, etc.—Every hoisting apparatus used in the construction of any building; every hoistway, hatchway, elevator well, and wheel hole in any factory, mill, workshop, storehouse, wareroom, or store, shall be securely protected on each floor by a substantial barrier at least three feet and six inches high, which shall be kept closed except when necessarily opened for use. Every elevator car used for either freight or passenger shall be provided with some suitable mechanical device by which it can be securely held in the event of accident to the rope or hoisting machinery.

SEC. 3874. Scaffolds, etc.—Whenever practicable, all scaffolds, hoists, cranes, stays, supports, or other mechanical contrivances, erected or constructed by any person, firm or corporation, in this State, for the use in erection, repairing, alteration, removal, cleaning or painting of any house, building, bridge, viaduct, or other structure shall be erected and constructed in a safe, suitable and proper manner, and shall be so erected and constructed, placed and operated, as to give proper and adequate protection to the life and limb of any person or persons employed or engaged thereon, and to any persons or employees passing under or in proximity to the same. Whenever a State factory inspector shall find that the scaffolding or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, irons, or ropes of any swinging or stationary scaffolding, platform, or other similar device, used in the construction, alteration, repairing, removing, cleaning, or painting of buildings, bridges or viaducts within this State, or in factories, workshops, mills, or mercantile establishments, are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to the life or limb of any person, he shall at once notify the person responsible for its creation or maintenance, either personally or by mail, and a notice of danger shall also be affixed to said scaffold, platform or other such device, which shall be made safe before further use. Wherever practicable, scaffolding, staging, runways, oiling platforms and all other overhead walks or standing places among or suspended from an overhead support, or rising from the ground [or] floor and more than five (5) feet from the ground or floor, shall have a safety rail properly bolted or otherwise fastened, secured and braced, rising at least thirty-four (34) inches above the floor of said scaffolding, staging, platform or other overhead walk or standing place, and extending along the entire length of the outside and ends thereof, and properly attached thereto, unless equal protection is afforded in another manner, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure to which it is attached or toward which an employee must work. Persons employed upon swinging scaffolds shall use a life line securely fastened to their persons and to some secure support other than said swinging scaffold.

SEC. 3875. Floors, etc.—All floors, standing places, stairways, inclined footways and ladders and all handrails or similar protection shall be of substantial construction and at all times shall be kept in good order and repair and so as to be firm and safe for the uses to which they are put.

SEC. 3876. Planking.—On all buildings three (3) stories or more in height where floor beams are of iron or steel, the contractor for the iron or steel work of such buildings in the course of construction, or the owners of such buildings, shall plank over the entire tier of iron or steel beams on the floor next below the one on which such structural iron or steel is being erected, except such space as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such iron or steel work, and for the raising and lowering of materials to be used in the construction of such buildings, or such spaces as may be designated by the plans and specifications for stairways, elevator-shafts and other openings.

SEC. 3877. Notices.—The employer shall post such warning notices and instructions and cause dangerous places to be indicated in such manner as the labor commissioner shall require.

SEC. 3878. Exits.—Every building in which laborers are employed shall be provided with sufficient means of escape in case of fire, by more than one way of egress, each of which shall be at all times free from obstruction and ready for immediate use, and every such egress shall be provided with a sign having on it the word "exit" in letters not less than five inches in height and so as plainly to indicate to persons within the building the location of such egresses. Every door leading in or to any such building shall be so constructed as to open outward, when possible, and shall not be so fastened during the working hours as to prevent free egress. Substantial handrails shall be provided on all stairways in every such building.

SEC. 3879 (as amended 1919, ch. 108). Fire escapes.—[Buildings more than two stories high, in which persons are employed, must be supplied with an additional escape for every 100 employees. Types and dimensions are given, and freedom from obstacles directed. Doors to fire escapes must be metal covered, and any glass therein must be wire glass, set in metal frames. Inside and outside standpipes are required, and chemical fire extinguishers; but if an automatic sprinkler system is provided, other apparatus will be required only when deemed necessary by the commissioner of labor. Inflammable waste, etc., must be removed daily.]

SEC. 3880. Notice to employers.—Every order, suggestion, or notice served upon any employer of labor, owner or manager of any building, or other person, shall be certified by a receipt for the same taken by the officer or employee of the labor department serving such order, suggestion, or notice, which receipt shall be signed by the owner, manager or superintendent of said employer. No liability to any person other than an employee shall attach to any owner of any factory, mill, workshop, engineering works, or mercantile establishment, because of the provisions of this act, until notice to comply with the terms of this act has been served upon such owner by an officer or employee of the labor department of this State, and reasonable time to comply with such notice has elapsed.

SEC. 3881. Violation, interference, etc.—Every person who violates or fails to comply with any requirement of this chapter, or disregards any order, notice, or direction of any member or employee of the labor department made in accordance with its provisions, or who obstructs or interferes with any inspection being made pursuant thereto, or who removes from any machine any notice stating that such machine is dangerous and unsafe, or who operates any such machine while such notice is attached and such machine is still unguarded and unsafe, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, the minimum penalty whereof shall be a fine of twenty-five dollars, or imprisonment for fifteen days. But whenever notice is required before prosecution, no criminal proceedings shall be commenced until thirty days after such notice, nor then, if within such time the requirements of the notice have been met: Provided, That if such requirement be to put a water-closet or privy in sanitary condition, where the only defect is due to carelessness in its management, or to put an elevator in safe condition, only forty-eight hours shall be allowed. In case of application to the court to restrain, the time aforesaid shall not begin to run until the decision thereon.

SEC. 3882. Definitions.—The term "prime mover" as used in this act shall include all steam, gas, oil, or other kinds of engines, and also all electrical apparatus which generates, converts, or transmits power.

The words "guards," "guarded," "safeguard," "safeguarded," and "protection," shall be given a broad interpretation, so as to include any practicable method of mitigating or preventing a specific danger.

Guards on corn shredders

SECTION 3884. Guards to be provided.—No person, firm or corporation shall sell, offer or expose for sale any machine to be operated by steam or other power, for the purpose of husking or shredding corn, or corn stalks unless the said machine shall be provided with reasonable safety devices approved by the commissioner of labor for the protection from accidents from the snapping rollers and husking rollers, and shall be so guarded that the person feeding said machine shall be compelled to stand at a reasonable safe distance from the snapping rollers.

SEC. 3885. Prior purchases.—No person, firm or corporation shall use, operate or permit to be used or operated any such machine purchased prior to the passage and publication of this act, unless during all the time such machine shall be used and operated, it shall be in charge of a competent person, whose sole duty shall be to oversee and attend to the operating and use of the same.

Use of basements, etc., as work rooms

SECTION 3888. Basements, etc., not to be used, when.—No basement, cellar, underground apartments, or other place which the commissioner of labor shall condemn as unhealthy and unsuitable shall be used as a workshop, factory or place of business in which any person or persons shall be employed.

SEC. 3889. Violations.—[Violations entail penalties of fine, $25 to $100, or imprisonment 30 to 90 days, or both, for each offense.]

Reports of accidents and industrial poisoning

SECTION 3892 (as amended 1919, ch. 359). Accident reports.—It is hereby made the duty of every employer of labor, engaged in industrial pursuits, to make or cause to be made, report of any accident to an employee, which occurs in the course of his or her employment and which causes death or serious injury, within forty-eight hours of the occurrence of such injury and of all other accidents, which occur to any of its, his or their employees within the scope of their employment, and of which the employer or his foreman has knowledge, within fourteen days after the occurrence of such accident: Provided, That such injuries are sufficient to wholly or partially incapacitate the person injured from labor or service for more than the remainder of the day, shift or turn on which the injury was incurred, which report shall be made in writing to the commissioner of labor of the State, giving:

(a) Name, age, sex and occupation of injured person.

(b) Date on which accident occurred and hour of day.

(c) Whether person injured could speak English.

(d) Occupation of employer.

(e) The cause of injury.

(f) The nature and extent of the injury and the probable length of disability.

(g) The name and address of the attending surgeon.

(h) Wages injured person was earning.

(i) Length of time in service of employer and length of time at employment at which injured.

(j) Dependents or nearest relative, in fatal cases, if known.

Provided, That accidents required to be reported within forty-eight hours may be reported by telegram, telephone or personal notice. The written report of such accident shall then be made within fourteen days or at such time as the commissioner of labor shall designate. The commissioner of labor may require such supplementary reports on any accident as he deems necessary for the securing of the information required by this law.

Provided, further, That when an accident has been reported which subsequently terminates fatally, a supplementary report shall be filed with the commissioner of labor by the employer within forty-eight hours after he receives knowledge of such death, stating that the injury has proved fatal.

SEC. 3893 (as amended 1919, ch. 359). Permanent record.—Copies of all settlements made or releases obtained in respect to industrial accidents occurring in the State of Minnesota shall be filed with the labor commissioner within ten days after such settlements are made and shall become part of the permanent records of the department.

SEC. 3894 (as amended 1919, ch. 359). Filing of records.—The failure to make such reports or file such copies of settlements or releases, on the part of any person, copartnership or corporation required hereby to make or file the same, within the time herein specified, is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3895. Reports as evidence.—No report herein required to be made nor any part thereof, shall be admitted in evidence or referred to at the trial of any action, or in any judicial proceedings whatsoever, except prosecutions for the violation of this act. No such report nor any part thereof, nor any copy of the same, nor any part thereof, shall be open to the public, nor shall any of the contents thereof be disclosed in any manner, by any official or clerk or other employee of the State having access thereto, but the same may be used or State investigations and statistics only. Any such disclosure is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and punishable as such.

SECS. 3896–3898. Insurance reports.—[Insurance companies must furnish to the compensation commissioner details of accidents to employees of employers insured by them.]

SEC. 3899. Physician to report.—Every physician attending on or called in to visit a patient whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic or mercury or their compounds, or from anthrax, or from compressed air illness, contracted as a result of the nature of the patient's employment shall send to the commissioner of labor a notice stating the name and full postal address and place of employment of the patient and the disease from which in the opinion of the physician, the patient is suffering, with such other specific information as may be required by the commissioner of labor and which may be ascertained by the physician in the course of his duties.

SEC. 3900. Violations.—[Failure to comply with the above section entails a fine of $10, or imprisonment not exceeding 10 days.]

SEC. 3901. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to enforce the provisions of this section, and he may call upon the State and local boards of health for assistance.

Blacklisting

SECTION 3902. Interference.—No individual, corporation, member of any firm, or any agent, officer, or employee of any of them, shall contrive or conspire to prevent any person from obtaining or holding any employment, or discharge, or procure or attempt to procure the discharge of, any person from employment, by reason of his having engaged in a strike.

SEC. 3903. Participation in strikes.—No person, whether acting directly or through an agent, or as the agent or employee of another, shall require, as a condition precedent to employment, any written statement as to the participation of the applicant in a strike, or as to his personal record, save as to his conviction of a public offense, for more than one year immediately preceding the date of his application therefor; nor shall any person, acting in any of the aforesaid capacities, use or require blanks or forms of application for employment in contravention of this section.

Employment of women and children—Minimum wage

[The commission created to administer this law was abolished by ch. 84, Acts of 1921, and its powers and duties conferred upon the industrial commission of the State. The law is otherwise the same.]

SECTION 3905. Investigation.—The commission may at its discretion investigate the wages paid to women and minors in any occupation in the State. At the request of not less than one hundred persons engaged in any occupation in which women and minors are employed, the commission shall forthwith make such investigation as herein provided.

SEC. 3906. Register of women and children employed.—Every employer of women and minors shall keep a register of the names and addresses of and wages paid to all women and minors employed by him, together with number of hours that they are employed per day or per week; and every such employer shall on request permit the commission or any of its members or agents to inspect such register.

SEC. 3907. Hearings.—The commission shall specify times to hold public hearings at which employers, employees, or other interested persons may appear and give testimony as to wages, profits and other pertinent conditions of the occupation or industry. The commission or any member thereof shall have power to subpœna witnesses, to administer oaths, and to compel the production of books, papers, and other evidence. Witnesses subpœnaed by the commission may be allowed such compensation for travel and attendance as the commission may deem reasonable, to an amount not exceeding the usual mileage and per diem allowed by our courts in civil cases.

SEC. 3908. Fixing minimum wage.—If after investigation of any occupation the commission is of the opinion that the wages paid to one-sixth or more of the women or minors employed therein are less than living wages, the commission shall forthwith proceed to establish legal minimum rates of wages for said occupation, as hereinafter described and provided.

SEC. 3909 (as amended 1923, ch. 153). Minimum wage powers.—The Industrial Commission of Minnesota shall determine the minimum wages sufficient for living wages for women and minors of ordinary ability and also the minimum wages sufficient for living wages for learners and apprentices. The commission shall then issue an order to be effective thirty days thereafter, making the wages thus determined the minimum wages in said occupation throughout the State, or within any area of the State if differences in the cost of living warrant this restriction.

Such order shall be published in one issue of a daily newspaper of general circulation published in each city of the first-class, at least 20 days before the ame takes affect [effect], and proof of such publication as required in the publication of legal notices, together with the original order shall be filed with the commission. A copy of such order and of the proofs of publication, duly certified by the secretary of said commission, shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of such order and the contents thereof, and of the facts of publication as contained in such certified copies, and the certificate of the secretary of said commission shall be prima facie evidence of the filing and of other acts required by law in relation to said order.

The commission shall mail to each employer affected by said order, whose name and address is known to the commission, a copy or copies of said order with such general or particular directions for posting the same as the commission may determine, and such employer shall post such order or orders and keep the same posted in his factory or place where women or minors are employed, as required by said commission: Provided, however, That failure to mail such orders to any employer affected thereby shall not relieve such employer from the duty to comply with such order in relation to the payment of a wage not less than the minimum prescribed in such order.

SEC. 3910. Advisory boards.—The commission may at its discretion establish in any occupation an advisory board which shall serve without pay, consisting of not less than three nor more than ten persons representing employers, and an equal number of persons representing the workers in said occupation, and of one or more disinterested persons appointed by the commission to represent the public; but the number of representatives of the public shall not exceed the number of representatives of either of the other parties. At least one-fifth of the membership of any advisory board shall be composed of women, and at least one of the representatives of the public shall be a woman. The commission shall make rules and regulations governing the selection of members and the modes of procedure of the advisory boards, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions arising with reference to the validity of the procedure and determination of said boards: Provided, That the selection of members representing employers and employees shall be, so far as practicable, through election by employers and employees, respectively.

SEC. 3911. Duties of boards.—Each advisory board shall have the same power as the commission to subpœna witnesses, administer oaths, and compel the production of books, papers, and other evidence. Witnesses subpœnaed by an advisory board shall be allowed the same compensation as when subpœnaed by the commission. Each advisory board shall recommend to the commission an estimate of the minimum wages, whether by time rate or by price [piece] rate, sufficient for living wages for women and minors of ordinary ability, and an estimate of the minimum wages sufficient for living wages for learners and apprentices. A majority of the entire membership of an advisory board shall be necessary and sufficient to recommend wage estimates to the commission.

SEC. 3912. Approval of estimates by commission.—Upon receipt of such estimates of wages from an advisory board, the commission shall review the same, and if it approves them shall make them the minimum wages in said occupation, as provided in section 3909. Such wages shall be regarded as determined by the commission itself and the order of the commission putting them into effect shall have the same force and authority as though the wages were determined without the assistance of an advisory board.

SEC. 3913. Review of rates.—All rates of wages ordered by the commission shall remain in force until new rates are determined and established by the commission. At the request of approximately one-fourth of the employers or employees in an occupation, the commission must reconsider the rates already established therein and may, if it sees fit, order new rates of minimum wages for said occupation. The commission may likewise reconsider old rates and order new minimum rates on its own initiative.

SEC. 3914. Special licenses.—For any occupation in which a minimum time rate of wages only has been ordered the commission may issue to a woman physically defective a special license authorizing her employment at a wage less than the general minimum ordered in said occupation; and the commission may fix a special wage for such person: Provided, That the number of such persons shall not exceed one-tenth of the whole number of workers in any establishment.

SEC. 3915. Employment at less than minimum forbidden.—Every employer in any occupation is hereby prohibited from employing any worker at less than the living wage or minimum wage as defined in this act and determined in an order of the commission; and it shall be unlawful for any employer to employ any worker at less than said living or minimum wage.

SEC. 3916. Discrimination.—It shall likewise be unlawful for any employer to discharge or in any manner discriminate against any employee because such employee has testified, or is about to testify, or because such employer believes that said employee is about to testify, in any investigation or proceeding relative to the enforcement of this act.

SEC. 3917. Actions.—Any worker who receives less than the minimum wage ordered by the commission shall be entitled to recover in civil action the full amount due as measured by said order of the commission, together with costs and attorney's fees to be fixed by the court, notwithstanding any agreement to work for a lesser wage.

SEC. 3918. Enforcement.—The commission shall enforce the provisions of this act, and determine all questions arising thereunder, except as otherwise herein provided.

SEC. 3919. Reports.—The commission shall biennially make a report of its work to the governor and the State legislature, and such reports shall be printed and distributed as in the case of other executive documents.

SEC. 3920. Compensation.—The members of the commission shall be reimbursed for traveling and other necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties on the commission. The woman member shall receive a salary of eighteen hundred dollars annually for her work as secretary. All claims of the commission for expenses necessarily incurred in the administration of this act, but not exceeding the annual appropriation hereinafter provided, shall be presented to the State auditor for payment by warrant upon the State treasurer.

SEC. 3921. Appropriation.—There is appropriated out of any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated for the fiscal year ending July 31st, 1914, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00), and for the fiscal year ending July 31st, 1915, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00).

SEC. 3922. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines, $10 to $50, or imprisonment 10 to 60 days.]

SEC. 3923. Definitions.—Throughout this act the following words and phrases as used herein shall be considered to have the following meanings respectively, unless the context clearly indicates a different meaning in the connection used:

(1) The terms "living wage" or "living wages" shall mean wages sufficient to maintain the worker in health and supply him with the necessary comforts and conditions of reasonable life; and where the words "minimum wage" or "minimum wages" are used in this act, the same shall be deemed to have the same meaning as "living wage" or "living wages."

(2) The term "rate" or "rates" shall mean rate or rates of wages.

(3) The term "commission" shall mean the minimum wage commission.

(4) The term "woman" shall mean a person of the female sex eighteen years of age or over.

(5) The term "minor" shall mean a male person under the age of twenty-one years, or a female person under the age of eighteen years.

(6) The terms "learner" and "apprentice" may mean either a woman or a minor.

(7) The terms "worker" or "employee" may mean a woman, a minor, a learner, or an apprentice, who is employed for wages.

(8) The term "occupation" shall mean any business, industry, trade, or branch of a trade in which woman [women] or minors are employed.

NOTE.—This act is a reasonable exercise of the police power of the State in behalf of the public welfare; without deciding that such a law applied to men would be valid, the principles involved as applied to the employment of women and minors are upheld; nor is there an unlawful delegation of authority to the administrative commission. Williams v. Evans, 165 N. W. 495.

Mine regulations—Inspection

SECTION 3924. Inspectors.—[The commissioners of any county in which there are five or more mines may appoint an inspector.]

SEC. 3925 (as amended 1921, ch. 7). Qualifications.—[Such inspectors must have experience and give bond for the faithful discharge of their duties. Minimum salary $3,600 and $900 expenses.]

SECS. 3926–3928. Duties and powers.—[Inspectors may require the alteration of defective conditions and require employees to leave dangerous places until made safe except for ordinary risks. Employers must permit inspection.]

SEC. 3930. Inspection on demand.—[If 20 or more employees notify the inspector that his services are needed he must immediately act to secure conditions to safety.]

SEC. 3931. Accidents.—[Accidents involving loss of life or serious personal injury must be reported to the inspector who may investigate and order necessary changes to prevent recurrence.]

SEC. 3932. Timber.—[Prescribes duty of owner to furnish props, etc.]

SEC. 3933. Removing guards, etc.—[Removal of guards, fences, etc., whereby accident or damage results is a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 3934 (as amended 1923, chs. 41, 62). Reports.—[Annual reports must be made to the State commissioner of labor of operations, output, accidents, number of employees, wages, etc.]

Private employment offices

SECTION 3937. License.—[No office may be operated without a license from the local authorities. Fee for a general license is $150, for male employees only, $100, and for females only $75. Bond in the amount of $2,000 for the first and second classes, and of $1,000 for third is required.]

SEC. 3938. Records.—[Records must be kept of all placements made, showing names, date, nature of work, wages, etc. No fee may be charged unless a bona fide order from an employer is on record. Records must be open to inspection.]

Accidents on railroads

SECTIONS 4233–4235. Report of accidents.—[Railroad companies must report to the railroad and warehouse commission all accidents occurring in the State. These may be investigated and remedial changes ordered.]

Railroads—Safety provisions

SECTION 4273 (as amended 1915, ch. 171). Structures near tracks.—[No structure shall be within eight feet from the center line of any railroad track, and no wires, bridges, etc., shall be maintained at a less height than twenty-one feet measured from the top of the track rail. Not to apply to yards and terminals, except in cases of injury or death of employee injured or killed because of such structures.]

SEC. 4274 (as amended 1915, ch. 171). Special cases.—The railroad and warehouse commission may upon application made, after a thorough investigation in any particular case or class of cases, permit any common carrier to which this act applies to erect any overhead or side obstruction at a less distance from the track than herein provided for, when in the judgment of said commission a compliance within the clearness prescribed herein would be unreasonable or unnecessary.

SEC. 4275. Distance between tracks.—On and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any such common carrier to construct any track used for the purpose of moving any cars engaged in the movement of traffic within the regulative power of this State, where the center line of such track is at a distance of less than fourteen feet from the center line of any other parallel track which it adjoins.

SEC. 4276. Switching tracks.—Section four [4275] of this act shall not be construed as applying to tracks to be used wholly for the purpose of switching or storing cars, but the tracks which are to be used for such purpose shall not be constructed in closer proximity to each other than thirteen (13) feet measured from the center line of any such track to the center line of any parallel track which it adjoins: Provided, That the distance between said tracks specified in sections four and five [4275, 4276] of this act may be diminished or closed up a necessary distance for track intersections, turnouts and switch points.

SEC. 4277. Obstructions between tracks.—On and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any such common carrier to permit the space between such of its tracks as are ordinarily used by yardmen and other employees in the discharge of their duties, to become or remain obstructed by any foreign obstacle that will interfere with the work of said employees or subject said employees to unnecessary hazard. Such space between or beside said tracks as aforesaid, and between the rails of said tracks must be kept in such condition as to permit said employees to pass over or between said tracks or to use the same by day or night and under all weather conditions without unnecessary hazard, * * * .

SEC. 4278. Violations.—[Violations of this act are punishable by fine of $500 for each and any such violation, each day constituting a separate offense.]

SEC. 4279. Duty of inspectors.—It shall be the duty of the railroad inspectors of the bureau of labor, industries and commerce, to report to the railroad and warehouse commission and to the attorney general any violation of the provisions of this act of which they may obtain knowledge.

SEC. 4280. Assumption of risk, etc.—Any employee of said common carrier who, while in the performance of his duty and while engaged in any commerce mentioned subject to the regulative power of this act in section one [4272] may be injured or killed by reason of a violation of section six [4277] of this act, or by reason of any structure or obstruction erected or maintained prior to the passage of this act, or in violation of the provisions of this act, in closer proximity to the rails than hereinbefore provided, shall not be deemed to have assumed the risk thereby occasioned or to have been guilty of contributory negligence although the employee continued in the employ of such common carrier after the use of such permanent overhead or side structure or obstruction of any kind or character mentioned in this act shall have been brought to his knowledge; and an exercise of the permission provided for in section 3 [4274] of this act shall be at the sole risk of the carrier.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 4427. Acts of fellow servants.—Every company owning or operating, as a common carrier or otherwise, a railroad, shall be liable for all damages sustained within this State by any agent or servant thereof, without contributory negligence on his part, by reason of the negligence of any other servant thereof, and no contract, nor any rule or regulation of such company, shall impair or limit such liability. But this section shall not be so contrued as to render any railroad company liable for damages sustained by any such agent or servant while engaged in the construction of a new road, or any part thereof, not open to public travel or use.

This statute applies only to those employees of a railroad who are exposed to the peculiar hazards connected with the use and operation of the road. 43 Minn. 222.

Was held to include a workman on a warehouse, injured by the negligence of one moving a train. 98 N. W. Rep. 241.

A section hand operating a hand car is within the protection of this section. 45 Minn. 355.

So is one injured by the negligent dropping of a rail which he and another were carrying. 67 N. W. Rep. 804.

A car cleaner, injured by the negligence of a switching crew, can recover. 70 Fed. Rep. 15.

This section does not change the rule as to the burden of proof of contributory negligence, but leaves it on the defendant. 48 Minn. 391.

The negligence of a fellow servant constitutes no defense in an action by an employee to recover damages. 12 U. S. App. 662.

A temporary track on which cars are run for the purpose of filling in low land is not a new road within the proviso of the above section. 42 Minn. 68.

The provisions of this section do not extend to a private road constructed and used solely for the owner's business as a logging road. 113 Fed. Rep. 382.

The supreme court of the State, in a decision of practically the same date with the above, held that the statute does apply to private logging roads. 89 N. W. Rep. 68.

It applies to a mining road using a small locomotive and dump cars. 100 N. W. Rep. 681.

This section does not apply to street railways. 63 N. W. Rep. 1099.

Nor does it cover the operations of a steam shovel in a gravel pit, on a detached track. 104 N. W. Rep. 1079.

A receiver of a railroad is bound by its provisions. 65 N. W. Rep. 260.

Labor camps—Sanitation, etc.

SECTION 4640 (as amended 1923, ch. 227). Industrial camps.—[The State board of health is given the power to regulate, among other things, "the construction, equipment and maintenance in respect to sanitary conditions of lumber camps and other industrial camps."]

Payment of wages—Extension of time

SECTION 7005. Agreements to be in writing.—Every agreement extending the time of payment for manual labor, performed or to be performed in cutting, hauling, banking, or driving logs, beyond the time of the completion of such labor, shall be void, unless such agreement, expressing the consideration, be in writing subscribed by the party to be charged therewith, and unless, at the time of making such agreement or completing such labor, the person for whom it is to be or has been performed deliver to such laborer his negotiable promissory note for payment of the agreed compensation, with interest. Every lien allowed by law on account of such labor shall pass by the transfer of such note, and be enforceable by the holder thereof.

Wages as preferred claims—In attachments, etc.

SECTION 7077. Wages preferred.—[Earnings for six months, not exceeding $200, prior to an attachment, shall be a lien on all the property of the employer, preferred to all other liens or claims attaching after the beginning of the labor, and is not affected by waiver.]

SEC. 7079. Same.—[A similar lien exists "as against all other creditors," in case of the death, dissolution or insolvency of an employer.]

Place of suits for wages

SECTION 7720. Suit to be brought in place of work.—An action for the recovery of wages or money due for manual labor may be brought in the county in which such labor was performed; and when so brought the venue of such action shall not be changed to another county without the written consent of the plaintiff filed with the court.

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 7809. Negligent employee may be named.—In actions for damages resulting from the negligence of a fellow servant or coemployee of the person injured, if either party shall so request before the case is submitted to the jury, the court shall direct the jury, if they find for the plaintiff, to name or otherwise designate, in their verdict such fellow servant or coemployee. If the name be not disclosed by the evidence, he shall be described by the designation of his employment or by such other identification as the case will permit: Provided, That this section shall not apply to cases where the name or description is not so disclosed.

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 7951 (as amended 1915, ch. 202). Amount.—[Wages not exceeding $35 earned within 30 days prior to an attachment, etc., are exempt. The earnings of the debtor's minor child can not be levied on unless the debt was incurred for such child's special benefit.]

Suits for wages—Costs

SECTION 7975. Costs allowed, when.—Whenever any person having employed another to perform any labor or service, shall neglect or refuse for thirty days after the same is due and payment demanded to pay the agreed price, or the reasonable value if there be no agreement, and the same shall be recovered by action, there shall be allowed to the plaintiff, and included in his judgment, in addition to his disbursments allowed by law, five dollars costs if the judgment be recovered in a justice court and a like sum if the judgment be recovered in a municipal court where no statutory costs are now allowed in such municipal court in such action, and double costs in all other actions wherein costs are recoverable or on appeal.

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments

SECTION 8333. Rank.—[Wages of servants, laborers, mechanics and clerks for 3 months preceding any assignment rank next after the costs of the assignment and debts, taxes and assessments owing to the United States or the State.]

Interference with employment—Conspiracy

SECTION 8595. Conspiracy.—Whenever two or more persons shall conspire—

* * * * * * *

5. To prevent another from exercising any lawful trade or calling, or from doing any other lawful act, by force, threats, intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with tools, implements, or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use or employment thereof;

6. Or to commit any act injurious to the public health, public morals, trade, or commerce, or for the perversion or obstruction of public justice or the due administration of the laws—

Every such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 8596. What punishable.—No conspiracy, except one of those enumerated in section 8595, shall be punished criminally. * * * The orderly and peaceable assembling or cooperation of persons employed in any calling, trade, or handicraft, for the purpose of obtaining an advance in the rate of wages or compensation, or of maintaining such rate, is not conspiracy.

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 8682. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[Forbids the employment of children in acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations. For the text of a similar law see sec. 2223, Delaware Code.]

Labor organizations—Forgery of certificates, etc.

SECTION 8839. Forgery.—Every person who—

4. With intent to defraud, shall forge, alter, or counterfeit any certificate, card, seal, or receipt for dues, purporting to have been given or issued by any association of railway employees, or any labor organization, trade union, or association of mechanics or laboring men, or any officer or agent thereof, to its members;

5. With intent to defraud, shall forge, alter, or counterfeit any letter or certificate purporting to have been given by any corporation or person, or officer or agent thereof, showing the capacity in which he had been employed by such corporation or person, or the date and cause of his leaving such service;

6. With intent to defraud, shall utter or publish as true any false, altered, forged, or counterfeit letter, certificate, card, seal, or receipt, the forging, altering, or counterfeiting of which is herein prohibited—

Shall be guilty of forgery in the third degree.

Extortion—Withholding wages

SECTION 8889. Extortion.—* * * Every person indebted to another for labor, or any agent of any person, copartnership, or corporation so indebted, who, with intent to secure a discount upon such indebtedness, shall wilfully refuse to pay the same, or falsely deny the amount or validity thereof, or that the same is due; * * * shall be guilty of extortion, and punished by imprisonment in the State prison for not more than five years.

Employment—Wage payments—Interference—Blacklisting

SECTION 8890 (as amended 1921, ch. 389). Restraining from membership.—It shall be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation, or any agent, officer, or employee thereof, to coerce, require, or influence any person to enter into any agreement, written or verbal, not to join, become, or remain a member of any lawful labor organization or association, as a condition of securing or retaining employment with such person, firm, or corporation.

It shall be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation, or any officer or employee thereof, to coerce, require, or influence any person to contribute or pay to any person, company, or corporation, or any officer or employee thereof, any sum of money or other valuable thing for the sole purpose of securing or retaining employment with such person, firm, or corporation.

It shall be unlawful for any two or more corporations or employers to combine, agree to combine, or confer together for the purpose of interfering with any person in procuring, or in preventing him from procuring, employment, or to secure the discharge of any employee by threats, promises, circulating black lists, or any other means whatsoever. It shall be unlawful for any company or corporation, or any agent or employee thereof, to blacklist any discharged employee, or by word or writing seek to prevent, hinder, or restrain a discharged employee, or one who has voluntarily left its employ, from obtaining employment elsewhere.

Every person and corporation violating any of the foregoing provisions shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

NOTE.—The provision undertaking to restrict the action of employers as to membership in labor organizations was declared unconstitutional in 1912, following the decision of the Supreme Court on a similar law. State v. Daniels, 118 Minn. 155, 136 N. W. 584. The provision making it unlawful for two or more employers to combine or confer to prevent employment is not unconstitutional, and if one so confers and prevents, without excuse or justification, the employment of a workman, he is liable to such workman for damages. State v. Justus, 85 Minn. 279, 88 N. W. 759; Joyce v. Great Northern R. Co., 100 Minn. 225, 110 N. W. 975.

SEC. 8904 (as amended 1923, ch. 272). False representations.—It shall be unlawful for any person, partnership, company, corporation, association, or organization of any kind, doing business in this State, directly or through any agent or attorney, to induce, influence, persuade, or engage any person to change from one place to another in this State, or to change from any place in any State, Territory or county to any place in this State, to work in any branch of labor through or by means of knowingly false representations, whether spoken, written, or advertised in printed form, concerning the kind or character of such work, the compensation therefor, the sanitary conditions relating to or surrounding it, or failure to state in any advertisement, proposal or contract for the employment that there is a strike or lockout at the place of the proposed employment, when in fact such a strike or lockout then actually exists in such employment at such place. Any such unlawful acts shall be deemed a false advertisement or misrepresentation for the purposes of this act.

Sec. 8905 (as amended 1923, ch. 272). Violations; damages.—Any person, firm, association, or corporation violating any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who shall be influenced[,] induced, or persuaded to enter or change his employment or change his place of employment through or by means of any of the things prohibited in section "1" [8904] hereof, shall have a right of action for the recovery of all damages that he shall have sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representations, false advertising or false pretenses used to induce him to enter into or change his place of employment against any person, firm[,] association, or corporation directly or indirectly causing such damage; and in addition to all such actual damages such person may have sustained, shall have the right to recover such reasonable attorneys' fees as the court shall fix to be taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

Smoking in factories

Section 8948. Smoking prohibited, when.—Every person who shall light a pipe or cigar in, or shall enter with a lighted pipe or cigar, any mill or other building on which is posted in a conspicuous place, over or near each principal entrance, a notice, in plain, legible characters, stating that no smoking is allowed in such building, and every person who shall deface, destroy, or remove any such notice, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished for each such offense by a fine of ten dollars.

Protection of employees as voters

Section 9005. Rights of employees.—Every person who, on his own account, or as a member of a copartnership, or as an officer or member of a corporation, foreign or domestic, shall require or demand of any employee, under any conditions whatsoever, the surrender, in writing or by parol, of any natural right or any right or privilege of citizenship, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. Violations of this section may be prosecuted by the county attorney of any county, or the prosecuting officer of any municipality.

Protection of employees on street railways

Section 9019. Vestibules required.—It shall be unlawful to operate any street car by electricity, steam, or cable, upon or over any street railway, unless the same is so constructed as to protect the motorman or gripman from the inclemency of the weather. Every person or corporation owning or operating any street railway who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars for each day of such violation.

Contracts of employment—Repayment of advances

Section 9021. Fraud.—Every employee who, with intent to defraud, having received transportation from his employer from any point in this State to or in the direction of a place where he has agreed with such employer to perform labor or render services, or who, with intent to defraud, having received the benefit of other pecuniary advancement from the employer under his agreement to perform labor or render services in repayment of the cost of such transportation or amount of such advancement, refuses or neglects to perform such labor or render such services to the full value of the transportation furnished or advancement made, or to repay to such employer such transportation or advancement in money, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars or by imprisonment for not more than sixty nor less than ten days. The failure or refusal of any such employee to perform such labor or render such services in accordance with his contract, or pay in money the amount paid for such transportation or such advancement, shall be prima facie evidence of his intent to defraud, and the value of such labor or services shall be determined by the price so agreed to be paid such employee therefor.

CHAPTER 29 (as amended by chapter 37, Acts of 1915).—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 1. To whom law applies.—All public service corporations doing business within this State are required to pay their employees at least semimonthly, the wages earned by them to within fifteen (15) days of the date of such payment, unless prevented by inevitable casualty:

Provided, however, That whenever an employee shall be discharged, his wages shall be paid to him at the time of his discharge or whenever he shall demand the same thereafter.

SEC. 2. Neglecting to pay.—Whenever any public service corporation shall for five days neglect or refuse to pay its employees as prescribed by section 1 of this act, the wages due them may be recovered by action without further demand, and there shall be allowed to the plaintiff, and included in his judgment, in addition to his disbursements allowed by law, five dollars costs if the judgment be recovered in a justice court, and a like sum if the judgment be recovered in a municipal court, where no statutory costs are now allowed in such municipal court in such action, and double costs in all other courts or on appeal.

CHAPTER 105.—Payment of wages—Nonpayment by contractors

SECTION 1. Misuse of funds.—Any contractor or subcontractor on any improvement to real estate within the meaning of section 7020, General Statutes 1913, who, with intent to defraud, shall use the proceeds of any payment made to him on account of such improvement by the owner of such real estate or person having any improvement made, for any other purpose than the payment for labor, skill, material and machinery contributed to such improvement, while any such labor performed, or skill, material or machinery furnished for such improvement at the time of such payment remains unpaid for, shall be guilty of larceny of the proceeds of such payment so used.

NOTE.—This statute is not class legislation, nor does it subject offenders to imprisonment for debt. State v. Harris, 158 N. W. 829.

CHAPTER 187.—Employers' liability—Railroad companies

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 333). Liability declared.—Every company, person or corporation owning or operating, as a common carrier or otherwise, a steam railroad or railway in the State of Minnesota, shall be liable in damages to any employee suffering injury while engaged in such employment; or, in case of death of such employee, to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and if none, then to such employee's parents; and if none, then the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents or employees of such employer, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to the employer's negligence.

The damages recoverable in case of death to be distributed to the parties in interest in the same proportion as personal property of persons dying intestate.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1923, ch. 333). Who may sue.—Every company, person or corporation owning or operating, as a common carrier or otherwise, a steam railroad or railway in the State of Minnesota, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is engaged in the line of his employment, or in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents or employees of such employer, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency in such employer's appliances, machinery or apparatus furnished.

Sec. 3. Contributory negligence to be measured.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such employer under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, to recover damages for personal injury to the employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such employer of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

Sec. 4. Assumed risks.—In any action brought against any employer under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover for injuries to or the death of any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by the employer of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

Sec. 5. Contracting out.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any employer to exempt such employer from any liability created by this act, shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such employer under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, such employer may set off therein any sum he has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or the persons entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

Sec. 7 (as amended 1923, ch. 333). Survival of action.—Any right of action given by this act to a person suffering injury shall survive to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of any such employee; and if none, then of such employee's parents; and if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, but in such cases there shall be only one recovery for the same injury.

Sec. 8. Limitation.—No action shall be maintained under this act unless commenced within two years from the day the cause of action accrues.

Chapter 211.—Preference of domestic products for use on public buildings

Section 1. Preference.—In any and all buildings hereafter erected by the State of Minnesota, or to the erection of which the State of Minnesota has granted aid, preference shall always be given in the erection thereof to materials produced or manufactured in the State of Minnesota by citizens or residents thereof wherever practicable: Provided, That in the building and erecting of foundations, steps, approaches, and the outer walls of any and all such buildings, materials produced and manufactured in the State of Minnesota by citizens and residents thereof only shall be used: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to metal lath or Portland cement necessarily used in any such foundations, steps, approaches, or outer walls.

Sec. 2. Exception.—[Exempts existing contracts and additions to buildings and groups of buildings.]

Sec. 3. Proviso.—[Law not to apply if State producers, etc., combine to fix prices.]

Chapter 113.—Free public employment offices—Cooperative maintenance

Section 1. Power of commissioner of labor.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized and empowered to cooperate with the Federal Government in the establishment, and maintenance within the State of Minnesota, of one or more employment bureaus for the purpose of bringing together the man and the job. Said commissioner is also authorized and empowered to cooperate in a similar way, and for the same purpose with a municipality or municipalities, or with the Federal Government and any municipalities.

Such cooperative employment bureaus, when established, shall be under the joint management of the cooperating parties, and the cost and expense of establishing and carrying on any such bureau, shall be borne by the cooperating parties, upon an equitable basis to be agreed upon between them.

CHAPTER 348.—Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 1. Orders to be negotiable.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation other than public-service corporations to issue to any employee in lieu of or in payment of any salary or wages earned by such employee, a nonnegotiable time check or order. Any person, firm, or corporation so issuing a nonnegotiable instrument in lieu of or in payment of such salary or wages earned, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 493.—Labor organizations—Injunctions

SECTION 1. Organizations lawful.—It shall not be unlawful for working men and women to organize themselves into, or carry on labor unions for the purpose of lessening the hours of labor or increasing the wages or bettering the conditions of the members of such organizations; or carrying out their legitimate purposes as freely as they could do if acting singly.

SEC. 2. Injunctions limited.—No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of this State, or any judge or judges thereof in any case between an employer and employees or between employer[s] and employees or between employees or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property, or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property right must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant or by his agent or attorney.

SEC. 3. What may not be prohibited.—No restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons, whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment or from ceasing to perform any work or labor; or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or from attending at any place where any person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or from peacefully persuading any such person to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize any party to such dispute; or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful and lawful means, so to do; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peaceably assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by a single individual; or [nor] shall any of the acts specified in this section be considered or held to be illegal or unlawful in any court of the State.

SEC. 4. Labor not a commodity.—The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce, and the right to enter into the relation of employer and employee, or to change that relation; or to assume and create a new relation for employer and employee; or to perform and carry on business with any person in any place; or to work and labor as an employee, shall be held and construed to be a personal, and not a property right. In all cases involving the violation of the contract of employment, either by the employee or employer where no irreparable damage is about to be committed upon the property or property right of either, no injunction shall be granted, but the parties shall be left to their remedy at law.

SEC. 5. Agreements not indictable.—No person shall be indicted, prosecuted, or tried in any court of this State for entering into or carrying on any arrangement, agreement, or combination between themselves made with a view of lessening the number of hours of labor or increasing wages or bettering the condition of workingmen, or for any act done in pursuance thereof, unless such act is in itself forbidden by law if done by a single individual.

SEC. 6. When act does not apply.—Nothing in this act shall hamper or curtail or in any manner take away the power of the executive department of government, or of the courts where there is threatened any irreparable injury to business or property by reason of violence, threats, or other unlawful acts, or where criminal syndicalism, as hereinafter defined, or the acts constituting the same, are involved; and criminal syndicalism is hereby defined to be the doctrine which advocates crime, sabotage, violence, or other unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial, social, or political reform.

[An act of the Massachusetts Legislature, quite similar to the foregoing (ch. 778, Acts of 1914), was held unconstitutional by the supreme judicial court of that State. Bogni v. Perotti (1916), 112 N. E. 853; Bul. No. 224, p. 181.]

CHAPTER 40.—Hours of labor of public employees—Eight-hour day

SECTION 1. Limit of eight hours.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, mechanics, prison guards, janitors of public institutions, or other persons now employed or who may hereafter be employed by or on behalf of the State of Minnesota, except in cases of extraordinary emergency which may arise in time of war, or in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property or human life.

CHAPTER 84.—Factory, etc., regulations—Foundries

SECTION 1. Definition.—An iron or steel foundry shall mean a place where iron or steel, or both metals, are melted and poured into sand molds in the making of castings, together with all cleaning, core-making, drying, and wash rooms and toilet rooms used in connection therewith.

The term "entrance" as used in this act shall mean main doorways opening directly to the outer air.

The term "gangway" as used in this act shall mean well-defined passageways dividing the working floors of foundries, but not the spaces between molds. Spaces between molds shall be divided into three classes, which shall be known as "bull-ladle aisles," "hand-ladle aisles," and "buggy-ladle aisles."

SEC. 2. Effect of law.—Except as otherwise specified, the provisions of this act shall, as to the subjects covered herein, exempt foundries from the laws relating to factories and workshops.

SEC. 3. Entrances.—Entrances to foundries shall be protected from November first to April first of each year by a covered vestibule, either stationary or movable, which shall be so constructed as to eliminate drafts and of such dimensions as to answer ordinary purposes, such as the passage of wheelbarrows, trucks, and small industrial cars: Provided, This shall not apply to entrances used for railroad or industrial cars handled by locomotives or motors, or for traveling cranes; or for vehicles, or for large industrial cars moved by hand; these entrances may remain open only for such time as is necessary for the ingress and egress of such cars, truck, and trains.

No locomotives shall be permitted to remain inside the foundry during the loading or unloading of the cars.

SEC. 4. Gangways.—Main gangways where metal is carried by hand, bull or truck ladles shall be not less than five feet wide. Truck-ladle gangways which are not main gangways shall be not less than four feet wide. Bull-ladle aisles between floors shall be not less than three feet wide. Single hand-ladle or buggy-ladle aisles between floors shall be not less than eighteen inches wide. Where trolleys are used over molding floors for pouring metal, the aisles shall be of sufficient width to permit the safe ingress and egress of employees and the safe use of the ladles. The provisions of this section shall apply to all foundries hereafter established. In existing foundries, where it is impractical to widen the gangways and aisles to the width required in this section, the commissioner of labor, or his assistants, may permit gangways and aisles to be of a narrower width.

SEC. 5. Same.—During the progress of casting, every gangway or aisle shall be kept entirely free from pools of water or obstructions of any nature. Every gangway where industrial tracks are used shall be constructed of a hard material of substantial character, and the top of the rails shll be flush with the floor. Every gangway shall be kept in a good and safe condition at all times.

SEC. 6. Ventilation.—Where smoke, steam, gases, or dust arising from any of the operations of the foundry are dangerous to the health or eyes, and where a natural circulation of air does not carry off the greater part of such smoke, steam, gases or dust, there shall be installed and operated adequate mechanical means of ventilation.

SEC. 7. Cleaning castings.—The cleaning and chipping of castings shall be done in cleaning rooms, except that castings may, when necessary, be chipped or cleaned in the molding room or where cast, provided sufficient protection is furnished by the use of a curtain or screen, or some other means equally good, to protect employees therein.

This section shall not apply if mechanical appliances are used for cleaning castings and the dust and particles arising therefrom are effectively removed.

SEC. 8. Same.—Where tumbler mills are used, exhaust systems shall be installed to effectively carry off the dust arising from the cleaning of castings, except where the mill is operated outside the foundry. This section shall not prohibit the use of a water barrel for cleaning castings. Sand blast operations shall be carried on in the open air or in a separate room used solely for that purpose. The milling of cupola cinders, when done inside the foundry, shall be carried on by an exhaust mill or water mill.

SEC. 9. Use of compressed air.—No cores shall be blown out of castings by compressed air unless such work is done outside the foundry or in a special or dust proof inclosure. Employees engaged in cleaning castings by compressed air or sand blast shall wear eye guards and helmets, to be furnished by the employer.

SEC. 10. Ventilation.—When fumes, gases, and smoke are emitted from drying ovens in such quantities as to be detrimental to the health or eyes of the employees, hoods and pipes or other adequate means of ventilation shall be provided.

SEC. 11. Lighting.—Where natural light is insufficient to properly light the foundry, artificial light of sufficient power shall be provided.

The continuous use of hand torches or other lamps that emit injurious smoke and gases is prohibited.

SEC. 12. Heat.—Proper and sufficient heat shall be provided and maintained in every foundry. The use of the open salamander stove, or stoves of that type, for heating purposes, shall be prohibited, except in cases of emergency.

SEC. 13. Ladles.—All hand and bull ladles shall be dried outside the foundry, or in accordance with section 6 of this act. A sufficient number of sheet-iron shields shall be available in foundries for use in covering hand and bull ladles.

SEC. 14. Drying clothing.—Suitable facilities shall be provided for drying the clothing of such employees as may be found necessary.

SECS. 15, 16. Toilets.—[Suitable toilets must be provided at foundries, protected from the weather, and separate for the sexes, in ratios ranging from one to 10 employees in small establishments, to one for 25 employees where 80 or more persons are employed.]

SEC. 17. Lockers.—Individual lockers, arranged for locking, shall be provided for employees, and shall be placed either in a room used exclusively for that purpose, in the wash room, in the drying room, or at convenient places in the foundry. The necessity for individual lockers shall be determined by the commissioner of labor or his assistants.

SEC. 18. Inspection of tools.—Ladles, shanks, tongs, slings and yokes, skimmers and slag hoes used in the pouring of molten metals shall, prior to their use, be inspected daily as to their safety by the men preparing and using same; and in addition, a regular inspection as to their safety shall be made once a month by a man designated for that purpose.

A monthly inspection shall also be made of the chains and cables on counterweights in connection with drying ovens, and reports of such inspection shall be made on prescribed forms and be kept on file for examination by the State actory inspector.

SEC. 19. Use of drop.—The breaking of castings by the use of a drop inside the foundry during the general working hours is prohibited. Where a drop is used for the breaking of castings or scrap outside of the foundry, a permanent shield of heavy planking or other adequate protection shall be provided.

SEC. 20. Females.—No female shall be employed in placing cores into ovens or in taking cores out of the ovens.

SEC. 21. Same.—No female employed in any core-making room shall be permitted to make or handle cores when the combined weight of core, core box, and plate at which she is working shall exceed twenty-five (25) pounds.

SEC. 22. Brass foundries.—A brass foundry shall mean a place where brass, aluminum, copper, tin, zinc, gold, silver, or composition metals contalning any of the foregoing metals are melted or poured into sand molds in the making of castings: Provided, That foundries where only aluminum is melted shall be covered by the provision of this act governing iron and steel foundries.

The term "cellar," when used in this act, shall mean a room or part of a building which is one-half or more of its height below the level of the curb on the ground adjoining the building (excluding areaways).

The term "basement," when used in this act, shall mean a room or a part of a building which is one-half or more of its height above the level of the curb.

SEC. 23. Ventilation, etc.—The provisions of this act relative to dust, smoke gases or fumes, ventilation, sanitation, heat, light, gangways and aisles, safety appliances, drying and locker accommodations, as specified for iron and steel foundries, shall apply to brass foundries.

SEC. 24. Platforms.—In all brass foundries, when the crown plate of an upright melting furnace is elevated above the surrounding floor in excess of twelve inches, the furnace shall be equipped with a platform with a standard rail; such platform shall be constructed of metal or other fireproof material, and shall extend along the front and sides of the furnace, flush with the crown plate, and shall be at least four feet in width, and shall be clear of all obstructions during pouring time. If the platform is elevated above the floor in excess of twelve inches, the lowering from same of crucibles containing molten metal shall be done by mechanical means.

Where the combined weight of crucible, tongs, and molten metal exceeds two hundred fifty pounds, the same shall be removed from the furnace and deposited on the floor by mechanical means.

SEC. 25. Guards.—All persons removing pots containing molten metal from furnaces and handling same shall be provided with protection for legs and feet.

SEC. 26. Floor scrapings.—In all brass foundries gangway dirt and floor scrapings shall not be riddled in the room where workmen are employed, unless they are so dampened as to prevent dust arising therefrom.

SEC. 27. Stoves.—Stoves used for drying molds, when located in the rooms used by workmen, shall be surrounded by a casing of fireproof material to the full height of the stove.

SEC. 28. Height of rooms.—No brass foundry shall hereafter be constructed with a clearance of less than fourteen feet between the lowest point of the ceiling and the floor, except that where a peak, saw tooth, monitor, or arch roof is constructed the side walls may be of a minimum height of twelve feet.

SEC. 29. Cellar foundries.—In case any foundry that was legally operated in a cellar or basement on January 1st, 1919, shall be discontinued or unused for a period of more than four consecutive months, it can thereafter be reopened as a foundry only by complying with all the provisions of this act relating to future foundries. The occasional operation of a foundry for the purpose of evading this section shall not be deemed a continuance of use thereof.

SEC. 30. Enforcement.—The commissioner of labor and his assistants shall enforce the provisions of this act. Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall, if after written notice by the commissioner of labor or his assistants, of such violation they shall not after thirty days have complied with such notice, be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred ($100) dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding ninety (90) days. If an employee neglects to use the devices furnished under the provisions of this act he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding ten dollars or imprisonment for not exceeding ten days.

CHAPTER 175.—Payment of wages due at end of employment

SECTION 1. Discharged employees.—Whenever any person, firm, company, association, or corporation employing labor within this State discharges a servant or employee from his employment, the wages actually earned and unpaid at the time of such discharge shall become immediately due and payable, upon demand of such employee, at the usual place of payment, and if not paid within twenty-four hours after such demand, whether such employment was by the day, hour, week, month, or piece, such discharged employee may charge and collect wages at the rate agreed upon in the contract of employment, for such period, not exceeding fifteen days (after the expiration of said twenty-four hours) and the employer is in default, until full payment or other settlement, satisfactory to said discharged employee, is made.

SEC. 2. Employees leaving employment.—Whenever any such employee (not having a contract for a definite period of service) quits or resigns his employment, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of such quitting or resignation shall become due and payable within five days thereafter, at the usual place of payment, and any such employer failing or refusing to pay such wages, after they so become due, upon the demand of such employee at such place of payment, shall be liable to such employee from the date of such demand for an additional sum equal to the wages provided in said contract of employment, for every day (not, however, exceeding fifteen days in all), until such payment or other settlement satisfactory to said employee, is made: Provided, That if any employee having such a contract as is above defined, gives not less than five days' written notice to his employer of his intention to quit such employment, the wages of the employee giving such notice shall become due at the usual place of payment twenty-four hours after he so quits or resigns, and payment thereof may be demanded accordingly, and the penalty herein provided shall apply in such case from the date of such demand: Provided further, That if the employer disputes the amount of wages claimed by such employee under the provisions of this or the preceding section, and the employer in such case makes a legal tender of the amount which he in good faith claims to be due, he shall not be liable for any sum greater than the amount so tendered and interest thereon at the legal rate, unless, in an action brought in a court having jurisdiction, such employee recovers a greater sum than the amount so tendered with such interest thereon; and if, in such suit, said employee fails to recover a greater sum than that so tendered with such interest as aforesaid, he shall pay the cost of such suit; otherwise the cost thereof shall be paid by said employer: Provided further, That in cases where such discharged or quitting employee was, during his employment intrusted with the collection, disbursement, or handling of money or property, the employer shall have ten secular days after the termination of the employment, to audit and adjust the accounts of such employee before his or her wages shall become due and payable, and the penalty herein provided shall apply in such case only from the date of demand made after the expiration of such period allowed for such audit and adjustment; and if, upon such audit and adjustment of said accounts of such employee, it is found that any money or property intrusted to him by his employer has not been properly accounted for or paid over to the employer, as provided by the terms of the contract of employment, such employee shall not be entitled to the benefit of this act, but the claim for earned and unpaid wages of such employee, if any, shall be disposed of as provided by existing law.

SEC. 3. Absent, etc., employees.—No such servant or employee who secretes or absents himself to avoid payment to him, or refuses to receive the same when fully tendered, shall be entitled to any benefit under this act for such time as he so avoids payment: Provided, When any number of employees enter upon a strike, the wages due such striking employees at the time of entering upon such strike shall not become due until the next regular pay day after the commencement of such strike.

SEC. 4. Exceptions.—This act shall not be construed to apply to any person employed exclusively as a farm laborer, nor to any employer or an individual, copartnership, or corporation that is bankrupt, or where a receiver or trustee is acting under the direction of the court. Payment or tender by check drawn on a bank situated in the county where a laborer is employed shall be a sufficient payment or tender to comply with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5. Costs.—In any action by any such employee as is described in this act, for the recovery of unpaid wages after the time when such wages shall have become due, as herein provided, there shall be allowed to the plaintiff, and included in any judgment rendered in his favor, in addition to his disbursement allowed by law, if the judgment be recovered in a justice court, five dollars cost, and a like sum if the judgment be recovered in a municipal court and such plaintiff shall be allowed double statutory costs in any such action in any court in which statutory costs are now allowed by law in ordinary actions.

SECTION 1. Division established.—There is hereby established, under the direction and control of the State board for vocational education, a division for the training and instruction of persons whose capacity to earn a living has in any way been destroyed or impaired through industrial accident or otherwise: Provided, That at the time when the accident or disability was incurred they were residents or citizens of the State of Minnesota. The said board shall in its regular reports to the legislature describe in deail the work of the division and may from time to time issue bulletins coutaining information relative thereto.

SEC. 2. Employees.—The employees of the said division shall be appointed and their salaries determined by the said board. The division shall be furnished with suitable quarters in the State capitol, and the board may expend for salaries and other necessary expeuses of such division such amounts as shall be appropriated by the legislature.

SEC. 3. Cooperation.—The State board for vocational education and the department of labor and industries, or any agency which may succeed it in the administration or supervision of the workmen's compensation act, shall formulate a plan of cooperation with reference to the work of said division. Such plan shall be effective only when approved by the governor of the State.

SEC. 4. Duties.—The said division shall aid persons who are incapacitated as described in section one in obtaining such education, training, and employment as will tend to restore their capacity to earn a livelihood. The division may cooperate with the United States Government, and as a part of such cooperatiou may extend the benefits of this act to any civil employee of the United States disabled while in the performance of his duty, without regard to the residence or citizenship of such employee, if in the judgment of the board the benefits offered by the Federal Government are sufficient to compensate for the cost. The division may of its own accord, establish or maintain, or in cooperation with local boards of education, assist in establishing or maintaining such courses as it may deem expedient, and otherwise may act in such manner as it may deem necessary to accomplish the purposes of this act.

CHAPTER 388.—Accident, etc., insurance—Deductions from wages of employees

SECTION 1. License required.—From and after the first day of July, 1919, no employer shall, by agreement with his employees or otherwise, make deductions from their wages for the purpose of furnishing them with medical or hospital care, accident, sickness, or old age insurance or benefits, either directly or through a mutual association, unless he has first received from the commissioner of insurance of this State a license for the benefit plau he operates or proposes to operate. Such license shall be granted by the commissioner of insuraunce only when he is satisfied that the benefits given are commensurate with the charges made, and that the said charges are sufficient to keep the fund solvent. All such licenses shall be for the period of one year and it shall be proper for the commissioner to require a statement of the operation of the fund, on a form to be prescribed by him before granting a renewal. The fee for any license granted under this act shall be one dollar ($1) and the fee for filing the annual statement one dollar ($1): Provided, That in any case before granting a license the commissioner of insurance shall submit the proposed plan to the commissioner of labor and industries iu order that he may determine whether the benefits are in conjunction with benefits under the workmen's compensation act and take such action as is required by section 8227, General Statutes of 1913, as amended by section 15, chapter 209, General Laws of 1915 [relating to the iusurance of risks by employers under the compensation act].

SEC. 2. Violations.—Any person, firm, corporation, or associatiou that makes deductions from the wages of his, their, or its employees in violation of section 1 of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, That this act shall not apply to railroad companies engaged in interstate commerce.

SECTION 1. Owner to employ operator, when.—In any building occupied in whole or in part for factories, workshops, or offices, by two or more tenants, and in which building two or more tenants use jointly the same elevator for the purpose of moviug persons or freight from one floor to another, it shall be the duty of the owner of such building to provide a competent person or persons to regularly operate such elevator, and no other person shall operate such elevator: Provided, That such owner may arrange by agreement with one or more of such tenants to provide a regular operator or operators to run such elevator.

SEC. 2. Locks.—Every elevator or the entrance to such elevator in any building mentioned in section 1 shall be provided with a lock or fastening device which shall prevent the use of such elevator except by a person authorized to operate the same, and such lock or fastening device shall be applied by the operator to the controlling apparatus or gate of such elevator before leaving the elevator without an authorized attendant.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and his assistant, whenever they find an elevator in use in violation of this act, to seal the entrances of such elevator and attach a notice forbidding the use of such elevator until the provisions of this act are complied with. Any person, firm, or corporation who violates any of the provisions of this act, or who removes any seal or notice forbidding the use of such elevator except by authority of the commissioner of labor, or who operates such elevator after a notice has been attached forbidding the use of such elevator except after such notice has been removed by authority of the commissioner of labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

SECTION 1. Scope of act.—The term "all places of employment" as used in this act shall means any place, either inside or outside, where any business or industry is carried on and in which persons are employed and shall include factories, mills, workshops, laundries, dyeing and cleaning establishments, mercantile establishments, offices and office buildings, hotels, restaurants, theaters and other places of amusement, transportation systems, public utilities, engineering works, the erection of buildings, and yards; but shall not be construed to apply to domestic service or agricultural labor.

SEC. 2. Cleanliness.—In all places of employment it shall be the duty of the employer to keep the floors and walls of buildings or parts of buildings, the grounds surrounding such buildings, and the machinery, fixtures, and utensils in such buildings, over which he may have control, in as clean and sanitary a condition as the nature of the industry will permit. Where wet processes are used, the floors must be so drained that there is no measurable depth of water in which employees must stand while working. Where practicable, dry standing room must be provided for all employees. Suitable receptacles shall be provided and used for the storage of waste and refuse; such receptacles shall be maintained in a sanitary condition. All waste, refuse, sweepings, and decomposed matter shall be removed from such buildings daily, and in such manner as not to cause a nuisance. All cleaning shall be done, as far as possible, out of working hours; but if done during working hours, shall be done in such a manner as to avoid unnecessary raising of dust or noxious odors. All such places of employment shall be well drained and the plumbing thereof at all times kept in proper repair and in a clean and sanitary condition. In all such places of employment the floors shall be scrubbed and the walls cleaned whenever and so often as the commissioner of labor deems it necessary.

SEC. 4. Ventilation.—In every place of employment the employer shall provide in each workroom thereof, proper and sufficient means of ventilation, and shall maintain proper and sufficient ventilation. If excessive smoke, steam, gas, fumes, vapors, dust, or other impurities are created or generated by the manufacturing process or handicraft carried on therein, in sufficient quantities to obstruct the vision, or to be irritating, obnoxious, or injurious to the health or safety of the employees therein, the room shall be ventilated in such manner as to remove them or render them harmless, so far as is practicable. If in the opinion of the commissioner of labor it is deemed necessary, he may order the installation of exhaust fans and other mechanical means of a proper construction to effectively remove from the point of origin such smoke, steam, gases, fumes, vapors, dust or other impurities. If the removal of such smoke, steam, gases, fumes, vapors, dust, or other impurities is, because of the nature of the process, impracticable, the commissioner of labor may, if he deems it necessary to the health of the workers in any place of employment, order the isolation of such process or handicraft in a separate room or building.

SEC. 5. Air space.—No more employees shall be required or permitted to work in a room in any place of employment than will allow to each of such employees not less than four hundred (400) cubic feet of air space, unless by a written permit of the commissioner of labor such amount of air space for each employee may temporarily be reduced to not less than two hundred fifty (250) cubic feet of air space: Provided, That no such permit shall be issued for a room in which smoke, gas, fumes, dust, or vapors are generated or in which there are fires consuming oxygen.

SEC. 6. Warmth.—In every place of employment the workrooms shall, so far as the nature of the industry will permit, be properly heated during cold weather. In every place of employment where excessive heat be created in any of the workrooms by the nature of the process therein carried on it shall be the duty of the employer to provide heat deflectors, exhaust fans, and such other mechanical means that are necessary to protect from the heat and to carry off, so far as practicable, such excessive heat and to cool off such workrooms. After the passage of this act it shall be unlawful in any place of employment to establish any process or handicraft which creates excessive heat in any workroom the ceiling of which is less than eight feet from the floor of such workroom or the floor of any balcony in such workroom.

The use of salamanders or other heaters that discharge smoke or gas into a workroom in which workers are employed is prohibited.

SECS. 7–14. Toilets; wash rooms, etc.—[Toilets must be provided in all places of employment, with separate accommodations for the sexes. If sewer connections are available, they must be so connected; if not, closets must be at least 25 feet from and easily accessible to the places of employment, with a covered passageway where the employment involves excessive heat, humidity or fatigue. Proper screening, cleanliness, etc., are prescribed. Ratios of numbers of conveniences are fixed. Washing facilities must be provided, with individual towels, supplied by the employer. If poisonous or injurious materials are handled, or workers are exposed to oil, grease, or soot, hot and cold water and soap must be supplied. Where a change of clothing is necessary, suitable dressing rooms must be furnished, with separate accommodations; and if poisonous compounds are handled, facilities for hanging and storing garments must be such as to prevent the contact of garments with each other. Such rooms must be separated from toilet rooms, and have outside ventilation.]

SEC. 15. Place to eat.—In every place of employment it shall be unlawful to keep or eat any food in a room in which the dust or fumes of poisonous compounds are present. In such places of employment the employer shall provide a suitable place in which employees may eat their meals. No employee engaged in handling such poisonous compounds shall go out or be allowed to go out for lunch or to eat his or her lunch on the premises without first washing his or her hands, and, if necessary, washing his or her face.

SEC. 16. Seats for females.—In all places of employment where women are employed, the employer thereof shall provide and maintain suitable seats, with proper backs where practicable, for the use of such women employees, and permit the use thereof by such employees to such an extent as may be reasonable for the preservation of their health. In all places where women are engaged in work which can be properly performed in a sitting posture, suitable seats, with backs where practicable, shall be supplied in every factory for the use of all such women employees and permitted to be used at such work. The commissioner of labor may determine when seats, with or without backs, are necessary and the number thereof.

SEC. 17. Drinking water.—Every place of employment shall provide, without expense to the employees, an adequate supply of pure drinking water. When practicable, ice used for cooling purposes shall be applied in such manner that the ice itself will not come in contact with the drinking water, and the water from the melting ice shall not become mixed with the drinking water. In all places of employment where no running water can be provided, the receptacle for holding the drinking water shall at all times be kept in a clean and sanitary condition and must be kept covered to prevent dust or impurities from entering such receptacle.

SEC. 18. Joint occupation.—Whenever any building is occupied by more than one place of employment and the halls, stairs, toilets, or other portions of the building are used jointly by more than one tenant, or in which conditions prohibited by this act are jointly created by more than one tenant, it shall be the duty of the owner of such building to carry out the provisions of this act: Provided, That the owner of any such building may arrange by agreement, with one or more of his tenants to assume a responsibility for carrying out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 19. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to enforce the provisions of this act. Thirty (30) days' notice shall be given for any new installations required by this act before any criminal proceeding shall be commenced; but the commissioner of labor may, for good cause shown, extend the time to a longer period. All orders to place toilets, floors, and receptacles in a sanitary condition shall be complied with in forty-eight (48) hours. Any persons, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this act, or failing to comply, in the time specified, with any order of the commissioner of labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment at the discretion of the court. Any person, firm, or corporation aggrieved at any order of the commissioner of labor issued pursuant to this act may apply for a restraining order to the district court in the manner and as provided in section 3822, General Statutes of 1913.

CHAPTER 81.—Industrial commission

SECTION 1. Department continued.—The department of labor and industries is hereby continued as a department of the State government, under the control and management of the industrial commission of Minnesota, hereinafter created, and the office of commissioner of labor is hereby abolished.

SEC. 2. Commission created.—There is hereby created a commission to be known as the "Industrial Commission of Minnesota," hereinafter called the commission. The commission shall be composed of three commissioners who shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The first three commissioners shall be appointed within thirty (30) days after the passage of this act and before the adjournment of the present legislature, if practicable. One shall be appointed for a term commencing March 15, 1921, and ending June 30, 1923; one for a term commencing March 15, 1921, and ending June 30, 1925; and one for a term commencing March 15, 1921, and ending June 30, 1927; and thereafter each commissioner shall be appointed for a term of six years. Not more than two commissioners shall belong to the same political party. Inasmuch as the duties to be performed by such commission vitally concern the employers, employees, as well as the whole people of the State, it is hereby declared to be the purpose of this act that persons be appointed as commissioners who shall fairly represent the interests of all concerned in its administration. Any vacancy on the commission shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate for the unexpired portion of the term in which the vacancy occurs.

SEC. 3. Salaries, etc.—Each commissioner shall receive an annual salary of $4,500, payable in the same manner that other State salaries are paid. Each commissioner shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office. The commissioner whose term first expires shall be chairman. Each commissioner, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take the oath prescribed by law.

SEC. 4. Removal from office.—The governor may at any time remove a commissioner for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. Before such removal he shall give such commissioner a copy of the charges against him and fix a time when he shall be heard in his own defense, which shall not be less than ten days thereafter, and such hearing shall be open to the public. If such commissioner shall be removed, the governor shall file in the office of the secretary of state a complete copy of all the charges made against such commissioner and his findings thereon, with a record of the proceedings. Such power of removal shall be absolute and there shall be no right of review in any court whatsoever.

SEC. 5. Political action.—Every commissioner and every officer or employee of the commission, who by solicitation or otherwise exerts his influence, directly or indirectly, to induce other officers or employees of the State to adopt his political views, or to favor any particular person or candidate for office, or to contribute funds for campaign or political purposes, shall be removed from his office or position by the authority appointing him.

SEC. 6. Office.—The commission shall keep its office at St. Paul and shall be provided by the custodian of State property with suitable rooms and necessary furniture. The commission may, however, hold sessions at any other place in the State when the convenience of the commission and the parties interested so requires.

SEC. 7. Organization.—Upon the taking effect of this act, the commission shall meet at the State capitol and organize. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the exercise of the powers conferred and the duties imposed on the commission. A vacancy shall not impair the right of the remaining commissioners to exercise all the powers and perform all of the duties of the commission.

SEC. 8. Office to be open.—The department of labor and industries shall be open for the transaction of business during all business hours of each and every day, excepting Sundays and legal holidays. The sessions of the commission shall be open to the public and may be adjourned from time to time. All the proceedings of the commission shall be shown on its records, which shall be public records.

SEC. 9. Seal.—The commission shall have a seal for the authentication of its orders and proceedings, upon which shall be inscribed the words "Industrial Commission of Minnesota—Seal," and such other design as the commission may prescribe. The courts of this State shall take judicial notice of such seal and of the signatures of the chairman and the secretary of the commission; and in all cases copies of orders, proceedings, or records of the commission, certified by the secretary of the commission under its seal, shall be received in evidence, with the same force and effect given to the originals.

SEC. 10. Secretary.—The commission shall appoint a secretary, who shall receive an annual salary not exceeding $3,500, and who shall hold office at the pleasure of the commission. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep a full and true record of all proceedings of the commission, to issue all necessary processes, writs, warrants, and notices which the commission is required or authorized to issue, and generally to perform such other duties as the commision may prescribe.

SEC. 11. Staff.—The commission may appoint with complete and absolute power of removal such division heads or chiefs, deputy division heads, or chiefs, managers, assistant managers, superintendents, officers, agents, architects, accountants, experts, engineers, physicians, and referees as may be necessary for the exercise of its powers and the performance of its duties; and subject to the provisions of General Statutes 1913, sections 3813, 3814, 3815, 3816, which shall be applied as far as applicable may also appoint such statisticians, inspectors, deputy inspectors, and other employees, and assistants as may be necessary for the exercise of its powers and the performance of its duties. The commission shall prescribe the duties and fix the salaries of all such appointees which shall not exceed in the aggregate the amount appropriated by the legislature for that purpose. All persons holding positions in the department of labor and industries or under the State board of arbitration on June 1, 1921, shall be transferred by the commission to the department of labor and industries as herein constituted, and assigned to such positions and duties as the commission may designate.

SEC. 12. Expenses.—The commission and the officers, assistants, and employees of the commission shall be paid out of the State treasury their actual and necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the commission. Vouchers for such expenses shall be itemized and sworn to by the persons incurring the expense, and be subject to the approval of the commission.

SEC. 13. Powers transferred.—On and after June 1, 1921, the commission shall possess all the powers and perform all the duties now conferred and imposed by law on the department of labor and industries and the State board of arbitration except that any power or duty vested in the commissioner of labor at the time of the taking effect of this act and requiring individual action, shall, on the taking effect of this act, be exercised or performed by such member of the commission, or officer or employee of the department, as shall be designated by the commission. The State board of arbitration, as now constituted, is hereby abolished.

SEC. 14. Divisions.—The department of labor and industries shall consist of the following divisions, to wit: Division of workmen's compensation, division of boiler inspection, division of accident prevention, division of statistics, division of women and children, division of employment, division of mediation and arbitration, and such other divisions as the commission may deem necessary and establish. Each division of the department and persons in charge thereof shall be subject to the supervision and direction of the commission and of any commissioner assigned to supervise the work of such division, and, in addition to such duties as are or may be imposed on them by statute, shall perform such other duties as may be assigned to them by the commission.

SEC. 15. Powers and duties.—The commission shall have the following powers and duties:

(1) Workmen's compensation.—To exercise such powers and perform such duties concerning the administration of the workmen's compensation laws of the State as may be conferred and imposed on it by such laws.

(2) Inspection, etc.—To exercise all powers and perform all duties now conferred and imposed on the department of labor and industries as heretofore constituted, and the bureaus of such department, so far as consistent with the provisions of this act.

(3) Employment agencies.—To establish and conduct free employment agencies, and after the first day of June, 1921, to supervise the work of private employment offices all as now provided by law; to make known the opportunities for self-employment in this State, to aid in inducing minors to undertake promising skilled employments, to encourage wage earners to insure themselves against distress from unemployment, to investigate the extent and causes of unemployment in the State and remedy therefor, and to devise and adopt the most efficient means in its power to avoid unemployment.

(4) Labor disputes.—To promote the voluntary arbitration, mediation, and conciliation of disputes between employers and employees in order to avoid strikes, lockouts, boycotts, black lists, discriminations, and legal proceedings in matters of employment. In pursuance of this duty it may appoint temporary boards of arbitration or conciliation, provide the necessary expenses of such boards, order reasonable compensation not exceeding $15 per day for each member engaged in such arbitration or conciliation, prescribe rules of procedure for such arbitration or conciliation boards, conduct investigations and hearings, issue or publish statements, findings of facts, conclusions, reports, and advertisements, and may do all other things convenient and necessary to accomplish the purposes directed in this act. The commission may designate a subordinate, to be known as chief mediator, and may detail other assistants or employees for the purpose of executing these provisions, without extra compensation. In order to carry out the provisions of this subsection the industrial commission, or any commissioner thereof, the chief mediator or any temporary board of conciliation or arbitration, shall have power to administer oaths to witnesses and to issue subpœnas for the attendance of witnesses; and if any person refuses to comply with any subpœna issued by the commission a commissioner, the chief mediator, or a temporary board of conciliation or arbitration, or if any witness refuses to testify regarding that about which he may be lawfully interrogated, the judge of any district court of any county in the State, on application of the commission or of a commissioner, shall compel obedience by attachment proceedings as for contempt, as in the case of the disobedience of a subpœna issued by such court.

(5) Rules.—To adopt reasonable and proper rules and regulations relative to the exercise of its powers and duties, and proper rules to govern its proceedings and to regulate the mode and manner of all investigations and hearings. But such rules and regulations shall not be effective until ten days after their adoption. A copy of such rules and regulations shall be delivered to every citizen making application therefor.

(6) Statistics.—To collect, collate, and publish statistical and other information relating to the work under its jurisdiction and to make public reports in its judgment necessary. On or before the first Monday in January of each year the commission shall report its doings, conclusions, and recommendations to the governor, which report shall be printed and distributed biennially to the members of the legislature and otherwise as the commission may direct.

(7) Branch offices.—To establish and maintain branch offices as needed for the conduct of its affairs.

CHAPTER 83.—Inspection of steam boilers

SECTIONS 1–6. Division created.—[This act created a division of boiler inspection in the department of labor and industries, terminating the board of boiler inspectors and the offices of chief and deputy inspector, transferring their duties and powers to the newly created division.]

CHAPTER 84.—Minimum wage commission

SECTIONS 1–3. Transfer of powers.—[This chapter abolished the minimum wage commission and transferred its duties and powers to the division of women and children in the department of labor and industries.]

CHAPTER 113.—Factory, etc., regulations—Safety provisions

SECTION 1. Goggles, etc., required.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor in this State to require or permit any employee to engage in any occupation or process of employment in which there is danger of serious injury to the eyes of such employees or of surrounding workmen from flying objects or particles thrown by machines or tools or from the splashing of hot substances or chemicals, unless and until the employer shall furnish to each employee subjected to such hazard goggles, helmets, or other practical protective devices to prevent such injuries.

SEC. 2. Duty of employees.—It shall be unlawful for any employee to engage in any occupation or process of employment mentioned in section 1 of this act unless he shall wear or use the protective devices furnished by the employer during the entire time he is engaged in such occupation or employment.

SEC. 2½. Exceptions.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to persons employed in steam and electric transportations.

SEC. 3. Design.—The goggles and helmets required in section 1 of this act shall be of a design and material approved by the commissioner of labor for the purposes required, and shall be furnished separately for each employee using them without cost to such employee, and no employee shall be required nor shall he use the goggles or helmet furnished to another until the same has been adequately sterilized to prevent the transmission of diseases.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violations of above sections entail a fine of not less than $25, or imprisonment not less than 15 days. Violations shall not affect right to compensation for injury sustained by neglect to comply with requirements. Act shall not apply to nor include farm labor.]

CHAPTER 318.—Employment of children in street trades

SECTION 1. Children in street trades.—[Forbids boys under 16 or girls under 18 engaging in street trades in cities of the first, second or third class, except that boys 14 to 16 entitled under the laws of the State may secure permits and badges allowing them to so engage between 5 a. m. and 8 p. m.; and boys 12 to 16 on proof of age and physical fitness may have permits for work between 5 a. m. and 8 p. m. when the schools are not in session.]

SEC. 2. Permits.—[Boys holding permits may sell extra newspapers after 8 p. m. unless forbidden by a curfew law.]

SEC. 3. Badges.—[A deposit of 25 cents is required for badges, which are not transferable.]

SEC. 4. Enforcement.—[Enforcement rests with the school attendance officers.]

SEC. 5. Permits and badges recalled.—[Permits and badges may be recalled in the direction of the issuing officer.]

SEC. 6. Proviso.—[This act does not apply to regularly employed carriers.]

CHAPTER 429.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTIONS 1, 2. Aid to certain children.—[This act permits aid from the poor fund of the county to be given children of compulsory school attendance age where it is claimed that their labor is necessary to their own support or the support of those entitled to their services.]

CHAPTER 436.—Vocational rehabilitation

SECTION 1.—Information available.—The employees of the division of reeducation and placement of disabled persons created by chapter 365, Laws 1919, shall have the right to receive from the railroad and warehouse commission under section 4233, General Statutes 1913, the names and addresses of persons injured. No information obtained from such reports nor any copy of the same shall be open to the public, nor shall any of the contents thereof be disclosed in any manner by any official or clerk or other employee of the State having access thereto, but the same may be used solely to enable the division to offer the benefits of reeducation to the persons injured.

SEC. 2. Confidential.—Any disclosure prohibited by section 1 is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and punishable as such.

CHAPTER 298.—Weekly day of rest

SECTION 1. Six days a week.—No person shall be employed in, or about, any mechanical or mercantile establishment, factory, foundry, laundry, power plant or stationary boiler or engine room, in this State, more than six days in any one week: Provided, however, That this act shall not apply to employees of any common carrier by steam or gasoline or electric railway, nor employees of hospitals, clinics, sanitoriums or dispensaries who are directly employed in the care of the sick nor to the employees of any telegraph or telephone company or employees engaged in conducting the telegraph or telephone business, nor to employees of any undertaker, undertaking establishment, cemetery association or company, nor to employees of newspaper plants, nor to employees in any canning factory or establishment, nor to employees engaged in the burning of kilns in potteries, sewer pipes or brick and tile factories where continuous fire is necessary, nor to employees in any creamery or cheese factory, in any town, village or city of the third or fourth class, nor employees engaged in the burning of lime or hydrating of lime, nor employees engaged in the manufacture of salt or refining of salt, nor to places of public amusements, nor to automobile garages, repair shops and oil filling stations, nor to licensed pharmacists or assistant pharmacists, nor to persons engaged in caring for live stock, nor to any employee working in or in connection with any flour mill or the operation thereof or in or in connection with the milling industry or carrying on the same, nor heating plants in any building or edifice, when only one person is employed therein, nor to works of necessity or emergency whether caused by fire, flood, or danger to life and property, or otherwise, nor to those engaged in military or naval service. Whenever the industrial commission shall determine, after investigation upon application of an employer that an extraordinary rush in the business, industry, or establishment of such employer requires the employees thereof or therein during any season or period of any calendar year to work more than six days a week in order to meet the demands of such business, industry or establishment, or its patrons, an emergency within the meaning of such term as used in this act, shall be deemed to exist therein: Provided, however, That there shall not be more than one such period or season and the same shall not continue for more than three consecutive months in any one calendar year: And provided, That no employee shall in any such case be required to work more than six days within any one week without his consent: And provided further, That it shall be the duty of the industrial commission, upon application of any employer in such form as the commission shall prescribe, as herein provided, to determine whether or not any such extraordinary rush of business exists, and make its order accordingly and file and keep the same as a part of its records.

SEC. 2. Employer to report.—Every employer subject to the provisions of this act shall arrange the work of his, her, or its employees in such a manner as to carry out the provisions hereof, and shall post in the place of employment, a schedule, showing the working period of each employee for each week, designating clearly the day of the week which shall be rest day for each employee. The employer shall file with the industrial commission of this State a copy of such schedule, and of every change that may be made therein.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations of the above sections are punishable by fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 for each offense.]

SEC. 4. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the industrial commission of this State to aid to the fullest possible extent in the enforcement of the provisions of this act, and in the prosecution of all violations thereof.

CHAPTER 422.—Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 1. Women to work nine and one-half hours per day.—No female shall be employed at any business or service whatever more than nine and a half hours in any one day and fifty-four hours in any one week, provided that this act shall not apply to women employed as domestics in the home, or to persons engaged in the care of the sick or injured, or to cases of emergency in which the safety, health, morals or welfare of the public may otherwise be affected, or to cases in which night employees may be at the place of employment for no more than twelve hours and shall have opportunity for at least four hours of sleep; or to telephone operators in municipalities of less than 1,500 inhabitants.

SEC. 2. Unlawful to work more.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor to employ, cause to be employed or permit any female employee to labor any number of hours whatever, with knowledge that such female has heretofore been employed within the same date and day of twenty-four hours in any establishment and by any previous employer, for a period of time that will, combined with the period of employment by a previous employer exceed nine and a half hours: Provided, That this shall not prevent the employment of any female in more than one establishment where the total number of hours worked by said employee does not exceed nine and a half hours in any one day of twenty-four hours. If any female shall be employed in more than one such place, the total number of hours of such employment shall not exceed nine and a half hours during any one day of twenty-four hours or fifty-four hours in one week.

SEC. 3. Liability.—Any employer or any agent acting for an employer who shall require or permit or suffer any female to work at any business or service whatever more than the number of hours provided for in section 1 of this act, more than nine and a half hours in any one day or more than fifty-four hours in any one week; or who shall fail, neglect, or refuse so to arrange the work of females in his employ that they shall not work more than the number of hours provided for in this act during any one day or any one week or who shall knowingly permit or suffer any overseer, superintendent, foreman or forelady, or other agents of any employer to violate any of the provisions of this act. shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall, at the discretion of the court, be fined for each offense in the sum of not less than twenty-five dollars or more than one hundred dollars and whenever any person shall have been notified by the Industrial Commission of Minnesota or by the service of a summons in a prosecution that he is violating such provision, he shall be punished by like penalty in addition for each and every day that such violation shall have continued after such notification.

SEC. 4. Lunch period.—In every establishment provided for in section 1 of this act at least sixty minutes shall be allowed for regular meals unless the Industrial Commission of Minnesota shall permit a shorter time.

Such permit must be in writing and conspicuously posted in the workroom of the establishment where women are employed and may be revoked at any time.

SEC. 5. Act to be posted.—Every employer to whom this act shall apply shall keep posted in a conspicuous place in the workroom where such females shall be employed or permitted to work, a printed abstract of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. Schedule of hours to be posted.—A printed schedule stating the number of hours per day for each day of the week required of such persons and the time when such work shall begin and end, shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place in each room where females are employed but such persons may begin their work after the time of beginning and stop before the time for ending such work mentioned in this notice, but they shall not otherwise be employed or permitted or suffered to work in any establishment except as stated herein.

SEC. 7. Commission to supply forms, etc.—The Industrial Commission of Minnesota shall supply the abstract of the provisions of this act and the form for the schedules of hours of labor required for this act to all employers to whom this act shall apply.

SEC. 8. Record kept; penalty.—Every employer shall keep a time book or record for every female employee in his establishment, stating the number of hours worked by her each day and the total hours of each week, and the hours of beginning and stopping such work. Such time book or record shall be open to the inspection of the members of the Industrial Commission of Minnesota. The employer who willfully fails to keep such a time book or record as required by this section or makes any false statements therein or refuses to exhibit such time book or record or makes false statements to the members of the Industrial Commission of Minnesota in reply to any questions put in carrying out the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall at the discretion of the court be fined for each offense the sum of not less than ten dollars or more than twenty-five dollars, or by imprisonment for not exceeding ten days.

SEC. 9. Enforcement.—The Industrial Commission of Minnesota shall be charged with the duty of enforcing the provisions of this act and prosecuting all violations thereof.

MISSISSIPPI

CONSTITUTION

Protection of employees as voters, etc.

SECTION 191. Laws to be passed.—The legislature shall provide for the protection of the employees of all corporations doing business in this State from interference with their social, civil, or political rights by said corporations, their agents or employees.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 193. Negligence of superiors.—Every employee of any railroad corporation shall have the same right and remedies for any injuries suffered by him from the act or omission of said corporation or its employees, as are allowed by law to other persons not employees where the injury results from the negligence of a superior agent or officer, or of a person having the right to control or direct the services of the party injured, and also when the injury results from the negligence of a fellow-servant engaged in another department of labor from that of the party injured, or of a fellow-servant on another train of cars, or one engaged about a different piece of work. Knowledge by any employee injured, of the defective or unsafe character or condition of any machinery, ways, or appliances, shall be no defense to an action for injury caused thereby, except as to conductors or engineers in charge of dangerous or unsafe cars, or engines voluntarily operated by them. Where death ensues from any injury to employees, the legal or personal representatives of the person injured shall have the same right and remedies as are allowed by law to such representatives of other persons. Any contract or agreement, express or implied, made by any employee to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void; and this section shall not be construed to deprive any employee of a corporation or his legal or personal representative, of any right or remedy that he now has by the law of the land. The legislature may extend the remedies herein provided for to any other class of employees.

A railroad company is liable for the death of a locomotive fireman occasioned by the negligence of a telegraph operator. Action for injuries resulting in death must be brought by the executor or administrator of the decedent. 70 Miss. 471.

A brakeman on a train acting on the signal of the engineer to apply brakes, and injured by the engineer's negligence can not hold the company liable. While thus engaged in routine duties the engineer is not the superior of the brakeman within the meaning of this section. 70 Miss. 527.

A brakeman hurt while uncoupling a car without the use of a stick, in violation of a rule of the company, though acting in obedience to the order of his superior, the conductor can not maintain an action under this section. 15 So. 133.

This section abolishes the defense of contributory negligence unless it be willful or reckless. 70 Miss. 20.

The injured employee need not be at the time carrying out a special command of his superior, but is entitled to recover if injured by his negligence. The superior officer may likewise be engaged in the primary duties of his station, and not in the positive duties of a master. 36 So. 691.

The provision that knowledge of defects shall not be a defense does not preclude such knowledge as a fact controlling the degree of care to be exercised by the employee under the circumstances from being admissible to show contributory negligence. 18 So. 449.

This section is self-executing. Rights accruing thereunder are enforceable outside the State. 75 Fed. 873.

CODE OF 1906

Actions for injuries causing death—Employers' liability

SECTION 721 (as amended 1922, ch. 229). When action may be brought.—Whenever the death of any person shall be caused by any real wrongful or negligent act, or omission, or by such unsafe machinery, way or appliances as would, if death had not ensued, have entitled the party injured, or damaged thereby to maintain an action and recover damages in respect thereof, and such deceased persons shall have left a widow or children, or both, or husband, or father, or mother or sister, or brother, the person or corporation, or both that would have been liable if death had not ensued, and the representatives of such person shall be liable for damages, notwithstanding the death, and the fact that death was instantaneons shall, in no case affect the right of recovery. The action for such damages may be brought in the name of the personal representative of the deceased person, for the benefit of all persons entitled under the law to recover or by the widow, for the death of her husband, or by the husband for the death of the wife, or by the parent for the death of a child, or in the name of a child for the death of a parent[,] or by a brother for the death of a sister, or by a sister for the death of a brother, or by a sister for the death of a sister, or a brother for the death of a brother, or all parties interested may join in the suit, and there shall be but one suit for the same death which shall ensue for the benefit of all parties concerned, bnt the determination of such suit shall not bar another action unless it be decided on its merits. In such action the party or parties suing shall recover such damages as the jury may determine to be just, taking into consideration all the damages of every kind to the decedent and all damages of every kind to any and all parties interested in the suit.

This section shall apply to all personal injuries of servants and employees received in the service of [or] business of the master or employer, where snch injuries result in death. Damages recovered under the provisions of this section shall not be subject to the payment of the debts or liabilities of the deceased, except as hereinafter provided, and such damages shall be distribnted as follows:

Damages for the injury and death of a married man shall be equally distributed to his wife and children, and if he has no children all shall go to his wife; damages for the injury and death of a married woman shall be equally distributed to the husband and children, and if she has no children all shall go to the husband: and if the deceased has no husband or wife the damages shall be eqnally distributed to the children; if the deceased has no husband, nor wife, nor children, the damages shall be distributed equally to the father, mother, brothers and sisters, or such of them as the deceased may have living at his or her death. If the deceased have neither husband, or wife, or children, or father, or mother, or sister, or brother, then the damages shall go to the legal representative, subject to debts and general distribution, and the fact that the deceased was instantly killed shall not affect the right of the legal representative to recover. The provisions of this section shall apply to illegitimate children on account of the death of the mother and to the mother on acconnt of the death of an illegitimate child or children, and they shall have all the benefits, rights and remedies conferred by this section on legitimates.

If the deceased be illegitimate and shall leave neither mother, child nor lawful heirs, then all the provisions of this section shall extend and apply to the legal representatives, and the other natural blood relatives of deceased the same as if they were his legitimate relatives and heirs, excepting his father and his father's relatives, unless they be full brothers or sisters of deceased, or their heirs.

SECTION 905. Rights of employees.—Any corporation doing business in this State shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred and fifty dollars for every unlawful interference with the social, civil, or political rights of any of its agents or employees, and the same may be recovered by suit, to be brought by the injnred party.

Employment of children—Enticing

SECTION 1080. Enticing children.—Any person who shall persuade, entice, or decoy away from its father or mother, with whom it resides, any child under the age of twenty-one years if a male, or eighteen if a female, being unmarried, for the pnrpose of employing such child, without the consent of its parents, or one of them, shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not more than twenty dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not more than thirty days, or both.

Interference with employment—Conspiracy against workingmen

SECTION 1084. If two or more persons conspire either—

* * * * * * *

5. Interference with employment.—To prevent another from exercising a lawful trade or calling, or doing any other lawful act, by force, threats, intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with tools, implements, or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use of employment thereof;

* * * * * * *

Such persons, and each of them, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars, or shall be imprisoned not less than one month nor more than six months, or both.

Contracts of employment—Interference—Fraud

SECTION 1146 (as amended 1924, ch. 160). Enticing laborers under contract.—If any person shall willfully interfere with, entice away, or who shall knowingly employ, or who shall in any manner induce a laborer or renter who has contracted with another person for a specified time to leave his employer or the leased premises before the expiration of his contract without the consent of the employer or landlord in writing signed by said landlord or employer under or with whom said laborer had first contracted, he shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and in addition shall be liable to the employer or landlord for all advances made by him to said renter or laborer by virtue of his contract with said renter or laborer and for all damages which he may have sustained by reason thereof. The provisions of this section shall apply to minors under contract made by a parent or guardian.

SEC. 1148. Contract labor, fraud.—If any person, with intent to injure or defraud his employer or any person, enters into a contract, in writing duly acknowledged or attested by two witnesses in their own handwriting, for the performance of any act or service which is to be performed within fifteen months from the date of such contract, and thereby obtains money or other personal property from such employer, or other person, and with like intent, and without just cause, and without refunding such money or paying for such property, willfully refuses or fails to perform such act or service, he shall, on conviction, be punished for obtaining property under false pretenses and shall be punished by fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not exceeding six months, or both, in the discretion of the court. And the refusal or failure of any person who enters into such contract, to perform such act or service, or refund such money, or pay for such property, without just cause, shall be prima facie evidence of the intent to injure or defraud his employer or other person; and shall warrant a conviction, in all cases in which the evidence, as a whole, does not create a reasonable doubt of the guilt of the accused. If the employee or other person fails or refuses, upon the demand of the employee or such other person or any authorized representative, to render, within a reasonable time, true itemized accounts of the property and money so obtained from him and of the entire indebtedness claimed, or shall render an account knowingly false as to the items therein, then there shall be no conviction under this section.

Intimidation of employees, etc.

SECTION 1398. Making threats, etc.—Any person or persons who shall, by placards, or other writing, or verbally, attempt by threats, direct or implied, of injury to the person or property of another, to intimidate such other person into an abandonment or change of home or employment, shall, upon conviction, be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding six months, or in the penitentiary not exceeding five years, as the court, in its discretion may determine.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 1985 (as amended 1912, ch. 215). Evidence of negligence.—In all actions against railroad corporations and all other corporations, companies, partnerships and individuals using engines, locomotives, or care [cars] of any kind or description whatsoever, propelled by the dangerous agencies of steam, electricity, gas, gasoline or lever power, and running on tracks, for damages done to persons or property, proof of injury inflicted by the running of the engines, locomotives or cars of any such railroad corporations or such other corporation, company, partnership or individual shall be prima facie evidence of the warrant of reasonable skill and care of such railroad corporation, or such other corporation, company, partnership or individual in reference to such injury. This section shall also apply to passengers and employees of railroad corporations and of such other corporations, companies, partnerships and individuals.

Payment of wages due deceased employees

SECTION 2133 (as amended 1920, ch. 304). Amount of wages.—When any person, male or female shall die leaving wages due him [or her] to an amount not exceeding three hundred dollars, it shall be lawful for the debtor after sixty days, to pay said wages to the wife or husband, as the case may be, of said deceased creditor, if he or she leaves a wife or husband, as the case may be surviving him or her; and if he or she shall leave no wife or husband, as the case may be surviving him or her, then to his or her children, if adults; and if he or she shall leave no children and no wife or husband surviving him or her, then to his or her mother, and if [he or she] shall leave no wife or husband or children or mother surviving him or her, then to his or her father; and if he or she shall leave no wife or children or husband or mother or father surviving him or her, then to his or her brothers and sisters, if adults; and if such creditor shall have left no wife, husband, or children nor brothers nor sisters, nor father nor mother surviving him or her, or if any of his or her children surviving him or her shall be minors, or if any of his or her brothers or sisters surviving him or her entitled to inherit shall be minors, then it shall be lawful for said debtor to pay said wages to the chancery clerk of the county in which said creditor resided at the time of his or her death, or of the county where he or she died.

SEC. 2. Suits.—After the sixty days referred to in section one of this act have passed the parties hereinbefore designated as being the person to whom the wages so due the deceased creditor may be paid shall have the right, if they be adults, to maintain a suit to recover the amount due the deceased creditor; and when the party or parties entitled to receive said amounts are minors, suit may be brought and maintained for them, by and in the name of the chancery clerk who is entitled to receive same.

SEC. 3. Exemptions.—This act shall not apply in cases where the estate of deceased creditors is administered upon.

SEC. 2134. Distribution.—[Where the wages are paid to the chancery clerk as above provided, distribution thereof is to be made to adult next of kin, and a report made to the court of the minors entitled to shares, to whom payment is to be made under orders of the court.]

Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 2139. Amount exempt.—[Wages due the head of a family, to the amount of $50 per month, are exempt from garnishment or other legal process except for debts or judgments for board or lodging.]

Railroads—Safety regulations

SECTION 4046. Flying switches.—It shall not be lawful for any railroad company or other person to switch a railroad car in the manner commonly known as a "flying," "running," "walking," or "kicking" switch, within the limits of a municipality; and, in case of injury resulting to any person or property from switching in violation of this section, the railroad company shall be liable in damages, without regard to mere contributory negligence of the party injured.

This section is constitutional. 72 Miss. 22.
Employees are within its protection, though it will not apply where there is reckless and voluntary exposure to injury. 46 So. 824.

SEC. 4051 (as amended 1916, ch. 228). Telltales.—[Railroads whose tracks run under bridges, etc., having a clearance of less than 22 feet, and at least seven feet above the running board, must provide telltales at not less than 100 nor more than 250 feet therefrom, strings, or ropes to be suspended not less than three inches apart, from a support at least four feet higher than the obstruction, and extending at least one foot lower. Failure entails a penalty of $100 for each month, and liability for the death or injury of any person caused by the bridge or overhanging object, regardless of his contributory negligence.]

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 4056 (as amended 1908, ch. 194). Fellow-servant doctrine abrogated.—Every employee of a railroad corporation, and all other corporations and individuals, using engines, locomotives or cars of any kind or description whatsoever, propelled by the dangerous agencies of steam, electricity, gas, gasoline or lever power, and running on tracks, shall have the same rights and remedies for an injury suffered by him from the act or omission of such railroad corporation or others, or their employees, as are allowed by law to other persons not employed.

Knowledge by any employee injured of the defective or unsafe character or condition of any machinery, ways or appliances, or of the improper loading of cars, shall not be a defense to an action for injury caused thereby, except as to conductors or engineers in charge of dangerous or unsafe cars or engines voluntarily operated by them. When death ensues from an injury to an employee, an action may be brought in the name of the widow of such employee for the death of the husband, or by the husband for the death of his wife, or by a parent for the death of a child, or in the name of a child for the death of an only parent, for such damages as may be suffered by them respectively by reason of such death, the damages to be for the use of such widow, husband, parent or child, except that in case the widow should have children, the damages shall be distributed as personal property of the husband. The legal or personal representatives of the person injured shall have the same rights and remedies as are allowed by law to such representatives of other persons. In every such action the jury may give such damages as shall be fair and just, with reference to the injury resulting from such death to the person suing. Any contract or agreement expressed or implied, made by an employee to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void; and this section shall not deprive an employee of a person, natural or artificial, or the legal or personal representatives of such person, of any right or remedy they now have by law.

This section is constitutional. 46 So. 360; 31 Sup. Ct. 136.
This section applies to logging and similar roads as well as to common carriers. Easterling Lumber Co. v. Pierce, 64 So. 461.
[See also annotations under section 193 of the constitution.]

Accidents on railroads—Reports—Inspection

SECTIONS 4861, 4862. Who to report.—[Conductors and engineers must report to the railroad commission by telegraph notice of accidents causing serious personal injury, and the superintendent must write details within five days thereafter. Investigation must be made of every accident causing death or serious bodily injury, and report made thereof.]

SEC. 4870. Inspection of roads, etc.—The [railroad] commission, through its several members, shall inspect every railroad whenever it shall deem the same necessary, and it must inspect all the railroads once in each year, and the results must be entered upon the minutes of the commission and embraced in its reports, and must embrace information as to the condition of the roadbed, bridges, trestles, rolling stock, and depots, with such other as the commission may deem proper. Whenever the commission shall find any roadbed, trestle, bridge, tunnel, switch, or any part of a railroad track, or any rolling stock in actual use, in an unsafe condition, it shall direct the railroad company to make the necessary repairs.

SEC. 4871. Couplers.—The railroad commission shall recommend to the several railroads the adoption of uniform automatic car couplers; and when any such appliances shall have been required by Congress to be used in interstate commerce, the commission is authorized to require railroads in this State to comply with the requirements, as concerns domestic commerce, within a reasonable time.

Employment of children to support parents in idleness

SECTION 5055. Who are vagrants.—The following persons are and shall be punished as vagrants, viz:

* * * * * * *

(m) All persons who are able to work and do not work, but hire out their minor children or allow them to be hired out, and live upon their wages.

CHAPTER 95.—Railroads—Backing locomotives at night

SECTION 1. Lights required.—It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation owning or operating a railroad as a common carrier of passengers and freight for hire in the State, to require or permit a locomotive engine to be backed on his or its line of railroad, in the nighttime, unless it is provided and equipped with a pilot and headlight on the rear of its tender:

Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to railroads whose principal business is hauling logs, nor to locomotive engines running for coal or water, doubling hills, returning from trains when broken in two, going to or returning from trains in the yard limits of terminal stations, nor to engines engaged in regular switching service in yards, or road engines switching at intermediate stations; nor to any locomotive engines in cases of washouts, wrecks, or when going to the assistance of engines so disabled as to block the main track of a railroad.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations entail fine, $100 to $1,000. Any person ordering or permitting a violation is punishable by imprisonment, 10 to 30 days.]

SEC. 3. Liability.—Any person or corporation operating a railroad in violation of the provisions of this act shall be liable for injury or damage caused to any person by reason thereof, notwithstanding the negligence of the party injured or damaged.

CHAPTER 135.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 1 (as amended 1920, ch. 312). Comparative negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought for personal injuries or where such injuries have resulted in death, * * * the fact that the person injured, * * * may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to the person injured, * * *

SEC. 2. Questions for jury.—All questions of negligence and contributory negligence shall be for the jury to determine.

CHAPTER 94.—Emigrant agents

SECTION 1. License fee.—Each emigrant or employment agent, or person engaged in hiring laborers, or soliciting emigrants or laborers in this State to go beyond the limits of the State, must pay an annual license of five hundred dollars ($500) in every county in which he operates or solicits emigrants or laborers, which amount must be paid into the State treasury for the use of the State.

SEC. 2. Acting without license.—Any person doing the business of emigrant or employment agent without having first obtained a license, as required by law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500) and not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), or may be imprisoned in the county jail, or sentenced to hard labor for the county for not less than one month nor more than six months, within the discretion of the court.

SECTION 1. Giving and receiving tips forbidden.—It shall be unlawful in this State for any hotel, restaurant, café, dining car railroad company or sleeping car company to knowingly allow any person in its employ to receive any gratuity, commonly known as a "tip," from any patron or passenger; and it shall be unlawful for any patron of any hotel, restaurant, café, dining car or any passenger on any railroad train or sleeping car to give to any employee any such gratuity; and it shall be unlawful for any employee of any hotel, restaurant, café, dining car railroad company or sleeping car company to receive any gratuity or "tip."

SEC. 2. Definition.—By gratuity or "tip," as used in this act, is meant any extra compensation of any kind which any hotel, restaurant, café, dining car railroad company, or sleeping car company, or the manager, officer, or any agent thereof in charge of same, allows to be given an employee, or which any person gives to any employee, or which is received by any employee, and is not a part of the regular charge of the hotel, restaurant, café, dining car railroad company or sleeping car company, which is not a part of its regular charge for the thing bought or services rendered, or a part of the service which by contract it is under duty to render. No hotel, restaurant, café, dining car railroad company or sleeping car company shall evade this act by adding to the regular charge, directly or indirectly, anything intended for, or to be used, or to be given away as a gratuity or tip to the employee. All charges made by the hotel, restaurant, café, dining car railroad company or sleeping car company must be made by it and be in good faith a charge for the service which it renders exclusive of the service which it furnishes through its employees.

SEC. 3. Act to be posted.—Each hotel shall post a copy of this act in the office and in each room, and each restaurant and café shall post at least two copies of this act in two conspicuous places in same, and each dining car railroad or sleeping car company doing business within this State, shall post two copies of this act in conspicuous places in each passenger coach or sleeping car.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violations by hotels, etc., are punishable by fine not to exceed $100; persons giving tips, by fine not exceeding $50; employees accepting tips, not more than $50. Failure to post act entails fine not exceeding $100.]

CHAPTER 148.—Protection of employees on street railways—Inclosed vestibules

SECTION 1. What cars to have vestibules.—Street car companies operating street cars by electricity, or by any other motive power requiring operator to be on the front of the car, and outside the main body thereof, in municipalities having a population of not less than five thousand by the Federal Census of 1910, or by any subsequent Federal census, shall equip all cars with complete vestibules and provide some means of heating same, so as to thoroughly protect employees from cold and inclement weather.

Provided, That this act shall not apply to cars operated from the 15th of March to the 1st of November in each year.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations entail a fine, $50 to $500.]

CHAPTER 152.—Railroads—Shelters over repair tracks

SECTION 1. Commission may require shelters.—[The] State railroad commission is hereby empowered whenever or wherever it shall deem in its judgment necessary for the protection and comfort of all employees of all railroads and other persons or corporations engaged in like business, to require all such railroads and other persons or corporations engaged in like business to provide and maintain a shed or sheds with watertight roofs over all tracks or parts of tracks on which cars are commonly or regularly placed or stored to be repaired, where said companies or persons shall have repair tracks for that purpose, and to provide such drainage of the grounds on which such tracks may be maintained as will keep the same dry and sanitary.

SEC. 2. Orders.—Said State railroad commission may make all proper orders to enforce the provisions of this act and exact compliance therewith.

CHAPTER 157.—Hours of labor in manufacturing establishments

SECTION 1 (as amended 1916, ch. 239). Ten-hour day.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation engaged in manufacturing or repairing, to work their employees more than ten hours per day, except in cases of emergency, or where the public necessity requires in such departments: Provided,

That persons may work not more than thirty minutes additional each day for the first five days of the week, the additional time so worked to be deducted from the last day of the week: Provided, That persons who work at nightwork only, may work eleven and one-quarter hours for the first five nights of the week, beginning with Monday night, and three and three-quarter hours Saturday night, but sixty hours shall constitute a full week's work under the provision[s] of this act.

Nothing in this act shall apply to railroads or their employees or to public service corporations.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, $10 to $50, each day's violation constituting a separate offense.]

This act is constitutional. 59 So. 923.

An establishment having an organized force of workers employed in working up raw material is within the act. This includes sawmills. 60 So. 215.

And a cottonseed-oil mill. 60 So. 775.

Whether or not a particular laborer is engaged in manufacturing is a question of fact. 60 So. 215.

If a workman is required to be on duty for more than ten hours, even though not actively employed for the entire period, the law has been violated. 60 So. 775.

CHAPTER 138.—Payment of wages—Discounting checks, etc.

SECTION 1. Discounting prohibited.—Every person, company, association, partnership, manufacturing company or railroad company now existing or hereafter organized in this State, engaged in employing labor for manufacturing purposes, or any railroad within this State shall be prohibited from discounting any trade check, coupons or other written instrument issued for the payment of such labor, and it shall be unlawful for any person, partnership, corporation or trade establishment purchasing said trade checks, coupons, or other instruments issued for the payment of such labor to discount the same, and any person, partnership, corporation, trade establishment purchasing the same at a discount, or any company, corporation, railroad, or other person issuing said checks, coupons or other written instruments, and who shall discount the same in settlement with the employees shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars, and not more than fifty dollars for each offense.

SEC. 2. Scrip to be redeemed.—All persons, firms, corporations engaged in manufacturing, issuing trade checks, coupons or other instruments of writing in payment for labor, shall on or after the regular pay day cash said check, or checks, so issued at their face value less any amount that may be due by the party to whom issued, and any such person, firm, corporation so engaged in manufacturing, failing to settle such claim as herein required, shall be liable to pay to the holder thereof twenty-five per cent on the face of said check as damages in the event any suit or action shall be brought to enforce the payment thereof: Provided, That this section shall only apply when the amount claimed is one hundred dollars or less.

CHAPTER 152.—Bonds of employees of common carriers

SECTION 1. Freedom to choose company.—No common carrier, authorized to do business in this State, when requiring of an employee that he give it a bond or undertaking of any nature whatever, shall require such employee to have such bond or undertaking executed as surety by any particular company, corporation, association, or firm, or by any one or more of any number of such companies, corporations, associations, or firms named by such common carrier; and no such common carrier shall reject any such bond or undertaking for any reason other than the financial insufficiency of such bond or undertaking.

SEC. 2. Nonresident sureties.—[No nonresident surety may be demanded; nor may such surety be accepted unless there is a designated resident agent on whom process can be served.]

SEC. 3. Term; cancellation.—[Bonds must be for specific terms, and may be cancelled only on breach of a condition, after notice setting ont the reasons for such cancellation.]

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violations subject offender to a fine, $100, to $1,000, and imprisonment 30 days to 1 year.]

CHAPTER 156.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees—Assumption of risks

SECTION 1. Risk of negligence not assumed.—In all actions for personal injury to an employee, and in all actions where such injury results in death, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risks of his employment in any case where such injury or death results in whole or in part from the negligence of the master; except as to conductors, or locomotive engineers, in charge of dangerous or unsafe cars or engines voluntarily operated by them.

CHAPTER 163.—Inspector of factories

SECTION 1. Appointment.—[The] State board of health shall appoint and may remove for cause a special inspector who shall have the title of factory inspector and who shall be a person having competent knowledge of factories and capable of performing the duties prescribed below. Such inspector shall execute bond in the penalty of three thousand ($3,000) dollars, payable to the State, for the faithful performance of his or her duties.

SEC. 2. Salary.—The said State factory inspector shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred ($1,500) dollars, payable monthly. The salary and the reasonable and necessary traveling and other expenses of the said State factory inspector, while engaged in the performance of his or her duties, shall be paid by the secretary of the State board of health upon vouchers approved by the governor.

SEC. 3. Duties.—It shall be the duty of the factory inspector to inspect all factories and canneries where women and children are employed at least three times each year. Such inspector shall collect evidence of violations of the laws of the State relating to the employment of women and children, and furnish such information to the county or district attorney in the county in which said violation occurred. Such inspector shall report annually, under the direction of the secretary of the State board of health, the number of women and children employed in the different cotton and knitting mills and canneries in the State, and the number of violations found and disposition of each.

SEC. 4. Reports.—Said inspector shall report annually to the secretary of State board of health the number of industrial establishments in this State which it is made his duty to inspect, the number of employees, the number of inspections made, the number of violations found, and the disposition of each, and such other information as may be deemed valuable and necessary, and shall enforce the laws of the State in factories and other establishments where women and children are employed.

SEC. 5. Offenses of managers, etc.—Any officer, manager, or other agent of any factory, or cannery subject to the provisions of this act who shall fail or refuse to give true and cor[r]ect information demanded of him by the State factory inspector, or who shall attempt to prevent the factory inspector from entering such establishment in the regular performance of the duties of such inspector, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 6. Registers.—It shall be the duty of the State factory inspector to register each year each manufacturing establishment in the State employing more than five persons, and to collect the registration or license fee herein required, and to report by the fifth day of each month to the State board of health all such registrations and the fees collected therefor during the month previous, and to turn into the treasury of the State board of health at such time as such report is made all moneys collected by such inspector for registration of factories during such time.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1916, ch. 95). Fees; inquiries.—Every person, firm, or corporation, except woodworking establishments, and canning factories canning farm produce, employing more than five persons in the conduct of any mill, factory, manufacturing establishment, or cannery within this State where women or children are employed, shall register such establishment with the State factory inspector each year and pay an annual fee for such registration, according to the following schedule:

Those employing 5 to 10 persons	$10
Those employing 11 to 25 persons	20
Those employing 26 to 50 persons	40
Those employing 51 to 100 persons	60
Those employing 101 to 200 persons	100
Those employing 201 to 300 persons	150
Those employing over 300 persons	200

Persons, firms or corporations engaged in any business subject to the provisions of this act where the number of employees varies from time to time shall report the average number employed during the regular or busy season of their work and shall pay the fee on the basis provided for in this section.

The license year shall begin July first each year and end June thirtieth the following year, and within thirty days after the beginning of the license year the State factory inspector shall submit to each person, firm or corporation subject to the provisions of this section, a blank upon which such person, firm or corporation shall report to the State factory inspector the following information and such other facts as may be required by the State factory inspector:

1. Officers.
2. Character and location of business.
3. Number of persons employed, male and female, and children.
4. Number of work hours per week.
5. Description of buildings and equipment, number of floors, elevators, boilers and fire escapes.

Any person, firm or corporation failing or refusing to comply with any of the provisions of this section by October first each year, or within sixty days after having been notified to do so by the State factory inspector, or the secretary of the State board of health, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25).

CHAPTER 164 (as amended 1924, ch. 314).—Employment of children

SECTION 1. Age limit.—[No child under 14 may be employed or permitted to work in any mill, cannery (but see sec. 9), workshop, factory, or manufacturing establishment.]

SEC. 2. Work time.—[No child under 16 may work in the above classes of establishments more than 8 hours per day or 44 per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m.; but this does not affect the 10-hour law for other employees (ch. 157, Acts of 1912, as amended).]

SEC. 3. Affidavit of age.—[Employers under this act must secure from parents or guardians affidavits as to age and schooling of children under 16.]

SECS. 4–6. Enforcement.—[County sheriffs are to inspect places of employment to see that the foregoing provisions are observed; county health officers are charged with the duty of inspecting at least twice a year as to sanitary conditions, the presence of infectious or contagious diseases, or the employment of children incapacitated for work; and county judges must charge grand juries to investigate violations.]

SECS. 7, 8. Violations.—[Failure to give information or obey orders is punishable by fines, and violating the employment provisions of the act by fines or imprisonment.]

SEC. 9. Exemption.—[Fruit and vegetable canneries are exempt from the provisions of this act.]

CHAPTER 165.—Hours of labor of women

SECTION 1. Ten-hour day.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to work any female or girl in any laundry, millinery, dressmaking store, office, mercantile establishment, theater, telegraph or telephone office or any other occupation not here enumerated, to work such female labor or girl more than ten (10) hours per day or more than 60 hours per week except in case of emergency or where public necessity requires such.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations incur penalty of fine, $10 to $50, or imprisonment 5 to 30 days, or both. Each day's violation constitutes separate offense.]

SEC. 3. Construction.—This act shall not be construed * * * to apply to domestic servants.

CHAPTER 166.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 1 (as amended 1916, ch. 241). Application of law.—Every corporation, company, association, partnership, and individual person engaged in manufacturing of any kind in this State, employing as many as fifty or more employees, and employing public labor, and every public service corporation doing business in this State shall be required to make full payment to employees for services performed as often as once every two weeks or twice during each calendar month, or on the second and fourth Saturday, respectively, of each month, and such payment or settlement shall include all amounts due for labor or services performed up to not more than ten days previous to the time of payment, except that public service corporations shall not be required to make payment for labor or services performed up to more than fifteen days prior to the time of payment.

SEC. 2 Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, $25 to $250, each day's violation against each employee being a separate offense.]

CHAPTER 91.—Boarding or commissary cars—Taxation

SECTION 1. Business to be taxed.—The business of operating or maintaining grab cars, boarding cars or commissaries in box cars of two or more outfits when contracted for by an individual, or corporation furnishing or supplying employees or others with goods and merchandise, from or in said cars or outfits, in payment of wages or otherwise, shall pay a privilege tax of one hundred dollars for each county that has a city, town or village of ten thousand or more inhabitants; and for each county that has a city, town or village with a population of less than ten thousand but more than five thousand, the sum of fifty dollars; and for each county, with a city, town, or village of less than five thousand the sum of ten dollars, in which such cars may be operated or maintained.

SEC. 2. License.—In all cases the license shall contain the name of the person, firm or corporation to whom the license is issued, and the license shall not be valid for any person, firm or corporation not named therein: Provided, This act shall not apply to any railroad operating its own grab car or commissary car or cars from which merchandise is sold to its employees only.

CHAPTER 283.—Factory, etc., regulations—Door to open outwards

SECTION 305. Doors to open outwardly.—All the doors for ingress and egress to * * * factories with more than twenty employees * * * shall be so swung as to open outwardly from the * * * workshops; but such doors may be hung on double-jointed hinges, so as to open with equal ease outwardly or inwardly.

SECTION 3677. Platforms to be inclosed, when.—Every electric street car, other than trail cars, which are attached to motor cars, shall be provided during the months of November, December, January, February and March of each year, at the front end, with a screen composed of glass or other material which shall fully and completely protect the driver, motorman, gripman or other person stationed on such front end and guiding or directing said car from wind and the storm.

SEC. 3678. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $100.]

This act is constitutional. 60 S. W. 1068.

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 4217. When employer liable for death.—Whenever any person, including any employee of the corporation, individual or individuals hereinafter referred to whose death is caused by the negligence of a coemployee thereof, shall die from any injury resulting or occasioned by the negligence, unskillfulness or criminal intent of any officer, agent, servant or employee, whilst running, conducting or managing any locomotive, car or train of cars, or any street electric or terminal car or train of cars, or of any master, pilot, engineer, agent or employee whilst running, conducting or managing any steamboat, or any of the machinery thereof, or of any driver of any stage coach, automobile, motor car or other public conveyance whilst in charge of the same as a driver; * * * the corporation, individual or individuals in whose employ any such officer, agent, servant, employee, master, pilot, engineer or driver shall be at the time such injury is committed, or who owns, operates or conducts any such railroad, locomotive, car, street car, electric car, terminal car, automobile, motor car, stage coach or other public conveyance at the time any injury is received resulting from or occasioned by any defect or insufficiency, unskillfulness, negligence, or criminal intent above declared, or any such officer, agent, servant, employee, master, pilot, engineer or driver, whose negligence, unskillfulness, or criminal intent shall cause such injury, shall forfeit and pay as a penalty, for every such person, employee or passenger so dying, the sum of not less than two thousand dollars, and not exceeding ten thousand dollars, in the discretion of the jury, * * * and such corporation, individual or individuals or such officer, servant, agent, employee, master, pilot, engineer, or driver, may show as a defense that such death was caused by the negligence of the deceased. In suits instituted under this section, it shall be competent for the defendant, for his defense, to show the defect or insufficiency named in this section was not a negligent defect or insufficiency, and that the injury received was not the result of unskillfulness, negligence or criminal intent. Every person who shall have cause of action for any death through the negligence, unskillfulness, or criminal intent of any servant, under the provisions of this section, may at his option, bring suit thereon jointly against the master and servant, or severally, against either master or servant.

SEC. 4226. Negligence of fellow servants.—Every railroad corporation owning or operating a railroad in this State shall be liable for all damages sustained by any agent or servant thereof while engaged in the work of operating such railroad by reason of the negligence of any other agent or servant thereof: Provided, That it may be shown in defense that the person injured was guilty of negligence contributing as a proximate cause to produce the injury.

SEC. 4227. Vice principals defined.—All persons engaged in the service of any such railroad corporation doing business in this State, who are intrusted by such corporation with the authority of superintendence, control or command of other persons in the employ or service of such corporation, or with the authority to direct any other servant in the performance of any duty of such servant, or with the duty of inspection or other duty owing by the master to the servant, are vice principals of such corporation, and are not fellow servants with such employees.

SEC. 4228. Fellow servants defined.—All persons who are engaged in the common service of such railroad corporation, and who while so engaged, are working together at the same time and place, to a common purpose of same grade, neither of such persons being intrusted by such corporation with any superintendence or control over their fellow-employees, are fellow servants with each other: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to make any agent or servant of such corporation in the service of such corporation a fellow servant with any other agent or servant of such corporation engaged in any other department or service of such corporation.

SEC. 4229. Contracts limiting liability.—No contract made between any railroad corporation and any of its agents or servants, based upon the contingency of the injury or death of any agent or servant, limiting the liability of such railroad corporation for any damages under the provisions of sections 4226 to 4229, inclusive, shall be valid or binding, but all such contracts or agreements shall be null and void.

This act is constitutional. It applies to receivers in charge of roads as well as to companies. 63 S. W. 485.

Laborers engaged in the handling of baggage at a railway station are engaged in the operation of the road within the meaning of this act, railroads being required by statute to transport the baggage of travelers on their passenger trains. 111 S. W. 841.

Section hands engaged in the repair, etc., of tracks, are engaged in the work of operating a railroad within the meaning of this statute. 71 S. W. 208.

Sections 4226 to 4229 apply only to employees. Widows, etc., of deceased employees must look to the provisions of section 4217 for redress. 109 S. W. 769.

SEC. 4230. Waivers by blind persons.—It shall hereafter be lawful for any blind person over the age of 18 years, to agree to and with his or her employer to waive his or her right to damages or compensation for any personal injury arising out of or in the course of his or her employment for which injury such blindness was the direct or contributory cause and any such agreement shall be valid and binding upon the parties thereto.

SEC. 4231. What actions survive.—Causes of action upon which suit has been or may hereafter be brought by the injured party for personal injuries, other than those resulting in death, whether such injuries be to the health or to the person of the injured party, shall not abate by reason of his death, nor by reason of the death of the person against whom such cause of action shall have accrued; but in case of the death of either or both such parties, such cause of action shall survive to the personal representative of such injured party, and against the person, receiver or corporation liable for such injuries and his legal representatives, and the liability and the measure of damages shall be the same as if such death or deaths had not occurred.

SEC. 4232. Scope of law.—Whenever the words "railroad companies" or "railroad corporation" shall be found in any section of this article, it shall be taken and construed to include all companies, corporations, person or persons operating any railroad in this State, and wherever the word "railroad" occurs in any section in this article it shall be taken and construed to include all railroads operated in this State by whatever motive or power propelled, and shall include all railroads or railways, commonly known as street railways, and all railroads operated by terminal companies or associations, known as "terminal railroads" or "railways," as well as all railways or railroads operated anywhere in the State, commonly known as electric railroads, whether they be wholly or in part in the city or country district; also all railroads within the country or city operated by what is commonly known as cable or motor power, or by horsepower.

SEC. 4233. Acts of fellow servants.—Every person, company or corporation operating a mine or mines in this State producing lead, zinc, coal or other valuable minerals, shall be liable for all damages sustained by any agent or servant thereof while engaged in operating such mine or mines, by reason of the negligence of any other agent or servant thereof: Provided, That it may be shown in defense that the person injured was guilty of negligence contributing as a proximate cause to produce the injury.

SEC. 4234. Vice principals.—All persons engaged in the service of any such person, company or corporation doing business in this State, who are intrusted by such person, company or corporation with the authority of superintendence, control or command of other persons in the employ or service of such person, company or corporation, or with authority to direct any other servant in the performance of any duty of such servant, or with the duty of inspection or other duty owing by the master to the servant, are vice-principals of such person, company or corporation, and are not fellow servants with such employees.

SEC. 4235. Fellow servants.—All persons who are engaged in the common service of such person, company or corporation operating a mine or mines, and while so engaged are working together at the same time and place to a common purpose of the same grade, neither of such persons being intrusted by such person, company or corporation with any superintendence or control over their fellow employees, are fellow servants with each other.

SEC. 4236. Contracts limiting liability.—No contracts made between any person, company or corporation so operating such mine or mines and their agents or servants, based upon the contingency of the injury or death to any such agent or servant, limiting the liability of the employer for any damages under the provisions of this and the three next preceding sections, shall be valid or binding, but all such contracts or agreements shall be null and void.

SEC. 4237. Application of law.—Nothing in the four next preceding sections shall be so construed as applying to or including the operation, construction or repairing of concentrating mills, flumes or tramways wholly above ground.

The provisions of sections 4233–4237 are constitutional, and the exclusion of work wholly above ground is a valid classification. 147 S. W. 1042.

SEC. 4238. What actions survive.—Whenever any cause of action shall accrue to any agent or servant of any person, company or corporation under sections 4233 to 4237, inclusive, and death shall ensue to such agent or servant by reason of the negligence provided for in said sections, the cause of action shall survive in favor of the widow and minor children of the deceased: Provided, That action therefor shall be brought by the widow within six months after such death, and if she shall fail to bring such action, then within twelve months after such death by such minor children; And provided further, That recovery in case of such death shall not exceed the sum of ten thousand dollars.

SECTION 5027. Attempting to influence vote.—It shall not be lawful for any corporation organized and doing business under and by virtue of the laws of this State, to directly or indirectly, by or through any of its officers or agents, or by or through any person or persons for them, influence or attempt to influence the result of any election to be held in this State, or procure or endeavor to procure the election of any person to a public office * * * by discharging or threatening to discharge any employee of such corporation for reason of the political opinions of such employee, or to use or offer to use any power, effort, influence or other means whatsoever, to induce or persuade any employee or other person entitled to register before or vote at any election, to vote or refrain from voting for any candidate, or on any question to be determined or at issue at any election. Any violation of the provisions of this section by a corporation shall be deemed and held as a forfeiture of its charter or franchise, as granted or derived from the State, as for willful misuser thereof, and such corporation shall be enjoined from transacting any business in this State; and such forfeiture or injunction may be adjudged by any circuit court of any county in which such corporation is located, in a suit instituted for that purpose, in the name of the State of Missouri, by the prosecuting attorney of any county, and in the city of St. Louis by the circuit attorney or by the attorney-general.

SEC. 5028. Same subject.—Every officer or agent of any railroad or other corporation, company or association, and every individual conducting or carrying on any business in this State and having under his control or supervision, or in his employ any servants, agents or other employees entitled to vote at any election in this State, who shall either directly or indirectly, or by or through any person or persons for him, discharge or offer or attempt to discharge from any employment, service or position, any such employee for reason of the political opinions or belief of any such employee, or who shall coerce or attempt to coerce, intimidate or bribe any employee, or who shall, by or through any unjust, corrupt or unlawful means, procure or attempt to procure or influence any employee entitled to register before or vote at any election, to vote or refrain from voting for any candidate for any public office at any election, or on any question to be determined or at issue in any election held in this State, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than five years.

Bureau of labor statistics

SECTION 6737. Bureau established.—There is hereby established a separate and distinct department in this State, to be known as the "Bureau of Labor Statistics."

SEC. 6738. Object of bureau.—The object of this department shall be to collect, assort, systematize and present in annual report to the governor, to be by him transmitted biennially to the general assembly, statistical details and information relating to all departments of labor in the State, especially in its relations to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary condition of the laboring classes and to the permanent prosperity of the productive industries of the State.

SEC. 6739. Commissioner.—The governor shall, with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint, immediately after this article goes into effect, and every four years thereafter, some suitable person to perform the duties herein required, who shall be known as commissioner of labor statistics, and who shall keep an office in such place as may be designated by the governor.

SEC. 6740. Reports.—The commissioner shall, annually, on or before the 5th day of November, present a report in writing to the governor, which shall contain statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the State, together with such other information as is contemplated by section 6738.

SEC. 6741. Witnesses.—The commissioner shall have power to administer oaths or affirmations, to examine witnesses, and to take and preserve evidence; and it shall be the duty of all State, county, and municipal officers to furnish to said commissioner, upon his request, all statistical information in reference to labor which may be in their possession as such officers.

SEC. 6742. Printing.—The commissioner of labor statistics shall be authorized to have printed not to exceed three thousand copies of his annual report for general distribution, and all printing, binding, bulletins, blanks, stationery, or map work shall be done under any contract which the State now has or shall have, and the expense thereof shall be audited and paid for in the same manner as for similar work for the State out of the appropriation for the purchase of material, printing, and publishing documents for the State.

SEC. 6743 (as amended 1921, p. 3). Access to factories, etc.—Any owner, operator, manager, or lessee of any mine, factory, workshop, warehouse, elevator, foundry, machine shop, or other manufacturing establishment, or any other employer of labor, or any agent or employee of such owner, operator, manager, or lessee, who shall refuse to said commissioner, when requested by him, any statistical or other information relative to his duties which may be in their possession or under their control, shall, for every such neglect or refusal, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction, be fined in a sum not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 6744. Salary.—The commissioner of labor statistics shall receive an annual salary of three thousand five hundred dollars, payable monthly, and said commissioner is hereby authorized to employ such assistance and incur such expense as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this article, such expense to be paid on the vouchers presented by the commissioner: Provided, however, That said expenses shall not exceed, in any one year, the amount appropriated therefor; said commissioner shall before entering upon the duties of his office execute a bond to the State of Missouri, in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, conditioned upon the faithful, honest, and impartial performance of his duties under this article, which bond shall be approved by the State auditor and filed in his office. Said commissioner shall include in his annual report to the governor an itemized statement of the expenses of the bureau incurred by him.

SEC. 6745. Duty of commissioner.—The commissioner of labor statistics is hereby directed to collect any information he may deem necessary to carry out the objects of the bureau as set forth in section 6738, and is hereby authorized to furnish suitable blanks to managers of public-service corporations, county, city, and township officers, and to the officers of prisons, penal and reformatory institutions, and it shall be the duty of all such managers and officers to furnish such information as the commissioner may require and which may be in their possession with the least possible delay.

SEC. 6746. Duty of owners of factories, etc.—It shall be the duty of every owner, operator, or lessee of any factory, foundry, or machine shop, or other manufacturing establishment doing business within this State to report annually, on or before the first day of March, to the commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics the name of firm or corporation and the number of members, male and female, constituting the same; where located; capital invested in grounds, building, and machinery; class and value of goods manufactured; aggregate value of raw material used; total number of days in operation; amount paid yearly for rent, tax, and insurance; total amount paid in wages; total number of employees, male and female; number engaged in clerical and manual labor, with detailed classification of the number and sex of employees engaged in each class, and average daily wages paid to each.

SEC. 6747. Blanks, etc.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics is hereby authorized to furnish suitable blanks to the owner, operator, manager, or lessee of any factory, workshop, elevator, foundry, machine shop, or any other manufacturing establishment, to enable said owner, operator, manager, or lessee to intelligently comply with the provisions of section 6746 of this article; and any such owner, operator, manager, or lessee who shall neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of this article, or who shall untruthfully answer any question or questions put to him by the commissioner of labor, in a circular or otherwise, in furtherance of the provisions of sections 6745 and 6746, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

Free public employment offices

SECTION 6748. Free public offices to be established.—The commissioner of labor statistics shall organize and establish in all cities in Missouri, now containing or which may contain hereafter, according to the last preceding national census, seventy-five thousand inhabitants or more, a free public employment bureau for the purpose of receiving applications of persons seeking employment and applications of persons seeking to employ labor. No compensation or fee shall be charged or received, directly or indirectly, for persons applying for employment through any such bureau. Such commissioner shall appoint for each bureau one superintendent and may appoint for each one clerk, and may remove the same for good and sufficient cause. The salary of the superintendents shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month, and the salary of the clerks shall not exceed seventy-five dollars per month. Such salaries and expenses of such bureaus shall be paid in the same manner as other expenses of the bureau of labor statistics.

SEC. 6749. Duties.—The superintendent of each free public employment bureau shall receive and record, in a book to be kept for that purpose, the names of all persons applying for employment or for help, designating opposite the name and address of each applicant the character of employment or help desired. Such superintendent shall also perform such other duties in the collection of labor statistics and in keeping of books and accounts of his bureau as the commissioner may require, and shall report monthly to the commissioner of labor statistics the expenses of maintaining his bureau.

SEC. 6750. Applicants.—Every application for employment or help made to a free employment bureau shall be void after thirty days from its receipt, unless renewed by the applicant. If an applicant for help has secured the same, he shall, within ten days thereafter, notify the superintendent of the bureau to which application was therefor made. Such notice shall contain the name and last preceding address of the employees received through such bureau. If any such applicant neglects to notify such superintendent he shall be barred from all future rights and privileges of such employment bureau, at the discretion of the commissioner of labor statistics, to whom the superintendent shall report such neglect.

SECTION 6751. Licenses; fees.—[No employment office where a fee is charged for service may be kept without a license from the State commissioner of labor statistics. An annual fee of $25 is required in cities of less than 50,000 population, and $50 in larger cities. A bond in the amount of $500, conditioned on compliance with the law, is required of license holders, on which the commissioner may bring action; he may also revoke licenses for violations, after hearing. The license and a copy of the act must be posted conspicuously.

A register of applicants for help or servants must be kept, giving names and addresses and the nature of the employment, such register to be open to official inspection. The fee for registering applications for help or for employment shall not exceed $1, for which a receipt must be given, showing the amount, name, date and nature of work to be done or situation to be procured. If no situation is procured within one month, the fee must, on demand, be returned in full. Publishing false notices, giving false information or making false entries is forbidden.]

SEC. 6752. Enforcement.—[It is the duty of the commissioner of labor statistics to enforce this act. Violations are punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100, or imprisonment not over six months, or both.]

SEC. 6754. Exemptions.—[Free public employment bureaus, and agencies maintained by charitable organizations are not within the foregoing provisions.]

SEC. 6755. Prohibited acts.—[Deception, the sending of females to places of immoral resort, or failure to secure employment within 3 days and to return the fee after demand subjects to a fine of $100 to $1,000 or imprisonment not less than 60 days nor more than one year, or both.]

Arbitration and mediation of labor disputes—State board

SECTION 6756. Appointment of board.— * * * , the governor of the State, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint three competent persons to serve as a State board of mediation and arbitration; one of whom shall be an employer of labor, or selected from some association representing employers of labor, and one who shall be an employee holding membership in some bona fide trade or labor union; the third shall be some person who is neither an employee nor an employer of labor. One member of said board shall be appointed for one year, one for two years, and one for three years, and all appointments thereafter shall be for three years or until their respective successors are appointed in the manner herein provided. If a vacancy occurs in said board by death or otherwise, at any time, the governor shall appoint some competent person to fill the unexpired term.

Sec. 6757. Secretary.—The board shall appoint a secretary, who shall hold office during the pleasure of said board, and whose duty it shall be to keep a full and faithful record of the proceedings of the board, and shall also have possession of all books and documents, and shall perform such other duties as the board may prescribe. He shall, under the direction of the board, issue subpœnas and administer oaths in all cases before the board, and shall call for and examine books, papers and documents of any parties to the controversy.

Sec. 6758. Compensation.—The compensation of the members of the board of mediation and arbitration, and the clerk thereof shall be as follows: Each shall receive five dollars per day and three cents per mile, both ways, between their homes and the place of meeting, by the nearest comfortable routes of travel, and such other necessary traveling expenses as may be incurred in the discharge of their duties to be paid out of the State treasury upon a warrant signed by the president of said board and approved by the governor: Provided, That neither said board nor the clerk thereof shall receive any compensation except for time actually engaged in the discharge of their duties as set forth in this article and in going to and from the place of meeting.

Sec. 6759. Organization.—Each member of said board shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, be sworn to support the constitution and faithfully demean himself in office. They shall organize at once by the choice of one of their number as chairman, and the board shall, as soon as possible, after its organization, establish suitable rules of procedure. Said board may hold meetings at any time or place in the State, whenever the same shall become necessary, and two members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Sec. 6760. Threatened strikes.—Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the board that a strike or a lockout is about to occur, or is seriously threatened, involving ten or more persons, in any part of the State, it shall be the duty of said board to proceed as soon as possible to the locality of such dispute, strike or lockout and place itself in communication with the parties to the controversy, and endeavor by mediation to effect a settlement. Should all efforts at conciliation fail, it shall be the duty of the board to inquire into the causes of said grievance or dispute, and to this end it is hereby authorized to subpœna and examine witnesses, and send for books and papers. Subpœnas may be signed and oaths administered by any member of the board. Said board is further authorized to subpœna as witnesses anyone connected with the department of [or] business affected, or other persons whom they may suspect of having knowledge of the matters in controversy or dispute, and anyone who keeps the records of the wages earned in such department, and examine them under oath touching such matters and require the production of books and papers containing the record of wages earned or paid. All processes issued by said board may be delivered or sent to any sheriff, constable or police officer, who shall forthwith serve or post the same as may be required, and make due returns thereof, according to directions, and for such service he shall receive the fees allowed by law in similar cases, payable from the treasury or the county or city wherein the controversy to be arbitrated exists, upon a warrant signed by the president of the board of mediation and arbitration. Witnesses shall receive the same compensation as witnesses in courts of record, which shall be paid in the same manner as sheriffs, constables and police officers above mentioned. And the board shall have power and authority to maintain and enforce order at its hearings and obedience to its process.

Note.—This board is not a court and can not exercise purely judicial power, nor can such power be conferred upon it by the legislature. The courts can not punish for contempts committed against the board. State v. Ryan, 182 Mo. 349, 81 S. W. 435.

Sec. 6761. Violations.—[Violations entail a fine, $20 to $500, or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days, or both.]

SEC. 6762. Controversies to be submitted.—In all cases when any grievance or dispute shall arise between any employer and his employees, said dispute involving ten or more employees, it shall be the duty of the parties to said controversy to submit the same to said board for investigation. Within ten days after the completion of said examination or investigation authorized by this article, the board, or a majority thereof, shall render a decision stating such details as will clearly show the nature of such controversy, and points in dispute disposed of by them and make a written report of their findings and recommendations, and shall furnish the governor and each party to the controversy a true and complete copy of the same, and shall have a copy thereof published in some local newspaper.

SEC. 6763. Decision binding, when.—In all cases where the application for arbitration is mutual, or both parties agree to submit to the decision of the board, said decision shall be final and binding upon the parties concerned in said controversy and dispute. In all cases where either party to a dispute refuses to agree to arbitration, the decision of the board shall be final and binding upon the parties thereto, unless exceptions be filed with the clerk of said board, within five days after said decision is rendered and announced.

SEC. 6764. Violations.—[Violations incur penalty of fine, $50 to $100, or imprisonment not exceeding 6 months, or both.]

SEC. 6765. Reports.—Said board shall make biennial reports to the governor of the State, and shall include therein such statements, facts, and explanations as will disclose the actual workings of the board, and such suggestions as to legislation as may seem to the members of the board conducive to a speedy and satisfactory adjustment of disputes between employers and employees.

Hours of labor

SECTION 6766. Eight hours a day's labor.— * * * The period of eight hours shall be and constitute a legal day's work; but nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prevent parties to any contract for work, services, or labor from agreeing upon a longer or shorter time. This section shall not apply to persons hired or employed by the month, nor to laborers or farm hands in the service of farmers or others engaged in agriculture.

SEC. 6767. Limit of eight hours.—It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation engaged in carrying on any kind of mining, mechanical, chemical, manufacturing, or smelting business, to work their employees in any mill or mills, or plants, while engaged in crushing rocks and mine products, containing mineral or ores, or engaged in separating the minerals or ores from rock and such combination with which the mineral or ores are mixed, or reducing or roasting, or refining or smelting minerals or ores, from and after the time such rocks, or combination of rocks and mine products, or minerals, or ores are taken out of the mines, at such labor or industry, for a period of time longer than eight hours in a day of twenty-four hours, and it is hereby declared that eight hours shall constitute a day of employment, for all laborers, or employees, engaged in the kind of labor or industry aforesaid.

SEC. 6768. Violations.—Any person or persons, company or corporations who shall violate any of the provisions of the preceding section shall, on conviction, be fined in a sum not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 6769. Limit of eight hours.—It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation engaged in carrying on the business of any kind of silica mining, plate glass manufacturing or smelting business to work their employees in any mine or mines, mill or mills, factories, or plants for a period of time longer than eight hours in a day of twenty-four hours and it is hereby declared that eight hours shall constitute a day of employment for all laborers or employees engaged in the kind of labor or industries aforesaid.

SEC. 6770. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $500.]

Employment of women

SECTION 6771. Hours of labor.—No female shall be employed, permitted, or suffered to work, manual or physical, in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishments, or factory, workshop, laundry, or bakery, or restaurant, or any place of amusement, or to do any stenographic or clerical work of any character in any of the divers kinds of establishments and places of industry, herein above described, or by any person, firm or corporation engaged in any express or transportation or public utility business, or by any common carrier, or by any public institution, incorporated or unincorporated, in this State, more than nine hours during any one day, or more than fifty-four hours during any one week: Provided, That operators of canning or packing plants in rural communities, or in cities of less than ten thousand inhabitants wherein perishable farm products are canned, or packed, shall be exempt from the provisions of this section for a number of days not to exceed ninety in any one year: Provided further, That nothing in this section shall be construed or understood to apply to telephone companies: And be it further provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to towns or cities having a population of 3,000 inhabitants or less.

SEC. 6772. Vacation at childbirth.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to knowingly employ a female or permit a female to be employed in any of the diverse kinds of establishments, places of industry, or places of business specified in section 6771, within three weeks before or three weeks after childbirth. Any person, firm, or corporation who shall violate this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECS. 6773, 6774. Violations; enforcement.—[Violations of the two foregoing sections entail fines, $25 to $100 for each offense. Enforcement is in the hands of the industrial inspector.]

Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 6775. Semimonthly pay day.—The employees of the operators of all manufactories, including plate glass manufactories, operated within this State shall be regularly paid in full of all wages due them at least once in every fifteen days, in lawful money, and at no pay day shall there be withheld from the earnings of any employee any sum to exceed the amount due him for his labor for five days next preceding any such pay day. Any such operator who fails and refuses to pay his employees, their agents, assigns or anyone duly authorized to collect such wages, as in this section provided, shall become immediately liable to any such employee, his agents or assigns for an amount double the sum due such employee at the time of such failure to pay the wages due, to be recovered by civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction within this State, and no employee, within the meaning of this section, shall be deemed to have waived any right accruing to him under this section by any contract he may make contrary to the provisions hereof.

Payment of wages of railroad employees

SECTIONS 6778–6780. Monthly payment.—[All persons or corporations engaged in the operation of railroads or railroad shops are required to pay wages monthly, on or before the 15th day of the month following that in which the wages were earned (see secs. 9802, 9803).]

Inspection of factories—Inspector

SECTION 6781. Inspector to be appointed.—Within thirty days after the passage of this article, the governor of the State, with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint a competent person to serve as State industrial inspector, who shall hold office for four years from the date of his appointment, or until his successor is appointed and qualified. The industrial inspector may appoint, from time to time, two assistant industrial inspectors, and ten deputy industrial inspectors, two of whom may be women, who may be removed by him at any time for just cause. Before entering upon his official duties, the inspector shall make oath to support the Constitution and faithfully demean himself in office; he shall also execute a bond to the State of Missouri, in such sum as the governor may prescribe, with two or more solvent sureties, to be approved by the governor, conditioned upon his faithful performance of the duties imposed upon him by law.

SEC. 6782. Districts.—The State industrial inspector may divide the State into districts, assign one or more deputy inspectors to each district, and may, at his discretion, change or transfer them from one district to another. It shall be the duty of the industrial inspector, his assistants or deputy inspectors, to make not less than two inspections during each year of all factories, warehouses, office buildings, freight depots, machine shops, garages, laundries, tenement workshops, bake shops, restaurants, bowling alleys, pool halls, theaters, concert halls, moving picture houses or places of public amusement, and all other manufacturing, mechanical and mercantile establishments, and workshops. The last inspection shall be completed on or before the first day of October of each year, and the industrial inspector shall enforce all laws relating to the inspection of the establishments enumerated heretofore in this section, and prosecute all persons for violating the same. Any municipal ordinance relating to said establishments or their inspection shall be enforced by the industrial inspector. The industrial inspector, his assistants and deputy inspectors may administer oaths and take affidavits in matters concerning the enforcement of the various inspection laws relating to these establishments: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to mercantile establishments that employ less than ten persons that are located in towns and cities that have three thousand inhabitants or less.

SEC. 6783. Fees for inspection.—The inspector provided for in this article shall be entitled to demand and receive from the owner, superintendent, manager, or other person in charge of every establishment inspected, as provided for by law, the following fee for each inspection made in accordance with the provisions of * * * [secs. 6766–6850] or elsewhere authorized or required of said inspector by law to be made: For the inspection of every building or shop in which three or less persons are employed or found at work, the sum of fifty cents; for the inspection of every building or shop in which more than three or not exceeding thirteen persons are employed, the sum of one dollar; for the inspection of every building or shop in which more than thirteen and not exceeding twenty-six persons are employed, the sum of two dollars; for the inspection of every building or shop in which more than twenty-six and less than fifty persons are employed, the sum of three dollars; for the inspection of every building or shop in which more than fifty persons and less than eighty persons are employed, the sum of four dollars; and in every building or shop in which more than eighty persons are employed an additional fee of one dollar shall be charged and collected for every fifty additioual persons employed, or any additional fraction thereof; and the fee herein provided for shall be due immediately upon completion of the inspection. The owner, superintendent, manager, or other person in charge of any establishment at the time of inspection shall be required to furnish the inspector making the inspection a true statement of the number of persons employed in such establishment at the time of inspection, and any owner, superintendent, manager, or other person in charge who shall fail or refuse to furnish such statement, or understate the number of persons employed in such establishment at the time of inspection, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense. Any person, firm or corporation, agent or manager, superintendent or foreman of any firm or corporation, whether acting for himself or for such firm or corporation or by himself or through subagents or foremen, superintendent, or manager who shall refuse or attempt to prevent the admission of any inspector authorized by this article, upon or within the premises or building of any establishments or place which he is required by law to inspect, at any reasonable business hour, or during working hours of the persons employed therein or thereat, or shall in any manner interfere with the performance of the official duties of such inspector, or shall neglect or refuse to pay the inspection fee upon the completion of such inspection, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense: Provided, That the owner or manager of any establishment inspected shall not be required to pay for more than two such inspections between the first day of October of one year and thirtieth day of September of the next year, unless, through noncompliance with the written orders of the inspector, additional inspections are made necessary.

SEC. 6784. Salaries.—All fees received by the industrial inspector for all inspections provided for by law shall be paid into the State treasury on or before the last day of each month, to be placed to the credit of the "industrial inspection fund." The industrial inspector shall receive an annual salary of twenty-five hundred dollars; the two assistant industrial inspectors shall receive an annual salary of eighteen hundred dollars each, and the deputy industrial inspectors shall each receive a salary of one hundred fifty dollars per month for the time actually employed; and the industrial inspector, assistant industrial inspectors, and deputy industrial inspectors shall further receive actual necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties, to be paid monthly upon a warrant of the State auditor, issued upon vouchers therefor. The industrial inspector shall establish and maintain an office in the city of St. Louis, and also an office in the city of Kansas City and the city of St. Joseph. The offices herein provided for in St. Louis and Kansas City shall each be in charge of one of said assistant industrial inspectors and the office in St. Joseph shall be in charge of one deputy industrial inspector. Each of said assistant and deputy industrial inspectors shall devote his entire time to the discharge of the duties of the office in the city for which he is appointed. The persons appointed assistant industrial inspectors under this article shall possess all the qualifications now required of city officers by the charters of the respective cities in which their said offices are located: Provided, That no salary or expense shall be paid for the industrial inspector or assistant or deputy industrial inspectors or clerks in excess of the receipts from the fees paid into the Industrial inspection funds: And provided further, That the salary of the industrial inspector and his assistants, and all expenses for traveling, office rent, printing, stationery, postage, and other items of expenditure shall be limited for the biennial term of two years to an amount not exceeding sixty-five thousand dollars, and all money remaining in said industrial inspection fund at the close of each biennial term, after the payment of the salaries and expenses herein provided for, shall be transferred to the general revenue fund.

Section 6785. Accidents to be reported.—All accidents in manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile or other establishments or places within this State where labor is employed which prevent the injured person or persons from returning to work within four days after the injury, or which result in death, shall be reported by the person in charge of such establishment or place to the industrial inspector, or to one of the assistant or deputy inspectors provided for by this chapter, and also to the city or county physician, when there be such an officer, which notice may be given by mail.

Sec. 6786. Belting, etc., to be guarded.—The belting, shafting, machines, machinery, gearing, and drums in all manufacturing, mechanical, and other establishments in this State, when so placed as to be dangerous to persons employed therein or thereabouts while engaged in their ordinary duties, shall be safely and securely guarded when possible; if not possible, then notice of its danger shall be conspicuously posted in such establishments. Whenever the industrial inspector, or his assistant, or deputy, finds that guards have not been installed nor notice of danger posted, as required by the provisions of this section, he shall at once, in writing, order the owner or owners, or the person or persons in charge of the machinery, plant, establishment, or place, to make the alterations, additions, or repairs necessary within ten days; and if the said alterations, additions, or repairs be not made within ten days from the date of such order, then such failure to make such alterations shall be deemed a violation of this article, and in addition to the penalties hereinafter prescribed for such violations, the inspector, or his assistant or deputy, shall be and is hereby empowered to, and he shall seal said defective appliance or appliances in such a manner as to render the same inoperative until said order of the inspector has been complied with.

Sec. 6787. Circular saws.—All power-driven circular saws must be provided with safety guards which raise and lower automatically for various thicknesses of material, and must also be provided with a kick-back dog to prevent the board binding on the saw and flying back. Said appliances shall be subject to the approval of the State industrial inspector, his assistants, or deputies.

Sec. 6788. Women and children cleaning moving machinery, etc.—No minor or woman shall be required to clean any part of the mill gearing or machinery while it is in motion in such establishment, nor shall any minor under the age of sixteen years be required to work between the fixed and traversing or the traversing parts of any machine while it is in motion by the action of steam, water, electricity or other mechanical power; and no woman shall be required to work between the fixed and traversing or the traversing parts of any such machine, except the machine being operated by her.

Sec. 6789. Hatchways, etc.—The openings of all hatchways, elevators, and wellholes upon every floor of every manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile or public building in this State shall be protected by good and sufficient trapdoors or self-closing hatches or safety catches, or strong guardrails at least three feet high, and all due diligence shall be used to keep such trapdoors closed at all times, except when in actual use by the occupant of the building having the use and control of the same. Whenever the State industrial inspector, or one of his assistants or deputies, finds any violations of the foregoing requirement to guard hatchways, elevators, and wellholes, be shall at once, in writing, notify the owner or owners thereof, or the person or persons in charge of said appliance or appliances, to make the necessary alterations, additions, or repairs within ten days; and if said alterations, additions or repairs are not made within ten days from the date of such notice, the inspector, or his assistant or deputy, shall seal such appliance or appliances in such a manner as to render the same inoperative until there has been compliance with the order of the inspector.

SEC. 6790. Fire escapes.—All manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile or other establishments in this State, of two or more stories in height, in which twenty or more persons are employed above the first floor thereof, shall be provided with at least one or more outside iron fire escapes. For every twenty persons employed on every floor above the second floor of such establishment, there shall be one rope or portable fire escape, and each story shall be amply supplied with means for extinguishing fire.

SEC. 6791. Doors to open outward.—In all such establishments the main doors, both inside and outside, shall open outwardly, when the inspector, in writing, so directs; and no outside or inside door of any building wherein labor is employed shall be so locked, bolted, or otherwise fastened during the hours of labor as to prevent egress.

SEC. 6792. Limewash or paint to be used.—Every factory and workshop in this State where women and children are employed, and where dusty work is carried on, shall be lime-washed or painted at least once in every twelve months.

SEC. 6793. Placing explosives near egress.—No explosive or inflammable compound shall be used in any establishment in this State where labor is employed, in such place or manner as to obstruct or render hazardous the egress of operatives in case of fire.

SEC. 6794. Wash rooms for women.—In every factory, workshop or other establishment in this State where girls or women are employed, where unclean work of any kind has to be performed, suitable places shall be provided for such girls or women to wash and dress, and stairs in use by female employees shall in all such establishments be properly screened.

SEC. 6795. Water-closets.—Separate water-closets shall be provided for the use of employees of either sex in manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile and other establishments in this State where persons of both sexes are employed.

SEC. 6796. Ventilation.—All manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile and other establishments in this State shall be so ventilated as to render harmless all impurities, as near as may be.

SEC. 6797. Seats for female employees.—In every manufacturing, mechanical, mercantile and other establishment in this State wherein girls or women are employed, there shall be provided and conveniently located seats sufficient to comfortably seat such girls or women, and during such times as such girls or women are not necessarily required by their duties to be upon their feet, they shall be allowed to occupy the seats provided.

SEC. 6798. Polishing wheels.—Every person, firm or corporation using any polishing wheel or machine of any character which generates dust, smoke or poisonous gases in its operation, shall provide each and every such wheel or machine with a hood, which shall be connected with a blower or suction fan of sufficient power to carry off said dust, smoke and gases and prevent its inhalation by those employed about said wheel or machine; and any violation of this section is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor, and a person, firm or corporation so violating this section shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars for each and every offense. It shall be the duty of the industrial inspector and his assistants and deputies to see that this section is enforced and to prosecute any violations thereof.

SEC. 6799. Ventilation.—In all establishments in this State wherein labor is employed, where any process is carried on by which dust or smoke is generated, the industrial inspector and his assistants and deputies shall have the power and the authority in order that a fan or some other contrivance be put in to prevent the inhalation of such dust or smoke by employees.

SEC. 6800. Overcrowding.—Where, in the opinion of the inspector, any establishment wherein labor is employed is so overcrowded with employees as to endanger health or safety, the industrial inspector, when supported in his opinion by the opinion of some reputable physician, shall be authorized and empowered to prohibit such overcrowding.

SEC. 6801. Unsanitary or dangerous conditions.—Whenever the State industrial inspector, or one of his assistants or deputies, finds that the heating, lighting, ventilation or sanitary arrangements of any establishment where labor is employed is such as to be dangerous to the health or safety of employees therein or thereat, or the means of egress in case of fire or other disaster are not sufficient, or that the building, or any part thereof is unsafe, or that the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums or other machinery are located so as to be dangerous to employees, and not sufficiently guarded, or that the vats, pans, ladles or structures filled with molten or hot liquid, or any furnace, be not sufficiently surrounded with proper safeguards, or the platforms, passageways and other arrangements around, in or about any railway yard or switch be such as to probably lead to injury or accident to those employed in, around, or about any such establishment or place, shall at once, in writing, order the owner or owners, or the person or persons in charge of such establishment or place to make the alterations or additions necessary within ten days; and if such alterations or additions be not made within ten days from the date of such order, then such failure to make such alterations shall be deemed a violation of this article, and in addition to the penalties hereinafter prescribed for such violations, the inspector, or his assistant or deputy, shall be and is hereby empowered to, and he shall seal said defective appliance or appliances in such manner as to render the same inoperative until said order of the inspector has been complied with.

SEC. 6802. Scaffolds on buildings.—All scaffolds on structures used in or for the erection, repairing or taking down of any kind of building shall be well and safely supported, and of sufficient width, and so secured as to insure the safety of persons working thereon, or passing under or about the same, against the falling thereof, or the falling of such materials or articles as may be used, placed or deposited thereon. All persons engaged in the erection, repairing or taking down of any kind of building shall exercise due caution and care so as to prevent injury or accident to those at work or near by.

SEC. 6804. Notice to inspector.—Within one month after the occupancy of any factory, the workshop or mill, the occupant shall notify the inspector, in writing, of such occupancy.

SEC. 6805. Violations.—It shall be unlawful and deemed a violation of this article for any person to break, remove, alter or otherwise render ineffective, or to aid or abet or cause same to be done, any guards installed, or the seal of any inspector affixed in accordance with the provisions of this article.

SECS. 6806–6812. Penalties.—[Penalties for violation are fine $25 to $200 for first offense, and $100 to $500 or imprisonment in default of payment for subsequent offenses.]

SEC. 6813. Wash rooms at foundries.—[Foundries at which four or more men are employed must be supplied with properly equipped wash rooms and suitable rooms for changing clothing.]

This provision is constitutional. State v. Iron & Steel Co., 268 Mo. 178, 186 S. W. 1007.

SEC. 6814. Gangways.—In all establishments mentioned in section 6813, all gangways shall be not less than eight (8) feet wide, shall be kept dry and free from any and all obstructions during all times when employees are working therein. All such gangways shall have dirt floors and shall be under water-tight roof; all water tanks shall be so placed that the top thereof shall be not less than thirty (30) inches above the level of the floor; shall be kept clear of any gangways and shall have an outlet near the top thereof, which outlet shall be connected with a sewer or other receptacle sufficient to prevent the overflow of such tank upon the floor of such establishment. Every corporation, company or person engaged in operating any such foundry shall provide and maintain adequate and efficient devices for carrying off all poisons or injurious fumes, gases and dust from such foundry.

SEC. 6815. Inspection.—[Semiannual inspections are required of all foundries in which four or more men are employed.]

SEC. 6817. Prevention of disease.—Every employer of labor in this State engaged in carrying on any work, trade or process which may produce any illness or disease peculiar to the work or process carried on, or which subjects the employee to the danger of illness or disease incident to such work, trade or process, to which employees are exposed, shall for the protection of all employees engaged in such work, trade or process, adopt and provide approved and effective devices, means or methods for the prevention of such industrial or occupational diseases as are incident to such work, trade or process.

SEC. 6818. Dangerous industries.—The carrying on of any process, or manufacture, or labor in this State in which antimony, arsenic, brass, copper, lead, mercury, phosphorus, zinc, their alloys or salts or any poisonous chemicals, minerals, acids, fumes, vapors, gases, or other substances, are generated or used, employed or handled by the employees in harmful quantities, or under harmful conditions, or come in contact with in a harmful way, are hereby declared to be especially dangerous to the health of the employees.

SEC. 6819. Working clothes.—Every employer in this State to which this article applies shall provide for and place at the disposal of the employees so engaged, and shall maintain in good condition without cost to the employees, working clothes to be kept and used exclusively by such employees while at work and all employees therein shall be required at all times while they are at work to use and wear such clothing; and in all processes of manufacture or labor referred to in this section which are productive of noxious or poisonous dusts, adequate and approved respirators shall be furnished and maintained by the employer in good condition and without cost to the employees, and such employees shall use such respirators at all times while engaged in any work productive of noxious or poisonous dusts.

SEC. 6820. Examination by physician.—Every employer engaged in carrying on any process or manufacture referred to in section 6818 shall, as often as once every calendar month, cause all employees who come into direct contact with the poisonous agencies or injurious processes referred to in section 6818, to be examined by a competent licensed and reputable physician for the purpose of ascertaining if there exists in any employee any industrial or occupational disease or illness or any disease or illness due or incident to the character of the work in which the employee is engaged.

SEC. 6821. Report.—It is hereby made the duty of any licensed physician who shall make a physical examination of any employee under the provisions of section 6820, to make within twenty-four hours a triplicate report thereof to the State board of health of the State of Missouri upon blanks to be furnished by said board upon request, and if any such disease or illness is found, the physician shall so report, and if any such disease is found, the report shall state the name and address and business of such employer and the nature of the disease in precise and definite terms of all the diseases or illness with which the employee is afflicted and the probable extent and duration thereof, the name and business of employer, and the last place and length of employment: Provided, That the failure of any such physician to receive blanks from the State board of health for making such a report shall not excuse the physician from making the report as herein required. Any physician who shall fail to make a report as required by this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than fifty dollars ($50), and in each case shall stand committed until such fine and costs are paid unless otherwise discharged by due process of law.

SEC. 6822. Duties of State board of health.—The secretary of the State board of health shall, immediately upon receipt of any report from any physician in accordance with the provisions of section 6821, transmit a copy thereof to the State industrial inspector, and a copy to the superintendent of the factory in which the employee is supposed to have contracted his ailment.

SEC. 6823. Dressing rooms, etc.—Every employer engaged in carrying on any process or manufacture or labor referred to in section 6818, shall provide, separate and apart from the workshop in which such employees are engaged, a dressing room and lavatory for the use of such employees who are exposed to poisonous or injurious dusts, fumes and gases, and such lavatory shall be kept and maintained in a hygienic and sanitary manner and provided with a sufficient number of basins or spigots with adequate washing facilities including hot and cold water, clean individual towels and soap, and sufficient shower baths, and the dressing room shall be furnished with compartment lockers, so that the ordinary street clothes of such employees shall be kept separate and apart from their working clothes. Male and female employees shall be provided for separately.

SEC. 6824. Separate rooms for meals.—No employee shall take or be allowed to take any food or drink of any kind into any room or apartment in which any process or manufacture or labor referred to in section 6818 is carried on, or in which poisonous substances or injurious or noxious fumes, dusts or gases, are present as the result of such work or process being carried on in such room or apartment, and the employees shall not remain in any such room or apartment during the time allowed for meals, and suitable provision shall be made and maintained by the employer for enabling the employees to take their meals elsewhere in such place of employment, and a sufficient number of sanitary drinking fountains containing wholesome drinking water, and providing ice for same, shall be provided and maintained for the use of the employees within reasonable access and without cost to them.

SEC. 6825. Removal of fumes and dust.—All employers engaged in carrying on any process or manufacture or labor referred to in section 6818, shall provide and maintain adequate devices for carrying off all poisonous or injurious fumes from any furnaces which may be employed in any such process or manufacture or labor, and shall also provide and maintain adequate and efficient facilities for carrying off all injurious dust, and the floors in any room or apartment where such work or process is carried on shall be kept and maintained in a smooth and hard condition, and no sweeping shall be permitted during working hours except where the floor in such workshop is dampened so as to prevent the raising of dust; and all ore, slag, dross and fume shall be kept in some room or apartment separate from the workrooms occupied by the employees, and all mixing and weighing of such ore, slag, dross or fume shall be done in such separate room or apartment, and all such material shall be dampened or covered before being handled or transported by employees.

SEC. 6826. Prevention of injury by dust.—When any flues or other apparatus are used in any such process or manufacture or labor referred to in section 6818, and when such flues or other apparatus are being cleaned or emptied, the employer shall in every case provide and maintain a sufficient, adequate and efficient means or device, such as canvas bags or other approved device, or by dampening the dust, or some other efficient method for catching and collecting the dust and preventing it from unreasonably fouling or polluting the air in which the employees are obliged to work, and, wherever practicable, the dust occasioned in any process or manufacture referred to in section 6818, and in any polishing or finishing therein, shall be dampened or wet down or covered, and every reasonable precaution shall be adopted by the employer to prevent the unnecessary creation or raising of dust, and all floors shall be washed or scrubbed at least once every working day; and such parts of the work or process as are especially dangerous to the employees, on account of poisonous fumes, dusts and gases, shall, where practicable, be carried on in separate rooms and under cover of some suitable and efficient device to remove the danger to the health of such employees as far as may be reasonably consistent with the manufacturing process, and the fixtures and tools employed in any such process or manufacture or labor, shall be thoroughly washed and cleaned at reasonable intervals.

SEC. 6827. Hoppers, etc.—All hoppers or chutes or similar devices used in the course of any process or manufacture referred to in section 6818 shall be provided with a hood or covering, and an adequate and efficient apparatus or other proper device for the purpose of drawing away from the employees, noxious, poisonous, or injurious dusts, and preventing the employees from coming into unnecessary contact therewith; and all conveyances or receptacles used for the transportation about or the storage in any place where any such process or manufacture or labor referred to in section 6818 is carried on, shall be properly covered or dampened in such a way as to protect the health of the employees, and no refuse of a dangerous character incident to the work or process carried on in any such place shall be allowed to remain accumulated on the floors thereof.

SEC. 6828. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the State industrial Inspector to enforce the provisions of this act and to prosecute all violations of the same before any magistrate or any court of competent jurisdiction in this State, and for that purpose the State industrial inspector and his assistants are empowered to and shall visit and inspect, at least once a year, and at reasonable hours, and as often as practicable, all places of employment covered by the provisions of this article.

SEC. 6829. Copy of law, and instructions, to be posted.—For the purpose of disseminating a general knowledge of the provisions of this article and of the dangers to the health of employees in any work or process covered by the provisions of this article, the employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every room or apartment in which any such work or process is carried on, appropriate notices of the known dangers to the health of any such employees arising from such work or process, and simple instructions as to any known means of avoiding, so far as possible, the injurious consequences thereof, and the State industrial inspector shall have prepared a notice covering the salient features of this article, and furnish a reasonable number of copies thereof to employers in this State, affected by the provisions of this article, which notice shall be posted by every such employer in a conspicuous place in every room or apartment in such place of employment. The notices required by this section shall be printed on cardboard of suitable character and the type used shall be such as to make them easily legible.

SEC. 6830. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $200, violators to be held until fine is paid.]

SEC. 6831. Definition.—In this article unless the context otherwise requires, "employer" includes persons, partnerships, and corporations.

SEC. 6834. Manufactures in tenements.—No room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house shall be used by more than three persons, not immediate members of the family living therein, for the manufacture of any wearing apparel, purses, feathers, artificial flowers, or other goods for male or female wear. Every person, firm, or corporation contracting for the manufacture of any of the articles mentioned in this section, or giving out the complete material from which they are to be made, or to be wholly or partially finished, shall keep a register of the names and addresses of all persons to whom such work is given to be made or with whom they have contracted to do the same. Such register shall be produced for the inspection, and a copy thereof shall be furnished to the factory inspector on demand.

SEC. 6835. Certain goods to be labeled.—No person, firm, or corporation shall knowingly sell or expose for sale any of the articles mentioned herein when such articles were made in violation of this article; and the factory inspector, his deputy, or any officer appointed to enforce the provisions of this article, who shall find any such articles made in violation of the provisions of this article, or who shall find that the articles herein mentioned are made under unclean or unhealthy conditions, shall conspicuously affix thereto a label containing the words "tenement made" or "made under unhealthy conditions," as the case may be, printed in plain letters on a tag not less than two inches in length, and it shall be unlawful to remove such tag except by the permission of the factory inspector or the officer under whose direction such label was affixed.

SEC. 6836. Violations.—[Fines of from $10 to $50, or imprisonment not more than 10 days, or both, are penalties for violations.]

SEC. 6837. Sanitation required in certain factories.—Every person employing 3 or more persons in a factory, or employing children, young persons or women, 3 or more in number, in a workshop, shall keep such factory or workshop in a cleanly state and free from effluvia from any drain, privy or other nuisance.

SEC. 6838. Toilets.—[Where three or more persons are employed, toilet conveniences must be furnished, separate for the sexes if both sexes are employed, sufficient for the reasonable use of all persons.]

SEC. 6839. Ventilation.—Every factory in which 3 or more persons are employed, and every workshop in which children, young persons or women, 3 or more in number, are employed, shall be so ventilated while work is carried on therein that the air shall not become so exhausted as to be injurious to the health of the persons employed therein, and shall also be so ventilated as to render harmless, so far as is practicable, all the gases, vapors, dust, or other impurities generated in the course of the manufacturing process or handicraft carried on therein that may be injurious to health.

SEC. 6840. Exhaust fans.—If, in a factory or workshop included in section 6839 of this article, any process is carried on by which dust is generated and inhaled to an injurious extent by the persons employed therein, and it appears to the industrial inspector, or his assistant, or deputy, that such inhalation could be to a great extent prevented by the use of a fan or other mechanical means, and that the same could be provided without excessive expense, such inspector may direct a fan, or other mechanical means of a proper construction, to be provided within a reasonable time; and such fan or other mechanical means shall be so provided, maintained, and used.

SEC. 6841. Violations.—[Violations of secs. 6837 6840 are punishable by a fine, $50 to $200; but no criminal proceeding shall be instituted until four weeks after notice in writing and continuing noncompliance.]

SEC. 6842. Definitions.—The following expressions used in this article shall have the following meanings: The expression "person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, company, or association. The expression "child" means a person under the age of fourteen years. The expression "young person" means a person of the age of fourteen years and under the age of eighteen years. The expression "woman" means a woman of the age of eighteen years and upward. The expression "factory" means any premises where steam, water, or other mechanical power is used in aid of any manufacturing process there carried on. The expression "workshop" means any premises, room, or place, not being a factory as above defined, wherein any manual labor is exercised by way of trade, or for purposes of gain, in or incidental to any process of making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing, or adapting for sale any article or part of an article, and to which or over which premises, room, or place the employer of the persons working therein has the right of access or control: Provided, however, That the exercise of manual labor in a private house or room by a family dwelling therein, shall not in itself constitute such house or room a workshop within this definition.

Inspection, etc., of steam boilers—Board of boiler rules

SECTIONS 6851-6855. Board created; functions.—[A State board of boiler rules is to be appointed by the governor, consisting of 5 members, appointed for terms of 4 years each. The State factory inspector is ex officio a member, and is chairman; other members serve on a per diem basis to be paid for not more than 20 days per year. It is the duty of the board to formulate a boiler code, to conform as nearly as possible to the code of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, all rules and changes to be effective only after approval of the governor.]

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 7458-7462. Weighing coal.—[Where coal is mined by bushel or ton rates, it must not be screened before it is weighed and the miner duly credited. The same rule applies to loaders. Weighmen act under oath, and the employment of a checkweighman by the miners must not be interfered with. Inspectors are to test scales, and penalties attach to the use of false scales.]

SECS. 7463, 7464. Wages.—[Wages are to be paid semimonthly, and a lien attaches to real and personal property to secure the payment of wages due miners and mine laborers.]

SECS. 7465, 7466. Hours.—[Eight hours per day is the maximum employment in mining or mine excavation.]

SECS. 7467, 7468. Coming to surface for meals.—[Miners working underground are to be allowed to come to the surface for meals, and must be hoisted and lowered for such purpose free of cost. One hour's time must be allowed for eating and rest.]

SECS. 7469-7493. Provisions for safety.—[Maps must be furnished the county court of the county in which any mine is located, corrected annually; also a copy at the mine. Escape shafts must be provided, at least two outlets at every working place, with safe and available means of ingress and egress. Ventilation, the handling of explosives, blasting, travel ways, illuminating oils, the approach to suspected collections of gas and water, signaling, hoisting, the location and protection of boilers, and the reporting and investigation of accidents are regulated. Hoisting equipment must be inspected semiweekly, and inspectors may close mines on account of defective conditions.]

SECS. 7494–7506. Inspection.—[The governor appoints a State chief mine inspector, who, with the approval of the governor, appoints two coal mine inspectors and four lead, zinc, and other mine inspectors; also a secretary of the bureau of mines thus constituted. The inspectors are to see that proper precautions are observed as to the health and safety of workmen, and make reports as to operations, employment, wages paid, etc. Inspectors may enter mines at all reasonable times, and employers must furnish necessary facilities for inspecting mines and machinery. Defects in mines, timbering, ventilation, etc., are to be reported to the county attorney, and in case of his failure to act, the inspector may proceed against the owner or operator; if cause appears, the mine may be closed by the court until conditions are remedied.

Where a complaint is received of dangerous conditions or violations of law in mines other than coal mines, an examination must be made, and proceedings may be taken as above; inspectors may also investigate as often as they deem proper, and require the correction of defects in ventilation, modes of egress, or other conditions affecting safety. Where dust is produced, provisions for sprinkling may be required and the raising of dust from drilling or blasting be prevented as far as possible.]

SECS. 7507, 7508. Dressing rooms, etc.—[Dressing rooms with suitable equipment, including washing conveniences, heat, etc., must be provided at all zinc and lead mines. Sanitary drinking devices must also be supplied.]

SECS. 7509–7511. Wash houses.—[Operators of coal mines where 10 or more men are employed at digging coal must provide a suitable wash house, properly heated, and kept in condition for use. Water must be available, to be carried by the workmen, who also furnish their own towels, bashs, and soap, and care for and are responsible for property left by them in the wash house.]

SECS. 7512, 7513. Stables.—[Special provisions relate to fire hazards, ventilation, lighting, etc.]

SEC. 7514. Fatal injuries.—For any injury to persons or property occasioned by any violation of this article or failure to comply with any of its provisions, a right of action shall accrue to the party injured for any direct damages sustained thereby; and in case of loss of life by reason of such violation or failure as aforesaid, a right of action shall accrue to the widow of the person so killed, his lineal heirs or adopted children, or to any person or persons who were, before such loss of life, dependent for support on the person or persons so killed, for a like recovery of damages sustained by reason of such loss of life or lives: Provided, That all suits brought under this article shall be commenced within one year after any cause of action shall have accrued, under this article and not afterward; And provided further, That any person entitled to sue under this section for loss of life or lives may recover any sum not exceeding ten thousand dollars.

This section is constitutional. The limitation of $10,000, while the general damage act makes a limit of $5,000, is not invalid as class legislation. 56 S. W. 1091.

SECS. 7515–7526. Working.—[Rules prohibit certain injuries or acts that may cause injury or imperil the security of life or property. Timbers must be furnished by the operator. The method of working by the room and pillar plan is prescribed, and the storage and use of explosives regulated. Shot firers must be employed in dangerous mines or where coal is blasted "off the solid."]

SEC. 7527. Qualifications of miners.—[A person wishing to work underground as a miner must give proof of a year's experience with or as a practical miner and satisfy the coal mine inspector of his competency. Until this is done he may work only with a practical miner.]

SECS. 7528–7546. Mining board; certificates.—[A mining board of three members is appointed by the governor, one a miner, one a mining engineer, and one a mine owner. Candidates for appointment as inspectors of coal mines, and persons seeking employment as mine managers, foremen, examiners, and hoisting engineers must conform to prescribed standards of age, habits, and experience, and pass examinations as to technical qualifications. Certificates from other States may be recognized in the discretion of the board. Temporary employment is permitted in cases of emergency if no holder of a certificate is available, but only for limited periods. Certificates may be revoked for incapacity, misconduct, or other satisfactory causes, on hearing after notice. An examination fee of $1 is charged in all cases, and for certificates $2.]

Recovery of wages, etc., due from counties

SECTION 9507. Claims for work and labor.—If a claim against a county be for work and labor done, or material furnished in good faith by the claimant, under contract with the county authorities, or with any agent of the county lawfully authorized, the claimant, if he shall have fulfilled his contract, shall be entitled to recover the just value of such work, labor, and material, though such authorities or agent may not, in making such contract, have pursued the form of proceedings prescribed by law.

Payment of wages of employees of corporations

SECTION 9779. Wages a prior claim.—All corporations shall make payment to their employees and other operatives, of wages due for all labor and services performed by them, within three months next preceding a demand made therefor, not exceeding one hundred dollars, in preference to any other claim, debts, or demands whatsoever, not secured by specific liens on property; and such priority of payment may be enforced by civil action. Payment of wages shall be made on or before the fifteenth day of each month for the full amount of all wages earned previous to the first day of that month, with interest at six per centum. If not paid, to be added to the amount of said wages when paid or recovered by suit. All debts due employees or operatives for wages of their labor shall have priority of payment from the money and assets of the corporations in the hands of officers or agents, or any receiver or assignee, over every other claim not specifically secured. Every corporation, officer, agent, receiver, assignee, or person holding money or assets, refusing to recognize the priority of employees' claims, shall be liable to such employees for the amount of all loss and damages occasioned by his unlawfully withholding the money.

The president of a corporation voluntarily paying its employees with his own money is not subrogated to their rights. 126 Mo. 393.
An employee of a corporation can not recover his wages of a sheriff holding its assets by attachment. 69 Mo. App. 34.

Contracts of employment—Discharge—Reducing wages

SECTION 9780. Statement to be furnished.—Whenever any employee of any corporation doing business in this State shall be discharged or voluntarily quit the service of such corporation it shall be the duty of the superintendent or manager of said corporation, upon the request of such employee (if such employee shall have been in the service of said corporation for a period of at least ninety days), to issue to such employee a letter, duly signed by such superintendent or manager, setting forth the nature and character of service rendered by such employee to such corporation and the duration thereof, and truly stating for what cause, if any, such employee has quit such service; and if any such superintendent or manager shall fail or refuse to issue such letter to such employee when so requested by such employee, such superintendent or manager shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

This section is constitutional and does not interfere with the freedom to contract without due process of law. Prudential Ins. Co. v. Cheek, 259 S. W. 530, 42 Sup. Ct. 516.

SEC. 9782. Notice of reduction of wages.—Any railway, mining, express, telegraph, manufacturing, or other company or corporation doing business in this State, and desiring to reduce the wages of its employees or any of them, shall give to the employees to be affected thereby thirty days' notice thereof.

SEC. 9783. How notice may be given.—Such notice may be given by posting a written or printed handbill, specifying the class of employees whose wages are to be reduced and the amount of the reduction, in a conspicuous place in or about the shops, station, office, depot, or other place where said employees may be at work, or by mailing each employee a copy of said notice or handbill, and such company or corporation violating any of the provisions of the preceding section shall forfeit and pay each party affected thereby the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered by civil action in the name of the injured party, with costs, before any court of competent jurisdiction.

Payment of wages

SECTION 9802. Wages to be paid semimonthly.—All corporations doing business in this State, which shall employ any mechanics, laborers, or other servants, shall pay the wages of such employees as often as semimonthly.

SEC. 9803. Violations.—Any corporation violating section 9802 of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, for each offense.

This act is constitutional. 147 S. W. 118.

SEC. 9804. Wages due on discharge.—Whenever any corporation doing business in this State shall discharge, with or without cause, or refuse to further employ any servant or employee thereof, the unpaid wages of any such servant or employee then earned at the contract rate, without abatement or deduction, shall be and become due and payable on the day of such discharge or refusal to longer employ; and such servant or employee may request in writing of his foreman or the keeper of his time to have the money due him, or a valid check therefor, sent to any station or office where a regular agent is kept; and if the money aforesaid, or a valid check therefor, does not reach such station or office within seven days from the date it is so requested, then as a penalty for such nonpayment the wages of such servant or employee shall continue from the date of the discharge or refusal to further employ, at the same rate until paid: Provided, Such wages shall not continue more than sixty days, unless an action therefor shall be commenced within that time.

SEC. 9805. Avoiding payment.—No such servant or employee who secretes or absents himself to avoid payment to him, or refuses to receive the same when fully tendered, shall be entitled to any benefit under this law for such time as he so avoids payment.

SEC. 9806. Discharge.—Any such servant or employee whose employment is for a definite period of time, and who is discharged without cause before the expiration of such time, may, in addition to the penalty prescribed by this law, have an action against any such employer for any damages he may have sustained by reason of such wrongful discharge, and such action may be joined with an action for unpaid wages and penalty.

Bonds of railroad employees

SECTIONS 9893–9896. Options; nonresident bondsmen.—[Common carriers requiring employees to give bond may not require such bond to be executed by any particular company, and may not reject any bond offered except for financial insufficiency. Bonds by nonresident companies may not be required, nor shall they be accepted unless there is a resident agent on whom process can be served. Bonds must be for definite terms, and may not be canceled without consent, except for a breach of condition, when either party may cancel the same, after 10 days' notice.]

Railroads—Flagmen

SECTION 10044. Knowledge of English required.—All companies, corporations, lessees, owners, operators, or receivers of any railroad or railway company operating a railroad or railway in whole or in part in this State, are hereby prohibited from employing any person as a flagman for section crews or extra track gangs who are not able to read, write, and speak the English language plainly.

Street railways—Provisions for employees

SECTION 10108. Seats.—It shall be the duty of every corporation, company, individual, association of persons, their trustees, lessees, or receivers, that now or hereafter may own, control, operate, or manage any street or electrical railway in any part of this State, to furnish, for the convenience, health, and comfort of the conductor and motorman and the person or persons operating, controlling, and in charge of any and all its cars, one stool or seat for each and every such conductor, motorman, or person so operating, controlling, or in charge of any of its said cars and allow each and every such motorman, conductor, or person operating, controlling, or in charge of each, any and all its said cars to use and occupy said stool or seat for a portion of each and every trip any such car may take for a distance of not less than twenty-five per cent of the full length of all the track or tracks traversed by said car.

SEC. 10109. Heating vestibules.—It shall be the duty of every corporation or company that now or hereafter may own, control, operate, or manage any electrical railway in any part of this State to furnish a heater in the front vestibule of the car for the convenience, health, and comfort of the conductor and motorman operating, controlling, and in charge of any and all its cars. This section shall not extend to electrical railways operated in cities having 150,000 or more inhabitants.

Accidents on railroads, etc.

SECTION 10454. Reports; investigations.—[Accidents on railroads and street railways must be reported to the public service commission where loss of life or personal injury is caused. The commission shall investigate such accidents as in its judgment require investigation. Notices are not to be admitted as evidence in suits for damages.]

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 10961. What buildings to have.—It shall be the duty of the owner, proprietor, lessee, trustee, or keeper of every * * * factory, office building, except fireproof office buildings in which all structural parts are wholly of brick, stone, tile, concrete, reinforced concrete, iron, steel, or incombustible material and which are not used for lodging purposes in the State of Missouri, * * * which has a height of three or more stories, to provide said structure with iron or steel stair fire escapes attached to the exterior of said building and by stair cases located in the interior of said building. The fire escapes shall extend from the upper story to the ground, pavement, or sidewalk with iron or steel ladder from the upper story to the roof: Provided, however, That such fire escapes, if not continued to the ground, pavement, or sidewalk, shall be equipped with a counter-balance device attachment, appliance, or apparatus which shall extend from the floor level of the second story to the ground, pavement, or sidewalk. * * * In no case shall a fire escape run past a window where it is practicable to avoid it. All fire escapes required by this article, except as hereinbefore provided, must be of the kind known as stationary fire escapes. All buildings heretofore erected shall be made to conform to the provisions of this article.

SECS. 10962–10964. Construction, etc.—[Fire escapes in cities are to be constructed under the supervision of the city authorities and be subject to inspection by them. They shall be of such numbers as these authorities determine, but factories, etc., more than three stories in height, if of nonfireproof construction, shall have at least one escape for every 50 persons working above the second floor. New buildings must be so equipped upon or before their completion.]

SEC. 10973. Doors to open outward.—[Doors of factories having more than 20 employees must open outward.]

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTIONS 11323, 11325. Attendance required.—[School attendance is required up to 14 years of age, and up to 16 unless the child is regularly, lawfully, and usefully employed at least six hours per day. Attendance officers may visit all places of employment in the enforcement of this requirement.]

ACTS OF 1921

SECTION 1. Age limit.—[Children under 14 may not be employed in any gainful occupation during the hours when the public schools are in session.]

SEC. 2. Certificates.—[Certificates are required for the employment of children 14 to 16 years of age.]

SEC. 3 (as amended 1923, p. 129). Hours.—[Children under 16 may not be employed at any gainful occupation more than 8 hours per day or 48 hours per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m.; but children 10 to 16 years of age, regularly attending day school, may work not more than two hours after 7 p. m.]

SEC. 4. Exemptions.—[This act does not apply to agricultural and domestic service, nor to children working for their parents or guardians; nor does it authorize the employment of a child under 16 in any dangerous occupation.]

SEC. 5. Permits.—[Children under 14 employed during vacation must have permits, and none over 14 and under 16 may be employed during school without such permit certificate, which must be renewed every three months.]

SEC. 6. Dangerous occupations.—[Employment under 16 is forbidden in a detailed list of dangerous and injurious occupations. For a similar list, see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SECS. 7–11, 11a (added 1923, p. 130), 12. Issue, etc., of permits.—[Certificates are issued by the school authorities, only on a showing for a necessity of the employment, that the work is not dangerous or deleterious to health, with a certificate of mental and physical ability, and proof of age. Renewals may be had after 90 days on evidence of continuing necessity and good health. No fee is charged; a list of employed children must be posted, and certificates are open to inspection. If one person has denied any applicant a permit, no other person shall issue one within 30 days. A report of permits issued must be made quarterly to the State industrial inspector.]

SECS. 13, 14. Violations.—[The presence of a child under 16 in a work place is presumptive evidence of employment. Penalties for violations are imprisonment not over 6 months, or a fine not exceeding $500.]

Railroads—Provisions for accidents

SECTION 1. First-aid kits.—Every company, corporation, lessee, owner, operator, or receiver or other person owning or operating a steam railroad in the State of Missouri in whole or in part shall provide each train so operated with a package containing the following articles and equipment and such other articles and equipment as may in the judgment and discretion of the management of the steam railroad or a medical department thereof be useful for first aid to persons who may be injured in the course of the operation of such train or trains: A standard package to contain two (2) pieces of sterile gauze, one (1) ribbon bandage, one (1) triangular cambric picric bandage in aseptic container, six (6) of these packages to make up one first-aid kit which shall contain written instructions for the use of such contents.

SEC. 2. Use to be reported.—The employees of each steam railroad in charge of such steam railroad train shall report to the office designated by the company whenever any such kit has been opened for use.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Failure to comply with the provisions of this act entails a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 for each day's violation; but 3 days are allowed for replacing a package after use has been reported.]

MONTANA

ARTICLE 15.—Liability of employer for injuries to employees—Waivers

SECTION 16. Contracts limiting liabilities.—It shall be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation to require of its servants or employees, as a condition of their employment or otherwise, any contract or agreement, whereby such persons, company, or corporation, shall be released or discharged from liability or responsibility on account of personal injuries received by such servants or employees while in the service of such person, company, or corporation, by reason of the negligence of such person, company, or corporation, or the agents or employees thereof; and such contracts shall be absolutely null and void.

ARTICLE 18.—Bureau of agriculture, labor, and industry

SECTION 1. Assembly may provide for bureau.—The legislative assembly may provide for a bureau of agriculture, labor, and industry, to be located at the capital and be under the control of a commissioner appointed by the governor subject to the confirmation of the senate. The commissioner shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified; his compensation shall be as provided by law.

ARTICLE 18.—Employment of children in mines—Hours of labor of employees on public works and in mines, smelters, etc.

SECTION 3. Age limit of sixteen years.—It shall be unlawful to employ children under the age of sixteen (16) years of age in underground mines.

SEC. 4. Limit of eight hours per day.—A period of eight hours shall constitute a day's work on all works or undertakings carried on or aided by any municipal, county, or State government, and on all contracts let by them, and in mills and smelters for the treatment of ores, and in underground mines.

SEC. 5. Enforcement.—The legislature by appropriate legislation shall provide for the enforcement of the provisions of this article.

Bureau of child and animal protection

SECTION 336. Bureau created.—There is hereby created a State bureau of child and animal protection, for the purpose of enforcing the laws of the State of Montana pertaining to children and dumb animals, which may now or hereafter exist; and to promote the growth of education and sentiment favorable to the protection of children and dumb animals.

SEC. 340. Deputies.—[The secretary of the bureau may appoint six deputies, at a salary of $1,800 each, to exercise the same power and authority as himself. They are to be stationed in the chief cities of the State, but may be sent to any point therein, and report monthly to the secretary, by whom they may be removed at any time.]

SEC. 349. Powers of secretary of bureau.—The secretary is hereby vested with authority to make arrests of any person or persons violating any provisions of the laws relating to wrongs to children and dumb animals, and is hereby further vested with the authority to enter workshops, factories, stores, mines, mills, and smelters, and all other places where children may be employed, and do what may be necessary in the way of investigation, or otherwise, to enforce the laws pertaining to minor children and animals.

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1135. Attendance required.—[School attendance is required up to 16 years of age, unless the child is 14 and his wages are necessary to the support of its family, in which case employment is permitted if an age and schooling certificate is secured.]

SEC. 1136. Certificates.—[No child under 16 may be employed while the public schools are in session without an age and schooling certificate, issued by the school authorities. The age of 14 years and schooling to complete the eighth grade are required. Certificates must be open to inspection and must be returned to the issuing authorities when employment ceases.]

SEC. 1137. Enforcement.—[Truant officers appointed by the board of trustees of the school district may enter establishments where children may be employed for purposes of investigation and the enforcement of the provisions of this law.]

Bribery of employees

SECTIONS 1761–1764. Accepting bonus.—No chauffeur or other person having the care of a motor vehicle for the owner shall receive or take directly or indirectly any bonus, discount or other consideration for the purchase of supplies or parts of such motor vehicle or for work done thereon by others; and no person furnishing such supplies or parts, work or labor, shall give or offer any such chauffeur or other person having the care of a motor vehicle for the owner thereof, either directly or indirectly, any bonus, discount or other consideration.

Hours of labor, etc., on irrigation works

SECTION 1962. Eight hours a day's labor.—* * * In all contracts let under this act, eight hours shall constitute a day's work, and no Mongolian shall be employed thereon.

Private employment offices

SECTION 2434. License fee.—License must be obtained for the purposes hereinafter named, for which the county treasurer must require payment as follows:

* * * * * * *

4. For each keeper of an intelligence office, ten dollars per quarter.

* * * * * * *

Laundries to be licensed

SECTION 2440. Fee.—Every person engaged in laundry business, other than the steam-laundry business, shall pay a license of ten dollars per quarter: Provided, That this act shall not apply to the women engaged in the laundry business, where not more than two women are engaged or employed or kept at work, and said license shall be for one place of business only.

This statute was held to be constitutional. 33 Sup. Ct. 192.

Protection of employees on buildings

SEC. 2672. Scaffolds.—All scaffolds erected in this State for use in the erection, repair, alteration, or removal of buildings, shall be well and safely supported, and [of] sufficient width and properly secured, so as to insure the safety of persons working thereon or passing thereunder, or by the same, and to prevent the falling thereof, or of any material that may be used, placed, or deposited thereon.

SEC. 2673. Protective floors.—It shall be the duty of every owner, person, or corporation who shall have the direct and immediate supervision or control of the construction or remodeling of any building having more than three framed floors, whether some or all of said floors are above or below the established street grade, to provide and lay upon the upper side of the joists or girders, or both, of the first floor below the riveters and structural steel setters, a plank floor, which shall be la'd to form a good substantial temporary floor for the protection of employees and all persons engaged above or below, or on such temporary floor in such building: Provided, however, That where the permanent floor is in place on the floor herein required to be planked, a temporary protective floor shall not be required.

If the floor or permanent floor of the second floor, or of any other floor above the second, or roof, is being placed previous to the permanent floor immediately below the floor which is being arched or planked, a good, substantial temporary floor shall be laid on the joists and girders of the next lower floor.

For the purpose of this section, the lowest framed floor in the building shall be considered the first floor.

SEC. 2674. Shields.—In buildings more than three stories high, where persons are working on a scaffold or scaffolds on the outside of such buildings, such persons shall be protected by well-secured planking, set over the heads of such persons for the full width of the scaffolding on which they are working, if another story or stories are being raised above such persons during the time they are working on such outside scaffold or scaffolding.

SEC. 2675. Stairways, etc., to be guarded.—It shall be the duty of all owners, contractors, builders, or persons having the direct and immediate control or supervision of any buildings in course of erection, which shall be more than thirty feet high, to see that all stairways, elevator openings, flues, and all other openings in the floors shall be covered or properly protected: Provided, That wherever such building or buildings over three stories high are being erected in any city or town, other than a residence, temporary toilets in or convenient to such buildings shall be maintained for the convenience of employees.

SEC. 2676. Violations.—[Violations of foregoing sections entail fine, $100 to $200. Building inspectors or other authorities are authorized to enforce provisions of this act.]

Inspection of steam boilers

SECTION 2712. Inspectors.—[Not more than 4 inspectors of steam boilers are to be appointed by the industrial accident board, salaries and terms of office to be fixed by the board.]

SEC. 2713. Qualifications.—[Inspectors must be qualified by experience, and be holders of a first-class license as stationary engineer for the five years last past.]

SECS. 2714–2718. Inspection.—[Old boilers must be inspected before being put in use, and new boilers within 90 days thereafter. Annual inspections of all boilers are required, using hydrostatic pressure one-third greater than the steam pressure allowed. Thorough interior and exterior examination must also be made. The condition and material of the parts, their location, number, suitability, etc., must be approved, and factors of pressure are laid down for different types of boilers. Additional inspection may be made in the discretion of the inspectors; and owners, etc., must allow free access for inspection.]

SEC. 2722. Certificates.—[Inspectors may act jointly or separately, but the one making an inspection must certify the same under seal.]

SEC. 2723. Fees.—[Ten dollars may be charged for a boiler and its connections, and $5 additional for each connected boiler; in incorporated cities the fee for a boiler is $5. For traction engines and boilers on wheels, the fee is $10.

Penalties are prescribed for violations of the law, excess pressure, failure to prepare for inspection on notice, etc.]

SEC. 2726. Boilers exempt.—[Steam plants for heating private residences and locomotives used on commercial roads are exempt from the inspection herein provided.]

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 2779. Requirements.—[Owners or occupants of factories, workshops, mercantile establishments, office buildings, etc., three or more stories in height must provide one or more adequate fire escapes, not less than one for each 5,000 feet of lot area covered by the building; or two if six or more stories in height. Escapes must be as far as possible from stairways, hatchways, etc., and from each other.]

SEC. 2780. Specifications.—[A concrete, iron, or steel stairway, or an iron or steel straight chute, or a construction of other fireproof material will satisfy the requirements of the foregoing section. The use of counterbalances is regulated, and the working stress is prescribed. The fire marshal is to promulgate minimum specifications for the construction of various types of fire escapes.]

SEC. 2781. Guide signs and exit lights.—[Owners and occupants must provide and maintain guide signs and exit lights sufficient to indicate the location of fire escapes and entrances thereto.]

SEC. 2782. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is vested in the fire marshal of the State.]

SEC. 2783. Inspection.—[The State fire marshal, local fire department chiefs, and mayors and justices of the peace where no fire department exists, are charged with the duty of inspection.]

Manufacture, etc., of explosives

SECTION 2797. Who may enter factory.—No person, except an official as authorized herein or a person authorized to do so by the owner thereof, or his agent, shall enter any factory, building, magazine, or car containing explosives in this State.

SEC. 2798. Drivers.—* * *.

It shall be unlawful for any person in charge of a vehicle containing explosives to smoke in or upon such vehicle, to drive the vehicle while intoxicated, to drive the vehicle in a careless or reckless manner, or to load or unload such vehicle in a careless or reckless manner.

* * * * * * *

Mine regulations—Storage of explosives

SECTION 2807. Amount.—[The amount of blasting powder or other highly explosive substance that may be stored or deposited in any mine is limited to 3,000 pounds, and the place must not be such that an explosion would cut off the escape of workmen in the mine.]

Factory, etc., regulations—Safety provisions

SECTION 2819. Industrial accident board.—There is hereby created a board to consist of three members; the commissioner of agriculture, labor, and industry shall be one member; the State auditor shall be one member, and one member shall be appointed by the governor, which board shall be known as the industrial accident board, and shall have the powers, duties, and functions hereinafter conferred. The term of office of the appointed member of the board shall be for four years and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. He shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars, payable monthly, and shall be chairman of the board. The board shall elect one of their number as treasurer of the board.

SEC. 2820. Vacancy.—A vacancy in the office of the appointed member of the board shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment, but shall only be for the unexpired term of such vacancy. The appointed member shall not be removed except for cause, and after a hearing had before and a finding made by the remaining members of the board, and both of the remaining members of the board must concur in the removal of the appointed member.

SEC. 2821. Bond.—Each member shall, upon entering upon the duties of his office, execute to the State of Montana and file with the secretary of state a bond in the sum herein prescribed, executed by not less than four responsible sureties, or by some surety company authorized to become sole surety on bonds in the State of Montana, such bond to be approved by the governor, and conditioned that he will faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of his office. Such bonds shall be in addition to any other bonds required by law to be furnished.

SEC. 2822. Same.—The bond of the treasurer of the board shall be in a sum to be fixed by the governor, not less than twenty-five thousand dollars, nor more than one hundred thousand dollars. The bonds of the members of the board other than the treasurer shall be in the sum of ten thousand dollars.

SEC. 2823. Extra compensation.—Neither the commissioner of labor and industry nor the State auditor shall receive any additional compensation for the duties imposed upon them by this act.

SEC. 2824. Regulations, rules.—A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business. A vacancy on the board shall not impair the right of the remaining members to perform all of the duties and exercise all the powers and authority of the board. The act of the majority of the board when in session as a board shall be deemed to be the act of the board, but any investigation, inquiry, or hearing which the board has power to undertake or to hold, may be undertaken or held by or before any member thereof, or any examiner or referee appointed by the board for that purpose. Every finding, order, decision, or award made by any commissioner, examiner, or referee, pursuant to such investigation, inquiry, or hearing, when approved and confirmed by the board and ordered filed in its office, shall be deemed to be the finding, order, decision, or award of the board.

SEC. 2825. Seal.—The board shall have a seal bearing the following inscription: "Industrial Accident Board, State of Montana, Seal." The seal shall be affixed to all writs and authentications of copies of records, and to such other instruments as the board shall direct. All courts shall take judicial notice of said seal.

SEC. 2826. Office.—The board shall keep its principal office in the capital of the State, and shall be provided with suitable rooms, necessary office furniture, stationery, and other supplies. For the purpose of holding sessions in other places the board shall have power to rent temporary quarters.

SEC. 2827. Secretary, duties.—The board shall appoint a secretary who shall hold office at the pleasure of the board. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep a full and true record of all the proceedings of the board; to issue all necessary processes, writs, warrants, and notices which the board is required or authorized to issue, and generally to perform such other duties as the board may prescribe.

SEC. 2828. Personnel.—The board shall employ such assistants and other employees as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2829. Compensation.—All officers and employees of the board shall receive such compensation for their services as may be fixed by the board, shall hold office at the pleasure of the board, shall perform such duties as are imposed on them by law or by the board.

SEC. 3012. Safe place.—No employer shall construct, maintain, or operate or cause to be constructed, maintained, or operated any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 3013. Removing safety devices.—No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy, or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for protection or any employee in such employment or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do anything reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of himself and other employees.

SEC. 3014. Power of board.—The board is vested with full power and jurisdiction over, and shall have such supervision of every employment and place of employment in this State as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and place of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life and safety of every employee in such employment or place of employment.

SEC. 3015. Safety devices and standards.—The board shall have power, in addition to other powers herein granted, by general or special orders, rules, or regulations, or otherwise:

1. To declare and describe such safety devices, safeguards, or other means or methods of protection as are well adapted to render employees and places of employment safe;

2. To fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify, and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption, installation, use, maintenance, and operation of safety devices, safeguards, and other means and methods of protection as may be necessary for the protection of the life and safety of employees;

3. To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair, and maintenance of places of employment as shall render them safe;

4. To require the performance of any act necessary for the protection of life and safety of employees;

5. To declare and prescribe the general form of industrial accident reports, the accidents to be reported, and the information to be furnished in connection therewith, and the time within which such reports shall be filed. Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to prevent the board from requiring supplemental accident reports: Provided, however, That where, by the laws of the State of Montana, the manner or method of carrying on any business, or the rules or regulations in relation thereto, or the character or kind of safety devices has been prescribed, no other or additional requirements shall be made by the board, but it shall be the duty of the board to see that the employer lives up to and obeys said laws.

SEC. 3016. Notice of hearings.—Upon the fixing of a time and place for the holding of a hearing for the purpose of considering and issuing a general safety order or orders, the board shall cause a notice of such hearing to be published in one or more daily newspapers of general circulation, published and circulated in the State. No defect or inaccuracy in such notice or in the publication thereof shall invalidate any general order issued by the board after a hearing has been had.

SEC. 3017. Inspections.—Every place of employment of a work or occupation defined by sections 2847 to 2852, inclusive [classifying occupations under the workmen's compensation act], to be hazardous shall be inspected at least once during each year by an inspector or examiner appointed by the board. Such inspection shall be for the purpose of determining the condition and operation of such places of employment, as regards the safety of employees working therein, and the use of safeguards, safety appliances, and reasonably safe tools and appliances.

SEC. 3018. Reports.—A report of such inspection shall be filed in the office of the board, and a copy thereof given the employer.

SEC. 3019. Certificates.—Each place of employment inspected as provided in section 3017, and found in a satisfactory condition shall receive from the board, upon payment of the inspection fees hereinafter provided for, a certificate to that effect, which certificate must be prominently displayed, under glass, in one of the principal places of the establishment so inspected.

SEC. 3020. Orders.—If, after such inspection and report thereof to the board, it shall be found that any such place of employment is not constructed, maintained or operated as provided in this act, the board shall order the installation, use, maintenance, and operation, within such reasonable time as the board may direct, of such safety devices, safeguards, and other means and methods of protection as may be necessary to reasonably insure the safety of the workmen employed therein, subject to the provisions of the preceding section.

SEC. 3021. Closing place of work.—If, after such inspection, the board or any inspector or examiner thereof shall find such place of employment in such an unsafe condition as to constitute an immediate menace to the safety of the workmen employed therein, the board, or any inspector or examiner thereof, may order any such place of employment closed, or the work therein to cease, until such safety devices, safeguards, and other means and methods or changes or removals, as may be ordered by the board, or any inspector or examiner thereof, shall have been installed, repaired, changed, or removed, and such place of employment put in such condition as will reasonably insure the safety of the workmen employed therein.

SEC. 3022. Fees.—For each annual inspection made under the provisions of this section, the employer shall pay, at the time of such inspection, a fee of five cents for each one thousand dollars or fraction thereof of his annual pay-roll for the preceding year; Provided, That no inspection fee under this section shall be less than five dollars.

SEC. 3023. Ratio.—The fees for any subsequent or reinspection made during any year in which an annual inspection shall have been made shall be:

Where the annual pay roll for the preceding year shall have been not more than twenty-five thousand dollars, five dollars;

Where the annual pay roll for the preceding year shall have been more than twenty-five thousand dollars, but not more than one hundred thousand dollars, ten dollars;

Where the annual pay roll for the preceding year shall have been more than one hundred thousand dollars, but not more than five hundred thousand dollars, twenty dollars;

Where the annual pay roll for the preceding year shall have been more than five hundred thousand dollars, but not more than one million dollars, forty dollars;

Where the annual pay roll for the preceding year shall have been more than one million dollars, fifty dollars.

SEC. 3024. Funds go to treasurer.—All fees received by the board for inspection, or for subsequent or reinspection, and all fines imposed or collected for a violation of the safety provisions of this act, shall be paid monthly to the State treasurer, who shall credit such payment to the industrial administration fund.

SEC. 3025. Orders of board.—Whenever the board shall find that any employment or place of employment is not safe, or that the practice or means or methods of operation or processes employed or used in connection therewith are unsafe, or do not afford adequate protection to the life and safety of employees in such employments and places of employment, the board shall make and enter and serve such order relative thereto as may be necessary to render such employment or place of employment safe and protect the life and safety of the employees in such employments and places of employment, and may in said order direct that such additions, repairs, improvements, or changes be made; and such safety devices and safeguards be furnished, provided, and used as are reasonably required to render such employment or places of employment safe, in the manner and within the time specified in such order.

Sec. 3026. Time for compliance.—The board may, upon application of any employer or other person affected thereby, grant such time as may reasonably be necessary for compliance with any order, and any person affected by such order may petition the board for an extension of time, which the board shall grant if it finds such an extension of time necessary.

Sec. 3027. Investigations.—Whenever the board shall learn, or have reason to believe that any employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of any employee, it may summarily investigate the same, with or without notice or hearings, and enter and serve such order as may be necessary relative thereto.

Sec. 3028. Compliance.—Every employer, employee, and other person shall obey and comply with each and every requirement of every order, decision, direction, rule, or regulation made or prescribed by the board, and shall do everything necessary or proper in order to secure compliance with, and observance of every such order, decision, rule, or regulation.

Sec. 3029. Powers of other boards, etc.—Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to deprive any other public corporation, board, or department of any power or jurisdiction over or relative to any place of employment: Provided, That whenever the board shall, by order, fix a standard of safety for employments or places of employment, such order shall, upon the filing by the board of a copy thereof with the secretary or clerk of any such public corporation to which or within whose jurisdiction it may apply, establish a minimum requirement concerning the matters covered by such order, and shall be construed in connection with any local order relative to the same matter and to amend or modify any requirement in such local order not up to the standard of the order of the board.

Sec. 3030. Presumptions as to orders.—Every order of the board, general or special, its rules or regulations, findings, or decisions shall be admissible in evidence in any prosecution for or suit to prevent the violation of any of the provisions of this act, and shall be presumed to be reasonable. This presumption is, however, a rebuttable presumption.

Sec. 3031. Investigations of accidents.—The board may investigate the cause of all industrial accidents occurring in any employment or place of employment, or directly or indirectly arising from or connected therewith, resulting in personal injury or death; and the board shall have the power to make such orders or recommendations with respect to such accidents as may be just and reasonable: Provided, That neither the order nor the recommendation of the board, nor any accident report filed with the board, shall be admitted as evidence in any action for damages or any proceeding to recover compensation, based on or arising out of such injury or death.

Sec. 3032. Increase of premium rates.—If, by reason of poor or careless management or otherwise, any place of employment be unduly dangerous in comparison with other like places of employment, and the employer operating the same shall not have complied with the safety provisions of this act, and such employer shall be under compensation plan No. 3, the board, in addition to any other penalty provided by this act, shall advance the rate upon such place of employment fifty per centum, and such advanced rate shall continue and be in force until such place of employment shall have ceased to be unduly dangerous in comparison with other like places of employment, and such employer shall have obtained a certificate of the inspector or examiner provided for herein.

Sec. 3033. Violations.—[Violations are misdemeanors.]

Industrial accident board—Boiler and mine inspectors

Sections 3034–3039. Consolidation of offices.—[The offices of inspector of boilers, inspector of mines, and State coal mine inspector are consolidated and placed under the industrial accident board. This board is to appoint not more than 4 boiler inspectors, 1 coal mine inspector, and 2 inspectors of quartz mines, terms and salaries to be fixed by the board, salaries to be approved by the governor. Boiler inspection districts are to be established and rules and regulations formulated for the inspection of boilers and mines. Existing laws as to the qualifications, etc., of inspectors are continued in force.]

Alien employees—Reports to industrial accident board

Section 3040. Who to report.—It shall hereafter be the duty of every person, association, or corporation employing more than fifty persons at one time, within the State of Montana, to make out and file with the industrial accident board a regular quarterly report showing the names, ages, and residence of all their employees who are not citizens of the United States, and also of all employees who do not read and speak the English language. All such reports shall be made upon printed blank forms to be furnished by the industrial accident board, and shall, in addition to the foregoing facts, disclose the following, to wit:

1. The country of which said employee is a citizen;
2. The period of time which said employee has resided in the United States;
3. The period of time which said employee has been in the service of said employer;
4. Whether said employee be married or single, and if married, the residence of employee's wife and family;
5. What steps, if any, employee has taken to become a citizen of the United States;
6. What steps, if any, employee has taken to familiarize himself with the English language;
7. Such further and additional facts and information as shall be prescribed are required by said board.

SEC. 3041. Blanks.—It shall be the duty of the industrial accident board to prepare or cause to be prepared, all blank printed forms that shall be necessary to comply with the provisions hereof, which said blanks shall be furnished to all said employers, upon application therefor to said industrial accident board.

SEC. 3042. Duty of employers.—For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, all employers of labor are hereby designated, for the purpose of receiving the information provided for in this act, agents and representatives of the industrial accident board, and it shall be the duty of all employees of such employers to furnish to the employers, upon their request, for and on behalf of said industrial accident board, all information necessary to enable the employers to make out and furnish the report or reports required by this act. In case of the failure or refusal of any employee to furnish to his employer the information provided for in this act, such fact shall be reported by the employer to the industrial accident board, and the industrial accident board is hereby authorized and empowered to cause such employee to appear before the industrial accident board, at such time and place as they may determine, and furnish the information required under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 3043. Enforcement.—The industrial accident board shall have full power and authority to make and prescribe all reasonable rules and regulations, and to prescribe all necessary penalties to secure a strict compliance with the provisions of this act, and every employer or employee or other person, who shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act, or with any rule or regulation of the industrial accident board, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Arbitration and conciliation of labor disputes—State board

SECTION 3052. Appointment of board.—There is a State board of arbitration and conciliation consisting of three members, whose term of office is two years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. The board must be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate. If a vacancy occurs at any time the governor shall appoint some one to serve out the unexpired term, and he may in like manner remove any member of said board.

SEC. 3053. Qualifications.—One of the board must be an employer, or selected from some association representing employers of labor, and one of them must be a laborer, or selected from some labor organization, and not an employer of labor, and the other must be a disinterested citizen.

SEC. 3054. Organization.—The members of the board must, before entering upon the duties of their office, take the oath required by the constitution. They shall at once organize by the choice of one of their number as chairman. Said board may appoint and remove a clerk of the board, who shall receive such compensation as may be allowed by the board, but not exceeding five dollars per day for the time employed. The board shall, as soon as possible after its organization, establish such rules or modes of procedure as are necessary, subject to the approval of the governor.

SEC. 3055. Mediation.—Whenever any controversy or dispute, not involving questions which may be the subject of a civil action, exists between an employer (if he employs twenty or more in the same general line of business in the State) and his employees, the board must, on application as is hereinafter provided, visit the locality of the dispute and make inquiry into the cause thereof, hear all persons interested therein, who may come before them, advise the respective parties what, if anything, ought to be done by either or both, to adjust said dispute, and the board must make a written decision thereon. The decision must at once be made public, and must be recorded in a book kept by the clerk of the board, and a statement thereof published in the annual report, and the board must cause a copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of the county where the dispute arose.

SEC. 3056. Applications to be signed.—The application to the board of arbitration and conciliation must be signed by the employer, or by a majority of his employees in the department of the business in which the controversy or difference exists, or their duly authorized agent, or by both parties, and shall contain a concise statement of the grievances complained of, and a promise to continue on in business or at work without any lockout or strike until the decision of said board, if it shall be made within four weeks of the date of filing said application. When an application is signed by an agent claiming to represent a majority of such employees, the board shall satisfy itself that such agent is duly authorized in writing to represent such employees, but the names of the employees giving such authority shall be kept secret by said board. As soon as may be after the receipt of said application, the secretary of said board shall cause public notice to be given for the time and place for the hearing thereon; but public notice need not be given when both parties to the controversy join in the application and present therewith a written request that no public notice be given. When such request is made, notice shall be given to the parties interested in such manner as the board may order; and the board may, at any stage of the proceedings, cause public notice to be given notwithstanding such request. When notice has been given as aforesaid, each of the parties to the controversy, the employer on one side, and the employees interested on the other side, may in writing nominate, and the board may appoint, one person to act in the case as expert assistant to the board. The two persons so appointed shall be skilled in and conversant with the business or trade concerning which the dispute has arisen. It shall be their duty, under the direction of the board, to obtain and report to the board information concerning the wages paid, the hours of labor, and the methods and grades of work prevailing in manufacturing establishments, or other industries or occupations within the State, of a character similar to that in which the matters in dispute have arisen. Said expert assistants shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duty; such oath to be administered by any member of the board, and a record thereof shall be preserved with the record of the proceedings in the case. They shall be entitled to receive from the treasury of the State such compensation as shall be allowed and certified by the board not exceeding ——— dollars per day, together with all necessary traveling expenses. Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the board from appointing such other additional expert assistant or assistants as it may deem necessary, who shall be paid in like manner. Should the petitioner or petitioners fail to perform the promise made in said application the board shall proceed no further thereupon without the consent of the adverse party. The board shall have power to summon as witness any operative or employee in the department of business affected, and any person who keeps the records of wages earned in those departments, and to examine them under oath, and to require the production of books containing the record of wages paid. Summons may be signed and oaths administered by any member of the board.

SEC. 3057. Decision.—Upon the receipt of said application and after such notice, the board shall proceed as before provided, and render a written decision, which shall be open to the public inspection, shall be recorded upon the records of the board, and published at the discretion of the same in an annual report to be made to the governor on or before the first day of December in each year.

SEC. 3058. Effect of decision.—Any decision made by the board is binding upon the parties who join in the application for six months, or until either party has given the other notice in writing of his intention not to be bound by the same at the expiration of sixty days therefrom. The notice must be given to employees by posting the same in three conspicuous places in the shop, office, factory, store, mill, or mine where the employees work.

SEC. 3059. Local boards.—The parties to any controversy or difference as described in section 3055 of this code may submit the matters in dispute, in writing, to a local board of arbitration and conciliation; such board may be either mutually agreed upon, or the employer may designate one of the arbitrators, the employees, or their duly authorized agent, another, and the two arbitrators so designated may choose a third, who shall be chairman of the board. Such board shall, in respect to the matters referred to it, have and exercise all the powers which the State board might have and exercise, and its decisions shall have whatever binding effect may be agreed upon by the parties to the controversy in written submission. The jurisdiction of such board shall be exclusive in respect to the matters submitted to it, but it may ask and receive the advice and assistance of the State board. The decision of such board shall be rendered within ten days of the close of any hearing held by it; such decision shall at once be filed with the clerk of the county in which the controversy or difference arose, and a copy thereof shall be forwarded to the State board and entered on its records. Each of such arbitrators shall be entitled to receive from the treasury of the county in which the controversy or difference that is the subject of the arbitration exists, if such payment shall be approved by the commissioners of said county, the sum of three dollars for each day of actual service, not exceeding ten days for any one arbitration. Whenever it is made to appear to the mayor of any city or two commissioners of any county that a strike or lockout such as described hereafter in this section is seriously threatened or actually occurs, the mayor of such city, or said commissioners of such county, shall at once notify the State board of the fact. Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the State board, either by notice from the mayor of a city, or two or more commissioners of a county, as provided in this section, or otherwise, that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened or has actually occurred in any city or county of this State, involving an employer and his present or past employees, if at the time he is employing or up to the occurrence of the strike or lockout was employing not less than twenty persons in the same general line of business in any city, town, or county in this State, it shall be the duty of the State board to put itself in communication as soon as may be with such employer and employees, and endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable settlement between them, or to endeavor to persuade them, providing that a strike or lockout has not actually occurred or is not then continuing, to submit the matters in dispute to a local board of arbitration and conciliation as above provided, or to the State board; and said State board may, if it deems it advisable, investigate the cause or causes of such controversy, and ascertain which party thereto is mainly responsible or blameworthy for the existence or continuance of the same, and may make and publish a report finding such cause or causes, and assigning such responsibility or blame. The board shall have the same powers for the foregoing purposes as are given it by section 3055 of this code. Witnesses summoned by the State board shall be allowed the sum of fifty cents for each attendance, and the further sum of twenty-five cents for each hour of attendance in excess of two hours, and shall be allowed five cents a mile for travel each way from their respective places of employment or business to the place where the board is in session. Each witness shall certify in writing the amount of his travel and attendance, and the amount due him shall be certified to the State board of examiners for auditing, and the same shall be paid as other expenses of the State from any moneys in the State treasury.

SEC. 3060. Compensation.—The arbitrators hereby created must be paid five dollars for each day of actual service and their necessary traveling expenses and necessary books and records, to be paid out of the treasury of the State, as by law provided.

Protection of employees on street railways—Brakes

SECTION 3061. Inclosures.—[Street railway cars in use between November 1 and May 1 must be provided with a sufficient inclosure to protect employees from exposure to the inclemencies of the weather, so constructed as not to interfere with the view. Summer cars must also be equipped with windshields extending completely across the front of the car.]

SEC. 3062. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, $50 to $100, each day being a separate offense.]

SEC. 3063. Enforcement.—[It is the duty of county atterneys to enforce the foregoing sections.]

SECS. 3064, 3065. Heating vestibules.—[The vestibules of railway cars operated during the months, November to March, inclusive, must be heated the same as the interiors of such cars. Noncompliance subjects to a fine of $10 for each day.]

SEC. 3066. Brakes.—All double-track street-railway electric cars or trolley cars, so called, conveying passengers in the State of Montana, shall be fitted with at least two independently operating brakes, one of which must be mechanical, such as air-brake, electric short-circuiting brake, or electric-magnetic brake.

SEC. 3067. Violation.—Any corporation or person owning and operating street-railway cars, electric or trolley cars, failing to comply with the provisions of this act, shall be liable to a fine of ten dollars per car for each day operated without such equipment.

Hours of labor—Seats for females

SECTION 3068. Eight hours for hoisting engineers.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, company, or corporation, to operate or handle or to induce, persuade, or prevail upon any person or persons to operate or handle, for more than eight hours in twenty-four hours of each day, any hoisting-engine at or in any mine. This act shall apply only to such plants as are in continuous operation or are operated sixteen or more hours in twenty-four hours of each day, or at or in any mine where said hoisting-engine develops fifteen or more horsepower, or at or in any mine wherein there are fifteen or more men employed underground in twenty-four hours of each day: Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any person or persons operating any hoisting-engine more than eight hours in each twenty-four hours for the purpose of relieving another employee in case of sickness or other unforeseen cause or causes.

SEC. 3069. Violations.—[Violations entail penalty of fine, $10 to $100, each day's continued violation being considered a separate offense.]

SEC. 3071. Eight-hour day in mines, etc.—The period of employment of workingmen in all underground mines or workings, including railroad or other tunnels, shall be eight hours per day, except in cases of emergency where life and property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 3072. Smeltermen.—The period of employment of workingmen in smelters, stamp mills, sampling works, concentrators, and all other institutions for the reduction of ores, and refining of ores or metals, shall be eight hours per day, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 3073. Violations.—[Violations of the two preceding sections are misdemeanors, subjecting to a fine, $100 to $500, or imprisonment, one to six months, or both.]

SEC. 3074. Telephone service.—On all lines of public telephones, operated in whole or in part within this State, it shall hereafter be unlawful for any owner, lessee, company, or corporation to hire or employ any operator or operators, other person or persons, to run or operate a telephone board or boards for more than nine hours in twenty-four hours, in cities or towns having a population of three thousand inhabitants, or over: Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any person or persons, operator or operators, operating any telephone board or boards more than nine hours in each twenty-four for the purpose of relieving another employee in case of sickness or other unforeseen cause or causes.

SEC. 3075. Violations.—[Violations of the foregoing section entail a fine not less than $100 nor more $500 each day constituting a separate offense.]

SEC. 3076. Limit for females.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, telephone exchange room, or office, or telegraph office, laundry, hotel, or restaurant in this State, for more than eight hours in any one day. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than eight hours during the twenty-four of any one day: Provided, That females may be employed in retail stores to work not to exceed ten hours in any one day for one week immediately preceding Christmas Day.

SEC. 3077. Seats.—Every employer in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or other establishment employing any female, shall provide suitable seats for all female employees and shall permit them to use such seats when they are not employed in the active duties of their employment.

SEC. 3078. Violations.—[Violations of the two preceding sections entail fines, $50 to $200, or imprisonment, ten to sixty days, or both.]

SEC. 3079. Limit on public works.—A period of eight hours shall constitute a day's work on all works or undertakings carried on or aided by any municipal, county, or State government, school districts of the first class, and on all contracts let by them, and for all janitors, engineers, firemen, caretakers, custodians, and laborers employed in or about any buildings, works, or grounds used or occupied for any purpose by any municipal, county, or State government, school districts of the first class, and in mills and smelters for the treatment of ores, and in underground mines, and in the washing, reducing, or treatment of coal.

SEC. 3080. Violations.—[Violations of the above section are punishable by fine of $100 to $500, or imprisonment, 30 days to six months, or both.]

Employing a workman in a mine in excess of the period fixed by this statute is legal negligence; the defenses of assumed risks and contributory negligence are not abolished, however, and the employee's act in working overtime was also a violation of the law and a contributing proximate cause, so that he can not recover damages for the resultant injury incurred during such unlawful employment. Melville v. Butte-Balaklava Copper Co., 130 Pac. 441.

Payment of wages

SECTION 3084. Semimonthly pay day.—Every employer of labor (except agricultural labor), whether a person, copartnership, or corporation, in the State of Montana, shall pay to his employee the wages earned each and every fifteen days in lawful money of the United States, or checks on banks convertible into cash on demand full face values thereof, and all such wages shall be due and payable, and shall be paid by such persons, copartnership, or corporation not later than the fifth and twentieth day of each calendar month for all such wages earned up to and within five days of the date of such payment: Provided, however, That if at such time of payment any employee shall be absent from the regular place of labor, he shall be entitled to such payment at any time thereafter: Provided further, That this act shall not affect any person, copartnership, or corporation, foreign or domestic, who shall have already established, and shall continue to maintain, a semimonthly or weekly pay-day.

SEC. 3085. Failure to pay.—Whenever any employer, whether a person, copartnership, or corporation, fails to pay any of his employees, as provided in the preceding section, then a penalty shall attach to such person, copartnership, or corporation, and become due such employees as follows: A sum equivalent to a penalty of five per cent of the wages due and not paid, as herein provided, as liquidated damages, and such penalty shall attach and suit may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction to recover the same and the wages due.

SEC. 3086. Discharged employees.—Whenever any employee is discharged from the employ of any such person, copartnership, or corporation, except agricultural, on leaving said employment, then all the unpaid wages of such employees shall immediately become due and payable on demand, and if such person, copartnership, or corporation fails to pay any such discharged employee, within twenty-four hours after such discharge and demand, all the wages due and payable to him, then the same penalty of five per cent shall attach to said person, copartnership, or corporation, and become due such employee as provided in the preceding section; Provided, however, That if the employer shall, within the period herein specified, tender in money to such discharged employee, the full amount of the wages lawfully due such employee, the penalty herein provided shall not attach.

SEC. 3087. Penalties.—Any employee may recover all such penalties as are provided for the violation of section 3085 of this code, which have accrued to him, at any time within six months succeeding such default or delay in the payment of such wages.

SEC. 3088. Waivers unlawful.—Any contract or agreement made between any person, copartnership, or corporation and any parties in his, its, or their employ, whose provision shall be in violation, evasion, or circumvention of this act, shall be unlawful and void; but such employee may sue to recover his wages earned, together with such five per cent penalty, or separately to recover the penalty, if the wages have been paid.

SEC. 3089. Attorneys' fees.—Whenever it shall become necessary for the employee to enter or maintain a suit at law for the recovery or collection of wages due, as provided for by this act, then such judgment shall include a reasonable attorney's fee in favor of the successful party, to be taxed as part of the costs in the case.

Employment of females—Equal pay for equal work

SECTION 3090. Discrimination forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, State, county, municipal, or school district, public or private corporation, to employ any woman or women in any occupation or calling within the State of Montana for salaries, wages, or compensation which are less than that paid to men for equivalent service or for the same amount or class of work or labor in the same industry, school, establishment, office, or place of any kind or description.

SEC. 3091. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $500 for each offense.]

Blacklisting—Statement of cause of discharge

SECTION 3092. Preventing employment of discharged employee.—If any person, after having discharged an employee from his service, prevents or attempts to prevent, by word or writing of any kind, such discharged employee from obtaining employment with any other person, such person is punishable as provided in section 11219 of the Penal Code, and is liable in punitive damages to such discharged person, to be recovered by civil action; no person is prohibited from informing, by word or writing, any person to whom such discharged person or employee has applied for employment, a truthful statement of the reason for such discharge.

SEC. 3093. Damages.—If any company or corporation in this State authorizes or allows any of its agents to blacklist, or any person does blacklist, any discharged employee, or attempts by word or writing, or any other means whatever, to prevent any discharged employee, or any employee who may have voluntarily left said company's service, from obtaining employment with another person, except as provided for in the next preceding section, such company or corporation or person is liable in punitive damages to such employee so prevented from obtaining employment, to be recovered by him in civil action; and is also punishable as provided in section 11219 of the Penal Code.

SEC. 3094. Reason for discharge to be furnished.—It is the duty of any person, after having discharged any employee from his service, upon demand by such discharged employee, to furnish him in writing a full, succinct, and complete statement of the reason of his discharge, and if such person refuses so to do within a reasonable time after such demand it is unlawful thereafter for such person to furnish any statement of the reason of such discharge to any person, or in any way to blacklist or to prevent such discharged person from procuring employment elsewhere, subject to the penalties and damages prescribed in this chapter.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 3095. Dangerous occupations.—[Specified dangerous occupations are forbidden for children under 16, as mines, mills, smelters, railroads, messenger service, or any occupation known to be dangerous, unhealthful or detrimental to morals.]

SEC. 3096. Violations by parents.—[Parents, etc., who allow any child under their care to be employed in violation of the above are guilty of a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 3097. Record.—[The commissioner of labor and industry is directed to compile from reports furnished by county superintendents of schools a list of the children of the State under 16 years of age.]

SEC. 3098. Certificates.—[Children attaining the age of 16 may apply to the commissioner for a certificate of age, to be presented when seeking employment. No employer in the occupations named in section 3095 may employ a child without such a certificate.]

SEC. 3099. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor and industry, the bureau of child and animal protection and county attorneys, each on their own motion, or on complaint by any reputable citizen, must prosecute violations.]

SEC. 3100. Penalties.—[Fines of from $25 to $500, or imprisonment from 30 days to 6 months or both, are penalties for violations.]

Mine regulations—Quartz mines

SECTIONS 3418–3420. Inspection.—[Inspectors appointed by the industrial accident board must visit and inspect all quartz mines once every year, and whenever a signed complaint of dangerous conditions is presented. Investigation of workings, timbering, exits, safety devices, etc., is required, and if unsafe conditions are found, suspension of work other than of repairs may be ordered. Owners must in all cases be notified of defects, and failure to obey an inspector's requirements is prima facie evidence of gross negligence in case of any legal procedure on account of injury due to unsafe conditions. Owners must give needed assistance to inspectors.]

SEC. 3423. Investigation after accidents.—[All serious and fatal accidents must be reported immediately to the industrial accident board, and an inspector must at once investigate the cause, and if possible attend the inquest in case of fatal accidents. If the inspector can not go to the place, the owner or person in charge must secure written statements duly sworn to, from witnesses, or those first discovering the injury. If the facts warrant, criminal prosecutions may be instituted.]

SEC. 3424. Annual reports.—[The industrial accident board must annually report to the governor accidents of a serious nature and their cause; also statistics as to mining and the results of the inspectors' labors.]

SEC. 3425. Scope.—[These regulations do not apply to mines in which less than 5 men are employed; but if 5 or more men are employed in any metalliferous mine, the name, location, etc., must be reported to the inspector.]

SECS. 3427–3435. Safety.—[The use of safety cages and other apparatus in mines of a depth of more than 200 feet is required. Shafts and openings for ventilation, etc., must be properly guarded.]

Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTIONS 3447–3458. Inspector.—[A State inspector is to be appointed by the industrial accident board, at least 30 years of age, with a competent knowledge of mine operations, and the holder of a certificate from a board of examiners. It is his duty to inspect all coal mines and their workings, equipment, drainage, ventilation, etc., and to make suggestions as to provisions for the health and safety of employees. Owners, etc., are to cooperate, and may personally or by a representative accompany the inspector. An employee may also accompany him, by designation of the employees, or at the request of the inspector.

The inspector is to be furnished by the State with suitable instruments, and may not act as agent for any mining company or be interested in any mining operation. He must make annual reports of the condition of the mines and of all accidents occurring in or about them and set forth such recommendations for legislation as he may deem important. The inspector must post at the entrance of each mine visited a statement of the conditions therein and of changes necessary for the better protection of life and health of employees.

The inspector is ex officio sealer of weights and measures so far as relates to coal mines and mining, and must test mine scales on request of the owner or operator, or of 10 employees.

A verified petition, signed by 50 or more reputable citizens, charging an inspector with neglect, malfeasance, etc., is ground for citation to appear in a court, and if the charges are substantiated, the facts must be certified to the industrial accident board, which shall then declare the office vacant.]

SECS. 3459–3468, 3472–3476, 3478. Examination and licensing.—[The industrial accident board must appoint a board of examiners consisting of a practical coal miner, recommended by the coal miners of the State, an operator, recommended by a majority of the operators, and the State inspector. This board is to examine applicants for positions as State inspector, mine foremen and mine examiners, and grant certificates to those who successfully pass the examinations. Standards are prescribed for each, including age, experience, and technical knowledge, 75 per cent being the minimum passing grade. No person may act as mine foreman, mine examiner or fire boss without a certificate, except temporarily, until opportunity to take the examination provided.]

SECS. 3479–3546. Safety code.—[The provisions of the safety regulations require maps, with annual surveys, two exits, passages around shafts at bottom, the guarding of shafts, etc., safety cages for hoisting men, ventilation, timber supply, the removal of combustible matter, etc. Wash houses must be provided; weighman employed, with right to the workmen to employ a check-weighman at their own expense; and underground stables effectively separated from the main air course. Inspections, blasting, storage of explosives, illuminating oils, and the use of safety lamps are regulated; the duties of mining machine runners prescribed, a code of signals established, and the provision of first aid supplies, stretchers, etc., directed. Immediate notice of serious accidents must be given the State inspector, and if he deems necessary he shall invesigate the same. In case of death and inquest, one-third the jurymen shall, if possible, be miners. Hoisting engineers must be in constant attendance, and retain personal charge of the machinery. Miners must not be allowed to work alone unless they show 9 months' experience (12 for work in gaseous mines) under the direction of a practical miner.

Operators must make prescribed statistical returns, and are subject to a penalty of $25 for each day that they operate in violation of the provisions of the law. Penalties apply also to employees, and to dealers in illuminating oil, for violations of the act.]

Department of agriculture, labor, and industries

SECTION 3555. Purpose.—There is hereby created a department of the government of the State of Montana to be known as the "department of agriculture, labor, and industry." The general purpose of said department is the promotion of the agricultural and labor interests of the State of Montana as hereafter more specifically provided.

SEC. 3556. Title.—The chief executive officer of the department of agriculture, labor, and industry, hereinafter referred to as the commissioner of agriculture, shall be a commissioner of agriculture, to be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, and such commissioner shall hold office for a term of four years or until his successor is appointed and qualified.

SEC. 3557. Surety.—Before entering upon the duties of his office, the commissioner of agriculture shall take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office, and shall give a surety company bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties, the cost of said bond to be paid by the State. The commissioner shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars, payable in the same manner as the salaries of other State officers, and shall be allowed such expenses as may be actually and necessarily incurred in the performance of his duties. He shall maintain his office at the State capitol.

SEC. 3558. Authority.—The commissioner of agriculture is empowered to prescribe regulations not inconsistent with law for the government of his department, the conduct of its employees and clerks, the distribution and performance of its business and the custody, use, and preservation of the records, papers, books, documents, and property pertaining thereto. He shall also have authority to designate the form of and to use a seal to authenticate his official acts.

SEC. 3559. Assistants.—The commissioner of agriculture shall have the authority to appoint for the performance of the work of said department such number of secretaries, assistants, clerks, and other employees as he shall deem necessary for the performance of the work of the department, subject, however, to the approval of the State board of examiners. All persons so employed shall receive the compensation fixed by law or fixed by the board or department to whom may be intrusted the power to fix the compensation of deputy State officers and employees: if not so fixed, the commissioner of agriculture shall determine the amount of said compensation. No employee of the department of agriculture, labor, and industry who is paid a fixed compensation shall receive pay for any extra services rendered by him unless expressly authorized by law.

SEC. 3563. Divisions.—There shall be four main divisions of the department of agriculture, labor, and industry, to wit:

The division of farming and dairying.

The division of grain standards and marketing.

The division of horticulture.

The division of labor and publicity.

The divisions hereby created are intended for the sole purpose of promoting the logical and convenient classification of the work of the department, and nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent any person engaged in the work of a particular division from performing the work of another division; the commissioner may likewise create additional divisions at his discretion.

SEC. 3635. Division of labor.—The department of agriculture, labor, and industry, through the division of labor and publicity, shall be charged with the duty of enforcing all the laws of Montana relating to hours of labor, conditions of labor, protection of employees, and all laws relating to child labor regulating the employment of children in any manner; it shall also be the duty of such division to administer all the laws of the State relative to free employment offices.

SEC. 3636. Employment agencies.—It is the duty of the city council of any incorporated city of the first or second class within this State, and it shall be lawful for the city council of any other incorporated city, to provide for the establishment of a free public employment office to be conducted on the most approved plans, and to provide for the expenses thereof out of the revenues of the city in which the same is established. The annual report of the department of agriculture, labor, and industry shall contain a detailed account of all such free employment offices within the State showing the number of applicants for employment, the number securing employment, and the expenses of maintaining such office.

SEC. 3637. Powers.—In discharging the duties imposed upon the division of labor and publicity the commissioner of agriculture shall have power to administer oaths, to examine witnesses under oath, to take depositions or cause same to be taken, to deputize any male citizen over the age of twenty-one years to serve subpœnas upon witnesses, and to issue subpœnas for the attendance of witnesses before him in the same manner as for attendance before district courts. The commissioner of agriculture shall likewise have the authority to inspect any mine, factory, workshop, smelter, mill, warehouse, elevator, foundry, machine shop, or other industrial establishment, and any person who shall refuse to the commissioner admission to any of the industrial establishments herein enumerated when admission is requested for the purpose of inspection, or who shall, when requested by the commissioner, willfully neglect or refuse to furnish to him any statistics or other information which may be in the possession or under the control of such person, or who shall refuse to obey any subpœna issued by the commissioner, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished accordingly. Nothing herein contained shall in any manner confer upon the commissioner of agriculture the authority to interfere in any manner with the conduct of the matters under the control of the industrial accident board, nor shall said commissioner be charged with the duty of enforcing any of the laws of the State of Montana pertaining to the affairs of said industrial accident board, nor with the enforcement of the safety provisions of the workmen's compensation act.

SEC. 3649. Violations.—[Fine of not exceeding $500, or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both, are penalties for violations.]

Railroads—Investigation, etc., of accidents

SECTIONS 3798, 3799. Reports.—[Railroad companies must report promptly to the railroad commissioners of the State all accidents causing death or sufficient personal injury to require medical or surgical attention, whereupon the board shall make inquiry with reference thereto, filing the testimony in its office.]

Railroads—Observance of safety provisions

SECTION 3819. Enforcement.—It is hereby made the duty of the board of railroad commissioners to make inquiry into the observance by all railroads within this State of the laws of the United States and of the State of Montana intended to safeguard the lives of the employees of persons or corporations engaged in operating the same, and to lay complaint before the proper officer, State or Federal, of any infraction of any of such laws, and to prosecute before the proper court or tribunal any person guilty of violation of the penal provisions thereof.

SEC. 3820. Report.—Said board shall, in its annual report, set out what effort it has made to carry out the provisions of this act, with the results thereof, and in detail what steps it has taken to procure to be prosecuted any violations of any such acts of which it has secured information.

SEC. 3827. Equipment may be ordered.—The railroad commission of the State of Montana shall have full authority, after notice and hearing, to make and enforce rules and regulations providing for the installation on and equipment of trains, cars, or engines with safety appliances, and shall have authority to inspect the same and enforce regulations with regard thereto, such inspection rules and regulations to be from time to time coextensive with the requirements of, and in conformity to, the provisions of the acts of Congress and rules and regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission as then effective.

SEC. 3828. Inspection.—The railroad commission of the State of Montana shall have the power and authority to examine and inspect all brakes and brake equipment and, after notice and hearing, to make and enforce reasonable rules and regulations with respect to the examination, inspection, and repair thereof, with a view of determining the proper measure of efficiency of said brakes and brake equipment. Such rules and regulations to be from time to time coextensive with the requirements of and in conformity to the provisions of the acts of Congress, and rules and regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission as then effective.

Inspection of steam vessels

SECTIONS 3859–3862, 3870, 3873. Inspector, duties.—[An inspector of steam vessels and other water craft, except private pleasure boats, is to be appointed by the board of railroad commissioners. He is to inspect annually or as often as the commission may order boats, barges, equipment, boilers, etc., and may require changes and improvements deemed expedient for safety. Fees are charged according to tonnage, from $10 to $30.]

Accidents to public-service employees—Investigations

SECTION 3907. Reports.—[All accidents causing death or injury must be reported by public utilities to the public service commission, whose duty it is to investigate all accidents of such gravity as to require medical or surgical attention. Reports of accidents are to be included in the annual report of the commission.]

Private employment offices

SECTION 4157. Definitions.—["Person" includes firms, etc.; and "agency" means any office charging a fee to employer or employee, teachers' agencies excepted.]

SECS. 4158–4160. License.—[A license from the county treasurer must be procured showing name of holder, location of agency, and date of issue. A fee of $5 is charged by affidavits of character.]

SECS. 4161, 4162. Bond.—[A bond must be given in the penal sum of $3,000, conditioned on compliance with the law, and for the benefit of persons aggrieved by the misconduct of the licensed person.]

SEC. 4163. Registers.—[Separate registers must be kept, approved by the county treasurer, of applicants for positions and for help, giving names, addresses, fees collected; and for employers, the wages agreed upon.]

SECS. 4164–4167. Fees.—[Fees charged applicants for employment may not exceed $3, which shall, on demand, be repaid in full if through no fault of the applicant no position is obtained within 5 days. Receipts must be given, and a card furnished applicants showing the name and address of the agency and of the prospective employer. No gift in lieu of fees may be received, and the dividing of fees is forbidden.]

SEC. 4168. Posting.—[Copies of the act must be posted in all agencies.]

SEC. 4169. Sending outside county.—[Agents sending contract laborers outside the county must, within 5 days thereafter, file with the county treasurer the names and addresses of employers and employees, kind and conditions of work, wages, terms of transportation, etc.]

SEC. 4170. Immoral, etc., resorts.—[No female may be sent to any place of questionable or immoral character, the nature of which could have been learned by reasonable inquiry.]

SEC. 4171. Fraud.—[False and fraudulent advertising, giving false information, and making false promises are forbidden. All printed matter must give the name and address of the agency.]

SEC. 4172. Penalties.—[Violations entail fines from $100 to $500, imprisonment to 90 days, or both.]

Injuries to railroad employees—Medical aid—Employers' liability

SECTION 6602. Calling in physicians.—In case any railroad trainman or employee of any railroad doing business in this State shall be injured during his regular course of employment, any employee of said railroad is hereby empowered and authorized to call upon aud retain the services of the nearest practicing physician or surgeon to care for and treat any such injured trainman or employee, during and until such time as one of the regularly employed and paid physicians or surgeons of such railroad corporation is able to render such service.

SEC. 6603. Fee.—In cases where the services of any physician or surgeon other than the regularly employed physician or surgeon of the railroad corporation are retained and hired as provided in the preceding section, such physician or surgeon shall be compensated and paid a reasonable fee for such services performed by him as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 6604. Railroad to pay in reasonable time.—If any railroad corporation refuses or neglects to pay for the services of any such physician as hereinbefore provided for within a reasonable time after such physician or surgeon has rendered the services therefor, such railroad corporation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 6605. Liability declared.—Every person or corporation operating a railroad iu this State shall be liable in damages to any person suffering iujury while he is employed by such person or corporation so operating any such railroad, or in case of the death of such employee, instantaneously or otherwise, to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband aud children of such employee, and if none, then of such employee's parents, and if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such persou or corporation so operating such railroad, in or about the handling, movement, or operation of any train, engine, or car, on or over such railroad, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

SEC. 6606. Negligenee to be measured.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such person or corporation so operating such railroad, under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such person or corporation, so operating such railroad, of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 6607. Risks not assumed, when.—An employee of any such person or corporation so operating such railroad shall not be deemed to have assumed any risk incident to his employment, when such risk arises by reason of the negligence of his employer, or of any person in the service of such employer.

SEC. 6608. Contracts, etc., exempting from liability.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any such person or corporation so operating such railroad to exempt itself from any liability created by this act, shall, to that extent, be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such person or corporation so operating such railroad, under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, such person or corporation may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief beuefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or the person entitled thereto, on account of the injury or death for which said action is brought.

Railroads—Losses to employees from changing terminals

SECTION 6623. Removal.—When any railroad or railway company operating its line of road in, into, or through the State of Montana shall move any of its division points or terminals, it shall be liable to any employee of such railroad or railway company for any damage sustained by such employee by reason of any decrease in value of any real property actually occupied by such employee as his place of residence, which decrease in value shall be caused by reason of the removal of such division point or terminal: Provided, Such employee shall have in such property so damaged an estate of freehold. Such damages shall be collectible in any court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 6624. Release.—Provided, That when any railroad or railway company in good faith determines upon a change or removal of any division point or terminal, and in good faith posts prominently about its station house, shops, and yards a statement of its intention so to do, in such manner as to give reasonable notice thereof to such employee, it shall not be liable as hereinbefore provided for any decrease in value of any interest in any property purchased after the time of such posting: Provided, That such division point or terminal shall be changed or removed within six months after the date of such posting.

Employers' liability—Waivers

SECTION 7555. Contracts invalid.—Any contract or agreement entered into by any person, company, or corporation with its servants or employees, whereby such person, company, or corporation shall be released or discharged from liability or responsibility on account of personal injuries received by such servants or employees while in the service of such person, company, or corporation, by reason of the negligence of such person, company, or corporation, or the agents or employees thereof, shall be absolutely null and void.

Employment of labor—General provisions

SECTION 7756. Contract defined.—The contract of employment is a contract by which one, who is called the employer, engages another, who is called the employee, to do something for the benefit of the employer, or of a third person.

SEC. 7757. Employees to be indemnified, when.—An employer must indemnify his employee, except as prescribed in the next section, for all that he necessarily expends or loses in direct consequence of the discharge of his duties as such, or of his obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee, at the time of obeying such directions, believed them to be unlawful.

SEC. 7758. Ordinary risks.—An employer is not bound to indemnify his employee for losses suffered by the latter in consequence of the ordinary risks of the business in which he is employed.

SEC. 7759. Want of care.—An employer must in all cases indemnify his employee for losses caused by the former's want of ordinary care.

SEC. 7763. Acts of superintendents and others in mines, etc.—Every company, corporation, or individual, operating any mine, smelter, or mill for the refining of ores, shall be liable for any damages sustained by any employees thereof within this State, without contributing negligence on his part, when such damage is caused by the negligence of any superintendent, foreman, shift-boss, hoisting or other engineer, or cranemen.

This section takes away the defense of fellow-service in the cases enumerated, but does not affect that of contributory negligence, which, however, must be pleaded unless it appears from the employee's own pleading or proof. 132 Pac. 552.

SEC. 7764. Contracts.—No contract of insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity in case of injury or death, nor any other contract entered into before the injury, between the person injured and any of the employers named in this act, shall constitute any bar or defense to any cause of action brought under the provision of this act.

SEC. 7765. Death.—In case of the death of any such employees in consequence of any injury or damages so sustained, the right of action shall survive and may be prosecuted and maintained by their heirs or personal representatives.

SEC. 7766. Acts of employees.—Every person or corporation operating a railway or railroad in this State shall be liable for all damages sustained by any employee of such person or corporation in consequence of the neglect of any other employee or employees thereof, or by the mismanagement of any other employee or employees thereof, and in consequence of the willful wrongs, whether of commission or omission, of any other employee or employees thereof, when such neglect, mismanagement, or wrongs are, in any manner connected with the use and operation of any railway or railroad on or about which they shall be employed, and no contract which restricts such liability shall be legal or binding.

SEC. 7767. Death.—In case of the death of any such employee in consequence of any injury or damage so sustained, the right of action shall survive and may be prosecuted and maintained by his heirs or personal representatives.

A similar law which this supersedes was held to apply to all persons engaged in operating the road, and to be constitutional. 92 Pac. 469.

SEC. 7768. Service without consideration.—One who, without consideration, undertakes to do a service for another, is not bound to perform the same, but if he actually enters upon its performance, he must use at least slight care and diligence therein.

SEC. 7769. Employment on request.—One who, by his own special request, induces another to intrust him with the performance of a service, must perform the same fully. In other cases, one who undertakes a gratuitous service may relinquish it at any time.

SEC. 7770. Accepting written power of attorney.—A gratuitous employee, who accepts a written power of attorney, must act under it so long as it remains in force or until he gives notice to his employer that he will not do so.

SEC. 7771. Service for consideration.—One who, for a good consideration, agrees to serve another, must perform the service and must use ordinary care and diligence therein, so long as he is thus employed.

SEC. 7772. Service for personal advantage.—One who is employed at his own request to do that which is more for his own advantage than for that of his employer must use great care and diligence therein to protect the interest of the latter.

SEC. 7773. Limit of term of contract.—A contract to render personal service, other than a contract of apprenticeship, * * * can not be enforced against the employee beyond the term of two years from the commencement of service under it; but if the employee voluntarily continues his service under it beyond that time, the contract may be referred to as affording a presumptive measure of the compensation.

SEC. 7774. Obedience to orders.—An employee must substantially comply with all the directions of his employer concerning the service on which he is engaged, except where such obedience is impossible or unlawful, or would impose new and unreasonable burdens upon the employee.

SEC. 7775. Usage of place.—An employee must perform his service in conformity to the usage of the place of performance, unless otherwise directed by his employer, or unless it is impracticable, or manifestly injurious to his employer to do so.

SEC. 7776. Degree of skill.—An employee is bound to exercise a reasonable degree of skill, unless his employer has notice, before employing him, of his want of skill.

SEC. 7777. Same subject.—An employee is always bound to use such skill as he possesses, so far as the same is required, for the service specified.

SEC. 7778. Acquisitions by employee.—Everything which an employee acquires by virtue of his employment, except the compensation, if any, which is due to him from his employer, belongs to the latter, whether acquired lawfully or unlawfully, or during or after the expiration of the term of his employment.

SEC. 7779. Accounts.—An employee must, on demand, render to his employer just accounts of all his transactions in the course of his service, as often as may be reasonable, and must, without demand, give prompt notice to his employer of everything which he receives for his account.

SEC. 7780. Goods received may be held until demand.—An employee who receives anything on account of his employer, in any capacity other than that of a mere servant, is not bound to deliver it to him until demanded, and is not at liberty to send it to him from a distance, without demand, in any mode involving greater risk than its retention by the employee himself.

SEC. 7781. Employer's business has precedence.—An employee who has any business to transact on his own account similar to that intrusted to him by his employer must always give the latter the preference.

SEC. 7782. Substitutes.—An employee who is expressly authorized to employ a substitute is liable to his principal only for want of ordinary care in his selection. The substitute is directly responsible to the principal.

SEC. 7783. Culpable negligence.—An employee who is guilty of a culpable degree of negligence is liable to his employer for the damage thereby caused to the latter; and the employer is liable to him, if the service is not gratuitous, for the value of such services only as are properly rendered.

SEC. 7784. Survivor of joint employees.—Where service is to be rendered by two or more persons jointly, and one of them dies, the survivor must act alone, if the service to be rendered is such as he can rightly perform without the aid of the deceased person, but not otherwise.

SEC. 7786. Termination of employment.—Every employment in which the power of the employee is not coupled with an interest in its subject is terminated by notice to him of:

1. The death of the employer; or,
2. His legal incapacity to contract.

SEC. 7787. Same subject.—Every employment is terminated:

1. By the expiration of its appointed term;
2. By the extinction of its subject;
3. By the death of the employee; or,
4. By his legal incapacity to act as such.

SEC. 7788. Continuance after death of employer.—An employee, unless the term of his service has expired, or unless he has a right to discontinue it at any time without notice, must continue his service after notice of the death or incapacity of his employer, so far as is necessary to protect from serious injury the interests of the employer's successor in interest, until a reasonable time after notice of the facts has been communicated to such successor. The successor must compensate the employee for such service acording to the terms of the contract of employment.

SEC. 7789. Termination at will.—An employment having no specified term may be terminated at the will of either party, on notice to the other, except where otherwise provided by sections 7756 to 7809 of this code.

SEC. 7790. Breach of duty by employee.—An employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated at any time by the employer in case of any willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of his employment, or in case of his habitual neglect of his duty or continued incapacity to perform it.

SEC. 7791. By employer.—An employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated by the employee at any time in case of any willful or permanent breach of the obligations of his employer to him as an employee.

SEC. 7792. Forfeiture of wages.—An employee, dismissed by his employer for good cause, is not entitled to any compensation for services rendered since the last day upon which a payment became due to him under the contract.

SEC. 7793. Proportionate compensation.—An employee who quits the service of his employer for good cause is entitled to such proportion of the compensation which would become due in case of full performance as the services which he has already rendered bear to the services which he was to render as full performance.

SEC. 7794. Definition.—A servant is one who is employed to render personal service to his employer, otherwise than in the pursuit of an independent calling, and who in such service remains entirely under the control and direction of the latter, who is called his master.

SEC. 7795. Measure of terms of service.—A servant is presumed to have been hired for such length of time as the parties adopt for the estimation of wages. A hiring at a yearly rate is presumed to be for one year; a hiring at a daily rate for one day; a hiring by piece-work for no specified term.

SEC. 7796. Monthly term presumed.—In the absence of any agreement or custom as to the term of service, the time of payment, or rate or value of wages, a servant is presumed to be hired by the month, at a monthly rate of reasonable wages, to be paid when the service is performed.

SEC. 7797. Renewal presumed, when—Where, after the expiration of an agreement respecting the wages and the term of service, the parties continue the relation of master and servant, they are presumed to have renewed the agreement for the same wages and term of service.

SEC. 7798. Employee's time.—The entire time of a domestic servant belongs to the master, and the time of other servants to such extent as is usual in the business in which they serve, not exceeding in any case ten hours in the day.

SEC. 7799. Delivery of goods, etc.—A servant must deliver to his master, as soon as with reasonable diligence he can find him, everything that he receives for his account, without demand; but he is not bound, without orders from his master, to send anything to him through another person.

SEC. 7800. Discharge for cause.—A master may discharge any servant, other than an apprentice, whether engaged for a fixed term of not:

1. If he is guilty of misconduct in the course of his service, or of gross immorality, though unconnected with the same; or,
2. If, being employed about the person of his master, or in a confidential position, the master discovers that he has been guilty of misconduct, before or after the commencement of his service, of such a nature that, if the master had known or contemplated it, he would not have so employed him.

SEC. 7810. Service without employment.—One who officially [officiously], and without the consent of the real or apparet owner of a thing, takes into his possession for the purpose of rendering service about it, must complete such service, and use ordinary care, diligence, and reasonable skill about the same. He is not entitled to any compensation for his service or expenses, except that he may deduct actual and necessary expenses, incurred by him about such service, from any profits which his service has caused the thing to acquire for its owner, and must account to the owner for the residue.

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments, etc.

SECTION 8351. Assignments.—[Wages of miners, mechanics, salesmen, servants, clerks, or laborers to the amount of $200 each, earned within the 60 days preceding, are to be paid before all other claims against an assignor or insolvent person.]

SEC. 8352. Attorneys' fees.—[A reasonable attorney's fee is to be allowed claimants if the claim is established, or the defendant if it fails.]

SEC. 8353. Administration.—[The same rights as in sec. 8351 are allowed in case of the death of an employer, subject to funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness, costs of administration, and the allowance to the widow and infant children.]

SECS. 8354–8356. Attachments, etc.—[In case of executions, attachments, etc., except for wage debts, the claims of laborers, etc., as above are a prior claim on assets, to the amount of $200 each, earned within 60 days preceding the levy.]

SEC. 8358. Prior mortgages.—[All the foregoing provisions are subject to prior existing encumbrances.]

SEC. 8616. Assignments.—[Same as sec. 8351, but includes associations, corporations, etc., as well as persons.]

Injunctions in labor disputes

SECTION 9242. An injunction can not be granted:

* * * * * * *

8. When not to be granted.—In labor disputes under any other or different circumstances or conditions than if the controversy were of another or different character, or between parties neither or none of whom were laborers or interested in labor questions.

Exemption of wages

SECTION 9429. Amount.—[The earnings of a judgment debtor for 45 days prior to the levy are exempt from execution on a showing that they are necessary for the support of a dependent family; but if the debt was incurred for necessaries, one-half such earnings are subject to execution.]

Attorney's fees in suits for wages

SECTION 9800. Fee allowed.—[A reasonable attorney's fee is to be allowed if a claimant establishes a wage claim as provided in section 8351.]

SECTION 10770. Attempting to influence employees.—It shall be unlawful for any employer, in paying his employees the salary or wages due them, to inclose their pay in "pay envelopes" and upon which there is written or printed the name of any candidate or political mottoes, devices, or arguments containing threats or promise, express or implied, calculated or intended to influence the political opinions or actions of such employees. Nor shall it be lawful for an employer, within ninety days of an election, to put up or otherwise exhibit in his factory, workshop, or other establishment or place where his workmen or employees may be working, any handbill or placard containing any threat or promise, notice, or information, that in case any particular ticket or political party, or organization, or candidate, shall be elected, work in his place or establishment will cease, in whole or in part, or shall be continued or increased, or his place or establishment be closed up, or the salaries or wages of his workmen or employees be reduced or increased, or other threats, or promises, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of his workmen or employees. This section shall apply to corporations as well as individuals, and any person violating the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and imprisonment not exceeding six months in the county jail, and any corporation violating this section shall be punished by fine not to exceed five thousand dollars, or forfeit its charter, or both such fine and forfeiture.

Antitrust law—Labor organizations exempt

SECTION 10902. Exemption of wage agreements.—The provisions of this act do not apply to any arrangements, agreement, or combination between laborers, made with the object of lessening the number of hours of labor or increasing wages.

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 11021. Mendicant, etc., occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 in mendicant, acrobatic, etc., occupations is forbidden. For text of similar law see sec. 2223, Delaware Code.]

Protection of discharged employees

SECTION 11219. Violations.—[It is a misdemeanor to violate the provisions of sections 3092–3094.]

Employment of labor—False representations—Choice of boarding houses

SECTION 11220. Deception.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, society, company, association, corporation, or organization of any kind doing business in this State to induce, influence, persuade, or engage workmen to change from one place to another in this State, through or by means of deception, misrepresentation, and false advertising concerning the kind or character of the work, or the sanitary or other conditions of employment, or as to the existence of a strike or other trouble pending between the employer and the employees, at the time of, or immediately prior to such engagement. Failure to state in any advertisement, proposal, or contract for the employment of workmen that there is a strike, lockout, or other labor trouble at the place of the proposed employment, when in fact such strike, lockout, or other trouble then actually exists at such place, shall be deemed a false advertisement and misrepresentation for the purpose of this act.

SEC. 11221. Violations.—[Violations incur penalty of fine, $100 to $2,000.]

SEC. 11222. Recovery of damages.—Any workman of this State or any workman of any State who has been or shall be influenced, induced, or persuaded to engage with any person mentioned in section 11220 of this code, through or by means of any of the things prohibited by this code, shall have a right of action for recovery of all damages that he has sustained in consequence of the deception, misrepresentation, and false advertising used to induce him to change his place of employment, against any person, corporation, company, or association directly or indirectly procuring such change, and in addition thereto, he shall recover reasonable attorney's fees to be fixed by the court and taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

SEC. 11223. Coercion forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, company, or corporation now operating or who shall hereafter operate a boarding house in connection with their general business, either directly or through others, to compel an employee to board in such boarding-house against his will.

SEC. 11224. Penalty.—Any person, firm, company, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars.

Mine regulations—Quartz mines

SECTION 11268. Cages.—[In mines with vertical shafts more than 300 feet in depth, an iron-bonneted cage must be used for lowering and hoisting workmen. The construction, equipment and inspection are prescribed in detail.]

SEC. 11269. Stoping.—[Stoping within less than 25 feet of a shaft is forbidden, if other work is being carried on below the stoping.]

SEC. 11270. Speed of cage.—[Cages used for hoisting and lowering men may not exceed a speed of 80 feet per minute.]

SEC. 11271. Buildings.—[Blacksmith shops or drying rooms must not be within 50 feet of the mouth of a tunnel or shaft, unless fireproof.]

SEC. 11272. Penalties.—[Violations of the above provisions entail fines of from $300 to $1,000.]

SEC. 11273. Escape shaft.—[A second exit must be provided in mines of 100 or more feet in depth where the shaft is covered by a building that is not fireproof, and operations have been carried on by drifting and stoping designated distances.]

SEC. 11274. Scope.—[The provisions of the preceding section apply only to quartz mines in which 9 or more men are employed underground at stoping, and which have a nonfireproof building within 30 feet of the shaft.]

Employment of labor

SECTION 11402. Contracts releasing from liability.—Every person, company, or corporation which requires of its servants or employees, as a condition of their employment or otherwise, any contract or agreement whereby such person, company, or corporation is released or discharged from liability or responsibility on account of personal injuries received by such servants or employees, while in the service of such person, company, or corporation, by reason of the negligence of such person, company, or corporation, or the agents or employees thereof, is punishable by imprisonment in the State prison not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both.

SEC. 11403. Wage debts.—Every person, company, or corporation indebted to another person for labor, or any agent of any person, copartnership, or corporation so indebted, who shall, with intent to secure from such other person a discount upon the payment of such indebtedness, willfully refuse to pay the same, or falsely deny the same, or the amount or validity thereof, or that the same is due, is guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall prohibit any employer from fixing regular pay days for the payment of wages or salary earned in the calendar month immediately preceding such pay days, except in cases where the employee is discharged.

SEC. 11404. Accepting fees forbidden.—Any superintendent, foreman, assistant, boss, or any other person or persons who shall receive or solicit, or cause to be received or solicited, any sum of money or other valuable consideration from any person for or on account of the employment or the continuing of the employment of such person, or of anyone else, or for or on account of any promise or agreement to employ or to continue to employ any such person, or anyone else, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 11405. Witnesses.—No person shall be excused from attending or testifying, or producing any books, papers, documents, or anything, or things before any court or magistrate upon any investigation, proceeding, or trial for a violation of any of the provisions of this act, upon the ground, or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him, may tend to convict him of a crime, or to subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may so testify, or produce evidence, of documentary, or otherwise; and no testimony or evidence so given or produced shall be received against him in any civil or criminal proceeding, action, or investigation.

NEBRASKA

ARTICLE XV

SECTION 8. Employment of women and children—Minimum wage.—Laws may be enacted regulating the hours and conditions of employment of women and children, and securing to such employees a proper minimum wage.

SEC. 9. Labor disputes—Industrial commission.—Laws may be enacted providing for the investigation, submission, and determination of controversies between employers and employees in any business or vocation affected with a public interest, and for the prevention of unfair business practices and unconscionable gains in any business or vocation affecting the public welfare. An industrial commission may be created for the purpose of administering such laws, and appeals shall lie to the supreme court from the final orders and judgments of such commission.

COMPILED STATUTES—1922

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments

SECTION 246. Amount.—[Debts for clerks' or servants' wages in an amount not exceeding $100 may be paid or secured without being subject to the laws governing the property of assignments generally.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 2346. Threatening discharge or close of business.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm, company, or corporation employing any voter in the State of Nebraska to coerce or in any way attempt to coerce such voter in his voting or any other political action at any primary, caucus, convention, or election held or to be held in this State or to attempt to influence the political action of such voter by threatening to discharge him because of his political action, or by threats on the part of such person or persons, firm, company, or corporation to close his or its place of business in the event of the election of any candidate for public office, or in the event of the success of any political party at any election; and any person or persons, firm, company, or corporation in this State found guilty of a violation of this section shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or be imprisoned not to exceed thirty days in the county jail.

Suits for wages—Homesteads not exempt

SECTION 2818. Exception.—The homestead is subject to execution or forced sale in satisfaction of judgments obtained:

First. On debts secured by mechanics', laborers', or vendors' liens upon the premises; * * *.

Railroads—Regulation of employment—Liability for injuries—Accidents

SECTION 5389. Pay days established.—Every railroad company authorized to do business by the laws of the State of Nebraska shall, on or before the first day of each month pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the first half of the preceding month, ending with the fifteenth day thereof, and on or before the fifteenth day of each month pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the last half of the preceding calendar month: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment any employee shall be absent from his or her regular place of labor and shall not receive his or her wages through a duly authorized representative, he or she shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter upon demand upon the proper paymaster at the place where such wages are usually paid and at the place where the next pay is due; any such railroad company which shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall forfeit and pay the sum of $25 for each violation of this act which shall be proved, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction by any person who shall sue for the same; one half of said penalty to go to said person so suing therefor, and the other half to go to the State: Provided further, Complaint of such violation be made within sixty days from the date such wages become payable, according to the tenor of this act.

SEC. 5390. Agreements forbidden.—It shall not be lawful for any railroad company to enter into or make any agreement with any employee for the payment of wages of any such employee otherwise than as provided in section one of this act, except it be to pay such wages at shorter intervals than herein provided. Every agreement made in violation of this act shall be deemed to be null and void, and it shall not be a defense to the suit for a penalty provided for in section one of this act; and each and every employee with whom any agreement in violation of this act shall be made by such railroad company shall have his or her action and right of action against such railroad company for the full amount of his or her wages in any court of competent jurisdiction of this State.

SEC. 5410 (as amended 1923, ch. 81). Liability.—Every railway company operating a railway engine, car, or train in the State of Nebraska shall be liable to any of its employees who at the time of injury are engaged in construction or repair work or in the use and operation of any engine, car, or train for such company, or in the case of his death to his personal representatives for the benefit of his widow and children, if any; if none, then to his parents; if none, then to his next of kin dependent upon him; for all damages which may result from negligence of any of its officers, agents, or employees, or by reason of any defects or insufficiency due to its negligence in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, ways, or works, or for failure to furnish adequate tools, appliances, or devices to enable its employees to perform their duties in a safe and proper manner, where such failure to furnish adequate tools, appliances, or devices renders it necessary for an employee under the direction of a foreman or other superior in the employ of any such railroad company to provide a substitute or substitutes for such tools, appliances, or devices to accomplish such work, and such employee so furnishing the substitute or substitutes for such tool, appliances, or devices shall not be deemed guilty of contributory negligence if the substitute or substitutes so furnished or provided by him shall prove inadequate or defective.

SEC. 5411. Comparative negligence.—In all actions brought against any railway company to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee, or when such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery when his contributory negligence was slight and that of the employer was gross in comparison, but damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee; all questions of negligence and contributory negligence shall be for the jury.

Though this statute enforces a different rule against railroads from that applicable to other classes of litigants it is not unconstitutional; nor does the fact that the act covers subjects embraced within the Federal safety appliance laws invalidate its provisions abolishing the fellow-service doctrine. 32 Sup. Ct. 606.

SEC. 5412 (as amended 1923, ch. 80). Contracts not a bar.—No contract of employment, insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity for injury or death entered into, by or on behalf of any employee, nor the acceptance of any such insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity by the person entitled thereto, shall constitute any bar or defense to any action brought to recover damages for personal injuries to or death of such employee, nor shall the recovery of any damages by an employee against the railroad company in any action brought therefor, impair in any way the right of the employee to the insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity provided in his contract for such relief benefit and insurance: Provided, however, In any action against any common carrier for damages the defendant may set off any sum it may have contributed toward the insurance, relief benefit or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or in case of his death to his personal representative. And no agreement hereafter or heretofore made, making the recovery of relief benefits or insurance conditioned upon the recovery or nonrecovery of damages by the employee against the employer, shall be of any force or validity, but such employee may recover his insurance or relief benefits notwithstanding any such contract or agreement.

SEC. 5455. Certain employees to be twenty-one years of age.—It shall be unlawful for any common carrier within this State to put in charge of any telegraph office or signal tower between the hours of 7 o'clock in the evening and 7 o'clock in the morning, any telegraph operator or towerman whose duty it shall be to assist in the movement of trains, unless such telegraph operator or towerman shall have reached the age of at least twenty-one years: Provided, This section shall not apply when such common carrier is engaged in relieving its tracks of a train wreck, an act of God, or some public calamity.

SEC. 5456. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, $5 to $50, for each night of illegal employment.]

SEC. 5495 (as amended, 1923, ch. 171). Reports of accidents, etc.—Every common carrier incorporated or doing business in this State shall, on or before the 31st day of March of each year, transmit to the office of the railway commission a full and complete statement, under the oath of its proper officers, of the affairs of such common carrier, as the same existed on the 31st day of December next preceding. Such statement shall show:

* * * * * * *

Twenty-fourth. The number of employees killed and the number of employees injured by accident, and the cause or causes of such accident.

Twenty-sixth. An itemized statement of the amount of all damages paid on account of injuries to or the death of persons by reasons of accidents, stating in separate items the amounts paid on account of injuries or the death of employees, passengers, and other persons.

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTION 5563. Inclosed platforms.—[Electric, cable, etc., cars requiring a person to be on the platform must have such platform inclosed so as to protect the workman from the winds and inclemencies of the weather from November 1 to April 1 of each year.]

SEC. 5564. Prohibition.—[Use of car without such inclosed platform is forbidden.]

SEC. 5565. Violations.—[Violations entail fine or imprisonment, each day's use being a separate offense; act does not apply to trailers.]

SEC. 5566. Enforcement.—[County attorneys must prosecute violators on information.]

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 6508. Requirement.—[Attendance is required to 16, except that if a child is 14, has completed the 8th grade, and his services or earnings are needed for his own support or of actual dependents he may be excused. However, if there is a part-time school in the district he must attend it for 8 hours per week throughout the school year.]

Railroads—Height of wires above tracks

SECTIONS 7101–7108. Clearance.—[The State railway commission is given power to regulate the crossing of railroad tracks by electric or other wires, and may order changes where wires do not conform to standards fixed. The clearance must not be less than 25 feet, except that trolley wires may not be less than 22 feet from the top of the rails.]

Department of Labor—General powers

SECTION 7654. Functions.—The governor, through the agency of the department of labor created by this act, shall have the power:

1. To foster, promote, and develop the welfare of wage earners;
2. To improve working conditions;
3. To advance opportunities for profitable employment;
4. To collect, collate, assort, systematize, and report statistical details relating to all departments of labor, especially in its relation to commercial, industrial, social, economic, and educational conditions, and to the permanent prosperity of the manufacturing and productive industries;
5. To require [acquire] and diffuse useful information on subjects connected with labor in the most general and comprehensive sense of the word;

6. To acquire and diffuse among the people useful information concerning the means of promoting the material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity of laboring men and women;

7. To acquire and diffuse information as to the conditions of employment and such other facts as may be deemed of value to the industrial interests of the State;

8. To acquire and diffuse information in relation to the prevention of accidents, occupational disease, and other related subjects;

9. To administer and enforce the workmen's compensation laws or employers' liability acts of the State, and for that purpose the secretary of the department of labor shall be the deputy commissioner of labor and compensation commissioner, and the duty hereby imposed upon him, as such, of executing all of the provisions of Article VIII, chapter 35, Revised Statutes of Nebraska for the year 1913 [ch. 28, relating to workmen's compensation], and any and all act or acts amendatory thereof.

SEC. 7655. Law enforcement.—In addition to the general powers conferred upon the governor in the preceding article he is hereby invested with the power and charged with the duty of enforcing, through the agency of the department of labor created by this act, all of the provisions contained in this article and all provisions which may be hereafter enacted as amendatory thereof.

SEC. 7656. Free employment offices.—The department of labor shall establish and maintain in its office and in connection therewith a free public employment bureau.

Employment of women

SECTION 7657. Seats for females.—It shall be the duty of every agent, proprietor, superintendent, or employer of female help within the State of Nebraska to provide a chair, stool, or seat for each and every such employee, upon which their female workers shall be allowed to rest when their duties will permit, or when said position does not interfere with the faithful discharge of their duties.

SEC. 7658. Penalty.—Any agent, proprietor, superintendent, or employer in the State of Nebraska faling to comply with the requirements of the preceding section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than ten ($10) dollars nor more than two hundred ($200) dollars and stand committed until such fine be paid, and shall also be liable to an action for damages to the employee whose health has been injured by such neglect.

SEC. 7659. Work time.—In metropolitan cities and cities of the first class no female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, office, or by any public-service corporation in this State more than nine hours during any one day or more than fifty-four hours in one week. The hours of each day may be so arranged as to permit the employment of such female at any time from six o'clock a. m. to ten o'clock p. m., but in no case shall such employment exceed nine hours in any one day, nor shall such female be employed except by public-service corporations between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

SEC. 7660. Schedule to be posted.—Every such employer shall post, in a conspicuous place in every room where such females are employed, a printed notice stating the number of hours of work required each day, the hours of commencing and stopping, the time allowed for meals. Printed forms for such notices shall be furnished by the department.

SEC. 7661. Violations.—[Penalty is a fine, $20 to $50 for each offense.]

Employment of labor—Service letter

SECTION 7666. Service letters.—Whenever any employee of any public-service corporation or of a contractor who works for such corporation or contractor doing business in the State of Nebraska shall be discharged or voluntarily quits the service of his employer, it shall be the duty of the superintendent or manager, or contractor, upon the request of such employee, to issue to such employee a service letter, setting forth the nature of the service rendered by such employee to such corporation or contractor, and the duration thereof, and truly stating the cause for which such employee was discharged or quit such service.

SEC. 7667. Form.—Such letter shall be written in its entirety upon a plain sheet of white paper to be selected by such employee. No printed blank shall be used, and if such letter be written on a typewriter, it shall be signed with a pen and black ink, and immediately beneath the signature shall be affixed the official stamp or seal of such superintendent, manager, or other official of such corporation, or contractor, in an upright position. There shall be no figures, words, or letters used upon such piece of paper except such as are plainly essential either in the date line or address or the body of the letter or the signature and seal or stamp thereof, and no such letter shall have any picture, imprint, character, design, device, impression, or mark, either in the body or the face or back thereof.

SEC. 7668. Failure to issue.—If any superintendent, manager, or contractor shall fail or refuse to issue such letter to such employees [on] request, or willfully fail, or negligently refuse to give such letter, or fail to state the facts therein correctly, he shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred ($100) dollars, nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars, for each offense, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than one month and not more than one year.

SECTION 7669. Age.—[Children under 14 may not be employed in any theater, concert hall, mercantile institution, office, hotel, laundry, factory, workshop, or as messenger or driver, or in any bowling alley or to operate elevators; or in any employment whatever during school hours.]

SECS. 7670–7677. Certificates.—[Certificates are required to 16, based on school records (completion of 8th grade), evidence of age and of physical fitness; a medical certificate must be had in doubtful cases. Proof of age may be required in cases of children apparently under 16 but claiming to be of that age.]

SEC. 7678. Work time.—[Children under 16 may not be employed in the occupations named in sec. 7669 more than 8 hours per day or between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. Schedules must be posted.]

SEC. 7679. Violations.—[Penalties of fine or imprisonment are prescribed for violations.]

SEC. 7680. Evidence.—[The presence of a child in a place of employment, apparently at work, is prima facie evidence of employment therein.]

SEC. 7681. Dangerous occupations.—[No child under 16 may be employed in any work or place dangerous to life or limb or injurious to health or morals.]

Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 7682. Water closets.—[Every factory or other building where one or more persons are employed must be provided with a sufficient number of accessible water-closets, earth closets, etc., separate for the sexes, and properly kept. The department of labor may require changes in placing, etc.]

SEC. 7683. Dressing rooms.—In factories, mills, or workshops, mercantile or mechanical establishments or other places where the labor performed by the operator is of such character that it becomes necessary to change the clothing, wholly or in part, before leaving the building at the close of the day's work, separate dressing rooms shall be provided for females whenever so required by the department of labor. It shall be the duty of every occupant, whether owner or lessee of any such premises used as specified by this article, to make all the changes and additions thereto. In case such changes are made upon the order of the department of labor, to the lessee of the premises, the lessee may at any time within thirty days after the completion thereof, bring an action against any person or corporation or partnership having interest in such premises, and may recover such proportion of expenses of making such changes and additions as the court adjudges should justly and equitably be borne by such defendant.

SEC. 7684. Fans.—If in any of the aforesaid places, any process is carried on by which dust or fumes are caused, which may be inhaled by the persons employed therein, or if the air should become exhausted or impure, there shall be [provided] a fan or other such mechanical device as will substantially carry away all such dust or fumes or other impurities, subject to the approval of the department of labor.

SEC. 7685. Ventilation.—All of the aforesaid places shall be kept clean and free from effluvia arising from any drain, privy, or nuisance, and shall be ventilated and kept in a sanitary condition. The department of labor or any person authorized by the department may require such changes or additions to be made in any of the aforesaid places as will promote the best measures of sanitation.

SEC. 7686. Blowers.—All persons, companies, or corporations operating any factory or workshop where grinding wheels or grinding machines, emery wheels, or emery belts of any description are used, either solid emery, leather covered, felt, canvas, linen, paper, cotton, or wheels or belts rolled or coated with emery or carborundum or cotton wheels used as buffs, shall, when deemed necessary by the department of labor, provide such wheels or belts with blowers or similar apparatus, which shall be placed over, beside, or under such wheels or belts in such manner as to protect the person or persons using the same from particles of dust produced and caused thereby, and to carry away the dust arising from or thrown off by such wheels or belt while in operation directly to the outside of the building or to some receptacle placed so as to receive and confine such dust: Provided, Grinding machines upon which water is used at the point of grinding contact and other wheels used for tool grinding shall be exempt from the provisions of this article.

SEC. 7687. Grindstones.—No emery wheels or grindstones in any factory, mill, or workshop shall be used when known to the person using the same to be cracked or otherwise defective, nor operated at a greater speed than indicated or guaranteed by the manufacturer of such emery wheel or grindstone.

SEC. 7688. Hoods.—Each and every emery wheel and grindstone shall be fitted with a sheet or cast iron hood or hopper, of such form so adjusted that the dust or refuse therefrom will fall or be thrown into such hood or hopper by centrifugal force, and be carried off by the current of air into a suction pipe.

SEC. 7689. Suction pipes.—Every such wheel six inches or less in diameter shall be provided with a three-inch suction pipe; wheels six inches to twenty-four inches in diameter with four-inch suction pipe; wheels from twenty-four inches to thirty-six inches in diameter with five-inch suction pipe; and every wheel exceeding thirty-six inches in diameter shall be provided with a suction pipe not less than six inches in diameter. The suction pipe from each wheel shall be of full size to its terminus, and a suction pipe to which smaller pipes are attached shall, in its capacity, be equal to the combined capacities of all smaller pipes attached thereto, and the discharge pipe shall be of as large capacity as, or larger capacity than, the combined capacities of all the suction pipes.

SEC. 7690. Guards.—Every person operating a plant where machinery is used, shall provide such guards, boxing, screens or other appliances as will protect employees against injury from belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums, saws, cogs, electric currents, molten metal or hot liquid. He shall also furnish and supply belt shifters which can be operated from the floor. All exposed cogs or gears shall be inclosed in metal casings or woven wire screens; protruding set screws in collars and couplings of shaftings or other revolving machinery shall be countersunk or covered with metal boxing; pulleys belts and projections of or from ends of shaftings shall be protected by boxing or inclosing with metal or other suitable material. Belts shall not rest on shafting in motion, but rest hooks shall be provided to hold belting free therefrom. Roll guards shall be placed on roll feed machines fed by hand at the point where the material is fed and a device for instantly stopping the machine by the hand or foot shall also be provided within reach of the operator when operating the machine.

SEC. 7691. Screens.—A metal or other suitable screen shall be placed around each laundry extractor or other exposed high-speed revolving machinery.

SEC. 7692. Wood planers, etc.—Wood planers, wood shapers, swing saws, equalizing saws, circular heading jointers, wood polishers, buzz planers, lathe bolters, and all similar machinery shall be equipped with requisite safety appliances.

SEC. 7693. Approval.—All safety appliances prescribed by this article shall be subject to the approval of the department of labor.

SEC. 7694. Electric switches.—Signs or indicating lamps shall be placed at all switches, in electric light and power plants or other places where high-pressure currents are used, to show whether the current is on or off the circuit. When current is turned off a circuit for repair, the switch shall first be tagged, the tag bearing the name of the person for whom it is turned off. The tag shall not be removed or the current turned on until the person for whom it was tagged shall notify the operator that his work has ceased.

SEC. 7695. Elevators.—Every elevator, whether freight or passenger, shall be equipped with a speed-governor safety device and with gates or doors to be not less than five feet in height, and all freight elevators shall be equipped with a signal or gong.

SEC. 7696. Entering boilers.—Where a number of boilers deliver to a common steam main, they shall be equipped with a shut-off or throttle valve for each boiler to take it out of service for repairs and inspection necessitating the entry therein of workmen. A metal shield shall be constructed covering the hand wheel of the valve, hinging in the center and containing hasp and lock. The shield shall be painted red and marked with the words, "Man in Boiler." The workman shall be allowed to retain key in his possession while in said boiler.

SEC. 7697. Fire escapes.—Every factory or other institution more than two stories in height shall be equipped with outside fireproof iron stairways, chutes, or toboggans and one automatic fire escape for every fifteen persons working or congregating therein at any time, who, for any reason, are unable to reach or use the outside fireproof stairways, chutes, or toboggans.

SEC. 7698. Accidents to be reported.—Every person operating a plant where machinery is used, shall report in writing to the department of labor all fatal accidents within forty-eight hours after their occurrence, and all other accidents within two weeks after their occurrence. Such report shall state fully the cause of the accidents, the nature and extent of the injuries, and the probable loss of time which will result therefrom.

SEC. 7699. Violations.—Every person operating a plant where machinery is used who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall be liable in damages to any person injured as a result thereof, or to the heirs of any person who shall have died as a result thereof.

SEC. 7700. Assumption of risks.—The continuance by any person in the employ of any such operator shall not be deemed an assumption of the risk of such employment.

SEC. 7701. Penalty.—Every person who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall on conviction thereof be fined in any sum not less than ten ($10) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars.

Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 7702. Scaffolds, etc.—All scaffolds, hoists, cranes, stays, ladders, supports, or other mechanical contrivances used in the erection, repairing, alteration, removal, or painting of any house, building, bridge, viaduct, or other structure, shall be erected and constructed in a safe, suitable, and proper manner. Scaffolding or staging, swung or suspended from an overhead support and more than twenty feet from the ground floor, shall have, where practicable, a safety rail properly bolted, secured, and braced, raising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portion of such scaffolding or staging, and extending along the entire length of the outside and ends thereof and properly attached thereto, and such scaffolding and staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

SEC. 7703. Floors.—If in any house, building, or structure in process of erection or construction, except a private barn or a private house, the distance between the enclosed walls is more than twenty-four feet in the clear there shall be built, kept, and maintained proper intermediate supports for the joists, which supports shall be either brick walls or iron or steel columns, beams, trusses, or girders. The floors in all such houses, buildings, or structures shall be capable of bearing in all their parts, in addition to the weight of the floor construction, partitions and permanent fixtures and mechanisms that may be set upon the same, a live load of fifty pounds for every square foot of floor surface.

SEC. 7704. Loading.—The owner of every house, building, or structure, except a private barn or private house, shall affix and display conspicuously on each floor of such building during construction a placard stating the load per square foot of floor surface which may with safety be applied to the particular floor during construction; or if the strength of different parts of any floor varies, then there shall be placards for each varying part of such floor. It shall be unlawful to load any such floors or any part thereof to a greater extent than the load indicated on the placard, and all such placards shall be verified and approved by the department of labor or other proper authority in the city or village charged with the enforcement of building laws.

SEC. 7705. Inspection.—Whenever it shall come to the notice of the department of labor or the local authority in any city or village of this State, charged with the duty of enforcing the building laws that the scaffolding or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons or ropes of any swinging or stationary scaffolding, platform or other similar device, used in the construction, alteration, removing, repairing, cleaning or painting of buildings, bridges or viaducts within this State are unsafe, or liable to prove dangerous to the life or limb of any person, the department of labor or such local authority or authorities, shall immediately cause an inspection to be made of such scaffolding, platform or device, or the slings, hammocks, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, iron or other parts connected therewith. If after examination, such scaffolding, platform or device, of any such parts, is found to be dangerous to the life or limb of any person, the department of labor or such local authority shall at once notify the person responsible for its erection or maintenance, of such fact and warn him against the use, maintenance or operation thereof, and prohibit the use thereof, and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger. Such notice may be served personally upon the person responsible for its erection or maintenance or by conspicuously affixing it to the scaffold, platform or other such device, or the part thereof declared to be unsafe. After such notice has been so served or affixed the person responsible therefor shall cease using and immediately remove such scaffolding, platform or other device or part thereof, and alter or strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe. The department of labor, or such local authority, whose duty it is, under the terms of this article, to examine or test any scaffolding, platform, or other device, or part thereof, required to be erected and maintained by this section, shall have free access at all reasonable hours to any building or structure or premises containing such scaffolding, platform or other similar device, or parts thereof, or where they may be in use. All swinging and stationary scaffolding, platforms or other devices shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be dependent thereon, or placed thereon when in use, and such swing, scaffolding, platform, or other device shall not be so overloaded or crowded as to render the same unsafe or dangerous.

SEC. 7706. Secondary scaffolds.—Any person employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in erecting, altering, repairing, or painting of any water pipe, standpipe, tank, smokestack, chimney, tower, steeple, pole, staff, dome, or cupola when the use of any scaffolding, staging, swing, hammock, support, temporary platform or other similar contrivance is required or used in the performance of such labor shall keep and maintain at all times, while such labor is being performed and such mechanical device is in use or operation, a safe and proper scaffold, stay, support, [or] other suitable device, not more than sixteen feet below such working scaffold, staging, swing, hammock, support, or temporary platform, when such work is being performed at a height of thirty-two feet or more.

SEC. 7707. Flooring to be filled in.—All contractors and owners, when constructing buildings where the plans and specifications require the floors to be arched between the beams thereof, or where the floors or filling in between the floors are fireproof material or brick work, shall complete the flooring or filling in as the building progresses, to within at least two tiers or beams below that on which the iron work is being erected. If the plans and specifications of such building do not require filling in between the beams of floors with brick or fireproof material, all contractors for carpenter work in the course of construction shall lay the under flooring thereof, or a safe temporary floor on each story as the building progresses to within at least two stories or floors below the story where the work is being performed. If the floor beams are of iron or steel the contractors for the iron or steel work of buildings in the course of construction or the owners of such buildings, shall thoroughly plank over the entire tier or (of) iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected, except such spaces as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such iron or steel work and for the raising and lowering of materials to be used in the construction of buildings, or such spaces as may be designated by the plans and specifications for stairways and elevator shafts.

SEC. 7708. Hoist shafts.—If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction for the purpose of lifting materials to be used in such construction, the contractors or owners shall cause the shafts or openings in each floor to be inclosed or fenced in on all sides by a substantial barrier or railing at least eight feet in height. Any hoisting machines or engines used in such building construction shall, where practicable, be set up or placed on the ground, and where it is necessary in the construction of such building to place such hoisting machine or engine on some floor above the ground floor, such machine or engine must be properly secured and supported with a foundation capable of safely sustaining twice the weight of such machine or engine. If a building in course of construction is five stories or more in height, no material needed for such construction shall be hoisted or lifted over public streets or alleys unless such street or alley shall be barricaded from use by the public. The chief officer in any city or village charged with the enforcement of local building laws and ordinances shall cooperate with the department of labor in enforcing the provisions of this article.

SEC. 7709. Signals.—If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus, operated or controlled by other than hand power, are used in the construction, alteration, or removal of any building or other structure, a complete and adequate system of communication by means of signals shall be provided and maintained by the owner, contractor, or subcontractor during the use and operation of such elevating machines or hoisting apparatus.

SEC. 7710. Duty of architects.—All architects or draftsmen, in preparing plans, specifications, or drawings to be used in the erection, repairing, altering, or removing of any building or structure within the terms and provisions of this article, shall provide in such plans, specifications, and drawings for all the permanent structural features or requirements specified in this article. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall upon conviction be fined not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars nor more than two hundred ($200) dollars for each offense.

SEC. 7711. Violations.—[Violations entail fines, $25 to $500, or imprisonment, 3 months to 2 years, or both.]

SEC. 7712. Assumption of risks.—The continuance by any person in the employ of any such operator shall not be deemed an assumption of the risk of such employment.

Private employment offices

SECTION 7727. Definitions.—[Terms "person," "agency," and "fee" are defined: latter includes any valuable consideration paid or promised for services.]

SEC. 7728. License.—[An annual, nontransferable license must be obtained from the secretary of labor; fee, $50.]

SEC. 7729. Bond.—[Bonds in the penal sum of $2,000 are required, conditioned on the observance of the terms of the act.]

SEC. 7730. Canceling license.—[An agent's refusal to comply with orders of the secretary of labor or to answer lawful questions in regard to the office may be penalized by cancellation of license, which shall not be reissued for 6 months.]

SEC. 7731. Name.—[No name or sign similar to that of the free employment bureau of the State shall be used.]

SEC. 7732. Register.—[A register must be kept showing the name, sex, and fee charged for occupations secured, the same to be open to official inspection A copy must be filed monthly with the secretary of labor.]

SEC. 7733. Receipts.—[Agencies must issue receipts showing occupation, wages, name and address of applicant and of employer, fee charged, and if strike or lockout is known to exist. A duplicate shall be mailed to the secretary of labor.]

SEC. 7734. Fee.—[A registration fee of $2 may be charged if an agency is at expense in looking up references, etc. References procured must be kept on file and may be inspected by officials and by the applicant. If no place is procured, unexpended portions of the fee must be returned on demand after 30 days and within 60 days. Charges for places secured may not exceed 10 per cent of the first month's wages, the registration charge being part of the amount. If the employee fails without fault of his own to retain his position, but one fee shall be charged each three months. Placements must be on bona fide orders only; and if the contrary appears, transportation expenses and all fees must be refunded.]

SEC. 7735. Receipts; return of fee.—[Receipts must show details as to amount, employment secured, etc. If the employment is not secured, through no fault of the workman, the fee must, on demand, be returned, as well as expenses incurred, if workman was sent outside the city.]

SEC. 7736. Dividing fees.—[Dividing fees with foremen, etc., is forbidden under penalty of not less than $50 or imprisonment; also, license shall be revoked.]

SEC. 7737. False statements; immoral resorts.—[Making or publishing false statements or sending female help to any house of ill fame is forbidden.]

SEC. 7738. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is vested in the secretary of labor. Violations are punished by fine, not over $100, or 3 months in jail for first offense, with revocation of license for second offense; but for knowingly sending females to places of immoral resort, imprisonment not less than 30 days and perpetual loss of license is prescribed.]

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 8833. Assumption of risks in suits against railways.—In any action brought against a railroad or street railroad company to recover damages for personal injury to any employee, whether such injury results in death or not, the employee shall not be held to have assumed any of the risks of his employment in any case where the railroad company or its agents, servants, or employees have been guilty of negligence.

SEC. 8834. Comparative negligence.—In all actions brought to recover damages for injuries to a person or to his property caused by the negligence of another, the fact that the plaintiff may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery when the contributory negligence of the plaintiff was slight and the negligence of the defendant was gross in comparison, but the contributory negligence of the plaintiff shall be considered by the jury in the mitigation of damages in proportion to the amount of contributory negligence attributable to the plaintiff; and all questions of negligence and contributory negligence shall be for the jury.

Suits for wages—Exemptions

SECTION 9040. No exemption, when.—[No property is exempt from execution, etc., for wages of clerks, laborers, or mechanics.]

SEC. 9041. Wages.—[Wages of heads of families in hands of employer are exempt from garnishment, etc., to extent of 90 per cent thereof, unless the debtor is about to abscond or leave the State.]

SEC. 9043. Avoiding exemption law.—[Assigning or transferring accounts against a laborer, etc., or instituting or prosecuting a claim against him seeking to seize wages earned 60 days prior to the proceedings, with the intent of avoiding the effect of the exemption laws, is forbidden.]

SEC. 9056. Amount exempt.—[The earnings of a judgment debtor for 3 months prior to the order for execution are exempt therefrom if it appears that they are necessary for the support of a family.]

Labor organizations—Embezzlement of funds

SECTION 9639. Embezzlement an offense.—If any officer, agent, or attorney of any voluntary association or of any labor organization shall embezzle or convert to his own use, or fraudulently take or make away with or secrete with intent to embezzle or fraudulently convert to his own use without the consent of the owner thereof, any money, goods, rights in action, or other valuable security or interest earned upon such funds or property or effects whatsoever belonging to any such voluntary association or labor organization of this State, he shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished in the manner provided by law for feloniously stealing property of the value of the article so embezzled, taken, or secreted, or of the value of the sum of money payable or due upon any right in action so embezzled.

Bribery, etc., of employees

SECTION 9710. Offering bribes.—Whoever gives, offers, or promises to an agent, employee, or servant any gift or gratuity whatever without the knowledge and consent of the principal, employer, or master of such agent, employee, or servant with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's, or master's business; or an agent, employee, or servant who without the knowledge or consent of his principal, employer, or master requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner to his principal's, employer's, or master's business; or an agent, employee, or servant who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies, or other articles either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer, or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer, or master, receives, directly or indirectly, for himself or for another a commission, discount, or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies, or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor; and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee, or servant such commission, discount, or bonus shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by such fine and by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year.

Picketing

Section 9752. Acts forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, singly or by conspiring together, to interfere, or to attempt to interfere, with any other person in the exercise of his or her lawful right to work, or right to enter upon or pursue any lawful employment he or she may desire, by doing any of the following acts, to wit: By using profane, insulting, indecent, offensive, annoying, abusive, or threatening language toward such person or any member of his or her immediate family, or in his, her, or their presence or hearing, for the purpose of inducing or influencing, or attempting to induce or influence, such person to quit his or her employment, or to refrain from seeking or freely entering into employment, or to persist in talking to or communicating in any manner with such person or members of his or her immediate family against his, her, or their will for such purpose, or to follow or to intercept such person from or to his work, from or to his home or lodging, or about the city against the will of such person for such purpose, or to photograph such person against his will, or to menace, threaten, coerce, intimidate, or frighten in any manner such person for such purpose, or to commit an assault or assault and battery upon such person for such purpose, or to loiter about, picket, or patrol the place of work or residence of such person, or any street, alley, road, highway, or any other place where such person may be, or in the vicinity thereof, for such purpose against the will of such person.

Sec. 9753. As to places.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, singly or conspiring together, to loiter about, beset, patrol, or picket in any manner the place of business or occupation of any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any lawful business or occupation, or any street, alley, road, highway, or other place in the vicinity where such person, firm, or corporation may be lawfully engaged in his, their, or its work, business, or occupation for the purpose of inducing or influencing, or attempting to induce or influence, others not to trade with, buy from, sell to, work for, or have business dealings with such person, firm, or corporation, so that thereby the lawful business or occupation of such person, firm, or corporation will be obstructed, interfered with, injured, or damaged and such person, firm, or corporation thereby be induced or coerced against his, their, or its will, intimidated or threatened, to do something he, they, or it may legally refrain from doing, or to refrain from doing something he, they, or it may lawfully do.

Sec. 9754. Violations.—[Fines of from $10 to $100 or imprisonment not to exceed 60 days, or both, are penalties for violations.]

NEVADA

REVISED LAWS—1912, 1919

Wages as preferred claims—In bankruptcy

SECTION 606. Wages preferred.—[Wages due workmen, clerks or servants, earned within 3 months before the commencement of proceedings, not over $300 to each, are payable next after costs of preserving the estate, filing fees, and costs of administration, allowing but one attorney's fee.]

SEC. 1187. Lien in bankruptcy.—[Employees have a lien on the assets of an insolvent or otherwise dissolved corporation, for two months' wages, to be paid prior to any other debt; but this does not apply to any of the officers.]

Arbitration of labor disputes

SECTION 1929. Governor to mediate.—Whenever a controversy concerning wages, hours of labor, or conditions of employment shall arise between an employer and his employees, seriously interrupting or threatening to interrupt the business of the employer, the governor shall, upon the request of either party to the controversy, with all practicable expedition, put himself in communication with the parties to such controversy, and shall use his best efforts, by mediation and conciliation, to amicably settle the same. He may either exercise such powers of conciliation himself, or appoint a commission for such purpose. If such efforts of conciliation shall be unsuccessful, the governor shall at once endeavor to bring about an arbitration of such controversy in accordance with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 1930. Board of arbitration.—Whenever such controversy shall arise between an employer and his employees which can not be settled by mediation and conciliation in the manner provided in the preceding section, such controversy may, with the consent of the parties to the controversy, be submitted to the arbitration of a board of three persons who shall be chosen in the manner following: One shall be named by the employer directly interested; the other by the labor organization to which the employees directly interested belong, or if they belong to more than one, such arbitrator shall be agreed upon and designated by the concurrent action of all such labor organizations. The two thus chosen shall select the third commissioner of arbitration, but in the event of their failure to name such arbitrator within five days after their first meeting, the three arbitrators shall be named by the governor. A majority of said arbitrators shall be competent to make a binding and valid award under the provisions hereof. The submission shall be in writing, shall be signed by the employer and by the labor organization or organizations representing employees, shall specify the time and place of meeting of such board of arbitration, shall state the questions to be decided, and shall contain appropriate provisions by which the respective parties shall stipulate as follows:

First. That the board of arbitration shall commence their hearings within ten days from the date of the appointment of the third arbitrator, and shall find and file their award within thirty days from the date of the appointment of the third arbitrator; and that pending the arbitration the status existing immediately prior to the dispute shall not be changed: Provided, That no employee shall be compelled to render personal services without his consent.

Second. That the award and the papers and proceedings, including the testimony relating thereto certified under the hands of the arbitrators, shall be filed in the clerk's office of the district court for the district wherein the controversy arises or the arbitration is entered into, and shall be final and conclusive upon both parties, unless set aside for error of law apparent on the record.

Third. That the respective parties to the award will each faithfully execute the same, and that the same may be specifically enforced in equity so far as the powers of a court of equity permit: Provided, That no injunction or other legal process shall be issued which shall compel the performance by any laborer against his will of a contract for personal labor or service.

Fourth. That employees dissatisfied with the award shall not by reason of such dissatisfaction quit the service of the employer before the expiration of three months from and after the making of such award without giving thirty days' notice in writing of their intention so to quit. Nor shall the employer dissatisfied with such award dismiss any employee or employees on account of such dissatisfaction before the expiration of three months from and after the making of such award without giving thirty days' notice in writing of his intention so to discharge.

Fifth. That said award shall continue in force as between the parties thereto for the period of one year after the same shall go into practical operation, and no new arbitration upon the same subject between the same employer and the same class of employees shall be had until the expiration of said one year if the award is not set aside as provided.

SEC. 1931. Award.—The award being filed in the clerk's office of the district court, as hereinbefore provided, shall go into practical operation, and judgment shall be entered thereon accordingly at the expiration of ten days from such filing, unless within such ten days either party shall file exceptions thereto for matter of law apparent on the record, in which case said award shall go into practical operation and judgment be entered accordingly when such exceptions shall have been finally disposed of either by said district court or on appeal therefrom. At the expiration of ten days from the decision of the district court upon exception taken to said award as aforesaid, judgment shall be entered in accordance with said decision, unless during said ten days either party shall appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court of the State of Nevada. In such case only such portion of the record shall be transmitted to the supreme court as is necessary to a proper understanding and consideration of the questions of law presented by said exceptions and to be decided. The determination of said supreme court upon said questions shall be final, and being certified by the clerk thereof to said district court, judgment pursuant thereto shall thereupon be entered by said district court. If exceptions to an award are finally sustained, judgment shall be entered setting aside the award, but in such case the parties may agree upon a judgment to be entered disposing of the subject matter of the controversy, which judgment when entered shall have the same force and effect as judgment entered upon award.

SEC. 1932. Powers of board.—For the purposes of this act the arbitrators herein provided for, or either of them, shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations, sign subpœnas, require the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production of such books, papers, contracts, agreements, and documents material to a just determination of the matters under investigation, as may be ordered by the courts; and may invoke the aid of the said courts to compel witnesses to attend and testify, and to produce such books, papers, contracts, agreements, and documents as the courts shall determine to be material and competent evidence.

SEC. 1933. Agreements to be recorded.—Every agreement of arbitration under this act shall be acknowledged by the parties before a notary public or clerk of the district court of the State, and when so acknowledged a copy of the same shall be filed with and recorded by the county recorder of the county in which the arbitration is entered into, and a copy shall also be sent to the governor who shall file the same in the office of the secretary of state, who shall cause a notice in writing to be served upon the arbitrators, fixing the time and place for a meeting of said board, which shall be within fifteen days from the execution of said agreement of [or] arbitration: Provided, however, That the governor shall decline to call a meeting of the arbitrators under such agreement unless it be shown to his satisfaction that the employees signing the submission represent or include a majority of all the employees in the service of the same employer and of the same grade and class, and that an award pursuant to said submission can justly be regarded as binding upon all such employees.

SEC. 1934. Status quo to be maintained.—During the pendency of arbitration under this act it shall not be lawful for the employer, party to such arbitration, to discharge the employees, parties thereto, except for inefficiency, violation of law, or neglect of duty; nor for the organization representing such employees to order, nor for the employees to unite in, aid or abet, strikes against said employer; nor, during a period of three months after an award under such an arbitration, for such employer to discharge any such employees, except for the causes aforesaid, without giving thirty days' written notice of an intent so to discharge; nor for any of such employees, during a like period, to quit the service of said employer without just cause, without giving to said employer thirty days' written notice of an intent so to do; nor for such organization representing such employees to order, counsel, or advise otherwise. Any violation of this section shall subject the offending party to liability for damages: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any employer, party to such arbitration, from reducing the number of its or his employees whenever in its or his judgment business necessities require such a reduction.

SEC. 1935. Expenses.—The agreement of arbitration shall provide for the compensation of arbitrators, and their traveling and other necessary expenses.

Employment of labor—False representations

SECTION 1936. False representations forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, company, corporation, society, association, or organization of any kind doing business in this State by himself, itself, themselves, his, its, or their agents or attorneys to induce, influence, persuade, or engage workmen to change from one place to another in this State, or to bring workmen of any class or calling into this State to work in any of the departments of labor in this State through means of false or deceptive representations, false advertising, or false pretenses concerning the kind and character of the work to be done, or amount and character of the compensation to be paid for such work, or the sanitary or other conditions of their employment, or as to the existence or nonexistence of a strike or other trouble pending between employer and employees at the time of or prior to such engagement, proposal, or contract for such employment of workmen.

SEC. 1937. Violations.—Any person, persons, company, corporation, society, association, or organization of any kind doing business in this State, as well as his, their, or its agents, attorneys, servants, or associates found guilty of violating section one (1) of this act [secs. 1936–1938], or any part thereof, shall be fined in a sum not less than two hundred dollars ($200) nor more than two thousand dollars ($2,000) or confined in the county jail for a period of not less than sixty days nor more than one year, or when the defendant or defendants is or are a natural person or persons by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 1938. Damages.—Any workman of this State, or any workman of another State, who has been or shall be influenced, induced, or persuaded to engage with any person mentioned in section one (1) of this act [secs. 1936–1938], or any company, corporation, or society or organization mentioned in section one (1) of this act [secs. 1936–1938], through or by means of any of the things therein prohibited, after this act becomes in force and effect, and each of such workmen shall have a cause of action for recovery, and may recover at law, for all damages that each of such workmen shall have sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representation, false advertising, or false pretenses used to induce him to change his place of employment or place of abode, in case such workman shall not be then employed at the time of such inducement and hiring, against any person or persons, corporations, companies, or associations, directly or indirectly causing such damages; and in any action under this act [secs. 1936–1938] for the recovery of such damages the court shall have the power to award a reasonable attorney's fee in favor of the prevailing party and to be taxed as costs against the losing party therein.

Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 1939. Orders, etc., to be negotiable.—No person or corporation engaged in any business or enterprise of any kind in this State shall issue in payment or as evidence of any indebtedness for wages due an employee any order, check, memorandum, or other acknowledgment of indebtedness unless the same is a negotiable instrument payable without discount in cash on demand at some bank or other established place of business: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall in any way limit or interfere with the right of any such employee, by agreement, to accept from any such person or corporation, as an evidence or acknowledgment of indebtedness for wages due him, a negotiable instrument payable at some future date with interest.

SEC. 1940. Penalty.—Any violation of this act [secs. 1939–1940] shall be a misdemeanor or [and] punishable by a fine of not exceeding $500.

Hours of labor at mines—Surface employees

SECTION 1941. Eight-hour day.—The number of hours of work or labor of mechanics, engineers, blacksmiths, carpenters, top men, and all workingmen employed or working on or about the surface or surface workings of any underground mine workings shall not exceed eight (8) hours in any period of twenty-four (24) hours, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 1942. Violations.—Any person who violates any of the provisions of this act, or any person, corporation, employer, or agent who hires, contracts with, or in any manner causes or induces any person to work or labor on or about the surface or surface workings of any underground mine workings for more than eight hours in any period of twenty-four hours, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not longer than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Forced contributions from employees

SECTION 1943. Fees not to be collected, when.—It is hereby made unlawful for any person or persons, contractor or contractors, firm, company, corporation, or association, or the managing agent of any person or persons, contractor or contractors, firm, company, corporation, or association, to collect, demand, force, compel, or require, either monthly, annually, or for any other period of time, any sum of money for hospital fees from any person or laborer at any place in this State where no convenient, comfortable, and well-equipped hospital is maintained at same town or place for the accommodation, relief, and treatment of persons in his or their employ, and from whom hospital fees are collected: Provided, That any person or persons, contractor or contractors, firm, company, corporation, or association, or the managing agent of same, may care for, or cause to be cared for, any person in his or their employ from whom hospital fees are collected at any private or public hospital, sanitarium, or other convenient and comfortable place without expense to the person or patient from whom hospital fees are collected; And provided further, The distance and facilities for the comfort and conveyance of any patient come within the intent and meaning of section two of this act [sec. 1944].

SEC. 1944. Definitions.—For the purpose of this act [secs. 1943-1945] the words "town or place," mentioned in section one of this act [sec. 1943], shall be construed to mean any town, headquarters, or place, at which town, headquarters, or place, and tributary places, sufficient hospital fees are collected to maintain a hospital in keeping with the hospital fees collected, and the words "distance and facilities for the comfort and conveyance of any patient," mentioned in section one of this act [sec. 1943], shall be construed to mean the nearest hospital and most comfortable means of conveyance at hand or that can be procured in a reasonable time: Provided, That if at the nearest hospital the proper medical treatment can not be secured, then it shall not be a misdemeanor to take any person or patient a greater distance or to another hospital.

SEC. 1945. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, not less than $200 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment not less than 100 days nor more than 250 days, or both.]

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 3143 (as amended 1921, ch. 157). Attendance.—[Attendance up to 18 years of age is required during the school term unless (among other reasons) a child is ill and his labor is necessary for his own or his parents' support.]

SEC. 3149 (as amended, 1921, ch. 157). Enforcement.—[Knowingly employing a child unlawfully absent from school is a misdemeanor. Attendance officers may visit places of employment to enforce the law.]

Employment of labor on public works

SECTION 3481. Minimum wage of three dollars.—On all public works carried on in the erection of public buildings by or for the State of Nevada, or by any individual, firm, company, or corporation under contract with the State of Nevada, unskilled labor shall be paid for at a rate of not less than three ($3) dollars per eight-hour day for each male person over the age of eighteen years who shall be employed at such labor.

SEC. 3482. Violations.—[Violations are punished by a fine of $50 for each man employed for less than the minimum rate.]

SEC. 3483. Chinese not to be employed.— * * * No Chinaman or Mongolian shall be employed directly or indirectly in any capacity on any public works or in or about any buildings or institutions or grounds under the control of this State.

SEC. 3484. Railroad corporations.—Hereafter no right of way or charter or other privileges for the construction of any public works by any railroad or other corporation or association shall be granted to such corporation or association except upon the express condition that no Mongolian or Chinese shall be employed on or about the construction of such work in any capacity.

SEC. 3485. Forfeiture.—Any violation of the conditions of this act [secs. 3483–3485] shall work a forfeiture of all rights, privileges, and franchise granted to such corporation or association.

Mine regulations

SECTION 4198. Inspector.—[Office of State inspector of mines is created.]

SEC. 4199. Salary, etc.—[Salary is $3,600, term two years, and bond of $10,000 is required.]

SEC. 4200. Conflicting interests.—[Inspectors must not be interested in mining and must take an oath of office.]

SEC. 4201 (as amended 1915, ch. 8). Inspections.—[The inspector must visit each mining county at least once a year and inspect such mines as may require inspection for safety. Recommendations must be posted. It is his duty to establish a system of signals.]

SEC. 4202. Access.—[Operators must give access to all parts of mines and machinery; if found unsafe, the inspector must serve notice, and necessary changes must be made without delay.]

SEC. 4203 (as amended 1917, ch. 25). Reports, etc.—[The inspector must keep on file records of reports, the latter to be made by owners, etc., annually, and on the opening of any mine, showing character of mine, number of workmen, methods of working, etc.]

SEC. 4204. Complaints.—[Mines must be visited on complaint signed by one or more persons setting forth unsafe conditions, and if found correct, changes must be ordered. Names of complainants are not to be divulged unless necessary in court proceedings.]

SEC. 4205. [Procedure in prosecutions.]

SEC. 4206 (as amended 1917, ch. 25). Deputies.—[Inspector may appoint two deputies at a salary of $200 each per month.]

SEC. 4207. Accidents.—[Any serious or fatal accident must be immediately reported to the inspector or his deputy, one or both of whom shall at once go to the place of accident and make an investigation, attend any inquest that may be held, and may cross-examine witnesses. If they cannot attend the inquest, the owner, etc., shall verify its findings and furnish the inspector such verified statements.]

SEC. 4208. Annual reports.—[The inspector must annually report to the governor the number, nature and cause of accidents; number of mines visited, wages, number and nationality of employees; details as to working and equipment of mines; notices issued, complaints received, prosecutions, etc.]

SEC. 4209. Scope.—[This act does not apply to mines worked only by owners or lessees without hired workmen.]

SECS. 4211–4215, 4216 (as amended 1923, ch. 24), 4217, 4218, 4219 (as amended 1913, ch. 224), 4220–4233, 4234 (as amended 1917, ch. 25), 4235, 4236. Safety.—[These sections embody regulations as to use and storage of explosives, tools, exits, ventilation, hoisting, boilers and engines, signal systems, etc.]

SEC. 4237. Smoke helmets.—[If 40 or more men are employed underground, at least two approved smoke helmets must be furnished and kept in good working order.]

SEC. 4238. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines up to $500 or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both. Each day of noncompliance after conviction is a separate offense.]

Accidents on railroads, etc.

SECTION 4541. Public utilities to report.—[All accidents causing death or personal injury occurring in the conduct of any public utility must be reported to the railroad commission.]

SEC. 4555. Safeguards.—[The railroad commission may inspect railroad property in the interest of safety of employees and the public and require changes, installations, etc., to that end.]

SEC. 4578. Railroad accidents.—[All accidents causing loss of life on railroad property must be immediately notified to the commission. If thought in the public interest, an investigation may be made.]

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 5288. Exemption of wages.—[Earnings of a judgment debtor for 30 days prior to the attachment, etc., are exempt if required for the support of his family resident in the State; but if the debt is for the common necessaries of life, or if the debtor has no family in the State, one-half such earnings may be seized.]

Wages as preferred claims—In assignments, etc.

SECTION 5493. Assignments.—[Where the property of an insolvent employer is assigned, debts owing miners, mechanics, salesmen, servants, clerks or laborers are preferred claims for wages earned within 90 days prior to the assignment, not exceeding $200 each.]

SEC. 5494. Executions, etc.—[Where the property of an employer is taken on execution, attachment, etc., wages as above are preferred, subject to homestead claims or prior mortgages or liens.]

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 5649. Right of action.—Whenever any person shall suffer personal injury by wrongful act, neglect or default of another, the person causing the injury shall be liable to the person injured for damages; and where the person causing such injury is employed by another person or corporation responsible for his conduct, such person or corporation so responsible shall be liable to the person injured for damages.

SEC. 5650. Railways, mines, etc.—Every common carrier engaged in trade or commerce in the State of Nevada, and every mine and mill owner and operator actually engaged in mining, or in milling or reduction of ores, in the State of Nevada, shall be liable to any of its employees, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his personal representative for the benefit of his widow and children, if any, and if none, then for his next of kin, for all damages which may result from the negligence of the officers, agents, or employees of said common carrier or mine or mill operator, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to their negligence in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, ways or works, or to their negligent handling or storing of explosives.

SEC. 5651. Comparative negligence.—In all actions hereinafter brought against any common carrier or mine or mill owner and operator to recover damages for personal injuries to or death of an employee, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery where his contributory negligence was slight and the negligence of the employer, or its officers, agents, or employees was gross in comparison. All questions of negligence and contributory negligence shall be for the jury.

SEC. 5652. Contracts waiving rights.—No contract of employment, insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity for injury or death, entered into by or on behalf of any employee, nor the acceptance of any insurance, relief benefit or indemnity by the person entitled thereto, shall constitute any bar or defense to any action brought to recover damages for personal injuries to, or death of such employee: Provided, however, That upon the trial of such action the defendant may set off therein any sum it has contributed toward any such insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the person entitled thereto.

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 6145. Wages preferred.—[Earnings for 90 days next preceding the death of an employer rank next after funeral expenses, costs of administration, and the allowance to the widow and infant children.]

Interference with employment

SECTION 6377. What constitutes conspiracy.—Whenever two or more persons shall conspire—

* * * * * * *

5. To prevent another from exercising any lawful trade or calling, or from doing any other lawful act, by force, threats or intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with any tools, implements or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use or employment thereof;

* * * * * * *

Every such person shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Hours of labor in mines, smelters, etc.

SECTION 6554. Eight hours a day's work in mines.—The period of employment of workingmen in all underground mines or workings shall be eight hours per day, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 6555. In smelters, etc.—The period of employment of workingmen in smelters and in all other institutions for the reduction or refining of ores or metals shall be eight hours per day, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 6556. Violations.—[Fines of from $100 to $500 are fixed for violations of the two preceding sections.]

SEC. 6557. Eight hours a day's labor, in open work.—The period of employment of workingmen in open-pit and open-cut mines shall not exceed eight hours in any twenty-four hours, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger.

SEC. 6559. Eight hours a day's labor in certain mills.—The period of employment of all persons engaged or employed in any mill or other institution wherein plaster or cement is manufactured shall not exceed eight hours in any twenty-four hours except in cases of emergency where life is in imminent danger, or the product of such mill or institution liable to loss or damage by delay in treatment.

SEC. 6560. Violations.—[Violations of sec. 6557 or 6559 entail fines, $100 to $500, or imprisonment not more than 6 months, or both.]

Smoking in factories, etc.

SECTION 6578. Smoking an offense, when.—Every person who shall light a pipe, cigar or cigarette in, or who shall enter with a lighted pipe, cigar or cigarette, any mill or other building on which is posted in a conspicuous place over and near each principal entrance a notice in plain, legible characters stating that no smoking is allowed in such building, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Contracts of employment—Violation endangering life

SECTION 6588. Violation an offense, when.—Every person who shall willfully and maliciously, either alone or in combination with others, break a contract of service or employment, knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that the consequence of his so doing will be to endanger human life or to cause grievous bodily injury, or to expose valuable property to destruction or serious injury, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Interference with employment

SECTION 6740. Violence, force, etc.—Every person who, with intent to compel another to do or abstain from doing an act which such other person has a right to do, or abstain from doing, shall wrongfully and unlawfully—

1. Use violence or inflict injury upon such other person or any of his family, or upon his property, or threaten such violence or injury; or,

2. Deprive such person of any tool, implement, or clothing, or hinder him in the use thereof; or,

3. Attempt to intimidate such person by threats or force,

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Hours of labor on public works—Eight-hour day

SECTION 6778. Eight hours a day's work.—On public works, all works or undertakings carried on or aided by the State, county, or municipal governments, eight hours shall constitute a day's labor. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall subject the employee as well as the person or persons acting on behalf of the State, county or municipal government in the employment of such employee, to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars, and in case any contract is let for any State, county or municipal government work, the contractor or contractors violating the provisions hereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each and every man so employed by such contractor or contractors, and in addition thereto such contract shall be forfeited and be null and void: Provided, That nothing herein shall be so construed as to prevent the preservation or protection of property in cases of emergency.

Blacklisting, etc.

SECTION 6779. Preventing employment of discharged employee.—Any person, association, company, or corporation within this State, or agent, or officer, on behalf of such person, association, company, or corporation, who shall hereafter willfully do anything intended to prevent any person who shall have for any cause left or been discharged from his or its employ from obtaining employment elsewhere in this State, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars for each offense, or imprisonment in the county jail at the rate of one day for each two dollars of such fine in the event such fine be not paid.

SEC. 6780. Blacklisting.—No corporation, company, organization, or individual shall blacklist or publish, or cause to be blacklisted or published, any employee, mechanic, or laborer discharged by such corporation, company, organization, or individual with the intent and for the purpose of preventing such employee, mechanic, or laborer from engaging in or securing similar or other employment from any other corporation, company, organization, or individual.

SEC. 6781. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, $50 to $250, or imprisonment, 30 to 90 days, or both.]

SEC. 6782 (as amended 1915, ch. 186). Clearance letter.—The two preceding sections shall not be construed as prohibiting any corporation, company, organization, or individual from giving in writing at the time said employee leaves or is discharged from the service of said employer a truthful statement of the reason for such leaving of the service or discharge of such employee, nor shall the foregoing sections be construed to prevent any employer from giving any employee or former employee any statement with reference to any meritorious services which said employee may have rendered to such employer, and it shall be the duty of the employer to supply, upon demand from employee, statements as provided in this section. The word "employee," as used in this act, shall be construed to mean every person who shall have entered upon service or employment of an employer, and such employment shall be deemed to commence from the date of the entry or performance of any service, and any contract of employment, rule, regulation, or device to the contrary shall be void: Provided, That no statement shall be required unless the employee shall have been in service for a period of not less than sixty days and that only one such statement shall be issued to such employee.

Employment of labor—Foremen, etc., accepting fees

SECTION 6783 (as amended 1915, ch. 51). Accepting fees unlawful.—It shall be and is hereby made unlawful for any manager, superintendent, officer, agent, servant, foreman, shift boss, or other employee of any person or corporation charged or intrusted with the employment of any workmen or laborers, or with the continuance of workmen or laborers in employment, to demand or receive, either directly or indirectly, from any workman or laborer employed through his agency, or worked or continued in employment under his direction or control, any fee, commission, or gratuity of any kind or nature as the price or condition of the employment of any such workman or laborer, or as the price or condition of his continuance in such employment; any such manager, superintendent, officer, agent, servant, foreman, shift boss, or other employee of any person or corporation charged or intrusted with the employment of laborers or workmen for his principal, or under whose direction or control such workmen and laborers are engaged in work and labor for such principal, who shall demand or receive, either directly or indirectly, any fee, commission, or gratuity of any kind or nature, from any workman or laborer employed by him or through his agency, or worked under his direction and control, either as the price and condition of the employment of such workman or laborer, or as the price and condition of the continuance of such workman or laborer in such employment, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) and not exceeding three hundred dollars ($300), or by imprisonment not exceeding six (6) months, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court trying the charge.

SEC. 6784. Exemption.—The preceding section shall not apply to any duly and regularly licensed intelligence office for the employment of persons.

Employment offices—False representation

SECTION 6785. False statements forbidden.—Every employment agent or broker, who, with intent to influence the action of any person thereby, shall misstate or misrepresent verbally, or in any writing or advertisement, any material matter relating to the demand for labor, the conditions under which any labor or service is to be performed, the duration thereof, or the wages to be paid therefor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Bribery of employees

SECTION 6786. Soliciting or receiving bribes.—Every agent, employee, or servant of any person or corporation and every public officer who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward, or any promise thereof upon any agreement or understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in connection with his principal's, employer's, or master's business or his official duties or the public service; or who being authorized to purchase or contract for materials, supplies or other articles or to employ servants or labor for his principal, or employer, or master, or for the State or any county or municipality, or for the public service, shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, for himself or another, a commission, percentage, discount, bonus or promise thereof from any person with whom he may deal in relation to such matters, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Forgery of employers' certificates

SECTION 6787. Use of false letters, etc.—Every person who shall obtain employment or appointment to any office or place of trust, by color or aid of any false or forged letter or certificate or recommendation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Payment of wages—Discounting

SECTION 6788. Discounting time checks.—Whenever any person or persons, firm, corporation, or association whether acting as principal or agent, contractor or subcontractor, shall hire or employ any other person or persons for the performance of any labor, or service, and shall issue to such person or persons time checks for the labor or service performed, it shall be unlawful for the person or persons, firm, corporation, or association, issuing such time checks to discount the same or deduct therefrom any portion of the same as such discount.

SEC. 6789. Violations.—[Fines of from $50 to $300, or imprisonment 30 days to 6 months, or both, are penalties for violations.]

SEC. 6790. Application of law.—Nothing in the two next preceding sections shall apply to persons, firms, associations, or corporations, making discounts, deductions or pro rata payments in the course of bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings, or in the settlement of the estates of deceased persons.

Protection of employees as traders, etc.

SECTION 6791. Coercion as to trading or boarding.—Any person or persons, employer, company, corporation, or association, or the managing agent of any person or persons, employer, company, corporation, or association, doing or conducting business in this State, who by coercion, intimidation, threats, or undue influence, compels or induces his or her employees to trade at any particular store, or board at any particular boarding house, in this State, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than thirty days, nor more than one hundred days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Labor organizations—Bribery of representatives

SECTION 6794. Offering bribes.—Every person who shall give, offer, or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward to any duly constituted representative of a labor organization with intent to influence him in respect to any of his acts, decisions, or other duties as such representative, or to induce him to prevent or cause a strike by the employees of any person or corporation, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

SEC. 6795. Receiving a bribe.—Every person who, being the duly constituted representative of a labor organization, shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward, or any promise thereof, upon any agreement or understanding that any of his acts, decisions, or other duties as such representative, or any act to prevent or cause a strike of the employees of any person or corporation shall be influenced thereby, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Bribery of employees

SECTION 6796. Giving bribe.—Every person who shall give, offer, or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward to any agent, employee, or servant of any person or corporation, with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's, or master's business, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Safety appliances in factories and mines

SECTION 6797. Set screws.—It shall be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation to construct or place any shaft or shafting with collars, sleeves, or pulleys over two feet in diameter attached or secured to any such shaft by set screws projecting above the hub of such collars, sleeves, or pulleys. In all such cases where set screws are used the heads thereof shall be countersunk below the surface of the hub of the collar, sleeve, or pulley in which they are placed. Any person or corporation who shall fail or refuse to comply with the requirements of this section when constructing or changing any machinery shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 6798. Suits.—Nothing contained in the next preceding section shall be so construed as to prevent recovery in a suit for damages for injuries sustained by the party so injured or by his heirs or administrators.

SECS. 6799, 6800. Safety cages in mines.—[In mines with vertical shafts more than 250 feet in depth cages used for hoisting or lowering workmen must be provided with iron bonnets and safety apparatus of sufficient strength to hold the cage when loaded. The construction of platforms, etc., in mines of less depth is also regulated and a penalty fixed for violations; but these provisions do not affect suits for damages in case of injuries.]

Labor combinations not unlawful

SECTION 6801. Who may meet.—No part of this act shall be construed to restrict or prohibit the orderly and peaceably assembling or cooperating of persons employed in any profession, trade, or handicraft for the purpose of securing an advance in the rate of wages or compensation or for the maintenance of such rate.

Employment of children

SECTION 6823. Certain occupations forbidden.—[This section forbids the employment of children under 18 in begging, immoral occupations, in dangerous or injurious practices or exhibitions, or as messengers, etc., to immoral resorts.]

SEC. 6824. Age.—[Boys under 14 and girls under 16 may not be employed at other than farm or house work without a permit from the judge of the district court.]

REVISED LAWS—VOL. 3—1919

[This volume contains the laws and amendments enacted by the legislatures of 1913, 1915, 1917, and 1919, "arranged alphabetically under the topics to which they properly belong." However, instead of undertaking to effect such a distribution in this compilation, the laws are reproduced below with the page citation of the volume, retaining a reference to the year of enactment.]

SECTION 1. Age.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any business or service during school hours.]

SEC. 2. Dangerous occupations.—[Forbids to 16, specified dangerous or injurious occupations; a similar list is found in sections 3145, 3148 of the Delaware Code.]

SEC. 3. Board of health.—[Additional processes, etc., may be added to the above list by the State board of health on its determination of dangerous or injurious consequences.]

SEC. 4. Children apparently under 14.—[Inspectors may require of any employer evidence of the age of any child in his employ who is apparently under 14, or employment must cease.]

SEC. 5. Dangerous occupations.—[Adds other forbidden occupations for children under 16; see sec. 2.]

SEC. 6. [Same as sec. 3.]

SEC. 7. Night work.—[No person under 18 may be employed in messenger or delivery service in incorporated cities and towns between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

SEC. 8. Hours.—[Boys under 16 and girls under 18 may not be gainfully employed except in domestic or farm labor more than 48 hours per week or 8 per day. Presence is evidence of employment.]

SECS. 9, 10. Violations.—[Violations are to be punished by a fine or imprisonment or both; if continued, each day is a separate offense.]

SECTION 24. Discharge, etc., forbidden.—* * * and every person who * * * shall discharge or change the place of any employee with the intent and for the purpose of impeding or preventing the free exercise of the franchise by such voters, shall be guilty of undue influence, and shall be punished as for a corrupt practice.

Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 1. Eight hours per day.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, public lodging house, apartment house, place of amusement, or restaurant, or by any express or transportation company in this State, more than eight hours during any one day, or more than fifty-six hours in one week. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than eight hours during the twenty-four hours of one day, or fifty-six hours during any one week: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section in relation to hours of employment shall not apply to nor affect the harvesting, curing, canning, or drying of any variety of perishable fruit or vegetable, nor to nurses, nor to nurses in training in hospitals.

SEC. 2. Seats.—Every employer in any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or other establishment, employing any female, shall provide suitable seats for all female employees, and shall permit them to use such seats when they are not engaged in the active duties of their employment.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—The district attorneys of the respective counties of this State, and the attorney general of this State, shall enforce the provisions of this act, and said district attorneys, and said attorneys general and their deputies and agents, shall have all powers and authority of sheriffs or other peace officers to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this act, and to serve all processes and notices thereunder throughout the State.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1923, ch. 69). Violations.—[Violations are to be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100 for a first offense; and for a second offense, not less than $100 nor more than $250, or imprisonment not more than 60 days, or both.]

Discharge of employees—Hearings

SECTION 1. Hearings to be allowed, when.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, association, or corporation, or agent, superintendent, or manager thereof, employing any special agent, detective, or person commonly known as "spotter" for the purpose of investigating, obtaining and reporting to the employer, his agent, superintendent, or manager, information concerning his employees, to discipline or discharge any employee in his service, where such act of discipline or the discharge is based upon a report by such special agent, detective, or spotter, which report involves a question of integrity, honesty, or a breach of rules of the employer, unless such employer, his agent, superintendent, or manager shall give notice and accord a hearing to the employee thus accused, when requested by the said employee, at which hearing said accused employee shall have opportunity to be confronted with the person making such report and shall have the right to furnish testimony in his defense.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations entail a fine, $500, for each offense.]

SECTION 1. Payment prescribed.—All wages or compensation of employees in private employments shall be due and payable semimonthly, that is to say, all such wages or compensation earned and unpaid prior to the first day of any month, shall be due and payable not later than the fifteenth day of the month following that in which such wages or compensation were earned; and all wages or compensation earned and unpaid prior to the sixteenth day of any month shall be due and payable not later than the last day of the same month; but nothing contained herein shall be construed as prohibiting the contracting for the payment or of the payment of wages at more frequent periods than semimonthly. Every agreement made in violation of this section, except as hereinafter provided, shall be null and void; except any employee shall be entitled to payment of such wages or compensation for the period during which the same were earned.

The words "private employments," used in this act, shall mean all employments other than those under the direction, management, supervision, and control of this State or any county, city, or town therein, or any office or department thereof.

SEC. 2. Termination of employment.—Whenever an employer discharges an employee, the wages and compensation earned and unpaid at the time of such discharge shall become due and payable immediately; but whenever an employee resigns or quits his employment, the wages and compensation earned and unpaid at the time of such resignation or quitting, shall be paid within twenty-four hours after a demand therefor.

Should any employer fail to pay within three (3) days after the same shall become due and payable, under the provisions of this act, any wages or compensation, without deduction, of any employee, who is discharged from or who resigns or quits his employment, then as a penalty for such nonpayment of such wages or compensation, the same shall continue from the date of the cessation of employment at the same rate until paid: Provided, In no case shall such wages or compensation continue for more than thirty (30) days: And provided further, Any employee who secretes or absents himself to avoid payment of such wages or compensation, or refuses to accept the same when fully tendered to him, shall not be entitled to the payment thereof for such time as he so secretes or absents himself to avoid such payment.

SEC. 3. Notices.—Every employer shall establish and maintain regular pay days as herein provided and shall post and maintain posted notices printed in plain type or written in plain script in at least two (2) conspicuous places where such notices can be seen by the employees, setting forth the regular pay days as herein prescribed and place of payment, which shall be within the justice court precinct in which such services were performed.

In case an employee shall be absent at the time and place of the payment of such wages or compensation, due and payable as herein prescribed, provided he does not secrete or absent himself to avoid such payment as aforesaid, he shall be paid the same within five (5) days after making written demand therefor.

The payment of such wages or compensation shall be made in lawful money of the United States, or by a good and valuable negotiable check or draft payable on presentation thereof at some bank or established place of business without discount in lawful money of the United States, and not otherwise, and shall be payable at the place designated in the notice prescribed herein.

SEC. 4. Deductions.—Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to preclude the withholding from the wages or compensation of any employee any dues, rates or assessments becoming due to any hospital association, or to any relief, savings, or other department or association, maintained by the employer or employees for the benefit of the employees, or poll tax, or other deductions authorized by written order of an employee: Provided, At the time of payment of such wages or compensation, such employee shall be furnished by the employer an itemized list showing the respective deductions made from the total amount of such wages or compensation.

SEC. 5. Provisions severable.—Should any provision of this act be judicially decreed, or declared null or void, the remaining provision thereof shall not be affected thereby, but the same shall be given full force and effect.

SEC. 6. Violations.—[Fines of from $50 to $300 are fixed for violations of this act.]

SEC. 7. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the labor commissioner to cause this act to be duly enforced, and upon notice from him the district attorney of any county in which a violation of this act has occurred, shall prosecute the same according to law.

SEC. 8. Waivers.—Nothing in this bill, however, shall be so construed as to mean that any special occasion where it appears to be satisfactory and beneficial to both employer and employee, that they shall not have the right to agree either verbally or in writing, as to where and at what time, other than every fifteen days, wages shall be paid: Provided, That it shall be unlawful for any employer to require any employee to enter any such agreement as a condition to entering into or remaining in his service.

Employment of labor—Provisions for safety

SECTION 1. Definitions.—The following terms, as used in this act, shall, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, be construed as follows:

(1) The phrase "place of employment" shall mean and include every place, whether indoors or out, or elsewhere, and the premises appurtenant thereto, where, either temporarily or permanently, any industry, trade, work or business is carried on, or where any process or operation directly or indirectly related to any industry, trade, work or business, is carried on, including all construction work, and where any person is directly or indirectly employed by another for direct or indirect gain or profit, but shall not include any place where persons are employed solely in household domestic service, or any place of employment concerning the safety of which jurisdiction may have been vested by law heretofore or hereafter in any other commission or public authority.

(2) The term "employment" shall mean and include any trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade, work, bnsiness, occupation or process of manufacture, including construction work, in which any person may be engaged, except where persons are employed solely in household domestic service.

(3) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, voluntary association, corporation, officer, agent, manager, representative or other person having control or custody of any employment, place of employment, or of any employee.

(4) The term "employee" shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by an employer, in consideration of direct or indirect gain or profit, to engage in any employment, or to go to work or be at any time in any place of employment.

(5) The term "order" shall mean and inclnde any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission under the safety provisions of this act.

(6) The term "general order" shall mean and include such order, made under the safety provisions of this act, as applies generally throughout the State to all persons, employments or places of employment, or all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(7) The term "local order" shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule or determination of any board of supervisors, city council, board of trustees or other governing body of any county, city and county, city, or any school district or other public corporation, or an order or direction of any other public official or board or department upon any matter over which the industrial accident commission has jurisdiction.

(8) The terms "safe" and "safety" as applied to an employment or a place of employment, shall mean such freedom from danger to the life or safety of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

(9) The terms "safety device" and "safeguard" shall be given a broad interpretation so as to include any practicable method of mitigating or preventing a specific danger.

SEC. 2. Duty of employers.—Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for employees therein, and shall furnish and use such safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use such practices, means, methods, operation, and processes as are reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 3. Safeguards.—No employer shall require, permit, or suffer any employee to go or be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employer shall fail to furnish, provide, and use safety devices and safeguards or fail to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no such employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees, and no such employer shall maintain any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 4. Construction.—No employer, owner, or lessee of any real property in this State shall construct or cause to be constructed any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 5. Removing, etc., guards.—No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy, or carry off any safety device or safeguard fnrnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee, including himself, in such employment or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 6. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the Nevada Industrial Commission, and they shall have full power, jnrisdiction, and authority over all employments not within the jurisdiction of the department of the mining inspector, labor commissioner, and railroad and public service commissions:

(1) To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards, or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render the employees of every employment and place of employment safe as required by law or lawful order.

(2) To fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify, and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption, installation, use, maintenance, and operation of safety devices, safeguards, and other means or methods of protection, to be as nearly uniform as practicable, as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment.

(3) To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair, and maintenance of places of employment as shall render them safe.

(4) To require the performance of any other act which the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment may reasonably demand.

(5) The commission may, upon application of any employer or other person affected thereby, grant such time as may reasonably be necessary for compliance with any order, and any person affected by such order may petition the commission for an extension of time, which the commission shall grant if it finds such extension of time necessary.

(6) Whenever the commission shall learn or have reason to believe that any employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of any employee, it may, of its own motion, or upon complaint, summarily investigate the same, with or without notice or hearings, and after a hearing upon such notice as it may prescribe, the commission may enter and serve such order as may be necessary relative thereto.

(7) To appoint advisers who shall, without compensation, assist the commission in establishing standards of safety, and the commission may adopt and incorporate in its general orders such safety recommendations as it may receive from such advisers.

SEC. 7. Duty of employers.—Every employer, employee and other person shall obey and comply with each and every requirement of every order, decision, direction, rule or regulation made or prescribed by the commission in connection with the matters herein specified, or in any way relating to or affecting safety of employments or places of employment, or to protect the life and safety of employees in such employments or places of employment, and shall do everything necessary or proper in order to secure compliance and observance of every such order, decision, direction, rule or regulation.

SEC. 8. Orders as evidence.—Every order of the commission, general or special, its rules and regulations, findings and decisions, made and entered under the safety provisions of this act, shall be admissible as evidence in any prosecution for the violation of any of the said provisions and shall, in every such prosecution, be presumed to be reasonable and lawful and to fix a reasonable and proper standard and requirement of safety, unless, prior to the institution of the prosecution of such violation or violations, proceedings for a rehearing thereon or a review thereof shall have been instituted and not then finally determined.

SEC. 9. Violations.—[Violation of sections 2, 3, 4 or 5 is deemed a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 10. Separate offenses.—Every violation of the provisions contained in sections two, three, four, or five of this act, or any part or portion thereof, by any person or corporation is a separate and distinct offense, and, in the case of a continuing violation thereof, each day's continuance thereof shall constitute a separate and distinct offense.

SEC. 11. Act construed.—Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to deprive the board of county commissioners of any county, or city and county, the board of trustees of any city, or any other public corporations or board or department, of any power or jurisdiction over or relative to any place of employment.

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 67). Definitions.—[Gives wide inclusion to term "employment agency."]

SEC. 2. License.—[Any person wishing to operate an employment office must obtain a license from the labor commissioner, which must be conspicuously posted.]

SEC. 3. Application.—[Applicants must give proposed place of business, occupation during the past two years, and furnish affidavits as to character.]

SEC. 4. Contents.—[Licenses set forth the name, place, and date of issue. Only one place and person or firm, etc., is covered thereby.]

SEC. 5 (as amended 1923, ch. 67). Fee.—[A license fee of $50 annually is required; also a bond in the sum of $1,000, conditioned on compliance with this act and to cover damages occasioned by fraud, etc.]

SEC. 6. [Describes procedure in bringing action on the bond.]

SEC. 7. Register.—[Registers must be kept showing names, dates, employment offered, fee received, and names and addresses of former employees; also separate registers of applicants for help, showing date, kind of help wanted, wages, hours, etc.]

SEC. 8. Inspection.—[Registers, etc., must be open to inspection by the labor commisioner, and copies thereof must be furnished on request.]

SEC. 9. Receipts.—[All fees collected must be receipted for, showing amount, name, and address of employer, nature of work, wages, hours, etc. Receipts must be in duplicate, one copy to be retained by the agency.]

SEC. 10. Orders.—[No applicant for work may be sent to an employer without a bona fide order therefor. If employment is not obtained, or the employee is discharged in less than 7 days the fee must, on demand, be returned; also travel expenses if the applicant was sent outside the city.]

SEC. 11. False statements.—[False statements in publications, cards, advertising, etc., are forbidden.]

SEC. 12. Children; strikes; dividing fees.—[Agencies are forbidden to provide employment involving violation of the child labor law; or to send applicants to places where strikes, etc., are in existence, without notice of the same; or to divide fees with employers, etc.]

SEC. 13. Records.—[Records must be kept on books and blanks furnished by the labor commissioner.]

SEC. 14. Accounts.—[The labor commissioner must keep account of license fees, paying them to the State treasurer, to be held as an employment agency fund.]

SEC. 15. Enforcement.—[Enforcement vests in the labor commissioner.]

SEC. 16. Violations.—[Violations are misdemeanors, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both.]

Employment of labor on public works—Aliens

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 129). Who may be employed.—Only citizens or wards of the United States or persons who have been honorably discharged from the military service of the United States shall be employed by any officer of the State of Nevada, or by any contractor with the State of Nevada, or by any political subdivision of the State, or by any person acting under or for such officer or contractor, in the construction of public works, or in any office or department of the State of Nevada, or political subdivision of the State, and in all cases where persons are so employed, preference shall be given to honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines of the United States and to citizens of the State of Nevada: Provided, Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the working of prisoners by the State of Nevada, or by any political subdivision of the State, on street or road work or other public work; nor to prevent the working of aliens, who have not forfeited their right to citizenship by claiming exemption from military service, as common laborers in the construction of public roads, when it can be shown that citizens or wards of the United States or persons who have been honorably discharged from the military service of the United States are not available for such employment; nor to prevent the exchange of instructors between the University of Nevada and similar institutions of the North and South American countries: And provided further, That any alien so employed shall be replaced by any citizen, ward, or ex-service man of the United States applying for employment.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1921, ch. 129). Contracts void.—In each contract for the construction of public works a proviso shall be inserted to the effect that if the provisions of section 1 of this act are not complied with by the contractor the contract shall be void, and any failure or refusal to comply with any of the provisions of this act shall render any such contract void. All boards, commissions, officers, agents, and employees having the power to enter into contracts for the expenditure of public money on public works shall file in the office of the commissioner of labor the names and addresses of all contractors holding contracts with the State of Nevada or with any political subdivision of the State. Upon the letting of new contracts the names and addresses of such new contractors shall likewise be filed. Upon the demand of the commissioner of labor a contractor shall furnish a list of the names and addresses of all subcontractors in his employ.

SEC. 3. Payments.—No money shall be paid out of the State treasury or out of the treasury of any political subdivision of the State to any person employed on any of the work mentioned in section 1 of this act unless such person shall be a citizen or ward or naturalized citizen of the United States, subject to the exception contained in section 1 of this act.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1921, ch. 129). Violations.—[Violations are to be punished by fines, $100 to $500, or imprisonment not over 6 months, of both; but not if employees made misrepresentations by the production of fraudulent citizenship papers.]

SECTION 1. Limit on hours.—The services and employment of all persons, except as otherwise provided herein, who are now or may hereafter be employed by the State of Nevada or by any county, city, town, township, or any other political subdivision thereof, or by any contractor, subcontractor, or other person having a contract with the State of Nevada or with any county, city, town, township, or any other political subdivision thereof for the performance of public work, is hereby limited and restricted to not more than eight hours in any one calendar day and not more than fifty-six hours in any one week; and it shall be unlawful for any officer or agent of the State of Nevada or of any county, city, town, township, or other political subdivision thereof, or any contractor, subcontractor, or other person having a contract as herein provided, whose duty it shall be to employ, direct, or control the services of such employees, to require or permit such employees to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day or more than fifty-six hours in any one week, except in cases of emergency, where life or property is in imminent danger: Provided, Nothing in this act shall apply to officials of the State of Nevada or of any county, city, town, township, or other political subdivision thereof, or to employees thereof who are engaged as employees of a fire department, or to nurses in training or working in hospitals, or to deputy sheriffs or jailers.

SEC. 2. Contracts.—Every contract made with the State of Nevada or with any county, city, town, township, or any other political subdivision thereof shall contain a condition that no person shall be employed for more than eight hours in any one day or more than fifty-six hours in any one week, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger, and in such emergency cases the persons required to work over eight hours per day or fifty-six hours per week shall be paid regular wages for all overtime; every such contract herein referred to shall also contain a condition that the contract may be canceled at the election of the State of Nevada or of any county, city, town, township, or other political subdivision thereof, which is concerned, for any failure or refusal on the part of the contractor to faithfully perform the contract according to its terms as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[A fine of not to exceed $300, or imprisonment not to exceed 6 months, or both, are penalties for violations.]

Railroad employees—Coercion in purchase of uniforms

SECTION 1. Restriction in dealing forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad or other transportation company doing business in the State of Nevada, or any officer, agent, or servant of such railroad or other transportation company, to require any conductor, engineer, brakeman, fireman, or any other employee, as a condition of his continued employment, or otherwise to require or compel or attempt to require or compel any such employee to purchase of any such railroad or other transportation company, or of any particular person, firm, or corporation, or at any particular place or places any uniform or other clothing or apparel required by any such railroad or transportation company to be used by any such employee in the performance of his duty as such; any such railroad or transportation company, or any officer, agent, or servant thereof who shall order or require any conductor, engineer, brakeman, fireman, or any other person in its employ, to purchase any uniform or other clothing or apparel as aforesaid shall be deemed to have required such purchase as a condition of such employee's continued employment.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine, not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months.]

SECTION 1. Openings.—[Openings between contiguous mines must not be closed or passage refused so as to prevent their use in case of accident.]

SEC. 2. Tools.—[If doors have been erected, tools must be kept available for opening them.]

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Penalties of fine not over $500 or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both, are fixed for violations.]

SECTION 1. Drilling dry rock.—[Where drilling rock by machinery creates dust, a water jet or spray or similar devices must be used to prevent its escape.]

SEC. 2. Use.—[Where a drill is equipped as above directed, workmen must not drill holes without using the appliance to prevent dust.]

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations of either section are misdemeanors.]

Mine regulations—Sprinkling

SECTION 1. Sprinklers to be provided, when.—[Sprinklers must be furnished at chutes from which dusty ore or rock is taken, unless the inspector exempts specific property as impracticable for such equipment.]

SEC. 2. Location.—[The location must be such that car loaders can operate such sprinkling device.]

SEC. 3. Sorting.—[Ore houses where dusty ore or rock is sorted must be furnished with clean water for sprinkling. The act does not apply if there are less than 10 men in the mine, or if the chutes are loaded in the open air.]

Mine regulations—Certain employees to speak English

SECTION 1. Men handling explosives, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to employ in any underground mine in the State of Nevada, or in the handling of explosives either in underground mines or surface mine workings in the State of Nevada, any person or persons who can not clearly speak and readily understand the English language, or who can not readily read and understand any sign, notice, or list of rules or directions printed in the English language in regard to rules of safety in said underground mine, or in the handling of said explosives.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Penalties of fine $100 to $500 or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both, are fixed for violations.]

Mine regulations—Supply of drinking water

SECTION 1. Water to be supplied.—Every corporation, company, owner, or operator of a mine or underground workings in this State employing more than five men, shall, during working hours, provide suitable receptacles containing fresh, clean water for drinking purposes at places convenient to where men are employed in said underground workings. Said receptacles shall be supplied with a substantial cover which may be securely fastened or locked to prevent dust or dirt from entering therein, and shall be so made that the water shall be drawn from a valve or faucet.

SEC. 2. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the State inspector of mines to enforce the provisions of this act.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, $100 to $500, or imprisonment not over six months, or both.]

Labor commissioner

SECTION 1 (as amended 1919, ch. 56). Office created.—There is hereby created the office of labor commissioner of the State of Nevada, and one member of the Nevada Industrial Commission, other than the chairman, shall be designated by the governor to act as ex officio labor commissioner. Said commissioner shall receive as compensation for his services as labor commissioner a salary of fifteen hundred ($1,500) dollars per annum, payable in monthly installments out of the State treasury of Nevada as other salaries are paid. Said commissioner may employ stenographic or clerical help not to exceed fifteen hundred ($1,500) dollars per annum, and statistical assistance not to exceed three hundred ($300) dollars per annum. Said labor commissioner shall be entitled to receive from the State, when travel is necessary in the performance of his official duty, reimbursement for the actual cost of transportation to points within the State over the shortest usually traveled route, and such other expenses as are allowed to other State officers.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1923, ch. 53). Biennial report.—Said commissioner shall collect and systematize and present in biennial reports to the governor and legislature such statistical details relating to labor in the State as said commissioner may deem essential to further the objects of this act.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1921, ch. 138). Duties of commissioner.—Said commissioner shall inform himself of all laws of the State for the protection of life and limb in any of the industries of the State, all laws regulating the hours of labor, the employment of minors, the payment of wages, and all other laws enacted for the protection and benefit of employees, and shall have the power and authority, when in his judgment he deems it necessary, to take assignment of wage claims and prosecute actions for collection of wages and other demands of persons who are financially unable to employ a counsel in cases in which, in the judgment of the commissioner, the claims for wages are valid and enforceable in the courts; and it shall be the duty of said labor commissioner to enforce all labor laws of the State of Nevada, the enforcement of which is not specifically and exclusively vested in any other officer, board, or commission, and whenever after due inquiry he shall be satisfied that any such law has been violated, or that persons financially unable to employ a counsel have a valid and enforceable claim for wages or other demand, he shall present the facts to the district attorney of the county in which such violation occurred or wage claim accrued, and it shall be the duty of such district attorney to prosecute the same.

SEC. 5. Cooperation.—Said labor commissioner shall cooperate with such bureaus or departments of labor of the National Government and other States as may be established.

SEC. 6. Duty of officers.—It shall be the duty of all State, county, and precinct officers to furnish, upon written request of said labor commissioner, all information in their power necessary to assist in carrying out the objects of this act.

SEC. 7. Office hours.—The office of the bureau shall be open for business from 9 a. m. until 5 o'clock p. m. every day, except Sunday and the holidays observed by other State officers; and the officers shall give to all persons requesting it all needed information which they may possess: Provided, That no information that is of such a nature that it would be against public policy and against the best interest of the bureau will be given to anyone.

SEC. 8. Witnesses.—Said labor commissioner shall have the power to examine witnesses, administer oaths, and take testimony in all matters relating to the duties and requirements of this act, and such testimony shall be taken in some suitable place in the vicinity to which the testimony is applicable. Said labor commissioner may compel the attendance of witnesses, and may issue subpoenas: Provided, however, That no witness fees shall be paid to any witness unless he be required to testify at a place more than five miles from his place of residence, in which event the witness shall be paid the same fees as a witness before a district court, such payment to be made from the fund appropriated for such purposes in the county in which the testimony is taken and witness examined in the same manner as provided for the payment of witness fees in the district court of such county. Any person duly subpœnaed under the provisions of this section, who shall willfully refuse or neglect to testify at the time and place named in the subpœna, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 9. Entering work places.—Said labor commissioner shall have the power to enter any store, foundry, mill, office, workshop, mine, or public or private works at any reasonable time for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics contemplated by this act, and to examine safeguards and methods of protection from danger to employees; the sanitary conditions of the buildings and surroundings, and make a record thereof; and any owner, corporation, occupant, or officer who shall refuse such entry to said labor commissioner, his officers or agents, shall be guilty of a misdeameanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 10. Bulletins.—The labor commissioner is hereby authorized, with the approval of the board of examiners, to compile and issue such bulletins pertaining to labor and industries of the State as he may deem necessary, and such bulletins, when approved for printing and distribution, shall be printed at the State printing office.

SEC. 11. Forms, etc.—Said labor commissioner shall prepare forms and blanks for the purpose of gathering the information and statistics required by this act, and may require any person, firm, or corporation to give the information and statistical detail designated in such forms, and any person, firm, or corporation who shall refuse to furnish such detail and statistics in the form required shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof may be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 12 (as amended 1919, ch. 56). Printing.—All forms, blanks, envelopes, letterheads, circulars, bulletins and reports required to be printed by said labor commissioner shall be printed at the State printing office in the same manner and under the same regulations which are specified in an act entitled "An act to designate and authorize the work to be done in the State printing office," approved March 5, 1909.

SEC. 13. Prosecutions.—It shall be the duty of the district attorneys of the several counties, upon the complaint of the labor commissioner, to prosecute all violations of law which may be reported to said district attorney by the labor commissioner.

SEC. 15. Offices.—The labor commissioner shall be provided with properly furnished offices at the capital in Carson City, Nev.

SECTION 1. False representations of employers.—Any person, persons, partnership, association, company, or corporation (his or its officers, directors or agents), who or which shall employ upon wages any person or persons in any occupation, and who or which at the time of employing such person or persons shall make any false representation or pretenses as to having sufficient funds to pay such wages, and who after labor has been done under such employment by said employee or employees shall fail upon the discharge or resignation of such employee or employees, for a period of five days after such wages are legally payable, to pay said employee or employees on demand the wages due said employee or employees for such labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months, or by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500), or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Protection of employees as voters, etc.

SECTION 1. Interference forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation doing business or employing labor in the State of Nevada to make any rule or regulation, prohibiting or preventing any employee from engaging in politics or becoming a candidate for any public office in this State.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this act shall upon conviction thereof be fined in a sum of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars. The foregoing penalty shall be recovered in a suit brought for that purpose by the attorney general in the name and for the benefit of the State of Nevada, but no such prosecution shall be commenced later than three months after the commission of the offense herein described. In all prosecutions hereunder the person, firm, or corporation violating this act shall be held responsible for the acts of his, her or its managers, officers, agents and employees.

SEC. 3. Damages.—Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the injured employee from recovering damages from his or her employer for injury suffered through violation of this act.

CHAPTER 47.—Highway-construction camps

SECTION 1. Scope; requirements.—[Bunk-houses, tents, or other suitable sleeping places must be provided at all highway-construction camps at which five or more persons are employed. These must be kept in good condition, cleanly and free from vermin and infectious matter, dirt and dampness.]

SEC. 2. Air space; beds.—[Adequate air space, suitable bunks of steel, canvas, or other sanitary material must be supplied, and, if requested and at his cost, each employee must be furnished a mattress or other bedding.]

SEC. 3. Preparation of food.—[Cleanliness of preparation, service, dishes, etc., is prescribed.]

SEC. 4. Toilet facilities.—[Privies or other toilet conveniences must be provided and kept in a sanitary condition.]

SEC. 5. Garbage, etc.—[Kitchen waste and other rubbish must be placed in suitable receptacles and be so disposed of as not to become offensive or insanitary.]

SEC. 6. Observance.—[It is the duty of employers in camps to which this law applies to observe its provisions, and to appoint some responsible person to keep the camp clean.]

SEC. 7. Enforcement.—[It is the duty of the State board of health to enforce the act, making such inspections as are necessary to see if the law is complied with.]

SEC. 8. Penalties.—[Failure to comply with the law is punishable as a misdemeanor, by a fine not exceeding $200, or imprisonment not over 60 days, or both.]

CHAPTER 121.—Free public employment offices

SECTION 1. State employment service.—The State free employment service of the State of Nevada is hereby established. The commissioner of labor shall also be the executive officer of the State free employment service, and the management of such service shall be under his supervision. He shall have authority to appoint agents who shall be under the direction of said commissioner of labor as may be required in carrying out the provisions of this act, such agents being located at convenient points in the State for the handling of the movement of labor of all classes, with the view that labor will not be congested at any one point and to use their best endeavors to keep the supply of labor filled at the places where it is desired and in seasonable time.

Such agents may be located at points in the State which will best serve to carry out the provisions and intent of this act, and the commissioner in charge has power to enter into agreements with the governing bodies of cities, towns, or counties which desire such service, to use a portion of the fund provided by the State to assist in the maintenance of any such service put into effect by such governing bodies, or he may establish offices at points where he deems it to be for the best interest of employment, and maintain the same.

The commissioner of labor, in the capacity of head of the State free employment service, is hereby empowered to employ such clerical assistants as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this law and fix their compensation; to secure and distribute the necessary books and forms for keeping a record of the movement of labor, registration and placements, and all reports required to be made to that end.

SEC. 2. Duties.—The agents in charge of any of the State free employment offices established under the provisions of this act, and under the direction of the commissioner of labor, shall receive applications from those seeking employment and from those seeking employees, and shall register every applicant on properly arranged cards or forms provided by the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 3. Reports.—Each such agent shall make the commissioner of labor such periodic reports of applications for labor or employment and all other details of the office work of each office and the expense of maintaining the same as the commissioner may require.

SEC. 4. Advertising.—The commissioner of labor shall have power to solicit business for the State free employment service, established under this act, by advertising in newspapers and any other way he may deem expedient: Provided, That the expenditure under the provisions of this act shall not exceed 10 per cent of the total expenditure.

SEC. 5. Fees.—No fees, direct or indirect, shall in any case be charged or received from those seeking the benefits of this act.

SEC. 6. Violations.—Any agent or clerk, subordinate or appointee appointed under the provisions of this act who shall accept, directly or indirectly, any fee, compensation, or gratuity from anyone seeking employment, or from anyone offering employment, under this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars ($100) or by imprisonment in jail not to exceed three months, or both, and shall thereafter be disqualified from holding any office or position in such department.

SEC. 7. Strike notice to be posted.—An employer, or a representative of employers or employees, may file at a State free employment office a signed statement with regard to a strike or lockout affecting their trade. Such statement shall be posted in the employment office, but not until it has been communicated to the employers affected, if filed by employees, or to the employees affected, if filed by employers. In case a reply is received to such a statement, it shall also be posted in the employment office with the same publicity given to the first statement. If an employer affected by a statement notifies the State free employment service of a vacancy or vacancies, the agent in charge shall advise any applicant for such vacancy or vacancies of the statements posted.

SEC. 8. Cooperation with Federal bureaus.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized and empowered to cooperate with the Federal Government in the establishment and maintenance within the State of Nevada of one or more employment bureaus for the purpose of bringing together the man and the job. Such cooperative employment bureaus, when established, shall be under the joint management of the cooperative parties, and the cost and expense of establishing and of carrying on any such bureau shall be borne by the cooperative parties upon an equitable basis to be agreed upon between them.

SEC. 9. Appropriation.—There is hereby appropriated for the purpose of this act, out of any moneys in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), or as much thereof as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 151.—Strikes—Notice to be signed by citizens

SECTION 1. Strike notice.—It is hereby made unlawful for any person, firm or association to issue, cause to be issued, circulate or cause to be circulated any printed or written matter, notifying or advising the public or any organization by mail, or hand to hand, that a strike exists or is called in any place within the State of Nevada, unless the circular, letter or notice so issued shall contain the signatures of at least three persons who at the time of signing said circular were residents and citizens of the State for a period of six months, and copy of same shall be furnished the labor commissioner of the State of Nevada.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations entail a fine, $100 to $300, or imprisonment, 30 days to 6 months, or both.]

NEW HAMPSHIRE

PUBLIC STATUTES—1891

CHAPTER 159.—Railroads—Structures over tracks

SECTION 26. Telltales to be erected.—The proprietors of every railroad shall erect and maintain bridge guards at each end of every bridge or other structure erected less than eighteen feet above the track of their railroad, the character and location of which shall be approved by the board of railroad commissioners.

SEC. 27. Penalty.—If the proprietors of any railroad shall fail to comply with the provisions of the preceding section, they shall forfeit fifty dollars for each month of continuance in such failure.

CHAPTER 180.—Hours of labor

SECTION 20. Ten hours a day's work.—In all contracts relating to labor, ten hours' actual labor shall be taken to be a day's work unless otherwise agreed by the parties.

CHAPTER 180.—Payment of wages—Weekly pay day

SECTION 21 (as amended 1921, ch. 68). Scope of law.—Every person, firm, or corporation engaged in the business of manufacturing, mining, quarrying, or stonecutting, or in a mercantile, railroad, telegraph, telephone, express, or aqueduct business, and every municipal corporation, having in his or its employment more than ten persons at one time, shall pay the wages earned each week by employees who work by the day or week, within eight days, including Sunday, after the expiration of the week. Every such person, firm, or corporation shall post a notice in a conspicuous place in his or its office that wages will be so paid, and shall keep the same so posted. This act shall not apply to employees engaged in the cutting, harvesting, and driving of pulpwood and timber.

SEC. 22 (as amended 1921, ch. 68). Penalty.—If any such person, firm, or corporation shall violate the provisions of the preceding section, he or it shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars for each offense, provided a prosecution therefor is begun within thirty days after the offense is committed, but not otherwise.

SEC. 23. Exemptions.—The provisions of the two preceding sections shall not apply to municipal officers whose services are paid for by the day, nor to teachers employed by school districts.

CHAPTER 201.—Wages as preferred claims—In assignments

SECTION 32. Amount.—[Wage debts in the sum of $50 earned within 6 months prior to the beginning of insolvency proceedings are to be paid next after debts due the United States, and taxes.]

CHAPTER 215.—Assignments of wages—Future earnings

SECTION 4. Assignments not valid unless filed.—No assignment of, or order for, wages to be earned in the future shall be valid against a creditor of the person making it, until it has been accepted in writing and a copy of it and of the acceptance has been filed with the clerk of the town or city where the party making it resides. The clerks of towns and cities shall keep for public inspection an alphabetical list of all such orders and assignments filed with them.

CHAPTER 245.—Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 20. What exempt.—[Exempt from process are: Wages earned after the service of the writ; wages to the amount of $20 earned before the service of the writ, unless it is for necessaries; and earnings of the wife and minor children of the defendant.]

CHAPTER 264.—Interference with employment

SECTION 2. Insults, etc.—No person shall address any offensive, derisive, or annoying word to any other person who is lawfully in any street or other public place, nor call him by any offensive or derisive name, nor make any noise or exclamation in his presence and hearing with intent to deride, offend, or annoy him, or to prevent him from pursuing his lawful business or occupation.

SEC. 20. Penalty.—A person convicted of any offense mentioned in the preceding sections shall be fined not exceeding twenty dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding six months.

CHAPTER 265.—Employment of children—Certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 3. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[The employment of children under 14 in dancing, singing, ropewalking, as acrobats, etc., is forbidden.]

CHAPTER 266.—Interference with employment

SECTION 12. Interference with workmen, etc.—If any person shall interfere in any way whatever to injure or damage another in his person or property, while engaged in his lawful business, trade, or occupation, or while on the way to or from the same, or shall endeavor to prevent any person from engaging in his lawful business, trade, or calling, he shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding one year: Provided, however, It shall not be unlawful for any person to reason, talk or argue with, and by arguments persuade or induce such other person to do any act or thing or pursue any line of conduct which is not the commission of an offense under the laws of this State.

CHAPTER 273.—Labor organizations—Embezzlement of funds by officers

SECTION 17 (as amended 1905, ch. 1). Embezzlement.—If any officer, agent, or servant of a corporation, public or private, or the clerk, servant, or agent of a person, shall embezzle or fraudulently convert to his own use any money, bill, note, or security for money, evidence of debt, or other effects or property whatever of such person or corporation, or in their possession or keeping, or shall knowingly or voluntarily pay or deliver any such money, bill, note, security for money, evidence of debt, or other effects or property to any person or to the order of any person, knowing that such person is not entitled to receive it, and punishment is not otherwise specially provided for the offense, he shall be fined not exceeding two thousand dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding five years, or both. And if any officer, agent, clerk or servant of any incorporated or unincorporated trades-union, fraternal or benevolent association, club, society, or other association of persons levying assessments or dues upon its members or supported in whole or in part by their voluntary contribution, shall embezzle, fraudulently convert, or knowingly or voluntarily misapply any money or other effects or property of such association as aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of an offense under this section and punished as herein provided, notwithstanding that he may have an interest in said money, effects, or property.

CHAPTER 39.—Railroads—Bridges over tracks

SECTIONS 1-3. Height.—[The board of railroad commissioners may require railroads to raise any railroad or highway bridge. New covered railroad bridges must afford a clearance of at least 21 feet, except by written consent of the commissioners. Freight cars over 14 feet high to top of running board shall not be received or hauled. Violations incur a penalty of $50 for each day.]

CHAPTER 48.—Bureau of labor—Commissioner

SECTION 5. Duties.—The duties of the commissioner shall be to collect, assort, arrange, and present in annual reports, on or before the first day of January each year, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the State of New Hampshire, especially in relation to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary condition of the laboring classes, and the permanent prosperity of the productive industry of the State.

CHAPTER 16.—Seats for female employees

SECTION 1. Seats to be provided.—Every person, firm, or corporation employing females in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment in this State, shall provide suitable seats for the use of the females so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than thirty dollars for each offense.

CHAPTER 69.—Protection of employees on street railways

SECTIONS 1–3. Inclosed platforms.—[All street railway companies must inclose the platforms of their cars in such manner, for such times and on such routes as the railroad commissioners may direct, for the protection of employees. Failure to comply entails a penalty of $50 for each day.]

ACTS OF 1901

CHAPTER 60.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. License.—[Proprietors of employment offices must hold licenses, subject to a penalty of $10 per day.]

SECS. 2–5. Issue.—[Mayors, aldermen, and selectmen are charged with the duty of issuing licenses. Records of licenses, showing name, location and nature of business, must be kept. Licenses run to May 1 of each year. A reasonable fee, not less than $2, shall be charged for such license.]

SEC. 6. Removal.—[Licenses are valid only for the place named therein, unless consent to removal is granted by the issuing authorities.]

SEC. 7. Revocation.—[If a license is revoked, record must be made of the fact, and notice served on the licensee.]

CHAPTER 113.—Safety appliances on electric railways—Power brakes

SECTION 1. Brakes to be provided.—On or before May 1st, 1910, all eight-wheeled or double-truck cars, so called, operated by electric power, for the purpose of conveying passengers, by any street railway in the State of New Hampshire shall be provided with power brakes of a standard of efficiency to be approved by the railroad commissioners.

SEC. 2. Violation.—Any street railway failing to comply with the provisions of section 1 of this act shall be liable to a fine of ten dollars ($10) per day for each car operated without such equipment.

CHAPTER 30.—Accidents in factories—Provision for first aid

SECTION 1. Medical, etc., supplies.—Every person, firm or corporation operating a factory or shop in which power machinery is used for any manufacturing purpose and in which three or more persons are employed, or for any purpose except for elevators, or for heating or hoisting apparatus, shall at all times keep and maintain, free of expense to the employees, such a medical and surgical chest as shall be required by the local board of health of any city or town where such machinery is used, containing plasters, bandages, absorbent cotton, gauze, and all other necessary medicines, instruments and other appliances for the treatment of persons injured or taken ill upon the premises.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Any person, firm or corporation violating this act shall be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars for every week during which such violation continues.

CHAPTER 58.—Employment of labor—Foremen, etc., accepting fees

SECTION 1. Acceptance forbidden.—No agent, superintendent, foreman, or other employee of any corporation, firm, copartnership, or of any person, shall obtain money or property of any kind whatsoever, or obtain a promise to pay money or property of any kind whatsoever, from, for, or in behalf of any person for the purpose of procuring employment for such person in the service of said corporation, firm, copartnership, or person.

SEC. 2. Workmen not to offer fees.—No person whomsoever shall offer or promise to pay money or other property of any kind to any agent, superintendent, foreman, or employee of any corporation, firm, copartnership, or of any person whomsoever, for the purpose of securing employment or promise of employment for any other person or persons, in the service of said corporation, firm, copartnership, or person.

SEC. 3. Violations.—Any violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

SEC. 4. Construction of act.—The provisions of this act shall not be so construed as to affect or impair the right of any corporation, firm, copartnership or person to hire laborers, or accept apprentices in the ordinary and usual course of business, or in any way abridge the right to obtain and exercise licenses to run employment offices as provided by law.

CHAPTER 78.—Payment of wages

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 68). Weekly payments in cash.—Weekly payment of wages by every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of manufacturing, mining, quarrying, or stonecutting, or in a mercantile, railroad, telegraph, telephone, express or aqueduct business, and every municipal corporation, as contemplated by section 21, chapter 180 of the Public Statutes * * * shall be made in cash, and no employee shall be compelled by his employer to accept any goods or merchandise in payment of wages.

SEC. 2. Checks permitted.—Nothing in the preceding section shall be held to invalidate or prevent payment of wages by check or checks wherever such form of payment is acceptable to the employee to whom payment is made.

CHAPTER 164.—Accidents to public service employees

SECTION 15 (as amended 1913, ch. 145). Reports, etc.—[All railroad corporations and public utilities are required to report to the State public service commission all accidents causing death or injury to persons; and it is the duty of the commission to investigate the cause of all fatal accidents, and of such other accidents as it thinks ought to be investigated. Reports of accidents are not to be made public otherwise than in the published reports of the commission.]

CHAPTER 198.—Arbitration of labor disputes—Bureau of labor

SECTION 1 (as amended 1913, ch. 70). Bureau of labor created.—The office of commissioner of labor is hereby abolished and a bureau of labor is established in place thereof in accordance with the provisions of this act. Said bureau of labor shall consist of a labor commissioner who shall be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the council, within thirty days after the passage of this act, and such clerks and assistants as shall be necessary for the performance of the duties of the bureau. The labor commissioner shall hold his office for three years from the date of his appointment and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, and he may be removed at any time by the governor with the advice and consent of the council, for cause, and his successor shall be appointed in the same manner for the same term. Any vacancy existing in the office of labor commissioner shall be filled for the unexpired portion of the term by appointment by the governor with the advice and consent of the council. Said commissioner shall appoint a clerk of the bureau and such other clerical assistants as may be necessary and fix their compensation subject to the approval of the governor and council. The records of said bureau shall be public records open to the inspection of any person interested. The salary of said labor commissioner shall be one thousand six hundred dollars ($1,600) a year, payable monthly by the State treasurer in full for his servises, and his actual expenses incurred in the work of his office shall be paid by the State treasurer on duly detailed vouchers approved by the governor.

SEC. 2. Duties and powers.—Said labor commissioner shall exercise and perform all the powers and duties heretofore exercised and performed by the commissioner of labor, together with such other powers and duties as are authorized by this act. It shall be the duty of the commissioner, without notice, at such times as he shall deem it necessary, to visit the manufacturing, mechanical, and mercantile establishments in the State, so far as practicable, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the laws with reference to the employment of help are complied with, and for the further purpose of ascertaining if reasonable sanitary and hygienic conditions are maintained calculated to promote the health and welfare of the working people. If he shall deem it necessary, he shall transmit to the legislature a report upon these matters when he shall deem the occasion of sufficient importance, with such recommendations as he shall think advisable. Whenever he shall deem it necessary, the commissioner shall prosecute any offences against the laws regulating the employment of help.

SEC. 3 (added 1913, ch. 186). Board of conciliation and arbitration.—There shall be a State board of conciliation and arbitration consisting of three persons who shall be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, not later than July 1st, 1913, for the terms of one, two, and three years, respectively. Thereafter the governor, with the advice and consent of the council shall annually, in June, appoint a member whose term shall be three years from the first day of July following. One member of said board shall be an employer or shall be selected from an association representing employers of labor, one shall be selected from a labor organization and shall not be an employer of labor, and the third shall be appointed upon the recommendation of the other two, or if the two appointed members do not, at least thirty days prior to the expiration of a term, or within thirty days after the happening of a vacancy, agree upon a third member he shall then be appointed by the governor. Each member shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, be sworn to the faithful performance thereof. The board shall choose from its members a chairman, who shall preside at its meetings.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1917, ch. 142). Mediation.—Whenever any controversy or difference arises relating to the conditions of employment or rates of wages between any employer, whether individual, copartnership, or corporation, and whether resident or nonresident, and his or their employees, such controversy involving the interests of employees not less than ten persons in the same general line of business in this State, the labor commissioner shall, upon application as hereinafter provided, as soon as practicable thereafter, visit the locality of the dispute and make careful inquiry into all the conditions and circumstances of the situation, hear all persons interested therein who may come before him, advise the respective parties what, if anything, ought to be conceded by either or both, and adjust such controversy or difference and, within five days after such inquiry, make a written decision thereon, a copy of which shall be furnished the parties and a copy kept on file in the bureau of labor.

Neither the proceedings nor any part thereof before the labor commissioner by virtue of this section shall be received in evidence for any purpose in any judicial proceeding before any other court or tribunal whatever.

SEC. 6 (as amended 1913, ch. 186). Arbitration.—Whenever in case of any such controversy or difference the employer and employee shall fail to agree to a settlement through the commissioner as provided in section 4, then said commissioner shall endeavor to have said parties consent in writing to submit their differences to said board of arbitration. The findings of said board of arbitration shall be final. Said findings shall be binding upon the parties concerned in said controversy or dispute for six months, or until sixty days after either party has given the other notice in writing of his or their intention not to be bound by the same. Such notice may be given to said employees by posting the same in three conspicuous places in the place of employment. Pending the decision of the board the business shall continue on the existing basis and the employees remain at work and said board shall render its decision within seven days after the completion of their hearing, and if said hearing is on question of wages said decision to revert back to the date when the employees presented their demand in writing to said employer. The chairman of said board shall keep a record of the proceedings, issue subpœnas, and administer oaths to the members of said board and to any witness said board may deem necessary to summon. Any notice or process issued by said board may be served by any sheriff or constable to whom the same may be directed or in whose hands the same may be placed for service. Such arbitrators shall receive eight dollars ($8) per day for each day actually engaged in such arbitration and the necessary traveling expenses, to be paid upon vouchers signed by the labor commissioner with the approval of the governor out of the funds appropriated for the maintenance of the bureau of labor.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1913, ch. 186). Refusal to arbitrate.—Upon the failure of the labor commissioner in any case to secure a reference to said board of arbitration, it shall become his duty to request a sworn statement from each party to the dispute of the facts upon which their dispute and their reasons for not submitting the same to arbitration are based. Any sworn statement made to the labor commissioner under this provision shall be for public use and shall be given publicity in such newspapers as desire to use it.

SEC. 8 (as amended 1913, ch. 186). Notice by third parties of disputes.—Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of said labor commissioner, either by notice from a mayor of a city, the county commissioners, the president of a board of trade, or other representative body, the president of a central labor council or assembly, or of any five reputable citizens, or otherwise, that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened or has actually occurred in any city or town of the State involving an employer and his or its present or past employees, if at the time such employer is employing, or up to the occurrence of the strike or lockout was employing, not less than ten persons in the same general line of business in any city or town in this State, and said commissioner shall be satisfied that such information is correct, it shall be the duty of such commissioner, within three days thereafter, to put himself in communication with such employer and employees and endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable settlement between them or to persuade them to submit the matter to said board of arbitration and conciliation and to act as hereinbefore provided in case of disputes and controversies. In case the parties do not agree to so submit the matter, the said commissioner may investigate the cause or causes of such controversy and ascertain which party thereto is mainly responsible for the continuance of the same, and may make and publish a report assigning such responsibility.

SEC. 9. Report.—The said commissioner shall annually make a report of the proceedings of the bureau of labor to the governor and council containing the transactions of the office and such other matters and recommendations as he shall deem proper.

CHAPTER 38.—Payment of wages—Biweekly pay day—Public employees

SECTION 1. Biweekly payments.—All persons performing regular work in the service of the State of New Hampshire who are not under salary shall receive their wages in biweekly payments.

CHAPTER 118.—Occupational diseases—Reports

SECTION 1. Physician to report.—Every physician in this State attending on or called in to visit a patient whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic, brass, wood alcohol, mercury, or their compounds, or from anthrax, or from compressed-air illness, or any other ailment or disease, contracted as a result of the nature of the patient's employment, shall within 48 hours send to the State board of health a report stating:

(a) Name, address, and occupation of patient.

(b) Name, address, and business of employer.

(c) Nature of disease.

(d) Such other information as may be reasonably required by the State board of health. The reports herein required shall be on or in conformity with the standard schedule blanks hereinafter provided for. The posting of the report, within the time required, in a stamped envelope addressed to the office of the State board of health, shall be a compliance with this section.

SEC. 2. Blanks.—The State board of health shall prepare and furnish, free of cost, to the physicians included in section 1, standard schedule blanks for the reports required under this act. The form and contents of such blanks shall be determined by the State board of health.

SEC. 3. Reports not evidence.—Reports made under this act shall not be evidence of the facts therein stated in any action arising out of the disease therein reported.

SEC. 4. Violation.—Any physician who neglects or refuses to send the report or reports as herein required shall be liable to the State for a penalty of five dollars for each offense, recoverable by civil action by the State board of health.

SEC. 5. Transmission of reports.—It shall furthermore be the duty of the State board of health to transmit a copy of all such reports of occupational disease to the commissioner of labor.

CHAPTER 156.—Employment of women and children—Hours of labor

SECTION 1 (as amended 1917, ch. 196). Hours of labor per day and week.—No female, or minor under eighteen years of age shall be employed or be permitted to work at manual or mechanical labor in any employment, except household labor and nurses, domestic, hotel and boarding house labor, operators in telephone and telegraph offices and farm labor, more than ten and one-quarter hours during any one day, or more than fifty-four hours in any one week. Where a minor under eighteen years of age or a female is employed in the same day or week by more than one employer in manual or mechanical labor in any employment, except household labor and nurses, domestic, hotel and boarding house labor, operators in telephone and telegraph offices and farm labor, the total time of employment shall not exceed that allowed per day or week in a single employment. No such minor or female shall be employed or permitted to work at night work more than eight hours in any twenty-four hours nor more than forty-eight hours during the week. If any such minor or female is employed or permitted to work more than two nights each week for any time between the hours of eight o'clock p. m. and six o'clock a. m. of the day following, such employment shall be considered night work. Mercantile establishments for the period of seven days immediately preceding Christmas Day in each year are, as to regular employees, excepted from the operation of this section, but the total number of hours of labor, for any female, or minor under eighteen years of age, regularly employed in such establishment, shall not exceed fifty-four hours per week for the full year.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1917, ch. 196). Schedule to be posted.—Every employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every room, where such minors or females are employed, a printed notice stating the hours of commencing and stopping such work, the time allowed for dinner or other meals, and the maximum number of hours any such minor or female employee is permitted to work in any one day.

SEC. 3 (as amended 1917, ch. 196). Evidence.—The employment of any female, or minor under eighteen years of age, in any such place or establishment, as defined in section one of this chapter, at any time other than those of the posted hours of labor, as hereinbefore provided for, shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of this act.

SEC. 4. Penalty.—[Any person or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act must, on conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.]

CHAPTER 185.—Inspection of steam vessels

SECTION 1 (as amended 1915, ch. 117). Inspector.—[An inspector of boats operated by power is to be employed by the public service commission, to inspect such boats operated as common carriers or kept for hire, not subject to United States inspection laws. Such assistants as are needed may also be employed. Examination and certification of masters, engineers, etc., also vests with the inspector and his assistants.]

SEC. 3. Certificates required.—[The use or operation of any boat or launch as above, on any public water of the State without a certificate of inspection is forbidden.]

CHAPTER 188.—Holiday labor

SECTION 1. Unnecessary work forbidden.—No employee shall be required to work in any mill or factory on any legal holiday, except to perform such work as is both absolutely necessary and can lawfully be performed on the Lord's Day.

SEC. 2. Violation.—Whoever violates the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

CHAPTER 212.—Employment of labor—Notice of disputes

SECTION 1 (as amended 1917, ch. 99). Notice required.—If any employer during the continuance of a strike among his employees, or during the continuance of a lockout or other labor trouble among his employees, publicly advertise in newspapers, or by posters or otherwise, for employees, or by himself or his agents solicits persons to work for him to fill the place of strikers, he shall plainly and explicitly mention in such advertisements or oral or written solicitations that a strike, lockout or other labor disturbances exists. No person, firm, association or corporation shall knowingly publish or circulate any advertisement for employees which does not comply with the provisions of this section.

SEC. 2. Act not operative, when.—The provisions of this act shall cease to be operative when the State board of arbitration shall determine that the business of the employer, in respect to which the strike or other labor trouble occurred, is being carried on in the normal and usual manner, and to the normal and usual extent. Said board shall determine this question as soon as may be, upon the application of the employer.

SEC. 3 (as amended 1923, ch. 92). Violations.—[Violations entail fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not exceeding 6 months, or both.]

CHAPTER 45.—Public works—Preference to resident bidders

SECTION 1. What bidders preferred.—In the award of contracts for any construction, repairs, furnishing, or equipment to be paid for by money from the State treasury, preference shall be given to the New Hampshire persons, firms, and corporations submitting bids for the same: Provided, That the responsibility of the bidders and the quality of the work to be done or article to be furnished shall be equal to those proposed by bidders from without the State, and that the price demanded therefor is not greater than that proposed by said bidders from without the State.

CHAPTER 123.—Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 1. What buildings to have fire escapes.—No building three or more stories in height used or occupied above the second story as a * * * factory, mill, or workship [workshop], * * * shall be let, leased, or occupied for such purposes, * * * unless provided with a steel or wrought-iron balcony and stairway fire escape attached to the outer wall in such manner and place as to render egress from said building easy and safe, and shall be subject to the approval as to location of the selectmen of towns or of such city officials as may be designated by the city governments for that purpose. If any such building be of a length greater than one hundred and fifty feet, it shall be provided with one additional such fire escape for each additional one hundred and fifty feet or fractional part thereof. Every building in which laborers are employed shall be provided with sufficient means of escape in case of fire by more than one exit, each of which shall be at all times free from obstruction and ready for immediate use. Every door leading into any such building shall be so constructed as to open outward when practicable, and shall not be so locked, bolted, or fastened during working hours as to prevent free egress. This act shall not apply to buildings which contain an approved sprinkler system and stairways enclosed with fireproof walls, or other means of exit duly approved in writing by the selectmen of towns or by such city officials as may be designated by city governments for that purpose. But it shall not be necessary to secure the approval of said officers for any such building as has been theretofore duly approved by officials authorized at the time of such approval to grant the same.

SEC. 2. Height, etc.—Such fire escapes shall reach within eight feet of the ground, and the locations of the exits thereto shall be designated by red lights during such hours of the night as the building is occupied for the purposes designated in section 1 of this act.

SEC. 3. Violations.—If any person shall violate any of the provisions of this act he shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars or be imprisoned not exceeding six months, or both, and it shall be the duty of said officers to enforce the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 3.—Contract of employment—Repayment of advance

SECTION 1. Failure to repay.—Whoever enters into an agreement to labor for another in any lumbering operation or in driving logs and in consideration thereof receives any advance of goods, money, or transportation, and without cause fails to enter into said employment as agreed, and labor for a sufficient length of time to reimburse his employer for said advances and expenses of transportation, shall be punished by fine of not exceeding $10 or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days.

CHAPTER 177.—Antitrust law—Labor organizations, etc., exempt

SECTION 7. Exemptions.—Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agriculture, or horticultural organizations, instituted for the purposes of mutual help and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations or members thereof be held or considered to be illegal trusts or conspiracies against trade under this act.

CHAPTER 183.—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 130). Scope of act.—This act shall apply only to factories, mills, workshops, or other manufacturing or mercantile establishments in which three or more persons are regularly employed. The term employer as used in this act shall mean and include every person, firm, corporation, or association operating in this State a factory, mill, workshop, or other manufacturing or mercantile establishment in which three or more persons are regularly employed. The term place of employment shall mean and include any mill, workshop, or other manufacturing or mercantile establishment where three or more persons are regularly employed, and all buildings, sheds, structures, or other places used in connection therewith. The term employee shall mean and include every person employed to work in any such place of employment.

SEC. 2. Safety appliances.—Whenever the nature or condition of any such place of employment or the machinery or other appliances therein are such as to render employment therein or in proximity thereto dangerous to the safety or health of such employees, it shall be the duty of every such employer to provide and maintain such safeguards, safety devices, appliances, lighting facilities, and do such other things as may be reasonably necessary and practicable to lessen the dangers of such employment. Every such employer shall provide and maintain reasonable and proper toilet facilities and reasonably sanitary and hygienic conditions for such employees.

SEC. 3. Removing guards.—No person shall, so as to interfere with the intended use thereof, remove, displace, damage, or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, and no person shall interfere with the use of any methods or processes adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment or place of employment.

SEC. 4. Inspection.—(1) The commissioner of labor shall cause every place of employment to be inspected as soon as may be after the passage of this act, and at least once each year thereafter, for the purpose of determining the conditions in such place of employment with respect to the safety and health of the employees working therein.

(2) A report of such inspection shall be filed in the office of the commissioner of labor and a copy thereof given the employer.

(3) The commissioner of labor, factory inspectors, and other assistants of the commissioner of labor shall have the right for the purpose of this act to enter any such place of employment and to examine the same.

SEC. 5. Rules, etc.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to make and adopt such reasonable orders, rules, and regulations of general application as may be necessary to give effect to section two of this act with respect to the use of mechanical contrivances for disengaging power, the safeguarding of saws, planers, jointers, and other similar machines, the protection of cogs, gearing, couplings, and the like, and the use of set screws, keys, bolts, and the like used in connection with revolving shafting.

Whenever the commissioner of labor, after any such place of employment shall have been inspected in accordance with section four of this act, shall be of the opinion that the special conditions in that place of employment render any general order, rule, or regulation so made by him inadequate or unreasonable as applied to such place of employment or any part thereof, he may, by special order applicable to that place of employment, so modify or extend the requirements of such general order, rule, or regulation as to make the same adequate and reasonable with respect to such special conditions; and whenever, after such inspection, the commissioner of labor shall be of the opinion that compliance with section two of this act, under the special conditions obtaining in any place of employment, necessitates the use of any safeguard or the doing of any other act for which the general orders, rules, or regulations adopted by him do not provide, he shall have power by special order to require the adoption in that place of employment of such particular safeguards, safety devices, appliances, lighting facilities, or other means as may be reasonable and practicable for the safety and health of the employees. The commissioner of labor shall have like power and it shall be his duty by general or special orders, rules, or regulations to require compliance with section two with respect to toilet facilities and sanitary and hygienic conditions in any such place of employment.

Sec. 6. Time for compliance.—Every order, rule, or regulation made or adopted by the commissioner of labor shall fix the time when it shall take effect, and in every case a reasonable time shall be allowed to the employer or employers affected thereby for compliance therewith. Notice shall be given of every order, rule, or regulation to those who are required to comply with the same, and such notice may be given by registered mail. Notice of any such order, rule, or regulation of general application may be given by publication in some newspaper having circulation throughout the State.

Sec. 7. Review.—Any person or corporation affected by such order, rule, or regulation may petition the commissioner of labor for a review of the validity or reasonableness thereof. The commissioner of labor may join in one proceeding all petitions alleging invalidity or unreasonableness of the same or substantially similar orders, rules, or regulations. The petition for review shall be filed within thirty days after notice of the adoption of the order, rule, or regulation: Provided, however, That the commissioner of labor may, whenever in his opinion justice may require it, extend the time for filing such petition.

Upon receipt of the petition the commissioner of labor shall, if necessary to determine the issue raised, order a hearing. Notice of the time and place of hearing, which shall be open to the public, shall be given to the petitioner and to such other persons as the commissioner of labor may find directly interested in the issues raised by the petition.

If upon such hearing the commissioner of labor finds that the order, rule, or regulation complained of is invalid or unreasonable, he shall revoke it or substitute therefor a new or amended order, rule, or regulation.

The decision of the commissioner of labor upon such petition shall be final unless appeal is taken to the superior court in the manner herein provided.

Sec. 8. Appeal to court.—Any person or corporation aggrieved by any order, rule, or regulation of the commissioner of labor may file a petition in the superior court against the commissioner of labor to determine the validity and reasonableness of such order, rule, or regulation. Such petition shall be filed within thirty days after notice of the adoption of the order, rule, or regulation, or if a petition for review is filed, within thirty days from the decision upon such petition. Such notice shall be given to the commissioner of labor of the pendency of such proceedings as the superior court may order.

Such petition, so far as practicable, shall have precedence over other actions in the same court, and the order of the commissioner of labor appealed from shall be prima facie valid and reasonable. The proceedings upon such petition shall be as nearly as may be in accordance with proceedings in equity. The court may, and on the request of the parties shall, refer any issue or issues arising in such action to one or more persons who shall find and report the facts together with his or their recommendations to the court. One or more of such persons may be a layman conversant with the subject matter involved in such appeal. The superior court shall upon such petition enter such order or decree as justice may require.

Sec. 9. Order suspended.—During the pendency of any petition for review the order, rule, or regulation under review shall be suspended, and during the pendency of an appeal to the superior court under section eight the order, rule, or regulation appealed from may be suspended by the superior court if justice requires; but except as affected by proceedings upon review by the commissioner of labor or appeal to the superior court, every order, rule, or regulation made and adopted under the provisions of this chapter shall have the effect of law.

SEC. 10. Powers of commissioner.—The commissioner of labor, for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this act, shall have power to administer oaths, certify to official acts, issue subpœnas, compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents, and testimony. In case of the failure of any person to comply with any order of the commissioner of labor given under this section, or any subpœna lawfully issued, or on the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter about which he may lawfully be interrogated, it shall be the duty of the superior court or any judge thereof on application of the commissioner of labor to compel obedience by proceedings as for contempt. A complete record shall be kept of all orders, rules, or regulations made and adopted by the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 11. Witness fees.—Each witness who shall appear before the commissioner of labor shall receive for his attendance the fees and mileage provided for witnesses in attendance upon the superior court. The deposition of any witness within or without the State taken in the manner prescribed by law for depositions in civil actions may be used in any proceeding for review or appeal.

SEC. 12 (as amended 1921, ch. 130). Inspectors.—For the purpose of inspecting factories, workshops, commercial and such mercantile establishments as the commissioner of labor shall so designate, the commissioner of labor shall, with the approval of the governor and council, employ three competent persons who shall be known as factory inspectors, one of whom shall be a woman; and their compensation shall be fixed by the commissioner of labor subject to the approval of the governor and council. The commissioner of labor shall also have the power, subject to the approval of the governor and council, to employ such other assistants as may be necessary to the proper discharge of his duties. It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to administer and enforce, so far as not otherwise provided for in the statutes, all laws relating to factories, workshops, commercial and mercantile establishments, and all valid orders, rules or regulations, and he shall receive as compensation for his services rendered under the provisions of this act such sum as shall be required to make the total of his annual compensation under this and all other acts the sum of twenty-seven hundred and fifty dollars.

SEC. 13. Prosecutions.—No prosecution against any employer shall be commenced under this act unless or until the commissioner of labor shall have first made an order in accordance with the provisions of this act and the employer affected thereby shall have had a reasonable opportunity to comply therewith.

Any employer who shall omit or neglect to obey, observe, or comply with any lawful order, rule, or regulation made in pursuance of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200. If any person shall willfully violate the provisions of section three of this act, he shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100.

SEC. 14. Employers' statements.—Every employer subject to the provisions of this act shall within thirty days after the same shall take effect send by mail to the commissioner of labor a statement setting forth his name, address, business, and approximate number of employees of such employer, and every such employer thereafter starting in business shall immediately send to the commissioner of labor a like statement. Any such employer willfully neglecting to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $25.

CHAPTER 198.—Free public employment office

SECTION 1. Office to be established.—There shall be established and maintained, under the care and direction of the commissioner of labor, a free employment office for the purpose of bringing together those who seek employment and those who desire to employ.

SEC. 2. Administration.—This work shall be done in the office and in connection with the bureau of labor, and the commissioner of labor shall appoint such clerks or assistants as he may deem necessary for the proper conduct thereof, and shall fix their compensation, subject to the approval of the governor and council.

SEC. 3. Duties, etc.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to receive without charge and keep on file, by means of suitable books or other record, a correct list of all applications for employment made by any person who shall file an application for work. It shall also be the duty of said commissioner of labor to keep on file, in the same manner, a correct list of all applications filed by any person, partnership or corporation, seeking to hire help for any legitimate purpose, and it shall be the duty of said commissioner of labor and his assistants to aid persons so applying for employment and to assist employers so applying to obtain help.

SEC. 4. Scope of act.—This act shall apply to female as well as male applicants, and to any and all kinds and descriptions of legitimate employment or service.

SEC. 5. No fees to be charged.—No fees, direct or indirect, shall in any case be taken from those seeking the benefits of said employment office.

SEC. 6. Citizens preferred.—In registering applications for employment and for employees wanted, preference shall be given to residents of the State.

SEC. 7. Duty of city and town clerks.—It shall be the duty of city clerks of cities and town clerks of towns to cooperate with said employment office as requested by the commissioner of labor in the matter of receiving and forwarding applications from those desiring employees and those desiring employment. Such city or town clerks may in the discretion of the commissioner of labor be furnished with application blanks for this purpose. Such city or town clerks shall receive no compensation from the State for such service but they may by proper order or direction from the authorities of their towns or cities receive compensation therefor, or the same may be regarded as a part of their duties as such town or city clerks according to the direction of each town or city.

SEC. 8. Reports.—The commissioner of labor shall cause reports showing the business of the office to be prepared at regular intervals, and shall supply them to the newspapers and to citizens upon request.

CHAPTER 85.—Employment of children—General provisions

[This act is a school code, but embodies the regulations for the employment of children in industry.]

PART I

SECTION 8. Enforcement.—[The State board of education, through the commissioner, shall enforce the laws as to school attendance and the employment of minors.]

PART II

SECTIONS 17, 18. Truant officers.—[Truant officers, appointed by district school boards, shall, when directed by the board, have authority to take without warrant children found employed contrary to the school attendance and child labor laws.]

PART III

SECTIONS 6, 7. Illiterates.—[Children 16 to 21 years of age unable to read and speak English understandingly must attend an evening or special day school until the minimum course prescribed by the State board of education is completed. This does not apply if there is no such school in the district, if the child is excused by the commissioner of education, nor to persons over 16 employed in cutting, harvesting or driving pulp wood or timber or to those temporarily employed in construction or agricultural work.]

SEC. 16. Age limit.—[Employment under 14 is forbidden in any mill, factory, workshop, quarry, mercantile establishments, business office, telegraph or telephone office, hotel, restaurant, bakery, apartment house, tenement house factory, as bootblack, or in messenger or delivery service.]

SEC. 17. Employment during school time.—[Employment in the above occupations is forbidden to illiterates under 16 during the time in which the public schools are in session, unless a permit based on mental incapacity is obtained.]

SEC. 18. Inspections.—[On request of the commissioner of education, the State board of health must inspect places of employment of children, and may require the discharge of those physically unfit, or where health is endangered by reason of unsanitary conditions.]

SEC. 19. Street trades.—[Boys under 10 and girls under 16 may not engage in street trades.]

SEC. 20. Messengers, etc.—[No person under 18 may be employed in messenger or delivery service between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

SEC. 21. Hours.—[Boys under 16 and girls under 18 may not be employed in gainful occupations, other than farm or domestic service, more than 54 hours per week or 10¼ per day, or between 7 p. m. and 6.30 a. m., except in retail stores and telephone offices, where they may work to 10 p. m. Boys over 14 may deliver newspapers after 5 a. m., and those over 12 from 4 to 8 p. m.]

SECS. 22–30. Certificates.—[Children under 16 must have certificates before employment in any place named in this act, issued by the school authorities, on a showing of age, school attendance, and a medical certificate of health and physical development. The applicant must appear personally. Certificates are kept on file by the employer, and surrendered to an inspector on termination of the employment. A record of certificates issued must be kept.]

SECS. 31–34. Enforcement.—[District truant officers and inspectors appointed by the State board of education may inspect all factories and places where children are employed, and require evidence of the age of children employed therein, and require discharge of any children employed apparently under 16 without satisfactory evidence of age.]

SECS. 35–39. Violations.—[Employers and parents or guardians violating the law are punishable by fine of $5 to $200, or imprisonment 10 to 30 days, or both. Continuing violations are penalized by fines of $5 to $20 for each day. School authorities may also be fined $5 to $25 for failure to comply with the law as to issue of certificates.]

SEC. 40. Illiterates.—[Employers of illiterates 16 to 21 years of age must keep a file of certificates, showing their school enrollment or their excuse from attendance.]

SECS. 41, 42. Certificates.—[Certificates are a protection to the employer from the date of issue to the end of the current school year, unless revoked. They may be revoked for cause, and reports of certificates must be made to the commissioner of education.]

SECS. 43, 44. Prosecutions.—[School boards must under penalty, prosecute offenses under this act, proceedings to be begun within one year.]

NEW JERSEY

COMPILED STATUTES—1910

SECTION 8. Notice by employees.—If a majority of the employees in any manufacturing establishment, or in any particular department thereof, shall give notice to their employer or employers, in writing, signed by themselves, that they are dissatisfied with the terms or conditions on which they are employed, or with the wages they are receiving, or with any proposed reduction of their wages or proposed alteration of the terms or conditions on which they are employed, and that they propose to submit the matters complained of to arbitration, and shall name an arbitrator to represent them; and if such employer or employers can not adjust such differences, it shall be the duty of such employer or employers, if they choose to accept this method of compromise, to nominate and appoint, in writing, an arbitrator to represent him or them, and to give notice to said employees of such appointment.

SEC. 9. Meetings.—The two arbitrators, so as aforesaid appointed, shall forthwith meet and proceed to select a third arbitrator; and the said three arbitrators shall without unnecessary delay notify the employees and the employer or employers of the time and place when and where they will meet to hear arguments on the matters in dispute, which meetings shall be held under such conditions, rules, and regulations as the said arbitrators may mutually agree upon: the questions at issue shall be submitted to the arbitrators in writing, and their decision shall be confined to the questions so submitted; either of such arbitrators may administer an oath or affirmation to any person testifying before them, and any person so sworn who shall testify falsely shall be deemed guilty of perjury; either of the parties to such arbitration may be represented before the arbitrators by counsel, if they so desire, and the arguments may be oral or in writing; as the parties themselves may respectively prefer.

SEC. 10. Findings.—The finding of the said arbitrators shall be reduced to writing, and a copy thereof served upon each of the parties to the dispute, or upon their respective representatives, and shall be deemed to be binding upon both parties submitting the matters in dispute to arbitration, and shall take effect from the date of the finding, unless some other time is fixed in the finding for the taking effect thereof.

SEC. 11. Costs.—The costs of arbitration shall be fixed and paid as the parties may previously or mutually agree, and if not so agreed upon, they shall be fixed and paid as the arbitrators themselves may decide.

SECTION 10. Amount.—[Wages of clerks, mechanics, and laborers earned or due at the time of the employer's assignment are preferred up to $300 each.]

Exemption of wages from attachment

SECTION 1. Nonresidents.—[Wages of a nonresident employee can not be attached in this State on the suit of a nonresident creditor when the law of the State of residence gives an exemption.]

Public service—Discharge of employees

SECTION 1434. Removal, etc., restricted.—No employee of a municipal board of street and water commissioners, constituted under the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement, who shall have been in such employ continuously for a space of five years, shall be removed, discharged, or reduced in pay or position except for inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a public employee, or other just cause, and until he shall have been furnished with a written statement of the reasons for such removal, discharge, or reduction, and shall have been given a reasonable time to make written answer thereto. Nor shall such removal, discharge, or reduction be made until the charge or charges shall have been examined into and found true in fact by the board of street and water commissioners at a hearing, upon reasonable notice to the person charged, at which he may offer the testimony of witnesses or other evidence in his own behalf.

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency of corporations

SECTION 83. Rank.—[Laborers and workmen and all persons doing service of any kind have a first lien on the assets of an insolvent corporation for work done in the two months prior to proceedings begun.]

SEC. 84. Same.—[Such liens are subordinate to prior recorded chattel mortgages and to chattel mortgages recorded within the two months for money loaned or goods purchased during said period; also to mortgages on the real estate.]

SECTION 212e (as amended 1922, ch. 145). Acts forbidden.—

1. Corrupt influencing of agents, employees or servants:

Whoever gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee or servant, any gift or gratuity whatever, without the knowledge and consent of the principal, employer or master of such agent, employee or servant, with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; or an agent, employee or servant who, without the knowledge and consent of his principal, employer or master, requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift, or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement, or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner to his principal's, employer's or master's business; or an agent, employee or servant who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies or other articles, either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer or master, receives directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such material, supplies or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor, and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee or servant such commission, discount or bonus, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, however, That if a corporation, partnership or other organization is guilty of a violation hereof, the person or persons through whom the corporation, partnership or other organization acts shall also be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, however, That any person guilty of any offense within the purview of this act who shall first report the facts under oath to the attorney general of New Jersey, and who shall give evidence tending to the conviction of any other person charged with an offense under this act, shall be granted full immunity from prosecution or conviction under this act, with respect to the offense reported.

Employment of children—Certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 47. Acrobatic, etc., employment.—[Forbids employment of children under 15 in rope or wire walking, or as an acrobat, gymnast, contortionist, or rider, or any dangerous or immoral occupation.]

SEC. 48. Mendicancy, etc.—[Forbids the employment of children under 18 in mendicant occupations in the streets, etc. For text of similar law see sec. 2223, Code of Delaware.]

Industrial statistics

SECTION 10. Owners of factories, etc., to report.—It shall be the duty of every owner, operator, lessee, manager, or superintendent of every factory, mill, workshop, mine, or other establishment or industry in which labor is employed within this State, to make such reports or returns on blanks furnished by the bureau of statistics of labor and industry as the said bureau may require for carrying out the purposes and compiling such statistics as are authorized * * * ; and the said owner, operator, lessee, manager, or superintendent shall make such report or return within the time prescribed therefor, and shall certify to the correctness of the same.

SEC. 11. Penalty.—Any owner, operator, lessee, manager, or superintendent of an establishment or industry in which labor is employed within this State who willfully neglects to fill such blank within the time allowed for doing so, or who refuses to fill such blank, shall forfeit for every such delay, [or] refusal, the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered in a court of competent jurisdiction, by an action in which the State shall be represented by the chief of the bureau of statistics of labor and industry as plaintiff.

Alien labor—Employment on public works

SECTION 15. None but citizens to be employed.—It shall not be lawful for the State or any county, city, town, township, or borough, or other municipal corporation within this State, or for any board, committee, commission, or officer thereof, or for any officer, board, body, or organization having charge of any public work or any construction, whether the same be a building, excavation, pipe laying, bridge or dock building, sewer or drainage construction, road building, paving, or any other form or kind of public work which shall be undertaken and done at public expense, or for any person or corporation, to employ as a mechanic or laborer upon such public work or construction, or any part thereof, any person who is not at the time of such employment a citizen of the United States; any contractor or officer who shall violate the provisions of this act shall forfeit and pay the sum of one hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action of debt in any court of competent jurisdiction, with costs, and such penalty when recovered shall be paid into the treasury of the State, county, city, or other municipal corporation within which and under whose authority such officer or contractor claims to act: Provided, The provisions of this act shall not apply to any contract now in force.

SECTION 16 (as amended 1923, ch. 80). Age.—[Employment of children under 14 is forbidden in newspaper plants, printeries, factories, mills, workshops, laundries, mines, and quarries. Violators are disorderly persons, and establishments habitually employing children contrary to the law are disorderly houses.]

SECS. 18, 19 (as amended 1923, ch. 80). Certificates required.—[Children under 16 must have age and schooling certificates for employment in establishments coming under this act.]

SEC. 20. Enforcement.—[The commissioner or any inspector may demand proof of any employed child.]

SEC. 21. False statements.—[False statements subject to penalty of $50.]

SEC. 22 (as amended 1923, ch. 80). Employments forbidden.—[Specified dangerous employments are forbidden for children under 16, also any occupation involving physical risk harmful to the health or future working efficiency, in the judgment of the commissioner of labor. For similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 23 (as amended 1923, ch. 80). Registers.—[Registers of children under 16 must be kept open to official inspection.]

SEC. 24 (as amended 1919, ch. 36). Work time.—[No minor under 16 may be employed, in the places coming under this act, for more than 8 hours per day or 48 per week; if a continuation school exists, not more than 42 hours per week. No work is allowed between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m., nor on Sunday.]

SECTION 26. Hoistways, etc., to be guarded.—The openings of all hoistways, hatchways, elevators, and wellholes upon every floor of any place coming under the provisions of this act, shall be protected by good and sufficient trapdoors or self-closing hatches and safety catches, or strong guardrails at least three feet high, and shall be kept closed and protected at all times except when in actual use by the occupant of the building having the use and control of the same.

SEC. 28 (as amended 1912, ch. 6). Belt shifters, etc.—The owner or person in charge of any of the places coming under the provisions of this act, where machinery is used, shall provide, in the discretion of the commissioner, friction clutches for stopping shafting, and belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts or pulleys; whenever practicable all machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys; all vats, pans, saws, planers, power presses, foot presses, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, setscrews, drums and machinery of every description shall be properly guarded; no person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to such machinery, vats or pans while the same are in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced; if the machinery, or any part thereof, or any vat, pan or vessel containing molten metal or hot liquid is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded, the use thereof may be prohibited by the commissioner, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto; such notice shall not be removed until the machinery is made safe and the required safeguards are provided; and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery, vats, pans, or vessels containing molten metal or liquid shall not be used; when, in the opinion of the commissioner, it is necessary, the halls or other portions of a building shall be provided with proper lighting facilities.

This act does not abolish the defense of assumption of risks. 70 Atl. 327.

SEC. 29. Blowers for emery wheels, etc.—All corporations, firms or persons conducting a manufacturing business in any of the places coming under the provisions of this act, where emery wheels or emery belts of any description are used, either solid emery, leather, leather covered, felt, canvas, linen, paper, cotton, or wheels, or belts rolled or coated with emery or corundum, or cotton wheels used as buffs, shall provide the same with blowers or similar apparatus, which shall be placed over, beside, or under wheels or belts in such a manner as to protect the person or persons using the same from the particles of the dust produced and caused thereby, and to carry away the dust arising from or thrown off by such wheels or belts while in operation, directly to the outside of the building, or to some receptacle placed so as to receive and confine such dust: Provided, That grinding machines upon which water is used at the point of the grinding contact and small emery wheels that are used temporarily for tool grinding in small shops employing not more than three persons at such work, shall be exempt from the provisions of this section if so ordered by the commissioner.

SEC. 30. Construction.—It shall be the duty of any person, firm or corporation conducting such manufacturing business, to provide or construct such appliances, apparatus, machinery or other things necessary to carry out the purpose of this act, as set forth above, as follows: Each and every such wheel shall be fitted with a sheet or cast-iron hood or hopper of such form and so applied to such wheel or wheels that the dust or refuse therefrom will fall from such wheels or will be thrown into such hood or hopper by centrifugal force and be carried off by a current of air into a suction pipe attached to some hood or hopper.

SEC. 31. Same subject.—Each and every such wheel six inches or less in diameter shall be provided with a round suction pipe three inches in diameter; wheels six inches to twenty-four inches in diameter, with round suction pipe five inches in diameter; and all wheels larger in diameter than those stated above shall be provided each with a round suction pipe not less than six inches in diameter; the suction pipe from each wheel so specified must be full size to the main trunk suction pipe, and the main suction pipe to which smaller pipes are attached shall in its diameter and capacity be equal to the combined area of such smaller pipes attached to the same, and the discharge pipe from the exhaust fan connected with such suction pipe or pipes shall be as large or larger than the suction pipe.

Sec. 32. Air pressure, etc.—It shall be the duty of any person, firm or corporation, operating any such place to provide the necessary fans or blowers to be connected with such pipe or pipes, as set forth in this act, which shall be run at the rate of speed such as will produce a pressure of air in such suction or discharge pipes sufficient to raise a column of water not less than five inches in a U-shaped tube; all branch pipes must enter the main trunk pipe at an angle of forty-five degrees or less; the main suction or trunk pipe shall be below the emery or buffing wheels and as close to the same as possible, and shall be either upon or beneath the floor on which the machines are placed to which such wheels are attached; all bends, turns or elbows in such pipes must be made with easy, smooth surfaces, having a radius in the throat of not less than two diameters of the pipe on which they are connected.

Sec. 33. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner to make orders in writing for the carrying into effect the provisions of sections fourteen, fifteen, sixteen and seventeen [secs. 29 to 32].

Sec. 34. Air space.—Not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space shall be provided for each employee or operative at work in a room in a place within the meaning of this act between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening, and not less than four hundred cubic feet of air space for each employee so employed between the hours of six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning: Provided, In all cases where the amount of air space provided does not exceed the amount above fixed, that such room is lighted by electricity during all hours that artificial lights are necessary and persons are employed therein, unless a written permit shall be obtained from the commissioner.

Sec. 35 (as amended 1912, ch. 5). Ventilation required.—The owner, agent or lessee of a place coming under the provisions of this act shall provide, in each workroom thereof, proper and sufficient ventilation; if excessive heat be created or if steam, gases, vapors, or dust or other impurities that may be injurious to health be generated in the course of the manufacturing process carried on therein, the room shall be ventilated in such a manner as to render them harmless, so far as is practicable; in case of failure, the commissioner of labor shall order such ventilation to be provided. Such owner, agent or lessee shall provide such ventilation within twenty days after the service upon him of such order, and in case of failure, shall be liable to a penalty of ten dollars for each day after the expiration of such twenty days, to be recovered by the commissioner of labor as hereinafter provided. If, in a place coming under the provisions of this act, glazing or polishing on a wheel or any process is carried on by which dust or any gas, vapors or other impurity is generated in such manner as to be inhaled by the employees to an injurious extent, and it appears to the commissioner of labor that such inhalation could be to a great extent prevented by a fan or other mechanical means, the commissioner of labor may order the owner, agent or lessee of such place to provide a fan or other mechanical means of a proper construction for preventing such inhalation within twenty days after the service upon him of such order in writing, and such owner, agent or lessee shall provide such fan or other mechanical means as stated in said order within the time therein stated, and in case of failure so to do, he shall be liable to a fine of ten dollars for each day after the expiration of the time given by such order to make the change.

Sec. 36. Minors cleaning machinery.—No minor under sixteen years of age shall be required, allowed or permitted to clean any part of the gearing or machinery in any place coming under the provisions of this act, while the same is in motion, or to work between the fixed or traversing parts of any machinery while it is in motion by the action of steam, water or other mechanical power.

Sec. 37. Explosives.—Every corporation, firm or person having or keeping in his place or its place or manufactory coming under the provisions of this act, any explosive or inflammable compound, shall keep or store such explosive or inflammable compound in such factory, mill, workshop or place in such way as not to obstruct or render hazardous the egress of employees or operatives in case of fire.

Sec. 38. Water-closets.—Every factory, workshop or mill shall contain sufficient, suitable, convenient and separate water-closets for each sex, which shall be properly screened, ventilated and kept clean; and also a suitable and convenient wash room; the water-closets used by women shall have separate approaches; if women or girls are employed, a dressing room shall be provided for them when ordered by the commissioner.

SEC. 39. Limewashing.—Factories and workshops in which women and children are employed, and where dusty work is carried on, shall be limewashed or painted at least once in every twelve months.

SEC. 40. Law to be posted.—An abstract of this law shall be prepared and furnished upon request by the commissioner to every corporation, firm or person in this State who is affected thereby, and every manufacturer to whom a copy of such abstract is sent or delivered shall post such abstract of this law and keep it posted in plain view in such place that it can be easily read by the employees or operatives in coming in or going out from said factory, workshop or mill.

SEC. 41. Hindering commissioner.—No person shall interfere with, delay, obstruct or hinder by force or otherwise, the commissioner, the assistant commissioner or inspectors, while in the performance of their duties, or refuse to answer in writing or otherwise, questions asked by such officers relating to the matters coming under the provisions of this act; no person shall impersonate an officer of the department or forge his certificate of authority.

SEC. 42. Forfeitures to be reciprocal.—Any person, firm or corporation engaged in manufacturing which requires from persons in his or its employ, under penalty of forfeiture of a part of the wages earned by them, a notice of intention to leave such employ, shall be liable to the payment of a like forfeiture if he or it discharges without similar notice a person in such employ, unless in case of a general suspension of labor in his or its factory, mill or place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on.

SEC. 43. Accidents.—All accidents that prevent the injured person or persons from returning to work within two weeks, or which result in death, shall be reported in writing to the department, at Trenton, New Jersey, within twenty-four hours after the expiration of four weeks or after the death of such person injured, as the same may be; such notice may be sent by mail, postage prepaid.

SEC. 44. Name of firm to be furnished.—Every corporation, firm or person shall within one month after he, they or it shall begin to occupy a factory, workshop, mill or place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on, notify in writing the department, at Trenton, New Jersey, of such occupancy, giving the legal title of such corporation and name of agent upon whom service of a summons can be made, and in case of a firm, the individual names of the members of the firm or the legal title of the concern so occupying such factory or workshop.

SEC. 45. Powers of commissioner.—For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of sections * * * [26 to 32, 34, 36 to 39 and 41 to 43] the commissioner shall be and he is hereby authorized to make such orders in writing for the protection and safety of employees and operatives and the enforcement of this act in places coming under the provisions of this act, as in his judgment shall seem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of such sections; such order shall be in writing, signed by the commissioner, and shall specify what shall be necessary to be done and within what time; any corporation, firm or person violating any of the provisions of [the above-mentioned] sections * * * shall, for each offense, be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars.

SEC. 46 (as amended 1917, ch. 176). Manufactures in tenements.—No room or rooms, apartment or apartments, in any tenement or dwelling house, or in a building situated immediately in the rear of any apartment, tenement or dwelling house shall be used for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing therein, for wages or for sale, any articles whatsoever unless a license is secured therefor, as provided in this act.

Application for such a license shall be made to the commissioner of labor by any family or a member thereof, or any person, firm, or corporation desiring to manufacture, alter, repair, or finish any such articles in any room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house, or by any person, firm, or corporation desiring to perform such work in any building in the rear of any tenement or dwelling house. Each license shall run continuously for a period of six months, whereupon a new or further license must be obtained. Each application for such a license shall describe the room or apartment, shall specify the number of persons to be employed therein, and shall be in such form as the commissioner of labor may determine. Blank applications shall be prepared and furnished by the commissioner of labor. Before any such license is granted an inspection of the room, apartment, or building sought to be licensed shall be made by the commissioner of labor, factory inspector, or, in the discretion of the commissioner of labor, by any local board of health or its inspector or inspectors. If the commissioner of labor or such inspectors as herein provided for ascertain that such room, apartment, or building is in a clean and proper sanitary condition, and that the articles specified in this section may be manufactured therein under clean and healthful conditions, he shall grant a license permitting the use of such room, apartment, or building for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing, or finishing such articles. Each license shall state the maximum number of persons who may be employed in the room or rooms to which such license relates. The number of persons to be so employed shall be determined by the number of cubic feet of air space contained in each room or apartment mentioned in such license, allowing not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet for each person employed between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening, unless by special written permit of the commissioner of labor, and not less than four hundred cubic feet for each person employed therein between the hours of six in the evening and six in the morning, but no such permit shall be issued unless such room or apartment has suitable light at all times during such hours as such persons are employed therein.

Such license must be posted in a conspicuous place in the room or apartment to which it relates. It may be revoked by the commissioner of labor if the health of the community or of the employees requires it, of [or] if it appears that the rooms or apartments to which such license relates are not in a healthy and proper sanitary condition. Every room or apartment in which any of the articles named in this section are manufactured, altered, repaired, or finished shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition and shall be subject to examination and inspection by the commissioner of labor, factory inspectors, or local boards of health for the purpose of ascertaining whether said garments or articles, or any part or parts thereof, are clean and free from vermin and every matter of infectious or contagious nature.

If the commissioner of labor, factory inspector, or local board of health shall find evidence of infectious or contagious diseases present in any workshop, or in goods manufactured or in process of manufacture therein if [sic] the commissioner of labor, factory inspector, or local board of health shall issue such orders as the public health may require, and shall condemn and destroy such infectious and contagious articles.

Sec. 46a (added 1917, ch. 176). What contracts forbidden.—No person, firm or corporation shall hire, employ or contract with any member of a family, or any person, firm or corporation not holding a license therefor, to manufacture, alter, repair or finish any articles whatsoever in any room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling or any room or apartment in any building situated in the rear of a tenement or dwelling-house as aforesaid, and no person, firm or corporation shall receive, handle or convey to others or sell, hold in stock or expose for sale any articles whatsoever unless made under the sanitary conditions and in accordance with this act. This act shall not prevent, however, the employment of a tailor or seamstress by any person or family for the purpose of making, altering, repairing or finishing any articles of wearing apparel for such person or for family use, and shall not prevent such employment by women's exchanges or philanthropic associations not organized for pecuniary profit.

Sec. 47 (as amended 1917, ch. 176). Violations.—Any person, firm or corporation being the owner, lessee or occupant of the place, or places to which the preceding sections or any part thereof relate, shall, for the violation of any of the provisions therein, be liable to a penalty of $50 for the first offense and $100 for each succeeding offense.

Sec. 48. Exemption.—This act shall not apply to a private house or a private room used for manufacturing purposes by the family dwelling therein.

Sec. 73. Seats for female employees.—Every person or corporation employing female employees in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment in this State shall provide suitable seats for the use of the female employees so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed.

Sec. 74. Violations.—[Violations of the above section are subject to a penalty of $50; but ten days' notice in writing must be given, and if noncompliance continues, the penalty may be recovered in an action for debt by any person choosing to take action.]

Employment of labor—Notice of discharge

SECTION 79. Notice of discharge to be given, when.—Whenever any operative in any mill, factory, or other manufacturing establishment shall contract or agree with his or her employer, or the agent of such employer, to forfeit any part of his or her wages or pay in case he or she shall quit work or service in such mill, factory, or manufacturing establishment, without giving a certain specified notice of intention so to do, such operative shall, before being discharged from such work or service, be given notice thereof for the same length of time as that of the notice required of him or her as aforesaid, and in default of such notice, shall receive wages or pay for the same length of time for which his or her wages or pay would have been forfeited in case he or she had quit such work or service without notice as aforesaid; and whenever, in such a case, the wages or pay of such operative shall not be a fixed sum, as for instance, so much per day or week, then the wages or pay to be so received by such operative shall be the amount he or she might ordinarily have earned in the time for which such notice should have been given; and such operative, upon making demand for such wages or pay, and a refusal to pay the same, shall be entitled to sue for and recover the same, the same as if it was due under an express contract; and if he or she shall recover judgment in such suit for such wages or pay, or for a larger amount than had been tendered him or her in case a tender had been made, then he or she shall be allowed as part of the costs thereof, an attorney's fee, to be fixed by the court, and in case the defendant shall appeal from such judgment, and shall not be successful on such appeal, then such operative shall be allowed, as part of the costs of such appeal, an additional attorney's fee, to be fixed by the court: Provided, however, That such operative shall not be entitled to receive or recover such wages or pay in consequence of having been discharged without notice as aforesaid, if he or she, by his or her misconduct in or about such work or service, or incompetency to perform properly such work or service, shall have given or afforded sufficient cause for such discharge.

Seats for female employees—Mercantile establishments

SECTION 85. Seats to be provided.—Every individual, firm, or corporation or the managing agent of such individual, firm, or corporation, having in his or their employ one or more females engaged in the services and operations incident to any commercial employment, shall provide and maintain seats of a suitable kind, conveniently situated at or near the counter, workbench, or other places where her or their work is ordinarily performed for the use of such females, who shall be allowed free access to such seats at all times except when engaged in the discharge of duties that can not properly be performed in a sitting position.

SEC. 86. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and his authorized deputies to see that the provisions of this act are carried out in all the mercantile establishments throughout the State in which female labor is employed, and the said commissioner or one of his deputies shall thereafter at reasonable intervals examine and inspect all such mercantile establishments for the purpose of seeing that the seats as provided for in this act are fully maintained and that female employees are permitted to use them freely and without hindrance according to the spirit of this act.

SEC. 87. Violations.—[Failure to comply within 10 days after service of notice entails penalty of $25 for each offense.]

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 89. Cause of action.—Where, * * * personal injury or death results to an employee who is himself in the exercise of reasonable care at the time:

1. By reason of any defect in the condition of the place, ways, works, machinery, or plant connected with or used in the business of the employer, which arose from or had not been discovered or remedied owing to the negligence of the employer or of any person in the service of the employer, and intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the place, ways, works, machinery, or plant were in proper condition; or

II. By reason of negligence of any person in the service of the employer intrusted with, and at the time of the injury exercising superintendence, whose sole or principal duty is that of superintendence, or in the absence of such superintendent of any person acting as superintendent, with the authority or consent of such employer; or

III. By reason of the negligence of any person in the service of the employer who has the charge or control of any signal, switch, locomotive engine or train upon a railroad; said employee, or in case the injury results in death, the executor or administrator of such deceased employee who has left surviving a husband, wife or next of kin, shall have the same right of compensation and remedies against the employer as if the employee had not been an employee of, nor in the service of the employer, nor engaged in his work. The provisions of law relating to actions for causing death by negligence, so far as the same are consistent with this act, shall apply to an action brought by an executor or administrator of such deceased employee suing under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 90. Notice.—No action against an employer for recovery of compensation for injury or death of an employee under this act shall be maintained unless notice of the time, place, and cause of injury is given to the employer within one hundred and twenty (120) days, and the action is commenced within one year after the occurrence of the accident causing the injury or death. The notice required by this section shall be in writing and signed by the person injured, or by some one in his behalf, but if from physical or mental incapacity it is impossible for the person injured to give notice within the time provided in said section, he may give the same within ten (10) days after such incapacity is removed. In case of his death without having given such notice his executor or administrator may give such notice within sixty (60) days after his appointment, but no notice under the provisions of this section shall be deemed to be invalid or insufficient solely by reason of any inaccuracy in stating the time, place, or cause of the injury if it be shown that there was no intention to mislead, and that the party entitled to notice was not, in fact, misled thereby. The notice required by this section shall be served on the employer, or if there is more than one employer, upon one of such employers, and may be served by delivering the same to, or at the residence or place of business of the person on whom it is to be served. The notice may be served by post by registered letter, addressed to the person on whom it is to be served, at his last known place of residence or place of business, and if served by post shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of the post. When the employer is a corporation notice shall be served by delivering the same or by sending it by post by registered letter, addressed to the office or principal place of business of such corporation.

SEC. 91. Assumption of risks.—An employee by entering upon, or continuing in the service of an employer, shall be presumed to have assumed all risks necessarily incident to his occupation or employment. The necessary risks of the occupation or employment shall, in all cases arising after this act takes effect, be considered as including those risks, and those only, which are inherent in the nature of the business, and which remain after the employer has exercised due care in providing for the safety of his employees, and has complied with the laws affecting or regulating such business or occupation for the greater safety of such employees. In an action maintained for the recovery of damages for personal injuries to an employee, received after this act takes effect, owing to any cause for which the employer would otherwise be liable, the fact that the employee continued in the service of the employer in the same place and course of employment after the discovery by such employee, or after he had been informed of the danger of personal injury therefrom, shall not, as a matter of law, be considered as an assent by such employee to the existence or continuance of such risks of personal injury therefrom, or as negligence contributing to such injury. The question whether the employee understood and assumed the risk of such injury, or was guilty of contributory negligence, by his continuance in the same place and course of employment with knowledge of the risk of injury, shall be one of fact, subject to the usual powers of the court in a proper case to set aside a verdict rendered contrary to the evidence. An employee, or his legal representative, shall not be entitled under this act to any right of compensation or remedy against the employer in any case where such employee knew of the defect or negligence which caused the injury, and failed, within a reasonable time to give, or cause to be given, information thereof to the employer, or to some person superior to himself in the service of the employer who had intrusted to him some general superintendence, unless it shall appear on the trial that such defect or negligence was known to such employer or superior person, or could have been discovered by reasonable and proper care or inspection by such employer or superior person prior to such injury to the employee.

SEC. 92. Contributions by employer as offset.—An employer who shall have contributed to an insurance fund created and maintained for the mutual purpose of indemnifying an employee for personal injuries, for which compensation may be recovered under this act, or to any relief society or benefit fund, may prove in mitigation of damages recoverable by an employee under this act such proportion of the pecuniary benefit which has been received by such employee from such fund or society on account of such contribution of employer as the contribution of such employer to such fund or society bears to the whole contribution thereto.

SEC. 93. Construction of statute.—Every existing right of action for negligence or to recover damages for injuries resulting in death is continued, and nothing in this act contained shall be construed as limiting any such right of action, nor shall the failure to give the notice provided for in section two (2) [sec. 90] of this act be a bar to the maintenance of a suit upon any such existing right of action.

Wages as preferred claims—In executions, etc.

SECTION 94. Wages to be paid.—[In case of execution, etc., affecting goods or chattels of an employer, the same shall not be removed until the wages of operatives and employees, not exceeding two months, have been paid by or at the instance of the suitor.]

SEC. 95. Sale of goods.—[The sheriff or other officer may not remove goods by virtue of any execution or attachment without first paying wages, as above.]

SEC. 96. Receiverships.—[If the goods of any manufacturer are put in the hands of a receiver in the course of a legal action on petition of employee's claim for wages for labor thereon, so much of such goods as may be necessary to meet such verified claims must be sold without delay in preference to the claims of any other creditor.]

Payment of wages—Company stores

SECTION 101 (as amended 1919, ch. 182). Orders, etc., to be redeemable.—It shall not be lawful for any person or corporation in this State to issue, for payment of labor, any order or other paper whatsoever, unless the same is negotiable and purport to be redeemable for its face value at sight in lawful money of the United States, by the person giving or issuing the same: And provided, however, Nothing in this act contained shall prevent any private individual from giving any orders for goods and merchandise on any store in which such private individual has no interest, directly or indirectly, in the profits or business.

SEC. 105. Attempting to control trade.—It shall not be lawful for any manufacturer, firm, company or corporation, their agents, clerks or superintendents, in this State, who own or control a store for the sale of general store goods or merchandise in connection with their manufacturing or other business, to attempt to control their employees or laborers in the purchase of store goods and supplies at the aforesaid store by withholding the payment of wages longer than the usual time of payment, whereby the employee would be compelled to purchase supplies at said manufacturer's, firm's, company's or corporation store.

SEC. 106. Violations.—[Penalty for violations is a fine not exceeding $100, with costs of suit, for each offense.]

SEC. 109. Contracts for retention of wages.—It shall not be lawful for any corporation doing business in this State to require workmen, laborers or other employees, in their contract of employment, or prior or subsequent thereto, to sign a written consent for said corporation to retain or keep back any part of their wages when due, under pretense of investing the same or establishing a fund for the relief or assistance of such workmen, laborers or other employees when sick or otherwise disabled.

SEC. 110. Retention of wages without consent.—It shall not be lawful for any corporation of this State, or any corporation doing business in this State, to retain or keep back any part of the wages due their workmen, laborers or other employees, without the free and voluntary consent of such workmen, laborers or employees, under pretense of assisting, relieving or maintaining said employees when sick or otherwise disabled.

SEC. 111. Diversions are against public policy.—All such diversions of the wages of the employees without the free and voluntary consent of such workmen, laborers or employees of corporations aforesaid when due from the use, possession or control of said employees, to the control or possession of said corporation for the pretended use or benefit of said employees, shall be adjudged by the courts of this State to be against public policy.

SEC. 112. Violations.—[Violations of sections 109, 110, incur fine not to exceed $200, or imprisonment not exceeding 6 months, or both.]

SEC. 113. Discounting claims for wages.—It shall not be lawful for any person or persons to purchase or have assigned to him or them any pay or wages due, or to become due, to any laborer or employee of any corporation or individual or individuals doing business in this State, for any work or labor to be rendered by such laborer or employee of any such corporation or individual or individuals, upon which such person or persons so purchasing or having assigned to him or them shall directly or indirectly have received, or contracted to receive, from such laborer or employee, more than the legal rate of interest established by the laws of this State upon the amount of such pay or wages due, or to become due, so purchased or assigned.

SEC. 114. Penalty.—Any person or persons violating the first section [sec. 113] of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, at the discretion of the court: Provided, however, That this act shall not apply to any assignment of such pay or wages, made for the payment of any goods, wares or merchandise sold to such employee for the full value, or for any professional service rendered to such laborer or employee mentioned in such assignment.

SEC. 123. Biweekly pay day.—Every person, firm, association or partnership doing business in this State, and every corporation organized under or acting by virtue of or governed by the provisions of an act entitled "An act concerning corporations" (revision of one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six), in this State, shall pay at least every two weeks, in lawful money of the United States, to each and every employee engaged in his, their or its business, or to the duly authorized representative of such employee, the full amount of wages earned and unpaid in lawful money to such employee, up to within twelve days of such payment: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment, any employee shall be absent from his or her regular place of labor and shall not receive his or her wages through a duly authorized representative, he or she shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter upon demand; any employer or employers as aforesaid who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than one hundred dollars for each and every offense, at the discretion of the court: Provided, Complaint of such violation be made within sixty days from the day such wages become payable according to the tenor of this act; the provisions of this section shall not apply to any employee or employees engaged in agricultural work or as watermen.

SEC. 124. Contracts in violation of act.—It shall not be lawful for any such person, firm, association, partnership or corporation, as aforesaid, to enter into or make any agreement with any employee for the payment of the wages of any such employee otherwise than is provided in section one [section 123] of this act, except it be to pay such wages at shorter intervals than every two weeks; every agreement made in violation of this act shall be deemed to be null and void, and the penalties provided for in section one hereof may be enforced notwithstanding such agreement; and each and every employee with whom any agreement in violation of this act shall be made by any such person, firm, association, partnership, corporation or the agent or agents thereof, shall have his or her action and rights of action against any such person, firm, association, partnership or corporation, for the full amount of his or her wages in any court of competent jurisdiction in this State.

SEC. 125. Enforcement.—The department of labor of this State shall be and hereby is authorized and directed to enforce the provisions of this act [secs. 123–125] and the commissioner of labor shall make complaint against any employer or employers who neglect to comply with the provisions of this act for a period of two weeks after having been notified in writing by said commissioner of labor of the violation of this act; and it is hereby made the duty of county prosecutors of the pleas of the various counties in this State, to appear in behalf of the department of labor in all proceedings brought herein by the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 126. To whom wages of deceased employees may be paid.—It shall be lawful for any employer in this State at any time not less than thirty days after the death of the employee, to pay all wages due to such deceased employee to the wife, child or children, father or mother, sister or brother (preference being given in the order named) of the deceased employee, without requiring letters of administration to be issued upon the estate of said deceased employee, where such wages do not exceed seventy-five dollars in amount: Provided, however, That if such deceased employee shall not leave a wife, child or children, father, mother, sister or brother surviving him, then it shall be lawful for said employer to pay the wages due such deceased employee, first, to the undertaker for his services such sum as shall be due him, and second, the residue, if any, to physician, boarding-house keeper and nurse, pro rata, upon a bill furnished duly verified by affidavit.

SEC. 127. Release.—The payment of such wages shall be a full discharge and release to the employer from the wages so due and paid.

Protection of employees as members of labor organizations

SECTION 128. Combinations of workingmen.—It shall not be unlawful for any two or more persons to unite, combine or bind themselves by oath, covenant, agreement, alliance or otherwise, to persuade, advise or encourage, by peaceable means, any person or persons to enter into any combination for or against leaving or entering into the employment of any person, persons or corporation.

Since this act, it is not unlawful for the members of an association to combine for the purpose of securing control of the work connected with their trade, and to endeavor to effect such purposes by peaceable means. 47 Eq. 519.

The purpose of this act was to legalize strikes. It would seem also to intend a legalization of a combination to induce others to join in a strike, but the methods must be persuasive and not coercive. 46 Atl. 208.

The statute affects the status of the acts described only as declaring them not to be criminal, but does not take away the right of any individual injured by them to bring suit to recover damages. 52 Atl. 152.

Labor organizations—Municipal advertising in union organs

SECTION 23. Labor newspapers to be patronized.—In all cities containing a population of fifty thousand or more inhabitants, as shown by the last preceding census, all advertising required by law, pertaining to affairs connected with the city government, shall be made in a newspaper specially devoted to the interests of organized labor, if one be published in said city, in addition to the official newspaper now authorized to be designated by law: Provided, Said paper has been published at least once a week for a period of three years prior to the passage of this act [sec. 23], and that the fees for publication shall not exceed the fees now allowed by law.

Strikes of railroad employees

SECTION 62. Leaving duty.—If any railroad employee on any railroad within this State engage in any strike or with a view to incite others to such strike, or in furtherance of any combination or preconcert with any other person to bring about a strike, shall abandon the engine in his charge when attached to a train at any place other than the schedule or otherwise appointed destination of such train, or shall refuse or neglect to continue to discharge his duty, or to proceed with such train to the place of destination aforesaid; or if any railroad employee within this State, for the purpose of furthering the object of or lending aid to any strike organized or attempted to be maintained on any other railroad, either within or without the State, shall refuse or neglect in the course of his employment to aid in the movement over and upon the tracks of the company employing him of the cars of such other railroad company received therefrom in the course of transit, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, and may also be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 63. Interference by strikers.—If any person in aid or furtherance of the objects of any strike upon any railroad, shall interfere with, molest, or obstruct any locomotive engineer or other railroad employee engaged in the discharge or performance of his duty as such, or shall obstruct any railroad track within this State, or shall injure or destroy the rolling stock or other property of any railroad company, or shall take possession of or remove any such property, or shall prevent or attempt to prevent the use thereof by such company or its employees, or shall by offer of recompense induce any employee of any railroad company within this State to leave the service of such company while in transit, every such person offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars, and may also be imprisoned not more than one year, at the discretion of the court.

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships of railroads

Section 86. Amount.—[In case of the receivership of a railroad, unencumbered personal effects not required in the operation of the road and all moneys put in the receiver's hands at the time of his appointment may be applied to the payment of wages due, not exceeding wages for two months.]

Street railways—Hours of labor—Vestibules

Section 57. Twelve hours a day's work.—Twelve hours' labor, to be performed within twelve consecutive hours, with reasonable time for meals, not less than half an hour for each, shall constitute a day's labor in the operation of all cable, traction, and horse-car street surface railroads, and of all cable, traction, and steam elevated railroads, owned or operated by corporations incorporated under the laws of this State, for the employees of such corporations in operating such railroads.

Sec. 58. Penalty.—It shall be a misdemeanor for any officer or agent of any such corporation to exact from any of such employees more than twelve hours' labor within the twenty-four hours of the natural day, and within twelve consecutive hours therein as in the first section [sec. 57] provided: Provided, however, That in case of accident or unexpected contingency demanding more than the usual service by such corporation to the public, or from such employees to the corporation, extra labor may be permitted and exacted for extra compensation.

Sec. 59. Act construed.—It is the true intent and purpose of this act to limit the usual hours of labor of the employees of railroad corporations as aforesaid to twelve hours' actual work a day, to be performed within a period of twelve consecutive hours as aforesaid, whether such employees be employed by the trip or trips, the job, the hour, the day, the week, the month, or in any other manner.

Sec. 152. Platforms.—[The platforms of electric motor cars must be inclosed from November 1 to April 1.]

Sec. 153. Violations.—[Each day's noncompliance involves a penalty of $25 for each car.]

ACTS OF 1911

CHAPTER 88.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day—Employees of counties

SECTION 1. Scope of law.—All county employees in counties of the first class of this State shall be paid semimonthly.

CHAPTER 94.—Labor organizations—Bribery of representatives—Foremen accepting fees from employees

SECTION 1. Bribery forbidden.—Any person who gives or offers to give any money or other thing or things of value to any duly appointed representative of a labor organization, with intent to influence him in respect to any of his acts, decisions, or other duties as such representative, or to induce him to prevent or cause a strike by the employees of any person or corporation, or any such representative who accepts or agrees to accept any money or other thing or things of value for such purpose or purposes, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2. Accepting fees for employment.—Any person employed by any individual or corporation in this State as foreman, or in a similar capacity, having other workmen or employees under his control or authority, who shall accept from any such workman or employee any sum of money or any thing or things of value for the purpose of influencing such foreman or person in authority to retain such workman or employee in his position; or for the purpose of procuring employment in the business of such individual or corporation, or to avoid being discharged from such employment; or any person who shall agree or offer to accept a sum of money or any thing or things of value for the purposes mentioned in this section, or any person who shall give or offer to give to any such foreman or person in control or authority, any money or any thing or things of value for the purposes mentioned in this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3. Witnesses to testify.—On the trial of any indictment against any person or persons for violation of any of the provisions of this act, all witnesses sworn on any such trial shall truly answer all questions put to them which the court shall decide to be proper and pertinent to the issue involved; and no witnesses shall be excused from answering any such question on the ground that to answer the same might or would incriminate him, or might or would tend to incriminate him but no answer or answers made by any witness to any such question shall be used or admitted in evidence in any proceeding against said witness, except in case of a criminal proceeding for perjury in respect to his answers to such questions.

CHAPTER 136.—Employment of children in mercantile establishments

SECTION 1 (as amended 1918, ch. 204). Age.—[Employment of children in mercantile establishments (see sec. 15 for definition) under the age of 14 is forbidden. Habitual violation makes the establishment a disorderly house, incurring penalties up to $1,000 fine or 3 years' imprisonment, or both.]

SEC. 2 (as amended 1919, ch. 37). Certificates; work time.—[Children under 16 must have age and schooling certificates, may not be employed more than 8 hours per day or 48 per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m., nor on Sunday; 42 hours is the weekly maximum during the term of any continuation school in the district.]

SEC. 3 (as amended 1914, ch. 253). Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor, inspectors, and attendance officers may inspect all mercantile establishments to enforce this act.]

SEC. 4 (as amended 1918, ch. 204). Register.—[A register of children 14 to 16 years of age employed in the establishment must be kept, and a file of their certificates.]

SEC. 5 (as amended 1918, ch. 204). Dangerous employments.—[No child under 16 may be employed in work detrimental to health or dangerous to life and limb, or involving excessive effort or exposure to poisonous or dust producing goods or wares, or under conditions that will retard growth or injure sight or hearing.]

SEC. 6 (as amended 1914, ch. 253). Inspection.—[Entry for inspection must be permitted in all establishments coming under the provisions of this act. Proof of age of a child may be demanded, which failing he must be discharged.]

SEC. 7. Hoistways, etc.—The openings of all hoistways, hatchways, elevators, and wellholes upon every floor of any place coming under the provisions of this act shall be protected by good and sufficient trapdoors or self-closing hatches and safety catches, or strong guardrails at least three feet high, and shall be kept closed and protected at all times except when in actual use by the occupant of the building having the use and control of the same.

SEC. 8. Ventilation.—The owner, agent, or lessee of a place coming under the provisions of this act, or employer, shall provide in each mercantile establishment proper and sufficient means of ventilation; in case of failure, the commissioner shall order such ventilation to be provided; such owner, agent, lessee or employer shall provide such ventilation within twenty days after the service upon him of such order in writing, and in case of failure shall be liable to a fine of ten dollars for each day after the expiration of the time given by such order to make the change.

SEC. 9. Toilets.—[Suitable, convenient, and separate toilets must be provided for each sex; dressing rooms to be provided when women and girls are employed, on order of the commissioner.]

SEC. 10. Laws to be posted.—An abstract of this law shall be prepared and furnished upon request by the commissioner to every corporation, firm or person in this State who is affected thereby, and every such corporation, firm, or person to whom a copy of such abstract is sent or delivered shall post such abstract of this law and keep it posted in plain view, in such place that it can be easily read by the employees or operatives in coming in or going out from said mercantile establishment.

SEC. 11. Hindering inspectors.—No person shall interfere with, delay, obstruct, or hinder, by force or otherwise, the commissioner, the assistant commissioner, inspectors, or truant officers while in the performance of their duties, or refuse to answer, in writing or otherwise, questions asked by such officers relating to the matters coming under the provisions of this act; no person shall impersonate an officer of the department or forge his certificate of authority.

SEC. 12. Enforcement.—For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of sections seven, nine, ten, and eleven of this act the commissioner shall be and he is hereby authorized to make such orders in writing for the protection and safety of employees and operatives and the enforcement of this act, in places coming under the provisions of this act, as in his judgment shall seem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of such sections; such order shall be in writing, signed by the commissioner, and shall specify what shall be necessary to be done and within what time; any corporation, firm, or person violating any of the provisions of sections seven, nine, ten, and eleven, shall, for each offense, be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars.

SEC. 13. Same.—All proceedings brought under the provisions of this act shall be by action of debt, in the name of the commissioner, to be instituted in any district court of a city, recorder's court of cities, or before any justice of the peace having due jurisdiction. * * * the finding of the court shall be that the defendant has or has not, as the case may be, incurred the penalty claimed in the demand of the plaintiff, and judgment shall be given accordingly; in case an execution shall issue and be returned unsatisfied, the court, on application, after notice to the defendant, may award an execution to take the body of the defendant, if an individual, and in case such a defendant is committed under such an execution he shall not be discharged under the insolvent laws of the State but shall only be discharged by the court making the order for the body execution, one or more of the justices of the supreme court, when such court or justice shall be satisfied that further confinement will not result in the payment of the judgment and costs; all moneys collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the treasury of the State of New Jersey.

SEC. 15 (as amended 1918, ch. 204). Mercantile establishments.—Mercantile establishment, as used in this act, shall be construed to apply to any employment of any person for wages or other compensation other than in a factory, workshop, mill, place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on, mine, quarry or in agricultural pursuits.

CHAPTER 195.—Accidents on railroads

SECTION 17. Notice.—[The board of public utility commissioners may require every public utility to give notice of accidents occurring on its property or due to its operation, which accidents the board may investigate and issue such orders as it deems reasonable.]

CHAPTER 206.—Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.—Foundries

SECTION 1. Entrances.—All entrances to foundries shall be constructed and maintained so as to minimize drafts. All passageways in foundries, now in operation or hereafter to be built, shall be constructed and maintained of sufficient width to make them reasonably safe for the workmen, and no unnecessary obstruction shall be allowed in such passageways during the hours of casting. Whenever a foundry is so constructed or operated that smoke, steam, dust or noxious gases are not promptly carried off by the general ventilation, exhaust fans shall be provided. Foundries shall be reasonably well lighted throughout the working hours, and reasonably well heated during the cold and inclement weather. Hot water shall be kept available for washing purposes during the season in which artificial heating is necessary. When it is thought necessary and advisable by a State factory inspector, facilities shall be provided for drying the clothing of persons employed therein. All pits around furnaces in any such brass factory shall be covered with substantial iron gratings. All stairways around such furnaces shall be constructed of iron. There shall be kept on hand at all times in every foundry a reasonable supply of lime water, sweet oil, vaseline, bandages and absorbent cotton for use by the workmen in case of burns or accident. It is hereby made the duty of each and every State factory inspector to enforce the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. Definition.—Any place or establishment where metal castings or cores are made shall be deemed a foundry within the meaning of this act.

CHAPTER 214.—Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 1. Exits.—Every factory, workshop, mill or place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on shall hereafter, under the supervision and direction of the commissioner of labor, be provided with ample and proper ways and means of egress or escape in emergency arising from fire or otherwise, sufficient for the use of all persons therein, and as well shall be protected, so far as practicable, against the origin and spread of fire.

SEC. 2. Two ways of egress.—Buildings two stories in height used for any purpose as stated in paragraph one at the time this act becomes effective, shall have at least two means of egress from the second story thereof, placed as far as possible at opposite ends of the room or building. Such egress may be provided by inside stairways or outside fire escapes, or both, and doors communicating therewith, as the said commissioner shall direct. Buildings more than two stories in height used for any purpose as stated in paragraph one at the time this act becomes effective, shall have at least two means of egress communicating with each story thereof, one of which shall be an inside stairway and one an outside fire escape. The said commissioner shall have power to order the construction of a second inside stairway and additional outside fire escapes, doors and windows as in his judgment are necessary to furnish proper and adequate protection to the inmates of such building.

SECS. 3–5. Location; plans, etc.—[Fire escapes, doors, windows, etc., must be made to conform to requirements and standards fixed by the act, and shall include as many stories and doors as the commissioner may order. Plans and specifications for new buildings must be approved by the commissioner, in so far as stairways, fire escapes and elevator shafts, doors, windows, ventilation and sanitation are concerned. Inside and outside stairways and escapes, of fireproof or fire resisting material, must be provided, with doors of similar character leading thereto. Fire stops may also be required.]

SECS. 6–14. Form; construction; enforcement.—[Details of form and construction are laid down, establishing specified minimum requirements. The commissioner of labor is charged with enforcement.]

SEC. 15. Number of employees to be considered.—All installation of fire escapes or stairways shall be made with reference to the maximum number of persons to be employed upon each story of any building or separated subdivision thereof, a statement of which number shall be posted by the owner upon the wall of each story or separated subdivision thereof, so as to be visible at all times. Under no circumstances shall this number, when once ascertained and installation of fire escapes and stairways be made with reference thereto, be exceeded, except by permission of the commissioner.

SEC. 16. Stairways; doors; waste, etc.—In all buildings not detached, a stairway running from the top floor to the roof by means of a bulkhead may be ordered by the commissioner.

No partitions which interfere with established means of egress shall be erected unless by approval of the commissioner.

Pails of water and sand shall be provided and located as ordered by the commissioner.

A suitable disposition shall be made of all inflammable articles and suitable waste cans or barrels shall be provided for the proper handling of sweepings, oily waste or other combustible material, as directed by the commissioner.

Such doors and handrails may be required on stairways as may be approved by the commissioner.

No fire escapes shall be constructed without the approval of the commissioner of labor, unless specifically required by municipal authorities.

Doors leading to fire escapes shall be clearly indicated by signs posted or painted on the walls above or at the side of such doors. The approaches to such doors shall be kept free and unobstructed at all times.

A fire tower approved by the commissioner may be substituted for an inside stairway or outside fire escape.

All exit doors throughout the building shall open outward, or be sliding doors, and if kept closed during working hours, shall be fastened only in such manner as to be capable of ready and immediate opening from the inside.

CHAPTER 273.—Time for meals to be allowed employees in factories

SECTION 1. One-half hour to be allowed.—Every corporation, firm or person owning or operating any place coming under the provisions of the act to which this act is a supplement [secs. 16–60, p. 699 et seq.], shall give all operatives and employees at least one-half hour for their midday meal, after being continuously employed for a period of not more than six hours, on any workday except Saturday.

SEC. 2. Fixing time.—The period for such meal shall be fixed by every such employer, having in view the health and physical welfare of such operatives and employees in all such factories, workshops, mills and places where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on; if any such place is operated at night, or in eight-hour shifts, such meal period shall be fixed as aforesaid for such operatives and employees at such time as may be consistent with the mutual interests of such employer and operatives and employees.

SEC. 3. Notice to be posted.—Notice of the hours within which such operatives may obtain such meals shall be plainly printed and kept posted in a conspicuous place in all workrooms where any such employees or operatives are engaged.

SEC. 4. Violations.—Any such owner or employer, violating any of the provisions of this act shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars for the first offense and of two hundred dollars for each subsequent offense.

CHAPTER 363.—Employment of children—Messenger service

SECTION 1. Night work.—[No person under 21 in cities of the first class, or under 18 elsewhere, may engage in messenger or delivery service between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. though the commissioner of labor may grant permits for the delivery of telegraphic or telephone messages between those hours.]

SECS. 2–4. Enforcement.—[Penalties and enforcement proceedings are provided for.]

CHAPTER 371.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day—Railroads

SECTION 1. Times of payment prescribed.—Every railroad company authorized to do business by the laws of the State of New Jersey shall, on or before the first day of each month, pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the first half of the preceding month ending with the fifteenth day thereof, and on or before the fifteenth day of each month pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the last half of the preceding calendar month: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment any employee shall be absent from his or her regular place of labor, and shall not receive his or her wages through a duly authorized representative, he or she shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter upon demand upon the proper paymaster at the place where such wages are usually paid and at the place when the next pay is due; any such railroad company which shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall forfeit and pay the sum of twenty-five dollars for each violation of this act which shall be proved, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction by any person who shall sue for the same, one-half of said penalty to go to said person so suing therefor, and the other half to go to the State: Provided, further, Complaint of such violation be made within sixty days from the date such wages become payable, according to the tenor of this act.

SEC. 2. Contracts waiving rights.—It shall not be lawful for any railroad company to enter into or make any agreement with any employee for the payment of wages of any such employee otherwise than as provided in section one of this act, except it be to pay such wages at shorter intervals than herein provided. Every agreement made in violation of this act shall be deemed to be null and void, and it shall not be a defense to the suit for the penalty provided for in section one of this act; and each and every employee with whom any agreement in violation of this act shall be made by such railroad company shall have his or her action and right of action against such railroad company for the full amount of his or her wages in any court of competent jurisdiction of this State.

CHAPTER 156.—Accidents to be reported

SECTION 1. Employers to report accidents.—Upon the happening of any accident in any employment of labor in this State, the result of which shall be to prevent the injured person or persons from resuming work within two weeks after the happening thereof, the employer of such injured person or persons shall report, in writing, to the commissioner of labor the time, place and cause of the said accident, as nearly as the same may be fairly ascertained, the extent of injuries received, and such other facts as the commissioner of labor may, by rule or regulation, require. In case of injury not producing death, such report shall be filed within four weeks after the happening of such injury. In case of injury producing death, report shall be filed within two weeks thereafter. Such reports may be forwarded by mail, postage prepaid.

SEC. 2. Casualty insurance companies to report.—All companies engaged in casualty insurance business within the State of New Jersey shall furnish to the commissioner of labor a full and complete report of all accidents to the employees of any person, firm, or corporation injured by them, which prevents such injured person or persons from resuming work within two weeks after the happening of such injury, or which result in death. In case of injury not producing death, such report shall be filed within four weeks after such injuries have been reported to such insurance company, or such insurance company has otherwise gained knowledge thereof. In case of injury producing death, such report shall be filed within two weeks after such death has been reported to such insurance company, or such insurance company has otherwise gained knowledge thereof. Such reports shall state the time, place and cause of injury, as nearly as the same may be ascertained, and the extent thereof, and such other and further information as the commissioner of labor may, by rule or regulation, require. Such notice may be sent by mail, postage prepaid.

SEC. 3. Reports, confidential.—The reports filed with the commissioner of labor, in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall not be made public, and shall not be opened to inspection unless, in the opinion of the commissioner of labor, some public interest shall so require, and such reports shall not be used as evidence against any employer in any suit or action at law brought by any employee for the recovery of damages, but such reports shall always be at the service and use of the employers' liability commission. Reports filed in accordance with this act shall be in lieu of all other reports required to be filed pursuant to the provisions of an act entitled "An act creating the employers' liability commission and prescribing its powers and duties, and requiring reports to be made by the employers of labor upon the operations of the employers' liability law for the information of said commission," approved April twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, and shall be considered to be compliance with the terms of the last-mentioned act.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Violations incur a penalty of $50 for each offense.]

CHAPTER 202.—Suits for wages

SECTION 1. Costs remitted, when.—In any suit based upon a claim for money due for wages or by reason of a claim for personal services rendered, the party bringing said suit, where the amount claimed shall not exceed the sum of twenty ($20) dollars, it shall be the duty of the clerk of any district court of this State, to issue the summons, prepare and file the state of demand and of the sergeant at arms of said court to serve the said summons without payment by the party bringing said action of any costs therefor: Provided, That said party shall make affidavit of the truth of his said claim and of his inability to pay the cost ordinarily taxed thereon.

SEC. 2. Costs.—The judge of the said district court may in his discretion upon the entering of judgment in such cases, order that the costs shall not be taxed thereon * * *.

CHAPTER 216.—Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 1 (as amended 1921, ch. 194). Work time.—No female shall be employed, allowed or permitted to work in any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, in any bakery, laundry or restaurant more than ten hours in any one day, or more than six days, or fifty-four hours in any one week: Provided, That in hotels or other establishments the business of which is in its nature continuous, and where the working hours for women do not exceed eight hours per day, the provisions of this act shall not apply: And provided, That nothing herein contained shall apply to canneries engaged in packing a perishable product such as fruits and vegetables.

SEC. 2. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor, the assistant commissioner or the inspectors and they shall have power to investigate and inspect, all establishments coming under the intent and provisions of this act.

SEC. 3. Law to be posted.—An abstract of this law shall be prepared and furnished by the commissioner of labor to every corporation, firm or person in this State who is affected thereby, and every such corporation, firm or person shall post such abstract of this law and keep it posted, in plain view, in such place that it can be easily read by the employees or operatives in going in or coming out from said manufacturing or mercantile establishment, bakery, laundry or restaurant, and shall also keep a record of the hours of work of each employee in a proper book prepared for that purpose which book shall be open to the inspection of the department of labor as required.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1920, ch. 236). Violations.—[Violations of this act are punishable by fine not exceeding $50 for first offense, and $200 for second offense.]

SEC. 6. Manufacturing establishment.—"Manufacturing establishments" as used in this act means any place where articles for use or consumption are regularly made.

SEC. 7. Mercantile establishment.—"Mercantile establishment" as used in this act means any place where goods, wares, or merchandise are offered for sale.

SEC. 8. Bakery.—"Bakery" as used in this act shall include all buildings, rooms or places where biscuits, pies, bread, crackers, cakes, and confectionery are made or manufactured for sale.

SEC. 9. Restaurant.—"Restaurant" as used in this act means any place where refreshments, both food and drink, and where meals are served to the public.

SEC. 10. Laundry.—"Laundry" as used in this act means any place where laundry work is regularly carried on.

CHAPTER 351.—Occupational diseases—Reports

SECTION 1. Physicians to make reports.—Every physician attending upon or called in to visit a person whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic or mercury, or their compounds, or from anthrax, or from compressed-air illness, contracted as a result of such person's occupation or employment, shall within thirty days after his first professional attendance upon such person, send to the State board of health a written notice, stating the name and full post-office address, and place of employment of such person, and the nature of the occupation, and the disease or ailment from which, in the opinion of such physician, the person is suffering, with such other specific information as may be required by the State board of health.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Failure to comply entails a penalty of $25 for each offense. All penalties collected are to be paid into the treasury of the State.]

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the board of health of this State to enforce the provisions of this act, and it may call upon the local boards of health and health officers of such local boards of health for assistance. It shall be the duty of all local boards of health and all health officers, when so called upon for such assistance, to render the same. It shall be the duty of the said board of health of this State to transmit any data received under the provisions of section one of this act to the commissioner of labor of this State.

CHAPTER 47.—Safety appliances at docks, etc.

SECTION 1. Ladders to be provided.—All persons, companies or corporations owning or operating any dock or docks, or pier or piers in the State of New Jersey shall provide at least one ladder manufactured from wood, rope, iron, or cast steel, for the passage of laborers or workmen or employees, commonly termed "longshoremen," from the pier or piers, or dock or docks owned or operated by said person, company, companies, corporation or corporations to the deck of each vessel such as a barge, canal boat, tug boat, or any similar water-craft moored or fastened to such dock or docks, pier or piers, and that said ladders shall be so constructed or manufactured that they shall have a carrying or bearing or resisting power or strength sufficient to bear a weight of at least six hundred (600) pounds. Failure to provide such ladder leading to the deck of each vessel as aforesaid shall be punishable by a fine of one hundred dollars in each instance in which said person, persons, company, companies, corporation or corporations shall be found guilty of violating the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 183.—Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.—Elevators

SECTION 1. Scope of law.—Every elevator located in any factory, workshop, mill or place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on shall conform in every respect to the specifications and requirements hereafter named.

SECS. 2–21. Construction, etc.—[Detailed requirements of construction and equipment are given, automatic gates, doors controlled only by the operator, and approved locking devices being among the provisions prescribed.]

SEC. 22. Order forbidding use.—In case any elevator located in any building mentioned in section one of this act shall not compy with the provisions of this act and shall be in such a condition that its operation, in the judgment of the commissioner of labor, is hazardous to the persons using the same or to the persons employed in such building, the said commissioner of labor shall forthwith prevent the further use of such elevator until the same is made to comply with the provisions of this act. The commissioner of labor shall give to the owner of such building, and to the occupant thereof, in case the same is occupied by some person other than the owner, twenty-four hours' notice in writing of an order forbidding the further use of such elevator, as aforesaid, and at the expiration of such notice shall post at each entrance to such elevator on each floor, a notice that the use of such elevator has been forbidden by an order of the department of labor. Such elevator shall not be used after the posting of such notices until a certificate shall be issued by the commissioner of labor stating that such elevator complies with all of the provisions of this act. The owner of such building, if he be the occupant of the building, or the occupant of the building, in case the owner is not the occupant, shall, for any violation of this section, be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars for each offense.

SEC. 23. Penalties.—All penalties for violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be sued for and recovered by the commissioner of labor of the State of New Jersey for the use of said State in the same way and manner as penalties incurred by violation of the act to which this act is a supplement [secs. 16–60, p. 699 et seq.].

CHAPTER 253.—Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 1. Eight hours a day's work.—All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the State of New Jersey, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township or other municipality of said State, with any corporation, person or persons, for the performance of any work, or the furnishing of any material manufactured within the State of New Jersey, shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work; and it shall be unlawful for any such corporation, person or persons to require or permit any laborer or workman and mechanic to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work of furnishing or manufacturing such material: Provided, That in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property or human life such laborer or workmen and mechanics may be employed for longer periods per calendar day if paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work: And provided, further, That not less than the prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality where the work is performed shall be paid to such laborers or workmen and mechanics so employed by such contractors or subcontractors by or on behalf of the State of New Jersey, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township or other municipality of said State.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $50 to $500, or imprisonment not exceeding 6 months, or both.]

CHAPTER 269.—Accident prevention—Instruction of children

SECTIONS 1–5. Instruction required.—[Thirty minutes' instruction every two weeks must be given by all teachers in the schools of the State as to ways and means of preventing accidents. A manual is to be prepared, and lectures given. All schools, public, private and parochial, must print copies of the act in the manual or handbook prepared for the guidance of teachers.]

ACTS OF 1914

CHAPTER 121.—Work in compressed air

SECTION 1. Definition.—(1) The term "pressure," when used in this act, means gauge pressure in pounds per square inch.

(2) The term "employer," when used in this act, includes partnerships and corporations.

SEC. 2. Safety.—Every tunnel, caisson, compartment or place to which this act applies shall be so constructed, equipped, arranged, operated and conducted as to provide such protection to the lives, health and safety of all persons employed therein as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

SEC. 3. Regulations.—Every employer carrying on any work in the prosecution of which persons are employed in compressed air shall:

(1) Provide and install gauges in each tunnel for showing the air pressure to which the persons so employed therein are subjected. Such gauges shall be accessible at all times during working hours to all employees in the tunnels;

(2) Provide and attach gauges to each caisson, for showing the air pressure to which the persons so employed therein are subjected, and employ a competent person, who may be the lock tender, to take charge of such gauges, and of the instruments required under subdivision three of this section. The person so employed shall not be permitted to work more than eight hours in any twenty-four hours;

(3) Provide and attach an air gauge and a timepiece to each air lock. Such gauge and timepiece shall be accessible to the lock tender at all times;

(4) Keep at least two air pipes or lines connected with each tunnel, caisson, compartment or place in which persons are so employed;

(5) Provide a suitable iron ladder for the entire length of every shaft used in connection with such work;

(6) Keep every passageway used in connection with such work clear and properly lighted;

(7) Provide sufficient electric lights for all lighting purposes and provide a wire for lighting the shaft, which wire shall be separated from the wire used for lighting the place where the employees are at work in compressed air; all electric wires shall be properly insulated;

(8) Provide, for the use of all persons so employed, dressing rooms which shall be kept open and accessible during working hours and during the intervals between working periods, and also a separate room for drying clothes. The dressing rooms shall contain benches and individual lockers, shower baths with hot and cold water, and sanitary water-closets, and shall be kept properly heated, lighted, and ventilated;

(9) If the maximum air pressure in such work exceeds seventeen pounds, provide and maintain at least one double compartment hospital lock. Such lock shall be at least six feet high, inside measurement, and be suitably floored; it shall be equipped with inside and outside air gauges and timepieces, and a telephone with proper connections, and shall contain benches and proper surgical and medical equipment; it shall be properly heated, lighted and ventilated.

Sec. 4. Position of caisson.—No caisson in which persons are employed in compressed air shall, while work is in progress therein, be suspended or hung so that the bottom of the excavation is more than four feet below the cutting edge of the caisson.

Sec. 5. Daily inspections.—Every employer carrying on any work in the prosecution of which persons are employed in compressed air shall cause all engines, boilers, steam pipes, steam gauges, drills, caissons, air pipes, air gauges, air locks, dynamos, electric wiring, signal apparatus, brakes, buckets, hoists, cables, chains, ropes, ladders, ways, tracks, sides, roofs, timbers, supports, and all other equipment, apparatus and appliances used in connection with such work to be inspected at least once every working day by a competent person especially designated for that purpose, and if any defect in such equipment, apparatus or appliances is found, a report thereof in writing shall forthwith be made by the inspector to the employer, and the defect shall be immediately repaired.

Sec. 6. Medical aid.—Every employer carrying on any work in the prosecution of which persons are employed in compressed air shall:

(1) Employ one or more licensed physicians as medical officers who shall be present to render medical assistance at all necessary times at the place where such work is in progress and who shall perform such other duties as are imposed on them by this act;

(2) If the maximum air pressure in such work exceeds seventeen pounds, employ one or more registered nurses, or one or more competent persons, which persons shall be selected by the medical officer and be certified by him to be competent, by actual experience, to handle cases of compressed air illness. The nurses or persons so employed shall have charge of the hospital lock provided for in this act, and may also have other duties of a clerical nature, exclusive of timekeeping, such as will not require their presence elsewhere than at the hospital lock and such as they may leave at any time their service at the lock is necessary.

Sec. 7. Intemperate employees.—No person known to be addicted to the excessive use of intoxicants shall be employed or permitted to work in compressed air.

Sec. 8. Physical examination.—(1) No person shall be employed or permitted to work in compressed air until he has been examined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor;

(2) No person who has not previously worked in compressed air shall, during the first twenty-four hours of his employment, be permitted to work therein longer than one working period, as provided in section ten, and he shall not be permitted to resume such work, if the air pressure exceeds fifteen pounds until he has been reexamined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor;

(3) No person who is employed in compressed air, but who has been absent therefrom for ten or more consecutive days, for any cause, shall be permitted to resume such work until he has been reexamined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor;

(4) No person who has been employed regularly in compressed air for three months shall be permitted to continue such work until he has been reexamined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor.

Sec. 9. Records.—The medical officer shall keep a record of all physical examinations made in accord with section eight, which record shall be kept at the place where the work is in progress and shall contain the name, age, address and full description of each person examined, the date on which each examination was made, and the physical condition, on that date, of the person examined, and the total time such person has worked in compressed air, including time in previous employments. The employer shall also be responsible for the observance of this section.

SEC. 10. Hours of service.—When the air pressure in any tunnel, caisson, compartment, or place in which persons are employed exceeds normal, but does not exceed fifty pounds, the maximum number of hours which, in any twenty-four hours, a person may be employed or permitted to work or remain therein shall be as hereafter stated. In every case the maximum number of hours shall be divided into two working periods of equal length, and the minimun time interval which shall elapse between such working periods shall be as hereafter stated.

	Number of hours in 24	Interval between working periods
When the air pressure
Exceeds normal but does not exceed 21 pounds	8	30 minutes.
Exceeds 21 but does not exceed 30 pounds	6	1 hour.
Exceeds 30 but does not exceed 35 pounds	4	2 hours.
Exceeds 35 but does not exceed 40 pounds	3	3 hours.
Exceeds 40 but does not exceed 45 pounds	2	4 hours.
Exceeds 45 but does not exceed 50 pounds	1½	5 hours.

Except in cases of emergency, no person shall be employed or permitted to work or remain in any tunnel, caisson, compartment or place where air pressure exceeds fifty pounds.

SEC. 11. Decompression locks.—No person shall be permitted to pass from any tunnel, caisson, compartment or place where he has been employed in compressed air to atmosphere of normal pressure without passing through an intermediate lock or state of decompression. When the employee is passing from a tunnel to atmosphere of normal pressure, the rate of decompression shall be three pounds every two minutes, except when the air pressure in the tunnel exceeds thirty-six pounds, in which case the rate of decompression shall be one pound every minute. When the employee is passing from a caisson, compartment or place to atmosphere of normal pressure, the time of decompression shall be as follows:

	Time of decompression
When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place
Exceeds normal but does not exceed 10 pounds	1 minute.
Exceeds 10 but does not exceed 15 pounds	2 minutes.
Exceeds 15 but does not exceed 20 pounds	5 minutes.
Exceeds 20 but does not exceed 25 pounds	10 minutes.
Exceeds 25 but does not exceed 30 pounds	12 minutes.
Exceeds 30 but does not exceed 36 pounds	15 minutes.
Exceeds 36 but does not exceed 40 pounds	20 minutes.
Exceeds 40 but does not exceed 50 pounds	25 minutes.

SEC. 12. Enforcement.—The commissioner of labor shall enforce this act. The commissioner, the assistant commissioner, and the inspectors of the department of labor shall inspect every place of employment included in this act, and for that purpose may enter any such place.

SEC. 13. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine of $50 for first offense, $100 for second, and $300 for third and subsequent offenses; penalties to be paid to the treasurer of the State.]

CHAPTER 162.—Inspection and regulation of factories and workshops—Occupational diseases

SECTION 1. Safety devices.—Every employer shall, without cost to the employees, provide reasonably effective devices, means and methods to prevent the contraction by his employees of any illness or disease incident to the work or process in which such employees are engaged.

SEC. 2. Dangerous processes.—(a) Every work or process in the manufacture of white lead, red lead, litharge, sugar of lead, arsenate of lead, lead chromate, lead sulphate, lead nitrate, or fluosilicate is hereby declared to be especially dangerous to the health of the employees who, while engaged in such work or process are exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes or lead solutions.

(b) Every work or process in the manufacture of pottery, tiles, or porcelain enameled sanitary ware is hereby declared to be especially dangerous to the health of the employees who, while engaged in such work or process, are exposed to lead dusts or lead solutions.

SEC. 3. Provisions required.—Every employer shall, without cost to the employees, provide the following devices, means and methods for the protection of his employees who, while engaged in any work or process included in section two, are exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes or lead solutions.

(a) The employer shall provide and maintain workrooms adequately lighted and ventilated, and so arranged that there is a continuous and sufficient change of air, and all such rooms shall be fully separated by partition walls from all departments in which the work or process is of nondusty character; and all such rooms shall be provided with a floor permitting an easy removal of dust by wet methods or vacuum cleaning, and all such floors shall be cleaned either by wet method or vacuum cleaner daily.

Every work or process referred to in section two, including the corroding or oxidizing of lead, and the crushing, mixing, sifting, grinding and packing of all lead salts or other compounds referred to in section two, shall be so conducted and such adequate devices provided and maintained by the employer as to protect the employee, as far as possible, from contact with lead dust or lead fumes. Every kettle, vessel, receptacle or furnace in which lead in any form referred to in section two is being melted or treated, and any place where the contents of such kettles, receptacles or furnaces are discharged, shall be provided with a hood connected with an efficient air exhaust; all vessels or containers in which dry lead in any chemical form or combination referred to in section two is being conveyed from one place to another within the factory shall be equipped, at the places where the same are filled or discharged, with hoods having connection with an efficient air exhaust; and all hoppers, chutes, conveyers, elevators, separators, vents from separators, dumps, pulverizers, chasers, dry pans or other apparatus for drying pulp lead, drying pans dump, and all barrel packers and cars or other receptacles into which corrosions are at the time being emptied shall be connected with an efficient dust-collecting system; such system to be regulated by the discharge of air from a fan, pump, or other apparatus, either through a cloth dust collector having an area of not less than one-half square foot of cloth to every cubic foot of air passing through it per minute, the dust collector to be placed in a separate room which no employee shall be required or allowed to enter, except for essential repairs, while the works are in operation; or such other apparatus as will efficiently remove the lead dusts from the air before it is discharged into the outer air.

(b) The employer shall provide a wash room or rooms for such employees which shall be separate from the workrooms, to be kept clean and be equipped with:

(1) Lavatory basins fitted with waste pipes, and two spigots conveying hot and cold water; or

(2) Basins placed in troughs fitted with waste pipes, and for each basin two spigots conveying hot and cold water; or

(3) Troughs of enamel or similar smooth impervious material fitted with waste pipes, and for every two feet of trough length two spigots conveying hot and cold water.

Where basins are provided there shall be at least one basin for every five such employees and where troughs are provided at least two feet of trough length for every five such employees. The employer shall also furnish nail brushes and soap, and shall provide at least three clean towels per week for each such employee. A time allowance of not less than ten minutes, at the employer's expense, shall be made to each of such employees for the use of said wash room before the lunch hour, and at the close of the day's work.

The employer engaged in the manufacture of white lead, red lead, litharge, sugar of lead, arsenate of lead, lead chromate, lead sulphate, lead nitrate, or fluosilicate shall also provide at least one shower bath for every five such employees. The baths shall be approached by wooden runways, be provided with movable wooden floor gratings, be supplied with controlled hot and cold water and be kept clean. The employer shall furnish soap and shall provide at least two clean bath towels per week for each employee. An additional time allowance of not less than ten minutes at the employer's expense, shall be made to each such employee for the use of said baths at least twice a week at the close of the day's work. The employer shall keep a record of each time that such baths are used by each employee, which record shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by the department of labor of this State and also by the State board of health.

(c) The employer shall provide a dressing room or rooms which shall be separate from the workrooms, to be furnished with a double sanitary locker, or two single sanitary lockers for each such employee, and be kept clean.

(d) The employer shall provide an eating room, or eating rooms for such employees, and such rooms shall be separate from the workrooms, be furnished with a sufficient number of tables and seats, and be kept clean. No such employee shall take or be allowed to take any food or drink of any kind into any workroom, nor shall any such employee remain or be allowed to remain in any workroom during the time allowed for his meals.

(e) The employer shall provide and maintain a sufficient number of sanitary drinking fountains readily accessible for the use of such employees.

(f) The employer shall provide at least two pairs of overalls and two jumpers for each such employee, and repair or renew such clothing when necessary, and wash the same weekly. Such clothing shall be kept exclusively for the use of that employee.

(g) The employer shall provide and renew when necessary at least two reasonably effective respirators for each employee who, while engaged in any work or process which produces lead dusts, is exposed to such dusts: Provided, If at any time it is shown to the satisfaction of the commissioner of labor of the State of New Jersey, in the case of any manufacturer or process or any operation forming part thereof in the potteries that injury to health is adequately prevented by other appliances or any other condition than those prescribed by law, he may modify the whole or any part of the law so far as it applies to such pottery manufacture or process.

SEC. 4. Duties of employees.—Every employee who, while engaged in any work or process included in section two, is exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes or lead solutions, shall:

(a) Use the washing facilities provided by the employer in accord with section three (b), and wash himself at least as often as a time allowance is therein granted for such use;

(b) Use the eating room provided by the employer with section three (d), unless the employee goes off the premises for his meals;

(c) Put on and wear at all times, while engaged in such work or process, a suit of the clothing provided by the employer in accord with section three (f), and remove the same before leaving at the close of the day's work; and keep his street clothes and working clothes, when not in use, in separate lockers or separate parts of the locker provided by the employer in accordance with section three (c);

(d) Keep clean the respirators provided by the employer in accordance with section three (g), and use one at all times while engaged in any work or process which produces lead dusts and is exposed to such dusts.

SEC. 5. Instructions to be posted.—The employer engaged in any of the processes mentioned in section two shall post in a conspicuous place in every workroom where any work or process included in section two is carried on, in every room where washing facilities are provided, in every dressing room and eating room, a notice of the known dangers arising from such work or process and simple instructions for avoiding, as far as possible, such dangers. The commissioner of labor shall prepare a notice containing the provisions of this act, and shall furnish, free of cost, a reasonable number of copies thereof to every employer included in section two, and the employer shall post copies thereof in the manner hereinabove stated. The notices required in this section shall be printed in plain type on cardboard, and shall be in English and in such other languages as the circumstances may reasonably require. The contents of such notices shall be explained to every employee who may be exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes or lead solutions, by the employer when the said employee enters employment in such work or process, interpreters being provided by the employer, when necessary, to carry out the above requirements.

SEC. 6. Monthly examinations.—The employer shall cause every employee, who, while engaged in any work or process included in section two, is exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions, to be examined at least once a month for the purpose of ascertaining if symptoms of lead poisoning appear in any employee. The employee shall submit himself to the monthly examination, and to examination at such other times and places as he may reasonably be requested by the employer, and he shall fully and truly answer all questions bearing on lead poisoning asked him by the examining physician. The examination shall be made by a licensed physician, designated and paid by the employer, and shall be made during the working hours, a time allowance therefore [therefor], at the employer's expense, being made to each employee so examined.

SEC. 7. Records.—Every physician making any examination under section six and finding what he believes to be symptoms of lead poisoning shall enter, in a book to be kept for that purpose in the office of the employer, a record of such examination, containing the names and addresses of the employees so examined, the particular work or process in which he is engaged, the date, place and finding of such examination, and the directions given in each case by the physician. The record shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by the department of labor and by the State board of health.

Within forty-eight hours after such examination and finding, the examining physician shall send a report thereof in duplicate, one copy to the department of labor and one to the State board of health. The report shall be on or in conformity with blanks furnished by the State board of health, free of cost, to every employer included in section two, and shall state:

(a) Name, occupation, and address of employee.

(b) Name, business, and address of employer.

(c) Nature and probable extent of disease.

(d) Such other information as may be reasonably required by the State board of health.

The examining physician shall also, within the said forty-eight hours, report such examination and find[ing] to the employer, and after five days from such report the employer shall not continue the said employee in any work or process where he will be exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions, nor return the said employee to such work or process without a written permit from a licensed physician.

SEC. 8. Enforcement.—The commissioner of labor shall enforce this act and prosecute all violations of the same. The said commissioner, the assistant commissioner, and the inspectors of the said department shall be allowed at all reasonable times to inspect any place of employment included in this act.

SEC. 9. Violations.—Every employer who, either personally or through any agent, violates or fails to comply with any provision of section one or section three of this act shall be liable to penalties of fifty dollars for the first offense, one hundred dollars for the second offense, and three hundred dollars for the third and each subsequent offense. Every employee who violates or fails to comply with any provision of section four of this act, shall be liable to a penalty of ten dollars for the first offense and twenty-five dollars for the second and each subsequent offense. Every employer who, either personally or through an agent, violates or fails to comply with any provisions of sections five, six, or seven of this act, relating to him, shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars for each offense, and every employee who violates or fails to comply with any provision of section six of this act, relating to him, shall be liable to a penalty of ten dollars for each offense.

SEC. 10. Actions.—Any and all penalties prescribed by any of the provisions of this act shall be recovered in an action of debt by and in the name of the commissioner of labor of the State of New Jersey. * * *

SEC. 12. Definition.—In this act, unless the context otherwise requires, "employer" includes partnerships and corporations.

SEC. 13. Proviso.—In case for any reason any section or any provision of this act shall be questioned in any court, and shall be held to be unconstitutional or invalid, the same shall not be held to affect any other section or provision of this act.

CHAPTER 223.—Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 2 (as amended 1919, ch. 35). School attendance.—[Attendance is required up to 16 years unless a child is 14, has been granted an age and schooling certificate, and is regularly and lawfully employed. Such children must attend a continuation school six hours per week, or if temporarily unemployed, 20 hours per week.]

SEC. 3. Issue.—[Certificates are issued by a supervisor, on application of the parent, guardian, or custodian of the child.]

SEC. 4. Unemployment.—[If not employed, children under 16 must attend school.]

SECS. 5–11. Certificates.—[Evidence of age, a certificate of physical ability, and school attendance to complete five grades, are required. The supervisor who issues must send to the department of labor the original papers filed by applicants, and must keep records of issues and rejections.]

SEC. 12 (as amended 1919, ch. 35). Employers' certificates.—[Blanks are furnished, which employers must fill out, showing the nature of the work, the wages, and agreeing to the attendance of the child at a continuation school. When employment terminates, the employer must return the child's certificate which has been on file to the supervisor's office, to be held until the child secures new employment.]

SEC. 13. Dependent parents.—[If the services of a child between the ages of 10 and 16 are needed to support itself or its family, a certificate permitting light employment outside of school hours, but not between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m., may be issued on petition and investigation.]

SEC. 19. Fees.—[No fees or expenses in connection with the issue of certificates shall be charged to or paid by any parent, guardian, or custodian.]

CHAPTER 43.—Employment of unskilled laborers by cities, etc.—Poor persons

SECTION 1. Employment to be provided when.—Whenever in any city or other municipality of this State there is a relief committee for the relief of unemployed persons in said city or other municipality, it may be lawful for the common council, board or body having charge and control of the various departments employing unskilled labor in any such city or other municipality, to select from the needy poor of any such city or other municipality, persons who are residents of any such city or other municipality, to do such work as unskilled laborers as may be assigned to any such persons by the said common council, board or body, having charge and control of the various departments employing unskilled labor in any city or other municipality as aforesaid; but when such persons are employed as aforesaid, their roster of payment shall first be submitted to the civil service commission of this State for its approval, and said commission shall give its approval whenever it is satisfied that the provisions of this act have been complied with, and said civil service commission is hereby authorized to make such investigation as to the employment of such persons as in their judgment they may deem proper, or they may take the certification of the common council of any such city or other municipality as a sufficient warrant for the approval of said roster.

CHAPTER 47.—Free public employment offices

SECTION 1. Bureaus authorized.—The department of labor is hereby authorized to establish such labor bureaus in the offices of the department of labor, or elsewhere in the State, as the commissioner of labor may deem advisable, for the following purposes: To bring together employers seeking employees and working people seeking employment; to supply information as to opportunities for securing employment in this State, and the character of the work to be performed; to supply such information as may enable persons to secure industrial and agricultural training and employment; to investigate the extent and causes of unemployment in the State of New Jersey, and as far as possible to suggest remedies therefor; to adopt the most efficient means within its power to avoid unemployment; to provide employment and to prevent distress from involuntary idleness; and to keep a record of all labor disturbances or strikes brought to its attention.

SEC. 2. Advisory committees.—The commissioner of labor is authorized to appoint advisory committees or agents, who shall serve without pay, to aid in carrying on this work in the various parts of the State.

SEC. 3. Data as to unemployment.—The commissioner of labor shall secure all data as to unemployment and also in regard to those who desire to secure employees, and shall take the most efficient method in disseminating such information throughout the State as may enable those unemployed to secure the positions.

SEC. 4. Cooperation.—The commissioner of labor is authorized to cooperate with any other public employment bureaus, whether operated by voluntary, charitable or eleemosynary organizations or by municipalities in this or other States or by States or by the United States Government.

SEC. 5. Fees.—No fees or other compensation shall be charged or received, directly or indirectly, for any service performed pursuant to the provisions of this act, from any person applying for employment or from any person desiring an employee.

SEC. 6. Strikes, etc.—The agents in charge of the labor bureaus organized pursuant to this act or cooperating with the department of labor in carrying out the provisions of this act shall keep a record of all labor disturbances or strikes that occur in the territory covered by each office. All such agents shall give notice of the existence of any labor disturbance or strike to all applicants for a position who may be affected thereby.

SEC. 7. Bulletins, etc.—The commissioner of labor may, in his discretion, issue such bulletins, notices, circulars or other printed matter as may be necessary for carrying out the objects of this act.

SEC. 8. Facilities, etc.—The commissioner of labor may, for the purposes of carrying out this act, use such offices, employees or funds at his command, or fees received by him, as may be available for that purpose.

CHAPTER 266.—Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 1. Amount.—[If wages to the amount of $18 per week or more are due or owed by a judgment debtor, his judgment creditor may secure a continuing order for the payment of ten per cent of such wages on the debt until discharged, with costs. If wages exceed $1,000 per annum, a larger percentage may be levied; but only one such execution may be enforced at one time.]

SEC. 2. Duty of employer.—[It is the duty of the employer to pay the percentage prescribed to the officer presenting the execution until the judgment is satisfied.]

ACTS OF 1916

CHAPTER 40.—Department of labor

SECTION 1 (as amended 1922, ch. 252). Organization.—The department of labor shall be reorganized and hereafter composed of:

First. One commissioner of labor.
Second. A bureau of general and structural inspection.
Third. A bureau of electrical and mechanical equipment.
Fourth. A bureau of hygiene, sanitation, and mine inspection.
Fifth. A bureau of engineers' and firemen's licenses.
Sixth. A bureau of industrial statistics.
Seventh. A bureau of employment.

SEC. 2. Commissioner.—The commissioner of labor shall be a citizen and resident of this State, appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. He shall hold his office for the term of five years and until his successor is appointed and qualified. He shall receive a salary of six thousand dollars per annum.

SEC. 3. Powers and duties.—He shall be the executive and administrative head of the department. All powers and duties heretofore vested in and devolved upon the commissioner of labor or the department of labor shall hereafter be exercised and performed by him in person or under his personal supervision and control, through and by any bureau or representative thereof, duly authorized by the commissioner of labor for that purpose. When not inconsistent with the provisions of any statute, he shall assign to the various bureaus and cause to be performed through them, under his supervision and in his name, such duties as may have been or hereafter may be devolved generally upon the department of labor or upon the commissioner of labor, to the end that through the several bureaus, each performing its assigned correlated functions, the work of the department shall be economically, efficiently, and promptly performed.

SEC. 4 (as amended 1922, ch. 252). General and structural inspection.—The bureau of general and structural inspection shall consist of a chief inspector, who shall be a structural expert, appointed by the commissioner of labor, and who shall be hereafter known as deputy commissioner of labor, and nineteen inspectors appointed by the commissioner of labor, of which at least three shall be women.

SEC. 5 (as amended 1922, ch. 252). Duty of deputy commissioner.—The deputy commissioner of labor in charge of the bureau of general and structural inspection shall direct and assign, under the supervision and control of the commissioner of labor, the work of general and structural inspection except as hereinafter provided; supervise the work relating to plans for the alteration of old and the erection of new buildings, elevators, fire escapes, fire protection[;] supervise the inspection of the manufacture, storage, and transportation of explosives and such additional correlated duties as the commissioner shall direct. The deputy commissioner of labor in charge of the bureau of general and structural inspection shall be the representative of the commissioner of labor, in his absence, in the administrative duties of the general office and as the commissioner of labor shall authorize.

SEC. 6 (as amended 1922, ch. 252). Electrical and mechanical bureau.—The bureau of electrical and mechanical equipment shall consist of a chief inspector, who shall be appointed by the commissioner of labor. In addition to the chief inspector, there shall be one inspector, who shall be appointed by the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 7 (as amended 1922, ch. 252). Fire alarms, etc.—The bureau of electrical and mechanical equipment shall, under the supervision and control of the commissioner of labor, perform such duties in matters relating to fire alarm installations or other electrical equipment, the installation of mechanical safeguards on machinery and other correlated duties as the commissioner shall direct.

SEC. 8 (as amended 1922, ch. 252). Hygiene, etc.—The bureau of hygiene, sanitation, and mine inspection shall consist of a chief inspector appointed by the commissioner of labor, who shall be hereafter known as deputy commissioner of labor, an expert investigator of occupational diseases, a mine inspector having practical knowledge and skill in the work in and operation of mines and quarries, a bakery inspector who shall be a practical baker, one inspector, who shall be a person having practical knowledge and skill as a metal polisher and buffer, and such other inspectors or employees as may be assigned to the bureau.

SEC. 9 (as amended 1922, ch. 252). Ventilation, sanitation, etc.—The deputy commissioner of labor in charge of the bureau of hygiene, sanitation, and mine inspection shall perform, under the supervision and control of the commissioner of labor, the duties devolving upon the department of labor or the commissioner of labor, with relation to the elimination of dust, fumes, and excessive heat in industrial operation; the investigation of occupational diseases, and the ventilation and sanitation of factories, mills, bakeries, workshops, and places where the manufacture of goods is carried on; the inspection of mines, quarries, tunnels, and caissons; the direction of industrial safety education and such additional correlated duties as the commissioner of labor shall direct. The deputy commissioner of labor in charge of the bureau of hygiene, sanitation, and mine inspection shall be the personal representative of the commissioner of labor in the field and as authorized.

SEC. 10. Bureau of engineers' and firemen's licenses.—The bureau of engineers' and firemen's licenses shall be constituted in the manner and form prescribed by and subject to all the provisions of an act * * * [ch. 363, Acts of 1913]. This bureau shall also perform, under the supervision and control of the commissioner of labor, such additional correlated duties as the commissioner shall direct.

SEC. 11. Bureau of industrial statistics.—The bureau of industrial statistics shall consist of a chief of the bureau, who shall be appointed by the commissioner of labor. The salary of the chief of the bureau shall be twenty-five hundred dollars per annum.

SEC. 12. Duties.—The bureau of industrial statistics shall perform, under the supervision and control of the commissioner of labor, the duties formerly vested in the bureau of labor statistics * * * which bureau is now merged with the department of labor, and, in addition, shall publish and issue bulletins and pamphlets on matters pertaining to the work of the bureau, and perform such other duties as may be assigned to said bureau by the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 13. Bureau of employment.—The bureau of employment shall be constituted as contemplated by an act * * * [ch. 47, Acts of 1915], except that the commissioner of labor shall appoint a chief of the bureau and fix his compensation and appoint such additional clerks and employees as may be necessary, and fix their compensation. By the bureau thus organized the powers and duties devolved upon the department of labor in and by the said act shall be exercised and performed.

SEC. 14. Office force.—The commissioner of labor shall appoint and assign to duty such clerks and stenographers as he may consider necessary, and fix their compensation. All offices and employments, except that of the commissioner of labor, in the department shall be within the classified service of the State, subject to all the provisions of the civil-service act.

SEC. 15. Transfer of employees.—The commissioner of labor may assign or transfer stenographers or clerks from one bureau to another, or inspectors from one bureau to another, or combine the clerical force of two or more bureaus, as may be necessary or advisable, or require from one bureau assistance in the work of another bureau. The system of organization hereby created is intended to facilitate and not to retard the economical and efficient performance of the work of the department and not to impair the control or responsibility of the commissioner over and for such work.

SEC. 16. Present officials, etc.—Upon this act taking effect the present commissioner of labor, who shall continue to hold his office in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall proceed to reorganize the department of labor as provided by this act. All the inspectors and other employees and appointees now in the service of the department shall continue in such service.

SEC. 17. Additional appointees.—The commissioner of labor may appoint and employ such additional inspectors, except investigators or advisers, at such compensation and for such period as he may consider necessary. He may also appoint volunteer inspectors to serve without compensation. All persons appointed under this section shall have the same rights and powers as the regular inspectors.

SEC. 19. Expenses.—All officers and employees or appointees in this department shall, in addition to their compensation, be reimbursed for their actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

CHAPTER 148.—Bribery, etc., of employees—Chauffeurs

SECTION 1. Bribery.—No person or corporation engaged in the business of keeping a garage or place for storage of automobiles or motor vehicles, automobile repair shop, or in the business of selling automobile supplies, parts, or accessories, shall pay or cause to be paid, either directly or indirectly, to any chauffeur or mechanic, or their representative, any money or other consideration whatsoever, as a present, reward, inducement, bonus, or commission on any bill for the storage of any motor vehicle or for the furnishing of work, repairs, supplies, or parts for and on any motor vehicle, and no chauffeur or mechanic shall ask for, demand, exact, require, accept, or receive, either directly or indirectly, from any person or corporation engaged in the business of keeping a garage or place for storage of automobiles or motor vehicles, automobile repair shop, or in the selling of automobile supplies, parts, or accessories, any money or other consideration whatsoever, on any bill for the storage of any motor vehicle, or for the furnishing of work, repairs, supplies, or parts for and on any motor vehicle.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations incur a penalty of not exceeding $200, or imprisonment not more than 6 months, or both.]

CHAPTER 260.—Elevator—Safety provisions

SECTIONS 1–3. Requirements.—[Passenger elevators must be equipped with interlocking devices which will prevent the movement of the car until the door or gate is closed and fastened. Devices are to be approved by the commissioner of labor, who is charged with the enforcement of the act.]

ACTS OF 1917

CHAPTER 58.—Department of labor—Inspectors

SECTION 1 (as amended 1919, ch. 172). Duties.—The inspectors of the department of labor shall perform such duties as shall be designated by the commissioner of labor, and shall be divided into four grades, as hereinafter provided, which shall be designated, respectively, first grade, second grade, third grade, and fourth grade.

[Inspectors of the fourth grade are appointed from the civil-service list of eligibles, as are those of the third grade. The other grades are supplied by promotion after fixed terms of service and the passing of examinations. Compensation is as fixed by the civil-service commission.]

SEC. 2. Salaries.—The salary of the assistant commissioner of labor shall be $3,000 per annum. The assistant commissioner of labor, after having satisfactorily served as such assistant commissioner for five years, shall, if recommended by the commissioner of labor, be admitted to a noncompetitive promotion examination, to be conducted by the board of civil-service commissioners, and upon successfully passing such examination shall receive a salary of $3,500 per annum.

SEC. 3. Same.—The chief inspector of the bureau of structural inspection, the chief inspector of the bureau of electrical equipment, the chief inspector of the bureau of hygiene and sanitation, and the chief of the bureau of industrial statistics shall each receive a salary of $2,500 per annum. The chief of any of the above-named bureaus, after having satisfactorily served as chief of such bureau for five years, shall, if recommended by the commissioner of labor, be admitted to a noncompetitive promotion examination, to be conducted by the board of civil-service commissioners, and, upon successfully passing such examination, shall receive a salary of $3,000 per annum.

SEC. 4. Expenses.—The inspectors in the employ of the department of labor, the assistant commissioner of labor and the chiefs of the bureaus above mentioned shall, in addition to the annual salaries received by them, receive the expenses incurred by them in the performance of their duties.

SECTION 1. Complaint.—Whenever complaint is made to the commissioner of labor of this State, mayor, superintendent of police or other persons in charge of the police force in any city, town, borough or township in this State, that the scaffolding or slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons or ropes of any stationary sling or scaffolding used in the construction or alteration, repairing, painting, cleaning or pointing of buildings within the limits of any city, town, borough or township aforesaid are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to life or limb of any person, such commissioner of labor, mayor, superintendent of police, or other persons in charge of the police force, shall immediately cause an inspection to be made by a duly accredited representative of the commissioner of labor or by the building department of such municipality, or by a competent architect or builder of such scaffolding or slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons or ropes, or other parts connected therewith. If, after examination, such scaffolding, or any of such parts, is found not to conform to the provisions of this act, or with the rules made by the commissioner of labor under the authority of this act, the commissioner of labor, mayor, superintendent of police, or other persons in charge of the police force, shall prohibit the use thereof, and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger.

The person directed to make such inspection shall attach a certificate to the scaffolding or slings, hangers, irons, ropes or other parts thereof examined by him, which certificate shall state that he has made such examination, and that he found it safe or unsafe, as the case may be. If he declares it to be unsafe, he shall at once, in writing, notify the person responsible for its erection of the fact, and warn such person or persons against the use thereof. Such notice shall be served personally upon the person responsible for the erecting, or by conspicuously affixing it to the scaffolding or part thereof to be declared unsafe.

After such notice has been served or affixed, the person responsible shall immediately remove such scaffolding or part thereof, or alter or strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe in the discretion of the person who has examined it, or his superiors.

Any person whose duty it is to examine or test any scaffolding or part thereof, as required by this act, shall have free access at all reasonable hours to any building or premises containing them or where they may be used.

SEC. 2. Safety rails.—If any scaffolding or staging swung or suspended from an overhead support or supports shall be more than ten feet from the ground or floor, same shall be deemed unsuitable and improper, and as not giving proper protection to the life and limb of any person employed or engaged thereon, unless such scaffolding or staging shall, while the same is in use, have a safety rail properly bolted secure and braced and rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portion of such scaffolding or staging, and extending along the entire length of the outside and ends thereof, and properly attached thereto, and it shall be provided with braces so as to sustain the weight of a man's body leaning against it. Such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

SEC. 3. Margin of safety.—All swinging and stationary scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight to be dependent therefrom or placed thereon while in use, and not more than three men shall be allowed on any swinging scaffolding at any time.

In addition to the safeguards hereinabove provided, the commissioner of labor shall make such rules as may in his judgment be necessary to render the use of scaffolding or slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons or ropes of any stationary sling or scaffolding used in the construction or alteration, repairing, painting, cleaning or pointing of buildings within the limit of this State safe.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, $10 to $100. Proceedings to recover are given in detail.]

CHAPTER 243.—Manufacture, etc., of explosives

Scope of act.—[The provisions of this act are directed mainly to securing the safety of the public. Its enforcement is intrusted to the commissioner of labor, who issues licenses, makes inspections, etc. Certain portions of the act affecting employment conditions are here reproduced.]

SECTION 11. Inspection.—The commissioner of labor shall make, or cause to be made, at least one inspection during every year of each licensed factory or magazine. The commissioner of labor shall appoint one or more inspectors who shall be subject to the direction and control of such commissioner of labor to carry out the provisions of this act, and such other duties as may be assigned to them by such commissioner of labor. * * *

SEC. 12. Who may enter.—No person, except an official as authorized herein or a person authorized to do so by the owner thereof, or his agent, shall enter any factory, building, magazine, or car containing explosives in this State.

SEC. 13. Drivers.—* * * It shall be unlawful for any person in charge of a vehicle containing explosives to smoke in, upon, or near such vehicle, to drive the vehicle while intoxicated, to drive the vehicle in a careless or reckless manner, or to load or unload such vehicle in a careless or reckless manner, or to make unnecessary stops.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 19. Articles forbidden.—No employee or other person shall attempt to enter any explosive plant with matches or other flame-producing devices, except electric incandescent flash lights, or liquor or narcotics in his or her possession or control, or while under the influence of liquor or narcotics, or to partake of intoxicants or narcotics while within the plants, under penalty of misdemeanor.

The superintendent may authorize in writing any employee or other person to have approved safety matches in his possession or to depart from the other provisions of this section.

It shall be the duty of the superintendent or other person in charge of all plants included within this act to provide safety containers for matches at all entrances to said plants.

ACTS OF 1918

CHAPTER 227.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. Definitions.—[Fee includes any money, concession, or allowance made or promised. Agency includes nurses' registry, shipping agency, or other office where a fee is charged or received for procuring employment.]

SEC. 2. Exemptions.—[Teachers' agencies, agencies for technical and executive positions exclusively in recognized institutions, the employment departments of corporations, etc., procuring only workmen for themselves and charging no fee, charitable agencies, etc., are exempt from the provisions of this act.]

SEC. 3. License.—[No agency coming under this act may operate without a license from the commissioner of labor. Applicants must give name and place of business, furnish evidence of good character, and pay a fee ranging from $25 per annum in cities of less than 50,000 to $100 in cities of 150,000 inhabitants or above. A bond in the penal sum of $1,000 must also be given, conditioned on compliance with this act, and also to secure payment of damages for fraud, etc.]

SEC. 4. Registers.—[Registers of applicants, employment promised or offered, fees received, and, if possible, names and addresses of former employers, etc., must be kept, open to official inspection. A register of applications for help, kind of help, persons applied, fee charged, etc., must likewise be kept. Reference furnished by applicants for positions in families or in a fiduciary capacity should, if possible, be communicated with; but applicants for help may voluntarily waive this provision in writing.]

SEC. 5. Fees.—[A schedule of proposed fees must be filed with the commissioner of labor, for his approval; changes also require approval. Dividing fees with employers or their agents is forbidden. If no help or position is procured or accepted through the agency, the fee must, on demand, be repaid in full. If a workman fails to remain one week, or is discharged for cause, the employer may have a new worker supplied or the return of three-fifths of his fee. If the employee is discharged within one week without fault, he shall be furnished a new position, or have three-fifths of his fee returned.]

No employee may be sent out except on an order from an employer; and if a worker is directed to a place where no employment existed, all fees and transportation costs shall be refunded.]

SEC. 6. Receipts.—[Receipts showing fees, nature of employment, etc., and the name of the agency, shall be furnished. On the back must be printed in a language the holder can understand the text of sections 5 and 6.]

SEC. 7. Soliciting.—[Soliciting a domestic employee to leave employment to go elsewhere is forbidden. If workers are sent outside the city on a contract, the agency must report to the commissioner of labor the terms, nature of work, location, etc. A duplicate must be furnished the employee, in a language he can understand.]

SEC. 8. Acts forbidden.—[No female may be sent to an immoral resort or place of bad repute; no persons of known bad character may frequent an employment office. Applications from children under 16 may not be received. No constraint may be used to compel anyone to enter an agency. Fraud in advertising, etc., or false promises are forbidden. Violations are punishable by fines from $50 to $250.]

SEC. 9. Posting.—[Sections 5, 6, 7, and 8 must be posted in the agency, in large type and in language which frequenters can understand.]

SEC. 10. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor must make at least bimonthly inspections. Inspectors must wear badges, and must see that the law is complied with. Licenses may be revoked for cause, after hearing, and no new license shall be granted the holder, or his representative or associate; nor may the place be licensed within 12 months.]

ACTS OF 1919

CHAPTER 187.—Mine regulations

SECTION 1. Definitions.—[Defines terms as ordinarily used.]

SEC. 2. Bureau.—[A bureau of mines is created in the department of labor, comprising an inspector and such employees as the commissioner of labor may think necessary.]

SEC. 3. Appointments.—Civil-service rules shall govern appointments. Salaries shall be fixed by the commissioner of labor.]

SEC. 4. Inspector.—[The inspector shall be at least 30 years of age, a resident, and have at least seven years' experience in underground mining.]

SEC. 7. Duties.—[The inspector must visit all mines in the State employing 25 men or more underground at least every 3 months, and those employing 6 men at least twice a year, and inspect workings, equipment, provisions for safety, etc., and investigate causes of accidents and accidental deaths. Operators must furnish him necessary assistance.]

SECS. 8–36. Safety.—[These sections embody a code of the usual content relating to the issue and enforcement of orders, reports of accidents, provisions for first aid, regulations as to blasting, explosives, fire protection, escape shafts, hoisting and lowering workmen, ladder ways, ventilation, signals, etc.]

CHAPTER 251.—Factory, etc., regulations—Fire-alarm systems

SECTION 1. System to be installed, when.—Every factory, workshop, mill, or place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on which is more than two stories in height above grade on three sides of such building and wherein more than twenty-five (25) operatives are employed above the first floor or grade level shall be equipped with an electrical fire-alarm system or its equivalent in efficiency, except all buildings coming within the intent of this act that are equipped with an approved and efficiently maintained sprinkler system shall be exempt from the provisions requiring the installation of electrical fire-alarm equipment or its equivalent in efficiency, provided such sprinkler equipment in the judgment of the commissioner of labor is deemed sufficient protection to the occupants. The electrical fire-alarm system or its equivalent in efficiency shall include sufficiently loud sounding gongs or other approved devices located on each floor or subdivision of floors of such building to be distinctly heard above the noise of machinery and other sounds. All fire-alarm systems in buildings hereby required to be so equipped shall be installed in conformity with the standards of the department of labor, and shall be maintained at full operating efficiency continuously throughout the tenancy of such buildings.

SEC. 2. Alarm throughout building.—The system shall be so installed as to permit the sounding of all alarm gongs or other devices within a single building whenever the alarm is sounded in any one portion thereof; the means of sounding this alarm shall be placed within easy access of all the operatives within the specified factory or section thereof, preferably at usual means of egress, and shall be plainly labeled.

SEC. 3. Use restricted.—The system of fire alarm shall be used for no other than for fire-protective purposes.

SEC. 4. Tests.—The fire-alarm system shall be tested daily at or before the hour of commencing work, and such tests shall consist of two taps (or blasts). All the fire-alarm boxes in such fire-alarm systems shall be tested once in each calendar month. Reports shall be maintained by the management of any factory, workshop, mill, or other work place wherein such system exists of the daily tests, monthly tests, and fire drills.

SEC. 5. Alarm to be sounded.—It shall be the duty of the person in charge of any factory, workshop, mill, or other place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on within a building equipped with such a system to immediately cause the alarm to be sounded in the event of fire.

SEC. 6. Fire drills.—A fire drill sufficient to enable the operatives of a factory, workshop, mill, or other work place immediately and rapidly to leave the premises shall be maintained in every factory building more than two stories in height, and shall be practiced at least once in every calendar month, and the management normally in charge of such factory, workshop, mill, or other place shall properly instruct all operatives in the method of practicing these fire drills. A demonstration of this drill shall be given at the request of a representative either of the department of labor or of the fire department of the municipality in which the factory, workshop, mill, or other work place is located. The chief of each fire department shall advise the commissioner of labor of any violations of the requirements of the law coming to his knowledge.

SEC. 7. Enforcement; violations.—[Enforcement rests with the commissioner of labor; twenty-four hours' notice may be given of closing for noncompliance with the act, and the use of the building for manufacturing purposes until the order has been revoked subjects the owner to a penalty of $1,000. Failing to comply with the orders of the commissioner within the time set entails a fine of $100, and $10 additional for each day's continued failure.]

SEC. 8. Force of act.—The provisions of this act shall be construed as furnishing minimum requirements for the guidance of said commissioner of labor; he may multiply or add such requirements as in his judgment are necessary and proper in each particular case. No municipality shall issue orders or permits in derogation thereof, but any municipality may require, in addition thereto, such precautions or devices as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, but the municipality shall be responsible for the enforcement of the orders issued under its authority.

CHAPTER 175.—Employee representation—Ownership of stock, profit sharing, etc., by employees

SECTION 1. Purposes authorized.—Any stock corporation formed under any law of this State may, upon such terms and conditions as may be determined in the manner hereinafter designated provide and carry out a plan or plans for any or all of the following purposes:

(a) Stock.—The issue or the purchase and sale of its capital stock to any or all of its employees and those actively engaged in the conduct of its business or to trustees on their behalf, and the payment for such stock in installments or at one time with or without the right to vote thereon pending payment therefor in full, and for aiding any such employees and said other persons in paying for such stock by contributions, compensation for services, or otherwise.

(b) Profit sharing.—The participation by all or any of its employees and such other persons in the profits of the corporate enterprise or of any branch or division thereof. Such share in such profits shall be regarded as a part of the corporation's legitimate expenses.

(c) Benefits.—The furnishing to its employees wholly or in part at the expense of such corporation of medical services, insurance against accident, sickness, or death, pensions during old age, disability or unemployment, education, housing, social services, recreation, or other similar aids for their relief or general welfare.

(d) Members of board.—The nomination and election by its employees of one or more thereof as a member or members of its board of directors, such member or members to have the same rights and authority and be subject to the same duties and responsibilities as the directors to be elected by the stockholders. Every such corporation may determine and provide the manner of making any such nominations and calling and conducting any such election, the time or times, the place or places where it shall be held, what number of years of service or other qualifications shall entitle its employees to one or more votes, whether said votes shall be cast personally or by proxy, what number of votes shall be required to elect, and such other restrictions and conditions as may be deemed expedient and proper: Provided, however, That the voting at all such elections shall be by secret ballot, and that if less than a majority of employees entitled to vote participate in the election, such election shall be inoperative and void. Any vacancy occurring in any such office by reason of a failure to elect or otherwise, shall be filled in the manner provided for in the plan, and in the absence of such provisions such vacancy shall be filled from among the employees or stockholders by the board of directors.

SECS. 2–4. Procedure; dissenting stockholders.—[Provision may be made in the articles of incorporation, or by action of the directors and stockholders. Dissenting stockholders may take steps to secure an appraisal of the value of their stock, which being confirmed by the court, the corporation shall pay the value, and secure the transfer of such stock. Plans adopted may be recalled in the same manner as provided for adoption, provision being required for reimbursement of money for which no stock had been issued.]

CHAPTER 334.—Industrial safety museum—Department of labor

SECTION 1. Museum authorized.—The department of labor may establish in the building known as 571 Jersey Avenue, Jersey City, now under lease by the said department of labor, or at any other location it may deem advisable, a State industrial safety museum in which may be installed such exhibits as said department of labor shall approve to further the standardization of safety and economic stability in manufactories.

SEC. 2. Purposes.—Said museum shall furnish information by means of said exhibits, which may include practical equipment appliances and devices, photographs, blue prints, engineering data, reports, statistics and lectures on the production and personnel standards now successfully operative in this country and abroad, covering the problems of Factory construction and plant layout;

Fire prevention and protection;
Elevator installation and protection;
Electrical equipment;
Elimination of boiler room hazards;

Natural and artificial lighting methods;
Machine safeguarding and accident reduction;
Natural and mechanical ventilation;
Fan removal of dusts, fumes and excessive humidity;
Shop hygiene;
The installation of betterment provisions, including toilet, wash, dressing and lunch room facilities;
First aid and hospital equipment;
Industrial training in vestibule schools and shops;
The development of technical and shop library service;
The reduction of the labor turnover by means of approved employment methods, shop relations, Americanization activities and insurance benefits;
The stabilizing of working forces through improved transportation and housing facilities; and such other safety and industrial problems as the said department of labor shall from time to time determine.

SEC. 3. Administration.—The commissioner of labor shall appoint and be an ex officio member of an administrative committee consisting of the director of the museum as chairman and at least one representative each of a chamber of commerce, a compensation insurance company, an accident insurance company, a life insurance company, a fire insurance company, a representative of labor and such additional representatives of the manufacturers and safety and conservation organizations of the State as may be deemed expedient for insuring the greatest usefulness of said museum, all of whom excepting the director shall serve without salary, who shall conduct said museum within the jurisdiction of said department of labor.

SECTION 43. Influencing employees.—Any employer of any workmen, or any agent, superintendent or overseer of any company or corporation employing workmen, or any person whosoever, who shall directly or indirectly, by himself or by any other person in his behalf or by his direction, make use of or threaten to make use of any force, violence or restraint, or inflict or threaten to inflict by himself or by any other person any injury, damage, harm or loss against any person or persons in his employ, in order to induce or compel such employee or employees to vote or refrain from voting for any particular candidate or candidates at any election, or on account of such employee or employees having voted or refrained from voting for any particular candidate or candidates at any election, or who shall, by any sort of duress, constraint or improper influence or by any fraudulent or improper device, contrivance or scheme, impede, hinder or prevent the free exercise of the franchise of any voter at any election, or shall thereby compel, induce or prevail upon any voter to vote for or against any particular candidate or candidates at any election, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, being thereof convicted, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding two thousand dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both, at the discretion of the court before which conviction is had.

SEC. 46. Use of pay envelopes.—It shall not be lawful for any employer, in paying his employees the salary or wages due them, to inclose in their pay in "pay envelopes" upon which there is written or printed the name of any candidate or any political mottoes, devices or arguments containing threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of such employees. Nor shall it be lawful for any employer, within ninety days of an election, to put up or otherwise exhibit in his factory, workshop, or other establishment or place where his workmen or employees may be working, any handbill or placard containing any threat, notice or information that in case any particular ticket of a political party, or organization, or candidate shall be elected, work in his place or establishment will cease, in whole or in part, or his place or establishment be closed up, or the salaries or wages of his workmen or employees be reduced, or other threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of his workmen or employees.

SEC. 47. Violations.—The foregoing sections shall apply to corporations as well as individuals, and any person or corporation violating the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, and any corporation violating this section shall forfeit its charter.

CHAPTER 31.—Factory, etc., regulations—Smoking

SECTION 1. Smoking forbidden.—No person shall smoke in any factory, workshop, mill or other place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on. A notice prohibiting smoking shall be posted at every entrance, on every elevator car, in stair halls and in the rooms on each floor of every factory, workshop, mill or other place where the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on, which notice shall also recite the penalty for the violation of the provisions of this act, and shall be in language readable by the persons employed in any such establishment: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit smoking in the protected portions of any factory, workshop, mill or other place where the manufacture of goods is carried on, which protected portions, as aforesaid, shall be designated by the commissioner of labor.

It shall be the duty of officials and employees of the fire departments of the respective municipalities within which the buildings, as described in this act, are located, to report any violations of this act, that come within their notice, to the said department of labor.

The commissioner of labor shall be charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this act.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed to be a disorderly person, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty dollars for the first offense, and not less than twenty dollars nor more than fifty dollars for the second offense or for any subsequent offense, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the magistrate having jurisdiction.

CHAPTER 88.—Employment of children—Age certificates

SECTIONS 1–9. Issue; evidence; effect.—[The issue of certificates of age of minors over 16 is regulated, setting forth the evidence required, with a provision for medical examination to determine the alleged age in case no documentary proof of age is produced. An employer may require a copy of the age certificate provided for in this act before receiving a minor 16 to 21 years of age into his employment, and such certificate shall be conclusive evidence in the courts in any prosecution or action in which age is a material fact.]

CHAPTER 144.—Hours of labor of women

SECTION 1. Hours of labor.—In order to protect the health and morals of females employed in manufacturing establishments, bakeries and laundries by providing an adequate period of rest at night, no female shall be employed or permitted to work in any manufacturing establishment, bakery or laundry in this State before six o'clock in the morning or after ten o'clock in the evening of any day: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall apply to canneries engaged in packing a perishable product, such as fruits or vegetables.

SEC. 2. Act in effect.—This act shall take effect December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

CHAPTER 70.—Group insurance of public employees

SECTION 1. Deductions for premiums.—In any municipality or county of this State where the employees of the said municipality or county have formed or may hereafter form themselves into groups, for the purpose of obtaining the advantages of the group plan of life insurance, in any one of the plans now in vogue or any plan which may hereafter be inaugurated, it shall be lawful for the governing body of the said municipality or county, when written petitions and authorizations signed by the employees as individuals are filed with the receiving and disbursing officer of the said municipality or county, to authorize, by resolution, the deductions specified in the said written petitions and authorizations and the payment of them to the designated fiscal agent of the group.

SEC. 2. Contribution by county, etc.—[The governing body of any county or municipality may, at its option, contribute not to exceed 25 per cent of the premium.]

CHAPTER 153.—Accident insurance—Provisions of policies

SECTION 1. Insolvency not release.—[Policies insuring employees and others against loss or damage from accident or injury for which the person insured is liable must contain a provision that the insolvency or bankruptcy of the insured shall not release the insurance carrier from his liability during the life of the policy. Notice to any authorized agent within the State must be accepted as notice to the insurer.]

CHAPTER 187.—Reports of accidents

SECTION 1. Accidents to be reported.—Upon the happening of any accident or the occurrence of any compensable occupational disease in any employment of labor in this State report thereof shall be made as follows:

Any employer carrying insurance as required by chapter 178 of the Laws of 1917, shall, when an accident occurs to one of his employees or an employee contracts a compensable occupational disease, make report thereof in accordance with the terms of his insurance policy. Such report shall be prepared in triplicate upon a form, designated as "First notice of accident," to be furnished by the insurance carrier. One copy shall be sent to the department of labor of the State, one copy to the insurance carrier, and one copy shall be kept on file by the employer. A supplemental report shall be prepared on a form designated as "Supplemental report" and sent in like manner at the expiration of the waiting period prescribed by paragraph 13 of the workmen's compensation act. If, however, the employee is able to resume work before the expiration of said waiting period, the supplemental report shall be sent immediately upon his return. Thereafter the employer shall promptly furnish the carrier whatever information is demanded and necessary to enable it to carry out the intent of the workmen's compensation act. These reports on the first notice and supplemental forms, filed with the State, must be signed by the employer and mailed by him directly to the workmen's compensation bureau as a check on the operations of the insurance company.

CHAPTER 204.—Garnishment of wages—Exemption

SECTION 11. Satisfaction of judgments.—[Where a judgment debtor is found to have a wage or other income in excess of $18 per week, 10 per cent thereof is subject to a lien and continuing levy until the judgment is paid. If the income exceeds $1,000 per annum, a larger percentage may be taken.]

NEW MEXICO

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE XI. Railroads—Safety appliances—State corporation commission

SECTION 7. Power to require safety appliances.— * * * The commission shall also have power and be charged with the duty * * * to require all intrastate railways, transportation companies or common carriers, to provide such reasonable safety appliances in connection with all equipment, as may be necessary and proper for the safety of its employees and the public, and as are now or may be required by the Federal laws, rules and regulations governing interstate commerce.

ARTICLE XVII.—Mine regulations—Inspector

SECTION 1. Office created.—There shall be an inspector of mines, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for a term of four years, and whose duties and salary shall be as prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. Laws to be enacted.—The legislature shall enact laws requiring the proper ventilation of mines, the construction and maintenance of escapement shafts or slopes, and the adoption and use of appliances necessary to protect the health and secure the safety of employees therein. No children under the age of fourteen years shall be employed in mines.

ARTICLE XX.—Employment of children—Liability of railroad companies—Public works

SECTION 10. Duty as to laws.—The legislature shall enact suitable laws for the regulation of the employment of children.

SEC. 16. Acts of fellow servants, etc.—Every person, receiver or corporation owning or operating a railroad within this State shall be liable in damages for injury to, or the death of, any person in its employ, resulting from the negligence, in whole or in part, of said owner or operator or of any of the officers, agents or employees thereof, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in whole or in part, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track roadbed, works or other equipment.

An action for negligently causing the death of an employee as above provided shall be maintained by the executor or administrator for the benefit of the employee's surviving widow or husband and children; or if none, then his parents; or if none, then the next of kin dependent upon said deceased. The amount recovered may be distributed as provided by law. Any contract or agreement made in advance of such injury with any employee waiving or limiting any right to recover such damages shall be void.

This provision shall not be construed to affect the provisions of section two of article twenty-two of this constitution, being the article upon schedule.

SEC. 19. Eight-hour day.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all cases of employment by and on behalf of the State or any county or municipality thereof.

ARTICLE XXII.—Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 2. Railroad act of 1908 to be in force.—Until otherwise provided by law, the act of Congress of the United States, entitled "An act relating to liability of common carriers, by railroads to their employees in certain cases," approved April twenty-second, nineteen hundred and eight, and all acts amendatory thereof, shall be and remain in force in this State to the same extent that they have been in force in the Territory of New Mexico.

ANNOTATED STATUTES—1915

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency of corporations

SECTION 973. Amount.—[Wages of laborers and workmen for work done within the next four months preceding the institution of proceedings shall be a first and prior lien on all assets of an insolvent corporation.]

SEC. 974. Liens.—[The lien of a chattel mortgage recorded more than two months before proceedings begun is not affected by the above; nor is a chattel mortgage recorded within such two months, to secure money loaned or goods purchased within that period.]

Contracts of employment—Repayment, etc., of advances

SECTION 1572. Fraud in procuring advances.—Any person or persons, who under the pretense of hiring to do work for any other person or persons who shall obtain in advance and on account of promise of work to be done by such person or persons, any goods or money, and afterwards being able so to do willfully, fails to perform the work agreed by such person or persons to be performed; be punished before any justice of the peace by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, and no more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than three months nor more than six months or both: Provided, however, If before, or at the time said labor was to be done or performed said person or persons shall refund said money or pay for any goods so obtained and interest on the same, this law shall not apply.

Blacklisting

SECTION 1803. Blacklisting forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm or corporation employing labor in this State, after having discharged any person from service, to prevent or attempt to prevent by word, sign, or writing of any kind whatever, any such discharged employee from obtaining employment from any person or persons, firm or corporation: Provided, That any employer may give the true reasons either by writing or otherwise, for the discharge of any such employee.

SECS. 1804, 1805. Violations.—[Violations of preceding section are punishable by fine, $100 to $1,000. Damages and an attorney's fee may also be recovered.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 2050. Discharging or threatening discharge.—Every officer or agent of any corporation, company, or association and every individual having under his control or in his employ any persons entitled to vote at any election who shall directly or indirectly discharge or threaten to discharge any such employee on account of his political opinions or belief, or who shall, by any corrupt or unlawful means, procure or attempt to procure or induce any such employee to vote or refrain from voting for any candidate, party ticket, proposition, question, or constitutional amendment at any election shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months or both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 2053. Bribery, threats, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation organized or doing business under or by virtue of the laws of this State, directly or indirectly, by or through any of its officers or agents, or any other person, to influence or attempt to influence the vote of any voter at any election by the unlawful use of money belonging to such corporation, or by discharging or threatening to discharge any employee of such corporation on account of his political opinions or belief, or by any corrupt and unlawful means whatsoever to induce or persuade any employee or other person entitled to vote at any election to vote or refrain from voting for any candidate, party ticket, proposition, question, or constitutional amendment. Any violation of the provisions of this section by a corporation shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, and any person by or through whom such act is committed shall be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Wages—Exemption—Garnishment

SECTION 2311. Amount.—[The personal earnings of a head of a family for 60 days are exempt if it is shown that they are necessary to the support of his wife or family; but this does not apply to debts for manual labor or for necessaries of life.]

SEC. 2353. Suits outside State.—[If garnishment of personal earnings is sought in a suit outside the State, debtor and creditor both being residents of the State and service could have been obtained in the county of residence of the debtor, the suitor shall be liable for attorney's fee, costs of debtor, including travel, board, witnesses, etc., and $5 a day for time spent. He shall also be entitled to the amount exempted by the law of New Mexico, and to an attorney's fee in any damage suit brought in case the claim was successfully defended.]

Bonds of employees—Foreign guaranty companies

SECTIONS 2866, 2867. Local agents required.—[No employer may require employees to procure bonds from a foreign guaranty company unless such company has a representative within the State on whom process can be served and it has otherwise complied with the laws of the State. Employers making contracts or charging fees in violation of this act are subject to a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $10,000, in the discretion of the jury.]

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 3490–3502. Maps, weighing coal, etc.—[Maps are required, hoisting machinery and boilers must be inspected, scales kept accessible if mining is paid for by weight, a checkweighman is authorized, and penalties are provided for negligence or failure to comply with the law.]

Payment of wages in scrip—Company stores

SECTION 3503. Scrip, etc., to be redeemable in money.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, company, or corporation owning or operating coal or other mines or transacting any kind of general mercantile business in the State of New Mexico to sell, give, deliver, or in any manner issue directly or indirectly, to any person employed by him or it in payment for wages due for labor or as advances on wages of labor not due, any script [scrip], check, draft, or order, or evidence of indebtedness payable or redeemable otherwise than in their face value in money; and such person, acting member or agent of any firm, acting agent or agents or officers of any company or corporation [or] firm who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, nor less than two hundred and fifty dollars, and the amount of any scrip, token, check, draft, order, or other evidence of indebtedness sold, given, delivered, or in any manner issued in violation of the provisions of this section shall recover in money at the suit of any holder thereof against the person, firm, company, or corporation selling, giving, or delivering or in any manner issuing the same.

SEC. 3504. Exemption.—The provisions of the preceding section shall not apply in any instance where the issuance of scrip, check, draft, or order, is upon the voluntary request or at the instance of the party to whom issued, but only in cases where the employer seeks to compel, coerce, or influence the employee against his will to accept the same.

SEC. 3505. Restricting trade.—Whoever compels or in any manner seeks to compel or coerce an employee or any person, firm, company or corporation to purchase goods or supplies from any particular person, firm, company or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding sixty days, or both at the discretion of the court.

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 3507–3513. Safety.—[These sections relate to the operation of coal mines, establishing safety provisions as to exits, hoists, lights, ventilation, timbers, blasting, interference with apparatus or equipment, etc.]

Hospital service for employees

SECTION 3518. Posthouse to be erected, when.—All mining companies or other corporations doing business in this State who receive any money from their employees for the purpose of employing a physician to attend to and render medical aid to any of said employees during sickness, or to enforce sanitary regulations for the benefit of said employees, are hereby required to erect and maintain a proper and suitable pesthouse not less than one and one-half miles from any town, mining camp, settlement, or village where the headquarters of such company may be, or where the greater portion of said employees may labor, for the purpose of taking proper care of, and quarantining any and all of said employees who may be affected with any contagious or infectious diseases and any company or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act [,] upon proper proceedings and conviction thereunder, shall be fined as set forth in section 1741 [in any sum not less than three dollars nor more than eighty dollars], and in addition thereto shall be liable for all damages occasioned by their violation of the law.

SEC. 3521. Medical attendance to be provided, when.—Whenever any employee of any corporation, person or persons engaged in the management and operation of any smelting works in the State of New Mexico, shall become disabled and rendered unfitted for labor by reason of lead poisoning, which said lead poisoning shall be the result and consequence of said employee's performance and proper discharge of said employee's duties in and about said smelting works, said employee shall be provided with and receive all proper medical attendance, medicines and sustenance during such disability, at the expense of said corporation, person or persons so employing him.

SEC. 3522. Action for recovery.—If any such corporation, person or persons engaged in the management and operation of any smelting works in the State of New Mexico shall fail to provide such employee with all proper medical attendance, medicines and sustenance during such disability of said employee, then the reasonable expense of providing such employee with all proper medical attendance, medicines and sustenance during such disability of said employee may be recovered from such corporation, person or persons so engaged in the management and operation of smelting works as aforesaid, in an action at law by and in the name of any person or persons rendering or providing such employee with the said medical attendance, medicines and sustenance.

Miners' Hospital

SECTION 5106. Free hospital.—The Miners' Hospital of New Mexico is intended and meant to be for the free treatment and care of resident miners of the State of New Mexico, who may become sick or injured in the line of their occupation; and all lodging and medical care shall be free of charge, as shall all other expenses incurred by the patient, except in cases where such patient is possessed of property and means sufficient to enable him to pay the actual costs and charges incurred by his attendance at such hospital, in which case the board of trustees may make provision for his being charged, and paying such expenses incurred.

Provided, however, The said trustees may take in other patients for treatment and care upon the payment of all expenses therefor, by said patients, when the same may be so received and treated without excluding any miners from said hospital.

Mine regulations—Inspector

SECTION 5362. Appointment.—[The governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint an inspector from a list of eligibles secured by examination.]

SEC. 5363. Qualifications.—[The appointee must be 30 years of age, a resident for one year next preceding appointment, have had 5 years' experience in coal mines, 3 in New Mexico, and have a practical knowledge of mining operations.]

SEC. 5364 (as amended 1919, ch. 84). Bond; salary.—[A bond of $4,000 is required. The salary is $2,400 per annum.]

SEC. 5365. Duties.—[The inspector must inspect all mines in the State as often as he thinks necessary, investigate accidents jeopardizing or destroying life, inspect machinery, work places, etc., and indicate changes required to be made for the safe operation of the mines. He is to establish a system of signals; and makes annual reports as to mines in the State, statistics, conditions, etc. He is to be furnished with the necessary office and testing equipment and supplies. Refusal to permit inspection is a misdemeanor.]

CHAPTER 16.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 1. Scope of law.—All railway, mining and manufacturing corporations operating in this State shall designate regular days, not more than sixteen days apart, as days fixed for the payment of wages to all employees thereof, paid in this State, and shall post and maintain notices, printed or typewritten, in plain type in at least two conspicuous places where said notices can be seen by said employees as they go to and from their work, setting forth said days as "pay days." And every such corporation shall pay on each of said days to its employees in lawful money of the United States, or in negotiable bank check, payable on demand, of the date of said day, all wages due said employees up to such pay day, except it may withhold wages for not more than sixteen days' labor due any employee remaining in the service of such corporation.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Every such corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500 for each offense.

CHAPTER 85.—Factory, etc., regulations—Department of public welfare

SECTION 10 (as amended 1921, ch. 145). Who to inspect.—The State department of public welfare shall * * * have power to investigate * * * the effect of localities, employments, and other conditions upon the public health; to inspect public buildings, institutions and premises and industries; * * * to regulate the sanitation of * * * factories, workshops, industrial and labor camps, * * *.

CHAPTER 140—Employment of labor—Anarchists

SECTION 1. What unlawful.—[It is unlawful for any person to commit or cause any act aimed at the destruction of organized government.]

SEC. 5. Employers are liable.—Any person, firm, or corporation employing or having in his employ any person or persons knowing him or them to be actively engaged in advocating, teaching, or encouraging the violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than sixty days nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

CHAPTER 153.—Garnishment of wages

SECTION 1. Amount.—[Not over 20 per cent of the current wages of an employee may be garnished if such wages do not exceed $75 per month. If they exceed $75, in addition to the above, the full amount of such excess may be taken. No exemption is allowed if the debt was incurred for necessaries of life, or if the debtor is not the head of a family, or if he is a head and his family does not reside in the State.]

SEC. 2. Public employees.—[Public officials can be summoned as garnishees only where a judgment has been secured against an employee of the State or municipality, school district, etc. Such employees have the exemption rights provided in section 1.]

CHAPTER 10.—Company stores

SECTION 1. Coercion as to trade.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation employing labor in this State, or any agent, superintendent, or boss of said person, firm, or corporation, by threat, direct or indirect, or in any other manner, to coerce or compel any employee to buy goods of or trade with any store, business, or commissary, or to discharge or threaten to discharge any employee for failure so to do.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $50 to $200, or imprisonment 30 to 90 days, or both.]

CHAPTER 132.—Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 1. Restrictions by employers.—It shall be unlawful for any employer to make, enforce, or attempt to enforce any order, rule, regulation, or adopt any other device or method to prevent an employee from engaging in political activities, accepting candidacy for nomination or election to, or the holding of political offices, or from holding a position as a member of any political committee, or from soliciting or receiving funds for political purposes, or from acting as a chairman or participating in a political convention, or assuming the conduct of any political campaign.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violation is a felony, punishable by imprisonment, one to five years. If the offending employer is a corporation, company, etc., the officer or agent responsible for instigating or issuing the forbidden order shall be deemed the principal.]

CHAPTER 150.—Employment of children—Hours of labor—Age limit

SECTION 1. Age.—[No child under 14 may work in any mine, theater, concert hall, hotel, laundry, factory, workshop, bowling alley, or as an elevator operator, messenger or driver.]

SEC. 2. School hours.—[Children under 14 may not be employed in any service whatever during school hours.]

SEC. 3. Exemptions.—[The district court may permit the employment of a child under 14 if it is necessary, if the education and physical and moral welfare of the child are fully provided for.]

SEC. 4. Work time.—[Children under 16 may not be employed between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m., nor more than 48 hours per week or 8 per day.]

SEC. 5. Violations.—[Violations are punishable as misdemeanors, not less than $5 nor more than $100 fine for each offense.]

CHAPTER 180.—Employment of women—Hours of labor

SECTION 1. Work time.—No female shall be employed in any mechanical establishment, or factory, or laundry, or hotel, or restaurant, cafe or eating house, or in any place of amusement, in this State more than eight hours during any one day. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than eight hours during the twenty-four hours of any day and mealtime shall not be included as part of the working hours of the day: Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to females employed in offices, as stenographers, bookkeepers, clerks, or in other clerical work, and not required to do manual labor: And provided further, however, That no restrictions as to the hours of labor shall apply to canneries or other establishments engaged in preparing for use perishable goods.

SEC. 2. Mercantile establishments.—No female shall be employed in any mercantile establishment except drug stores in this State more than nine hours during any one day except Saturdays, when they may be employed not more than eleven hours, or more than fifty-six hours during any one week. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than nine hours during the twenty-four hours of any day except Saturday and not more than eleven hours during the twenty-four hours of any Saturday, and mealtime shall not be included as a part of the working hours of the day.

SEC. 3. Express, etc., offices.—No female shall be employed in this State by any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any express or transportation or public utility business or by any common carrier more than nine hours during any one day or more than fifty-six hours during any one week. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than nine hours during the twenty-four hours of any day and mealtime shall not be included as a part of the working hours of the day.

SEC. 4. Emergencies.—Nothing in section 1 of this act shall be construed so as to prevent work in excess of eight hours a day in emergency cases: Provided, That in no one week of seven days shall there be permitted more than sixty hours of labor: And provided, That work in excess of fifty-six hours of labor in any one week shall be paid for on a basis of time and one-half for such excess.

SEC. 5. Same.—Nothing in section 2 of this act shall be construed so as to prevent work in excess of nine hours a day on days other than Saturdays, and in excess of eleven hours a day on Saturdays in emergency cases: Provided, That in no one week of seven days shall there be permitted more than sixty hours of labor: And provided, That work in excess of fifty-six hours of labor in any one week shall be paid for on a basis of time and one-half for such excess.

SEC. 6. Same.—Nothing in section 3 of this act shall be construed so as to prevent work in excess of nine hours a day in emergency cases: Provided, That in no one week of seven days shall there be permitted more than sixty hours of labor: And provided, That work in excess of fifty-six hours of labor in any one week shall be paid for on a basis of time and one-half for such excess.

SEC. 7. Telephone exchanges.—No female shall be employed in any telephone establishment or office thereof, except telephone establishments where five or less operators are employed and where the average number of calls per hour answered by one operator does not exceed two hundred thirty, more than eight hours in any one day or more than forty-eight hours in any one week where the shift worked is between the hours of 7 o'clock a. m. and 9 o'clock p. m., or more than ten hours in any one day or more than sixty hours in any one week where the shift work is between the hours of 9 o'clock p. m. and 7 o'clock a. m.: Provided, That mealtime shall not be included as part of the working hours of that day: And provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply in cases of extreme emergency, resulting from flood, fire, storm, epidemic of sickness, or other like causes.

SEC. 8. Interstate commerce.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to any female engaged in interstate commerce where the working hours of any such female so engaged are regulated by any act of Congress of the United States.

SEC. 9. Violations.—[Violations of this act entail a fine of $100 to $500 for each offense.]

SEC. 10. Time book.—Every employer to whom this act shall apply shall keep a time book or record showing for each day that his establishment is open, the hours during which each and every female in his employ to whom this act applies, is employed. Such time book or record shall be open at all reasonable hours to the inspection of either the district attorney of the district, or the sheriff of the county, wherein the employment took place, record of which is required to be kept as herein provided. The failure or omission to keep such record or a false statement contained therein, shall be punishable on conviction thereof by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) for each offense.

CHAPTER 37.—Antitrust law—Labor organizations, etc., exempt

SECTION 1. Labor not a commodity; organizations.—The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce. No law against monopolies or combinations in restraint of trade shall be held or construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agricultural or horticultural organizations, instituted for purposes of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit to the organization, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from lawfully carrying out the objects thereof; nor shall such organizations or the members thereof be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restrain[t] of trade under any law against monopolies or combinations in restraint of trade: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be held or construed to justify any restraint of trade or restriction of competition except such as is incident to the protection and promotion of the interests of the members of such organizations, in view of their situation and circumstances; but such organizations and their objects, and the effectuation thereof, shall prima facie be presumed to be in reasonable restraint of trade or restriction of competition.

CHAPTER 148.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1203. Attendance required.—[School attendance up to age 16 is required, except for unfitness, distance, etc.]

SEC. 1204. Exemptions.—[Children 14 years of age may be excused from attendance by a certificate of age, etc., on assurance of immediate employment in some gainful occupation.]

SEC. 1206. Hours.—[If work hours are fixed by law, attendance at a part-time school or class shall be counted as a part thereof.]

SEC. 1209. Unlawful employment.—[Employers of children under 16 must conform to the provisions of this act, and must permit attendance on a part-time school if there is one in the district.]

NEW YORK

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 1.—Labor organizations—Provisions of constitution—Compensation for injuries

SECTION 19 (adopted 1913). Safety laws.—Nothing contained in this constitution shall be construed to limit the power of the legislature to enact laws for the protection of the lives, health, or safety of employees; or for the payment, either by employers, or by employers and employees or otherwise, either directly or through a State or other system of insurance or otherwise, of compensation for injuries to employees or for death of employees resulting from such injuries without regard to fault as a cause thereof, except where the injury is occasioned by the willful intention of the injured employee to bring about the injury or death of himself or of another, or where the injury results solely from the intoxication of the injured employee while on duty; or for the adjustment, determination and settlement, with or without trial by jury, of issues which may arise under such legislation; or to provide that the right of such compensation, and the remedy therefor shall be exclusive of all other rights and remedies for injuries to employees or for death resulting from such injuries; or to provide that the amount of such compensation for death shall not exceed a fixed or determinable sum: Provided, That all moneys paid by an employer to his employees or their legal representatives, by reason of the enactment of any of the laws herein authorized, shall be held to be a proper charge in the cost of operating the business of the employer.

ARTICLE 12.—Employment of labor on public works

SECTION 1 (as amended 1905). Power to fix wages, hours of labor, etc.— * * * the legislature may regulate and fix the wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the State or by any county, city, town, village or other civil division of the State, or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work, labor or services for the State, or for any county, city, town, village, or other civil division thereof.

CONSOLIDATED LAWS—1909

CHAPTER 3.—Labor organizations—Joint corporations

SECTION 7. Unions may unite to form corporation.— * * * any number of trades-unions, trades assemblies, trades associations or labor organizations, * * * may unite in forming a corporation for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, maintaining, and managing a hall, temple or other building, or a home for the aged and indigent members of such order and their dependent widows and orphans, and of creating, collecting, and maintaining a library for the use of the bodies uniting to form such corporation. * * *

CHAPTER 12.—Wages as preferred claims—In assignments

SECTION 22 (as amended 1914, ch. 360). Amount.—[Wages or salaries owing for services rendered within three months prior to an assignment are preferred before any other debt, not exceeding $300 to each employee.]

CHAPTER 16.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 621 (as amended 1921, ch. 386). Age.—[Attendance is required up to 14 years of age, and if not regularly and lawfully employed, to 16.]

SEC. 626 (as amended 1921, ch. 386). Certificates, newsboys.—[Certificates are required for the employment of children under 16 years of age (under 17 in cities of 5,000 or more population, after September 1, 1925). No boy under 12 or girl under 16 may be employed in the sale or distribution of newspapers or periodicals; boys under 16 must have permit badges of current validity, and may not serve between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. Employment of children over 12 when school attendance is not required is not affected by this section so far as farm work or work not connected with a factory or other employment specified in section 130 of the labor law is concerned.]

Sec. 627 (as amended 1922, ch. 464). Files.—[Employment certificates must be kept on file by the employer and returned to the child or to the issuing officer when the employment terminates.]

Sec. 628 (as amended 1922, ch. 464). Violations.—[Penalties for violations run against both the employer and the parent or guardian. Attendance officers are charged with the enforcement of the act.]

Sec. 631 (as amended 1922, ch. 464). Issue of certificates.—[General employment certificates, unless for agricultural work only, are valid for employment only by the person named therein. Vacation and agricultural certificates are valid for successive employments. Girls under 18 may not deliver messages or articles of any kind outside the place of their employment.

School officials issue employment certificates on application of the parent or custodian of the child, on a showing of age, literacy, and an examination showing physical fitness. If documentary evidence of age is not obtainable, a physician's certificate will be accepted.]

Sec. 633. Enforcement.—[Truant officers may enter any place of employment and examine registers of children employed therein.]

Secs. 640–648 (added 1921, ch. 21). Employment of children in street trades.—[These sections provide regulations for the employment of children in street trades, in the main similar to those embodied in secs. 626, 628 and 630, as amended by ch. 386, Acts of 1921. This latter act is of a later date, and while it does not in terms repeal chapter 21, it seems to be the act that controls. The provisions of secs. 640–648 are therefore omitted.]

Chapter 20 (as amended 1910, ch. 700).—Private employment offices

Article II

Section 170. Scope.—[Teachers', nurses' and technical agencies are not governed by this act, nor domestic and commercial agencies in cities of the third class.]

Sec. 172. License.—[A license for the conduct of an agency must be procured from the mayor or commissioner of licenses of the locality, and this must be kept posted.]

Sec. 173. Application.—[Applicants must set forth the proposed place of business, whether a separate lodging house is to be maintained in connection therewith, the business of the applicant for two years past, and must present two affidavits of good moral character.]

Sec. 174. Investigation.—[The official receiving the application must post it in his office, must investigate the character and responsibility of the applicant, and grant hearings in case any protest is properly submitted against the granting of the license. No agency may be conducted in rooms where people live, board or lodge.]

Sec. 175. Contents.—[Licenses must give the name and place of business of the licensee, and will protect no other.]

Sec. 176. Transfers.—[Licenses may be transferred only with the consent of the issuing official. The same rule applies to change of location.]

Sec. 177. Fee; bond.—[The fee for a license is fixed at $25 annually. A bond in the sum of $1,000 is also required for the observance of the law and to meet obligations for damages through fraud or unlawful acts.]

Sec. 179. Register.—[Registers must be kept of applicants for positions, showing name and address, fee received, and names and addresses of former employers if possible; also a register of applicants for help, showing name and address, kind of help requested, whom sent, wages to be paid and fee received. If possible, references must be procured and kept on file for persons applying for work in private families, or in a fiduciary capacity.]

Secs. 180, 183 (as amended 1916, ch. 587). [These sections relate to theatrical agencies and engagements.]

Sec. 181. Statements to be furnished.—[Every person applying for domestic or commercial employment must be given a card showing the name of the holder, the name and address of the prospective employer, kind of work, wages, term of employment if known, cost of transportation if outside city, etc.]

Sec. 182. Interference; outside employments.—[No agent may induce an employee to leave service with a view to placing him through his agency. A report must be made to the licensing authority of the particulars of employment, travel, etc., if applicants are sent outside the city; also a copy to the applicant.]

Sec. 184. Inspection.—[Registers, etc., must be open to official inspection.]

Sec. 185 (as amended 1916, ch. 587). Fees.—[Fees for domestic service and labor generally may not exceed 10 per cent of the first month's wages. Dividing fees is forbidden. Violations are punishable by fine, $25 to $250, or imprisonment to one year, or both; also revocation of license.]

Sec. 186. Return of fee.—[If position is not obtained or help secured, the fee paid must, on demand, be repaid in full. If service has been given but the employee is discharged or fails to remain, the amount returnable is three-fifths of the fee; or further service may be rendered, at the party's option. Orders on which applicants are sent out must be bona fide.]

Sec. 187. Receipts.—[Applicants paying a fee must be given a receipt showing amount, purpose, names and date.]

Sec. 188. Law to be posted.—[Specified sections of the law must be posted in the agency, in languages that patrons can understand.]

Sec. 189. False statements, etc.—[False advertising, misrepresentation, etc., are forbidden.]

Sec. 190. Acts prohibited.—[The sending of persons, male or female, to places of bad repute or immoral resorts, gambling houses, etc., is forbidden. Persons of bad character may not be allowed to frequent any agency. Children may not be offered employment in violation of law.]

Sec. 191 (as amended 1912, ch. 261).—Enforcement.—[Enforcement rests with the licensing official, i. e., the mayor or the commissioner of licenses, as the case may be. These officers hear complaints, render decisions, and may revoke licenses for cause. Court review may be had.]

Chapter 23.—Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships of corporations

Section 24-a (added 1921, ch. 22). Rank.—[The wages of employees of a corporation other than a moneyed corporation are preferred to every other debt or claim in case of the appointment of a receiver for such corporation.]

Chapter 28.—Group life insurance

Sections 101-a to 101-d (added by ch. 192, Acts of 1918; amended 1924, ch. 549). Definition: provisions of policies.—[Group life insurance means insurance covering not less than 50 employees under a policy issued to the employer, the premium being paid by the employer or by the employer and employees jointly, insuring part or all of the employees of such employer, with or without medical examination; similar insurance may be issued to one or more companies or other units of the National Guard. The form of policy must be approved by the State superintendent of insurance and must provide against contests and misrepresentation; for individual certificates to each employee stating the terms, amounts, etc.; and a provision for the admission of new employees eligible in the group or class covered by the insurance. Policies and proceeds thereunder are exempt from attachment, garnishment, or other process, nor may the proceeds be made a part of the estate of the employee for the payment of his debts.]

Chapter 28.—Employees' mutual benefit associations

Sections 221-228 (added 1924, ch. 548). Organization, membership, etc.—[Five hundred or more employees of any manufacturing or industrial corporation having at least 3,000 employees may organize a voluntary mutual benefit association by filing with the superintendent of insurance a declaration of their intent so to do. This must be signed by two provisional officers of the organization and accompanied by a certified copy of the properly adopted constitution or by-laws. Associations may not be formed unless the employer agrees to contribute at least 20 per cent of the total benefits to be paid. All employees 18 years of age and over must be eligible for membership. Benefits may cover sickness, disability, or death, the minimum death benefit to be $500. Provision is made for the maintenance of a surplus or other similar fund. Stated periodical contributions must be made in accordance with approved actuarial standards. Officials shall not be individually liable for the obligations assumed by the association. Benefits are exempt from attachment, garnishment, etc.; annual reports are required to the superintendent of insurance.]

CHAPTER 31 (as amended 1921, ch. 50).—Labor law

ARTICLE I

SECTION 1. Title.—This chapter shall be known as the "Labor Law."

SEC. 2 (as amended 1924, ch. 489). Definitions.—Whenever used in this chapter:

1. "Department" means the department of labor of the State of New York.

2. "Commissioner" means the industrial commissioner of the State of New York.

3. "Board" means the industrial board of the State of New York.

4. "Rule" means any rule or regulation made by the industrial board and any amendment or repeal thereof.

5. "Employee" means a mechanic, workingman, or laborer working for another for hire.

6. "Employer" means the person employing any such mechanic, workingman or laborer, whether the owner, proprietor, agent, superintendent, foreman, or other subordinate.

7. "Employed" includes permitted or suffered to work.

8. "Person" includes a corporation or a joint-stock association.

9. "Factory" includes a mill, workshop, or other manufacturing establishment, and all buildings, sheds, structures, or other places used for or in connection therewith, where one or more persons are employed at manufacturing, including making, altering, repairing, finishing, bottling, canning, cleaning, or laundering any article or thing, in whole or in part, except (a) dry dock plants engaged in making repairs to ships, and (b) power houses, generating plants, and other structures owned or operated by a public service corporation, other than construction or repair shops, subject to the jurisdiction of the public service commission. The provisions of this chapter affecting structural changes and alterations, shall not apply to factories or to any buildings, sheds, or other places used for or in connection therewith where less than six persons are employed at manufacturing, except as otherwise prescribed by the rules; nor shall the provisions of this chapter prohibiting the employment of women over twenty-one as proof readers at certain hours apply to newspaper publishing establishments, linotypists, and monotypists.

10. "Factory building" means a building, shed, or structure which, or any part of which, is occupied by or used for a factory, and in which at least one-tenth or more than twenty-five of all the persons employed in the building are engaged in work for a factory, but shall not include a building used exclusively for dwelling purposes above the first story. The provisions of this chapter shall, so far as prescribed by the rules, also apply to a building, not a factory building, any part of which is occupied or used for a factory.

11. "Mercantile establishment" means a place where one or more persons are employed in which goods, wares, or merchandise are offered for sale, and includes a building, shed, or structure, or any part thereof, occupied in connection with such establishment. The provisions of this chapter affecting structural changes and alterations shall not apply to mercantile establishments where less than six persons are employed except as otherwise prescribed by the rules.

SEC. 3. Prohibited employment.—Whenever the provisions of this chapter prohibit the employment of a person in certain work or under certain conditions the employer shall not permit such person to so work, with or without compensation, and in a prosecution or action therefor lack of consent by the employer shall be no defense.

SEC. 4. Work for a factory.—Work shall be deemed to be done for a factory whenever it is done at any place upon the work of a factory or upon any of the materials entering into the product of the factory, whether under contract or arrangement with any person in charge of or connected with such factory directly or indirectly through one or more contractors or other third person.

ARTICLE II

SECTION 10. Department of labor.—The department of labor is continued. The head of the department shall be the industrial commissioner. The industrial commissioner shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The term of office of the commissioner shall be four years, except that the term of the commissioner first appointed hereunder shall expire January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-five.

Sec. 10-a (added 1924, ch. 464). Industrial council.—1. To advise the commissioner, there shall be an industrial council composed of 10 members appointed by the governor. Five members of the council shall be persons known to represent the interests of employees and five shall be persons known to represent the interests of employers. The governor may remove any member of the council when such member ceases to represent the interests in whose behalf he was appointed.

2. The commissioner shall be an additional member of such council and act as chairman thereof. The chairman of the industrial board shall also be an additional member of such council and shall be vice chairman thereof, to act in the absence of the commissioner. The commissioner shall designate an employee of the department to act as secretary to the council and shall detail from time to time to the assistance of the council such employees as may be necessary.

3. The members of the council shall be entitled to compensation at the rate of not exceeding ten dollars per day for each meeting attended by them, or each day actually spent in the work of the council. They shall also be paid their reasonable and necessary traveling and other expenses while engaged in the performance of their duties.

4. The council shall (a) consider all matters submitted to it by the industrial commissioner and advise him with respect thereto; (b) on its own initiative recommend to the commissioner such changes of admnistration as, after consideration, may be deemed important and necessary; (c) cooperate with the civil service commission in conducting examinations and in preparing lists of eligibles for positions, the duties of which require special knowledge or training, and advise the commissioner in the selection and appointment of employees to such positions.

5. The council shall adopt rules and regulations to govern its own proceedings. The secretary shall keep a complete record of all its proceedings which shall show the names of the members present at each meeting and every matter submitted to the council by the commissioner and the action of the council thereon. The record shall be filed in the office of the department. All records and other documents of the department shall be subject to inspection by the members of the council.

6. The duties and powers of the council shall not extend to any matters affecting the administration of the State insurance fund.

Sec. 11. Deputy commissioner.—There shall be a deputy commissioner, who shall be appointed by and removed at the pleasure of the commissioner.

Sec. 12. Industrial board.—There shall be in the department an industrial board consisting of three members. The members of such board shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, one of whom shall be designated by the governor as chairman. Upon the appointment of a successor to the chairman, the governor shall designate such successor or other member of the board as chairman. The term of office of a member of such board shall be six years, except that the terms of the members first appointed shall expire, one on January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-three, one on January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, and one on January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven.

Sec. 13. Oaths.—The industrial commissioner, members of the industrial board and the deputy commissioner shall, before entering upon the duties of their office, take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office. Such oaths shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

Sec. 14. Offices.—The principal office of the department shall be in the city of Albany in rooms designated by the trustees of public buildings as provided by law. There shall be a branch office in the city of New York and in such other cities of the State as the commissioner may determine.

Sec. 15. Seal.—The commissioner may adopt a seal of the department and require that it be used for the authentication of orders and proceedings and for such other purpose as he may prescribe.

Sec. 16. Vacancies and removals.—If a vacancy occurs otherwise than by expiration of term in the office of the commissioner or of a member of the industrial board, it shall be filled by appointment for the unexpired term. The governor may remove the commissioner or a member of the industrial board for inefficiency, neglect of duty or misconduct in office after giving him a copy of the charges and an opportunity of being publicly heard in person or by counsel on not less than ten day's notice. If a commissioner or a member of the industrial board be removed the governor shall file with the secretary of state a record of his proceedings in respect of such removal and his findings thereon.

Sec. 17. Salaries and expenses.—The commissioner and members of the industrial board shall devote their entire time to the duties of their respective offices. The commissioner shall receive an annual salary of eight thousand dollars; each member of the industrial board shall receive an annual salary of eight thousand dollars; and the deputy commissioner shall receive an annual salary of seven thousand dollars. The reasonable and necessary expenses of the department and the reasonable and necessary traveling and other expenses of the commissioner, deputy commissioner, members of the industrial board and other officers and employees of the department, while actually engaged in the performance of their duties, outside of the city of Albany, or if any such officer or employee be in charge or actually employed at a branch office of the department, the reasonable and necessary traveling and other expenses outside of the place in which such branch office is located, shall be paid by the State treasurer upon the audit of the comptroller, upon vouchers approved by the commissioner.

Sec. 18 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Employees.—The officers, deputy commissioners, and employees of the department of labor in office when this section takes effect shall continue in office subject to the power of removal or the appointment of their successors as provided in this chapter. There shall be in such department and the commissioner may appoint such heads of divisions or bureaus and such inspectors, investigators, statisticians, and other assistants and employees as he shall deem necessary for the exercise of the powers and the performance of the duties of the department. The commissioner, notwithstanding the provisions of any other general or special law, saving and excepting the provisions of section twenty-two of the civil service law, may transfer officers or employees from their positions to other positions in the department, or abolish or consolidate such positions and may remove any officer or employee in the department.

Sec. 18-a (added 1923, ch. 884). Inspectors.—The inspectors shall be divided into six grades. Inspectors of the first grade shall each receive an annual salary of one thousand six hundred and eighty dollars; inspectors of the second grade shall each receive an annual salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars; inspectors of the third grade shall each receive an annual salary of one thousand nine hundred and twenty dollars; inspectors of the fourth grade shall each receive an annual salary of two thousand one hundred dollars; inspectors of the fifth grade shall each receive an annual salary of two thousand two hundred and twenty dollars; inspectors of the sixth grade shall each receive an annual salary of two thousand four hundred dollars.

[Annual promotions are provided for, from grade to grade.]

Supervising inspectors shall each receive an annual salary of three thousand five hundred dollars.

Sec. 19 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Referees.—The commissioner shall appoint as many persons as may be necessary to be referees to perform the duties prescribed by this section. A referee shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office and shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by the commissioner within the appropriation made therefor. It shall be the duty of a referee, under rules adopted by the industrial board, to hear and determine claims for compensation, and to conduct such hearings and investigations and to make such orders, decisions and determinations as may be required by any general or special rule or order of the industrial board, under the workmen's compensation law pursuant to the provisions of such law. The decision of a referee on such a claim shall be deemed the decision of the industrial board from the date of the filing thereof in the department unless the industrial board, on its own motion or on application duly made to it, modify or rescind such decision.

Sec. 20. Bureaus.—Existing divisions or bureaus in the department shall continue until changed, consolidated or abolished pursuant to this section. The commissioner may establish such divisions or bureaus as may be necessary for the administration and operation of the department, under this chapter, and may change, consolidate or abolish divisions or bureaus. Each division and bureau shall be subject to the supervision and direction of the commissioner, and shall have jurisdiction of such matters, exercise such powers and perform such duties as may be assigned to it by the commissioner.

Sec. 20-a (added 1923, ch. 607). Women's bureau.—There shall be a bureau of women in industry, in charge of a chief of the bureau with not less than six investigators, all of whom shall be women, and at least one of whom shall be a physician, duly licensed to practice medicine in the State of New York, or trained in public health work.

2. The bureau shall have such divisions as the commissioner may determine.

3. The bureau shall investigate and report concerning the conditions of employment of women and minors in industry, and shall make recommendations to the commissioner not less than once a year for the betterment of such working conditions by appropriate legislation or otherwise, which recommendations shall be transmitted to the legislature by the commissioner as part of his annual report.

Sec. 21 (as amended, 1921, ch. 642). Duties of commissioner.—The commissioner shall be the administrative head of the department.

The commissioner:

1. Shall enforce all the provisions of this chapter and of the industrial code, except as in this chapter otherwise provided;

2. Shall exercise the powers and perform the duties in relation to the administration of the workmen's compensation law heretofore vested in the industrial commission by chapter six hundred and seventy-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, except in so far as such powers and duties are vested by this chapter in the industrial board;

3. Shall cause proper inspections to be made of all matters prescribed by this chapter or by the industrial code;

4. Shall cause investigations to be made of the condition of women in industry;

5. Shall inquire into the cause of all strikes, lockouts, and other industrial controversies, and endeavor to effect an amicable settlement thereof, and may create within the department a board to which a controversy between an employer and his employees may be submitted for mediation and arbitration;

6. Shall propose to the industrial board such rules or such changes in such rules as he may deem advisable;

7. May provide for the establishment and maintenance of public employment offices for the purpose of securing employment for men, women, and children;

8. May make investigations, collect and compile statistical information and report upon the conditions of labor generally and upon all matters relating to the enforcement and effect of the provisions of this chapter and of the rules thereunder;

9. May enforce any lawful municipal ordinance, by-law or regulation relating to any place affected by the provisions of this chapter, not in conflict with the provisions of this chapter or of the industrial code;

10. May investigate the condition of aliens relative to their employment in industry.

Sec. 22. Review.—The commissioner may sit with the industrial board in the consideration of any matter except reviews under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law; but shall not have a vote upon any such matter. He shall be the custodian of the records of the board.

Sec. 23. Regulations.—The commissioner may make, amend, and repeal regulations necessary for the internal administration of the department, and not in conflict with the rules adopted by the industrial board pursuant to this chapter for the enforcement of the labor law. Such regulations shall not be deemed rules within the meaning of this chapter unless the context otherwise requires.

Sec. 24. Delegation of powers.—The commissioner may by order filed in the department delegate any of its powers to or direct any of his duties to be performed by the deputy commissioner or a head of a division or bureau of such department.

Sec. 25. Inspection.—The commissioner or the officers and employees of the department shall inspect every place which is, or which they have reasonable cause to believe is, affected by the provisions of this chapter, and they may in the discharge of their duties enter any such places.

Sec. 26. Books and papers.—All papers, books, records, or other documents required to be kept by the provisions of this chapter or of the workmen's compensation law or of the industrial code shall at all times be open for the inspection of the commissioner and the officers and employees of the department, and the person in charge thereof shall afford every reasonable facility for their examination and permit copies to be made when required by the commissioner.

SEC. 27 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Powers of industrial board.—The industrial board shall have power to make, amend, and repeal rules for carrying into effect the provisions of this chapter, applying such provisions to specific conditions and prescribing means, methods, and practices to effectuate such provisions. It shall have power to hear and determine all claims for compensation under the workmen's compensation law in the manner provided by this chapter or the workmen's compensation law; to require medical service for injured employees as provided by the workmen's compensation law; to approve claims for medical service or attorney's fees, to excuse failure to give notice either of injury or death of an employee, to approve agreements, to modify or rescind awards, to make conclusions of fact and rulings of law, to certify questions to the appellate division of the supreme court, to enter orders in appealed cases, to determine the time for the payment of compensation, to order the reimbursement of employers for amounts advanced, to assess penalties, to commute awards, to compromise actions for the collection of awards, to require or permit employers to deposit the present value of awards in the aggregate trust fund of the State fund, to determine by rules the assignment of a minor's right to sue a third party, to require guardianship for minor dependents, to hear and determine claims under the occupational disease act, to order physical examinations, to take testimony by depositions; and to have and exercise all other powers and duties, exclusive of purely administrative functions, originally conferred or imposed upon the workmen's compensation commission by the workmen's compensation law or any other statute, and by chapter six hundred and seventy-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen conferred and imposed upon the State industrial commission. For the purpose of exercising such powers and performing such duties, the industrial board shall be deemed to be a continuation of the State industrial commission; and all proceedings under the workmen's compensation law pending before such commission are hereby transferred to the industrial board without prejudice to the rights of any party to such proceeding. Any hearing, inquiry, or investigation required or authorized to be conducted or made by the industrial board may be conducted or made by any individual member thereof, and the order, decision, or determination of such member shall be deemed the order, decision, or determination of the board from the date of the filing thereof in the department, unless the board on its own motion or on application duly made to it modify or rescind such order, decision, or determination.

SEC. 28. Rules.—Rules of the industrial board may be made for—

1. The proper sanitation in all places to which this chapter applies and for guarding against and minimizing fire hazards, personal injuries and diseases in all places to which this chapter applies with respect to:

a. The construction, alteration, equipment and maintenance of all such places, including the conversion of structures into factories, factory buildings, and mercantile establishments;

b. The arrangement and guarding of machinery and the storing and keeping of property and articles;

c. The places where and the methods and operation by which trades and occupations may be conducted and the conduct of employers, employees and other persons;

It being the policy and intent of this chapter that all places to which it applies shall be so constructed, equipped, arranged, operated and conducted in all respects as to provide reasonable and adequate protection to the lives, health, and safety of all persons employed therein and frequenting the same, and that the board shall from time to time make such rules as will effectuate such policy and intent.

2. Whenever the board finds that any industry, trade, occupation, or process involves such elements of danger to the lives, health, or safety of persons employed therein as to require special regulation for the protection of such persons, the board may make special rules to guard against such elements of danger by establishing requirements as to temperature, humidity, the removal of dusts, gases or fumes, by requiring licenses to be applied for and issued by the department as a condition of carrying on any such industry, trade, occupation, or process, by requiring medical inspection and supervision of persons employed or applying for employment, and by other appropriate means.

3. The rules may be limited in their application to certain classes of establishments, places of employment, machines, apparatus, articles, processes, industries, trades or occupations, or may apply only to those to be constructed, established, installed, or provided in the future.

4. The rules of the board shall have the force and effect of law and shall be enforced in the same manner as the provisions of this chapter.

5. No provision of this chapter specifically conferring powers on the board to make rules shall limit the power conferred by this section.

Sec. 29. Industrial code.—The rules of the board shall constitute the industrial code, and, until amended or repealed, the rules of the industrial commission continued in force by this chapter shall constitute the industrial code and be deemed to have been adopted or made by the industrial board for the purposes in such rules provided. At least two affirmative votes shall be necessary for the adoption, amendment or repeal of any rule. Before any rule is adopted, amended or repealed there shall be a public hearing thereon, notice of which shall be published at least once, not less than ten days prior thereto, in such newspaper or newspapers as the board may prescribe, and where it affects premises in the city of New York in the City Record of the city of New York. The commissioner may appoint committees composed of employers, employees, and experts to suggest rules or changes therein. Every rule adopted and every amendment or repeal thereof shall be promptly published in the bulletins of the department and where it affects premises in the city of New York in the City Record in the city of New York. The rules and all amendments and repeals thereof shall, unless otherwise prescribed by the board, take effect twenty days after the first publication thereof and certified copies thereof shall be filed with the secretary of state.

Sec. 30. Variations.—If there shall be practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in carrying out a provision of this chapter or a rule of the board thereunder affecting the construction or alteration of buildings, exits therefrom, the installation of fixtures and apparatus, or of the safeguarding of machinery and prevention of accidents, the board may make a variation from such requirements if the spirit of the provision or rule shall be observed and public safety secured. Any person affected by such provision or rule, or his agent, may petition the board for such variation stating the grounds therefor. The board shall fix a day for a hearing on such petition and give notice thereof to the petitioner. If the board shall permit such variation it shall be in the form of a resolution adopted by at least two votes, and the variation shall apply to all buildings, installations or conditions where the facts are substantially the same as those stated in the petition. The resolution shall describe the conditions under which the variation shall be permitted and shall be published in the bulletin of the department. Where the variation affects premises or conditions in the city of New York it shall also be published in the City Record of New York City. A properly indexed record of all variations shall be kept in the office of the department and open to public inspection.

Sec. 31. Information to be given.—The owner, operator, manager or lessee of any place affected by the provisions of this chapter, or his agent, superintendent, subordinate or employee, and any person employing or directing any labor affected by such provision shall, when requested by the commission or board, furnish any information in his possession or under his control which the commissioner or board is authorized to require; shall answer truthfully all questions authorized to be put to him; shall admit the commissioner, a deputy commissioner, or other officer or employee of the department to any place which is affected by the provisions of this chapter for the purpose of making inspection or enforcing the provisions thereof and the industrial code and shall render assistance necessary for a proper inspection.

Sec. 32. Obstructions of officers.—No person shall interfere with, obstruct or otherwise hinder any officer or employee of the department in the performance of his duties.

Sec. 33. Notice.—Whenever the commissioner or board or any person affected by the provisions of this chapter is required to give notice in writing to any person, such notice may be given by mailing it in a letter addressed to such person at his last known place of business or by delivering it to him personally. Notice to a partnership may be given to any of the partners and notice to a corporation may be given to any officer or agent thereof upon whom a summons may be served as provided by the Code of Civil Procedure. Whenever an order or demand of the department is required to be served it shall be served in the manner hereinbefore provided for the service of a notice or by delivering it to any person of suitable age and discretion in charge of the premises affected by such order, or if no person is found in charge by affixing a copy thereof conspicuously upon the premises.

Sec. 34. Record of licenses.—The department shall keep records of all licenses, permits or certificates issued, revoked or amended by it and publish lists thereof at such times and in such forms as it may determine.

Sec. 35. Report.—The commissioner shall make an annual report of the department to the legislature on or before the first day of February.

Sec. 36. Old records.—All statistics and other documentary matter filed with the department may be destroyed by the commissioner after the expiration of six years from the filing thereof.

Sec. 37. Process.—All notices or orders shall be given by and in the name of the department by the commissioner, by the industrial board or a member thereof, or by the deputy commissioner or other officer or employee thereunto duly authorized.

Sec. 38. Oaths.—The commissioner, a member of the industrial board, the deputy commissioner, a referee, and any other officer or employee of the department if duly authorized by the commissioner, may administer oaths and take affidavits in matters relating to the provisions of this chapter and the workmen's compensation law.

Sec. 39. Hearings.—The commissioner, the members of the industrial board, the deputy commissioner, and referee shall have power:

1. To issue subpœnas for and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, contracts, papers, documents, and other evidence;

2. To hear testimony and take or cause to be taken depositions of witnesses residing within or without this State in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the supreme court. Subpœnas and commissions to take testimony shall be issued under the seal of the department.

Sec. 40. Proceedings.—Any investigation, inquiry, or hearing which the commissioner or board has power to undertake or to hold may by special authorization be undertaken or held by or before any of the officers of the department, and any decision rendered on such investigation, inquiry, or hearing, when approved and confirmed by the commissioner or board and ordered filed in the office, shall be the order of the department.

Sec. 41. Rules for hearings.—The commissioner and the board shall not be bound by technical rules of evidence and shall conduct all hearings according to procedure prescribed by them respectively.

Article III

Section 110 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Review by industrial board.—1. Any person in interest, or his duly authorized agent, may petition the industrial board for a review of the validity or reasonableness of any rule or order made under the provisions of this chapter.

2. The petition shall be verified, shall be filed with the commissioner and shall state the rule or order proposed to be reviewed and in what respects it is claimed to be invalid or unreasonable. Any objections to the rule or order not raised in the petition shall be deemed waived. The board may join in one proceeding all petitions alleging invalidity or unreasonableness of substantially similar rules or orders. The filing of such petition shall operate to stay all proceedings under such rule or order until the determination of such review.

3. The board shall order a hearing, if necessary, to determine the issues raised, or if the issues have been considered in a prior proceeding the board may without hearing confirm its previous determination. Notice of the time and place of hearing shall be given to the petitioner and to such other persons as the board may determine.

4. If the board finds that the rule or order is invalid or unreasonable it shall revoke or amend the same.

5. The decision of the board shall be final, unless within thirty days after it is filed one of the parties commences an action as provided in section one hundred and eleven.

Sec. 111. By courts.—1. Any person in interest may bring an action in the supreme court against the department to determine the validity and reasonableness of any provisions of this chapter or of the rules made in pursuance thereof or of any order directing compliance therewith: Provided, That no such action to determine the validity and reasonableness of any rule or order shall be brought except as an appeal from the determination of the board as provided in section one hundred and ten.

2. If the action is an appeal from a determination of the board it shall file with the clerk of the court a certified copy of the record of its hearings in the matter.

3. The court may refer any issue arising in such action to the board for further consideration. At any time during such action the party appealing may apply to the court without notice for an order directing any question of fact arising upon any issue to be tried and determined by a jury, and the court shall thereupon cause such question to be stated for trial accordingly and the findings of the jury upon such question shall be conclusive. Appeals may be taken from the supreme court to the appellate division of the supreme court and to the court of appeals in such cases, subject to the limitations provided in the Code of Civil Procedure.

Sec. 112. Validity.—1. Every provision of this chapter and of the rules made in pursuance thereof, and every order directing compliance therewith, shall be valid, unless declared invalid in a proceeding brought under the provisions of section one hundred and ten. Except as provided in section one hundred and eleven, no court shall have jurisdiction to review or annul any such provision or order or to restrain or interfere with its enforcement.

2. Every such provision, rule, or order shall in a prosecution or action to impose a penalty for its violation be deemed valid unless prior thereto such provision, rule, or order has been revoked or modified by the board or annulled by a court pursuant to section one hundred and ten and one hundred and eleven, or unless such proceeding is pending, in which case the prosecution or action shall be stayed by the court pending the final determination thereof. If any such prosecution or action is commenced against a defendant who has not previously been served with an order to comply with such provision, or who has been served with such an order but has not had a reasonable opportunity to comply therewith, and if within five days the defendant commences proceedings under the provisions of sections one hundred and ten and one hundred and eleven, the prosecution or action shall be stayed as if such proceeding were pending at the time it was commenced.

Article IV

Section 130 (as amended 1921, ch. 386). Age limit for children.—[No child under 14 may be employed in or about a factory, mercantile establishment, office, hotel, restaurant, theater, bowling alley, barber shop, as messenger, bootblack, delivery boy or in the sale of articles.]

Sec. 131 (as amended 1921, ch. 386). Certificates.—[Children under 16 employed in the establishments named above must have employment certificates on file.]

Sec. 144 (as amended 1921, ch. 386). Children apparently under 16.—[Proof of age may be demanded in case of any employed child apparently under 16, or his discharge required.]

Sec. 145 (as amended 1921, ch. 386). Physical examinations.—[Whenever required by a medical inspector of the department of labor, an employed child between 14 and 16 must submit to an examination, of which a record shall be kept. If found unfit for employment, his certificate may be canceled.]

Sec. 146 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Dangerous, etc., employments.—[This section forbids employment up to 16 years of age in a list of dangerous employments. For a similar list see the Delaware Code, secs. 3145, 3148. This section continues]:

3. No female under sixteen years of age shall be employed in any capacity which compels constant standing.

4. No male under sixteen years of age shall be employed to have the care, custody, or operation of a freight or passenger elevator. No male under eighteen years of age shall be employed to have the care, custody, or operation of such elevator running at a speed of over two hundred feet a minute.

5. No female under eighteen years of age shall be employed to have the care, custody, or operation of a freight or passenger elevator.

6. No male under sixteen years of age nor any female shall be employed in or in connection with a mine or quarry.

7. No male under eighteen years of age nor any female under twenty-one years of age shall be employed or directed to clean machinery while it is in motion.

8. No male under eighteen years of age, nor any female shall be employed in operating or using any emery, tripoli, rouge, corundum, stone, carborundum, or any abrasive, or emery polishing or buffing wheel, where articles of the baser metals or iridium are manufactured: Provided, however, That females more than twenty-one years of age may be employed in operating such wheels for wet grinding under conditions specified by the industrial board in its rules.

9. No female under twenty-one years of age shall be employed as a conductor or guard on any street, surface, electric, subway, or elevated railroad.

10. No female under twenty-one years of age shall be employed as messenger for a telegraph or messenger company in distributing, transmitting, or delivering goods or messages.

11. In addition to the cases provided for in the foregoing subdivisions, the board when it finds upon investigation that any particular trade, process of manufacture, occupation, or method of carrying on the same is dangerous or injurious to the health of minors under eighteen years may adopt rules prohibiting or regulating the employment of such minors therein.

Sec. 147. Core making.—No female shall be employed in a foundry at or in connection with the making of cores where an oven in which the cores are baked is in operation in the same room or space in which the cores are made. A partition separating the oven from the space where the cores are made shall not be sufficient, unless the partition extends from floor to ceiling and is so constructed and the openings therein so protected that gases and fumes from the core oven will not enter the space in which women are employed. The board may adopt rules regulating the construction, equipment, maintenance, and operation of core rooms and the size and weight of cores that may be handled by women.

Sec. 148. Childbirth.—No owner, manager, foreman, or other person in authority in a factory or mercantile establishment shall knowingly employ a female, or permit her to be employed therein, within four weeks after she has given birth to a child.

Sec. 149. Physical examinations.—Whenever an employer shall require a physical examination of a female by a physician or a surgeon she shall be entitled to have the examination made by one of her sex or to have another female present if a male physician or surgeon makes the examination. The employer requiring the examination shall post a notice informing the party to be examined of her rights under this section.

Sec. 150. Seats.—A sufficient number of suitable seats, with backs where practicable, shall be provided and maintained in every factory, mercantile establishment, freight or passenger elevator, hotel, and restaurant for female employees who shall be allowed to use the seats to such an extent as may be reasonable for the preservation of their health. In factories female employees shall be allowed to use such seats whenever they are engaged in work which can be properly performed in a sitting posture. In mercantile establishments at least one seat shall be provided for every three female employees, and if the duties of such employees are to be performed principally in front of a counter, table, desk, or fixture, such seats shall be placed in front thereof, or if such duties are to be performed principally behind such counter, table, desk, or fixture they shall be placed behind the same.

Article V

Section 160. Hours of labor.—Unless otherwise provided by law, the following number of hours shall constitute a legal day's work:

1. For street surface or elevated railroad employees as affected by section one hundred and sixty-four, ten consecutive hours, including one-half hour for dinner.

2. For employees engaged in the operation of steam or electric surface, subway, or elevated railroads where the mileage system of running trains is not in use, except those employees affected by section one hundred and sixty-six, ten hours, performed within twelve consecutive hours.

3. For all other employees, except those engaged in farm or domestic service and those affected by subdivision four of section two hundred and twenty, eight hours.

This subdivision shall not prevent an agreement for overwork at an increased compensation, except upon work by or for the State or a municipal corporation, or by contractors or subcontractors therewith, and except as otherwise provided in this chapter.

Sec. 161 (as amended 1921, ch. 671). Day of rest.—Every employer operating a factory, mercantile establishment, or freight or passenger elevator in any building or place shall, except as herein otherwise provided, allow every person employed in such establishment or in the care, custody, or operation of any such elevator, at least twenty-four consecutive hours of rest in any calendar week. No employer shall operate such establishment or elevator on Sunday unless he shall comply with subdivision three. This section does not authorize any work on Sunday not permitted now or hereafter by law.

2. Exceptions.—This section shall not apply to:

a. Janitors, watchmen, superintendents, or foremen in charge;

b. Employees in dairies, creameries, milk condenseries, milk powder factories, milk sugar factories, milk shipping stations, butter and cheese factories, ice cream manufacturing plants, and milk bottling plants where not more than seven persons are employed;

c. Employees, if the board in its discretion approves, engaged in an industrial or manufacturing process necessarily continuous, in which no employee is permitted to work more than eight hours in any calendar day;

d. Employees whose duties include not more than three hours work on Sunday in setting sponges in bakeries, caring for live animals, maintaining fires, or making necessary repairs to boilers or machinery.

e. Emplyees in hotels.

3. Work on Sunday.—Before operating on Sunday every employer shall conspicuously post on the premises a schedule containing a list of his employees permitted to work on Sunday, and designating a day of rest for each, and shall file a copy of such schedule with the commissioner. The employer shall also promptly file with the commissioner a copy of every change in the schedule. No employee shall be permitted to work on his designated day of rest.

4. Time book.—Every employer shall keep a time book showing the names and addresses of his employees and the hours worked by each of them in each day.

5. Variations.—If there shall be practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships in carrying out the provisions of this section or the rules of the board, the board may make a variation therefrom if the spirit of the act be observed and substantial justice done. Such variation shall be by resolution adopted by a majority vote, shall describe the conditions under which it shall be permitted, and shall apply to substantially similar conditions. The variations shall be published in the same manner as the rules of the department and properly indexed record of variations shall be kept by the department.

6. Violations.—In case of violations of any of the provisions of this section, the commissioner shall issue an order directing compliance therewith, and upon failure so to comply shall commence a prosecution as provided by law.

Sec. 162. Time for meals.—1. Every person employed in or in connection with a factory and every female employed as a conductor or guard as specified in section two hundred and three shall be allowed at least sixty minutes for the noonday meal

2. Every person employed in or in connection with a mercantile or other establishment or occupation coming under the provisions of this chapter shall be allowed at least forty-five minutes for the noonday meal, except as in this chapter otherwise provided.

3. Every person employed after seven o'clock in the evening shall be allowed at least twenty minutes for a meal between five and seven o'clock in the evening.

4. The board may permit a shorter time to be fixed for noonday meals than hereinbefore provided. The permit therefor shall be in writing and shall be kept conspicuously posted in the main entrance of the establishment. Such permit may be revoked at any time.

Sec. 163. Brickyards.—No corporation owning or operating a brickyard shall require employees to work more than ten hours in any day, or to commence work before seven o'clock in the morning. But overwork and work prior to seven o'clock in the morning for extra compensation may be performed by agreement between employer and employee.

Sec. 164. Street railroads.—No employee engaged in the operation of a street surface or elevated railroad of whatever motive power owned or operated by a corporation whose main line or route of travel lies principally within a city of the first or second class, shall be employed more than ten consecutive hours, including one-half hour for dinner, in any day, except that in cases of accident or unavoidable delay extra work may be performed for extra compensation.

Sec. 165. Other railroads.—1. No person or corporation operating a steam or electric surface, subway, or elevated railroad of thirty miles or more in length, wholly or partly within this State, except where the mileage system of running trains is in operation, shall permit or require a conductor, engineer, fireman, trainman, motorman, or assistant motorman, engaged in or connected with the movement of any train on such railroad, to be or remain on duty for a longer period than sixteen consecutive hours. Whenever any such employee shall have been continuously on duty for sixteen hours he shall not be required or permitted again to go on duty until he has had at least ten consecutive hours off duty. No such employee who has been on duty sixteen hours in the aggregate in any twenty-four hour period shall be required or permitted to continue or again to go on duty without having had at least eight consecutive hours off duty.

2. This section shall not apply to any such employee when he is prevented from reaching his terminal by casualty occurring after he has started on his trip or by accident to or unexpected delay of trains scheduled to make connection with the train on which he is serving, or when he is engaged in interstate commerce.

SEC. 166. Signalmen.—1. When used in this section "signalman" means:

a. A telegraph or telephone operator reporting trains to another office or to a train dispatcher;

b. A telegraph or telephone leverman who manipulates interlocking machines in railroad yards or on main tracks on the lines;

c. A train dispatcher whose duties pertain to the movement of cars, engines or trains, by telegraph or telephone in dispatching or reporting trains or receiving or transmitting train orders.

2. When used in this section "railroad" means: Any portion of a surface, subway, or elevated railroad situated wholly or partly in this State and operated by a corporation or receiver on which portion at least twenty freight trains on the average or nine regular passenger trains pass each way in every twenty-four hours.

3. No signalman shall be employed on any railroad for more than eight hours in any day except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by accident, fire, flood, or danger to life or property, and he shall be paid for each hour of such overtime at least one-eighth of his daily compensation.

4. Every signalman and every towerman or gateman performing duties similar to those of a signalman, who is employed for eight hours or more every day shall be allowed at least two days of rest of twenty-four hours each in every calendar month with the regular compensation, except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by accident, fire, flood, or danger to life or property, when in addition to his regular compensation he shall be paid for every hour so employed at least one-eighth of his daily compensation.

5. The provisions of this section shall not apply to employees engaged in interstate commerce.

SEC. 170. Work time in factories.—No child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed in or in connection with a factory:

a. More than six days or fifty-four hours in any week;

b. More than eight hours in any day;

c. Between the hours of five o'clock in the evening and eight o'clock in the morning.

SEC. 171 (as amended 1924, ch. 375). Males 16 to 18.—No male between sixteen and eighteen years of age shall be employed in a factory except in canning or preserving perishable products in fruit and canning establishments between the fifteenth day of June and the fifteenth day of October:

a. More than six days or fifty-four hours in any week;

b. More than nine hours in any day, except that he may be employed ten hours a day to make a shorter work day or holiday on any one day of the week.

In no case shall such person be employed between the hours of twelve midnight and six o'clock in the morning.

SEC. 172. Females.—1. No female over sixteen years of age shall be employed in a factory, except as provided in section one hundred and seventy-three:

a. More than six days or fifty-hours in any week;

b. More than nine hours in any day, except that she may be employed ten hours a day to make a shorter workday or holiday on any one day of the week.

2. In no case shall a female under twenty-one years of age be employed in any factory between the hours of nine o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, or a female over twenty-one years of age between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning.

SEC. 173. Canneries.—Except as provided in subdivision two of section one hundred and seventy-two a female over eighteen years of age may be employed in canning or preserving perishable products in fruit and canning establishments between the fifteenth day of June and the fifteenth day of October not more than ten hours in any day nor more than six days or sixty hours in any week, but the board may adopt rules permitting such employment between the twenty-fifth day of June and the fifth day of August not more than twelve hours in any one day nor more than six days or sixty-six hours in any week, if it finds that such employment is required by the needs of the industry and can be permitted without serious injury to the health of the women so employed. The provisions of this section shall not apply unless the daily hours of labor shall be posted and a time book kept as provided in section one hundred and seventy-four.

SEC. 174. Schedule of hours.—1. A notice on a form furnished by the commissioner stating the daily hours of labor required of all persons subject to this title and the time that their work shall begin and end, shall be kept conspicuously posted in each establishment where they are employed, and they shall not be otherwise permitted to work therein.

The schedule of hours as stated in the notice shall not be changed after the beginning of labor on the first day of the week without the consent of the commissioner. The presence of any such person in the factory at any other hours than those stated in the notice, or if no such notice is posted, before seven o'clock in the morning or after six o'clock in the evening, shall constitute prima facie evidence of a violation of the section relating to the hours of labor of such person.

2. In a factory wherein, owing to the nature of the work, it is practically impossible to fix the hours of labor weekly in advance, the commissioner, upon an application stating facts showing the necessity therefor, shall grant a permit dispensing with the notice required in this section.

3. In every factory operating under such a permit, or employing females under section one hundred and seventy-three, a notice stating the daily hours of labor shall be posted and a time book shall be kept in a form approved by the commissioner, giving the names and addresses of all employees subject to this section and the hours worked by each of them in each day. No person shall knowingly make or suffer to be made a false entry in any such time book.

4. The permit shall be posted conspicuously in the factory. The commissioner may revoke the permit for failure to post the same or the notice of the daily hours of labor, or to keep the time book as herein provided.

5. Where a female or male minor is employed in two or more factories or mercantile establishments in the same day or week, the total time of employment shall not exceed that allowed per day or week in a single factory or mercantile establishment.

6. In a prosecution for a violation of any provision of this title, the burden of proving a permit or exception shall be upon the party claiming it.

SEC. 180. Work time in mercantile, etc., establishments.—No child under sixteen years of age shall be employed in or in connection with any mercantile establishment, business office, telegraph office, restaurant, hotel, apartment house, theater, or other place of amusement, bowling alley, barber shop, shoe-polishing establishment, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise, articles or messages, or in the sale of articles:

a. More than six days or forty-eight hours in any week;

b. More than eight hours in any day;

c. Between the hours of six o'clock in the evening and eight o'clock in the morning.

This section shall not apply to any employment prohibited or regulated by section four hundred and eighty-five of the penal law.

SEC. 180-a (added 1924, ch. 375). Same, to eighteen years.—Except from the eighteenth day of December to the following twenty-fourth of December, inclusive, and except for two additional days at any time during the year for the purpose of stock taking, no male between sixteen and eighteen years of age shall be employed in or in connection with any mercantile establishment, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or articles:

a. More than six days of [or] fifty-four hours in any week;

b. More than nine hours in any day, except that he may be employed more than nine hours on one day of each week, in order to make one or more shorter work days in the week;

c. Between the hours of twelve midnight and six o'clock in the morning.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to apply to the delivery of newspapers.

SEC. 181. Females over sixteen.—Except from the eighteenth day of December to the following twenty-fourth of December, inclusive, and except for two additional days at any time during the year for the purpose of stock taking, no female over sixteen years of age shall be employed in or in connection with any mercantile establishment:

a. More than six days or fifty-four hours in any week;

b. More than nine hours in any day, except that she may be employed more than nine hours on one day of each week, in order to make one or more shorter workdays in the week;

c. Between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and seven o'clock in the morning.

The provisions of this section prohibiting employment more than six days a week and between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and seven o'clock in the morning shall not apply to female writers or reporters employed in newspaper offices.

SEC. 182. Restaurants.—No female over the age of sixteen years shall be employed in or in connection with any restaurant in cities of the first and second class:

a. More than six days or fifty-four hours in any week;

b. More than nine hours in any day;

c. Between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning.

This section shall not apply to females employed in restaurants as singers and performers, or as attendants in ladies' cloak rooms and parlors, nor to females employed in connection with dining rooms and kitchens of hotels, or lunch rooms or restaurants conducted by employers solely for the benefit of their own employees.

SEC. 183. Elevators.—No female over eighteen years of age shall be employed to have the care, custody, or operation of a freight or passenger elevator in any place:

a. More than six days or fifty-four hours in any week;

b. More than nine hours in any day;

c. Between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and seven o'clock in the morning, except that if the elevator be used in connection with a business or industry in which the employment of women before seven o'clock is not prohibited, a woman may begin work at the employment described in this section at six o'clock in the morning. This subdivision shall not apply to a woman over twenty-one years of age employed as herein specified in a hotel.

SEC. 184. Street railroads.—1. No female over twenty-one years of age shall be employed as a conductor or guard in the operation of any street surface, electric, subway, or elevated railroad car or train:

a. More than six days or fifty-four hours in any week;

b. More than nine hours in any day;

c. Between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning.

2. The daily hours of such employees shall be the period between the time of reporting for duty at the station, barn, terminal, or car and the time when released for the day. Not less than one hour shall be allowed for meals, unless a shorter time is permitted by the commissioner. In such case the permit, revocable at any time by the commissioner, shall be kept posted in the main entrance of the station, terminal, or car barn where such employees are employed or report for duty.

SEC. 185. Messenger service.—1. No male under the age of twenty-one years shall be employed in a city of the first or second class as a messenger for a telegraph or messenger company in distributing, transmitting, or delivering goods or messages between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and five o'clock in the morning.

2. No female over twenty-one years of age shall be employed as a messenger for a telegraph or messenger company in distributing, delivering, or transmitting goods or messages:

a. More than six days or fifty-four hours in any week;

b. Between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and seven o'clock in the morning.

Sec. 186. Schedule of hours.—1. A notice on a form furnished by the commissioner stating the daily hours of labor required of all persons subject to this title and the time when their work shall begin and end shall be kept conspicuously posted in each room where they are employed or report for duty, and they shall not be otherwise permitted to work therein.

2. The schedule of hours as stated in the notice shall not be changed after the beginning of labor on the first day of the week without the consent of the commissioner.

3. Where employees on street surface, electric, subway, or elevated railroads are involved, their presence on the premises in the occupation specified in this title at any other hours than those stated in the printed notice, or if no such notice be posted between the hours of ten o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, shall constitute prima facie evidence of a violation of this section.

Article VI

Section 195 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Wages to be in cash.—Employers engaged in the following industries shall pay the wages of their employees in cash: Canal, express, ice harvesting or storing, manufacturing, mercantile, mining, quarrying, railroad, steamboat, street railway, telegraph, telephone and water corporations: Provided, however, That an employer in any of such industries may pay his employees by check if he furnishes satisfactory proof to the commissioner of his financial responsibility and gives reasonable assurance that such checks may be cashed by employees without difficulty and for the full amount for which they are drawn.

Sec. 196. Semimonthly pay day.—1. Every corporation or joint-stock association operating a steam surface railroad, or person carrying on the business thereof by lease or otherwise, shall, on or before the first day of each month, pay to each employee the wages earned during the first half of the preceding calendar month ending with the fifteenth day thereof, and on or before the fifteenth day of each month pay to each employee the wages earned during the last half of the preceding calendar month.

2. Weekly pay day.—Every other corporation or joint-stock association, or person carrying on the business thereof by lease or otherwise, shall pay weekly to each employee the wages earned to a day not more than six days prior to the date of such payment.

3. No employee shall be required as a condition of employment to accept wages at periods other than as provided in this section.

Sec. 197. Assignments.—No assignment of future wages shall be valid if made to an employer enumerated in sections one hundred and ninety-five and one hundred and ninety-six, or to any person on his behalf or if made or procured to be made to any person to relieve such employer from payment of wages, as provided by such section. Charges for groceries, provisions, or clothing shall not be a valid offset in behalf of the employer against wages.

Sec. 198. Violations.—If a corporation or joint-stock association, its lessee or other person carrying on the business thereof, shall fail to pay the wages of all its employees, as provided in this article, it shall forfeit to the people of the State the sum of fifty dollars for each such failure, to be recovered by the commissioner in a civil action.

Article VII

Section 200. Health and safety.—All places to which this chapter applies shall be so constructed, equipped, arranged, operated and conducted as to provide reasonable and adequate protection to the lives, health and safety of all persons employed therein. The board shall make rules to carry into effect the provisions of this section.

Sec. 201. Laws to be posted.—Wherever persons are employed who are affected by the provisions of this chapter or of the industrial code, the commissioner shall furnish to the employer copies or abstracts of all such provisions and rules affecting such persons. The copies or abstracts shall be in such languages as the commissioner may require and shall be kept posted by the employer in a conspicuous place on each floor of the premises. In cities, this section shall not apply to mercantile establishments where less than three persons are employed.

Sec. 203. Wash rooms.—There shall be provided and maintained for the use of all persons employed in operating freight or passenger elevators adequate and convenient wash rooms or washing facilities and a sufficient number of suitable and convenient water-closets. Where the elevator is used in or in connection with a factory or mercantile establishment, the provisions of sections two hundred and ninety-three and two hundred and ninety-five shall apply to wash rooms, washing facilities and water-closets for employees mentioned in this section; and where the elevator is used in any other building or place, the provisions of such sections three hundred and seventy-eight and three hundred and eighty-one shall apply to wash rooms, washing facilities and water-closets for employees engaged in the care, custody or operation of an elevator in such building or place. For the purpose of so applying the sections last referred to, the term "mercantile establishment" as therein used shall be deemed to mean and include a building in which the elevator is located or with which it connects.

Sec. 204. Inspection of boilers.—The commissioner shall cause to be inspected at least once each year all boilers used for generating steam or heat which carry a steam pressure of more than fifteen pounds to the square inch, except where a certificate is filed with the commissioner by a duly authorized insurance company, in conformity with the rules of the board, and certifying that upon such inspection such boilers have been found to comply with the rules of the board, and to be in a safe condition. Every such insurance company shall report to the commissioner all boilers insured by it coming within the provisions of this section including those rejected, together with the reasons therefor.

[Fees for internal inspection are $5, and for external, $2, not more than $7 being collectible in the year. If a boiler is found unsafe, repairs as deemed necessary shall be ordered, and the use discontinued until repairs are made, under penalty of $5 for each day's use after receipt of order. Boilers subject to other inspection laws are exempt.]

Sec. 205. Eating in work rooms.—No employee shall take or be permitted to take any food into a room of any working place where lead, arsenate or other poisonous substances or injurious or noxious fumes, dust or gases exist in harmful conditions or are present in harmful quantities as an incident or result of the business carried on in such working place. Notice to the foregoing effect shall be posted in such room. No employee, unless his presence is necessary for the proper conduct of the business, shall remain in any such room during the time allowed for meals. The employer shall provide a suitable place in such establishment in which the employees may eat.

Sec. 206. Industrial poisonings.—1. Every physician attending any person whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning by lead, phosphorus, arsenic, brass, wood alcohol, mercury, or other compounds, or from anthrax, or compressed air illness, contracted as the result of the nature of such person's employment, shall send to the commissioner a report stating the name and address and place of employment of such person and the disease from which he is suffering, with such further information as may be required by the commissioner.

Sec. 207. Switchboards.—All buildings having installed therein a switchboard of two hundred and twenty volts or over shall have, on the floor or upon the platform or other standing place where the switchboard is located or to which it is attached, a rubber mat the length of the switchboard and of sufficient width to allow a person to walk or stand thereon while working at the switchboard or making tests.

Sec. 210. Violations by officials.—[State or municipal officers who knowingly violate or permit the violation of the provisions of this chapter shall be suspended or removed from office.]

Sec. 211. Employees' claims.—The commissioner shall cooperate with any employee in the enforcement of a just claim against his employer and for his protection against frauds and other improper practices on the part of any person, public or private.

Sec. 212. Labor camps.—The commissioner may enter and inspect all labor camps within the State and any camp which he may have reason to believe is a labor camp.

Article VIII

Section 220 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Eight-hour day.—1. Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work for all classes of employees in this State except those engaged in farm and domestic service, unless otherwise provided by law.

2. Each contract to which the State or a municipal corporation or a commission appointed pursuant to law is a party and which may involve the employment of laborers, workmen, or mechanics shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman, or mechanic in the employ of the contractor, subcontractor, or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract shall be permitted or required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood, or danger to life or property. No such person shall be employed more than eight hours in any day except in such emergency.

3. The wages to be paid for a legal day's work, as hereinbefore defined, to laborers, workmen, or mechanics upon such public works, or upon any material to be used upon or in connection therewith, shall be not less than the prevailing rate for a day's work in the same trade or occupation in the locality within the State where such public work on, about, or in connection with which such labor is performed in its final or completed form is to be situated, erected, or used and shall be paid in cash. Such contract shall contain a provision that each laborer, workman, or mechanic, employed by such contractor, subcontractor, or other person about or upon such public work, shall be paid the wages herein provided.

4. This section shall not apply to:

a. Stationary firemen in State hospitals;

b. Other persons regularly employed in State institutions, except mechanics;

c. Engineers, electricians, and elevator men in the department of public buildings during the annual session of the legislature;

d. Employees engaged in the construction, maintenance, and repair of highways and in waterworks construction outside the limits of cities and villages.

5. Any person or corporation who violates any provision of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished, for a first offense by a fine of five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; for a second offense by a fine of one thousand dollars, and in addition thereto the contract on which the violation has occurred shall be forfeited; and no such person or corporation shall be entitled to receive any sum nor shall any officer, agent, or employee of the State or of a municipal corporation pay the same or authorize its payment from the funds under his charge or control to any such person or corporation for work done upon any contract on which the contractor has been convicted of a second offense in violation of the provisions of this section.

SEC. 221. Company stores.—No person engaged in construction of public work under contract with the State or with any municipal corporation either as a contractor or subcontractor shall, directly or indirectly, conduct what is commonly known as a company store if there is any store selling supplies within two miles of the place where such contract is being executed.

SEC. 222. Preference in employment.—In the construction of public works by the State or a municipality, or by persons contracting with the State or a municipality, preference shall be given to citizens. Aliens may be employed when citizens are not available. In each contract for the construction of public works a provision shall be inserted that if this section is not complied with, the contract shall be void. All boards, officers, agents, or employees of cities of the first class having the power to enter into contracts which provide for the expenditure of public money on public works, shall file in the office of the department the names and addresses of all contractors holding contracts with said cities. Upon the demand of the commissioner a contractor shall furnish a list of the names and addresses of all his subcontractors. Each contractor performing work for any city of the first class shall keep a list of his employees, stating whether they are native born citizens or naturalized citizens and in case of naturalization, the date thereof, and the name of the court in which granted. A violation of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty nor more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 223. Enforcement.—If the commissioner finds that any person contracting with the State or a municipal corporation for the performance of any public work fails to comply with or evades the provisions of this article, he shall present evidence of such noncompliance or evasion to the officer, department, or board having charge of such work. Such officer, department, or board shall thereupon take proceedings to enforce this article.

[Article IX (sections 230–233) relates to immigrant lodging houses, and contains no provisions dealing with the employment relation. It is therefore omitted.]

Article X

Section 240. Scaffolding.—A person employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in the erection, repairing, altering, painting, cleaning, or pointing of a building or structure shall furnish or erect, or cause to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders, slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, braces, irons, ropes and other mechanical contrivances which shall be so constructed, placed and operated as to give proper protection to a person so employed or directed.

2. Scaffolding or staging more than twenty feet from the ground or floor, swung or suspended from an overhead support or erected with stationary supports, except scaffolding wholly within the interior of a building and covering the entire floor space of any room therein, shall have a safety rail of suitable material properly attached, bolted, braced and otherwise secured, rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portions of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length of the outside and the ends thereof, with only such openings as may be necessary for the delivery of materials. Such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent it from swaying from the building or structure.

3. All scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be dependent therefrom or placed thereon when in use.

4. The commissioner shall immediately inspect a scaffold or a mechanical device connected therewith concerning which complaint is made. He shall attach to every scaffold or mechanical device that he inspects a certificate stating that he has made the inspection and has found the same safe or unsafe, as the case may be. If unsafe, the commissioner shall at once, in writing, notify the person responsible for the scaffold or mechanical device of the fact and shall prohibit use of it by him or by any other person until all danger is removed by alteration, reconstruction, or replacement as the commissioner may direct. Such notice may be served personally upon the person responsible or by affixing it conspicuously to the scaffold or mechanical device declared unsafe.

Sec. 241 (as amended 1922, ch. 1). Protective flooring.—All contractors and owners, when constructing buildings, shall comply with the following requirements:

1. If the floors are to be arched between the beams thereof, or if the floors or filling in between the floors are of fireproof material, the flooring or filling in shall be completed as the building progresses.

2. If the floors are not to be filled in between the beams with brick or other fireproof material, the underflooring shall be laid on each story as the building progresses.

3. If double floors are not to be used, the floor two stories immediately below the story where the work is being performed shall be kept planked over.

4. If the floor beams are of iron or steel, the entire tier of iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected shall be thoroughly planked over to not less than six feet beyond such beams, except spaces reasonably required for proper construction of the iron or steel work, for raising or lowering of materials or for stairways and elevator shafts designated by the plans and specifications.

5. If elevators, elevating machines or hod-hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction, for the purpose of lifting materials to be used, the shafts or openings in each floor shall be inclosed or fenced in on all sides by a barrier of suitable height, except on two sides which may be used for taking off and putting on materials, and those sides shall be guarded by an adjustable barrier not less than three nor more than four feet from the floor and not less than two feet from the edges of such shafts or openings.

6. If a building in course of construction is five stories or more high, no lumber or timber for such construction shall be hoisted or lifted on the outside of such building.

Sec. 242. Enforcement.—The commissioner and the chief officer charged with the enforcement of the building laws of any city, town or village shall enforce this article. Such officer shall have all the powers for enforcement of it that are vested in the commissioner.

ARTICLE XI

SECTION 250. Factory registration.—Every person conducting a factory shall register it with the commissioner, giving his name, home address, the address of the business, the name under which it is conducted, the number of employees and such other data as the commissioner may require. Such factory shall be so registered within thirty days after the commencement of business. Any new address of the business, together with such other information as the commissioner may require, shall be filed with the commissioner within thirty days after a change in location.

SEC. 255. Elevators.—In all factory buildings, every elevator and elevator opening and the machinery connected therewith, and every hoistway, hatchway, and wellhole shall be so constructed, guarded, equipped, maintained, and operated as to be safe for all persons; the board shall adopt rules to carry into effect the provisions of this section.

SEC. 256. Safety devices.—1. In every factory all machinery, belting, machines, apparatus, appliances, and equipment shall be properly guarded and provided with proper safety devices. All machinery, apparatus, furniture, and fixtures shall be so placed and guarded as to be safe for all persons. Whenever necessary for the safety of employees, special clothing or guards to be worn upon the person shall be provided and used. All moving parts of machinery shall be kept properly lighted during working hours when necessary to prevent accident. The board may make rules to carry into effect the foregoing provision.

2. No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard or safety appliance or device around or attached to machinery, vats, or pans, unless for the purpose of immediately repairing or adjusting such machinery, guard, appliance, or device and he shall immediately replace such guard, appliance, or device when such purpose is accomplished. It shall be the duty of the employer and of every person exercising direction or control over the person who removes such safeguard, safety appliance, or device, or over any person for whose protection it is designed, to see that it is promptly and properly replaced.

3. If the commissioner finds that a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded or is dangerously placed, he shall attach to such machine a notice warning all persons against the use thereof. Such notice shall not be removed except by an authorized representative of the commissioner nor until the machinery is made safe and the required safeguards or safety appliances or devices are provided, and in the meantime such machinery shall not be used.

SEC. 257. Lighting.—1. In every factory proper lighting shall be provided during working hours for:

a. All places where persons work or pass, or may have to work or pass in emergencies;

b. All elevator cars and entrances;

c. All halls and stairs leading to workrooms;

d. All moving parts of machinery not required to be guarded by section two hundred and fifty-six and the rules of the commission, and dangerous because of their location.

2. In every factory workroom the lighting shall be such as will not cause strain on the vision or glare in the eyes of workers.

3. In the public hallway upon each floor of every factory building a proper light shall be kept burning near the stairs during each working-day from the opening of the building until its closing, except when natural light suffices. Such lights shall be arranged to operate reliably when through accident or other cause other lights of the building are extinguished.

[Sections 260–269 define what is meant by fireproof construction, etc., in the labor law, and give in detail the requirements for the various factors. On account of the detailed and technical nature of the matter, it is not reproduced here.]

SEC. 270. Factory requirements.—No factory shall be conducted in a building erected after October first, nineteen hundred and thirteen, which is more than one story in height unless such building shall conform to the following requirements:

1. All buildings more than four stories in height shall be fireproof.

[Other subsections give the requirements as to roofs and walls, exits, stairways, doors (which must open outwardly), partitions and elevator and other shafts and openings in the floors.]

SEC. 272. Fire protection.—No factory shall be conducted in any building unless such building shall be so constructed, equipped, and maintained in all respects as to afford adequate protection against fire to all persons employed therein, nor unless in addition to the provisions of sections two hundred and seventy and two hundred and seventy-one such buildings shall conform to the following requirements:

1. Exits to be clear.—Every exit shall be maintained in an unobstructed condition. Safe and continuous passageways with an unobstructed width of at least three feet throughout their length and leading directly to every exit including fire escapes and passenger elevators shall be maintained at all times on every floor of the building.

2. Stairways.—Stairways shall be provided with proper hand rails. Where the stairway is inclosed by fireproof partitions the bottom of the inclosure shall be of fireproof material at least four inches thick, unless such partitions extend to the cellar bottom. If safe egress may be had from the roof to an adjacent structure all stairways serving as required exits and extending to the top story shall be continued to the roof.

3. Doors and windows.—No door leading into or out of any factory or any floor thereof shall be locked, bolted, or fastened during working hours. No door, window, or other opening on any floor shall be obstructed by stationary metal bars, grating, or wire mesh. Metal bars, grating, or wire mesh provided for any such door, window, or other opening shall be so constructed as to be readily movable or removable from both sides so as to afford free and unobstructed use thereof as a means of egress and they shall be left unlocked during working hours. Every door opening on a stairway or other exit shall open so as not to obstruct the passageway.

4. Exit signs.—A sign marked "exit" in letters not less than eight inches in height shall be placed over all openings leading to stairways and other exits and a red light shall be placed over all such openings and used in time of darkness.

5. Regulations.—The board may adopt rules and establish requirements and standards for construction, equipment, and maintenance of factory buildings or of particular classes thereof and the means and adequacy of exit therefrom in order to carry out the purposes of this chapter, in addition to the requirements of sections two hundred and seventy to two hundred and seventy-four, inclusive, and not inconsistent therewith.

SEC. 273. Fire escapes.—[This section prescribes material and construction for fire escapes, balconies, landings, etc.]

SEC. 275. Construction.—[Sections 272, 273 are not a substitute for local or general laws on the subject, but supplemental unless inconsistent, when they supersede such laws.]

SEC. 276. Inspection.—1. The officer of any city, village, or town having power to inspect buildings therein to determine their conformity to the requirements of law or ordinance governing their construction shall, whenever requested by the commissioner, inspect any factory building therein and certify to the commissioner whether such building conforms to the requirements of this chapter and the rules of the board. Such certificate shall be presumptive evidence of the truth of the matters therein stated.

2. Approval of plans.—Before constructing or altering a building to be used for a factory, the plans and specifications therefor may be submitted to the commissioner in such form as he may require. If they comply with the requirements of this chapter and the rules of the board, the commissioner shall issue his certificate approving the same. The commissioner may request any officer of the city, village, or town in which the building is located who has power to approve plans for construction and alteration of buildings therein to examine the plans and specifications and to certify whether such plans and specifications conform to the requirements of the law and the rules of the board. Such certificate shall be presumptive evidence of the truth of the matters therein stated.

3. Certificate.—After such construction or alteration shall be completed, the commissioner shall, when requested by the owner or person filing the plans, ascertain by inspection or in the manner provided in subdivision two of this section whether the building conforms to the requirements of this chapter and the rules of the board. If the commissioner finds that it does so conform he shall issue his certificate to that effect.

Sec. 277. Permit.—The officer of any city, village, or town having power to approve plans for the construction and alteration of buildings shall immediately upon the issuance of a permit for the construction or alteration of a building to be used for a factory or mercantile establishment as defined by this chapter, forward to the commissioner on forms provided by him a notice of the issue of such permit and such other information as he may require. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the city of New York.

Sec. 278. Number of occupants.—[This section directs that the number of employees on any floor above the ground floor in a factory building shall be limited to the number who can safely escape by the exits provided. Limits are then fixed in accordance with various conditions specified, as where a sprinkler system is installed, horizontal exits exist, fireproof partitions are provided, etc.]

Sec. 279. Fire-alarm systems.—1. Every factory building over two stories in height in which more than twenty-five persons are employed above the ground floor shall be equipped by the owner thereof with a fire alarm signal system having a sufficient number of signals clearly audible to all occupants of the building, and so arranged as to permit the sounding of all the alarms within the building whenever the alarm is sounded in any portion thereof. Such system shall be maintained in good working order and no person shall tamper with same or render ineffective any portion thereof except to repair it. A person discovering a fire shall cause an alarm to be sounded immediately. The board of standards and appeals in the city of New York and elsewhere the board may make rules and regulations prescribing the number, character, and location of the signals and the method and character of the installation including that of all appliances in connection therewith.

2. Fire drills.—In every factory building over two stories in height in which more than twenty-five persons are employed above the ground floor, a fire drill shall be conducted at least once a month in which all of the occupants of the building shall participate simultaneously and which shall conduct all such occupants to a place of safety. In New York City the fire commissioner and elsewhere the board shall make rules, regulations, and special orders necessary or suitable to each situation and to secure the personal cooperation of all the tenants of the building in a fire drill of all the occupants thereof. Such rules, regulations, and orders may require the posting of the same or an abstract thereof and may prescribe upon whom shall rest the duty of carrying them out.

3. Exceptions.—Subdivisions one and two of this section shall not apply to a building in which every square foot of the floor area on all stories is protected with an automatic sprinkler system having two adequate sources of water supply and approved by the public authorities having jurisdiction thereof and in which also the maximum number of occupants of any one floor does not exceed by more than fifty per centum the capacity of the exits, as determined by subdivisions one, two, and three of section two hundred and seventy-eight, in addition to the prescribed occupancy under subdivisions five, six, and seven of said section. If the commissioner after investigation determines that the spirit of this chapter is observed and public safety secured he may permit in place of the automatic sprinkler system before specified an automatic sprinkler system having one adequate source of water supply and approved by the public authorities having jurisdiction thereof.

4. Enforcement.—The provisions of this section shall be enforced in the city of New York by the fire commissioner of said city and elsewhere by the commissioner.

Sec. 280. Automatic sprinklers.—In every factory building over seven stories or ninety feet in height in which wooden flooring or wooden trim is used and more than two hundred people are regularly employed above the seventh floor or more than ninety feet above the ground level of the building, the owner thereof shall install an automatic sprinkler system to be approved in the city of New York by the fire commissioner in such city and elsewhere by the board. The provisions of this section shall be enforced in the city of New York by the fire commissioner of said city and elsewhere by the commissioner.

Sec. 281. Fireproof receptacles.—Every factory shall be provided with properly covered fireproof receptacles, the number, style, and location of which shall be approved in the city of New York by the fire commissioner and elsewhere by the commissioner. There shall be deposited in such receptacles waste materials, cuttings, and rubbish of an inflammable nature. No waste materials, cuttings, or rubbish shall be permitted to accumulate on the floors of any factory, but shall be removed therefrom not less than twice each day. All such waste materials, cuttings, and rubbish shall be entirely removed from a factory building at least once a day, except that baled waste material may be stored in fireproof inclosures. All such baled waste material shall be removed from the building at least once a month.

Sec. 282. Lights.—All gas jets and other lights in factories shall be properly inclosed by globes or wire cages or shall be otherwise properly protected in a manner approved in the city of New York by the fire commissioner of such city and elsewhere by the commissioner.

Sec. 283. Smoking.—1. No person shall smoke in a factory. A notice of such prohibition stating the penalty for violation thereof shall be kept posted in every entrance hall, elevator, stair hall, and room of a factory in English, and in such other languages as the fire commissioner of the city of New York in such city and elsewhere the commissioner shall direct.

2. The board in its rules may permit smoking in protected portions of a factory, or in such classes of occupancies where in its opinion the safety of the employees will not be endangered thereby. The fire commissioner of the city of New York in such city and elsewhere the commissioner may issue such permits in accordance with rules adopted by the board.

3. The fire commissioner of the city of New York in such city and elsewhere the commissioner shall enforce this section.

Sec. 290. Safety and sanitation.—Every room in a factory and every part thereof and all fixtures therein shall at all times be kept in a safe and sanitary condition and in proper repair. No person shall expectorate upon the walls, floors, or stairs of a factory or of the building in which it is located. Suitable receptacles shall be provided and used for the storage of waste and refuse.

Sec. 291. Plumbing, etc.—Every part of a factory building and of the premises thereof and the plumbing therein, shall at all times be kept in a safe and sanitary condition and in proper repair.

Sec. 292. Drinking water.—There shall be provided in every factory at all times for the use of employees a sufficient supply of clean and pure drinking water, and if placed in receptacles the same shall be properly covered and kept clean.

Sec. 293. Washrooms.—1. There shall be provided and maintained for employees in every factory suitable and convenient washrooms separate for each sex, adequately equipped with washing facilities. Every washroom shall be adequately ventilated and heated and shall be lighted by artificial means where necessary.

2. In factories where lead, arsenic, or other poisonous substances or injurious or noxious fumes, dust or gases are present as an incident or result of the business or occupation, hot water, soap and individual towels shall be furnished.

Sec. 294. Dressing rooms.—There shall be provided in every factory where females are employed dressing or emergency rooms having at least one window leading to the outer air. Where more than ten females are employed, one or more separate dressing rooms shall be provided. All dressing rooms shall be separated from water-closets by suitable partitions, shall have adequate floor space in proportion to the number of employees, shall be provided with seats and with suitable means for hanging clothes ,and shall be constructed, heated, ventilated, lighted, and maintained in accordance with the rules of the board.

Sec. 295. Water-closets.—[Suitable and convenient water-closets, etc., separate for the sexes, must be provided in all factory buildings, in accordance with the rules of the industrial board.]

Sec. 296. Laundries.—A shop, room, or building where one or more persons are employed in doing public laundry work by way of trade or for purposes of gain is a factory within the meaning of this chapter and subject to the provisions relating to factories. No such public laundry work shall be done in a room used for sleeping or living purposes. All such laundries shall be kept in a clean condition and free from vermin and from all impurities of an infectious or contagious nature. This section shall not apply to a female doing custom laundry work at her home for regular family trade.

SEC. 297. Unclean factories.—1. If the commissioner finds evidence of contagious disease in a factory, he shall affix to the articles therein exposed to contagion a label containing the word "unclean" and shall notify the local department or board of health, which after disinfecting the articles may remove such label.

2. If the commissioner finds that the factory or workroom therein is unsanitary, the commissioner may, upon filing in his office a written order stating the reasons therefor, affix to any articles therein a label containing the word "unclean." Such label shall be removed only by an authorized representative of the commissioner and not until such articles are removed from the factory and cleaned, or until the factory or workroom is made sanitary.

SEC. 298. Living quarters.—Every employer conducting a factory and furnishing to employees thereof living quarters at a place outside the factory, either directly or through any third person, by contract or otherwise, shall maintain such living quarters in a sanitary condition and in accordance with rules adopted by the board.

SEC. 299. Ventilation, etc.—1. Every workroom in a factory shall be provided with proper and sufficient means of ventilation, natural or mechanical, or both, as may be necessary, and there shall be maintained therein proper and sufficient ventilation and proper degrees of temperature and humidity at all times during the working hours. If owing to the nature of the manufacturing process carried on in the factory workroom excessive heat be created therein, there shall be provided, maintained, and operated such special means or appliances as may be required to reduce such excessive heat.

2. Dust, gases, etc.—All machinery creating dust or impurities shall be equipped with proper hoods and pipes connected to an exhaust fan of sufficient capacity and power to remove such dust or impurities; such fan shall be kept running constantly while such machinery is in use. If in case of wood-working machinery the board decides that such apparatus is unnecessary for the health and welfare of the employees, it may adopt rules excepting such machinery from the operation of this subdivision.

3. If dust, gases, fumes, vapors, fibers, or other impurities are generated or released in the course of the business carried on in any workroom of a factory, in quantities tending to injure the health of the employees, suction devices shall be provided which shall remove such impurities from the workroom, at their point of origin where practicable, by means of proper hoods connected to conduits and exhaust fans. Such fans shall be kept running constantly while the impurities are being generated or released.

4. Standards.—The board shall make rules for and fix standards of ventilation, temperature, and humidity in factories and shall prescribe the special means, if any, required for removing impurities or for reducing excessive heat, and the machinery, apparatus, or appliances to be used for any of said purposes, and the construction, equipment, maintenance, and operation thereof.

5. Orders.—If any requirement of this section or any rule adopted thereunder be not complied with, the commissioner shall issue an order directing compliance therewith within thirty days after the service thereof. He may in such order require plans and specifications to be filed. In such case, before providing or making any change or alteration in any machinery or apparatus for any of the purposes specified in this section, the person upon whom such order is served shall file with the commissioner plans and specifications therefor and shall obtain his approval of the same.

SEC. 300. Air spaces.—No greater number of persons shall be employed in any room of a factory between six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening than will allow each person so employed two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space nor, unless by written permit of the commissioner, than will allow four hundred cubic feet of air space for each person employed between six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning. Such rooms shall be lighted by electricity whenever persons are employed therein between six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning.

SEC. 310. Foundries.—Foundries shall conform to the provisions of this chapter relating to factories and also to the following requirements:

1. Entrances and windows shall be constructed and maintained so as to minimize drafts.

2. Gangways shall be constructed and maintained of sufficient width to make the use thereof by employees reasonably safe and shall not be obstructed during the progress of casting.

3. Smoke, steam, or gases generated in foundries shall be effectively removed therefrom in accordance with rules adopted by the board. The milling and cleaning of castings and the milling of cupola cinders shall be done under such conditions to be prescribed by the rules of the board as will adequately protect the employees from dust. The use of heaters discharging smoke or gas into the workrooms is prohibited except that pen fires may be used under conditions prescribed by the board in its rules. Suitable provision shall be made for drying the working clothes of employees.

4. All apparatus, tools, implements, and equipment shall be kept in proper condition and repair.

5. A first-aid kit shall be provided for the use of employees in case of burns or accidents.

6. Where ten or more persons are employed (a) there shall be provided suitable and convenient wash rooms adequately equipped with hot or cold water. Such wash rooms shall be kept clean and properly heated. (b) Lockers shall be provided for the employees' clothing. (c) If outside water-closet or privy accommodations are permitted by rules of the board, they shall be properly heated and the passageway leading from the foundry thereto shall be so constructed and protected that employees using the passageway shall not be exposed to the outdoor atmosphere.

SEC. 315. Owner.—Whenever used in this article:

1. "Owner" means the owner of the premises, or the lessee of the whole thereof, or the agent in charge of the property.

2. Tenant factory.—"Tenant-factory building" means a building, separate parts of which are occupied and used by different persons and one or more of which parts is used as a factory.

SEC. 316. 1. Operator's duty.—Except as in this article otherwise provided, the person operating a factory, whether as owner or lessee of the whole or a part of the building in which the same is situated or otherwise, shall be responsible for the observance of the provisions of this article, anything in any lease or agreement to the contrary notwithstanding.

2. Owner's duty.—The owner of a tenant-factory building, whether or not he is also one of the occupants instead of the respective tenants, shall be responsible for the observance of the following provisions of this article, anything in any lease to the contrary notwithstanding: * * * [Enumerates sections prescribing structural provisions and equipment.] Except that the tenants shall also be responsible within their respective holdiugs for the observance of the provisions of the following sections: Section two hundred and fifty-five, elevators and hoistways; section two hundred and seventy, construction of buildings erected after October first, nineteen hundred and thirteen; section two hundred and seventy-oue, requirements for buildings erected before October first, nineteen hundred and thirteen; section two hundred and seventy-two, additional requirements for all buildings; section two hundred and seventy-three, fire escapes erected after October first, nineteen hundred and thirteen, on buildings theretofore erected; section two hundred and seventy-four, fire escapes erected before October first, nineteen hundred and thirteen.

The owner shall also be responsible for all other provisions of this article in so far as they affect those portions of the tenant-factory building or its premises that are used in common or by more than one occupant.

3. Owner may enter.—The tenant of any part of a tenant-factory building shall permit the owner, his agent, and employees to enter and remain upon the demised premises whenever and so long as may be necessary to comply with the provisions of law, the responsibility for which is by this section placed upon the owner; and his failure or refusal so to do shall be a cause for dispossessing said tenant by summary proceedings to recover possession of real property, as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure. Whenever by the terms of a lease any tenant has agreed to comply with or carry out any of such provisions, his failure or refusal so to do shall be a cause for dispossessing said tenant by summary proceedings as aforesaid.

ARTICLE XIII

SECTION 350. Definitions.—Whenever used in this article:

1. "Tenement house" means a house or building, or portion thereof, rented or leased to be occupied, or which is occupied in whole or in part as the home or residence of three or more families living independently of each other and doing their cooking upon the premises, and includes an apartment house so occupied and any building on the same lot with a tenement house used for any purpose specified in this article.

2. "Manufacture," "manufacturing," "manufactured" or "making" includes preparation, alteration, repair or finishing, in whole or in part.

SEC. 351 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Exceptions.—This article shall not apply to: (1) A cellar bakery having a certificate of exemption issued pursuant to section three hundred and thirty-eight of this chapter; (2) a tenement house the only manufacture in which is carried on in a shop, on the main or ground floor which has direct entrance from the street, no openings into living rooms or the rest of the building and is not used for sleeping or cooking; (3) manufacture of an article by a family for the exclusive use of one of its members; (4) manufacture of cotton or linen collars, cuffs, shirts or shirt waists that are to be laundered before being offered for sale.

SEC. 352. Sale prohibited.—No article manufactured in a tenement house contrary to this chapter shall be sold or exposed for sale by any person.

SEC. 353. Permits and licenses.—1. The owner or operator of a factory shall secure a permit from the commissioner before employing or contracting with any person for manufacture in a tenement house and shall not employ or contract with any person for manufacture in a tenement house that has no license.

2. The owner of a tenement house, or his agent, shall secure a license from the commissioner before permitting any person to manufacture upon his premises.

SEC. 354. Application.—An application of the owner of a tenement house for a license shall be made out upon a blank furnished by the commissioner and shall give the number of apartments in the tenement house, its owner's full name and address and its location by street number or by other description that will enable the commissioner to find it readily.

SEC. 355. Sanitary, etc., conditions.—1. The tenement house, its furniture, appointments, and the articles in process of manufacture therein shall be clean, sanitary, and free from vermin; the plumbing shall not permit the entrance of sewer air; each working room shall be well lighted and ventilated and shall have at least five hundred cubic feet of air space for each person permitted to work therein.

2. The tenement house, the articles in process of manufacture, and the persons living therein shall be free from infectious, contagious or communicable disease.

3. Who may work.—No person other than a member of a family residing therein shall manufacture any article in a tenement house, except a tailor or seamstress making wearing apparel for a person residing therein and except employees of a dressmaker shop in a room or apartment on the first or second floor which deals solely in the custom trade direct to the consumer, has at least one thousand cubic feet of air space for each worker, has no children under fourteen living or working therein and possesses a special permit from the commissioner, a copy of which with the reasons for granting it, is on file in his office. No child shall work in a tenement house except in accordance with articles four and five of this chapter.

4. Cellars.—No article shall be manufactured in a cellar or basement of a tenement house if such cellar or basement is below the level of the adjoining ground more than one-half of its height.

5. Articles forbidden.—No article of food, no dolls or dolls' clothing and no article of children's or infants' wearing apparel shall be manufactured for a factory either directly or through one or more contractors or other third persons in any apartment of a tenement house, if any part of such apartment is used for living purposes.

SEC. 356. Issue of licenses.—Upon receipt of an application for license to manufacture in a tenement house, the commissioner shall consult the records of the local board or department of health. He need proceed no further unless and until such records show no condition contrary to section three hundred and fifty-five. Before granting a license he shall also inspect the tenement house. If the records of the local board or department of health and the inspection show full compliance with section three hundred and fifty-five the commissioner shall file in his office statements to such effect dated and signed in ink by the employee or employees who have consulted the records and made the investigation and shall issue to the owner a license permitting manufacture in the tenement house under the conditions prescribed in section three hundred and fifty-five. If the commissioner denies a license, he shall file in his office a statement of the reasons for such denial. At any time, upon request, the local board or department of health shall furnish to the commissioner copies of its records and other information necessary to the carrying out of this article.

Sec. 357. Inspections.—The commissioner shall inspect every tenement house used for manufacture not less than once in every six months. In connection with such an inspection he may consult the record of orders issued by the local board or department of health since the last previous inspection. Upon demand, any resident of a tenement house engaged in manufacture of an article for a factory shall exhibit the factory label required by section three hundred and sixty-four.

Sec. 358. Notice.—If the commissioner discovers any manufacture in a tenement house contrary to this chapter, he shall serve a notice of such unlawful manufacture upon the owner of the tenement house or upon his agent.

Sec. 359. Unsanitary conditions.—The commissioner shall order the owner of the tenement house to remedy forthwith any unsanitary condition and the tenants to clean at once any filthy room or apartment. He may affix a placard to the entrance door of a filthy room or apartment calling attention to its condition and prohibiting manufacture therein. No person except the commissioner shall remove or deface such placard.

Sec. 360. Unlawful manufactures.—The commissioner may conspicuously affix to any article unlawfully manufactured in a tenement house a tag not less than four inches in length bearing in small pica capital letters the words "tenement made." No person except the commissioner shall remove or deface such tag.

Sec. 361. Unclean articles.—The commissioner may seize an unclean article and order the owner or the person entitled to possession of it to clean it at his own expense. Upon noncompliance within one month, the commissioner may destroy such article.

Sec. 362. Infected articles.—If the commissioner finds evidence of infectious, contagious, or communicable disease in a tenement-house room or apartment, he shall affix to every article in process of manufacture therein the tag described in section three hundred and sixty and shall immediately report to the local board or department of health the location of such room or apartment and the evidence of disease therein. The board or department of health shall inspect the room or apartment within forty-eight hours after receiving such report. It may remove the labels and disinfect the articles or may condemn and destroy them. It shall issue such orders as the public health may require and shall report promptly its proceedings to the commissioner. No article shall be manufactured in the room or apartment until the board or department of health has certified that it is in a sanitary condition.

Sec. 363. Revocation.—1. The commissioner may revoke or suspend the permit of a factory owner or operator whenever this article or the provisions of articles four and five relative to child labor are violated in connection with any work for the factory.

2. The commissioner may revoke the license of a tenement house owner for unsanitary condition of the tenement house, for employment of a child therein contrary to articles four and five of this chapter or for noncompliance with an order issued by him within ten days after receipt of such order. He shall file in his office a statement of the reasons for every revocation.

Sec. 364. Giving out articles.—1. No person owning or operating a factory or other person shall give out any article or material for manufacture in an unlicensed tenement house or for manufacture by a resident of a room or apartment in which infectious, contagious, or communicable disease exists.

2. Every person owning or operating a factory or other person giving out any article or material for manufacture in a tenement house shall:

a. Before giving out such article or material, ascertain from the commissioner whether or not the tenement house owner has a license and obtain from the local board or department of health the names and addresses of all tenement house residents within its jurisdiction known to it to be sick of infectious, contagious, or communicable disease;

b. Keep a register and plainly write therein in English the name and address of every person to whom any article or material is given out;

c. Attach to each article or material given out a label bearing the name and address of his factory or his own name and business address legibly written or printed in English.

3. Upon demand of the commissioner the person giving out any article or material shall furnish a copy of his register and such other information as the commissioner may require.

Sec. 365. Duty of owners.—Unlawful manufacture of an article in a room or apartment of a tenement house shall be cause for dispossessing its occupants by summary proceedings to recover possession of real property as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure. Upon receipt from the commissioner of a notice showing unlawful manufacture in a room or apartment of a tenement house, the owner or his agent shall cause such unlawful manufacture to cease within ten days and, if unable to do so, shall institute within fifteen days and faithfully prosecute proceedings to dispossess the occupants.

Sec. 366. Lists.—The commissioner shall publish a complete list of factories and tenement houses whose owners or operators hold permits and licenses and shall revise and republish the list from time to time. The list shall give the names and addresses of the factory owners and the locations of the factories and shall show what permits and licenses are suspended or revoked.

Article XIV

Section 375 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Mercantile establishments.—Every room in a mercantile establishment or restaurant and every part thereof and all fixtures therein shall at all times be kept sanitary. Floors shall be kept in safe condition. Suitable receptacles shall be provided and used for the storage of waste and refuse, and shall be maintained in a sanitary condition.

Sec. 376 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Sanitation, etc.—Every part of a building in which a mercantile establishment or restaurant is located and of the premises thereof and the plumbing therein shall at all times be kept in safe and sanitary condition and in proper repair.

Sec. 377 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Drinking water.—Every mercantile establishment, restaurant, and every station, terminal, or car barn where women employees of a street, surface, electric, subway, or elevated railroad report for duty shall provide at all times for the use of employees a sufficient supply of clean and pure drinking water, and if placed in receptacles, the same shall be properly covered and kept clean.

Sec. 378 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Wash rooms.—Every mercantile establishment, every restaurant, every office of a telegraph or messenger company in a city of the first or second class and every station, terminal or car barn where women employees of a street, surface, electric, subway or elevated railroad report for duty shall provide and maintain for employees adequate and convenient wash rooms or washing facilities, separate for each sex wherever required by the rules of the board. Every wash room shall be adequately ventilated and heated and shall be lighted by artificial means where necessary.

Sec. 379 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Dressing rooms.—In every mercantile establishment or restaurant where more than five women are employed and in every terminal or car barn where more than five women employees of a street, surface, electric, subway or elevated railroad report for duty a sufficient number of dressing rooms conveniently located shall be provided for their use. All dressing rooms shall be separated from water-closets by adequate partitions, shall have adequate floor space in proportion to the number of employees, shall be provided with seats and with suitable means for hanging clothes and shall be constructed, heated, lighted and maintained in accordance with the rules of the board.

Sec. 380. Lunch rooms.—No lunch room in any mercantile establishment where females are employed shall be next to or adjoining a water-closet, unless a permit therefor is granted by the commissioner in a city or by the local board or department of health in a village. Such permit shall be granted if proper sanitary conditions exist and may be revoked at any time by the granting authority if the lunch room is kept in such a manner or is so located as to be injurious to the health of the employees.

Sec. 381 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Water-closets.—[A sufficient number of suitable and convenient water-closets must be provided for every mercantile establishment, restaurant, telegraph or messenger companies in cities, and every station, terminal or car barn where women employees report for duty. These must, if practicable, be within the building, separate for the sexes, of approved types, properly constructed, installed, ventilated, lighted, heated and maintained.]

SEC. 382 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Ventilation, etc.—Every mercantile establishment and every restaurant shall be provided with proper and sufficient means of ventilation by natural or mechanical means or both, as may be necessary, and there shall be maintained therein proper and sufficient ventilation and proper degrees of temperature and humidity at all times during working hours. The board shall make rules for and fix standards of ventilation, temperature and humidity in mercantile establishments and restaurants.

SEC. 383 (as amended 1924, ch. 466). Children and females.—No child under the age of sixteen years and no female shall be employed in the basement of a mercantile establishment or restaurant unless a permit therefor is granted by the commissioner. Such permit shall be granted if the basement is sufficiently lighted, ventilated and sanitary.

SEC. 390. Contribution to insurance fund.—1. A corporation operating a mercantile establishment shall not by deduction from salary, compensation or wages, by direct payment or otherwise, compel any employee in such establishment to contribute to a benefit or insurance fund maintained or managed for the employees of such establishment by such corporation, or by any other corporation or person. Every contract or agreement whereby such contribution is exacted shall be void.

2. A corporation violating this section shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars recoverable by the person aggrieved in any court of competent jurisdiction.

3. A director, officer, or agent of a corporation which compels any employee to make a contribution in violation of this section or assign any agreement to make such contribution, or which imposes or requires such a contribution as condition of entering into or continuing in the employment of a mercantile establishment shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 391 (as amended 1921, ch. 642). Enforcement.—1. In cities the commissioner shall have jurisdiction to enforce the provisions of this chapter relating to mercantile establishments, business offices, telegraph offices, restaurants, hotels, apartment houses, theaters or other places of public amusement, bowling alleys, barber shops, shoe-polishing establishments, the distribution or transmission of merchandise, articles or message, or the distribution or sale of articles. Elsewhere, such provisions shall be enforced by the board or department of health or health commissioners of the town or village affected thereby, who shall prosecute all violations thereof within sixty days after the alleged offense was committed.

2. All officers and members of such boards or departments, all health commissioners, inspectors, and ether persons appointed or designated by such boards, departments, or commissioners may visit and inspect, at reasonable hours and when practicable and necessary, all mercantile or other establishments herein specified within the town or village for which they are appointed. No person shall interfere with or prevent any such officer from making such visitation and inspections, nor shall he be obstructed or injured while in the performance of his duties. All persons connected with any such mercantile or other establishment herein specified shall properly answer all questions asked by such officer or inspector with reference to any of the provisions of this article.

3. Except as otherwise provided the provisions of this chapter relating to the establishments, employments, and occupations specified in subdivision one of this section, except as therein otherwise specified, shall apply only to villages which at the last preceding State enumeration had a population of three thousand or more.

ARTICLE XV

SECTIONS 400–417. Mines, tunnels and quarries.—[Notice must be given of the opening or abandonment of shafts, blasting is regulated, and the storage of powder and oils; wash rooms are required, and exits, hoists, steam boilers, traveling ways, timbering and ventilation are regulated.]

SEC. 425. Compressed air.—The term "pressure" means gauge air pressure in pounds per square inch.

SEC. 426. Equipment.—Every employer of persons for work in compressed air shall—

1. Connect at least two air pipes with the working chamber and keep such pipes in perfect working condition;

2. Attach to the working chamber in accessible positions all instruments necessary to show its pressure and keep such intrument in charge of competent persons, with a period of duty for each such person not exceeding eight hours in any twenty-four;

3. Place in each shaft a safe ladder extending its entire length;

4. Light properly and keep clear each passageway;

5. Provide independent lighting systems for the working chamber and shaft leading to it, when electricity is used for lighting;

6. Guard lights other than electric lights;

7. Protect workmen by a shield erected in the working chamber when such chamber is less than ten feet long and is suspended with more than nine feet space between its deck and the bottom of the excavation;

8. Provide for and keep accessible to employees working in compressed air a dressing room heated, lighted, and ventilated properly and supplied with benches, lockers, sanitary water-closets, bathing facilities, and hot and cold water;

9. Establish and maintain a medical lock properly heated, lighted, ventilated, and supplied with medicines and surgical implements, when the maximum air pressure exceeds seventeen pounds.

SEC. 427. Medical officers.—Every employer of persons for work in compressed air shall:

1. Keep at the place of work at all necessary times one or more duly qualified medical officers to care for cases of illness and to strictly administer and enforce sections four hundred and twenty-six, four hundred and twenty-eight, and four hundred and twenty-nine.

2. Keep at a medical lock required by subdivision nine of section four hundred and twenty-six a certified nurse selected by the medical officer or officers required by subdivision one of this section and qualified to give temporary relief in cases of illness.

SEC. 428. Physical examination.—If an employee is a new employee, an absentee for ten or more successive days, an employee who has worked in compressed air continuously for three months, or a beginner in compressed air who has worked but a single shift as required by section four hundred and thirty, the officer or officers required by subdivision one of section four hundred and twenty-seven shall examine him and declare him physically fit to work in compressed air before permitting him to enter or reenter the working chamber.

SEC. 429. Intoxicants.—Excessive users of intoxicants shall not be permitted to work in compressed air.

SEC. 430. Shifts and intervals.—The working time in any twenty-four hours shall be divided into two shifts under compressed air with an interval in open air. Persons who have not previously worked in compressed air shall work therein but one shift during the first twenty-four hours. No person shall be subjected to pressure exceeding fifty pounds except in emergency. The maximum number of hours, to each shift and minimum open air interval between the shifts during any twenty-four hours for any pressure, as given in columns one and two of the following table, shall be as set opposite such pressure in columns three, four, five, and six:

Shifts and intervals of work for each twenty-four-hour period

Pressure		Hours
Column 1	Column 2	Column 3	Column 4	Column 5	Column 6
Minimum number of pounds	Maximum number of pounds	Maximum total	Maximum first shift in compressed air	Minimum rest interval in open air	Maximum second shift in compressed air
14 7/10	21	8	4	½	4
21	30	6	3	1	3
30	35	4	2	2	2
35	40	3	1½	3	1½
40	45	2	1		1

The employer may determine the time of each shift when the pressure is less than twenty-one pounds, provided that the total for the two shifts does not exceed eight hours.

SEC. 431. Decompression.—The employer or person in charge shall not permit any person to pass from compressed air to normal pressure without passing through an intermediate lock or stage of decompression. For tunnels, the rate of such decompression shall be three pounds every two minutes when the pressure is thirty-six pounds or less and one pound every minute when the pressure exceeds thirty-six pounds. For caissons, the rate for any pressure, as given in columns one and two of the following table shall be as set opposite such pressure in column three:

Decompression

Pressure		Rate
Minimum number of pounds	Maximum number of pounds	Minimum number of minutes
--	10	1
10	15	2
15	20	5
20	25	10
25	30	12
30	36	15
36	40	20

SEC. 435. Duties.—Except as otherwise provided, the owner, agent, lessee, manager, operator, and superintendent shall be responsible for the observance of the provisions of this article.

SEC. 436. Penalties.—Violation of or noncompliance with any provision of this article shall be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars or by imprisonment for one year or by both.

SEC. 437. Enforcement.—The commissioner may serve a written notice upon the owner, agent, manager, or lessee of a mine or tunnel requiring him to comply with a specific provision of this article. The commissioner shall begin an action in the supreme court to enforce compliance with such provision, and upon such notice as the court directs and order may be granted restraining the working of such mine or tunnel during such time as may be therein specified.

ARTICLE XVI

SECTION 450. Explosives.—1. This article shall apply to the manufacture, possession, storage, transportation, sale, or gift of explosives as defined in subdivision one of section four hundred and fifty-one.

* * * * * * *

[As indicated by the foregoing, this article relates rather to the subject of public safety than to that of the employment relation; it is therefore not reproduced here.]

ARTICLE XVII

SECTION 470. Construction of act.—This act shall be construed as a continuation of chapter thirty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to labor, constituting chapter thirty-one of the Consolidated Laws," as amended, and not as a new enactment.

SEC. 471. Succession.—* * * The department of labor, the industrial commissioner, and the industrial board, subject to the provisions of this chapter as to the distribution of functions, shall succeed to all the rights, powers, duties, and obligations of the department of labor and the State industrial commission, as heretofore constituted.

CHAPTER 37.—Inspection of steam vessels and boilers—Regulations

SECTIONS 3, 4. Inspectors.—[Two inspectors of steam vessels are to be appointed by the superintendent of public works, one experienced as a master of steam vessels, and the other experienced in the construction and use of boilers and engines. Salaries are $3,000 a year each. When not engaged in the specific duties of their appointment, they may be transferred to the department of labor for a time, if requested.]

SEC. 5. Inspection of vessels.—[Inspections must be made at least annually of the hull, boats, and other equipment of passenger and tow boats. Damage by fire, explosion or electrical apparatus may be investigated, and if found due to violations of law or of orders, the same shall be reported to the county attorney. Vessels carrying freight for hire shall also be inspected, as well as naphtha and electric launches, to determine their safe use in navigation. Rules may be framed for the guidance of managers and employees of boats.]

SEC. 6. Inspection of boilers.—[Boilers of vessels carrying passengers or freight for hire or towing for hire must be inspected before going into use, and at least annually thereafter. A hydrostatic test is to be applied, also a hammer test and internal examination whenever deemed necessary. Connections, appurtenances, safety valves, and other equipment must be of suitable dimensions, construction, etc., and be properly adjusted, and other conditions be such as the inspector may deem necessary to the safety of passengers and crew.]

SEC. 7. Certificates.—[If the inspection shows safe and suitable conditions, a certificate issues, showing facts as to age, dates, names, number of crew, and capacity of vessel. If a certificate is refused, the reason must be given in writing.]

SEC. 30. Accidents.—[Accidents involving loss of life or damage to property must be reported to the superintendent of public works by the officers of the vessel.]

CHAPTER 39.—Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships of partnerships

SECTION 71-a (added 1921, ch. 23) Rank.—[The wages of the employees of a partnership are preferred to every other debt or claim, upon the appointment of a receiver.]

CHAPTER 40.—Labor organizations—Bribery of representatives

SECTION 380. Gifts, etc.—A person who gives or offers to give any money or other things of value to any duly appointed representative of a labor organization with intent to influence him in respect to any of his acts, decisions, or other duties as such representative, or to induce him to prevent or cause a strike by the employees of any person or corporation, is guilty of a misdemeanor; and no person shall be excused from attending and testifying, or producing any books, papers or other documents before any court or magistrate, upon any investigation, proceeding or trial, for a violation of this section, upon the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required by him may tend to convict him of a crime or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, and no testimony so given or produced shall be received against him upon any criminal investigation or proceeding.

CHAPTER 40.—Bribery of employees

SECTION 439. Offering bribes.—Whoever gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee or servant, any gift or gratuity whatever, without the knowledge and consent of the principal, employer or master of such agent, employee or servant, with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; or an agent, employee or servant who without the knowledge and consent of his principal, employer or master, requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner to his principal's, employer's or master's business; or an agent, employee or servant, who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies or other articles either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer or master, receives directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies, or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor; and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee or servant such commission, discount or bonus shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by such fine and by imprisonment for not more than one year.

NOTE.—This section is constitutional. No right of the seller or of the employee is curtailed. It is an act to prevent secrecy and fraud, and is in accord with sound public policy. People v. Davis, 160 N. Y. Supp. 769.

CHAPTER 40.—Employment of children—Certain occupations forbidden—Messenger service

SECTION 485 (as amended 1916, ch. 278). Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[This section forbids the employment of children under 16 in acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations, at rag picking, in theatrical exhibitions and the making of motion picture films, with exceptions as to the last two occupations if permits are obtained. The text of a similar law is found in Delaware Code, sec. 2223.]

SEC. 488. Messenger boys.—[It is a misdemeanor to knowingly send any messenger boy to a disorderly house except to deliver telegrams at the door.]

CHAPTER 40.—Interference with employment—Coercion—Conspiracy

SECTION 530. Use of violence, etc.—A person who with a view to compel another person to do or to abstain from doing an act which such other person has a legal right to or to abstain from doing, wrongfully and unlawfully—

1. Uses violence or inflicts injury upon such other person or his family, or a member thereof, or upon his property or threatens such violence or injury; or,

2. Deprives any such person of any tool, implement or clothing or hinders him in the use thereof; or,

3. Uses or attempts the intimidation of such person by threats or force,

Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Workmen may meet and discuss questions affecting their welfare and take such action as seems to them best so long as it does not involve or tend to create a breach of the peace. They may decline to work unless their terms are complied with and may accost others and seek to persuade them to join in such action. But if these rights are enforced in an illegal manner, either aloue or in company with others, by the use of threats or violence the offender becomes liable to arrest to prevent a breach of the peace. 1 City Court Supp. 54.

[See also 4 N. Y. Cr. 317, cited under sec. 580, below.]

SEC. 580. Interfering with trade, etc.—If two or more persons conspire:

* * * * * * *

5. To prevent another from exercising a lawful trade or calling or doing any other lawful act, by force, threats, intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with tools, implements, or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use or employment thereof;

* * * * * * *

Each of them is guilty of a misdemeanor.

A union provided by its by-laws that a member working for less than the fixed rate of wages should forfeit a sum as penalty, to be recovered by process of law. Held, in an action to recover such penalty, (a) That the association was not unlawful within the meaning of this section. (b) That such a by-law was not unlawful as made in restraint of trade. (c) That a penalty could properly be attached and an action maintained for its recovery. (d) It is not unlawful for any number of persons to make mutual agreements as to wages, but any association or combination for the purpose of compelling journeymeu or employers to conform to any rule or agreemeut fixiug the rate of wages to which they were not parties by the imposition of penalties, hy agreeing to quit the service of any employer who employs journeymen below certain rates, unless the journeyman pays the penalty imposed by the combiuation or by menaces, threats, intimidation, violence, or other unlawful means, is all indictable conspiracy. 2 Daly 1.

An indictment charging that certain parties conspired by force, threats, and intimidation to prevent a certain firm from exercising its lawful trade and calling; and by threats and threatening notices attempted to iutimidate certaiu employees and to constrain them against their own free will to quit their employment; and that assaults on its employees were committed, the shop beset and breaches of the peace committed in attempts to intimidate persons who desired to trade in the shop and prevent them from doing so, was held to sufficiently charge conspiracy and coercion under the above section and subdivision 1 and 3 of the law on coercion (see sec. 530, above). Counts charging conspiracy against employer and employees may be properly joined. 4 N. Y. Cr. 317.

Interference by outside parties with employment, the terms of which are satisfactory to the employees, and attempts to enforce a boycott on an employer until he shall accede to the demands of such outside parties, are acts constituting offenses within this statute and at common law as well. Efforts by combinations of men to coerce workmen to join unions or to hinder them from obtaining work on account of not being members, or to interfere with the employers in the control of their lawful business by means of threats of injury or loss, or by interference with property are illegal. 30 Fed. 48.

An agreement between a labor organization and an employers' association not to employ any but members of said organization is, in effect, a threat to keep persons from working and to procure their discharge. Such a contract, or the rules of a labor organization are no defense in a suit for damages from loss of employment by conspiracy. 46 N. E. 297.

SEC. 582. Assembling of workingmen.— * * * The orderly and peaceable assembling or cooperation of persons employed in any calling, trade, or handicraft, for the purpose of obtaining an advance in the rate of wages or compensation, or of maintaining such rate, is not a conspiracy.

Peaceable withdrawal from employment for the purpose of improving or maintaining wages is not an offense within the provisions of sections 1 and 3. Section 3 does not authorize a combination of individuals to compel, by means condemned in section 1, workmen to join the organization, or to punish those who may be inimical thereto. 5 N. Y. Cr. 509.

A combination by workmen to drive out and prevent from working in a certain district an objectionable person, is a criminal conspiracy. 6 N. Y. Cr. 292.

An injunction should not be granted against a confederation of persons whose object it is to entice employees from service in the absence of proof of intended violence, intimidation, etc. The remedy is an action for damages. 9 Abb. New Cases, 393.

The fact that a contract between a labor organization and an employers' association had the proper object of avoiding disputes and conflicts does not legalize a plan compelling workmen not members of the union to join it on peril of discharge. 152 N. Y. 33.

An injunction will not lie against a body of workmen combined for the purpose of peaceably and without intimidation persuading their fellowcraftsmen to leave their employment in order to obtain an advance in wages, and they may lawfully pay the expenses of those who leave. 17 N. Y. Supp. 264.

A combination of manufacturers has the right to lock out all operatives connected with an association of employees because of demands which it considers unjust, made by such association upon a member of the combination of manufacturers, and the employees' association has an equal right to endeavor to persuade those who have been accustomed to deal with the manufacturers to discontinue their trade. 77 Hun, 215.

CHAPTER 40.—Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 772. Attempting to influence vote.—Any person or corporation who directly or indirectly:

* * * * * * *

3. Being an employer pays his employees the salary or wages due in "pay envelopes," upon which there is written or printed any political motto, device, or argument containing threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of such employees, or within ninety days of a general election puts or otherwise exhibits in the establishment or place where his employees are engaged in labor, any handbill or placard containing any threat, notice, or information that if any particular ticket or candidate is elected or defeated, work in his place or establishment will cease, in whole or in part, his establishment be closed up, or the wages of his employees reduced, or other threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of his employees,

Is guilty of a misdemeanor, and if a corporation shall in addition forfeit its charter.

CHAPTER 40.—Employment of labor—False representations

SECTION 939. False recommendations.—A person who obtains employment * * * by color or aid of any false or forged letter or certificate of recommendation, or of any false statement in writing, as to his name, residence, previous employment or qualification; * * * is guilty of a misdemeanor.

NOTE.—While a violation of this section is punishable as an offense, the status of employer and employee is not destroyed, though the contract is voidable at the option of the employer. Rights of beneficiaries under the compensation act are not invalidated by reason of such violation. Kenny v. Union R. Co., 152 N. Y. Supp. 117.

SEC. 950 (added 1911, ch. 575). False statements a misdemeanor.—Any person, firm, association, or corporation, or any employee or agent thereof, who makes to any person furnishing or seeking employment any statement which is false, knowing the same to be false, in regard to any employment, work, or situation, its nature, location, duration, wages, or salary attached thereto, or the circumstances surrounding the said employment, work, or situation, or who shall offer or hold himself out as in a position to secure or furnish employment without having an order therefor or such employment to be filled or shall misrepresent any other material matter in connection with said employment, work, or situation, and by reason of such statement, offer, holding out, or misrepresentation, any person shall seek employment, work, or situation, in respect to which such statement, offer, holding out, or misrepresentation was made, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 40.—Labor law—Violations

SECTION 1270 (as amended 1921, ch. 68). Hindering inspection.—[Hindering the inspection of a mine, tunnel, or quarry, or refusing to comply with orders relative thereto, is punishable by a fine not less than $50, or imprisonment not less than 30 days.]

SEC. 1271 (as amended 1921, ch. 68). Hours of labor.—[Requiring more than eight hours' work on public works, or violating the law as to work time on street railways, or in brick yards, or on steam roads, is punishable by a fine, $500 to $1000 for each offense.]

SEC. 1272 (as amended 1909, ch. 205). Payment of wages.—[Corporations, joint-stock companies, or persons carrying on their business, failing to pay wages as provided by the labor law shall be fined $100 to $10,000 for each offense.]

SEC. 1274. Fees in public employment offices.—[Charging or receiving a fee for service in a free public employment office is a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 1275. Violating rules, laws, etc.—[Violations of the labor law, industrial code, or rules or regulations of the industrial board, or making false statements as to employment certificates, are punishable except as otherwise provided, for the first offense by a fine, $20 to $50; for second offense, $50 to $250, or imprisonment not over 30 days, or both; and for a third offense, by a fine of not less than $250 or imprisonment not over 60 days, or both.]

SEC. 1276 (as amended 1921, ch. 68). Insecure scaffolding.—[Violations of the law as to scaffolds, hoists, etc., in building work, are misdemeanors.]

SEC. 1277 (as amended 1921, ch. 68). Protective flooring.—[Failure to lay protective flooring in buildings under construction, as required, is punishable by a fine, $25 to $200.]

CHAPTER 40.—Labor organizations—Using false credentials

SECTION 1278. Using false credentials, etc.—Any person who represents himself or herself to be a member of, or who claims to represent a labor organization which does not exist within the State, at the time of such representation, or who has in his or her possession a credential, certificate, or letter of introduction bearing a fraudulent seal, or bearing the seal of a labor organization which has ceased to exist, and does not exist at the time of such representation, and attempts to gain admission by the use of said credential, certificate, or letter of introduction, as a member of any convention, or meeting of representatives of labor organizations of the State, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than fifty dollars, and imprisonment for not less than ten days nor more than thirty days in the jail of the county wherein such conviction is had, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

CHAPTER 40.—Industry badges—Unauthorized use

SECTION 1435 (added 1918, ch. 265). Adoption; misuse.—An employer of labor may adopt a badge, or other insignia of identification, to be worn or displayed by the employees for the purpose of identification while upon the premises of the employer and post a notice of the adoption of such badge, or insignia, near the main entrance of such premises. Such employer shall deposit with the industrial commission a replica of such badge or insignia, and such commission shall, if such badge or insignia be distinctive, issue to such employer a certificate authorizing the use thereof for the purposes of this section. Any person who, after the approval and adoption of such badge, or insignia, and posting of such notice, without authority or permission of the employer adopting the same, willfully wears such badge, or displays such insignia, or any facsimile or any imitation thereof, or uses the same to obtain admittance to or remain upon the premises of the employer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 40.—Railroads, etc.—Illiterate employees

SECTION 1982 (as amended 1916, ch. 424). Who must be able to read, etc.—It shall be a misdemeanor for any person, firm, or corporation engaged in the operation of a railroad within this State, whereon steam or electricity is used as a motive power, to employ in or about the operation of any engine, train, or trains any engineer, assistant engineer, fireman, engine foreman, hostler, trainman, or flagman who is unable to read the time-tables of such railroad and ordinary handwriting in the English language or unable to speak, hear, and understand the English language, or to see and understand the signals required by the book of rules governing the operations of the engines and trains on such railroad; or for any person, firm, or corporation in his own behalf, or in the behalf of any other person or corporation, knowingly to employ or use a person so unable to read, speak, hear, and understand the English language, or to see and understand the signals aforesaid as such engineer, assistant engineer, fireman, engine foreman, hostler, trainman or flagman; or to employ a person as a telegraph operator who is under the age of eighteen years, or who has less than one year's experience in telegraphing, to receive or transmit a telegraphic message or train order for the movement of trains: Provided, however, That this section shall not apply to flagmen at street or highway crossings.

CHAPTER 40.—Railroads—Employees' uniforms

SECTION 1989. Advising employees to leave service, etc.—A person who:

1. Advises or induces anyone, being an officer, agent or employee of a railway company, to leave the service of such company, because it requires a uniform to be worn by such officer, agent or employee, or to refuse to wear such uniform, or any part thereof; or,

2. Uses any inducement with a person employed by a railway company to go into the service or employment of any other railway company, because a uniform is required to be worn; or,

3. Wears the uniform designated by a railway company without authority,

Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 45.—Manufactures in tenements

SECTION 33. Manufactures restricted.—No room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house, used for eating or sleeping purposes, shall be used for the manufacture, wholly or partly, of coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, cloaks, shirts, purses, feathers, artificial flowers or cigars, except by the members of the family living therein, which shall include a husband and wife and their children, or the children of either. A family occupying or controlling such a workshop shall, within fourteen days from the time of beginning work therein, notify the board of health of the city, village or town, where such workshop is located, or a special inspector appointed by such board, of the location of such workshop, the nature of the work carried on, and the number of persons employed therein; and thereupon such board shall, if it deems advisable, cause a permit to be issued to such family to carry on the manufacture specified in the the notice. Such board may appoint as many persons as it deems advisable to act as special inspectors. Such special inspectors shall receive no compensation, but may be paid by the board their reasonable and necessary expenses. If a board of health or such inspector shall find evidence of infectious or contagious diseases present in any workshop, or in goods manufactured or in process of manufacture therein, the board shall issue such orders as the public health may require, and shall condemn and destroy such infectious and contagious articles, and may, if necessary to protect the public health, revoke any permit granted by it for manufacturing goods in such workshop. If a board of health or any such inspector shall discover that any such goods are being brought into the State, having been manufactured, in whole or in part, under unhealthy conditions, such board or inspector shall examine such goods, and if they are found to contain vermin, or to have been made in improper places or under unhealthy conditions, the board may make such orders as the public health may require, and may condemn and destroy such goods.

CHAPTER 45.—Hours of labor of drug clerks—Grocery employees

SECTION 236 (as amended 1914, ch. 514). Work time; sleeping rooms.—No apprentice or employee in any pharmacy or drug store shall be required or permitted to work more than seventy hours a week. Nothing in this section prohibits working six hours overtime any week for the purpose of making a shorter succeeding week: Provided, however, That the aggregate number of hours in any such two weeks shall not exceed one hundred and thirty-two hours. The hours shall be so arranged that an employee shall be entitled to and shall receive at least one afternoon and evening off in each week and in addition thereto shall receive one full day off in two consecutive weeks. No proprietor of any pharmacy or drug store shall require any clerk to sleep in any room or apartment in or connected with such store that does not comply with the sanitary regulations of the local board of health. The provisions of this section alone regulate working hours and sleeping apartments in pharmacies or drug stores.

SEC. 236-a (added 1915, ch. 343). Same; grocery employees.—No male apprentice or employee over the age of sixteen years in any grocery or provision store located or lying within the boundaries of any city of the first class shall be permitted to work more than seventy hours a week or more than eleven hours in any one day, except that on the last day of the week such employees may be permitted to work fifteen hours for the purpose of eliminating work on the first day of the week. Nothing herein shall be so construed as to require male apprentices or employees over the age of sixteen years in grocery or provisions stores to work on seven days in the week. The work hours shall be consecutive, allowing one hour for each meal. Nothing herein shall be so construed as to affect minors under the age of sixteen years or females of any age, or in any way to repeal or modify chapter three hundred and thirty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen. No proprietor of any grocery or provision store located within the boundaries of any city of the first class shall permit any clerk to sleep in any room or apartment in or connected with such store which does not comply with the sanitary regulations of the local board of health: Provided, however, That this act shall not affect any proprietor or the family of such proprietor who reside in an apartment connected with such store, which apartment at the time of its building or erection was in conformity with the sanitary regulations of the local board of health. Failure to comply with any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 48.—Railroads, etc.—Accidents—Safety appliances

SECTION 47 (as amended 1921, ch. 134). Accidents.—[Railroads and street railways must report to the public service commission (or the transit commission in cities of more than 1,000,000 inhabitants) all accidents; and the commission may in its discretion investigate those causing loss of life or injury to person or property.]

SEC. 50. Safety.—[If in the judgment of the commission having jurisdiction changes in or additions to equipment, apparatus, etc., should reasonably be made to promote the security or convenience of the public or employees, it may, after hearing, issue orders therefor to be complied with in a reasonable time.]

CHAPTER 49.—Street railways—Qualifications of employees

SECTION 63. Use of intoxicants; examination.—Any railroad corporation may employ any inhabitant of the State, of the age of twenty-one years, not addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors, as a car driver, conductor, motorman, or gripman, or in any other capacity, if fit and competent therefor. All applicants for positions as motormen or gripmen on any street surface railroad in this State shall be subjected to a thorough examination by the officers of the corporation as to their habits, physical ability, and intelligence. If this examination is satisfactory, the applicant shall be placed in the shop or power house where he can be made familiar with the power and machinery he is about to control. He shall then be placed on a car with an instructor, and when the latter is satisfied as to the applicant's capability for the position of motorman or gripman, he shall so certify to the officers of the company, and, if appointed, the applicant shall first serve on the lines of least travel. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall be a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 49.—Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 64. Liability continued.—In all actions against a railroad corporation, foreign or domestic, doing business in this State, or against a receiver thereof, for personal injury to, or death resulting from personal injury of any person, while in the employment of such corporation or receiver, arising from the negligence of such corporation or receiver or of any of its or his officers or employees, every employee, or his legal representatives, shall have the same rights and remedies for an injury, or for death, suffered by him, from the act or omission of such corporation or receiver or of its or his officers or employees, as are now allowed by law, and, in addition to the liability now existing by law, it shall be held in such actions that persons engaged in the service of any railroad corporation, foreign or domestic, doing business in this State, or in the service of a receiver thereof, who are intrusted by such corporation or receiver, with the authority of superintendence, control, or command of other persons in the employment of such corporation or receiver, or with the authority to direct or control any other employee in the performance of the duty of such employee, or who have, as a part of their duty, for the time being, physical control or direction of the movement of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, car, train, or telegraph office, are vice principals of such corporation or receiver, and are not fellow servants of such injured or deceased employee. If an employee, engaged in the service of any such railroad corporation, or of a receiver thereof, shall receive any injury by reason of any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, plant, tools, or implements, or of any car, train, locomotive or attachment thereto belonging, owned or operated, or being run and operated by such corporation or receiver, when such defect could have been discovered by such corporation or receiver, by reasonable and proper care, tests or inspection, such corporation or receiver shall be deemed to have had knowledge of such defect before and at the time such injury is sustained; and when the fact of such defect shall be proved upon the trial of any action in the courts of this State, brought by such employee or his legal representatives, against any such railroad corporation or receiver, on account of such injuries so received, the same shall be prima facie evidence of negligence on the part of such corporation or receiver. This section shall not affect actions or causes of action existing on May twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and six; and no contract, receipt, rule or regulation, between an employee and a railroad corporation or receiver, shall exempt or limit the liability of such corporation or receiver from the provisions of this section.

This section is applicable to street railways. 98 N. E. 664.

One voluntarily joining a relief association and using his option to accept benefits after the receipt of an injury can not recover under this section when the application for membership contains an agreement releasing the company if benefits are received, the acceptance and not the original agreement operating as the actual release. 101 N. E. 859.

SEC. 72 (as amended 1922, ch. 601). Inspection of boilers.—[Railroad corporations operating railroads not exceeding 50 miles in length, by steam power, and other corporations, etc., operating steam locomotives which at any time pass upon, over or parallel and immediately adjacent to the tracks of any railroad corporation within the State must provide for the inspection of the boilers, safety appliances, machinery and all appurtenances thereto of such locomotives. Inspection must be made quarterly by properly qualified persons, able to pass upon the strength, etc., and suitableness of boilers and equipment for use without hazard of life. Standards of materials, construction and equipment are prescribed. If the inspector approves, he is to issue a certificate, showing date of inspection, condition of boiler, etc., and such other details as the public service commission may prescribe. The commission may make rules to govern inspections and tests, and is charged with the enforcement of this law.]

SEC. 73 (as amended 1922, ch. 601). Inspectors.—[Inspectors of steam locomotives are to be appointed by the public service commission, competent for the duties of inspecting and testing locomotives and their appurtenances, using hydrostatic tests, and performing such other duties as the commission directs. Locomotives of all corporations operating locomotives in the State either on railroads or on tracks parallel and adjacent thereto are subject to inspection; but this does not relieve from compliance with the preceding section.]

SEC. 74. Boilers to be washed.—It shall be the duty of every corporation operating a steam railroad, within this State, and of its directors, managers or superintendents, to cause the boiler of every locomotive used on such railroad to be washed out as often as once every thirty days, and to equip each boiler with and maintain thereon at all times, a water glass, showing the height of water in the boiler, having two valves or shut-off cocks, one at each end of such glass, which valves or shut-off cocks shall be so constructed that they can be easily opened and closed by hand; also to cause such valves or shut-off cocks and all gauge cocks or try-cocks attached to the boiler to be removed and cleaned whenever the boiler is washed out pursuant to the foregoing requirements of this section; also to keep all steam valves, cocks and joints, studs, bolts and seams in such repair that they will not at any time emit steam in front of the engineer, so as to obscure his vision. No locomotive shall hereafter be driven in this State unless the same is equipped and cared for in conformity with the provisions of this section; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to excuse the observance of any other requirement imposed by this chapter upon railroad corporations, their directors, officers, managers and superintendents. Every corporation, person or persons operating a steam railroad and violating any of the provisions of this section, shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars for each offense, and the further penalty of ten dollars for each day that such violation shall continue. The public service commission shall enforce the provisions of this section.

SEC. 75. Other devices.—The public service commission may, on the application of any railroad corporation, authorize it to use any other safeguard or device approved by the commission, in place of any safeguard or device hereinbefore required by this article, which shall thereafter be used in lieu thereof, and the same penalties for neglect or refusal to use the same shall be incurred and imposed as for a failure to use the safeguard or device hereinbefore required, in lieu of which the same is to be used.

CHAPTER 49.—Protection of employees on street railways

SECTION 194. Inclosures.—[Vestibules inclosed so as to protect employees stationed on the front and rear platforms of street cars must be provided during the months December to March inclusive, except in the borough of Manhattan or Brooklyn. Similar laws apply to the counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Kings, and Queens.]

CHAPTER 74 (added 1921, ch. 121).—Liability of employers for injuries

SECTION 1. Title.—This chapter shall be known as the "employer's liability law."

SEC. 2. Liability declared.—When personal injury is caused to an employee who is himself in the exercise of due care and diligence at the time:

1. By reason of any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, or plant, connected with or used in the business of the employer which arose from or had not been discovered or remedied owing to the negligence of the employer or of any person in the service of the employer and intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the ways, works, machinery, or plant, were in proper condition;

2. By reason of the negligence of any person in the service of the employer intrusted with any superintendence or by reason of the negligence of any person intrusted with authority to direct, control, or command any employee in the performance of the duty of such employee. The employee, or in case the injury results in death, the executor or administrator of a deceased employee who has left him surviving a husband, wife, or next of kin, shall have the same right of compensation and remedies against the employer as if the employee had not been an employee of nor in the service of the employer nor engaged in his work. The provisions of law relating to actions for causing death by negligence, so far as the same are consistent with this act, shall apply to an action brought by an executor or administrator of a deceased employee, suing under the provisions of this article. If an employer enters into a contract, written or verbal, with an independent contractor to do part of such employer's work, or if such contractor enters into a contract with a subcontractor to do all or any part of the work comprised in such contractor's contract with the employer, such contract or subcontract shall not bar the liability of the employer for the injuries to the employees of such contractor or subcontractor, caused by any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, or plant, if they are the property of the employer or are furnished by him, and if such defect arose, or had not been discovered or remedied, through the negligence of the employer, or of some person intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that they were in proper condition.

Failure to supply dangerous machinery with the statutory guard causes a defect in conditions within the meaning of this section. 99 N. E. 81.

SEC. 3. Notice.—No action for recovery of compensation for injury or death under this article shall be maintained unless notice of the time, place and cause of the injury is given to the employer within one hundred and twenty days and the action is commenced within one year after the occurrence of the accident causing the injury or death. The notice required by this section shall be in writing and signed by the person injured or by some one in his behalf, but if from physical or mental incapacity it is impossible for the person injured to give notice within the time provided in this section, he may give the same within ten days after such incapacity is removed. In case of his death without having given such notice, his executor or administrator may give such notice within sixty days after his appointment, but no notice under the provisions of this section shall be deemed to be invalid or insufficient solely by reason of any inaccuracy in stating the time, place or cause of the injury if it be shown that there was no intention to mislead and that the party entitled to notice was not in fact misled thereby. If such notice does not apprise the employer of the time, place or cause of injury, he may, within eight days after service thereof, serve upon the sender a written demand for a further notice, which demand must specify the particular in which the first notice is claimed to be defective, and a failure by the employer to make such demand as herein provided shall be a waiver of all defects that the notice may contain. After service of such demand as herein provided, the sender of such notice may at any time within eight days thereafter serve an amended notice which shall supersede such first notice and have the same effect as an original notice hereunder. The notice required by this section shall be served on the employer, or if there is more than one employer, upon one of such employers, and may be served by delivering the same to or at the residence or place of business of the person on whom it is to be served. The notice or demand may be served by post by letter addressed to the person on whom it is to be served, at his last known place of residence or place of business, and if served by post shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of the post. When the employer is a corporation notice shall be served by delivering the same or by sending it by post addressed to the office or principal place of business of such corporation.

SEC. 4. Risks assumed.—An employee by entering upon or continuing in the service of the employer shall be presumed to have assented to the necessary risks of the occupation or employment and no others. The necessary risks of the occupation or employment shall, in all cases arising after the first day of September, 1910, be considered as including those risks, and those only, inherent in the nature of the business which remain after the employer has exercised due care in providing for the safety of the employees, and has complied with the laws affecting or regulating such business or occupation for the greater safety of such employees. In an action brought to recover damages for personal injury or for death resulting therefrom received after the first day of September, 1910, owing to any cause, including open and visible defects, for which the employer would be liable but for the hitherto available defense of assumption of risk by the employee, the fact that the employee continued in the service of the employer in the same place and course of employment after the discovery by such employee, or after he had been informed of the danger of personal injury therefrom shall not be, as matter of fact or as matter of law, an assumption of the risk of injury therefrom, but an employee, or his legal representative, shall not be entitled under this article to any right of compensation or remedy against the employer in any case where such employee knew of the defect or negligence which caused the injury and failed, within a reasonable time, to give, or cause to be given, information thereof to the employer, or to some person superior to himself in the service of the employer, or who had intrusted to him some superintendence, unless it shall appear on the trial that such defect or negligence was known to such employer, or superior person, prior to such injuries to the employee; or unless such defect could have been discovered by such employer by reasonable and proper care, tests or inspection.

SEC. 5. Contributory negligence.—On the trial of any action brought by an employee or his personal representative to recover damages for negligence arising out of and in the course of such employment, contributory negligence of the injured employee shall be a defense to be so pleaded and proved by the defendant.

SEC. 6. Insurance fund.—An employer who shall have contributed to an insurance fund created and maintained for the mutual purpose of indemnifying an employee for personal injuries, for which compensation may be recovered under this article, or to any relief society or benefit fund created under the laws of this State, may prove in mitigation of damages recoverable by an employee under this article such proportion of the pecuniary benefit which has been received by such employee from such fund or society on account of such contribution of the employer, as the contribution of such employer to such fund or society bears to the whole contribution thereto.

SEC. 17. Construction.—* * * Nothing contained in this chapter shall apply to employers or employees in hazardous occupations as such occupations are defined by the workmen's compensation law.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 1391 (as amended 1911, ch. 532). Amount.—[If a creditor secures judgment against a wage earner who then or thereafter has due him wages in the amount of $12 or more per week, he may have execution in the amount of ten per cent of such wages as a continuing levy until the judgment is satisfied. Only one execution shall be satisfied at one time.]

SEC. 1879. Same.—[Judgment creditors may not seize the earnings of a debtor for personal service for the 60 days before the commencement of the action, where it is made to appear that such earnings are necessary for the use of a dependent family.]

NORTH CAROLINA

CONSOLIDATED STATUTES—1919

Wages as preferred claims—In administration, etc.

SECTION 93. Administration.—[Wages for not more than one year rank next after debts secured by a specific lien, funeral expenses, taxes assessed previous to the death of the employee, dues to the State and the United States, and judgments docketed and in force. Medical services for the year past are in the same class as wages.]

SEC. 1140. Foreclosure of mortgages.—[Mortgages on the property of corporations can not defeat judgments for labor or clerical services performed.]

SEC. 1197. Insolvency.—[The assets of an insolvent corporation are subject to a first and prior lien, superior to all others, for two months' wages of laborers, workmen, and all persons doing labor or service in the regular employment of the corporation.]

Railroad construction—Wages due by contractors

SECTION 2444. Action against company.—[Laborers employed by contractors for the construction of any part of a railroad may give notice to the company of indebtedness for not over 30 days' labor, whereupon the company becomes liable for the payment of such wages. Notice must be given within 20 days after the performance of the work for which payment is sought, and may be served on the agent in charge of the section of the road on which the labor was performed. Action must be commenced within 90 days of such notice.]

NOTE.—This provision applies to logging railroads. Carter v. Lumber Co., 160 N. C. 8.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 3465. Acts of fellow-servants, etc.—Any servant or employee of any railroad company operating in this State who shall suffer injury to his person, or the personal representative of any such servant or employee who shall have suffered death in the course of his services or employment with such company, by the negligence, carelessness or incompetence of any other servant, employee or agent of the company, or by any defect in the machinery, ways or appliances of the company, shall be entitled to maintain an action against such company. Any contract or agreement, expressed or implied, made by any employee of such company to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void.

This law, where it applies, has the effect of making all coemployees of railroad companies agents and principals of the company so far as fixing its liability for their neglect is concerned. 54 S. E. 391.

Within the limits set by this statute the defense of assumption of risks is abrogated. 52 S. E. 129.

It applies to logging roads. 54 S. E. 795. And to street railways. 68 S. E. 215.

SEC. 3466. Negligence of officers, etc.—Every common carrier by railroad shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier, or in the case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engine, appliances, machinery, track, road bed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

SEC. 3467. Contributory negligence to be measured.—In all actions hereafter brought against any common carrier by railroad to recover damages for personal injury to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Pro- vided, however, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 3468. Assumption of risk.—In any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this article to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee, or the death or injury was caused by negligence.

SEC. 3469. Contracts exempting from liability.—Any contract, rule, regulation or device whatsoever, the purpose and intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier by railroad to exempt itself from any liability created by this article, shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against such common carrier, under and by virtue of any of the provisions of this article, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance or relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or the person entitled thereto, on account of the injury or death for which such action was brought.

SEC. 3470. Logging roads.—The provisions in this article relating to liability for damages shall also apply to logging roads and tramroads.

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTION 3541. Vestibules.—[Passenger cars must have vestibule fronts, of not less than four feet frontage, from November 15 to March 30. Sides need not be inclosed. Temporary emergency use of cars without vestibules is allowed during suitable weather.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 4185. Discharge, etc.—Any person who shall in connection with any primary, special, general or other election in this State do any of the acts and things declared in this section to be unlawful shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. It shall be unlawful—

* * * * * * *

6. For any person to directly or indirectly discharge, or threaten to discharge, from employment, or otherwise intimidate or oppress, any legally qualified voter on account of any vote such voter may cast, or consider casting, or intend to cast or not to cast, or which he may have failed to cast.

Employment of children—Enticing out of State

SECTION 4222. Act forbidden.—[It is forbidden to employ any minor and carry or induce him to go beyond the limits of the State without the consent of parents or guardian in writing, duly authenticated.]

Contract of employment with intent to defraud

SECTION 4281. Fraudulent contract.—If any person, with intent to cheat or defraud another, shall obtain any advances in money, provisions, goods, wares, or merchandise of any description from any other person or corporation upon and by color of any promise or agreement that the person making the same will begin any work or labor of any description for such person or corporation from whom the advances are obtained, and the person making the promise or agreement shall willfully fail, without a lawful excuse, to commence or complete such work according to contract, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Evidence of such promise or agreement to work, the obtaining of such advances thereon and the failure to comply with such promise or agreement shall be presumptive evidence of the intent to cheat and defraud at the time of obtaining the advances and making the promise or agreement, subject to be rebutted by other testimony which may be introduced by the defendant.

This statute, prior to the amendment which added the last sentence, was declared constitutional. State v. Norman, 110 N. C. 484, 14 S. E. 968. But this amendment was declared invalid as exposing the defendant to conviction for fraud on a simple showing of breach of contract. State v. Griffin, 154 N. C. 611, 70 S. E. 292.

Employment of children—Fraudulent contracts—Supporting parents in idleness

SECTION 4446. Fraud.—[Contractors for piecework who employ minors to assist them, contracting with intent to defraud, and failing to pay for the services rendered, are guilty of a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 4459. Vagrancy.—[An able-bodied man living on the wages or earnings of a mother, wife, or minor child other than a male child over 18, is declared a vagraut.]

Interference with employment—Enticing employees

SECTION 4469. Procuring violation of contract, etc.—If any person shall entice, persuade and procure any servant by indenture, or any servant who shall have contracted in writing or orally to serve his employer, to unlawfully leave the service of his master or employer; or if any person shall knowingly and unlawfully harbor and detain, in his own service and from the service of his master or employer, any servant who shall unlawfully leave the service of such master or employer, then, in either case, such person and servant shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisoned not exceeding six months.

The mere fact of employing one whose contract with another has not expired is not an offense under this section, but it must appear that there was an actual enticement or persuasion. State v. Holly, 152 N. C. 839, 67 S. E. 53.

Bribery, etc., of employees

SECTION 4475. Offering bribes.—Any person who gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee or servant any gift or gratuity whatever with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; any agent, employee or servant who requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; any agent, employee or servant who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies or other articles either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer or master, receives, directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor; and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee or servant such commission, discount or bonus, shall be punished in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4476. Giving evidence.—No person shall be excused from attending, testifying, or producing books, papers, contracts, agreements, and other documents before any court, or in obedience to the subpœna of any court, having jurisdiction of the crime denounced in the preceding section, on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or to subject him to a penalty or to a forfeiture; but no person shall be liable to any suit or prosecution, civil or criminal, for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before such court or in obedience to its subpœna or in any such case or proceeding: Provided, That no person so testifying or producing any such books, papers, contracts, agreements, or other documents shall be exempted from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying.

Blacklisting

SECTION 4477. Blacklisting forbidden.—If any person, agent, company, or corporation, after having discharged any employee from his or its service, shall prevent or attempt to prevent, by word or writing of any kind, such discharged employee from obtaining employment with any other person, company, or corporation, such person, agent, or corporation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars; and such person, agent, company, or corporation shall be liable in penal damages to such discharged person, to be recovered by civil action. This section shall not be construed as prohibiting any person or agent of any company or corporation from informing, in writing, upon request, any other person, company, or corporation to whom such discharged person or employee has applied for employment, a truthful statement of the reason for such discharge.

SEC. 4478. Agreement to blacklist.—It shall be unlawful for two or more persons to agree together to blacklist any discharged employee or to attempt, by words or writing or any other means whatever, to prevent such discharged employee, or any employee who may have voluntarily left the service of his employer, from obtaining employment with any other person or company. Persons violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court.

A statement as to the standing of a discharged employee is not privileged unless made on request; and whether privileged or not, if it is made maliciously, and the employer has thereby prevented or attempted to prevent the reemployment of the discharged employee, penal damages may be awarded. 75 S. E. 34.

Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 4479. Scrip to be transferable.—If any person who employs laborers by the day, week, or month shall issue in payment for the services of such laborers any ticket, certificate, or other script [scrip] bearing upon its face the word "nontransferable," or shall issue such ticket, certificates, or other script [scrip] in any form that would render it void by transfer from the person to whom issued, or shall refuse to pay to the person holding the same its face value, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, or imprisoned not more than thirty days.

This statute does not authorize the assignee of scrip payable in merchandise to demand and receive payment in money. 112 N. C. 164.

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 5031. Child welfare commission.—The State superintendent of public instruction, the secretary of the State board of health, and the commissioner of public welfare of the State of North Carolina are hereby constituted the State child welfare commission, and they shall serve without additional compensation. It shall be the duty of this commission to make and formulate such rules and regulations for enforcing and carrying out the provisions of this article, and of the laws relating to seats for women employees and the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, as in its judgment it shall deem necessary.

SEC. 5032. Age.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any mill, factory, cannery, workshop, laundry, bakery, mercantile establishment, office, hotel, restaurant, barber shop, bootblack stand, stable, garage, place of amusement, brickyard, lumber yard, or in messenger or delivery service, except as the commission may prescribe.]

SEC. 5033. Night work; mines.—[No child under 16 may work at the above occupations between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. nor in or about any quarry or mine.]

SEC. 5034. Certificates.—[Certificates of children under 16 procured in good faith under such conditions as the commission may prescribe, and kept on file, shall be prima facie evidence of the age of the child. False statements are forbidden.]

SEC. 5035. Agents.—[The commission may appoint agents for the enforcement of this law, and may also use school attendance officers.]

SEC. 5036. Inspection.—[The commission and its agents may enter all places of employment for the purpose of inspection and the enforcement of this law.]

SEC. 5038. Penalty.—Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this article, or of the laws relating to seats for women employees or of the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, within the discretion of the court.

Factory, etc., regulations—Fire escapes, etc.

SECTION 6083 (as amended 1923, ch. 149). Doors to open outward.—In all * * * factories with more than ten employees * * * the doors for ingress and egress shall be so hung as to open outwardly from the * * * workshops of such buildings or places, or the doors may be hung on double hinges, so as to open with equal ease outwardly or inwardly. * * *

SEC. 6084 (as amended 1923, ch. 149). Fire escapes.—[All factories, manufacturing establishments, or workshops of three or more stories in height, in which ten or more people are employed above the first floor thereof, shall be provided with one or (if the proper official shall deem necessary) more outside fire-escapes, properly and safely constructed and guarded, and accessible from doors or windows, which must be kept unobstructed. Every story of factories, etc., three or more stories in height must be supplied with means for extinguishing fires. All main doors, both inside and outside, except fire doors, must open outward when officials so direct, and no door may be locked or otherwise fastened during work hours.]

SEC. 6085 (as amended 1923, ch. 149). Means of egress.— * * * Every building in which twenty or more persons are employed * * * above the second story in a factory, workshop, or mercantile or other establishment, when the owner or agent of the owner of the building is notified in writing by the insurance commissioner or one of his deputies, shall be provided with proper ways of egress or other means of escape from fire sufficient for the use of all persons * * * employed * * * in such building or buildings, and such ways of egress and means of escape shall be kept free from obstruction, in good repair, and ready for use. Every room above the second story in any such building in which twenty or more persons are employed shall be provided with more than one way of egress by stairways on the inside or outside of the building. All doors in any building subject to the provisions of this article shall open outwardly, if the insurance commissioner or one of his deputies shall so direct in writing.

Employment of labor—Miscellaneous provisions

SECTION 6554. Work time.—Sixty hours shall constitute a week's work in all factories and manufacturing establishments of the State, and no minor nor woman shall be worked in such factory or establishment a longer period than sixty hours in one week and no adult male shall be worked in such factory or establishment for a longer period than sixty hours in one week unless there shall be a written contract entered into between said adult male and his employer to that effect in which the employer shall agree to pay said adult male extra compensation for extra hours he may work. No employee in any factory or manufacturing establishment in this State shall be worked exceeding eleven hours in any one day: Provided, This section shall not apply to engineers, firemen, superintendents, overseers, section and yard hands, office men, watchmen or repairers of breakdowns.

Seats for female employees

SECTION 6555. Seats to be provided.—All persons, firms, or corporations who employ females in a store, shop, office, or manufacturing establishment, as clerks, operatives, or helpers in any business, trade, or occupation carried on or operated in the State of North Carolina, shall be required to procure and provide proper and suitable seats for all such females, and shall permit the use of such seats, rests, or stools as may be necessary, and shall not make any rules, regulations, or orders preventing the use of such seats, stools, or rests when any such female employee or employees are not actively employed or engaged in their work in such business or employment.

[Violations are punishable by fines, $25 to $100.]

Accidents in factories—Provisions for first aid

SECTION 6556. Medical, etc., supplies required.—Every person, firm, or corporation operating a factory or shop employing over twenty-five laborers, in which machinery is used for any manufacturing purpose, or for any purpose except for elevation or for heating or hoisting apparatus, shall at all times keep and maintain free of expense to the employees a medical or surgical chest which shall contain two porcelain pans, two tourniquets, gauze, absorbent cotton, adhesive plasters, bandages, antiseptic soap, one bottle of carbolic acid with directions on bottle, one bottle antiseptic tablets, one pair of scissors, one folding stretcher, all of which shall not cost to exceed ten dollars, for the treatment of persons injured or taken ill upon the premises. Any person, firm, or corporation violating this section shall be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars or more than twenty-five dollars for every week during which such violation continues.

Railroads—Shelters for employees at division points

SECTION 6557. Shelters required.—It shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation that may now or hereafter own, control, or operate any line of railroad in the State of North Carolina, to erect and maintain at every division point where cars are regularly taken out of trains for repairs or constuction work, or where other railroad equipment is regularly made, repaired, or constructed, a building or shed with a suitable and sufficient roof over the repair and construction track or tracks so as to provide that all men or employees permanently employed in the construction and repair of cars, trucks, or other railroad equipment of whatever description shall be under shelter and protected during snows, rains, sleets, hot sunshine, and other inclement weather: Provided, The corporation commission shall have the power to direct the points at which sheds shall be erected, and the character of the sheds: Provided further, That such order shall only be made after a hearing of which public notice shall have been given.

[Violation is punishable by a fine, not less than $100 nor more than $500, each day's failure to comply being a separate offense.]

Payment of wages to railroad employees

SECTION 6558. Scope of law.—All persons, firms, companies, corporations, or associations owning, leasing, or operating any railroad, or railroads, wholly or partially within this State, shall pay and settle with their employees engaged or employed in shops, roundhouses, or repair shops within this State at least twice in each month, which settlements shall not be less than two weeks nor more than three weeks apart, and shall in such settlements, pay such employees the full amounts due them for their work and services up to the date of the preceding settlement, and such payment shall be made in lawful money of the United States, or by check or cash order redeemable by the maker thereof for its face value in lawful money of the United States upon demand of or presentation by the lawful holder thereof: Provided, This section shall not apply to repair shops where less than ten employees are engaged.

Factory, etc., regulations—Toilets

SECTIONS 6559–6563. Supply, location, etc.—[Employers of more than two males and females in indoor work mainly, in towns and cities of 1,000 population or more, must provide properly kept toilets for the races and for both sexes, located in separate places in the buildings or grounds, and shut off by substantial walls. Failure to provide entails a penalty of $5 for each day's continuance. Town and city police and county sheriffs are charged with the enforcement of the law.]

SEC. 6564. Exemptions.—This article shall not apply to Sampson, Harnett, Lee, Johnston, Northampton, Cleveland, Rutherford, Polk, and Henderson Counties.

Suits for wages—Unlawful assignments, etc.

SECTION 6568. Sending claims outside of State.—[Resident creditors are forbidden to send out of the State or assign a claim against a resident employee of a railroad company with the intent of depriving him of the benefit of the exemption laws of the State.]

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 6897–6909. Employment; safety.—[Minors under 16 may not be employed in any mine. Timber must be furnished, unused underground entrances fenced, and at least two outlets provided. Hoisting, ventilation, and the use of safety lamps are regulated. Daily examinations must be made before men begin work. Notice must be given of accidents causing personal injury or loss of life; also of the opening and closing of mines. Failure to comply with the act entails liability for resultant injuries, and also subjects to penalties.]

SECS. 6910–6919. Inspection.—[Inspection of mines employing more than 10 men is to be made by the commissioner of labor and printing, who is to enforce the law, investigate accidents and make annual reports to the governor of his proceedings in this connection.]

Department of labor and printing

SECTION 7309. Department created.—A department of labor and printing is hereby created and established. The duties of the department shall be exercised and discharged by a commissioner, who shall be designated as commissioner of labor and printing, and an assistant commissioner, who shall be appointed by the commissioner, and who shall be a practical printer.

SEC. 7310. Commissioner.—The commissioner shall be elected by the people in the same manner as is provided for the election of the secretary of state. His term of office shall be four years. The office of the department shall be kept in the city of Raleigh and same shall be provided for as are other public offices of the State. The assistant commissioner shall perform the duties of the commissioner in his absence from office or in case of a vacancy therein.

SEC. 7311. Duties and powers.—The commissioner, aided by the assistant commissioner, shall collect and collate information and statistics concerning labor and its relation to capital, the hours of labor, the earnings of laborers and their educational, moral, and financial condition, and the best means of promoting their mental and moral and material welfare; shall also collect and collate information and statistics concerning the various mining, milling and manufacturing industries in this State, their location, capacity, and actual output of manufactured products, the kind and quantity of raw material annually used by them and the capital invested therein; shall also collect and collate information and statistics concerning the location, estimated and actual horsepower, and conditions of valuable water powers, developed and undeveloped, in this State; also concerning farm lands and farming, the kinds, character and quantity of the annual farm products in this State; also of timber lands and timbers, truck gardening, dairying, and such other information and statistics concerning the agricultural and industrial welfare of the citizens of this State as he may deem to be of interest and benefit to the public, and shall also perform the duties of mine inspector as prescribed in the chapter entitled Mines; and shall have the powers and perform the duties in relation to the public printing that are set forth in this chapter.

SEC. 7312. Reports.—The commissioner shall annually publish a report embodying therein such information and statistics as he may deem expedient and proper, which report shall be printed and paid for by the State just as the reports of other public officers are printed and paid for. The number of copies of such report to be printed to be designated by the commissioner. The distribution of the reports will be paid for from the general fund and not from the appropriation. The commissioner shall send or cause to be sent a copy of the report to every newspaper in this State and a copy to each member of the general assembly; a copy to each of the several State and county officers; a copy to each labor organization in the State and a copy to any citizen who may apply for the same either in person or by mail, and he may also send a copy to such officers of other States and Territories and to such corporations or individuals in other States and Territories as may apply for the same or as he may think proper. He shall also make a full report to the governor as other State officers are required to do, embodying therein such recommendations as he may deem calculated to promote the efficiency of his department.

CHAPTER 131.—Free public employment offices

SECTION 1. Office established.—In order to promote the establishment and maintenance of free employment offices for men, women, and juniors who are legally qualified, seeking employment, and for employers desiring workers, there is hereby erected in the department of labor and printing a free employment bureau. It shall be in charge of the commissioner of labor and printing, who shall appoint an assistant, whose duties shall be to supervise the work of said bureau and its branch offices, under the direction of the commissioner, and who shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by the commissioner of labor and printing, the governor, and the Director-General of the United States Employment Service. There shall also be appointed in said bureau, by the commissioner of labor and printing, such assistants and other employees as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. Places.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and printing, and he shall have the power, jurisdiction, and authority:

(a) To establish and conduct free employment offices in the State where, in the opinion of the commissioner, such action may be deemed advisable and expedient; to in all proper ways within the limitations of this act to bring together employers seeking employees and applicants for employment seeking employers; to make known the opportunities for self-employment in the State; to devise and adopt the most efficient means to avoid unemployment; to cooperate with existing State and Federal agencies in extending vocational guidance to minors seeking employment.

(b) To establish and maintain such sections of the employment service as will best serve the public welfare.

SEC. 3. Veterans.—The employment bureau hereby created shall cooperate with the Federal Board for Vocational Education division for rehabilitation of crippled soldiers and sailors in endeavoring to secure suitable employment and fair treatment of the veterans of the World War.

SEC. 4. Minors.—The employment bureau shall have jurisdiction over all matters contemplated in this act pertaining to securing employment for all minors who avail themselves of the free employment service; to so conduct its affairs that at all times it shall be in harmony with laws relating to child labor and compulsory education; to aid in inducing minors over sixteen, who can not or do not for various reasons attend day school, to undertake promising skilled employment; to aid in influencing minors who do not come within the purview of compulsory education laws, and who do not attend day school, to avail themselves of continuation or special courses in existing night schools, vocational schools, part-time schools, trade schools, business schools, library schools, university extension courses, etc., so as to become more skilled in such occupation or vocation to which they are respectively inclined or particularly adapted; to aid in securing vocational employment on farms for town and city boys who are interested in agricultural work, and particularly town and city high-school boys who include agriculture as an elective study; to cooperate with various social agencies, schools, etc., in group organization of employed minors, particularly those of foreign parentage, in order to promote the development of real, practical Americanism through a broader knowledge of the duties of citizenship; to investigate methods of vocational rehabilitation of boys and girls who are maimed or crippled, and ways and means for minimizing such handicap.

SEC. 5. Information.—Said employment bureau shall make public, through the newspapers and other media, information as to situations it may have applicants to fill, and establish relations with employers for the purpose of supplying demands for labor. Said bureau shall collect, collate, and publish statistical and other information relating to the work under its jurisdiction; investigate economic developments, and the extent and causes of unemployment and remedies therefor within and without the State, with the view of preparing for the information of the general assembly such facts as in its opinion may make further legislation desirable.

SEC. 6. Corporation.—The commissioner of labor and printing is hereby authorized to enter into agreement with the governing authorities of any municipality, county, township, or school corporation in the State for such period of time as may be deemed desirable for the purpose of establishing and maintaining local free employment offices, and for the extension of vocational guidance to minors. The commissioner is likewise authorized, with the advice of the governor, to enter into such cooperative agreement as may be deemed desirable with the United States Employment Service, or such bureau of the United States Department of Labor as the Secretary thereof may hereafter designate, or other Federal agency as Congress may hereafter authorize, for the purpose of securing financial aid from the United States Government for the establishment and maintenance of free employment service and the extension of vocational guidance to minors, and under and by virtue of any such agreement as aforesaid to pay, from any funds appropriated by the State for the purposes of this act, any part of the whole of the salaries, expenses or rent, maintenance, and equipment of offices and other expenses.

SEC. 7. Gifts.—It shall be lawful for the commissioner of labor and printing to receive, accept, and use, in the name of the people of the State, or any community or municipal corporation, as the donor may designate, by gift or device, any moneys, buildings, or real estate for the purpose of extending the benefits of this act, and for the purpose of giving assistance to deserving maimed or crippled boys and girls through vocational rehabilitation.

SEC. 8. Municipal action.—It shall be lawful for the governing authorities of any municipality, county, township, or school corporation in the State to enter into cooperative agreement with the commissioner of labor and printing, and to appropriate and expend the necessary money, and to permit the use of public property for the joint establishment and maintenance of such offices as may be mutually agreed upon, and which will further the purpose of this act.

SEC. 9. Appropriation.—For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act there is hereby appropriated out of the general funds of the State not otherwise appropriated the sum of ten thousand dollars per annum. Upon the certificate of the commissioner of labor and printing, the auditor is hereby directed to audit and the treasurer to pay expenses of said free employment service not exceeding the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) per annum.

CHAPTER 122.—Department of labor and printing—Division for the deaf

SECTIONS 1–5. Division created; functions.—[This act provides for a bureau of labor for the deaf, with "a competent deaf man" as its chief, who shall collect statistics of the deaf, ascertain what trades or occupations are most suitable for them, and aid in securing employment for them. He is also to investigate the matter of education of the deaf with a view to their usefulness and happiness. He may be assigned other duties if his time is not thus fully occupied.]

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE II.—Local and special laws regulating labor, etc.

SECTION 29. Legislation forbidden.—The general assembly shall not pass any local, private or special act or resolution: * * * Regulating labor, trade, mining or manufacturing * * *

NORTH DAKOTA

CONSTITUTION

Interference with employment

SECTION 23. Employment to be free.—Every citizen of this State shall be free to obtain employment wherever possible, and any person, corporation or agent thereof, maliciously interfering or hindering in any way, any citizen from obtaining or enjoying employment already obtained, from any other corporation or person, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Department of agriculture and labor—Commissioner

SECTION 82. Commissioner to be elected.—There shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at the times and places of choosing members of the legislative assembly, * * * one commissioner of agriculture and labor, who shall have attained the age of twenty-five years, shall be citizens of the United States, and shall have the qualifications of State electors. They shall severally hold their offices at the seat of government, for the term of two years and until their successors are elected and duly qualified, * * *

SECTION 212. Blacklisting prohibited.—The exchange of "black lists" between corporations shall be prohibited.

REVISED CODES OF 1905

POLITICAL CODE

Department of agriculture and labor—Commissioner

SECTION 127. Duty of commissioner.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of agriculture and labor to collect, systematize and present in biennial reports to the legislative assembly statistical details relating to all labor departments in the State, such as hours and wages of labor, the estimated number of persons employed by the several industries within the State, the operation of labor-saving machinery and its relation to hand labor, a description of the different kinds of labor organizations in existence in this State, and what they have accomplished in favor of the class for which they were organized. Such statistics may be classified as the commissioner of agriculture and labor deems best.

SEC. 128. Duty of officials.—It shall be the duty of all State, county, township, and municipal officers to furnish upon the written request of the commissioner of agriculture all the information in their power necessary to assist in carrying out the objects of this article. For the purpose of obtaining statistics relating to manufactures and mining the commissioner of agriculture shall procure in a manner that may seem best to him, the names and addresses of all the manufacturers and mine owners and operators in the State, and shall transmit by mail to each owner, operator or manager of each shop, mill, manufacturing establishment or mine, not later than the first day of July of each year, suitably prepared blanks embodying inquiries into the subjects upon which the commissioner is required or authorized to prepare statistics, which blanks shall be filled out complete and returned to the commissioner not later than the first day of August following. The information so obtained shall be preserved, systematized and tabulated by the commissioner, but no information concerning the business or affairs of any individual, firm, company or corporation shall be divulged or in any manner made public by the commissioner or any one in the employ of his office, and any violation of this provision shall subject the party violating to a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or to imprisonment of not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment. The refusal or neglect of any such owner, operator or manager of any shop, mill, manufacturing establishment or mine to supply the information asked by the commissioner within the time designated shall be construed as a violation of section one hundred and twenty-nine and shall subject the party so offending to the penalties therein prescribed: Provided, That no prosecution shall be begun against such persons for such neglect or refusal until at least twenty days after a second notice and blank shall have been mailed them by the commissioner.

Sec. 129. Obstructing commissioner.—Any person who willfully impedes or obstructs the commissioner in the full and free performance of his duties shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punishable by a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment of not less than seven nor more than thirty days in the county jail, or by both. The refusal or neglect of any person for himself or for any person, firm, company or corporation of which he may be a member or agent, to furnish the information or statistical statement required to be furnished to assessors, shall be construed to be a violation of the provisions of this section, and it is hereby made the duty of the county auditor to report such violation with the names and post-office address and place of residence of the violator as furnished him by the assessor to the State's attorney for the county in which such violation occurred, and the State's attorney shall forthwith proceed to enforce the penalty provided in this section against such persons; and he is hereby authorized to subpœna the assessor and such other witnesses as may be necessary, and to introduce the assessor's returns in evidence.

Sec. 130. Power.—He shall have power to send for persons, books and papers whenever in his opinion it is necessary, and he may examine witnesses under oath, being hereby authorized to administer the same in the performance of his duty, and the testimony so taken must be filed and preserved in his office.

Sec. 134. Coal mining.—The commissioner shall report to the legislative assembly the number of coal mines being operated within the State, the number of tons of coal being mined annually, the number of persons employed in coal mining, the wages paid coal miners, and the cost per ton to mine coal at the different mines. The commissioner is hereby authorized to give out to the press of this or other States at any time such parts of any reports in course of preparation as may be sufficiently concluded to admit of publication, or such information regarding the statistics of the State as may in his judgment be of interest or value to the people the design being to furnish to the people through the press as fresh information regarding the State and its industries and condition as possible without awaiting the official publication through biennial or other reports.

Sec. 135. Salary.—The commissioner of agriculture and labor shall receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars.

Inspection and regulation of factories—Fire escapes—Doors to open outward

Sections 2175, 2176. Provisions required.—[Owners and proprietors of factories, etc., over two stories in height, must provide safe and suitable fire escapes from all rooms above the second story, under penalty of $25 for each room not provided for.]

Sec. 2177. Doors to open outward.—All doors of ingress and egress in all buildings used for * * * factories, * * * wherein numbers of persons are employed * * * shall be so constructed as to open and swing outward, and doorways shall not be less than four feet in width, with proper landings and stairways of at least equal width.

Sec. 2178. Who to make changes.—It shall be the duty of all persons owning or having charge of such buildings, * * * to comply with the provisions of the last section * * *.

SEC. 2179. Penalty.—Any person failing to comply with the provisions of * * * [section 2177], or who shall build, maintain or permit to be used any such building contrary to the provisions hereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

CIVIL CODE

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 4400. Negligence of coemployees on railroads.—Every railroad company organized or doing business in this State shall be liable for all damages done to any employee of such company, in consequence of any negligence of its agents, or by any mismanagement of its engineers, or other employees, to any person sustaining such damage; and no contract which restricts such liability shall be legal or binding.

SEC. 5392. Want of care, etc.—Everyone is responsible not only for the result of his willful acts, but also for an injury occasioned to another by his want of ordinary care or skill in the management of his property or person, except so far as the latter has willfully or by want of ordinary care, brought the injury upon himself. * * *

Employment of labor—General provisions

SECTION 5542. Definition.—The contract of employment is a contract by which one, who is called the employer, engages another, who is called the employee, to do something for the benefit of the employer or a third person.

SEC. 5543. Employee to be indemnified when.—An employer must indemnify his employee except as prescribed in the next section for all that he necessarily expends or loses in direct consequence of the discharge of his duties as such or of his obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee at the time of obeying such directions believed them to be unlawful.

SEC. 5544. Ordinary risks.—An employer is not bound to indemnify his employee for losses suffered by the latter in consequence of the ordinary risks of the business in which he is employed, nor in consequence of the negligence of another person employed by the same employer in the same general business, unless he has neglected to use ordinary care in the selection of the culpable employee.

SEC. 5545. Employer's negligence.—An employer must in all cases indemnify his employee for losses caused by the former's want of ordinary care.

Sections 5544 and 5545 are an enactment of the common law and do not change the rule as to the liability of employers. 3 Dak. 38.

SEC. 5546. Service without consideration.—One who without consideration undertakes to do a service for another is not bound to perform the same, but if he actually enters upon its performance he must use at least slight care and diligence therein.

SEC. 5547. Employment on request.—One who by his own special request induces another to intrust him with the performance of a service must perform the same fully. In other cases one who undertakes a gratuitous service may relinquish it at any time.

SEC. 5549. Service for reward.—One who for a good consideration agrees to serve another must perform the service and must use ordinary care and diligence therein so long as he is thus employed.

SEC. 5550. Service for personal advantage.—One who is employed at his own request to do that which is more for his own advantage than for that of his employer must use great care and diligence therein to protect the interests of the latter.

SEC. 5551. Limit of term of contract.—A contract to render personal service, other than a contract of apprenticeship, as provided in the chapter on master and servant, can not be enforced against the employee beyond the term of two years from the commencement of service under it, but if the employee voluntarily continues his service under it beyond that time the contract may be referred to as affording a presumptive measure of the compensation.

SEC. 5552. Obedience to orders.—An employee must substantially comply with all the directions of his employer concerning the service on which he is engaged, even though contrary to the provisions of this and the two succeeding chapters, except when such obedience is impossible or unlawful, or would impose new and unreasonable burdens upon the employee, or in case of an emergency, which, according to the best information which the employee can with reasonable diligence obtain the employer did not contemplate, in which he can not with reasonable diligence be consulted and in which noncompliance is judged by the employee in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable discretion to be absolutely necessary for the protection of the employer's interest. In all such cases the employee must conform as nearly to the directions of his employer as may be reasonably practicable and most for the interest of the latter.

SEC. 5553. Usage of place.—An employee must perform his service in conformity to the usage of the place of performance, unless otherwise directed by his employer, or unless it is impracticable, or manifestly injurious to his employer to do so.

SEC. 5554. Degree of skill.—An employee is bound to exercise a reasonable degree of skill, unless his employer has notice before employing him of his want of skill.

SEC. 5555. Same subject.—An employee is bound to use such skill as he possesses so far as the same is required for the service specified.

SEC. 5556. Acquisitions by employee.—Everything which an employee acquires by virtue of his employment, except the compensation, if any, which is due to him from his employer, belongs to the latter, whether acquired lawfully or unlawfully, or during or after the expiration of the term of his employment.

SEC. 5557. Accounts.—An employee must on demand render to his employer just accounts of all his transactions in the course of his services as often as may be reasonable and must, without demand, give prompt notice to his employer of everything which he receives for his account.

SEC. 5558. May hold goods until demand.—An employee, who receives anything on account of his employer in any capacity other than that of a mere servant, is not bound to deliver it to him until demanded, and is not at liberty to send it to him from a distance without demand in any mode involving greater risk than its retention by the employee himself.

SEC. 5559. Employer's business to have preference.—An employee who has any business to transact on his own account similar to that intrusted to him by his employer must always give the latter the preference. If intrusted with similar affairs by different employers, he must give them preference according to their relative urgency, or, other things being equal, according to the order in which they were committed to him.

SEC. 5560. Substitutes.—An employee who is expressly authorized to employ a substitute is liable to his principal only for want of ordinary care in his selection. The substitute is directly responsible to the principal.

SEC. 5561. Culpable negligence.—An employee who is guilty of a culpable degree of negligence is liable to his employer for the damage thereby caused to the latter; and the employer is liable to him if the service is not gratuitous for the value of such services only as are properly rendered.

SEC. 5562. Survivor of joint employees.—When service is to be rendered by two or more persons jointly and one of them dies, the survivor must act alone if the service to be rendered is such as he can rightly perform without the aid of the deceased person, but not otherwise.

SEC. 5564. Termination of employment.—Every employment in which the power of the employee is not coupled with an interest in its subject is terminated by notice to him of:

1. The death of the employer; or,
2. His legal incapacity to contract.

Every employment is terminated:

1. By the expiration of its appointed term.
2. By the extinction of its subject.
3. By the death of the employee; or,
4. By his legal incapacity to act as such.

SEC. 5565. Continuance after death of employer.—An employee, unless the term of his service has expired or unless he has a right to discontinue it at any time without notice, must continue his service after notice of the death or incapacity of his employer, so far as is necessary to protect from serious injury the interests of the employer's successor in interest, until a reasonable time after notice of the facts has been communicated to such successor. The successor must compensate the employee for such service according to the terms of the contract of employment.

SEC. 5566. Termination at will.—An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other, except when otherwise provided by this chapter.

SEC. 5567. Breach of duty by employee.—An employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated at any time by the employer in case of any willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of his employment or in case of his habitual neglect of his duty or continued incapacity to perform it.

SEC. 5568. By employer.—Any employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated by the employee at any time in case of any willful or permanent breach of the obligations of his employer to him as an employee.

SEC. 5569. Forfeiture of wages.—An employee dismissed by his employer for good cause is not entitled to any compensation for services rendered since the last day upon which a payment became due to him under the contract.

SEC. 5570. Proportionate compensation.—An employee who quits the service of his employer for good cause is entitled to such proportion of the compensation which would become due in case of full performance, as the services which he has already rendered bear to the services which he was to render as full performance.

SEC. 5571. Definition.—A servant is one who is employed to render personal service to his employer, otherwise than in the pursuit of an independent calling, and who in such service remains entirely under the control and direction of the latter, who is called his master.

SEC. 5572 (as amended 1907, ch. 173). Measure of term of service.—A servant is presumed to be hired for such length of time as the parties shall agree upon. A hiring at a monthly rate is to be presumed to be for one month or such number of months as may be agreed upon. A hiring for the season shall be presumed to be from the date of such hiring to November 1st of the year of such hiring. A hiring at a yearly rate is presumed to be for one year. A hiring at a daily rate shall be presumed to be an entire contract for as many days as the parties agree upon, and such contract shall not be presumed to be for one day. A hiring by piecework, for no specified time.

SEC. 5573. Monthly term presumed.—In the absence of any agreement or custom as to the rate or value of wages the term of service or the time of payment, a servant is presumed to be hired by the month at a monthly rate of reasonable wages, to be paid when the service is performed.

SEC. 5574. Renewal of agreement.—When after the expiration of an agreement respecting the wages and the term of service the parties continue the relation of master and servant, they are presumed to have renewed the agreement for the same wages and term of service.

SEC. 5575. Servants' time.—The entire time of a domestic servant belongs to the master and the time of other servants, to such extent as is usual in the business in which they serve, not exceeding in any case ten hours in a day.

SEC. 5576. Delivery of goods, etc., received.—A servant must deliver to his master, as soon as with reasonable diligence he can find him, everything that he receives for his account without demand; but he is not bound without orders from his master to send anything to him through another person.

SEC. 5577. Discharge for cause.—A master may discharge any servant, other than an apprentice, whether engaged for a fixed term or not:

1. If he is guilty of misconduct in the course of his service or of gross immorality, though unconnected with the same; or,

2. If, being employed about the person of the master or in a confidential position, the master discovers that he has been guilty of misconduct before or after the commencement of his service of such a nature that if the master had known or contemplated it he would not have so employed him.

SEC. 5620. Service without employment.—One who officiously and without consent of the real or apparent owner of a thing takes it into his possession for the purpose of rendering a service about it must complete such service and use ordinary care, diligence, and reasonable skill about the same. He is not entitled to any compensation for his service or expenses, except that he may deduct actual and necessary expenses incurred by him about such service from any profits which his service has caused the thing to acquire for its owner and must account to the owner for the residue.

SEC. 6556. Damages.—Every person who suffers detriment from the unlawful act or omission of another may recover from the person in fault a compensation therefor in money, which is called damages.

SEC. 6614. What contracts can not be enforced.—The following obligations can not be specifically enforced:

1. An obligation to render personal service.
2. An obligation to employ another in personal service.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Exemption of wages from garnishment—Suits—Preference

SECTION 6968 (as amended 1921, ch. 72). Amount.—[The sum of $15 weekly, wages of the head of a family resident in the State, is exempt from garnishment, and wages not in excess of $15 must be paid the wage earner when due, on a showing of his status.]

SEC. 7125 (as amended 1915, ch. 155). No exemption, when.—[No personal property, except absolute exemptions are exempt from execution or attachment in an action for wages.]

SEC. 7166. Amount exempt.—[Earnings for personal services rendered within 60 days next preceding an order of execution are exempt therefrom if necessary to the support of the dependent family of the judgment debtor.]

SEC. 7782. Rank in insolvency.—[Wages of servants, laborers, mechanics and clerks for services rendered within the preceding year rank next after debts due the United States and debts and taxes due the State or a municipality.]

JUSTICES' CODE

Execution on judgments for wages not to be stayed

SECTION 8447. Stay not allowed, when.— * * * no stay is allowed under the provisions of this section without the consent of the owner and holder of the judgment when it is rendered for wages of a mechanic or laborer * * *

PENAL CODE

Interference with employment—Conspiracy against workingmen

SECTION 8768. Conspiring to interfere with trade, etc.—If two or more persons conspire, either:

* * * * * * *

5. To prevent another from exercising a lawful trade or calling or doing any other lawful act, by force, threats, intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with tools, implements or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use or employment thereof; or,

6. To commit any act injurious to the public health, to public morals or to trade or commerce, or for the perversion or obstruction of justice, or of the due administration of the laws; each of them is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 8770. Assemblies of workingmen.—No conspiracy is punishable criminally unless it is one of those enumerated in the last two sections, and the orderly and peaceable assembling or cooperation of persons employed in any calling, trade or handicraft for the purpose of obtaining an advance in the rate of wages or compensation, or of maintaining such rate, is not a conspiracy.

SEC. 8772. Hindering employment.—Every person, corporation, or agent thereof, who maliciously interferes or hinders, in any way, any citizen of this State from obtaining employment or enjoying employment already obtained, from any other person or corporation, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 8773. Blacklisting.—Every corporation, officer, agent or employee thereof, and every person of any corporation on behalf of such corporation, who exchanges with or furnishes or delivers to any other corporation or any officer, agent, employee or person thereof, any "black list," is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Intimidation of employers and employees

SECTION 9434. Intimidating employees.—Every person who, by any use of force, threats, or intimidation, prevents or endeavors to prevent any hired foreman, journeyman, apprentice, workman, laborer, servant, or other person employed by another, from continuing or performing his work, or from accepting any new work or employment, or to induce such hired person to relinquish his work or employment, or to return any work he has in hand before it is finished, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 9435. Employers.—Every person who, by any use of force, threats, or intimidation, prevents or endeavors to prevent another from employing any person, or to compel another to employ any person, or to force or induce another to alter his mode of carrying on business, or to limit or increase the number of his hired foremen, journeymen, apprentices, workmen, laborers, servants, or other persons employed by him, or their rate of wages or time of service, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 9436. Mine laborers.—In all cases when two or more persons * * * shall enter upon or into any lode, gulch, placer claim or quartz mill or other mining property, or, not being upon such property but within hearing of the same, shall make any threats or make use of any language, sign, or gesture calculated to intimidate any person or persons at work on said property from continuing work thereon or therein, or to intimidate others from engaging to work thereon or therein, every such person so offending shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months and not less than thirty days, and by fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, such fine to be discharged either by payment or by confinement in such jail until such fine is discharged at the rate of two dollars and fifty cents per day. On trials under this section, proof of a common purpose of two or more persons * * * to intimidate laborers as above set forth, accompanied or followed by any of the acts above specified, by any of them, shall be sufficient evidence to convict any one committing such acts, although the parties may not be associated together at the time of committing the same.

Employment of women and children—Hours of labor

SECTION 9440. Limit of ten hours.—Every owner, stockholder, overseer, employer, clerk, or foreman, of any manufactory, workshop, or other place used for mechanical or manufacturing purposes, who, having control, shall compel any woman or any child under eighteen years of age, or permit any child under fourteen years of age, to labor in any day exceeding ten hours, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred and not less than ten dollars.

ACTS OF 1907

CHAPTER 205.—Accidents on railroads

SECTION 1. Reports.—[Reports must be made to the railroad commissioners of all accidents connected with the operation of trains wherein any person is killed or injured.]

SEC. 2. Investigation.—[The commission must examine into the causes and circumstances of such accidents and issue orders to provide against their recurrence. Biennial reports of investigations and orders are to be made to the legislature.]

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations of the above entail penalties of fines, $500 to $2,000, or imprisonment, 30 days to one year, or both.]

CHAPTER 208.—Contracts of employment—Repayment of advances

SECTION 1. Failure to repay.—Every employee who, with intent to defraud, shall accept or receive transportation provided by or at the instance or expense of his employer, from any point in this State to or in the direction of the place where he has contracted to perform labor for or render services to such employer, or who shall knowingly or with intent to defraud accept or receive the benefit of any other pecuniary advancements made by or at the instance and cost of his employer under an agreement on the part of such employee to perform labor or render services in repayment of the cost of such transportation or of such other benefits, shall be deemed and adjudged [guilty] of a misdemeanor if he shall neglect or refuse to render services or perform labor of an equal value to the full amount paid for such transportation or other benefits, or shall neglect or refuse to pay such employer in money the amount paid therefor. The value of the services to be rendered or labor to be performed shall be determined by the price agreed to be paid therefor by such employer under his contract with the employee. The failure or refusal of any such employee to perform such labor or to render such services in accordance with his contract or to pay in money the amount paid for such transportation or other benefits shall be prima facie evidence of his intent to defraud.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—Every person found guilty of such misdemeanor shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars and by imprisonment of not less than ten nor more than sixty days.

ACTS OF 1913

CHAPTER 230.—Railroads—Safe clearance

SECTION 1. Scope.—[The act applies to common carriers by railroad to which the regulative power of the State extends.]

SEC. 2. Large engines and cars.—[After January 1, 1915, it is unlawful to use engines or cars more than 10½ feet in extreme width or 14 feet 2 inches in extreme height, without extending the clearance provided in the next section, unless authorized by the railroad commissioners. Excepted are loaded open or flat cars, foreign cars, wrecking cars, snowplows, pile drivers, caboose cupolas, and rolling stock in use at the time.]

SEC. 3. Clearance.—[After January 1, 1915, no chute, pole, pen, embankment or other structure or obstruction may be nearer than 8 feet from the center line of track of standard gauge roads; nor may overhead obstructions stand less than 21 feet from the top of the track rail. This does not apply to station platforms not over 4 feet high, nor to existing store houses and elevators, nor to loading platforms in use at the time.]

SEC. 4. Reports.—[Common carriers subject to the act must report before January 1, 1914, all existing structures, etc., which do not conform to the above requirements, with reasons, if any, why they should not be made to conform.]

SEC. 5. Tracks.—[After January 1, 1915, no tracks may be constructed for switching or moving trains nearer together than 13 feet between the center lines except as necessary for intersections, turnouts and switch points.]

SEC. 6. Obstructions.—[The space between such tracks as are ordinarily used by railroad employees in the discharge of their duties must be kept clear of obstacles that would interfere therewith and cause unnecessary hazard, and must be in a condition for safe use day or night and under all weather conditions, without unnecessary hazard.]

SEC. 7. Violations.—[Noncompliance entails a penalty of $100 for each day's continuance.]

SEC. 8. Assumption of risk and contributory negligence.—Any employee of such common carrier who, while in the performance of his duty and while engaged in any commerce mentioned, subject to the regulative power of this act in section one, may be injured or killed by any locomotive, car, structure, or obstruction used or retained contrary to the provisions of this act, shall not be deemed to have assumed the risk thereby occasioned or to have been guilty of contributory negligence, although the employee continued in the employ of such common carrier after the unlawful use of such locomotive, car, permanent overhead structure, or obstruction, of any kind or character mentioned in this act shall have been brought to his knowledge; and the retention under the exemption authorized in section four of this act shall be at the sole risk of the carrier, and the permission granted in this act to the carrier to construct station or freight-house platforms four feet high measured from the top of the track rail and near to the center line of the track or tracks as provided in section three of this act, shall be at the sole risk of carrier, as aforesaid in this section.

ACTS OF 1915

CHAPTER 207.—Liability of employers for injuries—Railroad companies

SECTION 1. Liability declared.—Every common carrier by steam railroad, while engaged in commerce to which the regulative powers of the State extend under the Constitution of the United States, and of the State of North Dakota, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such common carrier in such commerce, or in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow, or husband, or children of such employee, and if none, then to the next of kin dependent upon such employee, if such injury or death resulting in the whole or in part from the negligence of any officers, agents or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to its negligence in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

SEC. 2. Contributory negligence to be measured.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such common carrier by a steam railroad under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for personal injuries to any employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee had been guilty of contributory negligence, shall not bar recovery; but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributed to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed, shall be held to have been guilty of a contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any State or Federal statute enacted for the safety of employees, contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 3. Assumption of risks.—In any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for injuries to, or death of any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment, in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any State or Federal statute enacted for the safety of employees, contributed to the injury or death of such employees.

SEC. 4. Contracting out.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or devise [device] whatsoever the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by this act, shall, to that extent, be void: Provided, That in any action brought against such common carrier, under or by virture of any of the provisions of this act, such common carrier may set off therein, any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance relief benefit or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or to the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death, for which said action was brought.

SEC. 5. Limitation.—No action shall be maintained under this act, unless commenced within two years from the date the cause of action accrued.

SEC. 6. Receivers.—The term common carrier as used in this act, shall include the receiver or receivers or other persons or corporations charged with the duty of the management and operation of the business of a common carrier.

SEC. 7. Survival of action.—Any right of action given by this act to a person suffering injury shall survive to his or her person represented [personal representative] for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee, and if none, then to such employee's parents, and if none, then to the next of kin dependent upon such employee; but in such case, there shall be only one recovery for the same injury.

CHAPTER 152.—Payment of wages by contractors

SECTION 1. Appropriating payments on contracts.—Any contractor or subcontractor on any improvement to real estate within the meaning of section sixty-eight hundred and fourteen of the Compiled Laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, with intent to defraud, shall use the proceeds of any payment to him on account of such improvement by the owner of such real estate, or person having any improvement made, for any other purpose than the payment of labor performed upon, or materials, machinery, or fixtures furnished for such improvement, while any such labor performed, or materials, machinery, or fixtures furnished for such improvement at the time of such payment, remains unpaid for, shall be guilty of larceny of the proceeds of such payment so used.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—When payment so used in violation of the preceding section is of an amount exceeding $20, such person shall upon conviction be punished as provided by law for the crime of grand larceny, and when the amount of such payment so used in violation of the preceding section is of an amount to $20 or less, such person shall upon conviction be punished for petit larceny.

CHAPTER 189.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day on railroads

SECTION 1. Pay days established.—All railroad corporations doing business within this State are required to pay their employees at least semimonthly, the wages earned by them to within fifteen days of the date of such payment, unless prevented by inevitable casualty: Provided, however, That whenever an employee shall be discharged, his wages shall be paid to him at the time of his discharge or whenever he shall demand the same thereafter.

SEC. 2. Failure to pay.—Whenever any railroad corporation shall for seven days neglect or refuse to pay its employees as prescribed by section one of this act, the wages due them may be recovered by action without further demand, and there shall be allowed to the plaintiff and included in his judgment, in addition to his cost and disbursements allowed by law, $5 if the judgment be recovered in a justice court, and a like sum if the judgment be recovered in a municipal court where no statutory costs are now allowed in such municipal court in such action, and double costs in all other courts on appeal.

CHAPTER 162.—Factory, etc., regulations—Powers of workmen's compensation bureau

SECTION 4 (as amended 1921, ch. 145). PARAGRAPH A.] Bureau.—A workmen's compensation bureau is hereby created in the department of agriculture and labor consisting of the State commissioner of agriculture and labor, the State insurance commissioner and three (3) workmen's compensation commissioners to be appointed by the governor, and the three commissioners so appointed shall devote their entire time to the duties of the bureau. * * *

PARAGRAPH G.] Powers.—The bureau is hereby vested with full power and jurisdiction over, and shall have such supervision of, every employment and place of employment subject to this act, as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and regulations requiring such employment and place of employment to be safe, and shall issue safety regulations whenever necessary.

CHAPTER 168.—Mine regulations—Coal mines

SECTIONS 2–6. Inspector.—[The governor, by and with the consent of the senate, appoints a State coal mine inspector for a term of two years. The inspector must be a citizen of five years' experience in coal mining, with a competent knowledge of mining, ventilation, etc., and not be interested in any mining operation. A salary of $2,500 is fixed, and a bond of $5,000 required. Office and travel expenses are allowed, and clerical help to the amount of $1,200. It is his duty to enter and inspect any mine, shaft, drift or slope, to inquire into the condition of the mine, its workings, drainage, ventilation, machinery, scales, etc., and to make provisions for the safety of employees. The operator must give needed assistance. All mines must be inspected annually, and those having an annual output of 1,200 tons or more at least every six months. If complaints of violations of the law have been made, the inspector must notify the employees of his visit, and they may select one of their number to accompany him on his tour of inspection. The owner or operator or some one assigned by him may at all times accompany the inspector while inspecting the property. The inspector must make an annual report to the governor.]

SEC. 7. Instruments.—[The State must furnish the inspector an anemometer and other instruments needed for the performance of his duties.]

SEC. 8. Posting statements.—[The inspector must post a statement of the conditions found by him and suggestions for the better protection of employees; also a notice at landings showing the number of men that may be hoisted or lowered.]

SEC. 9. Temporary vacancies.—[A competent person must be deputized to fill vacancies of two weeks or more, or for an unexpired term.]

SECS. 10, 11. Weights and measures.—[The inspector is ex officio sealer of weights and measures in so far as coal mining is concerned. Standard test weights must be supplied for his use.]

SEC. 12. Refusing inspection.—[Inspectors refused access or facilities for inspection may make affidavit before the judge in the county, who shall order the owner or operator to permit inspection or be adjudged in contempt of court.]

SECS. 13, 14. Neglect of duty.—[If a verified petition of 50 or more reputable citizens is presented, with a bond of $500, charging incompetence, neglect, malfeasance or misfeasance, the court shall investigate, the action being prosecuted by the State's attorney. If he is found guilty, the office shall be declared vacant.]

SECS. 16 (as amended 1923, ch. 246), 17–25. Examining board; certificates.—[The State mine inspector and a representative of the miners and one of the operators appointed by the governor comprise a board to examine applicants for the position of mine foreman. Persons seeking positions as mine foremen or mine examiners must be 23 years of age, with 5 years' experience, and pass an examination on theoretical and practical questions relating to mining, the nature of gases, ventilation, etc. Certificates issue in the discretion of the board; a fee of $5 is charged, of which $2 is for registration and examination, and $3 for the certificate. Acting without a certificate is forbidden, but a temporary employment, not over 30 days, is permited if no certified foreman examiner or fire boss is available. If a holder of a certificate violates the law, his certificate may be revoked for two years.]

SECS. 26–32. Maps.—[Maps must be furnished, showing surveys under and above ground, corrected annually, with a final correction for abandoned mines.]

SEC. 33 (as amended 1923, ch. 246). Washhouses.—[Where five or more men are employed, a suitable wash house, properly lighted, heated and equipped, must be provided for the men to wash themselves and change their clothing.]

SECS. 34, 35. Weighing coal.—[Weighmen must take oath to do justice between employers and employees. The miners may employ at their expense a checkweighman, who is subject to the same oath as the weighman, and shall have equal rights and privileges as to the weighing of coal. False weights and the fraudulent weighing of coal are forbidden.]

SECS. 36–43, 44 (as amended 1923, ch. 246), 45–48, 49 (as amended 1923, ch. 246), 50–55, 56 (as amended 1923, ch. 246), 57–61, 62 (as amended 1923, ch. 246), 63–82. Provisions for safety.—[Detailed provisions regulate the equipment of shafts and cages, passageways around shafts and gates at the top, require two distinct places of egress where more than ten men are employed, with passageways connecting every seam with the escape, forbid inflammable structures in locations dangerous to exits, regulate communicating ways with adjacent mines, ventilation, the construction of underground stables, the supply of timbers, drainage, the duties of mine foremen, examiners, machine men, and other employees, blasting, and the storage and handling of explosives, lighting, hoisting workmen, proceedings in case of accident, signal system, etc.]

SEC. 83 (as amended 1923, ch. 246). Qualifications of miners.—[No miner or loader may work alone without showing evidence that he has worked at least six months as or under the direction of a practical miner, nor may he work on pillars without at least two years' experience.]

SEC. 84. Reports.—[Operators must correctly reply to all requests for statistical data made by the inspector.]

SEC. 85. Penalties.—[Violation of the law or interference with the inspector is punishable by a fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not over six months, or both. In case of failure to provide escape shafts or ventilation the operation of the mine may also be enjoined until the legal requirements are met.]

SECS. 86, 87. Employment of children.—[The employment underground of any child under 16 is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $500.]

SEC. 88 (as amended 1923, p. 246). Hours of labor.—[Not over 8 hours is a day's labor in or about mines and open pit mines except in cases of emergency, or where life or property is in imminent danger.]

SEC. 89 (as amended 1923, ch. 246). Definitions.—[The terms mine, shaft, slope, operator, etc., are defined.]

CHAPTER 170.—Hours of labor of women

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 346). Work time.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or telephone or telegraph establishment or office, or in any express or transportation company in the State of North Dakota more than eight and one-half (8½) hours in any one day, or more than six (6) days or more than forty-eight (48) hours in any one week: Provided, however, That this act shall not apply to females working in rural telephone exchanges or in villages or towns of less than five hundred (500) population: Provided, further, The above law shall not apply in cases of an emergency at which time female help may be employed 10 hours in one day and seven days in one week, and not over 48 hours in one week. An emergency is defined to exist in the case of sickness of more than one female employee, in which case a doctor's certificate must be furnished, for the protection of human life, banquets, conventions, celebrations, sessions of the State legislature, or where a female is employed as reporter in any of the district courts of the State of North Dakota. In case an emergency exists the proper authorities that have the enforcement of this law must be notified at once, stating full particulars and probable duration of such emergency and permission must be obtained from such authorities as soon as possible.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Any person who violates any provision of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

CHAPTER 171.—Labor disputes—Injunctions

SECTION 1. Injunctions restricted.—No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of this State, any judge or judges thereof in any case involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property right must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant or by his agent or attorney.

SEC. 2. Strikes.—No restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons whether singly or in concert from terminating any relation of employment or from ceasing to perform any work or labor or from recommending, advising, or persuading others so to do; or from attending at any place where any person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of obtaining or communicating information, or from persuading any such person to work or to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize any party to such dispute; or from recommending, advising, or persuading others so to do; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing an act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by a single person; nor shall any of the acts specified in this section be considered or held to be illegal or unlawful in any court in this State.

SEC. 3. Suits at law.—In all cases involving the violation of the contract of employment, either by the employer or the employee where no irreparable damage is about to be committed upon the property or property right of either, no injunction shall be granted, but the parties shall be left to their remedy at law.

CHAPTER 172.—Railroads—Shelters for employees on repair tracks

SECTION 1. Who to provide shelters.—Every company, corporation, person, or receiver engaged in repairing or constructing railway cars, trucks, locomotive engines, or other railroad equipment, shall erect and maintain at every station or other point where five or more persons are regularly employed and engaged in such construction or repairing, suitable buildings or sheds covering sufficient railroad track to accommodate all of the cars, trucks, locomotive engines, or other railroad equipment at any time under construction or repair at that point, and to provide and insure shelter and protection from rain, snow, or inclement weather to all of the men and women so employed and engaged in such construction or repair work: Provided, however, That the terms of this act shall not apply to division terminals or other points where it is necessary to make light repairs only on cars, nor to any repair of cars loaded with time or perishable freight, nor to the repair of cars when trains are being held for the movement of said cars, nor to points where less than five persons are regularly employed in such repair service.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1919, Sp. Sess., ch. 48). Violations.—[Penalty for a first offense is a fine, $100 to $500, and for subsequent offenses, $500 to $10,000, and costs of prosecution.]

CHAPTER 174.—Minimum wages for women and minors

SECTION 1. Definitions.—That when used in this act the term "bureau" means the workmen's compensation bureau.

The term "commissioner" means a member of the workmen's compensation bureau.

The term "minor" means a person of either sex under age of eighteen years.

The term "women" includes only women eighteen years of age or over.

The term "occupation" includes a business, industry, trade or branch thereof, but shall not include agricultural or domestic service.

SEC. 2. Powers of bureau.—The said bureau is hereby authorized and empowered to ascertain and declare, in the manner hereinafter provided, the following things:

(a) Standards of hours of employment for women or minors and what are unreasonably long hours for women or for minors in any occupation within the State of North Dakota;

(b) Standards of conditions of labor for women or for minors in any occupation within the State and what surroundings or conditions, sanitary or otherwise, are detrimental to the health or morals of women or of minors in any such occupation;

(c) Standards of minimum wages for women in any occupation in the State and what wages are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living to any such women workers and to maintain them in good health;

(d) Standard of minimum wages for minors in any occupation within the State of North Dakota and what wages are unreasonably low for any such minor workers;

(e) To prepare, adopt, and promulgate rules and regulations for the carrying into effect of the foregoing provisions of this act, including rules and regulations for the selection of members and the mode of procedure of conferences;

(f) To employ any and all necessary help and assistance for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act and to fix their compensation and bonds, providing that the total amount of such compensation shall not exceed the amount appropriated therefor by the legislative assembly;

(g) To investigate and ascertain the wages and the hours of labor and the conditions of labor of women and minors in different occupations in which they are employed in the State of North Dakota;

(h) Either through any authorized representative or any commissioner, to inspect and examine any and all books and pay rolls and other records of any employer of women or minors that in any way appertain to or have a bearing upon the questions of labor or hours of labor or conditions of labor of any such women workers or minor workers in any of such occupations;

(i) To require from any such employer full and true statements of the wages paid to and the hours of labor and conditions of labor, of all women and minors in such employment.

SEC. 3. Hours of labor.—It shall be unlawful to employ women or minors in any occupation within the State for unreasonably long hours; and it shall be unlawful to employ women or minors in any occupation within the State under such surroundings or conditions, sanitary or otherwise, as may be detrimental to their health, or morals; and it shall be unlawful to employ women in any occupation within the State for wages which are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living and to maintain them in health; and it shall be unlawful to employ minors in any occupation within the State for unreasonably low wages.

SEC. 4. Register.—Every employer of women or minors shall keep a register of the names of all women and all minors employed by him, and shall, on request, permit any commissioner or any authorized representative of said bureau to inspect and examine such register.

SEC. 5. Meetings.—Said bureau may hold meetings for the transaction of any of its business at such times and places as it may prescribe; and said bureau may hold public hearings at such times and places as it deems fit and proper for the purpose of investigating any of the matters it is authorized to investigate by this act. At any such public hearing any person interested in the matter being investigated may appear and testify. Said bureau or any commissioner shall have power to subpœna and compel the attendance of any witness at any such public hearing or at any session of any conference called and held as hereinafter provided; and any commissioner shall have power to administer an oath to any witness who testifies at any such public hearing or at any such session of any conference. All witnesses subpœnaed by said bureau shall be paid the same mileage and per diem as are allowed by law to witnesses in civil cases before the district court.

SEC. 6. Conference.—If, after investigation, said bureau is of the opinion that any substantial number of women workers in any occupation are working for unreasonably long hours or are working under surroundings or conditions detrimental to their health or morals or are receiving inadequate wages to supply them with the necessary cost of living and maintain them in health, said bureau may call and convene a conference for the purpose and with the powers of considering and inquiring into and reporting on the subject investigated by said bureau and submitted by it to such conference. Such conference shall be composed of not more than three representatives of the employers in said occupation and of an equal number of the representatives of the employees in said occupation and of not more than three disinterested persons representing the public and of one or more commissioners. Said bureau shall name and appoint all members of such conference and designate the chairman thereof. Said bureau shall present to such conference all information and evidence in the possession or under the control of said bureau which relates to the subject of the inquiry of such conference; and said bureau shall cause to be brought before such conference any witness whose testimony said bureau deems material to the subject of the inquiry of such conference. After completing its consideration of any inquiry into the subject submitted to it by said bureau, such conference shall make and transmit to said bureau a report containing the findings and recommendations of such conference on said subject. Accordingly as the subject submitted to it may require, such conference shall, in its report, make recommendations on any or all of the following questions concerning the particular occupation under inquiry, to wit:

(a) Standards of hours of employment for women workers and what are unreasonably long hours of employment for women workers;

(b) Standards of conditions of labor for women workers and what surroundings or conditions, sanitary or otherwise, are detrimental to the health or morals of women workers;

(c) Standards of minimum wages for women workers and what wages are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living to women workers and maintain them in health.

In its recommendation on a question of wages such conference shall, where it appears that any substantial number of women workers in the occupation under inquiry are being paid by piece rates as distinguished from time rate, recommend minimum piece rates as well as minimum time rate and recommend such minimum piece rates as will in its judgment be adequate to supply the necessary cost of living to women workers of average ordinary ability and maintain them in health. Two-thirds of the members of any such conference shall constitute a quorum; and the decision or recommendation or report of such two-thirds on any subject submitted shall be deemed the decision or recommendation or report of such conference.

SEC. 7. Action of bureau.—Upon receipts of any report from any conference said bureau shall consider and review the recommendation contained in said report; and said bureau may approve any or all of said recommendations or disapprove any or all of said recommendations; and said bureau may resubmit to the same conference or a new conference any subject covered by any recommendations so disapproved. If said bureau approves any recommendations contained in any report from any conference, said bureau shall publish notice, not less than once a week for four successive weeks in not less than two newspapers of general circulation published in the State, that it will on a date and at a place named in said notice hold a public meeting at which all persons in favor of or opposed to said recommendations will be given a hearing; and, after said publication of said notice and said meeting, said bureau may, in its discretion, make and render such an order as may be proper or necessary to adopt such recommendations and carry the same into effect and require all employers in the occupation affected thereby to observe and comply with such recommendations and said order. Said order shall become effective in sixty days after it is made and rendered and shall be in full force and effect on and after the sixtieth day following its making and rendition. After said order becomes effective and while it is effective, it shall be unlawful for any employer to violate or disregard any of the terms or provisions of said order or to employ any woman worker in any occupation covered by said order for longer hours or under different surroundings or conditions or at a lower wage than are authorized or permitted by said order. Said bureau shall, as far as is practicable, mail a copy of such order to every employer affected thereby; and every employer affected by any such order shall keep a copy thereof posted in a conspicuous place in each room in his establishment in which women workers work. No such order of said bureau shall authorize or permit the employment of any women for more hours per day or per week than the maximum now fixed by law.

SEC. 8. Minors.—Said bureau may at any time inquire into wages or hours or conditions of labor of minors employed in any occupation in this State and determine suitable wages and hours and conditions of labor for such minors. When said bureau has made such determination, it may issue an obligatory order in the manner hereinbefore provided; and, after such order is effective, it shall be unlawful for any employer in said occupation to employ a minor at less wages or for more hours or under different conditions of labor than are specified or required in or by said order; but no such order of said bureau shall authorize or permit the employment of any minor for more hours per day or per week than the maximum now fixed by law or at any times or under any conditions now prohibited by law.

SEC. 9. Enforcement.—Said bureau shall, from time to time, investigate and ascertain whether or not employers in the State are observing and complying with its orders and take such steps as may be necessary to have prosecuted such employers as are not observing or complying with its orders.

SEC. 10. Appeals.—All questions of fact arising under the foregoing provisions of this act shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be determined by said bureau, and there shall be no appeal from the decision of said bureau on any such question of fact; but there shall be a right of appeal from said bureau to the district court of Burleigh County, from any ruling or holding on a question of law included in or embodied in any decision or order of said bureau, and, on the same question of law, from said district court to the supreme court of the State. In all such appeals the attorney general shall appear for and represent said bureau.

SEC. 11. Special licenses.—For any occupation in which the minimum wage has been established the bureau may issue to a female physically defective by age or otherwise or to an apprentice or learner in such occupations as usually require learners or apprentices, a special license authorizing the employment of any such licensee at a wage less than the minimum wage to be fixed by the bureau, such license to be issued under such rules and regulations as the bureau may establish therefor.

SEC. 12. Hours not to be increased.—Nothing in this act shall authorize or empower the bureau to increase the hours of labor for women or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of an act entitled "For an act regulating and fixing the hours of labor for females and providing penalties for the violation thereof," adopted at the sixteenth legislative session of this State.

SEC. 13. Violations.—[Violation entails a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, or imprisonment not less than ten days nor more than three months, or both.]

SEC. 14. Discharging employee.—Any employer who discharges or in any other manner discriminates against any employee because such employee has testified, or is about to testify, or because such employer believes that said employee may testify, in any investigation or proceedings under or relative to this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars.

SEC. 15. Recovery of unpaid wages.—If any woman worker shall be paid by her employer less than the minimum wage to which she is entitled under or by virtue of an order of said bureau, she may recover in a civil action the full amount of her said minimum wage less any amount actually paid by her said employer, together with such attorney's fees as may be allowed by the court; and any agreement for her to work for less than such minimum wage shall be no defense to such action.

SEC. 16. Reports.—Said bureau shall, on or before the first day of November of the year 1920 and of each second year thereafter, make a succinct report to the governor and legislature of its work and the proceedings under this act during the preceding two years.

SEC. 17. Appropriation.—There is hereby appropriated out of the moneys in the State treasury, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of six thousand dollars per annum, or so much thereof as may be necessary per annum, to carry into effect the provisions of this act and to pay the expenses and expenditures authorized by or incurred under this act.

ACTS OF 1919—SPECIAL SESSION

CHAPTER 43.—Strikes—Coal mines and public utilities—Powers of governor

SECTION 1. Operation of mines, etc.—The governor, as commander in chief of the military and naval forces of this State, is hereby authorized and empowered to take any measure necessary to prevent or avert any pending disaster or calamity which threatens to destroy life or property in this State, or which may entail loss of life or property or result in great suffering or hardship among the people of this State; and in the event of any strike or threatened strike or lockout or threatened lockout of the employees of any coal mine or public utility threatening to endanger the life and property of the people of this State, in any such event he shall have the power and authority to commandeer and take for use during any such emergency any coal mine or other public utility, together with the machinery, equipment, and appurtenances of any such coal mine or public utility which may be necessary to save life or property; and he shall have power and authority to employ all help necessary for operating any such coal mine or public utility, with power and authority to make and enter into all contracts for the operation of any such coal mine or public utility, and to purchase any and all material necessary for operating any such coal mine or public utility, and with power to sell and distribute the products or services of any such mine or public utility.

SEC. 2. State militia.—The governor is further authorized to use any of the facilities or offices of the State when required to take over and use any such coal mine or public utility, and may command the services of the State militia or the State constabulary.

SEC. 3. Compensation of owners.—The owner of any coal mine or public utility so taken shall be given a receipt therefor and shall be paid for the use thereof and for any damages which may be caused to the same while in the possession of the State: Provided, That such compensation shall be determined by the board of railroad commissioners, after notice and hearing to the parties interested therein, such notice to be given and such hearing conducted in the same manner provided by chapter 192 of the Laws of North Dakota for the year 1919 for hearing and determining the rates and charges of public utilities.

CHAPTER 42.—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 1. Equipment to be safe.—All scaffolds, hoists, cranes, stays, ladders, supports, or other mechanical contrivances erected or constructed by any person, firm, or corporation in the State, for use in the erection, repairing, alteration, removal, or painting of any house, building, bridge, viaduct, steel tank, standpipe, or other structure shall be erected and constructed in a safe, suitable and proper manner, and shall be so erected and constructed, placed and operated as to give proper and adequate protection to life and limb of any person or persons employed or engaged thereon, or passing under or by the same, and in such manner as to prevent the falling of any material that may be used or deposited thereon. Scaffolding or staging swung or suspended from an overhead support more than twenty feet from the ground or floor shall have, where practicable, a safety rail properly secured and braced, rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portion of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length of the outside and ends thereto, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same swaying from the building or structure.

SEC. 2. Counter floors.—Any person engaged in and having supervision and charge of the building, erection or construction of any block, building or structure, who shall neglect or refuse to place or have placed upon the joists of each and every story of such block, building or structure, as soon as the joists are in position, counter floors of such quality and strength as to render perfectly safe the going to and fro thereon of all mechanics, laborers and other persons engaged upon the construction or in supervising the same, or in the building or placing of materials therefor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in any court or [of] competent jurisdiction shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, and each and every day that such person, contractor, agent, factor or architect shall neglect or refuse to have such floors so placed as aforesaid, after written notice by the building inspector or from any person whose life or personal safety may be endangered by such neglect or refusal, shall be held and considered a separate offense, severally liable to the penalties aforesaid.

SEC. 3. Compliance.—Any contractor or other person having charge of the erection, construction, repairing, alteration, removal or painting of any building, bridge, viaduct, steel tank, standpipe or other structure, within the provisions of the two preceding sections, shall comply with the terms thereof, and any such contractor or other person violating any of the provisions of the two preceding sections shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, or imprisoned for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. In addition to the penalties (sic) herein provided, in the refusal or neglect of any person, firm or corporation, or his or its agents, to comply with the provisions of the two preceding sections, the use of any such scaffold, hoist, crane, stays, ladder, support, or other mechanical contrivance, or the erection, repairing, alteration, removal or painting of any building, bridge, viaduct, steel tank or other structure, may be prohibited by the labor commissioner or inspector deputized by him, and a notice to that effect shall be posted upon the premises. Such notice shall not be removed until such scaffold, hoist, crane, stays, ladder, support or other mechanical contrivance or temporary floorings are properly and safely constructed.

CHAPTER 102.—Railroads—Engine curtains

SECTION 1. Curtains to be supplied.—[Railroads must equip locomotive engines with canvas curtains attached to back of cab and inclosing all openings between cab and tender. Also front and side windows of cab must be equipped with "frost glass" in wintertime. Applies to all engines used for service in the State.]

SEC. 2. Act in effect.—[All new engines to be so equipped and all engines brought in for heavy repairs to be equipped at that time.]

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Failure to comply subjects to a fine of $100 for each engine operated without such appliances.]

CHAPTER 117.—Free public employment offices

SECTION 1. Service established.—The State free employment service of the State of North Dakota is hereby established. The commissioner of agriculture and labor shall also be the executive officer of the State free employment service, and the management of such service shall be under his supervision. He shall have authority to appoint agents who shall be under the direction of said commissioner of agriculture and labor as may be required in carrying out the provision of this act, such agents being located at convenient points in the State for the handling of the movement of labor of all classes, with the view that labor will not be congested at any one point and to use their best endeavors to keep the supply of labor filled at the places where it is desired, and in seasonable time.

Such agents may be located at points in the State which will best serve to carry out the provisions and intent of this act, and the commissioner in charge has power to enter into agreements with governing bodies of cities, towns, or counties which desire such service, to use a portion of the fund provided by the State to assist in the maintenance of any such service put into effect by such governing bodies, or he may establish offices at points where he deems to be of the best interest of employment and maintain the same.

The commissioner of agriculture and labor in the capacity of head of the State free employment service is hereby empowered to employ such clerical assistance as is necessary to carry out the provisions of this law and fix their compensation [,] to secure and distribute the necessary books and forms for keeping a record of the movement of labor, registration and placements, and all reports required to be made to that end.

SEC. 2. Applications.—The agents in charge of any of the State free employment offices established under the provisions of this act, and under the direction of the commissioner of agriculture and labor, shall receive applications from those seeking employment and from those seeking employees and shall register every applicant on properly arranged cards or forms provided by the commissioner of agriculture and labor.

SEC. 3. Reports.—Each such agent shall make the commissioner of agriculture and labor such periodic reports of applications for labor or employment and all other details of the office work of each office, and the expense of maintaining the same as the commissioner may require.

SEC. 4. Advertising.—The commissioner of agriculture and labor shall have power to solicit business for the State free employment service, established under this act, by advertising in newspapers and in any other way he may deem expedient: Provided, That the expenditure under the provisions of this act shall not exceed ten per cent of the total expenditure.

SEC. 5. Fees.—No fees direct or indirect shall in any case be charged or received from those seeking the benefits of this act.

SEC. 6. Violation.—[Violation of section 5 entails a fine, not over $100 or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both; also disqualifies offender for position in the department.]

SEC. 7. Notice of strike, etc.—An employer, or a representative of employers or employees, may file at a State free employment office a signed statement with regard to a strike or lockout affecting their trade. Such statement shall be posted in the employment office, but not until it has been communicated to the employers affected if filed by employees, or to the employees affected if filed by employers. In case a reply is received to such a statement, it shall also be posted in the employment office with the same publicity given the first statement. If an employer affected by a statement notifies the State free employment service of a vacancy or vacancies, the agent in charge shall advise any applicant for such vacancy or vacancies of the statements posted.

SEC. 8. Cooperation.—The commissioner of agriculture and labor is hereby authorized and empowered to cooperate with the Federal Government in the establishment and maintenance within the State of North Dakota of one or more employment bureaus for the purpose of bringing together the man and the job. Such cooperative employment bureaus, when established, shall be under the joint management of the cooperative parties, and the cost and expense of establishing and carrying on any such bureau shall be borne by the cooperative parties upon an equitable basis to be agreed upon between them.

SEC. 9. Appropriation.—There is hereby appropriated for the purpose of this act out of any moneys in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), or as much thereof as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 137.—Labor organizations—Union label

SECTION 1. Unauthorized use.—It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to wear or use the emblem adopted by or representing any labor union of this State unless such person or corporation is entitled to wear or use such emblem under the rules of the union which said emblem represents.

SEC. 2. Definition.—"Emblem" is herein defined in this act to mean button, watch fob, design, devise [sic], trademark, label, shop card, or form of advertisement indicating membership in any labor organization.

SEC. 3. Penalty.—Any person or corporation violating the provisions of this act shall be punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not to exceed thirty days, or by a fine not to exceed $50 or by both such fine and imprisonment.

ACTS OF 1923

CHAPTER 150.—Employment of children—Enforcement of laws

SECTION 1. Who to enforce.—In addition to the other duties prescribed by law the board of administration[1] shall have the following duties and powers:

* * * * * * *

(h) To secure the enforcement of the child labor law * * *

---

[1] This board consists of the superintendent of public instruction, the commissioner of agriculture and labor, and three persons appointed by the governor, and has general supervision of all penal, charitable, and educational institutions of the State. Acts of 1919, ch. 71.

SEC. 2. Officer.—The board shall have authority to employ and fix the salary of an executive officer and such agents as shall be necessary to carry out the purpose of this act, and to pay such expenses as are incidental to the performance of such duties.

SECTION 1. Age limit.—[The employment of children under 14 is forbidden in factories, workshops, mercantile establishments, offices, restaurants, hotels, apartment houses, or in delivery or messenger service; or in any business whatever during school hours.]

SECS. 2–7. Certificates.—[Children under 16 may not be employed without certificates issued by the school authorities, showing age, physical fitness as evidenced by a physician's certificate, and the completion of the eighth grade or school attendance for nine years not including attendance at kindergarten. Vacation permits may issue on a modified educational requirement. Certificates must be kept on file, available for inspection and for children apparently under 16 the employer must produce evidence of age or cease their employment. On termination of employment, the certificate must be returned to the issuing authority, and a new one will issue only on promise of new employment and a new certificate of physical fitness. Certificates may be revoked if found to have been improperly issued, or if the physical or moral welfare of the child would be best served thereby.]

SEC. 8. Work time.—[Children under 16 may not be employed more than 8 hours per day or 6 days or 48 hours per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. Domestic and farm labor are exempt. Schedules of working hours and rest periods must be posted in all places where children are employed.]

SEC. 9. Enforcement.—[Peace officers may visit places of employment within their jurisdictions to ascertain as to compliance with this act.]

SEC. 10. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 in a specified list of dangerous occupations is forbidden, including places of amusement, also the employment of girls where constant standing is required. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SECS. 11, 12. Board of administration.—[The board of administration is to prepare and distribute to the school authorities the necessary blanks, supervise the administration of laws, make regulations for maximum hours, minimum wages, and standard conditions of employment of minors, and inspect work places to enforce the law and their regulations.]

SECS. 13, 14. Violations.—[Employers violating the law or persons certifying any material false statement may be fined from $20 to $50 in any court of competent jurisdiction.]

OHIO

CONSTITUTION—AMENDMENTS OF 1912

ARTICLE II.—Labor legislation

SECTION 34. Wage and safety laws.—Laws may be passed fixing and regulating the hours of labor, establishing a minimum wage, and providing for the comfort, health, safety, and general welfare of all employees; and no other provision of the constitution shall impair or limit this power.

ARTICLE II.—Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 37. Eight-hour day.—Except in cases of extraordinary emergencies, not to exceed eight hours shall constitute a day's work, and not to exceed forty-eight hours a week's work, for workmen engaged on any public work carried on or aided by the State, or any political subdivision thereof, whether done by contract, or otherwise.

GENERAL CODE—1910[1]

Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 17–1 (added 1913, p. 854; amended 1919, p. 1286). Eight-hour day.—Except in cases of extraordinary emergency, not to exceed eight hours shall constitute a day's work and not to exceed forty-eight hours a week's work, for workmen engaged on any public work carried on or aided by the State, or any political subdivision thereof, whether done by contract or otherwise; and it shall be unlawful for any person, corporation, or association whose duty it shall be to employ or to direct and control the services of such workmen to require or permit any of them to labor more than eight hours in any calendar day or more than forty-eight hours in any week, except in cases of extraordinary emergency. This section shall be construed not to include policemen and firemen.

SEC. 17–2 (added 1913, p. 854. Violation.—[Penalty for violation is a fine not exceeding $500, or not over six months' imprisonment, or both.]

Department of industrial relations

SECTION 154–3 (added 1921, p. 105). Department created.—The following administrative departments are created:

* * * * * * *

The department of industrial relations, which shall be administered by the director of industrial relations, hereby created.

* * * * * * *

The director of each department shall, subject to the provisions of this chapter, exercise the powers and perform the duties vested by law in such department.

SEC. 154–4. Appointment of director.— Each director whose office is created by section 154–3 of the General Code shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate, and shall hold his office during the pleasure of the governor.

SEC. 154–5. Assistant.—In each department there shall be an assistant director, who shall be designated by the director to fill one of the offices within such department, enumerated in section 154–6 of the General Code, or as the head of one of the divisions created within such department as authorized by section 154–8 of the General Code. When a vacancy occurs in the office of the director of any department, the assistant director thereof shall act as director of the department until such vacancy is filled.

[1] All statutes amended or created by subsequent legislation have been numbered and given their proper places in the code, as provided by law.

SEC. 154–6. Divisions.—Offices are created within the several departments as follows:

* * * * * * *

In the department of industrial relations chiefs of divisions as follows:
Factory inspection.
Labor inspection.
Mines.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 154–7. Appointment of officers.—The officers mentioned in sections 154–5 and 154–6 of the General Code shall be appointed by the director of the department in which their offices are respectively created, and shall hold office during the pleasure of such director.

SEC. 154–8. Duties.—The officers mentioned in sections 154–5 and 154–6 of the General Code shall be under the direction, supervision, and control of the directors of their respective departments, and shall perform such duties as such directors shall prescribe.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 154–15. Advisory boards.—The director of each department may, with the approval of the governor, establish and appoint advisory boards to aid in the conduct of the work of his department or any division or divisions thereof. Such advisory boards shall exercise no administrative function, and their members shall receive no compensation, but may receive their actual and necessary expenses.

SEC. 154–16. Entire time to be given.—Each officer whose office is created by section 154–3, 154–5, and 154–6 of the General Code shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office, and shall hold no other office or position of profit. In addition to his salary provided by law, each such officer and each member of the boards and commissions in the department created by this chapter shall be entitled to his actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of his official duties.

SEC. 154–17. Offices.—Each department shall maintain a central office in the city of Columbus. The director of each department may, in his discretion and with the approval of the governor, establish and maintain, at places other than the seat of government, branch offices for the conduct of any one or more functions of his department.

SEC. 154–20. Hours of labor.—All employees in the several departments shall render not less than eight hours of labor each day, Saturday afternoons, Sundays, and days declared by law to be holidays excepted in cases in which, in the judgment of the director, the public service will not thereby be impaired.

Each employee in the several departments shall be entitled during each calendar year to fourteen days' leave of absence with full pay. In special and meritorious cases where to limit the annual leave to fourteen days in any one calendar year would work peculiar hardships, it may, in the discretion of the director of the department, be extended. No employee in the several departments, employed at a fixed compensation, shall be paid for any extra services, unless expressly authorized by law.

SEC. 154–45. Duties.—The department of industrial relations shall have all powers and perform all duties vested by law in the Industrial Commission of Ohio, excepting the following:

Those powers and duties of the commission which it exercises as successor of the State liability board of awards, the State board of arbitration, the board of boiler rules, and in the investigation, ascertainment, and determination of standards, devices, safeguards, and means of protection, * * * which shall continue to be exercised and performed by the Industrial Commission of Ohio in the manner provided by law for the exercise of such powers and the performance of such duties.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio shall be a part of the department of industrial relations for administrative purposes in the following respects: The director of industrial relations shall be ex officio the secretary of said commission, shall succeed to and perform all of the duties of the secretary of said commission, and shall exercise all powers of said secretary as provided by law; but such director may designate any employee of the department as acting secretary to perform the duties and exercise the powers of secretary of the commission. All clerical, inspection, and other agencies for the execution of the powers and duties vested in the said industrial commission shall be deemed to be in the department of industrial relations, and the employees thereof shall be deemed to be employees of said department and shall have and exercise all authority vested by law in the employees of such commission. But the Industrial Commission of Ohio shall have direct supervision and control over, and power of appointment and removal of such employees whose position shall be designated by the governor as fully subject to the authority of such commission.

The commission may appoint advisers, who shall without compensation assist the commission in the execution of the powers and duties retained by it under this section.

Labor organizations—Incorporation—Fees

SECTION 176. Filing fee.—The secretary of state shall charge and collect the following fees for official services:

* * * * * *

5. For filing articles of incorporation * * * [of] societies or associations composed exclusively of any class of mechanics, express, telegraph, railroad or other employees, and formed exclusively for the mutual protection and relief of members thereof and their families, two dollars.

* * * * * *

Railroads—Accidents

SECTION 573. Reports.—[Fatal accidents must be reported to the railroad commission.]

SECS. 574, 575. Investigation.—[If it is deemed that the public interest requires it, an investigation will be made, of which record shall be kept.]

Industrial commission

SECTION 871–1 (as amended 1919, p. 58). Membership.—The Industrial Commission of Ohio, heretofore created, shall be composed of three members, to be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate. Such appointment shall be made to take effect upon the expiration of the present term of each member, and each of such appointments hereafter made shall be for the term of six years. Not more than one of the appointees to such commission shall be a person who, on account of his previous vocation, employment, or affiliations can be classed as a representative of employers, and not more than one of such appointees shall be a person who, on account of his previous vocation, employment, or affiliations can be classed as a representative of employees; not more than two of the members of said commission shall belong to the same political party.

SEC. 871–2. Removal.—The governor at any time shall remove any member of the Industrial Commission of Ohio for inefficiency, neglect of duty, malfeasance, misfeasance, or nonfeasance in office.

SEC. 871–3. Inconsistent positions.—No commissioner shall hold any position of trust or profit, or engage in any occupation or business, interfering or inconsistent with his duties as such commissioner, and no commissioner shall serve on any committee of any political party.

SEC. 871–4 (as amended 1917, p. 169). Salary.—Each of the members of the Industrial Commission of Ohio shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars, payable in the same manner as the salaries of other State officers are paid. Before entering upon the duties of his office, each member of said commission shall take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office and shall swear or affirm that he holds no position under any committee of a political party, which oath or affirmation shall be filed in the office of the governor. Each member of said commission shall give a bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, which bond shall be approved by the governor and filed with the treasurer of state. All employees or deputies of the said commission receiving or disbursing funds of the State shall give bond to the State in amounts and with surety to be approved by said commission.

SEC. 871–5 (as amended 1917, p. 157). Organization.—The Industrial Commission of Ohio shall choose one of its members as chairman. A majority of such commission shall constitute a quorum to transact business. No vacancy shall impair the rights of the remaining commissioners to exercise all of the powers of said commission so long as a majority remains; any investigation, inquiry, or hearing which said commission is authorized to hold, or undertake, may be held or undertaken by or before any one member of said commission, or by or before one of its deputies, and every order made by a member thereof, or by one of its duly authorized deputies, when approved and confirmed by a majority of its members, and so shown on its record of proceedings, shall be deemed to be the order of said commission.

SEC. 871–6. Office.—The commission shall keep and maintain its office in the city of Columbus, Ohio, and shall provide suitable room or rooms, necessary office furniture, supplies, books, periodicals, maps, and appliances as they deem necessary, the expense thereof to be audited and paid in the same manner as other State expenses. The commission may hold sessions in any place within the State of Ohio.

SEC. 871–7. Expenses.—The commissioners, employees and deputies of the commission shall be entitled to receive from the State their necessary and actual expenses while traveling on business of the commission, either within or without the State of Ohio. Such expenses shall be presented in an account verified by the person who incurred the expense, approved by the chairman of the commission, and shall be audited and paid as other similiar expenses are audited and paid.

SEC. 871–8. Official seal.—The commission shall have an official seal for the authentication of its orders and proceedings, upon which seal shall be engraved the words, "The Industrial Commission of Ohio," and such other design as the commission may prescribe; and the courts in this State shall take judicial notice of the seal of the said commission, and in all cases copies of orders, proceedings, or records in the office of the Industrial Commission of Ohio, certified by the secretary of the said commission under its seal shall be equal to the original as evidence.

SEC. 871–9 (as amended 1917, p. 157). Sessions.—The Industrial Commission of Ohio shall be in continuous session and open for the transaction of business during all business hours of each and every day, excepting Sundays and legal holidays. The sessions of said commission shall be open to the public and shall stand and be adjourned without further notice thereof on its record. All of the proceedings of said commission shall be shown on its record, which shall be a public record, and all voting shall be had by calling each member's name by the secretary, and each member's vote shall be recorded on the record of proceedings as cast. * * * Said commission may hold sessions at or in any place in the State of Ohio.

SEC. 871–10. Rules of procedure.—Subject to the provisions of this act, the commission may adopt its own rules of procedure and may change the same from time to time in its discretion.

SEC. 871–11. Departments merged in commission.—On and after the first day of September, 1913, the following departments of the State of Ohio, to wit: Commissioner of labor statistics, chief inspector of mines, chief inspector of workshops and factories, chief examiner of steam engineers, board of boiler rules, and the State board of arbitration and conciliation, shall have no further legal existence, except that the heads of the said departments, and said boards, shall within ten days after the said date submit to the governor their reports of their respective departments for the portion of the year 1913 during which they were in existence, and on and after the first day of September, 1913, the Industrial Commission of Ohio shall have all the powers and enter upon the performance of all the duties conferred by law upon the said departments.

SEC. 871–12 (as amended 1913, p. 656). Additional duties.—The industrial commission shall supersede and perform all of the duties of the State liability board of awards. * * *

SEC. 871–13. Definitions. The following terms as used in this act shall be construed as follows:

(1) The phrase "place of employment," shall mean and include every place, whether indoors or out, or underground, and the premises appurtenant thereto where either temporarily or permanently any industry, trade or business, is carried on, or where any process or operation, directly or indirectly related to any industry, trade or business, is carried on, and where any person is directly or indirectly, employed by another for direct or indirect gain or profit but shall not include any place where persons are employed in private domestic service or agricultural pursuits which do not involve the use of mechanical power.

(2) The term "employment," shall mean and include any trade, occupation, or process of manufacture or any method of carrying on such trade, occupation, or process of manufacture in which any person may be engaged, except in such private domestic service or agricultural pursuits as do not involve the use of mechanical power.

(3) The term "employer," shall mean and include every person, firm, corporation, agent, manager, representative, or other person having control or custody of any employment, place of employment, or of any employee.

(4) The term "employee," shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer, in consideration of direct or indirect gain or profit, to engage in any employment, or to go, or work, or be at any time in any place of employment.

(5) The term "frequenter," shall mean and include every person, other than an employee, who may go in or be in a place of employment under circumstances which render him other than a trespasser.

(6) The term "deputy," shall mean and include any person employed by the industrial commission, designated as such deputy by the commission who shall possess special, technical, scientific, managerial, professional or personal abilities or qualities in matters within the jurisdiction of the industrial commission, and who may be engaged in the performance of duties under the direction of the commission, calling for the exercise of such abilities or qualities.

(7) The term "order," shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement, or standard of the commission, or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission.

(8) The term "general order," shall mean and include such order as applies generally throughout the State to all persons, employments, or places of employment, or all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(9) The term "local order," shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule, or determination of any city or village council, or any trustees, or board or officers of any city or village upon any matter over which the industrial commission has jurisdiction.

(10) The term "welfare" shall mean and include comfort, decency and moral well-being.

(11) The terms "safe" and "safety" as applied to any employment or a place of employment shall mean such freedom from danger to the life, health, safety or welfare of employees or frequenters as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit, including requirements as to the hours of labor with relation to the health and welfare of employees.

SEC. 871-14. Employment of assistants.—The commission is authorized and empowered to employ, promote and remove a secretary, or secretaries, deputies, clerks, stenographers, and other assistants, as needed; to fix their compensation and to assign to them their duties. Such employments and compensation to be first approved by the governor.

SEC. 871-15. Provisions for safety.—Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein, and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for the employees therein, and for frequenters thereof, and shall furnish and use safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use methods and processes, follow and obey orders and prescribe hours of labor reasonably adequate to render such employment and places of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety and welfare of such employees and frequenters.

SEC. 871-16. Same subject.—No employer shall require, permit or suffer any employee to go or be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employer shall fail to furnish, provide and use safety devices and safeguards, or fail to obey and follow orders or to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety and welfare of such employees or frequenters; and no such employer or other person shall hereafter construct or occupy or maintain any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 871–17. Employee's duty.—No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished or provided for use in any employment or place of employment, nor interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, nor shall any such employee interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment or place of employment, or frequenter of such place of employment, nor fail or neglect to follow and obey orders and to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety and welfare of such employees and frequenters.

SEC. 871–18. Employer to furnish information.—Every employer shall furnish to the commission all information required by it to carry into effect the provisions of this act and shall make specific answers to all questions submitted by the commission relative thereto.

SEC. 871–19. Blanks to be filled out.—Any employer receiving from the commission any blanks calling for information required by it to carry into effect the provisions of this act, with directions to fill out the same, shall cause the same to be properly filled out so as to answer fully and correctly each question therein propounded, and in case he is unable to answer any question he shall give a good and sufficient reason for such failure; and said answers shall be verified under oath by the employer, or by the president, secretary, or other managing officer of the corporation, if the employer is a corporation, and returned to the commission at its office within the period fixed by the commission.

SEC. 871–20. Access to premises.—Any commissioner or deputy of the commission may enter any place of employment for the purpose of collecting facts and statistics, examining the provisions made for the health, safety, and welfare of the employees therein, and bring to the attention of every employer any law, or any order of the commission, and any failure on the part of such employer to comply therewith. No employer shall refuse to admit any commissioner or deputy of the commission to his place of employment.

SEC. 871–21. Commissioners may issue orders.—The Industrial Commission of Ohio is vested with the power and jurisdiction on and after the first day of September, 1913, to have such supervision of every employment and place of employment and of every other building and establishment in this State as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and place of employment or building or establishment, to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life, health, safety and welfare of every employee in such employment or place of employment, and every frequenter of such place of employment, including the power to regulate the hours of labor of employees in such employments and places of employment, with regard to the health and welfare of such employees to such extent as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit, not inconsistent with law.

SEC. 871–22 (as amended 1915, p. 510). Duties of commission.—It shall also be the duty of the industrial commission, and it shall have full power, jurisdiction and authority—

(1) Appointment of advisers and assistants.—To appoint advisers, who shall without compensation, assist the industrial commission in the execution of its duties; to retain and assign to their duties any or all officers, subordinates and clerks of the commissioner of labor statistics, the chief inspector of mines, the chief inspector of workshops and factories, the chief examiner of steam engineers, the board of boiler rules, chief inspector of steam boilers, the State board of arbitration and conciliation, and the State liability board of awards.

(2) Enforcement of certain laws.—On and after the first day of September, 1913, to administer and enforce the general laws of this State relating to mines, manufacturing, mechanical, electrical, art and laundering establishments, child labor, employment of minors, explosives, printing, telegraph and telephone offices, railroad depots, hotels, memorial buildings, tenement and apartment houses, schoolhouses, colleges, opera houses, halls, theaters, churches, infirmaries, children's homes, hospitals, medical institutes, asylums, and other buildings used for the assemblage or betterment of people in the State, bakeries, employment offices, stores, intelligence offices and bureaus, manufacturers of cigars, sweatshops, fire escapes, and means of egress from buildings, scaffolds, hoists, ladders and other matters relating to the erection, repair, alteration or painting of buildings and structures, employment of females, hours of labor, licensed occupations and school attendance, and all other laws protecting the life, health, safety and welfare of employees in employments and places of employment, frequenters of places of employment or relating to the health and safety of persons occupying or assembled in the structures named above, on and after the first day of September, 1913.

(3) Determination of hours of labor, means of safety, etc.—To investigate, ascertain, and on and after the first day of September, 1913, to declare and prescribe what hours of labor, safety devices, safeguards, or other means or methods of protection are best adapted to render the employees of every employment and place of employment and frequenters of every place of employment safe, and to protect their welfare as required by law or lawful orders, and to establish and maintain museums of safety and hygiene in which shall be exhibited safety devices, safeguards and other means and methods for the protection of life, health, safety and welfare of employees.

(4) Standards of safety devices.—To ascertain and on and after the first day of September, 1913, to fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption of safety devices, safeguards and other means or methods of protection, to be as nearly uniform as possible, as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life, health, safety and welfare of employees in employments and places of employment or frequenters of places of employment.

(5) Standards for construction of buildings.—To ascertain, and on and after the first day of September, 1913, fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair and maintenance of places of employment as shall render them safe.

(6) Classification.—To investigate, ascertain, and determine such reasonable classifications of persons, employments, and places of employment as shall be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act.

(7) Regulations.—To adopt reasonable and proper rules and regulations relative to the exercise of its powers and authorities, and proper rules to govern its proceedings and to regulate the mode and manner of all investigations and hearings; such rules and regulations shall not be effective until ten days after their publication. A copy of such rules and regulations shall be delivered to every citizen making application therefor, and a copy delivered with every notice of hearing.

(8) Promotion of arbitration.—To do all in its power to promote the voluntary arbitration, mediation, and conciliation of disputes between employers and employees and to avoid the necessity of resorting to lockouts, boycotts, black lists, discriminations, and legal proceedings in matters of employment. In pursuance of this duty it may appoint temporary boards of arbitration, provide the necessary expenses of such boards, order reasonable compensation not exceeding five dollars per day for each member engaged in such arbitration, prescribe rules of procedure for such arbitration boards, conduct investigations and hearings, publish reports and advertisements, and may do all other things convenient and necessary to accomplish the purposes directed in this act. The commission shall designate a deputy to be known as chief mediator and may detail other deputies from time to time to act as assistants for the purpose of executing these provisions. The deputies may act on temporary boards without extra compensation.

(9) Free employment agencies.—To establish and conduct free employment agencies, and on and after the first day of September, 1913, to license and supervise the work of private employment offices to do all in its power to bring together employers seeking employees and working people seeking employment, to make known the opportunities for self-employment in this State, to aid in inducing minors to undertake promising skilled employments, and to encourage wage earners to insure themselves against distress from unemployment. It shall investigate the extent and causes of unemployment in the State of Ohio and the remedies therefor in this and other States and countries, and it shall devise and adopt the most efficient means in its power to avoid unemployment, to provide employment, and to prevent distress from involuntary idleness.

(10) Statistics.—To collect and collate all statistical and other information relating to employees, employers, employments and places of employment and such other statistics as may be necessary.

(11) Licensing of engineers, etc.—On and after September 1, 1913, to examine and license persons who desire to act as steam engineers, and persons who desire to operate steam boilers and persons who desire to act as inspectors of steam boilers; to provide for the scope, conduct, and time of such examinations, to provide for, regulate, and enforce the renewal and revocation of such licenses, to inspect and examine steam boilers and to make, publish, and enforce rules and regulations, and orders for the construction, installation, inspection, and operation of steam boilers and all appliances connected with steam boilers, and to do and require and enforce all things necessary to make such examination, inspection, and requirement efficient.

(12) Rental of offices.—To rent and furnish offices as needed in cities in this State for the conduct of affairs.

SEC. 871-23. (1) Investigation of alleged unsafe place of employment.—Upon petition after the first day of September, 1913, by any person that any employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of any employee or frequenter, the commission shall proceed with or without notice to make such investigation as may be necessary to determine the matter complained of.

(2) Orders.—After such hearing as may be necessary, the commission may enter such order relative thereto as may be necessary to render such employment or place of employment safe and not injurious to the welfare of the employees therein or frequenters thereof.

(3) Investigation on own initiative.—Whenever the commission shall learn that any employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of any employee or frequenter, it may of its own motion summarily investigate the same, with or without notice and issue such order as may be necessary thereto.

SEC. 871-24. Duties of other officers imposed on commission.—All duties, liabilities, authority, powers, and privileges conferred and imposed by law upon the commissioner of labor statistics, special agents for the commissioner of labor statistics, chief inspector of mines, district inspectors of mines, chief inspector of workshops and factories, first assistant chief inspector of workshops and factories, second assistant chief inspector of workshops and factories, district inspectors of workshops and factories, chief examiner of steam engineers, assistant chief examiner of steam engineers, district examiners of steam engineers, the board of boiler rules, head of the department of the board of boiler rules, and chief inspector of steam boilers, assistant chief inspector of steam boilers, general inspectors of steam boilers, special inspector of steam boilers, State board of arbitration and conciliation, are hereby imposed upon the Industrial Commission of Ohio and its deputies on and after the first day of September, 1913.

All laws relating to the commissioner of labor statistics, special agents of the commissioner of labor statistics, chief inspector of mines, district inspectors of mines, chief inspector of workshops and factories, first assistant chief inspector of workshops and factories, second assistant chief inspector of workshops and factories, district inspectors of workshops and factories, chief examiner of steam engineers, assistant chief examiner of steam engineers, district examiners of steam engineers, the board of boiler rules, head of the department of the board of boiler rules and chief inspector of steam boilers, assistant chief inspector of steam boilers, general inspectors of steam boilers, special inspectors of steam boilers, State board of arbitration and conciliation, on and after the first day of September, 1913, shall apply to, relate, and refer to the Industrial Commission of Ohio, and its deputies. Qualifications prescribed by law for said officers and their assistants and employees shall be held to apply, wherever applicable, to the qualifications of the deputies of the commission assigned to the performance of the duties now cast upon such officers, assistants, and employees.

SEC. 871-25. Orders valid.—All orders of the Industrial Commission of Ohio in conformity with law shall be in force and shall be prima facie reasonable and lawful; and all such orders shall be valid and in force and prima facie reasonable and lawful until they are found otherwise in an action brought for that purpose pursuant to the provisions of section 41 of this act, or until altered or revoked by the commission.

SEC. 871-26. Take effect, when.—(1) All general orders shall take effect within thirty days after their publication. Special orders shall take effect as therein directed.

(2) The commission shall, upon application of any employer grant such time as may be reasonably necessary for compliance with any order.

(3) Any person may petition the commission for an extension of time which the commission shall grant if it finds such extension of time necessary.

Sec. 871-27. Petition for hearing.—(1) Any employer or other person interested either because of ownership in or occupation of any property affected by any such order, or otherwise, may petition for a hearing on the reasonableness and lawfulness of any order of the commission in the manner provided in this act.

(2) Such petition for hearing shall be by verified petition filed with the commission, setting out specifically and in full detail the order upon which a hearing is desired and every reason why such order is unreasonable or unlawful, and every issue to be considered by the commission on the hearing. The petitioner shall be deemed to have finally waived all objection to any irregularities and illegalities in the order upon which a hearing is sought other than those set forth in the petition. All hearings of the commission shall be open to the public.

(3) Decision.—Upon receipt of such petition, if the issues raised in such petition have theretofore been adequately considered, the commission shall determine the same by confirming, without hearing, its previous determination, or if such hearing is necessary to determine the issues raised, the commission shall order a hearing thereon and consider and determine the matter or matters in question at such time as shall be prescribed. Notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be given to the petitioner and to such other persons as the commission may find directly interested in such decision.

(4) Issuance of substitute order.—Upon such investigation, if it shall be found that the order complained of is unlawful or unreasonable, the commission shall substitute therefor such other order as shall be lawful and reasonable.

(5) Extension of time.—Whenever at the time of final determination upon such hearing it shall be found that further time is reasonably necessary for compliance with the order of the commission, the commission shall grant such time as may be reasonably necessary for such compliance.

Sec. 871-28. Effect on powers of local officers.—(1) Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to deprive the council of any city or village or any board of trustees or officer of any city or village of any power or jurisdiction over or relative to any place of employment: Provided, That whenever the Industrial Commission of Ohio shall, by an order fix a standard of safety or any hygienic condition for employments or places of employment, such order shall, upon the filing by the commission of a copy thereof with the clerk of the village or city to which it may apply, be held to amend or modify any similar conflicting local order in any particular matters governed by said order. Thereafter no local officer shall make or enforce any order contrary thereto.

(2) Hearing on local orders.—Any person affected by any local order in conflict with an order of the commission may, in the manner provided in this act, petition the industrial commission for a hearing on the ground that such local order is unreasonable and in conflict with the order of the commission. The petition for such hearing shall conform to the requirements set forth for a petition in section 27 of this act.

(3) Procedure.—Upon receipt of such petition the commission shall order a hearing thereon, to consider and determine the issues raised by such appeal, such hearing to be held in the village or city where the local order appealed from was made. Notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be given to the petitioner and such other persons as the commission may find directly interested in such decision, including the clerk of the village, or the mayor of the village or city from which such appeal came. If upon such investigation it shall be found that the local order appealed from is unreasonable and in conflict with the order of the commission, the commission may modify its order and shall substitute for the local order appealed from such order as shall be reasonable and legal in the premises, and thereafter the said local order shall, in such particulars, be void and of no effect.

Sec. 871-29. Actions to set aside orders.—No action, proceeding or suit to set aside, vacate or amend any order of the commission, or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be brought unless the plaintiff shall have applied to the commission for a hearing thereon at the time and as provided in section 27 of this act, and in the petition therefor shall have raised every issue raised in such action.

Every order of the commission shall, in every prosecution for violation thereof, be conclusively presumed to be just, reasonable and lawful, unless prior to the institution of the prosecution for such violation an action shall have been brought to vacate and set aside such order, as provided in section 41 of this act.

SEC. 871–30. Oaths and witnesses.—Each of the commissioners and the secretary of the commission for the purposes mentioned in this act shall have power to administer oaths, certify to official acts, issue subpœnas, compel attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents and testimony. In case of the failure of any person to comply with any order of the commission or any subpœna lawfully issued, or upon the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may be lawfully interrogated, it shall be the duty of the common pleas judge of any county in this State on the application of a commissioner, to compel obedience by attachment proceedings for contempt, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of a subpœna issued from such court or a refusal to testify therein.

SEC. 871–31. Witness fees.—Each witness who shall appear before the commission by its order shall receive for his attendance the fees and mileage now provided for witnesses in civil cases in the court of common pleas, which shall be audited and paid by the State out of the State treasury in the same manner as other expenses are audited and paid, upon the presentation of properly verified vouchers approved by the chairman of the commission. But no witness subpœnaed at the instance of the parties other than the commission shall be entitled to compensation from the State for attendance or travel, unless the commission shall certify that his testimony was material to the matter investigated.

SEC. 871–32. Depositions.—The commission or any party may in any investigation cause depositions of witnesses residing within or without the State to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions.

SEC. 871–33. Records.—A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings had before the commission on any investigation, and all testimony shall be taken down by a stenographer appointed by the commission.

SEC. 871–34. Publication of orders.—Publication of rules and orders of the commission shall be made by the commission in pamphlet form to be furnished on demand at the office of the commission. The expenses of publications shall be audited and paid as are other expenses of the commission.

SEC. 871–35. Agents for investigations.—(1) For the purpose of making any investigation with regard to any employment or place of employment, the commission shall have power to appoint, by an order in writing, any member of the commission, any deputy, who is a citizen of the State, or any other competent person who is a resident of the State as an agent whose duty shall be prescribed in such order.

(2) In the discharge of his duties such agent shall have every power whatsoever of an inquisitorial nature granted in this act to the commission, and the same powers as a master commissioner appointed by a court of common pleas with regard to taking testimony.

(3) The commission may conduct any number of such investigations contemporaneously through different agents, and may delegate to such agents the taking of all testimony bearing upon any investigation or hearing. The decision of the commission shall be based upon its examination of all testimony and records. The recommendations made by such agents shall be advisory only and shall not preclude the taking of further testimony if the commission so orders, nor further investigation.

SEC. 871–36. Special prosecutor.—The commission shall have the authority to direct any deputy who is a citizen to act as special prosecutor in any action, proceeding, investigation, hearing or trial relating to matters within its jurisdiction.

Upon the request of the commission, the attorney general or the prosecuting attorney of the county in which any investigation, hearing or trial had under the provisions of this act is pending, shall aid therein and prosecute under the supervision of the commission, all necessary actions or proceedings for the enforcement of this act and all other laws of this State relating to the protection of life, health, safety and welfare, and for the punishment of all violations thereof.

SEC. 871–37. Effect of technical omissions.—A substantial compliance with the requirements of this act shall be sufficient to give effect to the orders of the commission, and they shall not be declared inoperative, illegal, or void for any omission of a technical nature in respect thereto.

SEC. 871–38. Actions to set aside orders.—Any employer or other person in interest being dissatisfied with any order of the commission may commence an action in the Supreme Court of Ohio against the commission as defendant to set aside, vacate, or amend any such order on the ground that the order is unreasonable or unlawful and the supreme court is hereby authorized and vested with exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine such action. The commission shall be served with summons as in other civil cases. The answer of the commission shall be filed within ten days after service of summons upon it and with its answer it shall file a certified transcript of its record in said matter. Upon the filing of said answer said action shall be at issue and shall be advanced and assigned for trial by the court, upon the application of either party, at the earliest possible date.

SEC. 871–39. Procedure.—(1) If upon the trial of such action it shall appear that all issues arising in such action have not heretofore been presented to the commission in the petition filed as provided in section 27 of this act, or that the commission has not theretofore had ample opportunity to hear and determine any of the issues raised in said act, or has for any reason not in fact heard and determined the issues raised, the court shall, before proceeding to render judgment, unless the parties to such action stipulate to the contrary, transmit to the commission a full statement of such issue or issues not adequately considered and shall stay further proceedings in such action for fifteen days from the date of such transmission and may thereafter grant such further stay as may be necessary.

(2) Upon the receipt of such statement, the commission shall consider the issues not theretofore considered, and may alter, modify, amend, or rescind its order complained of in said action, and shall report its order thereon to said court within ten days from the receipt of the statement from the court for further hearing and consideration.

(3) The court shall thereupon order such amendment or other proceeding as may be necessary to raise the issues as changed by such modification of order as may have been made by the commission upon the hearing, if any such modification has in fact been made, and shall thereupon proceed with such action in the manner provided by law for other civil actions.

SEC. 871–40. What court has jurisdiction.—No court of this State, except the supreme court to the extent specified by this act, shall have jurisdiction to review, vacate, set aside, reverse, revise, correct, amend, or annul any order of the Industrial Commission of Ohio, or to suspend or delay the execution or operation thereof or to enjoin, restrain or interfere with the commission in the performance of its official duties: Provided, That the writ of mandamus shall lie from the said supreme court to the commission in all proper cases.

SEC. 871–41. Suspension of orders.—The pendency of an action to set aside, vacate or amend an order of the commission shall not of itself stay or suspend the operation of an order of the commission; but, during the pendency of said action the said supreme court in its discretion may stay or suspend, in whole or in part, the operation of the commission's order. But no order so staying or suspending an order of the commission shall be made by the said court otherwise than upon three days' notice and after hearing. In case the order is stayed or suspended the order of the court shall not become effective until a suspending bond first shall have been executed, filed with and approved by the commission, or by the said court or the clerk thereof, payable to the State of Ohio, and sufficient in amount and security to insure the prompt payment by the party petitioning to set aside, vacate or amend such order of all damages caused by the delay in the enforcement of the order of the commission.

SEC. 871–42. Preference of actions.—All actions and proceedings under this act, and all actions or proceedings to which the Industrial Commission of Ohio or the State of Ohio may be parties, and in which any question arises under this act, or under or concerning any order of the industrial commission, shall be preferred over all other civil cases, except election causes and causes involving or affecting the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, irrespective of position on the calendar. The same preference shall be granted upon application of the attorney of the industrial commission in any action or proceeding in which he may be allowed to intervene.

SECS. 871–43, 871–44. Violations.—[Violations, or failure to perform any duty for which no penalty has been specifically provided, are punishable by fines, $50 to $1,000 for first offense, and $100 to $5,000 for each subsequent offense; each day's violation is a separate offense.]

SEC. 871–45. Sections independent.—The sections of this act, and every part of such sections, are hereby declared to be independent sections, and parts of sections and the holding of any section or part thereof to be void or ineffective shall not affect any other section or part thereof.

SEC. 871–53a (added 1913, p. 654). Reports by employers of females.—Every person, partnership, or corporation engaged in the operation of any mercantile establishment within the State of Ohio and employing five or more female employees in or about said establishment shall make a report in writing to the Industrial Commission of Ohio within thirty days after the taking effect of this act, which report shall contain the following information with reference to female employees on the date of the taking effect of this act, viz:

(1) The total number of female employees employed in or about said mercantile establishment.

(2) The number of such female employees under the age of eighteen years.

(3) The name of each female employed in or about such mercantile establishment.

(4) The age of each female employed in or about such mercantile establishment.

(5) The number of hours per day each female is employed in or about such mercantile establishment.

(6) The number of hours per week each female is employed in or about such mercantile establishment.

(7) The wages per week paid to each female employed in or about such mercantile establishment.

(8) The class or kind of employment in or at which each female is employed in or about such mercantile establishment.

(9) Such other information relative to the hours of employment and wages paid to such female employees as may be required by the industrial commission of Ohio.

SEC. 871–53b (added 1913, p. 654). Blanks.—It shall be the duty of the Industrial Commission of Ohio to prepare and furnish free of charge to all employers described in section one [sec. 871–53a] hereof, who make application therefor, forms and blanks suitable for making the reports required herein.

SEC. 871–53c (added 1913, p. 654). Violations.—[Violation of section 871–53a entails a fine, $25 to $50, each day constituting a separate offense.]

SEC. 871–53d (added 1913, p. 654). False statements.—Any person, partnership or corporation required by this act to make a report provided for in section one [sec. 871–53a] hereof, who shall knowingly make a false statement with reference to any of the matters or things required by this act to be included in said report, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars.

Bureau of labor statistics—Powers of commissioner

SECTION 875. Summoning witnesses, etc.—In the performance of his duties, the commissioner of labor statistics may send for persons and papers, examine witnesses under oath and take depositions. The commissioner may deputize any disinterested person to serve subpœnas upon witnesses, who shall be summoned in the same manner and paid the same fees as witnesses before a court of common pleas; but no witness shall be required to leave the vicinity of his residence or place of business.

Free public employment offices

SECTION 881 (added 1913, p. 528). Bond.—Each special agent and district superintendent may be required by the commissioner of labor statistics to give a bond to the State in such an amount not exceeding two thousand dollars with such sureties as the commissioner approves. Said bond shall be deposited with the secretary of state and kept in his office.

SEC. 882. No fee to be charged.—No compensation or fee either directly or indirectly shall be charged or received from any person seeking employment or any person desiring to employ labor through a free public employment office. A superintendent of such office or the clerk therein who violates the provisions of this section shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars and imprisoned in the county jail or workhouse not exceeding thirty days.

Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.—Refusing inspection or information

SECTION 885. Penalty for refusal.—An owner, operator, manager or lessee of a mine, factory, workshop, warehouse, elevator, foundry, machine shop, manufacturing or other industrial establishment, his agent or employee or any other person who refuses to permit the commissioner of labor statistics or his agents to enter and inspect a building or establishment, or, willfully neglects or refuses to furnish the commissioner statistics or other information in his possession or under his control, which he is authorized by law to collect, or who willfully neglects or refuses for thirty days to answer questions submitted on circulars, or who knowingly answers any such questions untruthfully or who refuses to obey the subpœnas and give testimony as required by law shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars for each willful neglect or refusal.

Private employment offices

(As amended 1919, p. 349)

SECTION 886. License.—[For the conduct of an employment agency for hire a license must be obtained from the industrial commission. An annual fee of $100 is required.]

SECS. 887–889. Definitions.—[The terms "agency," "hire," and "employment" are defined.]

SEC. 890. Exemptions.—[Bona fide educational, religious, etc., organizations charging no fee other than ordinary membership dues, and associations of employees or of employers serving only their own members, are not subject to the provisions of this act.]

SEC. 891. Issue of license.—[Written application must be made on blanks furnished by the commission, accompanied by the fee and a bond in the amount of $1,000. The bond is conditioned on compliance with the law, and may be availed of by any person injured by acts of the licensee in violation of the law.]

SEC. 892. Terms; contents.—[Licenses are effective for one year unless revoked, and must show the name of holder, place of business, and number and date of license.]

SEC. 893. Refusal.—[License may be refused to those who have violated the laws or the orders of the commission as to employment agencies, or other laws so as to render the applicants unfit, in the opinion of the commission, to hold a license. In such case the fee must be returned.]

SEC. 894. Revocation.—[If a licensee or his partner or employee violates the provisions of this act or the orders of the commission, or is found to be not of good moral character, the commission may revoke his license. The holder may, within 10 days, petition for a hearing.]

SEC. 895. Expiration.—[Licenses are void on expiration, and must be returned to the commission.]

SEC. 896. Change of location.—[No change of location may be made without written consent of the commission.]

SEC. 896–1. License to be posted.—[Licensees must post their licenses and a copy of the law and of the commission's orders in their place of business.]

SEC. 896–2. Record.—[Records of all transactions must be kept and monthly reports made on forms furnished by the commission.]

SEC. 896–3. Acts prohibited.—[Licensees are forbidden to send applicants for positions to any place of bad repute, to permit persons of bad character to frequent their offices, to send persons to fictitious positions or to give false information, to send workers to a job where there is a strike or lockout without giving information of the fact, to secure the discharge of employees or split fees, to use false cards, advertisements, etc., to make false entries on their records, or to use any name or designation not approved by the commission.]

SEC. 896–4. Fees.—[Registration and other fees may be charged according to a schedule fixed by the industrial commission and posted in every room used by the agency.]

SEC. 896–5. Regulations.—[The commission is to enact regulations as to refunds of fees, etc., and payment of expenses of persons sent outside the city to nonexistent or misrepresented jobs.]

SEC. 896–6. Receipts.—[Receipts must be given for fees or commissions paid.]

SECS. 896–7 to 896–9. Violations.—[Acting without license entails a fine of $100 to $500 for the first offense, and $200 to $1,000 for a second. Other violations may be punished by fines of $25 to $500 for a first offense, and $100 to $500 for subsequent offenses. Fines go, one-half to the county and one-half to the industrial commission.]

SECS. 896–10 to 896–15. Enforcement.—[Enforcement rests with the industrial commission. The nature of evidence and the courts having jurisdiction are prescribed.]

Employment of labor—Foremen, etc., accepting fees

(Added 1917, p. 614)

SECTION 897. Acts forbidden.—Whoever requests or accepts a fee, gift, or gratuity or promise to pay a fee, to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement or with an understanding that he, as principal, agent, employee, or servant, shall hire, or undertake to secure or assist in securing work for another with his principal, employer, or master; or with an understanding that he shall advance or undertake to secure or assist in securing an advance in pay or position of another in the employ of his principal, employer, or master; or with an understanding that he shall prevent or undertake to prevent or assist in preventing the discharge or reduction in pay or position of another in the employ of his principal, employer, or master, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECS. 897–1 to 897–4. Violations; enforcement.—[Penalties for violations are for a first offense, fines, $25 to $100, and for subsequent offenses, $100 to $500, with costs in each case. Local courts, including justices of the peace, have jurisdiction; jury trial may be had. Authorized prosecutors need not advance or secure costs. Enforcement rests with the industrial commission.]

Mine regulations

SECTION 899 (as amended 1910, p. 52). Chief inspector.—[The chief mine inspector must have competent technical knowledge of chemistry, the mineralogy and geology of the State, mining and gases, mining engineering and electrical installations, and have had at least five years' experience in mining in Ohio.]

SEC. 900 (as amended 1921, p. 20). District inspectors.—[The industrial commission, with the approval of the governor, and on recommendation of the chief deputy of the division of mines, shall appoint 5 additional district inspectors, bringing the total to 17.]

SEC. 901 (as amended 1910, p. 52). Qualifications.—[District inspectors must have 2 years' residence in the district and 5 years' experience in the State, and a practical knowledge of working and ventilating mines, the nature of noxious gases, and the uses and dangers of electricity in mines.]

SEC. 904 (as amended 1913, p. 168). Records.—[Maps, plans, records, etc., of the mine inspector's office shall be kept at the capital, open and accessible to those entitled to examine them. District offices are also to be maintained.]

SECS. 906–914 (all as amended 1910, p. 52). Duties of inspectors.—[The chief inspector is to divide the State into districts, issue instructions, keep records, and may transfer or remove district inspectors for cause. On notice of fatal accidents, investigation and report must be made. Mines employing 10 or more persons must be inspected as often as practicable, at least every 3 months, as to conditions of the mine, machinery, etc. Weights and measures must be tested and the law enforced. Access to the mines must be allowed and weekly reports made by district inspectors to the chief inspector. The number of employees, and the number under 16 years of age are to be reported. Oil and gas wells likely to penetrate a workable seam of coal must be reported to the chief inspector, and must be drilled in compliance with the provisions of the law.]

SEC. 915 (as amended 1913, p. 467). Rescue car.—[A rescue car with prescribed equipment must be furnished and placed under the continuous charge of a man who gives bond for the faithful discharge of his duties.]

SEC. 915–1 (added 1919, p. 1278). Rescue stations.—[Five rescue stations with breathing devices, oxygen tanks, safety lamps, first aid supplies, etc., are to be established at suitable locations and placed under the care of qualified superintendents, who give their entire time to the duties of their position.]

SECS. 916–919 (as amended 1910, p. 52). Violations.—[The operation of mines not complying with the law may be enjoined. If maps or corrections thereof are not made and filed as required, the work may be procured by an inspector at the expense of the owner or lessee. Inspectors may be proceeded against for neglect of duty or malfeasance in office, with right of appeal to a board of examiners appointed for the case.]

SEC. 921 (as amended 1910, p. 52). Abandoned mines; fatal accidents.—[Maps of abandoned mines must be labeled and filed by the county recorder. The coroner must hold an inquest in cases of fatal accidents and report his findings to the chief inspector; the owner or lessee may also have a copy on request, on the payment of a fee.]

SECS. 922–927 (all as amended 1910, p. 52), 928, 929 (both as amended 1917, p. 150), 930–933 (all as amended 1910, p. 52), 934 (as amended 1921, p. 22). Safety.—[Provisions are made as to ventilation, the employment of fire bosses in mines generating fire damp, hoists, escape shafts, speaking tubes, safety cages, traveling ways, timbers, and provisions at mines for first aid.]

SEC. 934–1 (added 1919, p. 60), 934–1a (added 1921, p. 22). Wash rooms.—[Wash rooms, properly lighted and warmed for the use of miners in washing and changing clothing must be provided at mines where ten or more persons are employed. Failure to comply entails a fine of from $200 to $500.]

SECS. 934–2, 934–3 (both added 1921, p. 48), 935–937 (all as amended 1910, p. 52), 938 (as amended 1913, p. 500), 939–947 (all as amended 1910, p. 52), 948 (as amended 1919, p. 1111), 949 (as amended 1910, p. 52), 950 (as amended 1917, p. 150), 951–970 (as amended 1910, p. 52). Safety, etc.—[The installation of telephone connections with the outside is required where 20 or more men are employed. Maps must be furnished and kept up to date, and a correct map of abandoned mines filed. The approach to abandoned mines is regulated; notice of beginning or closing operations required, also of accidents causing loss of life or personal injury; owners must furnish test weights for scales used, also safety lamps where required, and shields for mining machines; signal and lighting systems are prescribed, the employment of children under 14 forbidden or under 15 during the school term. The sprinkling of dusty ways is required, and the storage of oil, the use of gasoline, and the location of boilers and of stables and the installation of electric wires, etc, regulated. The duties of superintendents, foremen, overseers, stablemen, fire bosses, miners, machinemen, motormen and trip riders are specified. Entering mines until there is a proper report of safety is forbidden, as are loitering, the use or possession of intoxicants, changing marks, monuments or checks on cars, carrying lighted pipes into stables, or obstructing ways. Lighting and the use of explosives are regulated. Miners working alone must have had at least nine months' experience, weighmasters and check weighmen are provided for, and the use of adjoining land authorized where necessary for ventilation, drainage, roadways, etc.]

SEC. 972 (as amended 1913, p. 67). Actions; liens.—[Injuries due to a violation of the act or willful failure to comply with its provisions are grounds for actions in damages. (Doubtless superseded by compensation legislation.) Liens for labor attach to all property of the owner or operator of a mine.]

SEC. 973 (as amended 1911, p. 457). Wells.—[Notice must be given of intention to sink oil, gas, etc., wells in the coal areas of the State. No oil or gas well may be sunk nearer than 300 feet from mine openings or 100 from mine buildings. If mine excavations are penetrated, the well must be cased. Abandoned wells must be securely plugged.]

SECS. 974 to 974–3 (all as amended 1913, p. 25), 975 (as amended 1910, p. 52). Illuminants.—[Illuminating oil must conform to a prescribed test and be properly labeled. Acetylene gas may be used on compliance with restrictions as to places, amount of carbide taken into the mine, and deposit of refuse.]

SEC. 976 (as amended 1911, p. 149). Violations.—[Penalties are prescribed for violations of the law by coroners, owners, and lessees, superintendents and foremen, or other persons, varying for the different classes and for the provision of law involved.]

SECS. 976–1 to 976–3 (all added 1914, p. 161). Shooting coal.—[Permits are required to do solid shooting in coal mines. These are issued on application to the industrial commission.]

SECS. 978–1 to 978–7 (all added 1914, p. 181; amended 1915, p. 350). Weighing coal.—[Where coal is mined or loaded by weight, the total contents of the car must be paid for unless otherwise agreed upon. Proper deductions for slate, sulphur, etc., are to be determined by the industrial commission. It is the duty of the parties to agree on an allowance for fine coal or slack; in its absence, the industrial commission may, on request of either party, fix and revise such allowance.]

Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTION 980. Qualifications and duties of chief inspector.—The chief inspector of workshops and factories shall be a competent and practical mechanic, and shall give his whole time and attention to the duties of his office. He shall enforce the provisions of this chapter and the laws relating to workshops, factories, and public buildings, prosecute violations thereof and perform such other duties as are required of him by law.

SEC. 985. Qualifications of district inspectors.—Each district inspector of workshops and factories shall be a competent and practical mechanic and must devote his whole time and attention to the duties of his office. Ten of such inspectors shall have knowledge of building construction, and one shall be a skilled and experienced person who is thoroughly conversant with the manufacture and use of powder, dynamite, nitroglycerin, fuses, and other explosives and their compounds.

SEC. 989. Duties of district inspectors.—Each district inspector of workshops and factories assigned to a district for the inspection of shops and factories therein shall carefully inspect the sanitary conditions, system of sewerage, situation and condition of water-closets, system of heating, lighting, and ventilating rooms where persons are employed at labor, and the means of exit in case of fire or other disaster, within or connected with such shops and factories. He shall examine the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums, and machinery in and about such shops and factories, and see that they are not so located as to be dangerous to employees when engaged in their ordinary duties, and, so far as practicable, securely guarded. He shall see that each vat, pan, or structure filled with molten metal or hot liquid is surrounded by proper safeguards for preventing accident or injury to persons employed at or near them.

SEC. 990. Bakeries.—Each inspector of workshops and factories assigned to a district for the inspection of bakeries therein shall visit each bakery in his district as often as practicable, see that the laws relating to workshops and factories and the laws relating to bakeries are strictly enforced, and perform such other duties pertaining to the department of workshops and factories as the chief inspector directs.

SEC. 991. Manufacture of explosives.—The district inspector of workshops and factories assigned to the inspection of buildings wherein explosives are manufactured or stored shall inspect all manufacturing establishments in the State wherein powder, dynamite, nitroglycerin, compounds, fuses, or other explosives are manufactured, all magazines or storehouses wherein such explosives are stored, and perform such other duties connected with the department of workshops and factories as the chief inspector of workshops and factories directs.

SEC. 992. Same subject.—The district inspector of workshops and factories assigned to the inspection of buildings in which explosives are manufactured or stored shall inspect the process of manufacture and the handling and storing of such explosives, and may order such changes or additions in or about such manufactories, magazines, or storehouses as he deems necessary for the safety of the employees and the public. If such manufactory, magazine, or storehouse is in such close proximity to a residence or dwelling as to cause accident in case of explosion, he may cause the explosives to be removed to a place of safety. With the advice of the chief inspector, the inspector of explosives may provide such rules and regulations as he deems necessary, which, with the laws relating thereto, and to the duties of the inspector of workshops and factories and district inspectors, shall be applicable to the places of manufacturing, sale, and storage of such explosives.

SEC. 994. Entering factories, etc.—For the purpose of an inspection or examination required of him by law the chief inspector of workshops and factories and each district inspector at reasonable hours may enter a shop or factory, a State institution having a shop or factory, a bakery, or a building in which powder or other explosives are manufactured or stored.

SEC. 995. Power as to oaths.—In the performance of his duties pertaining to his office the chief inspector of workshops and factories and each district inspector shall have the authority of a notary public to administer oaths and take affidavits.

SEC. 996 (as amended 1911, p. 360). Notice of alterations.—If the chief inspector of workshops and factories or a district inspector finds that the heating, lighting, ventilation, or sanitary arrangements of a shop or factory are injurious to the health of persons employed or residing therein, that the means of egress therefrom in case of fire or other disaster is not sufficient, that efficient means for extinguishing fires is not provided on each floor, that the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums, and machinery therein are so located as to be dangerous to employees and not safely guarded, or that the vats, pans, or structures filled with molten metal or hot liquid are not surrounded by proper safeguards for preventing accident or injury to persons employed at or near them, or that there is danger from explosives in a building in which explosives are manufactured or stored, he shall notify the owner, proprietor, or agent of such shop or factory or building by personally serving a notice in writing, or mailing it to his last known address, to make the necessary alterations or additions. Said notice shall describe the alterations and additions which shall be installed therein and the time in which each alteration or addition therein required shall be made and each appliance installed.

SEC. 997 (as amended 1911, p. 360). Changes to be made.—Upon receipt of the notice provided in the next preceding section, the owner, proprietor, or agent of a shop or factory shall make the necessary alterations or additions to such shop or factory or install the appliances therein required within the time designated therein.

SEC. 998 (as amended 1911, p. 360). Violations.—[Failure to comply with preceding sections is punishable by fine, $50 to $100 for each day's continued violation.]

SEC. 999. Failure to obey orders.—Proof of the failure of the proprietor of a shop or factory to make alterations or furnish the safeguards ordered by the chief inspector of workshops and factories or a district inspector within the time designated shall be deemed prima facie evidence of negligence and render such proprietor liable for injury sustained by reason of a failure to make such alterations or furnish such safeguards.

SEC. 1000. Ordering changes.—Upon an examination as provided by law, if it is found necessary to cut through the walls or floors of a shop or factory to provide stairways on the inside or outside for additional exits in case of fire or other disaster; if found necessary to make changes in or additions to a shop or factory for ventilation, sewerage, water-closets or plumbing, for additional means of lighting by windows or skylights, for efficient safety guards at elevator openings, for the guarding of hatchways, for hoisting apparatus in floors or outside, for the repair of elevators or gearing, for the repair of walls, roofs, ceilings, stairways, or doors, or, if found necessary, to make any other improvement needful for the health or safety of the employees or persons occupying a shop or factory, the chief inspector of workshops and factories shall require the owner or agent of the building in which such shop or factory is situated to provide the necessary fire escapes, changes, additions, or improvements, if they are of permanent character and will become the property of the owner of the building in which such shop or factory is located. Notice thereof must be given in writing to such owner or agent, which may be mailed to his last known address. Such time may be allowed for compliance therewith as the chief inspector of workshops and factories deems necessary.

SEC. 1002. Definition.—The term "shops and factories" as used in this chapter shall include the following: Manufacturing, mechanical, electrical, mercantile, art and laundering establishments, printing, telegraph and telephone offices, railroad depots, hotels, memorial buildings, tenement and department [apartment] houses.

SEC. 1002-1 (added 1911, p. 360). Operation may be enjoined.—If the alterations and additions required in the notice provided for in sections 996 and 1000 are not made within the time therein designated or if the appliances that are required are not installed within the time designated, the use of the building within which the shop or factory is located for shop and factory purposes as defined in section 1002, shall be deemed a public nuisance. After the expiration of the time prescribed in such notice the chief inspector of workshops and factories may in writing inform the attorney general of the fact that such notice has been given and that the person to whom it was directed has not complied therewith. On receipt thereof, the attorney general shall bring suit in the name of the State in the court of common pleas of the county where such shop or factory is located to enjoin the continued operation of such shop or factory until the requirements of such notice are complied with. In such action it shall be sufficient to serve the summons upon the person to whom the notice prescribed in sections 996 or 1000 was sent, and such summons may be served in any county of the State. The court may issue a temporary restraining order without notice to the defendant in such action. Upon final hearing thereof, if the court is satisfied that the requirements of the notice by the chief inspector of workshops and factories or the district inspector to the defendant was not unreasonable or arbitrary, it shall issue an order enjoining the defendant from the continued operation of such shop or factory or from permitting the use of such building for shop or factory purposes until compliance therewith. Such injunction shall continue operative until the court is satisfied that the requirements of such notice have been substantially complied with and the court shall have and exercise with respect to the enforcement of such injunctions all the powers vested in it in other similar cases. Both the plaintiff and defendant in such action shall have the same rights of appeal and error as are provided by law in other injunction cases.

SEC. 1003 (as amended 1911, p. 53). Accidents to be reported.—Every manufacturer of the State shall within three days after the happening of any accident in his establishment resulting in death, or bodily injury of such a nature that the person injured does not return to his or her employment in said establishment within two or more days after the occurrence of the accident, shall forward by mail to the chief inspector of workshops and factories a report containing the following particulars in full:

1. Name and address of manufacturer, (person, firm or corporation).
2. Nature of business in which manufacturer is engaged and place where accident occurred.
3. Name, address, sex, age, and kind of employment of person killed or injured and whether such person is married or single.
4. The time of day deceased began work on day of accident, time of day accident occurred, and date of accident or death.
5. At what employed when killed or injured, whether such person was familiar with the work at which engaged or the machinery which he was operating and whether such machinery was in good order and guarded so as to prevent accident under ordinary circumstances. If such machinery was not guarded, reasons for not guarding the same.
6. Description of manner in which such person was killed or injured.
7. Description of nature and extent of injury.
8. Number of persons deprived of support in consequence of such death or injury.

Such manufacturer shall, in all cases of death within six months after the accident, or in case the person injured returns to work in his establishment within six months after the accident, forward by mail to the chief inspector of workshops and factories within five days after such death or such return to work, or in case of no death or return to work within six months, then within five days after the expiration of such six months, a supplemental report which shall contain the following particulars in full:

1. Name and address of manufacturer.
2. Name, sex, and age of person injured and date and place where accident occurred.
3. A correct statement of the amount of wages paid to such person at the time of such injury and the amount of wages lost during the period between the time of such accident and the time of forwarding such supplemental report.
4. The amount of compensation paid by such manufacturer by reason of such injury or death, the names of persons to whom such compensation was paid and a statement of reasons for paying such amounts to such persons.

SEC. 1004 (as amended 1911, p. 53). Violations.—[Violations of the preceding section are punishable by fine of $50 to $100 for a first offense, $200 to $500 for subsequent offenses.]

SEC. 1005. Definition.—The term "manufacturer" as used in the preceding two sections shall include a person who as owner, manager, lessee, assignee, receiver, contractor, or as agent makes or causes to be made, or deals in any kind of goods or merchandise or who controls or operates a street railway or laundering establishment, or who is engaged in the construction of buildings, bridges or other structures, or in loading or unloading vessels or cars, moving heavy materials, or operating dangerous machinery, or engaged in the manufacture or use of explosives.

SEC. 1006. Stairways.—In tenement houses, apartments, manufactories, mills, shops, stores, churches, hotels, halls for public meetings, lecture rooms, restaurants, public library rooms, business offices of professional men and others doing business for or with the public, all public buildings and other rooms or places of public resort or use, whether for the transaction of business or social enjoyment, the owners, directors, trustee, lessees, managers, controllers or proprietors thereof shall provide and maintain for all stairs or stairways for ingress or egress, a substantial handrail extending from the top to the bottom thereof, and firmly fastened to the wall or other support or partition at the side of such stairs. Such handrail shall be constructed of wood not less than one and one-half inches wide and two and one-half inches thick or of iron not less than one and one-half inches in diameter.

Sec. 1007. Violations.—[Violations of preceding section entail fine, $10 to $100, and liability for damages resulting therefrom.]

Sec. 1008 (as amended 1919, p. 540). Female employees.—Every person, partnership, or corporation employing females in any factory, workshop, business office, telephone or telegraph office, restaurant, bakery, millinery or dressmaking establishment, mercantile or other establishments shall provide a suitable seat for the use of each female so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats when such female employees are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed and when the use thereof will not actually and necessarily interfere with the proper discharge of the duties of such employees, such seat to be constructed, where practicable, with an automatic back support and so adjusted as to be a fixture, but not obstruct employees in the performance of duty, and shall further provide a suitable lunch room, separate and apart from the workroom, and in establishments where lunch rooms are provided, female employees shall be entitled to no less than thirty minutes for meal time: Provided, That in any establishment aforesaid in which it is found impracticable to provide a suitable lunch room, as aforesaid, female employees shall be entitled to not less than one hour for meal time during which hour they shall be permitted to leave the establishment.

Females over eighteen years of age shall not be employed or permitted or suffered to work in or in connection with any factory, workshop, telephone or telegraph office, millinery or dressmaking establishment, restaurant, or in the distributing or transmission of messages, or in or on any interurban or street railway car, or as ticket sellers or elevator operators, or in any mercantile establishment located in any city, more than nine hours in any one day, except Saturday, when the hours of labor in mercantile establishments may be ten hours, or more than six days, or more than fifty hours in any one week, but meal time shall not be included as a part of the work hours of the week or day: Provided, however, That no restriction as to hours of labor shall apply to canneries or establishments engaged in preparing for use perishable goods, during the season they are engaged in canning their products.

This section is constitutional. Hawley v. Walker, 232 U. S. 718, 34 Sup. Ct. 479.

Sec. 1008–1 (added 1919, p. 540). Employments prohibited.—The employment of females in the following occupations or capacities is hereby prohibited, to wit: As crossing watchman, section hand, express driver, molder, bell hop, taxi driver, jitney driver, gas or electric meter reader, ticket seller, except between the hours of six o'clock a. m. and ten o'clock p. m., as workers in blast furnaces, smelters, mines, quarries, except in the offices thereof, shoeshining parlors, bowling alleys, pool rooms, bar rooms and saloons, or public drinking places which cater to male customers exclusively, and in which substitutes for intoxicating liquors are sold or advertised for sale, in delivery service on wagons or automobiles, in operating freight or baggage elevators, in baggage handling, freight handling, and trucking of any kind, or in employments requiring frequent or repeated lifting of weights over twenty-five pounds. Any violations of the provisions of this section shall be punished as provided in section 1011 of the General Code.

Sec. 1009 (as amended 1911, page 488). Toilets, etc.—[Suitable and separate toilets and dressing rooms must be provided for male and female employees.]

Sec. 1010 (as amended 1911, page 488.) Same.—[Where there are no sewerage facilities, toilets, etc., shall be placed at a distance not less than 20 nor more than 50 feet from building.]

Sec. 1011 (as amended 1911, page 488). Violations—[Violation is punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200.]

Sec. 1011–1 (added 1923, p. 314). Wiping rags.—No person, firm, copartnership, or corporation, operating a workshop or factory, shall furnish or deliver to any employee, any cloth or other material to be used as wiping rags by employees in such workshops or factory, unless such cloth or other material shall first be thoroughly washed with soap and alkali soda, sterilized with chemical preparations and dried with an average heat of 212 degrees.

[Violation entails a fine of from $25 to $100 for a first offense; $200 to $300 for a second; and imprisonment 30 to 90 days for a third and subsequent offenses.]

SEC. 1020. Manufactures in tenements.—No dwelling or building or room or apartment thereof in or connected with a tenement, dwelling or other building shall be used, except by the immediate members of the family living therein, for carrying on any process of making wearing apparel or goods for wear, use or adornment, or for manufacturing cigars, cigarettes or tobacco goods in any form, if such wearing apparel or other goods are to be exposed for sale or sold by a manufacturer, wholesaler or jobber or by a retailer, unless such room or apartment is made to conform to the requirements and regulations herein provided.

SEC. 1021. Workrooms.—Each room or apartment used for the purposes named in the preceding section, except by the immediate members of the family living therein, shall be regarded as a shop or factory and shall be separate from and have no door, window or other opening into a living or sleeping room of a tenement or dwelling. No such shop or factory shall be used for living or sleeping purposes or contain any bed, bedding or cooking utensils, or other utensils, except those required to carry on the work therein. Each such shop or factory shall have a direct entrance from the outside, and, if above the first floor, have a separate and distinct stairway leading thereto, and be well and sufficiently lighted, heated and ventilated.

SEC. 1022. Toilets, etc.—[Suitable separate toilets must be provided for each sex, for employees under secs. 1020, 1021.]

SEC. 1023. Cleanliness.—If more than one room is used under the direction of one employer for the purposes named in the preceding three sections, such room shall be regarded as one shop or factory. Each shop or factory shall be kept in a clean and wholesome condition, stairways and premises within the radius of thirty feet shall be kept clean, and closets regularly disinfected and supplied with disinfectants. The chief inspector of workshops and factories or a district inspector may require necessary changes or the cleaning, painting, or whitewashing necessary to insure absolute freedom from odor, filth, vermin, decaying matter or any other thing liable to impair health or breed infections or contagious diseases. Such inspector shall prevent the operation of such shops and factories, if they do not conform to the provisions of the preceding sections, and cause the arrest and prosecution of the persons operating them.

SEC. 1023–1 (added 1913, p. 491). Violations.—[Punishment is by fines, $25 to $100, for each succeeding offense.]

SEC. 1024. Work not to be given out, when.—No person, firm, or corporation shall give work to or contract with a person to make goods used for wearing apparel or adornment or to manufacture tobacco, after receiving notice from the chief inspector of workshops and factories or a district inspector that such person has not complied with the provisions of law relating to rooms in which such goods are manufactured. The notice shall remain in force until such person has complied with the provisions of law. Each person, firm, or corporation shall obtain and keep a record of all persons to whom work is given or with whom it is contracted for or from whom such goods or tobacco is purchased, which record must include their names and addresses, and be open to the inspection of the chief inspector of workshops and factories or a district inspector.

SEC. 1025. Sale, etc., of goods.—No person or corporation shall receive, handle, or convey to others, or sell, hold in stock or expose for sale the goods named in the preceding section, unless such goods are made under the sanitary conditions prescribed herein, but this does not include the making of garments or other goods for another by personal order, which will be received for wear or use direct from the maker's hands.

SEC. 1026. Violations.—Violation of two preceding sections is punishable by fine, $50 to $100, or imprisonment 30 to 60 days, or both.]

SEC. 1027 (as amended 1911, p. 428). Guards for dangerous machinery, etc.—The owners and operators of shops and factories shall make suitable provisions to prevent injury to persons who use or come in contact with machinery therein or any part thereof as follows:

1. They shall case or box all shafting operating horizontally near floors, or perpendicularly or otherwise between, from or through floors or traversing near floors, or when operating near a passageway or directly over the heads of the employees.

2. They shall inclose with substantial railing or casing all exposed cogwheels, flywheels, band wheels, main belts, transmitting power from engine to dynamo, or other kind of machinery and all openings through floors, through or in which such wheels or belts may operate.

3. They shall cover, cut off or countersink keys, bolts, set screws and all parts of wheels, shafting, or other revolving machinery projecting unevenly beyond the surface of such revolving machinery.

4. They shall case in all unused openings of elevators and elevator shafts and place automatic gates or floor doors on each floor where entrance to the elevator carriage is obtained. They shall keep such gates or doors in good repair and examine frequently and keep in sound condition the ropes, gearing, and other parts of elevators.

5. They shall close stair openings on each floor, except where access to stairs is obtained, and rail such stairs between floors.

6. They shall light the hallways, rooms, approaches to rooms, basements, and other places wherein sufficient daylight is not obtainable.

7. They shall guard all saws, wood-cutting, wood-shaping, and all other dangerous machinery.

8. They shall provide shifters for shifting belts, and poles and other appliances for removing, replacing, and repairing belts or single pulleys.

9. They shall adjust with handralling, runways and staging used for oiling and other purposes when more than five feet from floors.

10. They shall provide countershafting in each room separate from the engine room, with tight and loose pulleys and other suitable appliances for disconnecting machinery when in operation.

11. They shall provide emery wheels or belts of solid emery, leather, leather covered, felt, canvas, linen, paper, cotton, or wheels or belts, rolled or coated with emery or corundum, or cotton wheels used as buffs, with blowers or similar apparatus placed over, beside or under such wheels or belts in such a manner to protect the person or persons using them from particles of dust produced and caused thereby.

12. They shall provide each emery wheel with a sheet or cast iron hood or hopper of such form and so applied to it that the dust or refuse therefrom will fall from such wheels or will be thrown into such hood or hopper by centrifugal force and be carried off by the current of air into a suction pipe attached to such hood or hopper.

13. They shall provide an emery wheel six inches or less in diameter with a three-inch suction pipe, an emery wheel six inches to twenty-four inches in diameter with a four-inch suction pipe; an emery wheel twenty-four inches to thirty-six inches in diameter with a five-inch suction pipe and every emery wheel larger than those provided for with a suction pipe not less than six inches in diameter. Such suction pipe shall be full-sized to the main trunk suction pipe, and the main suction pipe to which smaller pipes are attached, shall be equal in its diameter and capacity to the combined area of the smaller pipes attached to it. The discharge pipe from the exhaust fan connected with pipe or pipes shall be as large or larger than the suction pipe.

14. They shall provide necessary fans or blowers connected with suction pipes, which shall be run at a rate of speed sufficient to produce a velocity of air in such suction or discharge pipes of at least nine thousand feet per minute to an equivalent suction or pressure of air equal to raising a volume of water not less than five inches in a U-shaped tube. All branch suction pipes must enter the main pipe at an angle of forty-five degrees or less; the main suction or trunk pipe shall be below the emery or buffing wheels and as close to them as possible and be either upon the floor or beneath the floor on which the machinery to which such wheels are attached are placed. All bends, turns, or elbows in such suction pipes must be made with easy, smooth surfaces having a radius in the throat of not less than two diameters of the pipe on which they are connected.

15. Nothing in this section regarding blowers, hoods, hoppers, or suction pipes shall apply to emery wheels upon which water is used at the point of grinding contact, small emery wheels used temporarily for tool grinding or small shops employing not more than one man at work upon an emery wheel, which does not create dust enough in the opinion of the chief inspector of workshops and factories or a district inspector to be injurious to its operator. No female shall be employed in operating, assisting to operate, or using any of the wheels or belts specified in the preceding four subdivisions of this section.

SEC. 1028 (as amended 1911, p. 427). Violations.—[Violations of the preceding section are punishable by fines, $100 to $300. Inspectors prosecuting are not required to secure costs; if suits are lost, the county pays the costs.]

SEC. 1028–1 (added 1911, p. 360). Means of egress.—The owners of buildings wherein shops or factories are operated shall make suitable provisions for the safe and speedy egress therefrom in case of fire or other disaster of persons employed in such shop or factory or residing therein or who may be invited any time thereinto as follows:

1. They shall provide on each floor or basement of each section of such building separated from other sections or parts thereof by fire walls, or not so separated, and in which a shop or factory is operated, excepting only rooms on such floors or basements used only for storage purposes, two separate and distinct means of egress placed at opposite ends of the section or building and located as far apart as possible. Such means of egress shall be either an inclosed fireproof stairway running continuously from each floor on which such shop or factory is operated to the grade line and opening directly to the outside of the building; or a standard fire escape leading from such floors to the grade line or a convenient and safe distance above grade line; or a self-closing door leading directly to the next adjoining section of the same building containing a stairway, or a door opening directly upon a street, alley, or open court.

2. They shall provide substantial handrails on each side of all stairways.

3. They shall provide on each floor on which a shop or factory is operated doors or other means of egress therefrom to such fire escapes or inside stairways, which said doors or other means of egress must swing outward and toward the natural means of egress, and if capable of being locked or latched, the same must be operated from the inside.

4. They shall provide signs over all doors as exits and over all openings or passageways leading to exits which shall be clearly marked with the word "Exit" in plain block letters not less than six inches high; such signs shall be so placed that they may be seen from any part of the room, if possible.

5. They shall so arrange and hang doors and windows or other means of egress to fire escapes or fireproof stairways that when open they shall not obstruct or close off any of the passageway or in any way interfere with the use of fire escapes or other means of egress.

SEC. 1028–2 (added 1911, p. 360). Rules for safety.—The owners and operators of manufacturing, mechanical, electrical, mercantile, art, and laundering establishments, printing, telegraph and telephone offices, and railroad depots shall observe the following rules and regulations for the safety of persons employed or assembled therein:

1. The number of persons at any time employed or permitted to work or to be assembled therein shall at no time be such as to provide fewer than the following number of square feet of floor space for each person:

If the establishment, office, or depot is in a basement, there shall be ten square feet to a person; if on the first or grade floor, eight square feet to a person; if on the second floor, ten square feet to a person; if on the third floor, fifteen square feet to a person; if on the fourth floor, twenty square feet to a person; if on the fifth floor, thirty square feet to a person; if on the sixth floor, forty square feet to a person; if on the seventh floor, sixty square feet to a person; if on the eighth floor, eighty square feet to a person; if on the ninth floor, one hundred square feet to a person; if on or above the tenth floor, one hundred and twenty-five square feet to a person.

2. The number of persons employed or permitted to work or assemble therein shall at no time be greater than one hundred persons for each three feet of exit space, but this ratio may be decreased where highly inflammable materials are manufactured, sold, or stored, by order of the chief inspector of workshops and factories, a district inspector thereof, or the chief of any fire department having authority in the premises.

3. Each floor on which any establishment mentioned in this section is located shall be provided with standpipe with one and one-half inch hose not more than seventy-five feet in length, so located that any part of the floor may be reached by a stream of water expelled therefrom, and where water supply is not available fire extinguishers or barrels of salt water with round-bottom buckets may be substituted.

4. The floors of all such establishments shall be swept at least once a day and the sweepings therefrom removed from every room thereof.

5. No door or other means of egress shall be locked, barred, or bolted during the time when such shop or factory is operated.

6. Such owners or operators shall provide passageways or aisles equal in width to such doors or exits and leading to the same from all parts of the floor on which the shop or factory is operated, and shall keep such passageways or aisles at all times clear of all obstructions.

In computing the number of persons who may be employed or assembled in any such establishment, the portion of the floor space occupied by counters, cases, and fixtures, or from which the public is excluded, shall be deemed and regarded as floor space.

SEC. 1028-3 (added 1911, p. 360). Violations.—Whoever violates any of the provisions of the preceding sections shall be fined not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than one thousand ($1,000) dollars.

SEC. 1028-4 (added 1919, p. 1121). Fire drills.—In every factory and loft building in the State devoted to manufacturing purposes three or more stories in height a fire drill of all the employees of such building shall be conducted at least once in every month and shall be subject to the approval and supervision of the Industrial Commission of Ohio. A fire drill shall be arranged so as to conduct every employee of such building within five minutes after the sounding of the alarm, to the street, or to an open court having direct means of egress to the street by means of an alley or fireproof passage, or to any portion of the same or an adjoining building which has independent means of egress to the street and which is separated vertically from the section of the building in which the alarm is first sounded, by means of a standard fire wall, the only openings in which are guarded by self-closing fire doors.

SEC. 1028-5 (added 1919, p. 1121). Regulations.—That such fire drill may be uniform in all factories and loft buildings in the State, devoted to manufacturing purposes, it shall be the duty of the industrial commission to prepare an outline for such fire drills. This outline shall be printed at the expense of the State under the direction of the industrial commission, and shall be distributed in quantities sufficient to provide a copy for every factory and loft building devoted to manufacturing purposes, three or more stories in height located in any city or village in the State.

SEC. 1028-6 (added 1919, p. 1121). Fireproof buildings.—Provided, however, that when such building is of fireproof construction, and when the necessary means of egress therefrom has been provided, and the proper precautions have been taken for the prevention and extinguishment of fire therein the Industrial Commission of Ohio may in its discretion prescribe the conduct of fire drills in such buildings at intervals less frequent than hereinabove set forth.

SEC. 1028-7 (added 1919, p. 1121). Violations.—Any person, firm or corporation who fails to comply with this act, or who fails to put same into effect on or after the passage of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than fifty dollars for the first offense, and not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars for subsequent offenses.

SEC. 1029. Notice as to dangerous machinery.—The chief inspector of workshops and factories, or a district inspector, if he deems it advisable, may paste upon a machine, device, elevator, utensil, structure or machinery, or part thereof, a notice stating that it or a part thereof does not conform to the provisions of the second preceding section, and that operators or employees are liable to injury by operating it. Such notice shall designate and describe the alteration or other change necessary to be made in order to secure safety of operation, date of inspection, and time allowed for such alteration or change. After the pasting of such notice on a machine, it shall not be used or operated until the changes or alterations indicated in the notice have been made to the satisfaction of the chief inspector or district inspector.

SEC. 1030 (as amended 1911, p. 150). Violations.—[Penalties for violation of the preceding section are $100 to $200 for first offense; $500 to $1,000 for each subsequent offense.]

Inspection of steam boilers

(Added 1911, p. 494)

SECTION 1058–7 (as amended 1913, p. 649). Boilers to be inspected.—[The inspection of steam boilers used in industrial plants and of steam fire engines, internally, externally, and under operating conditions, is required at least once a year.]

SECS. 1058–8 to 1058–12. Rules.—[The board of boiler rules (now the industrial commission; see secs. 871–1 et seq.) must formulate rules for the construction, installation, operation, and equipment with safety valves, fusible plugs, etc., of steam boilers. Special hearings may be held with regard to changes in the rules, and special rules may be formulated for boilers not covered by existing rules. Applicants for positions as boiler inspectors are to be examined.]

SEC. 1058–15 (as amended 1913, p. 528). Bonds.—[The chief inspector must give bond in the sum of $5,000, and assistant and general inspectors of $2,000, conditioned upon the faithful performance of duty.]

SEC. 1058–17 (as amended 1921, p. 255). Inspectors.—[Ten general inspectors may be appointed by the chief inspector, with the consent of the governor, from the list of persons examined and certified. Companies writing boiler insurance may appoint as inspectors persons holding certificates of competency approved by the board, and the chief inspector may designate them as special inspectors.]

SEC. 1058–18. Revocation.—[Certificates may be revoked by the chief inspector for incompetence or untrustworthiness; appeal is allowed to the board (industrial commission). Certificates to replace those lost will issue without reexamination.]

SEC. 1058–19 (as amended 1913, p. 649). Inspection.—[Inspectors must give 14 days' notice of inspection, and the owner or user of a boiler must prepare the same for internal and external inspection at the appointed time. Notice need not be given of inspection under operating conditions. If a hydrostatic test is advisable, the owner or user must prepare for it. Steam pressure and water level gauges and safety valves must be observed, and no one may remove safety appliances or load the safety valve beyond the allowance shown in the certificate of inspection.]

SECS. 1058–20, 1058–21 (both as amended 1913, p. 649). Certificates.—[On report by an inspector of safe working conditions and fittings, the chief inspector shall issue a certificate stating name of the owner or user, the location, size, etc., of each boiler, date of inspection, name of inspector, with quotations from statutes as deemed necessary, such certificate to be posted in the boiler room; or for a portable engine, on the premises. If conditions are defective, certificates shall be withdrawn or withheld until the boiler and its fittings are put in a safe condition; but an appeal may be taken to the chief inspector, in case of disagreement. Inspections and reports do not relieve the owner or user from the exercise of due care or from liability for damages from its lack.]

SEC. 1058–23 (as amended 1921, p. 255). New installations.—[All boilers must be inspected when installed. No certificate will be granted unless there was inspection during construction, and the boiler conforms, on completion, in every detail, to the formulated rules.]

SEC. 1058–24. Moving boilers.—[Notice must be given of the removal of a stationary boiler required to be inspected, and it may not be used until inspected in its new location.]

SEC. 1058–25 (as amended 1913, p. 645). Fees.—[The fee for internal and external inspection is $5 for each boiler, and $2 for inspection during operation. For inspection during construction the fee is $10 within the State; if such inspection is desired by manufacturers outside the State it may be had on application to the chief inspector and payment of the fee and traveling expenses.]

SEC. 1058–26. Enforcement.—[Enforcement of the law and of the rules formulated by the board rests with the chief inspector, who supervises the work of the inspectors named in the act.]

SEC. 1058–28 (as amended 1913, p. 649). Violations.—[Owners or users violating the law or hindering inspectors are subject to fines of not less than $20 nor more than $500.]

Arbitration of labor disputes

SECTION 1063. Duty to investigate controversies.—When a controversy or difference, not involving a question which may be the subject of an action or proceeding in a court of this State, exists between an employer and his employees, upon application as hereinafter provided, and as soon thereafter as practicable, the State board of arbitration and conciliation shall visit the locality of the dispute, make careful inquiry into the cause thereof, hear all persons interested therein who come or are subpœnaed before it, and advise the respective parties what, if anything, ought to be done or submitted to by either or both such parties to adjust the dispute.

SEC. 1064. Decisions.—If the State board of arbitration and conciliation fails to bring about an adjustment of such differences, it shall immediately make a written decision thereon. This decision shall at once be made public, be recorded in a proper book of record to be kept by the secretary of the board, and a short statement thereof published in its annual report. The board shall also cause a copy of the decision to be filed with the clerk of the county or city in which the business is carried on.

SEC. 1065. Applications.—An application to the State board of arbitration and conciliation may be made by one or both of the parties to a controversy. It must be signed by the employer or by a majority of his employees in the department of business in which the controversy or difference exists, or by the duly authorized agent of either or both parties. If an application is signed by an agent claiming to represent a majority of such employees, the board must be satisfied that the agent is duly authorized in writing to represent such employees, but the names of the employees giving the authority shall be kept secret by the board.

SEC. 1066. Contents of application.—The application shall contain a concise statement of the grievances complained of, and a promise to continue in business or at work, in the same manner as employed at the time of the application, until the decision of the board, in case such decision is rendered within ten days from the date of the application. A joint application may contain a stipulation that the decision of the board under it shall be binding upon the parties to the extent so stipulated, in which case the decision to such extent may be made and enforced in the court of common pleas of the county from which such joint application is presented in like manner as upon a statutory award.

SEC. 1067. Hearings.—Upon the receipt of the application, the secretary of the State board of arbitration and conciliation shall give public notice of the time and place for the hearing thereof, unless both parties to the controversy join in the application and present therewith a written request that no public notice be given. When such request is made, notice shall be given to the parties interested in such manner as the board orders, and at any time during the proceedings the board may give public notice, notwithstanding such request. If the petitioner or petitioners fail to perform the promise made in the application, the board shall proceed no further therein without the written consent of the adverse party.

SEC. 1068. Witnesses.—The State board of arbitration and conciliation may subpœna as a witness any operative in the department of business affected, a person shown by affidavit, on belief or otherwise, to have knowledge of matters in controversy or dispute, or a person who keeps the records of wages earned in a department, and examine him under oath concerning such matters. The board may require the production of books or papers containing the record of wages earned or paid in any department involved in a controversy or dispute. Subpœnas may be signed and oaths administered by any member of the board.

SEC. 1069. Service.—A subpœna or notice may be delivered or sent to a sheriff, constable, or police officer, who shall forthwith serve or post it and make due return thereof. For such service the officer shall receive the fees allowed by law in similar cases, payable upon the certificate of the board, and warrant of the county auditor, from the treasury of the county wherein the controversy to be arbitrated exists. The board shall have such power and authority to maintain and enforce its orders at its hearings, and obedience to its writs of subpœna as are conferred by law on the court of common pleas for like purposes.

SEC. 1070. Local boards.—The parties to any such controversy or difference may submit in writing the matters in dispute to a local board of arbitration and conciliation. Such board may be mutually agreed upon or the employer may designate one of the arbitrators, the employees or their duly authorized agent another, and the two arbitrators so designated a third, who shall be chairman of the board.

SEC. 1071. Powers of local boards.—In respect to matters referred to it, a local board of arbitration and conciliation shall have such powers as by law are conferred upon the State board, and the decision of such local board shall have such binding effect as is agreed upon by the parties to the controversy in the written submission. The local board shall have exclusive jurisdiction in respect to the matters submitted to it, but it may ask and receive the advice and assistance of the State board. A decision of a local board upon a written submission shall be rendered within ten days after the close of the hearing thereon, and at once filed with the clerk of the county or city in which the controversy or difference arose. A copy of such decision shall be forwarded to the State board.

SEC. 1072. Compensation.—Each member of a local board of arbitration shall receive from the county or city in which the controversy or difference exists, the sum of three dollars for each day of actual service, not exceeding ten days for any arbitration, if such payment is approved in writing by the commissioners of the county or the council or the proper officer of the city.

SEC. 1073. Notice of strike to be given.—If it is made to appear to the mayor of a city or a probate judge of a county, that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened or has actually occurred in his vicinity, he shall immediately notify the State board of arbitration and conciliation of the fact, and state in the notice the name and location of the employer, the nature of the trouble and the number of employees involved, so far as such facts are known to him. If it comes to the knowledge of the State board by such notice or otherwise, that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened, or has actually occurred involving an employer and his present or past employees, the board as soon as practicable shall enter into communication with such employer and employees.

SEC. 1074. Conciliation.—In either case named in the preceding section, if practicable, the State board shall endeavor to effect an amicable settlement between the employer and his employees, otherwise it shall endeavor to persuade them to submit the matter in dispute to a local board of arbitration or to the State board. If it deems it advisable the State board may investigate the cause of such controversy and ascertain which party thereto is responsible for its existence or continuance. It may make and publish a report with a finding of the cause or causes, and the party or parties responsible therefor. If no settlement or arbitration is obtained because of the opposition of one of the parties to the controversy, an investigation and publication shall be made if requested by the other party. For the purposes named in this section the board shall have the same powers as are conferred upon it when an application is made as provided in the preceding sections.

SEC. 1075. Witness fees.—Each witness summoned by the State board of arbitration and conciliation shall be allowed fifty cents for each attendance and twenty-five cents for every hour of attendance in excess of two hours, together with five cents a mile for traveling each way from his place of employment or business to the place of the meeting of the board. Such witness must make a statement in writing of the number of miles traveled and his attendance. The State board shall certify the amount due him, and the auditor of the county in which the controversy or difference exists shall issue his warrant upon the county treasurer for the amount so certified. The expense of a publication authorized by the provisions of this chapter shall be certified and paid as provided for the payment of fees.

SEC. 1076. Apportionment of costs.—If a strike or lockout extends to several counties, the expenses incurred under such provisions not payable from the State treasury shall be apportioned among and paid by the counties in such manner as the State board directs.

SEC. 1077. Definitions.—The term "employer," as used in the provisions of this chapter, shall mean an individual, a copartnership or corporation employing not less than twenty-five persons in the same general line of business in this State. The term "employees" shall mean not less than twenty-five persons directly involved in a controversy or difference. Several employers cooperating with respect to any controversy or difference shall be included in the term "employer," and the term "employee" shall include aggregations of employees of several employers so cooperating.

NOTE.—The State board of arbitration and conciliation mentioned in this act has been superseded by the industrial commission: Sec. 871-1 et seq.

Occupational diseases—Reports

(Added 1913, p. 184)

SECTION 1243–1 (as amended 1919, p. 1129). Reports required.—Every physician in this State attending on or called in to visit a patient whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorous, arsenic, brass, wood alcohol, mercury, or their compounds, or from anthrax or from compressed air illness and such other occupational diseases and ailments as the State department of health shall require to be reported, shall within forty-eight hours from the time of first attending such patient send to the State commissioner of health a report stating:

(a) Name, address and occupation of patient.

(b) Name, address and business of employed [employer].

(c) Nature of disease.

(d) Such other information as may be reasonably required by the State department of health.

The reports herein required shall be made on, or in conformity with, the standard schedule blanks hereinafter provided for. The mailing of the report, within the time required, in a stamped envelope addressed to the office of the State commissioner of health, shall be a compliance with this section.

SEC. 1243–2 (as amended 1919, p. 1129). Blanks.—The State department of health shall prepare and furnish, free of cost, to the physicians included in the preceding section, standard schedule blanks for the reports required under this act. The form and contents of such blanks shall be determined by the State department of health.

SEC. 1243–3. Reports not evidence.—Reports made under this act shall not be evidence of the facts therein stated in any action arising out of the disease therein reported.

SEC. 1243–4 (as amended 1919, p. 1129). Transmission of reports.—It shall furthermore be the duty of the State department of health to transmit a copy of all such reports of occupational disease to the proper officials having charge of factory inspection.

SEC. 1243–5 (added 1919, p. 1129). Violations.—[Neglect or refusal to make the report subjects physicians to a fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment not over 90 days, or both; but no one shall be imprisoned for a first offense. A second or repeated offense must be alleged in the affidavit in order to base prosecution for such an offense.]

Suits for wages—Judgments not to be stayed

SECTION 1558–77a (added 1915, p. 365). Amount.—[A judgment for wages for manual labor not in excess of $100 is not subject to stay of execution.]

Industrial statistics—Duty of assessors

SECTION 3356. Information from manufacturers, etc.—Annually, at the time of taking the lists of personal property for taxation, the assessor shall require and take for each person, company and corporation in his township or precinct verified by oath, the statements for the preceding year following:

* * * * * * *

The number of bushels of stone coal mined; the number of persons engaged in mining stone coal, and the average rate of wages paid; the number of tons of iron ore mined; the number of persons engaged in mining iron ores, and the average rate of wages paid; * * *

The number of adult male persons engaged in each of the mechanic arts, and the average monthly or daily wages of each; the number of common laborers, and the average daily wages of each; the number of common farm laborers, and the average monthly wages of each; the average monthly wages paid to clerks and salesmen and saleswomen; the average monthly wages paid to bookkeepers.

SEC. 3359. Penalty for refusal.—Any person, company, or corporation, refusing to make out and deliver a statement of the facts, or any of them, herein required, shall forfeit and pay to the State not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars, * * *

Fire escapes, etc., on factories, etc.

Section 4658. Exits required.— If a factory, workshop, tenement house, inn, or public house is more than two stories high, the owner or agent of the owner shall provide convenient exits from the different upper stories thereof, which shall be easily accessible in case of fire, and the owner or person having control of an inn or public house where travelers or boarders are lodged above the second story thereof shall also provide a good rope or other life line for each sleeping room for guests above such story.

Sec. 4659. Life-saving devices.—The owner or agent of the owner of a factory, workshop, tenement house, inn, or public house, if it is more than three stories high, in addition to the provisions governing three-story buildings, shall provide a life-saving device or net, which shall be approved by the fire chief of the city, or village in which such building is situated, or if such building is situated outside of the city or village, such life-saving device or net shall be approved by the State inspector of workshops and factories. Such life-saving device or net shall be kept on the first floor at or near the entrance of the building.

Sec. 4660. Enforcement.—The mayor of each municipality shall require the owner or agent of the owner of such factory, workshop, tenement house, or inn or public house, within the meaning of the preceding two sections to comply with the requirements of such section within sixty days from the serving of a notice by the mayor so to do, unless such owner or agent for owner shall have previously complied with the requirements of such sections. Whoever being such owner or agent of owner fails to comply with the requirements of the preceding three sections within the time specified in such notice shall forfeit not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars for each month he so fails, to be recovered in the name of and for the use of such municipality in an action in the police court or other competent tribunal. Such owner or agent for owner may also be held for civil damages to the party injured.

Sec. 4661. Inspections.—The mayor of each municipality, personally, or by the marshal or chief of police thereof, or other proper person whom the mayor appoints acting under his direction, as inspector of fire escapes shall carefully examine such factories, workshops, tenement houses, inns or public houses once in each year, and report all violations of the preceding five sections to the council thereof, and thereupon proceedings shall be commenced against the person so offending. The mayor, marshal, or chief of police, or persons so appointed by the mayor to act as inspector of fire escapes, shall be entitled to receive for such notices and examination, such fees as the council may by ordinance provide.

Protection of employees as voters

Section 5175-26a (added 1917, p. 601). Employers not to interfere.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor to make, adopt or enforce any rule, regulation, or policy forbidding or preventing his employees, or any of them, from engaging or participating in politics or from becoming candidates or a candidate for public office, or controlling or directing, or tending to control or direct the political activities or affiliations of such employees or any of them; or to coerce or influence or attempt to coerce or influence such employees or any of them through or by means of threat of discharge or loss of employment to adopt or follow or refrain from adopting or following any particular course or line of political action or political activity.

Sec. 5175-26b. Violations.—Any employer violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not to exceed $1,000. In all prosecutions hereunder the person, firm, or corporation violating this act shall be held responsible for the acts of his or its managers, officers, agents and employees.

Sec. 5175-26c. Damages.—Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the injured employee from recovering damages from his employer for injury suffered through a violation of this act.

Hours of labor—General employment

Section 6241. Eight hours a day's work.—A day's work in a mechanical, manufacturing or mining business shall consist of eight hours and be so enforced unless the contract therefor expressly provides otherwise.

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

(As amended 1910, p. 195)

SECTION 6242. Who are fellow servants.—In all actions brought to recover from an employer for personal injuries suffered by his employee or for death resulting to such employee from such personal injuries, while in the employ of such employer, arising from the negligence of such employer or any of such employer's officers, agents, or employees, it shall be held in addition to the liability now existing by law that any person in the employ of such employer, in any way having power or authority in directing or controlling any other employee of such employer, is not the fellow servant, but superior to such other employee; any person in the employ of such employer in any way having charge or control of employees in any separate branch or department, shall be held to be the superior and not fellow servant of all employees in any other branch or department in which they are employed; any person in the employ of such employer whose duty it is to repair or inspect the ways, works, boats, wharves, plant, machinery, appliances or tools, in any way connected with or in any way used in the business of the employer or to receive, give or transmit any signal, instruction, or warning to or for such employees shall be held to be the superior and not fellow servant to such other employees of such employer.

SEC. 6243. Notice of defect.—If the employee of any such employer shall receive any personal injury by reason of any defect or unsafe condition in any ways, works, boats, wharves, plant, machinery, appliances or tools, except simple tools, in any way connected with or in any way used in the business of the employer, such employer shall be deemed to have had knowledge of such defect, before and at the time such injury was so sustained, and when the fact of such defect shall be made to appear upon trial of an action brought by such employee or his personal or legal representatives, against any such employer for damages, on account of such injuries so received, the same shall be prima facie evidence of neglect on the part of such employer; but the employer may show by way of defense that such defect was not discoverable in the exercise of ordinary care.

SEC. 6244. Injuries due to defects.—In all such actions the negligence of a fellow servant of the employee shall not be a defense where the injury or death was in any way caused or contributed to by any of the following causes, to wit: Any defect or unsafe condition in the ways, works, boats, wharves, plant, machinery, appliances or tools, except simple tools, in any way connected with or in any way used in the business of the employer; the negligence of any person engaged as superintendent, manager, foreman, inspector, repairman, signalman, or any person in any way having charge, care or control of such ways, works, boats, wharves, plant, machinery, appliances or tools; the negligence of any person in charge of or directing the particular work in which the employee was engaged at the time of the injury or death; the negligence of any person to whose orders the employee was bound to conform, and by reason of his having conformed thereto the injuries or death resulted; the negligent act of any fellow servant done in obedience to the immediate or peremptory instructions or orders given by the employer, or any person who has authority to direct the doing of said act; the want of necessary and sufficient rules and regulations for the government of such employees and the operation and maintenance of such ways, works, boats, wharves, plant, machinery, appliances or tools.

SEC. 6245. Assumption of risk.—In any such action when it shall appear that the injury or death was caused in whole or in part by any of the following, to wit: The neglect of such employer in failing to properly furnish, maintain, construct, guard, repair, inspect, or protect any of the ways, works, boats, wharves, plant, machinery, appliances or tools, in any way connected with or in any way used in the business of the employer, in any manner required by statute or law of the State or United States; any defective or unsafe condition in the ways, works, boats, wharves, plant, machinery, appliances or tools, except simple tools, in any way connected with or in any way used in the business, of the employer, the fact that such employee continued in said employment with knowledge of such negligent omission or want of care or such defective or unsafe condition shall not be a defense unless by the terms of his employment it was expressly made the duty of such employee to report such neglect or such defective or unsafe condition to the employer and the evidence discloses that such employee failed so to report, and that the employer was not otherwise possessed of knowledge of such negligent, unsafe or defective condition. Such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of the negligent act of any fellow servant or employee of such employer, done in obedience to the immediate or peremptory instructions or orders given by the employer, or any other person who has authority to direct the doing of said act; the want of necessary and sufficient rules and regulations or the lack of enforcement of same, for the government of such employees in the construction, operation and maintenance of such ways, works, boats, wharves, machinery, plant, appliances or tools, or the employing or retention of any incompetent servant.

SEC. 6245-1. Contributory negligence to be measured.—In all such actions hereafter brought, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery where his contributory negligence is slight and the negligence of the employer is gross in comparison. But the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held in any degree to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation of such employer of any statute or law of the State, or United States enacted for the safety of employees in any way contributed to the injury or death of such employee unless by the terms of his employment it was expressly made the duty of such employee to report such volation [violation] to the employer and the evidence shows that such employee failed so to report and that the employer was not possessed of knowledge of such violation. All questions of negligence, contributory negligence, and assumption of risk, shall be for the jury, under the instruction of the court.

SEC. 6245-2. Children unlawfully employed.—In all such actions where a minor employee has been employed or retained in employment contrary to any statute or law of the State or United States, such employee shall not be deemed or held to have been guilty of contributory negligence, nor to have assumed any of the risks of such employment; but the employer may show by way of defense any fraud or misrepresentation made by such employee.

SEC. 6245-3. Waivers.—In all such actions any contract, rule, regulation or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any employer to exempt himself or itself from any liability created by this act, shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any employer under or by virtue of any other provisions of this act, such employer may set off therein, any sum he or it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

Employment of women and children

SECTION 6246. Power of inspectors.—A child working in or in connection with a factory, workshop, business office, telephone or telegraph office, restaurant, bakery, hotel, apartment house, mercantile or other establishment, or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages, who appears to the inspector of workshops and factories to be under the legal age or refuses to give to such inspector his or her name, age, and place of residence, shall be forthwith conducted by such inspector to the office of the judge of the juvenile or probate court for examination. If such inspector is in doubt as to the physical fitness of a boy under sixteen years of age or a girl under eighteen years of age found working in or in connection with any of such establishments or in the distribution or transmission of merchandise or messages, he shall require a certificate signed by a medical officer of the board of health certifying that such child is of sound health and physically able to perform the work or service such child is required to do. Such certificate shall be signed by the child in whose name it is issued in the presence of the officer issuing it, and such examination shall be made and certificate issued without expense to said child.

SEC. 6247. Female visitors.—The chief inspector of workshops and factories, with the approval of the governor, shall designate eight female visitors and make such rules and regulations for their direction and guidance as shall secure uniformity of action and proceedings throughout the State. Such visitors shall receive like compensation as the district inspectors of workshops and factories, payable in a like manner. The necessary traveling expenses incurred by such visitors shall be paid in a like manner and subject to like limitations as is provided by law for such district inspectors.

SEC. 6248. Duties of visitors.—Such visitors, as provided in the next preceding section, shall visit all shops and factories in their respective districts in which women or children are employed, including mercantile establishments, as often as possible, to see that the provisions and requirements of the laws relating to the employment of women and children are strictly observed and carried out. They shall carefully inspect the sanitary condition of and examine the system of sewage in connection with such shops, factories, and establishments, the situations and conditions of water-closets or urinals in and about such shops, factories, and establishments for the use of women or children, and also the system of heating, lighting, and ventilating all rooms therein and the means of exit therefrom in case of fire or other disaster; and also all belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums, and machinery in and about such shops, factories, and establishments, and see that they are not located so as to be dangerous to such women or children when engaged in their ordinary duties and, as far as practicable, are securely guarded and that every vat, pan, or structure filled with molten metal or hot liquid is surrounded with proper safeguards for preventing accident or injury to women or children employed therein; and that such shops, factories, and establishments are in proper sanitary condition and adequately provided with means of escape in case of fire or other disaster.

SEC. 6249. Same subject.—Such visitors may enter all shops, factories, and mercantile establishments, including public institutions of the State which have shops and factories or either, at any reasonable time for the purpose of making the inspection provided in the next preceding section. If they find upon such inspection that any of the provisions of law relating to buildings, factories, or the employment of women or children are being violated or that the heating, lighting, ventilating, or sanitary arrangements for women and children of a shop, factory, or mercantile establishment are such as to be injurious to the health of such women or children employed or residing therein, they shall notify the chief inspector of workshops and factories, who may notify the owner, proprietor, or agent of such shop, factory, or mercantile establishment, as provided by law, and may proceed to prosecute such violation of law.

Occupational diseases—Sanitation of factories, etc.

(Added 1913, p. 819)

SECTION 6330-1 (as amended 1921, p. 181). Preventive methods.—Every employer shall, without cost to the employees, provide reasonably effective devices, means, and methods to prevent the contraction by his employees of illness or disease incident to the work or process in which such employees are engaged.

SEC. 6330-2. Dangerous processes.—Every work or process in the manufacture of white lead, red lead, litharge, sugar of lead, arseuate of lead, lead chromate, lead sulphate, lead nitrate or fluosilicate, is hereby declared to be especially dangerous to the health of the employees, who, while engaged in such work or process, are exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions.

SEC. 6330-3. Safety appliances.—Every employer shall, without cost to the employees, provide the following devices, means, and methods for the protection of his employees who, while engaged in any work or process included in section 2, are exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes or lead solutions:

(a) Lighting, ventilation, etc.—The employer shall provide and maintain workrooms adequately lighted and ventilated, and so arranged that there is a continuous and sufficient change of air, and all such rooms shall be fully ventilated and separated by partition walls from all departments in which the work or process is of a noudusty character; and all such rooms shall be provided with a floor permitting an easy removal of dust by wet methods or vacuum cleaning, and all such floors shall be so cleaned daily.

Every work or process referred to in section 2, including the corroding or oxidizing of lead, and the crushing, mixing, sifting, grinding, and packing of all lead salts or other compounds referred to in section 2, shall be so conducted and such adequate devices provided and maintained by the employer as to protect the employee, as far as possible, from contact with lead dust or lead fumes. Every kettle, vessel, receptacle, or furnace in which lead in any form referred to in section 2 is being melted or treated, and any place where the contents of such kettles, receptacles, or furnaces are discharged, shall be provided with a hood connected with an efficient air exhaust; all vessels or containers in which dry lead, in any chemical form or combination referred to in section 2, is being conveyed from one place to another within the factory shall be equipped, at the places where the same are filled or discharged with hoods having connection with an efficient air exhaust; and all hoppers, chutes, conveyors, elevators, separators, vents from separators, dumps, pulverizers, chasers, dry pans, or other apparatus for drying pulp lead, dry-pans dump, and all barrel packers and cars or other receptacles into which corrosions are at the time being emptied shall be connected with an efficient dust-collecting system; such system to be regulated by the discharge of air from a fan, pump, or other apparatus, either through a cloth dust collector having an area of not less than one-half square foot of cloth to every cubic foot of air passing through it per minute, the dust collector to be placed in a separate room which no employee shall be required or allowed to enter, except for essential repairs, while the works are in operation; or such other apparatus as will efficiently remove the lead dusts from the air before it is discharged into the outer air.

(b) Wash rooms.—[Employer to provide suitable wash rooms, fully equipped with lavatory basins and shower baths. Employer to keep a record of baths taken, record to be open to inspection of State board of health.]

(c) Dressing rooms.—The employer shall provide a dressing room or rooms which shall be separate from the workrooms, be furnished with a double sanitary locker or two single sanitary lockers for each such employee and be kept clean.

(d) Separate rooms for meals.—The employer shall provide an eating room or eating rooms which shall be separate from the workrooms, be furnished with a sufficient number of tables and seats, and be kept clean. No employee shall take or be allowed to take any food or drink of any kind into any workroom, nor shall any employee remain or be allowed to remain in any workroom during the time allowed for his meals.

(e) Drinking fountains.—The employer shall provide and maintain a sufficient number of sanitary drinking fountains readily accessible for the use of the employees.

(f) Clothing.—The employer shall provide at least two pairs of overalls and two jumpers for each employee, and repair or renew such clothing when necessary, and wash the same weekly. Such clothing shall be kept exclusively for the use of that employee.

(g) Respirators.—The employer shall provide, and renew when necessary, at least two reasonably effective respirators for each employee who is engaged in any work or process which produces lead dusts.

SEC. 6330–4. Duties of employees.—Every employee who, while engaged in any work or process included in section 2, is exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions, shall:

(a) Use the washing facilities provided by the employer in accord with section 3 (b) and wash himself at least as often as a time allowance is therein granted for such use.

(b) Use the eating room provided by the employer in accord with section 3 (d), unless the employee goes off the premises for his meals.

(c) Put on and wear at all times while engaged in accord with section 3 (f) and remove the same before leaving at the close of the day's work; and keep his street clothes and his working clothes, when not in use, in separate lockers or separate parts of the locker provided by the employer in accord with section 3 (c).

(d) Keep clean the respirators provided by the employer in accord with section 3 (g), and use one at all time [times] while he is engaged in any work or process which produces lead dusts.

SEC. 6330–5. Instructions to be posted.—The employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every workroom where any work or process included in section 2 is carried on, room where washing facilities are provided, dressing rooms, and eating room. A notice of the known dangers arising from such work or process, and simple instructions for avoiding, as far as possible, such dangers. The (chief State factory inspector) shall prepare a notice containing the provision[s] of this act, and shall furnish, free of cost, a reasonable number of copies thereof to every employer included in section 2, and the employer shall post copies thereof in the manner hereinabove stated. The notices required in this section shall be printed in plain type on cardboard, and shall be in English and in such other languages as the circumstances may reasonably require. The contents of such notices shall be explained to every employee by the employer when the said employee enters employment in such work or process, and in addition shall be read to all employees at least once a month, interpreters being provided by the employer when necessary to carry out the above requirements.

SEC. 6330–6. Medical examinations.—The employer shall cause every employee who, while engaged in any work or process included in section 2, is exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes or lead solutions, to be examined at least once a month for the purpose of ascertaining if symptoms of lead poisoning appear in any employee. The employee shall submit himself to the monthly examination and to examination at such other times and places as he may reasonably be requested by the employer, and he shall fully and truly answer all questions bearing on lead poisoning asked him by the examining physician. The examinations shall be made by a licensed physician, designated and paid by the employer, and shall be made during the working hours, a time allowance therefor, at the employer's expense, being made to each employee so examined.

SEC. 6330–7. Records and reports.—Every physician making any examination under section 6 and finding what he believes to be symptoms of lead poisoning shall enter, in a book to be kept for that purpose in the office of the employer, a record of such examination containing the names [name] and address of the employee so examined, the particular work or process in which he is engaged, the date, place and finding of such examination, and the directions given in each case by the physician. The record shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by the (State department of factory inspection) and by the (State board of health).

Within forty-eight hours after such examination and finding, the examining physician shall send a report thereof in duplicate, one copy to the (State department of factory inspection) and one to the (State board of health). The report shall be open or in conformity with blanks to be prepared and furnished by the (State board of health), free of cost, to every employer included in section 2, and shall state:

(a) Name, occupation and address of employee.

(b) Name, business and address of employer.

(c) Nature and probable extent of disease.

(d) Such other information as may be reasonably required by the (State board of health).

The examining physician shall also, within the said forty-eight hours, report such examination and finding to the employer, and after five days from such report the employer shall not continue the said employee in any work or process where he will be exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes or lead solutions, nor return the said employee to such work or process without a written permit from a licensed physician.

SEC. 6330–8. Enforcement.—The (State department of factory inspection) shall enforce this act and prosecute all violations of the same. The officers, or their agents, of the said (department) shall be allowed at all reasonable times to inspect any place of employment included in this act.

SEC. 6330–9. Violations.—[Violations of sections 1 or 3 are punishable by fines, $100 to $200 for first offense; $200 to $500 for the second offense; and $300 to $1,000 for each subsequent offense. Penalties for violation of section 4 are $10 to $25 for first offense; $20 to $50 for the second offense; and $30 to $100 for each subsequent offense; of sections 5, 6, or 7, $10 to $100.]

SEC. 6330–10. Definition.—In this act, unless the context otherwise requires, "employer" includes persons, partnerships, and corporations.

Accident prevention—Instruction of children

(Added 1913, p. 134)

SECTIONS 7724–1, 7724–2. Duty of teachers.—[All teachers in the public schools must give instruction on accident prevention for 30 minutes each month. A manual is to be prepared by the State superintendent of public instruction for the purpose.]

Employment of children—General provisions

(As amended 1921, p. 376)

SECTION 7765. Certificates required.—[Minors of compulsory school age (6 to 18) may not be employed without an age and schooling certificate, to be kept on file at the place of employment. Such certificate is conclusive evidence of age and of the employer's right to employ the minor in permitted occupations. Notice to the school authorities that a child has left a position renders the certificate void.]

SEC. 7765–1. Employment by parents.—[A parent or guardian employing a child of compulsory school age must procure and keep on file a certificate, but need not procure a vacation permit for employment by him personally.]

SEC. 7765–2. Irregular service.—[Certificates are not required for irregular service in nonprohibited employments. Irregular service means service not involving confinement or continuous physical strain, in which there are periods of rest or recreation, and does not exceed 4 hours per day or 24 hours per week. Classification is determined by the health commissioner of the district.]

SEC. 7766. Issue of certificates.—[Age and schooling certificates are issued by the local school authorities on a showing of age (over 16), of completion of the seventh grade of school, and that the employment contemplated is not unlawful.]

SEC. 7766–1. Conditions.—[Certificates issue on written pledge of the employer to legally employ the child and to retain the certificate or give notice of nonuse at close of employment, presentation of school record, evidence of age, and medical certificate of fitness for work. This last may be limited to a specific employment, where a child lacks standard ability.]

SECS. 7766–2 to 7766–5. Same.—[Reissue of certificates requires only the employer's pledge and the medical certificate. An examiner may be appointed to test the educational attainments of applicants. Children whose mental development is below normal may be granted "retarded" certificates. Records must be kept of all facts contained in the certificates issued, also of certificates refused.]

SEC. 7766–6. Vacation certificates.—[Certificates for vacation employment of children 14 to 18 years of age may be issued without regard to educational attainments.]

SEC. 7766–7. Records.—[School authorities must supply the school records desired by any child within two days after application.]

SEC. 7766–8. Conditional certificates.—[Children of 16 who are mentally capable, but are not able to pass the educational test, may be granted conditional certificates on a showing of prescribed facts and on condition of a promise to attend part time or evening classes or both.]

SEC. 7766–9. Special certificates.—[Children over 14 may be granted special certificates permitting employment outside of school hours, or on alternate days, weeks, or periods, where part-time schools are provided. School and work hours combined may not exceed 9 per day.]

SECS. 7767 to 7767–2. Part-time attendance.—[All children holding certificates must attend part-time schools, if provided, until the age of compulsory school attendance is reached.]

SEC. 7770. Enforcement.—[Attendance officers may enter places of employment of children for the purpose of enforcing the law as to school attendance and employment.]

SEC. 7770–1. Over-age certificates.—[Any person over 18 who believes that he is likely to be taken for less than 18 may obtain from the superintendent of schools an over-age certificate. Holders of age and schooling certificates who reach the age of 18 may retain such certificates as proof of age.]

SEC. 7771. Enforcement.—[Attendance officers must institute proceedings against violators of the law as to school attendance and the employment of children and are to cooperate with the industrial commission of the State in enforcement work.]

SEC. 7777. Indigent children.—[Children found unable to attend school by reason of the necessity of their work for the support of themselves or others may receive public assistance for themselves and dependents to enable school attendance, and shall not for such aid be classed as paupers.]

Railroads—Wires crossing tracks

SECTIONS 8975, 8976. Height, etc.—[Telegraph and other wires crossing railroad tracks must be hung upon poles at least 12 inches in diameter at bottom and 6 at top, set in the earth one-sixth of their length, and braced if there is side strain. Wires must be well insulated, securely fastened, and at least 25 feet above tracks. Trolley wires may be of an agreed height, approved by the railroad commission, which is also charged with enforcing the law.]

Street, etc., railways—Seats for employees

(Added 1917, p. 590)

SECTION 9007–1. Seats to be provided.—It shall be unlawful to operate in Ohio any electric, street, or interurban railroad car unless it be provided at all times during operation with seats for the motorman and conductor.

SECS. 9007–2, 9007–3. Violations; enforcement.—[Penalties for violation of the foregoing section are fines, $50 to $100, or imprisonment ten to thirty days, each day each car is used being an offense. County prosecuting attorneys must prosecute violations.]

Railroads—Safety appliances

SECTION 9009 (as amended 1910, p. 325). Sufficient blocking required.—Every railroad corporation operating a railroad or part of a railroad within this State shall adjust, fill, or block all angles in frogs, switches, and crossings on its road and in its yards, divisional and terminal stations where trains are made up with sheet steel, wrought or malleable iron, or other metallic appliances, which shall be so placed and be of such design as will prevent the wedging of the feet of employees and other persons in such angles; and all such appliances or devices shall before installations be approved by the State railroad commission.

SEC. 9009–1. Violations.—[Violation is punishable by a fine of $25 for each day of such violation.]

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees—Relief funds

SECTION 9010. Waivers forbidden.—No company created, under and by virtue of the laws of this State or of any other State or country, having and operating a line of railway in this State, shall establish, maintain, or assist in establishing or maintaining a relief association or society, the rules or by-laws of which require of a person or employee becoming a member thereof to enter into an agreement or stipulation, directly or indirectly, whereby he stipulates or agrees to surrender or waive a right of damages against any railroad company for personal injuries or death, or to surrender or waive, in case he asserts such claim for damages, any right whatever.

SEC. 9011. Rules, etc., operating as waivers.—No railroad corporation or company owning and operating or operating a railroad shall adopt or promulgate a rule or regulation for the government of its servants or employees, or make or enter into an agreement with a person engaged in or about to engage in its service, wherein such employee in any manner promises or agrees to hold such corporation or company harmless on account of an injury he may receive by reason of accident to, breakage, defect, or insufficiency in the cars or machinery and attachments thereto belonging on cars owned, operated, or run by such corporation or company being defective.

SEC. 9012. Membership in association not to be compulsory.—No corporation directly or indirectly shall compel or require an employee to join any company or association whatsoever, or withhold any part of an employee's wages or his salary for the payment of dues or assessments in any society or organization or demand or require either as a condition precedent to securing employment or being employed. Such railroad company shall not discharge an employee because he refuses or neglects to become a member of any society or organization. If an employee is discharged at any time within ten days after receiving a notice thereof, he may demand the reason of such discharge, and the railroad company thereupon must give the reason to him in writing.

SEC. 9013. Waivers not to be demanded by society.—No railroad company insurance society or association, or other person shall demand, accept, or enter into an agreement or stipulation with a person about to enter, or in the employ of a railroad company whereby he stipulates or agrees to surrender or waive any right to damages against a railroad company, thereafter arising for personal injury or death, or whereby he agrees to surrender or waive in case he asserts such right, any other right.

SEC. 9014. Agreements void.—All rules, regulations, stipulations and agreements, declared unlawful by the next three preceding sections, are void. A corporation, association or person violating, or aiding or abetting the violation of either of such sections, for each offense shall forfeit and pay to the person thus wronged or deprived of his rights thereunder, not less than fifty nor over five hundred dollars, to be recovered by a civil action.

SEC. 9015. Operation of defective apparatus.—No railroad corporation knowingly or negligently shall use or operate a car or locomotive that is defective, or upon which the machinery or attachments thereto belonging are in any manner defective. If an employee of such corporation receives injury by reason of a defect in a car or locomotive, or the machinery or attachments thereto belonging, owned and operated, or being operated by such corporation, it shall be deemed to have had knowledge of such defect before and at the time such injury is so sustained. When such defect is made to appear in the trial of any action brought by such employee, or his legal representative, against a railroad corporation for damages on account of injuries so received, that fact shall be prima facie evidence of negligence on the part of such corporation.

SEC. 9016. Fellow servants defined.—In actions against a railroad company for personal injury to a person while in its employ, or for death resulting from such injury, arising from the negligence of such company, or any of its officers or employees, in addition to other liability, it shall be held that every person in the employ of such company, with actual power or authority to direct or control another employee thereof is not the fellow servant, but superior of such other employee. Every person, also, in the employ of such company who has charge or control of employees in a separate branch or department, is to be held to be the superior and not fellow servant of employees in another branch or department, who have no power to direct or control in the branch or department in which they are employed.

SEC. 9017. Company's liability.—Every railroad company operating a railroad which in whole or part is within this State shall be liable for all damages sustained by any of its employees by reason of personal injury or death of such employee:

1. Defects.—When such injury or death is caused by a defect in any locomotive, engine, car, hand car, rail, track, machinery or appliance required by such company to be used by its employees in and about the business of their employment, if such defect could have been discovered by reasonable and proper care, tests or inspection. Proof of such defect shall be presumptive evidence of knowledge thereof on the part of such company. An employee of such railroad company who is injured or killed as a result of such a defect, shall not be deemed to have assumed the risk occasioned thereby, although continuing in the employment of the company after knowledge of the defect; nor shall continuance in employment after such knowledge by an employee be deemed an act of contributory negligence.

2. Negligence of other employees.—While such employee is engaged in operating, running, riding upon or switching passenger, freight or other trains, engines or cars, and in the performance of his duties, and when such injury was caused by the carelessness or negligence of any other employee, officer or agent of such company, in the discharge of or for failure to discharge his duties as such.

SEC. 9018. Contributory negligence to be measured.—In all actions hereafter brought against a railroad company operating a railroad in whole or part within this State, for personal injury to an employee or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that he was guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery when such negligence was slight and that of the employer greater in comparison. But the damages must be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee. All questions of negligence and contributory negligence shall be for the jury.

Street, etc., railways—Safety appliances

SECTION 9149–1 (as amended 1921, p. 142). Power brakes.—From and after January 1, 1924, it shall be unlawful in the State of Ohio for any corporation, company, person or persons owning or controlling the same, to operate, use, or run or permit to be run, used, or operated for carrying passengers or freight on an urban or interurban railroad or street car line any car propelled by electricity or any car, cars, or train of cars drawn by any car or cars propelled by electricity not equipped, in addition to the hand brake in use on such car, cars, or train of cars, with an air or electric power brake so that the same can be operated and controlled by the motorman in charge of and operating such car, cars, or train of cars.

It shall be the duty of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to enforce this act.

Liability of employers for injury to employees—Insurance

(Added 1910, p. 192)

SECTION 9510–1. Rights subrogated.—An employee who has heretofore recovered or shall hereafter recover against his employer for injuries sustained while in the employ of his employer and because of negligence of the employer, or negligence for which he or it is liable, shall be subrogated to all the rights of the employer under any contract or policy of insurance against loss or damage resulting to said employer from injury or death of an employee while in the service of such employer, whether said person, copartnership, or corporation contracting or issuing such policy of insurance has been made a party to the action for damages sustained or not.

NOTE.—The provisions of this section become a part of every contract of insurance as fully as if written therein. Verducci v. Casualty Co. (1917), 117 N. E. 235.

SEC. 9510–2. Fatal cases.—In case of the death of any employee by reason of the wrongful or negligent acts of his employer, or negligence or wrongful acts for which he is liable, then the personal representative or representatives of the deceased employee shall have all the rights and remedies that the employee would have had hereunder had death not resulted.

Exemption of wages from attachment

SECTION 10253. Amount.—[Personal earnings for 3 months preceding action are exempt from attachment unless the defendant is not the head or support of a family or the earnings exceed $150, and then only as to the excess over that amount; if the claim is for necessaries, ten per cent of the earnings may be attached.]

Suits for wages

SECTION 10403. Stay of judgment.—[No stay of execution is allowed where a judgment is for wages owed for manual labor.]

SEC. 10714. Preference in administration.—[Wage debts rank next after expenses of funeral, last sickness and administration, allowance to widow and children, debts preferred under laws of the United States, and public rates and taxes and sums due the State for duties on sales at auction. The preference extends to wages not exceeding $150 earned in the 12 months preceding the employee's death.]

SEC. 11725. Exemption in execution.—[Heads of families and widows may hold exempt from execution or similar process personal earnings of themselves and minor children for 3 months, if it appears that the same are required for the support of the family. If the debt is for necessaries, 90 per cent is exempt.]

SEC. 11761. Suits for railroad laborers' wages.—[Where a judgment for wages due railroad laborers has been obtained the clerk of the court having jurisdiction may, on due process, issue a writ directing debtors of the railroad company to turn over to the officer holding the judgment money or other property of such company in their possession in an amount sufficient to pay such judgment and costs.]

SEC. 11781. [This section is in effect the same as sec. 11725, above.]

SEC. 11819. Attachment.—[An attachment of the defendant's property may be had on a showing in a civil suit that the action is to recover a debt due for work or labor.]

Railroad employees—Color blindness—Illiteracy

SECTION 12548. Color blindness.—Whoever, being a railroad company, contracts to employ a person in a position which requires him to distinguish form or color signals, unless within two years next preceding such date he has been examined for color blindness in the distinct colors in actual use by such company by a competent person employed and paid by it and has received a certificate that he is not disqualified for such position by color blindness in the colors used by it or fails to require such person to be re-examined at least once each two years at the expense of such company, shall be fined one hundred dollars. This section shall not prevent a railroad company from continuing in its employment an employee having defective sight when such defective sight can be fully remedied by the use of glasses or by other means satisfactory to the person making such examination.

SEC. 12551. Inability to read, etc.—Whoever, owning, operating or controlling a railroad, employs as a flagman, hostler or assistant hostler, a person who can not read, write and speak the English language, shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars. This section shall not apply to flagmen at street or highway crossings.

Railroads—Safe clearance along roadway

SECTION 12552. Mail cranes, etc.—Whoever, owning, operating or controlling a railroad, erects or permits to be erected, places or maintains along the line of said railroad, a mail crane or livestock chute any portion of which approaches nearer than eighteen inches to the nearest point of contact with the cab of the widest locomotive used on such railroad, shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars.

Railroads—Interference with operation

SECTION 12560–1. Tampering with brakes, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person to injure, destroy, or interfere in any manner with the proper and efficient operation of any brake, air brake, coupler, grab iron, handhold, drawbar or any other safety device used on any common carrier or to steal, remove, injure, destroy, or otherwise interfere with any part of any engine, car or safety device used by any common carrier, in such manner as to cause danger to life and property in the operation of such engine, car, or device.

SEC. 12560–2. Signaling device.—It shall be unlawful for any person to injure or destroy any signal wire, light, telephone, telegraph or other device for signaling in use by any common carrier or any other apparatus connected with the same or to tamper with the same in any manner, and it shall be unlawful for any person in charge of or operating any such signaling device to give any signals with any such device with intent to bring any railway employee, engine, or train into danger.

SEC. 12560–3. Violation.—[Violation of this act or permitting any violation is punishable by fine, $50 to $500; imprisonment, 30 to 90 days, may be added.]

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 12563, 12564. Inexperienced miners.—[Miners working alone in coal mines generating fire damp, gas or combustible matter without producing satisfactory evidence of at least one year's practical experience must be fined not less than $25 nor more than $200. Mine bosses are subject to a similar penalty if they employ a miner not duly qualified, unless accompanied by a competent coal miner.]

Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 12576. Neglect to place counterfloors.—Whoever, being the owner, lessee, agent, factor, architect or contractor engaged in and having supervision or charge of the building, erection or construction of a block, building or structure, neglects or refuses to place or have placed upon the joists of each story thereof, as soon as joists are in position, counterfloor of such quality and strength as to render perfectly safe the going to and from thereon of all mechanics, laborers and other persons engaged upon the work of construction, supervision or in placing materials therefor, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

SEC. 12577 (as amended 1911, p. 450). Continued refusal.—Each day that such person neglects or refuses to have such counterfloors so placed, after notice given by a building inspector, a chief inspector or deputy inspector of the city building inspection departments in cities where such department is organized, or by the chief inspector or deputy inspector of workshops and factories of the State, in cities where such departments are not organized, or from a person whose life or personal safety may be endangered by such neglects or refusal, shall be a separate offense.

SEC. 12593 (as amended 1911, p. 114). Scaffolding, etc.—Whoever, employing or directing another to do or perform labor in erecting, repairing, altering or painting a house, building or other structure, knowingly or negligently furnishes, erects or causes to be furnished for erection for and in the performance of said labor unsuitable or improper scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances which will not give proper protection to the life and limb of a person so employed or engaged, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than three months, or both.

SEC. 12594. Safety rails.—If such scaffolding or staging as described in the next preceding section, swung or suspended from an overhead support or supports, is more than twenty feet from the ground floor it shall not be deemed to give proper protection to the life and limb of persons employed or engaged thereon unless, when in use, it has a safety rail rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portion extending along the outside thereof, and properly attached thereto, and is provided with braces strong enough to sustain the weight of a man's body against it and to prevent such scaffolding or staging from swaying from the building or structure.

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTION 12788 (as amended 1919, p. 161). Screen; warmth.—[Electric cars other than trail cars must be equipped with a screen of glass or other material so as to protect motormen, etc., from dust, wind and storm from November of each year to April 15 next succeeding. A temperature of not less than 60° Fahrenheit must be maintained within the space behind such screen. Violation entails a fine of from $25 to $100 for each day of continuance.]

Exemption of wages—Unlawful assignment of claims

SECTIONS 12862, 12863 (both as amended 1911, p. 114). Assignment or purchase.—[Anyone selling or assigning a claim against a resident of the State for collection outside the State for the purpose of evading the exemption laws of the State, or anyone purchasing such claim, shall be fined not less than $20 nor more than $50.]

SEC. 12865. Relief.—[A person whose personal earnings have been attached in violation of the foregoing section may recover the amount, with costs, in an action against either the assignor or the purchaser.]

Protection of employees as traders—Payment of wages

SECTION 12944. Coercion in trading.—Whoever compels, seeks to compel or attempts to coerce an employee of himself or another, to purchase goods or supplies from a particular person, firm, or corporation, shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than sixty days or both.

SEC. 12945. Sales of goods by employer.—Whoever sells goods or supplies to his employee, or pays such employee wages or a part thereof in goods or supplies, directly or through the intervention of scrip, orders or other evidence of indebtedness, at higher prices than the reasonable or current market value in cash of such goods or supplies, or, without an express contract with his employee, deducts or retains the wages of such employee, or a part thereof, for ware, tools or machinery destroyed or damaged, shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than sixty days or both.

SEC. 12946. Double liability.—A person violating either of the next two preceding sections shall also be liable to the party aggrieved in double the amount of charges made for such ware, tools and machinery, or for the amount received for such goods or supplies in excess of the reasonable or current market value in cash thereof.

SEC. 12946–1 (added 1913, p. 154). Semimonthly pay day.—Every individual, firm, company, copartnership, association or corporation doing business in the State of Ohio, who employ five or more regular employees shall on or before the first day of each month pay all their employees engaged in the performance of either manual or clerical labor the wages earned by them during the first half of the preceding month ending with the fifteenth day thereof, and shall on or before the fifteenth day of each month pay such employees the wages earned by them during the last half of the preceding calendar month: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment an employee shall be absent from his or her regular place of labor and shall not receive his or her wages through a duly authorized representative, such person shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter upon demand upon the proper paymaster at the place where such wages are usually paid and where such pay is due: Provided, Nothing herein contained shall be construed to interfere with the daily or weekly payment of wages.

SEC. 12946–2 (added 1913, p. 154.) Waivers forbidden.—No such corporation, contractor, person or partnership shall by a special contract with an employee or by any other means exempt himself or itself from the provisions of this act [12946–1 to 12946–2], and no assignments of future wages, payable semimonthly under these provisions shall be valid, but nothing in this act [12946–1 to 12946–2] shall prohibit the assignment by an employee of ten per centum of his personal earnings, earned or unearned, to apply on a debt for necessaries. Whoever violates the provisions of this act [12946–1 to 12946–2] shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 12947. Enforcement.—The prosecuting attorney, upon complaint made to him of a violation of sections twelve thousand nine hundred and forty-four or twelve thousand nine hundred and forty-five, shall cause such complaint to be investigated before the grand jury.

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 12951. Intimidation, etc.—Whoever uses or threatens to use force, violence or restraint, or inflicts or threatens to inflict injury, damage, harm or loss upon, or threatens to enforce the payment of a debt against, or begins a criminal prosecution against, or injures the business or trade of, or practices intimidation upon or against a person in order to induce or compel such person to vote or refrain from voting, or to vote or refrain from voting for a particular candidate, or, being an employer of laborers or an agent of such employer, does any of such acts or threatens to withhold or reduce the wages of, or to dismiss from service an employee in order to induce or compel such employee to vote or refrain from voting for a particular candidate at an election, or, by duress, constraint or improper influence, or by a fraudulent or improper device or contrivance, impedes, prevents or interferes with the free exercise of the elective franchise by an elector, shall be fined not more than two thousand dollars or imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years, or both.

Discharge of railroad employees—Hearings

(Added 1917, p. 603)

SECTION 12956–1. Hearings to be granted.—It shall be unlawful for any steam railroad company, its superintendent or manager thereof, employing any special agent, detective, or person commonly known as "spotter" for the purpose of investigating, obtaining and reporting to the employer, its agent, superintendent or manager, information concerning its employees, to discipline or discharge any employee in its service, where such act of discipline or the discharge is based upon a report by such special agent, detective or spotter which report involves a question of integrity, honesty or a breach of rules of the employer, unless such employer, its agent, superintendent or manager, shall, before disciplining or discharging such employee, grant to him a fair opportunity to be heard in defense or explanation of the complaint against him, at which hearing said employer shall state specific charges on which said act or discharge is based and at which said accused employee shall have the right to furnish testimony in his defense.

SEC. 12956–2. Violations.—[Violation entails a fine, $50 to $300, or imprisonment not more than one year, or both; imprisonment to be imposed upon officers committing offense.]

Employment of children

SECTION 12968 (as amended 1913, p. 864). Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[Hiring, employing, letting, or using any child under 14 as a rope walker, singer, beggar, etc., is forbidden. For text of similar law see Code of Delaware, sec. 2223.]

SEC. 12972. Unhealthful or immoral employments.—[Willfully causing or permitting a child under 16 to be endangered in life, health, or morals entails a fine of from $10 to $50, or imprisonment not less than 30 nor more than 90 days.]

SEC. 12973. Enforcement.—[Enforcement of the foregoing section rests with the State inspector of workshops and factories.]

SECS. 12976–12979 (all as amended 1921, p. 376). Violations.—[The employment of a child under 18 without keeping on file the required certificate, or failing to return such certificate within two days after termination of employment, or refusing inspection of employment conditions or of certificates is punishable by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $50. Violations by officers or agents of corporations and the refusal of certificates by school authorities are similarly punishable. Failure to produce a certificate for inspection is prima facie evidence of illegal employment.]

SEC. 12984 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Second offenses.—[For a second conviction for violating the child labor law, unless otherwise provided, the penalty is a fine of from $20 to $200 or imprisonment not over 30 days, or both; and for a third offense, $30 to $500 fine or not over 60 days' imprisonment, or both.]

SEC. 12987 (as amended 1921, p. 376). False statements as to age.—[Applicants for employment who falsely state their age for the purpose of evading the laws regulating the employment of minors shall be punished by a fine of from $20 to $50, or imprisonment not over 30 days.]

SEC. 12988 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Same.—[If a person falsely swears he is 21 or over, the employer is relieved from the provisions of sec. 6245–2, as to employers' liability.]

SEC. 12989. Retaining wages.—Whoever, being a person, officer or agent of a company or corporation doing business in this State, retains or withholds from a minor in his employ the wages or compensation, or a part thereof, agreed to be paid and due such minor for work performed or services rendered, because of presumed negligence or failure to comply with rules, breakage of machinery or alleged incompetence to produce work or perform labor according to any standard of merit, shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months, or both.

SEC. 12990. Accepting guarantics, etc.—Whoever, being a person, officer or agent of a company or corporation, receives a guaranty, bonus, money deposit or other form of security to obtain or secure employment for a minor or to insure faithful performance of labor, guarantee strict observance of rules or make good losses which may be charged to such minor's incompetence, negligence or inability, shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months, or both.

SEC. 12991. Employment without agreement as to wages.—Whoever, being a person, officer or agent of a company or corporation, gives employment to a minor, without agreeing with him as to the wages or compensation he shall receive for each day, week, month or year, or per piece, for work performed and without furnishing such minor with written evidence of such agreement and, on or before each pay day, with a statement of the earnings due and the amount thereof to be paid to him or changes the wages or compensation of a minor without giving him notice thereof at least twenty-four hours previous to its going into effect, when a written agreement thereof shall be given to such minor as for an original employment, shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months, or both.

SEC. 12992. Enforcement.—The inspector of workshops and factories shall enforce the provisions of the next three preceding sections.

SEC. 12993 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Age limit.—[The employment of a child under 16 is forbidden in mills, factories, workshops, mercantile or mechanical establishments, oil wells or pumping stations, canneries, tenement houses, garment making or millinery establishments, offices, hotels, restaurants, bakeries, barber shops, laundries, garages, places of amusement, bootblack stands, as drivers or chauffeurs, in brick, coal or lumber yards, construction work or in transporting merchandise. No boy under 16 nor female under 21 may deliver messages. Holders of vacation or special certificates are exempt from the above, except as to females delivering messages.]

SEC. 12993–1 (added 1921, p. 376). Employment during school hours.—[Employment at any occupation whatever during school hours is forbidden as to children required by law to attend school.]

SEC. 12995 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Failure to return certificates.—[If an employer fails to return a certificate or give notice of nonuse on the termination of employment, the child may recover as damages an amount equal to his wages for the period of such failure. Unexplained failure of a child to appear for work is regarded as termination of employment after two days.]

SEC. 12996 (as amended 1919, p. 532). Work time.—[No boy under 16 and no girl under 18 may be employed in any occupation named in sec. 12993 more than 8 hours per day or more than 6 days or 48 hours per week, nor between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m. Presence is prima facie evidence of employment. No boy under 18 may work as above more than 10 hours per day or more than 6 days or 54 hours per week, nor between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. No female under 21 may work as above more than 9 hours per day (except in mercantile establishments, where they may work 10 hours on Saturday), or more than 6 days or 50 hours per week, or between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 12996–1 (added 1913, p. 864). Messengers.—[Boys under 18 may not act as messengers for telegraph, telephone, or messenger companies between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 12997 (as amended 1913, p. 864). Time for meals for messengers.—[Minors employed as provided in sec. 12996–1 are entitled to 30 minutes for meals within five hours after beginning work, the time not to be counted as work time.]

SEC. 12998 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Lists.—[Two lists of employed children under 18 must be kept, one on file and one posted near the entrance of the establishment. A schedule of work hours of males under 18 and females under 21 must be posted, and work at other times is a violation of the law.]

SEC. 12999 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Hindering school attendance.—[An employer hindering the attendance of a child at part-time school when required by law is subject to a fine of from $10 to $50 for a first offense, and for subsequent offenses as provided by sec. 12984.]

SEC. 13000. Producing certificates.—[Failure to produce for lawful inspection certificates, or the list provided for by sec. 12998, is prima facie evidence of unlawful employment.]

SECS. 13001–13003 (as amended 1913, p. 864). Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 in specified dangerous or injurious occupations is forbidden. For similar list see sec. 3145, Delaware Code. The State board of health may, after hearing, determine whether any other trade, process, or occupation is dangerous so as to warrant inclusion in the list. An appeal lies to the common pleas court.]

SEC. 13005 (as amended 1913, p. 864). Standing.—[No female under 21 may be so employed as to require constant standing.]

SEC. 13007–1 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Child apparently under 18.—[Any enforcement officer may demand a certificate of age of any child apparently under 18, and if none is on file, evidence of age must be furnished.]

SECS. 13007–3, 13007–4 (added 1913, p. 864). Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 18 in specified dangerous employments, and hotels, theaters, etc., is forbidden. For a similar list see sec. 3148, Delaware Code. The State board of health may add to this list after hearing, subject to appeal to the court.]

SEC. 13007–7 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Complaints.—[It is the duty of enforcement officers to file in the proper court affidavits as to violations, but this does not limit the right of other persons to make and prosecute complaints.]

SEC. 13007–8 (as amended 1921, p. 376). False statements.—[Any person making false statements as to the age of a minor for the purpose of procuring employment may be fined $20 to $50, or imprisoned not over 30 days.]

SECS. 13007–9, 13007–10 (both as amended 1921, p. 376). Violations.—[Employers who, by themselves or by their foremen, etc., employ minors in violation of the law, and parents or guardians permitting such employment may be fined $10 to $50 for a first offense; and employers continuing unlawful employment after notice may be fined from $5 to $20 for each day's continued employment.]

SEC. 13007–12 (as amended 1919, p. 532). Hindering inspectors.—[Any employer or agent thereof who hinders or refuses admission to inspectors, or refuses required information, is subject to a fine of from $25 to $200.]

SEC. 13007–13 (added 1913, p. 864). False statements.—[Persons authorized to sign certificates, etc., under this act, knowingly certifying any materially false statement, may be fined $25 to $100.]

SEC. 13007–14 (as amended 1921, p. 376). Minors refusing information.—[Minors refusing to give their name, age, and place of residence on proper official demand may be conducted by the officer so refused to the juvenile court, or other competent court, to be dealt with according to law.]

Labor organizations—Unauthorized use of badges

SEC. 13163. Unlawful use an offense.—Whoever, not being entitled so to do under the rules and regulations thereof, willfully wears the badge or button of * * * a labor organization, * * * or uses or wears it to obtain aid or assistance thereby, shall be fined not more than $20 or imprisoned not more than 30 days, or both.

OKLAHOMA

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE VI.—Department of labor—Mine inspector—Arbitration of labor disputes

SECTION 1. State officials.—The executive authority of the State shall be vested in a * * *, chief mine inspector, commissioner of labor, * * *, each of whom shall keep his office and public records, books, and papers at the seat of government, and shall perform such duties as may be designated in this constitution or prescribed by law.

SEC. 20. Department of labor.—A department of labor is hereby created to be under the control of a commissioner of labor who shall be elected by the people, whose term of office shall be four years, and whose duties shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 21. Board of arbitration and conciliation.—The legislature shall create a board of arbitration and conciliation in the department of labor and the commissioner of labor shall be ex officio chairman.

SEC. 25. Inspector of mines, etc.—The office of chief inspector of mines, oil, and gas is hereby created, and the incumbent of said office shall be known as the chief mine inspector. The term of said office shall be four years, and no person shall be elected to said office unless he shall have had eight years' actual experience as a practical miner, and such other qualifications as may be prescribed by the legislature. The chief mine inspector shall perform the duties, take the oath, and execute the bond prescribed by the legislature.

SEC. 26. Mining districts.—The legislature shall create mining districts and provide for the appointment or election of assistant inspectors therein, who shall be under the general control of the chief mine inspector, and the legislature shall define their qualifications and duties and fix their compensation.

ARTICLE IX.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 36. Fellow servant not a defense.—The common-law doctrine of the fellow servant, so far as it affects the liability of the master for injuries to his servant, resulting from the acts or omissions of any other servant or servants of the common master, is abrogated as to every employee of every railroad company and every street railway company or interurban railway company, and of every person, firm, or corporation engaged in mining in this State; and every such employee shall have the same right to recover for every injury suffered by him for the acts or omissions of any other employee or employees of the common master that a servant would have if such acts or omissions were those of the master himself in the performance of a nonassignable duty; and when death, whether instantaneous or not, results to such employee from any injury for which he could have recovered under the above provisions, had not death occurred, then his legal or personal representative, surviving consort or relatives, or any trustee, curator, committee or guardian of such consort or relatives, shall have the same rights and remedies with respect thereto as if death had been caused by the negligence of the master. And every railroad company and every street railway company or interurban railway company, and every person, firm, or corporation engaged in underground mining in this State shall be liable under this section for the acts of his or its receivers.

Nothing contained in this section shall restrict the power of the legislature to extend to the employees of any person, firm, or corporation, the rights and remedies herein provided for.

The provisions of this section affecting designated classes of employment do not conflict with the "equal protection" clause of the fourteenth amendment of the Federal Constitution. The drilling of oil or gas wells is not mining within the meaning of this section. 133 Pac. 216.

ARTICLE IX.—Arbitration of labor disputes—Corporations

SECTION 42. Arbitration compulsory, for whom.—Every license issued or charter granted to a mining or public service corporation, foreign or domestic, shall contain a stipulation that such corporation will submit any difference it may have with employees in reference to labor, to arbitration, as shall be provided by law.

SEC. 44. Foreign corporations.—No foreign corporation shall be authorized to carry on in this State any business which a domestic corporation is prohibited from doing, or be relieved from compliance with any of the requirements made of a similar domestic corporation by the constitution or laws of the State. Nothing in this article, however, shall restrict or limit the power of the legislature to impose conditions under which foreign corporations may be licensed to do business in this State.

ARTICLE XXIII.—Hours of labor—Employment of children—Actions for personal injuries

SECTION 1. Hours of labor on public works.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all cases of employment by and on behalf of the State or any county or municipality.

SEC. 3. Age limit for children.—The employment of children, under the age of fifteen years, in any occupation injurious to health or morals or especially hazardous to life or limb is hereby prohibited.

SEC. 4. Women and children in mines.—Boys under the age of sixteen years, and women and girls, shall not be employed, underground, in the operation of mines; and, except in cases of emergency, eight hours shall constitute a day's work underground in all mines in the State.

SEC. 5. Laws to be passed.—The legislature shall pass laws to protect the health and safety of employees in factories, in mines, and on railroads.

SEC. 6. Employers' defenses.—The defense of contributory negligence or of assumption of risk shall, in all cases whatsoever, be a question of fact, and shall, at all times, be left to the jury.

SEC. 8. Contracts waiving rights.—Any provision of a contract, express or implied, made by any person, by which any of the benefits of this constitution is sought to be waived, shall be null and void.

SEC. 9. Requirements as to notice.—Any provision of any contract or agreement, express or implied, stipulating for notice or demand other than such as may be provided by law, as a condition precedent to establish any claim, demand, or liability, shall be null and void.

REVISED LAWS—1910

Bonds of employees—Railroads, etc.

SECTION 871. Employees to have free choice.—No common carrier authorized to do business in this State, when requiring of an employee a bond or undertaking of any nature whatever, shall require such employee to have such bond or undertaking executed as surety by any particular person, company, corporation, association, or firm, or by any one or more of any number of such persons, companies, corporations, associations, or firms named by such common carrier; and no such common carrier shall reject any such bond or undertaking for any reason other than the financial insufficiency of such bond or undertaking.

SEC. 872. Resident sureties.—[No surety by a nonresident may be required, and corporations acting as sureties must be State corporations, or have resident agents on whom legal process can be had.]

SEC. 873. Term; cancellation.—[Surety contracts must have definite terms, and may not be canceled without the consent of all parties, except for a breach of condition, of which notice must be given.]

SEC. 874. Violations.—[Violation of these provisions entails a fine of from $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment not less than 30 days nor more than one year. Contracts made in violation thereof are void.]

Interference with employment—Intimidation

SECTION 2396. Intimidating workingmen.—Any person who, by any use of force, threats, or intimidation, prevents or endeavors to prevent any hired foreman, journeyman, apprentice, workman, laborer, servant, or other person employed by another, from continuing or performing his work, or from accepting any new work or employment, or induces such hired person to relinquish his work or employment, or to return any work he has in hand, before it is finished, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2397. Intimidating employers.—Any person who, by use of force, threats, or intimidation, prevents or endeavors to prevent another from employing any person, or to compel another to employ any person, or to force or induce another to alter his mode of carrying on business, or to limit or increase the number of his hired foremen, journeymen, apprentices, workmen, laborers, servants, or other persons employed by him, or their rate of wages or time of service, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Suits for wages—Sending claims outside the State

SECTION 2911. Sending out claims forbidden.—[Sending out of the State claims for debt to be collected by attachment, garnishment, etc., when the parties are within the jurisdiction of the courts of the State is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not less than $500 nor more than $1,000.]

SEC. 2912. Assignments to nonresidents.—[The assignment or transfer of a claim or debt against a citizen of the State to be collected by attachment, etc., or which is attempted to be collected out of the wages or personal earnings of the debtor in courts outside the State, when the parties are within the jurisdiction of the State, is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of from $500 to $1,000, or imprisonment from 30 days to one year, or both.]

SEC. 2913. Liability.—[Persons violating the provisions of this act are liable to the aggrieved party in the amount of the claim and costs, to be recovered in a civil action.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 3139. Influencing vote.—Any corporation, whether chartered under the laws of this State, or of a foreign State, and which has been permitted to do business herein, which, through its officials, employees, agents, attorneys, representatives or some other person or in any other manner, directly or indirectly, influences or attempts to influence, by bribe, favor, promise, inducement, threat, intimidation, importuning or beseeching to control the vote of any employee or other person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred nor more than five thousand dollars, and the person or persons so acting for such corporation in the violation of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, and imprisoned in the county jail not less than sixty nor more than one hundred and twenty days.

SEC. 3140. Acts of agents of corporations.—When any official, agent, attorney or employee of a corporation has been shown to have violated the provisions of sections * * * and 3139 of this article, it shall be presumed that he was acting for such corporation, and the burden shall be upon the accused corporation to show that such official, agent, attorney, or employee was not acting for it or with its sanction.

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 3342 (as amended 1915, ch. 188). Amount.—[Seventy-five per cent of all current wages or earnings for the last 90 days are exempt in case of attachment, execution, etc., to the head of every family residing in the State.]

To constitute a head of a family requires a condition of dependence on the part of others whom one is under legal or moral obligations to support. An unmarried man supporting a dependent mother and sister is the head of a family within this section. 73 Pac. 291.

SEC. 3345 (as amended 1915, ch. 188). Persons not heads of families.—[To persons not heads of families, 75 per cent of current wages or earnings are exempt.]

SEC. 3347. Suits for wages.—[Exemptions are not available where the claim is for wages.]

Department of labor—Commissioner

SECTION 3703 (as amended 1911, ch. 128). Duties of commissioner.—The duties and scope of the commissioner of labor is to carry into effect all laws in relation to labor, passed by the legislature, in regard to the transportation, mechanical and manufacturing industries of the State; to supervise the work of the different branches of his department, which shall be divided into four bureaus, as follows: Statistics; arbitration and conciliation; free employment and factory inspection. He shall appoint all officers, clerks and employees in the department of labor; to collect, assort and systematize reports of all persons, firms or corporations required to report to the commissioner of labor annually, and present the same to the legislature at the following session thereof, to compile statistical detailed reports relating to the commercial, industrial, educational and sanitary conditions of the people, included in the mining, transportation, transmission, commercial, mechanical and manufacturing industries of the State; he may administer oaths, issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses, and take testimony in all matters relating to the proper enforcement of all laws over which he has supervision of [under] this act. He shall also give bond of [with] approved security in the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), the same to be approved by the governor, for the faithful performance of his duties as defined by the laws passed by the legislature.

SEC. 3704 (as amended 1911, ch. 128). Assistants.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized to appoint an assistant at a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per annum, payable monthly, who shall act as his deputy, if by reason of sickness, absence, or for other cause the commissioner of labor is temporarily unable to perform the duties of his office, and said assistant shall perform the duties of the office of commissioner of labor until such disability ceases and said assistant shall act as secretary to the board of arbitration and conciliation. He is also authorized to appoint one statistical clerk at a salary of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) per annum, payable monthly; a deputy State factory inspector, who shall be under his supervision, and whose term of office shall be during the term of the commissioner of labor, unless sooner removed for cause, and who shall receive a salary of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) per annum, payable monthly, and one stenographer, at a salary of nine hundred dollars ($900), payable monthly.

Arbitration of labor disputes—Board of arbitration and conciliation

SECTION 3705. Board to be appointed.—The governor shall, upon his own motion, appoint two farmers and one employer, and upon recommendation of the commissioner of labor shall appoint one employer and two employees, as hereinafter specified, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, and the six persons so appointed shall constitute and be styled "The State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation" and shall hold office during the term of the governor appointing them. If a vacancy should occur at any time on said board, the governor or the commissioner shall appoint some suitable person to fill such vacancy as in the first instance. Except the farmers, the said appointments shall be made from the employers and employees who shall have been for at least three years preceding said appointment engaged as employer or employee in the mining, transportation, mechanical, or manufacturing industries of the State. Each member of said board shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, be sworn to a faithful discharge of the same. The board shall at once organize at the call of the commissioner of labor, who by virtue of his office is chairman, and they shall as soon as possible establish rules and procedure for the government thereof. The assistant commissioner of labor shall be secretary of said board.

SEC. 3706. Action by board.—Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the State board of arbitration and conciliation that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened in the State, involving an employer and his employees, if he is employing not less than twenty-five persons, it shall become the duty of said board to put itself in communication, as soon as may be possible, with such employers or employees, and endeavor to persuade them to submit the matter in dispute to the said board.

SEC. 3707. Mayor, etc., to give notice.—It shall be the duty of the mayor of any city, and the justice of the peace of any municipal township, whenever a strike or lockout, involving more than twenty-five persons, shall be threatened or has actually occurred within or near such city, or in such municipal township, immediately to communicate the fact to the State board of arbitration and conciliation, stating the name or names of the employer or employers, and one or more employees, with their post-office addresses, the nature of the controversy or difference existing, the number of employees involved, and such other information as may be required by the said board. It shall be the duty of the president or the chief executive officer of every labor organization of which he is an officer immediately to communicate the fact of such strike or lockout to said board, with such information as he may possess touching the differences or controversy and the number of employees involved.

SEC. 3708. Strikes affecting the public.—Whenever there shall exist a strike or lockout wherein, in the judgment of a majority of said board, the general public shall appear likely to suffer injury or inconvenience by reason of said strike or lockout, and neither party to such strike or lockout shall consent to submit the matter or matters in controversy to the State board of arbitration and conciliation in conformity with this article, then said board, after first having made due effort to secure such submission, may proceed of its own motion to make an investigation of all facts bearing upon such strike or lockout and make public its findings, with such recommendations to the parties involved as, in its judgment, will contribute to a fair and equitable settlement of the differences which constitute the cause of the strike or lockout; and in the prosecution of such inquiry the board shall have power to issue subpœnas, and when, after the service of such subpœna, the party so subpœnaed fails and refuses to appear before said board, the said trade or occupation of each applicant, the cause and duration of nonemployment, whether married or single, the number of dependent children, together with such other facts as may be required by the commissioner of labor to be secured by said officer: Provided, That such statistical and sociological data as the commissioner of labor may require, shall be held in confidence by said office and so published as not to reveal the identity of anyone: And provided further, That any applicant who shall decline to furnish answers to the questions contained in special registers shall not thereby forfeit any rights to any employment the office might secure.

SEC. 3719. Employers to be communicated with.—It shall be the duty of the superintendent of the free employment bureau and the attendants of the branch free employment bureaus to put themselves in communication with the principal manufacturers, merchants, and other employers of labor and to use all diligence in securing the cooperation of said employers of labor with the purposes and objects of said employment bureaus. To this end it shall be competent for such officers to advertise, under the direction of the commissioner of labor, in newspapers, or other mediums, for such situations as they have applications to fill, and they may advertise in a general way for the cooperation of large contractors and employers in such trade journals or special publications as reach such employers, whether such trade or special journals are published in Oklahoma or not.

SEC. 3720. Fees prohibited.—No fee or compensation shall be charged or received, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment or help through said free employment bureau or branch free employment bureaus.

SEC. 3721. Definitions.—The term "applicant for employment," as used in this article, shall be construed to mean any person seeking work of any lawful character, and "applicant for help" shall mean any person or persons seeking help in any legitimate enterprise; and nothing in this article shall be construed to limit the meaning of the term "work" to manual occupation, but it shall include professional service and all other legitimate service.

Employment of children

SECTION 3728. Age limit.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any factory, workshop, bowling alley, pool hall, or steam laundry; and no child under 15 in any occupation injurious to health or morals or especially hazardous to life or limb. The commissioner of labor may decide what are dangerous, etc., occupations, and notify employers thereof.]

SEC. 3729. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 is forbidden in specified dangerous occupations, including those requiring girls to stand constantly. For a similar list, see Delaware Code, secs. 3145, 3148.]

SEC. 3730. News girls.—[No girl under 16 may sell or offer for sale any newspapers, magazines, or periodicals in any street or outdoor public place of any city.]

SEC. 3731. Illiterates.—[No child under 16 may be employed in the occupations named in sec. 3728 unless he is able to read and write or has attended school the preceding year as required by law.]

SEC. 3732. Hours of labor, seats.—[No child under 16 may work more than 8 hours per day or 48 hours per week in any gainful occupation other than farm or domestic service, one hour to be allowed at noon. Seats must be furnished and their use permitted, so far as the nature of the work allows.]

SEC. 3733. Night work.—[No boy under 16 and no girl under 18 may be employed in the occupations named in sec. 3728 between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m.]

SECS. 3734, 3735, 3736 (as amended 1917, ch. 182), 3738. Certificates.—[Certificates are required for the employment of children under 16 in the occupations specified in section 3728. These must be kept on file, and a register of employed children, with ages, posted in each workroom. A schedule of work hours must also be posted. Certificates are issued by the school authorities, the form being prescribed by law. Proof of age, ability to read and write, school attendance, and a medical certificate signed by two physicians are required, and the child must personally appear before the issuing official. Enforcement rests with the factory inspector and truant officers, who may inspect places of employment, and require proof of age of children apparently under 16.]

SEC. 3739. Mines and quarries.—[No boy under 16 and no female may be employed underground in any mine or quarry.]

Employment of women

SECTION 3740. Seats for female employees.—The proprietor, manager, or person having charge of any mercantile establishment, store, shop, hotel, restaurant or other place where women or girls are employed as clerks, shall provide chairs, stools, or other contrivances for the comfortable use of such female employees, and shall permit the use of the same by such female employees for the preservation of their health and for rest when not actually employed in the discharge of their respective duties.

SEC. 3741. Hours of labor to be posted, where.—Every person, firm, or corporation, agent, or manager of a corporation employing any female in any manufacturing establishment, factory, or workshop shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room where such help is employed a printed or written notice stating the hours of each day of the week between which work is required of such person.

SEC. 3742. Violations.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this article shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars or imprisonment for not less than ten nor more than thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment. It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to see that the provisions of this article are enforced, with the exception of section 3739, which shall be enforced by the mine inspector or under his direction.

Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTION 3743. Factory inspector.—The governor shall, upon the recommendation of the commissioner of labor, by and with the consent of the senate, appoint a factory inspector, whose duty it shall be to exercise general supervision over the department of factory inspection, under the direction of the commissioner of labor. The salary of the factory inspector shall be fifteen hundred dollars per annum and he shall serve during the term of the governor. It shall be the duty of the factory inspector to visit and inspect at all reasonable hours, not less than once in each year, the factories, workshops, machine shops, foundries, laundries, manufacturing establishments in the State, and such other places where labor is employed as the commissioner of labor may designate, and shall make special investigation into the conditions of labor or into any alleged abuses in connection therewith, and shall perform such other duties as are prescribed by law. Said inspector shall, under the direction of the commissioner of labor, collect, assort, systemize, and compile statistical details and information relating to all departments of labor in the State. He shall report in writing to the commissioner of labor on the fifteenth day of May and the first day of November of each year, and at such other times as the commissioner of labor may require, the result of his inspection and investigation, together with such other information and recommendation as he may deem proper. It shall be the duty of the county attorney of the proper county upon the request of the State factory inspector to prosecute any violation of law which it is made the duty of the factory inspector to enforce. In addition to the salary provided herein for the factory inspector he shall be allowed his actual and necessary traveling expenses incurred in performance of his duties in carrying out the provisions of this article.

SEC. 3744. Rules to be formulated.—The superintendent of the State board of health, the commissioner of labor, and the factory inspector shall formulate, publish, and enforce such rules as they may deem necessary for the sanitary regulations of manufacturing institutions, factories, and workshops in this State.

SEC. 3745. Definition.—The words "manufacturing establishments," "factory," or "workshop" whenever used in this chapter shall be construed to mean any place where goods or products are manufactured or repaired, cleaned, or sorted, in whole or in part, for sale or for wages.

SEC. 3746. Guards for dangerous machinery.—The owner or person in charge of a factory or any institution where machinery is used shall provide belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing belts on or off pulleys, whenever practicable. All machines shall be provided with loose pulleys and all vats, pans, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set screws, and machinery of every description shall be properly guarded. No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to any machinery, vats, or pans while the same are in use, unless for the purposes of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced. If a machine or any part thereof is not properly guarded, the use thereof may be prohibited by the factory inspector or deputy factory inspector, and notice to that effect shall be attached thereto; such notice shall not be removed until the machine is made safe and the required safeguards are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used.

SEC. 3747. Elevator shafts, etc.—If in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary to protect life or limbs of factory employees or employees in any other institution, the owner, agent, or lessee of such factory or institution where any elevator, hoisting shaft or wellhole is used, shall cause, upon written notice from the factory inspector, the same to be properly and substantially enclosed, secured or guarded, and shall provide such proper traps or automatic doors so fastened in or at all elevator ways, except passenger elevators enclosed on all sides, as to form a substantial surface when closed, and so constructed as to open and close by action of the elevator in its passage, whether ascending or descending. The factory inspector may inspect the cable, gearing or other apparatus of all elevators in factories and require them to be kept in a safe condition.

SEC. 3748. Lighting halls.—When, in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary, the workrooms, halls, and stairs leading to workrooms shall be properly lighted.

SEC. 3749. Stairways.—Proper and substantial handrails shall be provided on all stairways in factories. The stairs shall be properly screened at the sides and bottom and all doors in or to such factory shall be so constructed as to open outwardly and shall not be locked or bolted or fastened during working hours.

SEC. 3750. Toilet rooms.—There shall be provided in every factory, manufacturing establishment, or workshop, where men and women are employed, separate toilet and wash rooms.

SEC. 3751. Fire escapes.—Such fire escapes as may be deemed necessary by the factory inspector shall be provided on the outside of every factory in this State, consisting of two or more stories in height. Each escape shall connect with each floor above the first, and shall be of sufficient strength, well fastened, and secured, and shall have landings and balconies not less than six feet in length and three feet in height, embracing at least two windows at each story, and connecting with the interior by easily accessible and unobstructed openings. The balconies or landings shall be connected by iron stairs not less than eighteen inches wide, with steps not less than six inches tread, placed at a proper slant and protected by well-secured handrails on both sides, and shall have a drop ladder not less than twelve inches wide reaching from the lower platform to the ground. The windows or doors to the landing or balcony of each fire escape shall be of sufficient size and located as far as possible, consistent with accessibility, from the stairways and elevator hatchways and openings, and a ladder from such fire escape shall extend to the roof. Stationary stairs or ladders shall be provided on the inside of every factory from the upper story as means of escape in case of fire.

SEC. 3752. Accidents to be reported.—The person in charge of any factory shall report in writing to the factory inspector all accidents or injuries sustained by any person therein, immediately after the time of the accident, stating as fully as possible the extent and cause of the injury and the place where the injured person had been sent, with such other information relative thereto as may be required by the factory inspector, who may investigate the cause of such accident or injury and order such precautions to be taken as will, in his judgment, prevent the recurrence of similar accidents.

SEC. 3753. Reports by owners of establishments.—The owner, superintendent, manager or other person in charge of any establishment at the time of inspection shall be required to furnish the inspector making the inspection a true statement of the number of persons employed in such establishment; and any owner, superintendent, manager or other person in charge who shall fail or refuse to furnish such statement or understate the number of persons employed in such establishment at the time of such inspection shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense. Any person, firm or corporation, agent or manager, superintendent or foreman of any firm or corporation, whether acting for himself or for such firm or corporation, or by himself through subagents or foreman, superintendent or manager, who shall refuse or attempt to prevent the admission of any inspector authorized by this article, upon or within the premises or buildings of any such establishment or place included in this article, at any reasonable business hours of the persons employed therein or thereat or shall in any manner interfere with the performance of the official duties of such inspector, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

SEC. 3754. Reports by employers.—It shall be the duty of every owner, operator or lessee of any factory, foundry or machine shop or other manufacturing establishment, railroad, street railway, interurban railway, elevated railway, transmission company or commercial and industrial institution and other mechanical manufacturing institution doing business in this State, subject to the provisions of this article, to report annually on or before the first day of March, to the commissioner of labor, the name of the firm or corporation and the number of members, male and female, constituting the same; where located, capital invested in grounds, buildings and machinery; class and value of goods manufactured; aggregate value of material used; total number of days in operation; amount paid yearly for rent, taxes and insurance; total amount paid in wages; total number of employees, male and female, number engaged in clerical and manual labor, with detailed classification of the number and sex of employees engaged in each class, and children employed under the age of sixteen years, and average daily wages paid to each.

SEC. 3755. Blanks.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized to furnish suitable blanks to the owner, operator, manager or lessee of any factory, workshop, elevator, foundry, machine shop or any other mechanical or manufacturing establishment, to enable said owner, operator, manager or lessee to intelligently comply with the provisions of the preceding section.

SEC. 3756. Violations.—Any person who fails to comply with any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, except as otherwise provided, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

Employment of labor

SECTION 3757. Eight hours a day's labor.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, mechanics, prison guards, janitors of public institutions, or other persons now employed or who may hereafter be employed, by or on behalf of the State, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township or other municipality, except in cases of extraordinary emergency which may arise in time of war, or in cases where it may be necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property or human life: Provided, That in all such cases, the laborers, workmen, mechanics or other persons so employed and working to exceed eight hours per calendar day shall be paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work: Provided, further, That not less than the current rate of per diem wages in the locality where the work is performed shall be paid to laborers, workmen, mechanics, prison guards, janitors in public institutions, or other persons so employed by or on behalf of the State, or any county, city, township, or other municipality, and laborers, workmen, mechanics, or other persons employed by contractors or subcontractors in the execution of any contract or contracts with the State, or with any county, city, township, or other municipality thereof, shall be deemed to be employed by or on behalf of the State, or of such county, city, township, or other municipality.

The performance of ordinary and usual duties does not give rise to a claim for added compensation for overtime work where one works more than eight hours daily as a common practice. 130 Pac. 276.

SEC. 3758. Basis of contracts.—All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the State, or by or on behalf of any county, city, township, or other municipality, with any corporation, person or persons for the performance of any public work, by or on behalf of the State, or any county, city, township, or other municipality, shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work; and it shall be unlawful for such corporation, person or persons, to require, aid, abet, assist, connive at, or permit any laborer, workman, mechanic, prison guards, janitors in public institutions, or other person to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work, except in cases and upon the conditions provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 3759. Violations.—Any officer of the State, or of any county, city, township, or other municipality, or any person acting under or for such officer, or any contractor within the State, or any county, city, township, or other municipality thereof, or other persons violating any of the provisions of the two preceding sections, shall for each offense be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or punished by imprisonment of not less than three months nor more than six months. Each day such violation continues shall constitute a separate offense.

SEC. 3760. Application of law.—Every corporation, association, company, firm, or person in the State, engaged in mining coal, ore, or other minerals or quarrying stone, or in manufacturing iron, steel, lumber, staves, headings for barrels, brick, tile and tile machinery, agricultural or mechanical implements, or any article of merchandise, shall pay each employee of such corporation, association, company, firm, or person, if demanded, at least twice each calendar month, the amount due such employee for labor, and such payment shall be in lawful money of the United States, and the employee shall not be deemed to have waived any right or rights herein mentioned because of any contract to the contrary.

SEC. 3761. Scrip to be redeemable.—Every corporation, association, company, firm, or person, or any member, agent, or employee thereof, who shall publish, issue, or circulate any check, card, or other paper which is not commercial paper, payable at a fixed time in any bank in this State, at its full face value, in lawful money of the United States, or any card or check issued, which is not payable in lawful money of the United States on each regular pay day, to any employee of any such corporation, association, company, firm, or person, in payment for any work or labor done by such employee, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3762. Violations.—Any corporation, association, company, firm, or person in this State, engaged in mining coal, ore, or other minerals, or quarrying stone, or in manufacturing iron, steel, lumber, staves, headings for barrels, brick, tile and tile machinery, agricultural or mechanical implements, or any article of merchandise, upon conviction of a violation of any of the provisions of the two preceding sections, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.

SEC. 3764. Labor agreements not conspiracy.—No agreement, combination or contract by or between two or more persons to do or procure to be done, or not to do or procure not to be done, any act in contemplation or furtherance of any trade dispute between employers and employees, shall be deemed criminal, nor shall those engaged therein be indictable or otherwise punishable for the crime of conspiracy, if such act committed by one person would not be punishable as a crime, nor shall such agreement, combination or contract be considered as in restraint of trade or commerce, nor shall any restraining order or injunction be issued with relation thereto. Nothing in this article shall exempt from punishment otherwise than is herein excepted, any person guilty of conspiracy for which punishment is provided by any other law of the State, but such other law shall, as to the agreement, combination and contracts hereinbefore referred to, be construed as if this article was therein contained: Provided, That nothing in this article shall be construed to authorize force or violence.

This section is to be construed with the antitrust law of the State; it exempts labor unions from its application, and is constitutional. 122 Pac. 243; 130 Pac. 316.

SEC. 3765. False representations as to conditions of employment.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of labor doing business in this State, to induce, influence, persuade or engage workmen to change from one place to another in the State, or to bring workmen of any class or calling into the State to work in any of the departments of labor, through or by means of false or deceptive representations, false advertising or false pretenses concerning the kind and character of the work to be done, or amount and character of the compensation to be paid for such work, or the sanitary or other conditions of employment, or as to the existence or nonexistence of a strike or other trouble pending between employer and employees, at the time of or prior to such engagement. Failure to state in an advertisement, proposal or contract for the employment of workmen that there is a strike, lockout or other labor trouble at the place of the proposed employment, when, in fact, such strike, lockout or other labor troubles then actually exist at such place, shall be deemed a false advertisement and misrepresentation for the purposes of this section.

SEC. 3766. Violations.—Any employer of labor of any kind doing business in this State, as well as its agent, attorney or servant found guilty of violating the preceding section, or any part thereof, shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars and not exceeding two thousand dollars, or confined in the county jail not less than one month and not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 3768. Damages recoverable when.—Any workman who shall be influenced, induced or persuaded to engage with any persons mentioned in section 3765, through or by means of any of the things therein prohibited, shall have the right of action for recovery of all damages that he has sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representation, false advertisement and false pretenses used to induce him to change his place of employment, against any companies, corporations, or other employers of labor directly or indirectly causing such damages, and, in addition to all actual damages such workman may have sustained, he shall be entitled to recover such reasonable attorney's fees as the jury shall fix, to be taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

SEC. 3769. Reason for discharge to be furnished.—Whenever any employee of any public service corporation, or of a contractor, who works for such corporation, doing business in this State, shall be discharged or voluntarily quits the service of such employer, it shall be the duty of the superintendent or manager, or contractor, upon request of such employee, to issue to such employee a letter setting forth the nature of the service rendered by such employee to such corporation or contractor and the duration thereof, and truly stating the cause for which such employee was discharged from or quit such service; and, if any such superintendent, manager or contractor shall fail or refuse to issue such letter to such employee, when so requested, or shall willfully or negligently refuse or fail to state the facts correctly, such superintendent, manager or contractor shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars and not more than five hundred dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than one month and not exceeding one year: Provided, That such letter shall be written, in its entirety, upon a plain sheet of white paper to be selected by such employee. No printed blank shall be used, and if such letter be written upon a typewriter, it shall be signed with pen and black ink and immediately beneath such signature shall be affixed the official stamp, or seal, of said superintendent, manager or other officer of such corporation or contractor, in an upright position. There shall be no figures, words or letters used, upon such piece of paper, except such as are plainly essential, either in the date line, address, the body of the letter or the signature and seal or stamp thereafter, and no such letter shall have any picture, imprint, character, design, device, impression or mark, either in the body thereof or upon the face or back thereof, and any person of whom such letter is required who fails to comply with the foregoing requirements shall be liable to the penalties above prescribed.

A service letter in statutory form need not be furnished a workman who refuses to surrender another letter which had been given before demand for the statutory letter. 136 Pac. 764.

SEC. 3770. Blacklisting forbidden.—No firm, corporation or individual shall blacklist or require a letter of relinquishment, or publish, or cause to be published, or blacklisted, any employee, mechanic or laborer, discharged from or voluntarily leaving the service of such company, corporation or individual, with intent and for the purpose of preventing such employee, mechanic or laborer, from engaging in or securing similar or other employment from any other corporation, company or individual.

SEC. 3771. Penalty.—Any person, firm or corporation violating the preceding section shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, and any person so blacklisted shall have a right of action to recover damages.

SEC. 3772. Construction of scaffolds, etc.—All scaffolds, hoists, cranes, stays, ladders, supports, or other mechanical contrivances erected or constructed by any person, firm or corporation in the State, for use in the erection, repairing, alteration, removal or painting of any house, building, bridge, viaduct, steel tank, standpipe or other structure, shall be erected and constructed in a safe, suitable and proper manner, and shall be so erected and constructed, placed and operated as to give proper and adequate protection to life and limb of any person or persons employed or engaged thereon, or passing under or by the same, and in such manner as to prevent the falling of any material that may be used or deposited thereon. Scaffolding or staging swung or suspended from an overhead support more than twenty feet from the ground or floor shall have, where practicable, a safety rail properly secured and braced, rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portion of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length of the outside and ends thereto, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

SEC. 3773. Protective floors.—If, in the erection of an iron or steel framed building, the spaces between the girders or floor beams of any floor are not filled or covered by the permanent construction of said floors before another story is added to the building, a close plank flooring shall be placed and maintained over such spaces, during the construction of each story, from the time when the beams or girders are placed in position; but openings protected by a strong hand railing not less than four feet high may be left through said floors for the passage of workmen and material.

SEC. 3774. Failure to supply floors.—Any person engaged in and having supervision and charge of the building, erection or construction of any block, building or structure, who shall neglect or refuse to place or have placed upon the joists of each and every story of such block, building or structure, as soon as the joists are in position, counter floors of such quality and strength as to render perfectly safe the going to and fro thereon of all mechanics, laborers, and other persons engaged upon the work of construction or in supervising the same, or in the building or placing of materials therefor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, and each and every day that such person, contractor, agent, factor or architect shall neglect or refuse to have such floors so placed as aforesaid, after written notice by the building inspector or from any person whose life or personal safety may be endangered by such neglect or refusal shall be held and considered a separate offense, severally liable to the penalties aforesaid.

SEC. 3775 (as amended 1919, ch. 149). Noncompliance.—Any contractor or other person having charge of the erection, construction, repairing, alteration, removal or painting of any building, bridge, viaduct, steel tank, standpipe or other structure, within the provisions of the three preceding sections shall comply with the terms thereof, and any such contractor or other person violating any of the provisions of the three preceding sections shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than $50 nor more than $200 or imprisoned for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. In addition to the penalties herein provided, in the event of refusal or neglect of any person, firm or corporation, or his, or its agents, to comply with the provisions of the three preceding sections, the use of any such scaffold, hoist, crane, stays, ladder, support, or other mechanical contrivance, or the erection, repairing, alteration, removal or painting of any building, bridge, viaduct, steel tank, or other structure, may be prohibited by the labor commissioner, or inspector deputized by him, and a notice to that effect shall be posted upon the premises. Such notice shall not be removed until such scaffold, hoist, crane, stays, ladder, support or other mechanical contrivance or temporary floorings are properly and safely constructed.

SEC. 3776. Liability.—An employer shall be responsible in damages for personal injury caused to an employee who was himself in the exercise of due care and diligence at the time he was injured, by reason of any defect in the condition of the machinery or appliances connected with or used in the business of the employer which arose, or had not been discovered or remedied owing to the negligence of the employer, or of any person intrusted by him with the duty of inspection, repair or of seeing that the machinery or appliances were in proper condition.

SEC. 3777. Shelters at railroad division points.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad corporation, or other person, who owns, controls, or operates any lines of railroad in the State, to build, construct, or repair railroad equipment without first erecting and maintaining at every division point a building or shed over the repair tracks, same to be provided with a floor where such construction or repair is permanently done, so as to provide that all men employed in the construction and repair of cars, trucks, and other railroad equipment, shall be under shelter during snows, sleet, rain, and other inclement weather.

SEC. 3778. Violation.—Every person or corporation, or manager, superintendent, foreman, or agent of any person or corporation, who shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of the preceding section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and each day that said person or corporation, or its manager, superintendent, foreman, or agent shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of said section shall constitute a separate and distinct violation thereof.

SEC. 3779. Entering boiler under pressure.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad company or any other person, firm, or corporation, using steam boilers, to command, order, or permit by themselves or their agents any of their employees to enter any steam boiler, fire box, or smoke chamber thereto, for the purpose of repairing or cleaning the same or for any other purpose when the same is under steam pressure.

SEC. 3780. Violation.—Any officer, superintendent, foreman, boss, or other person in authority who, on behalf of any railroad corporation or any other person, firm or corporation, using steam boilers, violating any of the provisions of the preceding section, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment for a period of not less than one year nor more than two years.

SEC. 3781. When violation is manslaughter.—Should any employee enter such boiler, fire box, or smoke chamber, while the same is under pressure of steam, at the command or order of his employer, or the agent of such employer, and, while inside of such boiler, fire box, or smoke chamber, meet with an accident resulting in his death, the person or persons commanding or ordering him to enter such boiler, fire box, or smoke chamber shall be guilty of manslaughter in the second degree.

SEC. 3782. Assumption of risk.—The fact that the employee entering such steam boiler, fire box, or smoke chamber had knowledge of the unsafe condition of such steam boiler, and danger in so doing, and meeting with an accident shall not deprive him of the right of action against such employer for damages, and should said accident result in the death of such employee, then the wife or next of kin shall have a right of action against such employer for any damages she, they or the estate of such deceased employee may sustain by reason of the death of such employee, which action may be commenced in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 3937, 3938. Mining board.—[A State mining board, appointed by the governor, consisting of two practical coal miners, one mining engineer, one hoisting engineer, and an operator, has charge of granting certificates of competency under this law. They are allowed $5 per diem for not more than 20 days per quarter, except the secretary, who may be compensated for 25 days per quarter.]

SECS. 3939 (as amended 1913, ch. 90), 3940–3946. Certificates.—[Certificates are required for mine managers, superintendents, pit bosses, hoisting engineers, and fire bosses, under penalty of fine of from $50 to $200 or imprisonment 10 to 30 days, or both. Examinations, oral or otherwise, precede the granting of certificates. The board may exercise its discretion as to granting certificates (but not without examination) to holders of credentials from other States. Fees are for examinations of managers, and superintendents, $2.50; of pit bosses and hoisting engineers, $2; and of fire bosses, $1. A like sum must be paid for the issue of a certificate. Records are kept of certificates issued, which may be revoked for incompetency, intoxication, or other sufficient cause; a hearing after notice must be allowed.]

SECS. 3947–3954. Inspectors.—[The chief mine inspector must have had 8 years' experience as a practical miner, not be interested in any mining operation, and receives a salary of $3,000 per annum. Bond in the amount of $10,000 is required. The State is divided into three inspection districts, for each of which a qualified assistant inspector is provided at a salary of $1,500 per annum. Inspectors and assistants are elected for terms of 4 years each. It is their duty to inspect all mines at least quarterly, and see that the law is observed; report the number of miners, accidents, injuries, and deaths; and they may arrest violators and suspend dangerous operations. They may enter mines at any reasonable time without obstruction by the operator, but must not unnecessarily obstruct the operation of any mine. The power to inspect extends to all classes of mines as well as coal mines.]

SECS. 3955–3999. Safety, etc., provisions.—[Maps must be provided and corrected at least every six months, the mode of working on the room and pillar plan is fixed, two available exits for workmen are required, travel ways must be provided around shafts at the bottom, hoisting is regulated, speaking tubes and signal systems required, ventilation, shelter holes, electric installations, the use of mining machines, oil for lubrication and illumination, the approach to abandoned mines, sprinkling of dusty places, supply of timbers, blasting and the employment of shot firers, are provided for, and the duties of mine foremen, assistants, and fire bosses are prescribed.]

SECS. 4000–4004. Weighing coal.—[Recognized standard scales must be used where payment for mining is by the quantity mined, and coal may not be screened before weighing. Weighmen must act under oath, and the miners may employ a check weighman at their own expense, who must also make oath and has the same privileges as the weighman. Penalties are fixed for incorrect weighing. It is the duty of the mine inspector to inspect and test scales and weights used at coal mines.]

SEC. 4005. Hours of labor.—[Except in cases of emergency, 8 hours constitute a day's work underground in all mines.]

SEC. 4006. Convicts.—[No convict may be employed in any mine other than stone or other material for use on public highways or public works of the State.]

SEC. 4008. Monthly reports.—[Superintendents are required to make monthly reports to the district inspector showing work time, employees, output, etc.]

SEC. 4009. Posting rules.—[The rules embodied in this act, and the definitions of duties of employees must be posted in a conspicuous place, in English and such other language as may be used by any ten employees.]

SEC. 4010. Provisions for accidents.—[Stretchers, blankets, and other first aid supplies must be furnished at all mines. If they extend a mile or more from exits, inside stations must be provided.]

SEC. 4014. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not more than six months, or both, besides civil liability to persons injured by reason of such violations.]

Exemption of wages from garnishment, etc.

SECTIONS 5198, 5199, 5501. Amount.—[The earnings of a judgment debtor for three months next preceding an order in execution of judgment, attachment or garnishment process are exempt therefrom, if it appears that such earnings are necessary to the support of a family partly or wholly dependent.]

Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 6850. Fire escapes required.— * * * all buildings more than two stories in height, used for manufacturing purposes, * * * shall have at least one fire escape for every thirty persons for which working * * * accommodations are provided above the second stories of said buildings, * * *

SEC. 6854. Enforcement.—[The chief of the fire department in cities and towns having fire departments, and marshals in other cities, are charged with the enforcement of the foregoing provisions.]

ACTS OF 1911

CHAPTER 125.—Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTIONS 4–8. Ventilation, repairs, etc.—[Adequate ventilation of all workrooms in factories, mercantile establishments, laundries, renovating works, bakeries and printing offices is directed. Factory inspectors enforce the law, and may order necessary repairs for safety, and owners must comply, under penalty of fine, $50 to $100.]

CHAPTER 128.—Department of labor—Hindering commissioner, etc.

SECTION 3. Hindering inspection, etc.—[Interfering with the commissioner, his assistants, agents or factory inspectors, or refusing to answer questions or allow admittance is forbidden.]

ACTS OF 1913—REGULAR AND EXTRA SESSIONS

CHAPTER 46.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 1. Semimonthly pay day required.—Every railroad corporation, telephone and telegraph company, express company, street railway company, and every transportation or transmission company operating and doing business in the State of Oklahoma, shall pay each employee of such railroad, telephone and telegraph, street railway, transportation or transmission company, or employee of such corporation, association, company, firm, person or persons, at least twice each calendar month.

SEC. 2. Violation.—[Fine of $50 to $500 for each offense.]

CHAPTER 125.—Mine regulations

SECTIONS 1–3. Wash rooms.—[Wash rooms must be provided at all coal mines where ten or more miners are employed digging coal, equipped with lockers, baths, etc., with separate baths and lockers for negro employees. Employees furnish their own towels, soap and locks, and are responsible for property left in the lockers. Failure to comply with this law subjects the employer to a fine of from $50 to $200 or imprisonment 10 to 90 days, or both. Each week's failure constitutes a separate offense.]

SECS. 5–11. Telephones and alarms.—[A party line telephone system must be installed in every coal mine where as many as 15 men are engaged in digging coal, telephones to be located at prescribed points and intervals underground, with communications to the office of the weigh boss on the surface. Alarms must be communicated by all drivers, motor men and trip riders, and every person receiving a signal of danger. Failing to give notice entails a fine of from $10 to $200, or imprisonment not to exceed three months, or both; failure to install a telephone system entails a fine of from $100 to $500 or imprisonment 60 days to 12 months, or both. Each week's failure constitutes a separate offense.]

Secs. 12, 13. Check numbers.—[Changing, removing, altering or placing a check number on any car or pit car in or about a mine with intent to defraud any miner or loader is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not over $100 or imprisonment not to exceed one month, or both.]

Sec. 14. Inspectors.—[Chief and assistant inspectors must be 30 years of age, for two years bona fide residents of the State, and have passed the examination for mine superintendents (see also secs. 3947, 3950).]

Sec. 15. Assistant foremen.—[Where a mine foreman can not perform the duties required of him, an assistant may be employed, who shall hold a certificate as gas man or mine foreman.]

Secs. 16, 17. Hindering fire boss.—[No company, officer, mine foreman or other person may in any way interfere with a fire boss by intimidation or otherwise in the discharge of his duties, under penalty of a fine of from $100 to $500, or imprisonment not less than 30 days nor more than 12 months, or both.]

ACTS OF 1915

Chapter 30.—Railroads—Hospitals for employees

Section 1. Hospitals to be provided, when.—All railroad companies operating a line or lines, of railroad in the State of Oklahoma, or any association or corporation which have [has] heretofore collected, are [is] now collecting, or which may hereafter collect fees or sums of money from the employees of such railroad, association or corporation, or for the purpose or providing or maintaining hospital service for such employees when sick or injured, shall upon the order of the Corporation Commission of the State of Oklahoma, provide adequate hospital facilities within the State of Oklahoma for its employees who may be injured or become sick.

Sec. 2. Power of commission.—Jurisdiction and authority is hereby conferred on the corporation commission to make investigation, require reports, as to the adequacy of such hospital facilities and condition of funds and by order, require all railroad companies, associations, or corporations operating in the State of Oklahoma to establish such facilities as in the discretion of the commission may be necessary for the prompt and proper relief and medical attention of such sick and injured employees: Provided, No employee shall be taken out of the State of Oklahoma for treatment, without the written consent of such employee, or in case such employee shall be incapable to give or refuse such consent then the company surgeon, if present, or if not present, the coemployees of the sick or injured party, shall be authorized to give such consent, and further, that all corporations, companies, associations, or firms operating railroads within the State and who shall maintain hospitals without the State, shall be permitted to take all sick and injured employees to the hospital either within or without the State where the first medical or surgical service and attention can be secured.

Sec. 3. Investigations.—The corporation commission shall make investigations authorized in section 2 of this act, upon its own motion or complaint of an employee of the railroad company, but shall in no case, disclose the name of the employee making the complaint unless authorized to do so by such employee.

Chapter 148 (as amended 1919, ch. 163).—Employment of women—Hours of labor

Section 1. Nine-hour day.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, bakery, hotel or restaurant, office building or warehouse, telegraph or telephone establishment or office or printing establishment, or book bindery, or any theater, show-house or place of amusement or any other establishment employing any female, more than nine (9) hours in any one day, nor more than fifty-four (54) hours in any one week.

Sec. 2. Hours of work.—The hours of work may be so arranged to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than nine

(9) hours within twenty-four (24) hours, of any one day: Provided, however, That in time of great disaster, calamity or epidemic, telephone establishments may work their operators, with their consent, for a greater number of hours in any one day than above stated, said operators to be paid not less than double their regular compensation for such extra time: Provided, That this act shall not apply to females who are registered pharmacists, or employed as nurses or those engaged in agricultural or domestic service: And provided further, however, That in case of emergency in hotels and restaurants, females may work to a maximum of ten (10) hours during the twenty-four with their consent; such females to be paid not less than double their regular compensation for such extra time: And provided further, That this act shall apply only to towns and cities containing a population of five thousand (5,000) or more, as shown by the last Federal census, or any Federal census hereafter taken: Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall apply to any of the establishments mentioned in section one of this act, where five or more females are employed, and located outside of the incorporated limits of any city or within the limits of any city, town or village of less than five thousand (5,000) population.

SEC. 3. Toilets and seats.—Every employer in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, or workshop, laundry, printing office, dressmaking or millinery establishment, hotel, restaurant, or theater or telegraph or telephone establishment and office, or any other establishment employing females, shall provide adequate and suitable toilet facilities for such employees and shall provide suitable seats for all female employees and permit them to use such seats when not engaged in the active performance of the duties of their employment.

CHAPTER 222.—Free public employment office at Tulsa

SECTION 1. Branch office.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized to establish at Tulsa, Oklahoma, a branch of the Oklahoma free employment bureau, and to appoint an attendant for said agency whose salary shall not exceed the sum of $900 per annum, and all necessary expenses incurred in the conducting of said agency: Provided, Said expenses shall not exceed $300 per year.

ACTS OF 1917

CHAPTER 181.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. License.—[A license issued by the commissioner of labor, on payment of an annual fee of $50, is required for all employment agencies. Licenses are nontransferable, but may be used in a different location on notice to the commissioners.]

SECS. 2, 3. Bond; revocation of license.—[A bond of $500 is required conditioned on compliance with the law. Licenses may be revoked for violation of any of the provisions of the act. The commissioner of labor may call witnesses, examine papers, etc., in connection with revocation proceedings, and may apply to the district judge for a writ of contempt to enforce obedience to subpœnas.]

SEC. 4. Sign.—[No sign or advertisement may carry a name similar to that of the State free employment bureau.]

SEC. 5. Registers.—[Registers must be kept, showing name, sex, age, occupation, fee charged, etc., also showing names and addresses of persons to whom help is furnished, and the nature of the employment.]

SEC. 6. Receipts.—[Receipts must be issued to all persons for whom positions are secured, showing name, age, sex, occupation, fee charged, and the name and address of the employer, and the wages to be paid. A copy is to be sent to the commissioner of labor, and one kept on file.]

SEC. 7. Registration.—[No fee may be charged for registration or an agreement to furnish employment or help.]

SECS. 8, 9. Fees.—[Fees for procuring employment may not exceed 5 per cent of the first month's wages, where the employment is for one month or more; in other cases not more than $1; and in no case may a fee be charged both the employer and the employee. No other charge may be made.

If the applicant fails to procure employment he may demand the return of his fee, and if he was sent beyond the limits of the city, his actual expenses incurred by reason of failure to receive the employment. Dividing fees subjects the agency to a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100, or imprisonment not over 6 months.]

SEC. 10. Acts forbidden.—[Sending any female to any place of bad repute or immoral resort, or giving false information or making false entries in the registers is forbidden.]

SECS. 11, 12. Fulfilling contracts.—[Employers who have workmen brought into the State, or transferred from one point to another in the State by means of an employment agency must immediately fulfill the terms of their contracts as to furnishing employment, or within 12 hours furnish transportation and cost of meals and lodging for the return of the workmen to their original starting point, under penalty of a fine of from $50 to $100. The commissioner shall, after investigating the facts, order all employment agents in the State to refuse further service to such employers.]

SEC. 13. Scope.—[Included under the act are manual and mechanical labor, and clerical, domestic, and professional service.]

SECS. 14, 15. Enforcement.—[Enforcement of the act rests with the commissioner of labor, who may issue such rules and regulations as he deems necessary to make its provisions effective. It is his duty to prosecute violations, which if not specifically provided for, are punishable by a fine of from $5 to $100 or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both; but for sending a female to a place of bad repute or immoral resort, the penalty is imprisonment not less than 30 days nor more than 6 months, and no license may again issue to such violator of the law.]

SEC. 16. Exception.—[Charitable organizations not charging a fee are not included under this act.]

CHAPTER 146.—Inspection of steam boilers

SECTION 1. Inspectors.—[The State factory inspector and his assistants, under the direction of the commissioner of labor, are to supervise the work of inspecting and, as far as possible, of installing steam boilers in the State.]

SEC. 2. Scope.—[Annual inspection is required of all steam boilers operated in the State except those under Federal jurisdiction, locomotive boilers, and boilers not exceeding 15 pounds gauge pressure, and threshing engines during the threshing season. Internal and external inspection are repaired, and the hammer and hydraulic test when deemed necessary.]

SEC. 3. Unsafe boilers.—[Boilers found defective must be repaired as directed, or their use may be prohibited.]

SEC. 4. Insurance inspectors.—[Inspection under the direction of insurance companies may be accepted by the labor commissioner.]

SEC. 5. Rules.—[The factory inspector, under the direction of the commissioner of labor, is authorized to make rules and issue orders for the safety of steam boilers, covering also appurtenances and boiler rooms.]

SEC. 6. Hindering inspection.—[Hindering inspectors in the preformance of their duties is forbidden.]

SEC. 7. Violations.—[Violation of the law or of inspector's orders is punishable by a fine of from $100 to $500, or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both.]

OREGON

OREGON LAWS—1920

Suits for wages—No property exempt

SECTION 227. Exemptions, property.—[Specific articles and values of property of a judgment debtor are exempt from execution, except where the claim is for labor performed for a person engaged in a business, trade or occupation, to enable him to carry the same on, in which case no article, tool, implement or apparatus used in the undertaking, or money due the employer on account thereof, shall be exempt.]

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 228 (as amended 1923, ch. 204). Exemptions, wages.—[The earnings of a judgment debtor for 30 days prior to service of attachment, etc., not exceeding $75 in amount, are exempt on a showing of necessity for the support of his family; but if the debt is for family expenses, 50 per cent of such earnings are exempt.]

Garnishment of wages—Public employees

SECTION 258. Garnishment.—[Wages and salaries of public employees are subject to garnishment, etc., in the hands of the officer charged with the payment of the same, in the same manner as property in the possession of individuals.]

Wages as preferred claims

SECTION 1110. Receiverships.—[Wages accrued within six months prior to the appointment of a receiver must be paid out of the first receipts, after the payment of current operating expenses; and must be paid at least every 30 days out of the first receipts and earnings. If these do not suffice to make such payments, certificates bearing interest at 8 per cent must be issued, to be redeemed out of the first receipts and earnings available.]

SEC. 1295. Administration.—[Wage debts rank next after funeral charges, United States taxes, expenses of last sickness, State and local taxes, debts preferred under United States laws and debts secured by liens at the time of the employee's death.]

CHAPTER 313.—Employers' advances—Fraudulent representations

SECTION 2025–2 (a). Offenses.—Every person who, with intent to defraud, shall sign for and accept or receive transportation to or in the direction of a place of employment provided by or at the instance or expense of the proposed employer, or who shall knowingly or with intent to defraud accept or receive the benefit of any other pecuniary advancements made by or at the instance or expense of his employer, as advances against wages for labor to be performed, and who shall neglect or refuse to render service or perform labor or pay in money equal in value to such transportation or other benefits accepted or received, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding $100 or imprisoned not exceeding sixty days, or both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court; and the failure or refusal of any such person to render service, perform labor, or pay in money, for such transportation or other benefits, shall be prima facie evidence of his or her intent to defraud: Provided, That at or prior to the time of advancing such transportation or other benefits the employer shall have delivered directly to such laborer or shall have filed in duplicate with the employment agency through which any such laborer is secured, one copy of which shall be delivered to such laborer, a written or printed statement setting forth the wages to be paid, the character of the work to be performed, and the living and working conditions: Provided further, That such wages to be paid, the character of the work to be performed and the living and working conditions must be as in such written or printed statement represented.

SEC. 2025–2 (b). False statements.—Every employer of labor who shall directly or through any agent, knowingly and with intent to deceive, file with any employment agency as a preliminary to securing labor, a false written or printed statement of wages to be paid, work to be performed, or living and working conditions, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not to exceed $100 or imprisoned not to exceed sixty days, or both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court; and the failure or refusal of such employer to employ any laborer, to whom such written or printed statement has been delivered, shall be prima facie evidence of intent to deceive.

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 2060. Attempting to influence vote.—Any person or corporation who directly or indirectly uses any force, violence, or restraint, or inflicts or threatens to inflict any injury, damage, harm, or loss, or in any other manner practices intimidation upon or against any person in his or its employ, in order to induce or compel such person to refrain from voting at any election, or to vote or to refrain from voting for or against any person or persons, or for or against any proposition submitted to the voters at such election, or to place or cause to be placed, or refrain from placing or causing to be placed, his name upon a registry of voters, or on account of any person having so voted or refrained from voting at such election, or having registered or refrained from registering as a voter; or by abduction, duress, or any forcible or fraudulent device or contrivance whatsoever impedes, prevents, or otherwise interferes with the free exercise of the elective franchise by any such employee; or compels, induces, or prevails upon any voter to give or refrain from giving his vote for or against any particular person or proposition, at any election; or, being an employer, pays his employee the salary or wages due him in pay envelopes upon which there is written or printed any political motto, device, or argument containing threats, expressed or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of such employees; or within ninety days of a general election puts or otherwise exhibits in the establishment or place where his employees are engaged in labor, any handbill or placard containing any threat, notice, or information that if any particular ticket or candidate is elected or defeated work in his place or establishment will cease in whole or in part, his establishment be closed up or the wages of his employees reduced, or other threats, expressed or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of his or its employee, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2061. Violations.—Any person or corporation found guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of the preceding section of this act shall be fined in a sum not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, and, if a corporation, shall in addition forfeit its charter.

Interference with employers and employees—Coercion

SECTION 2176. Interference with employment of labor, etc.—If any person shall, by force, threats, or intimidation, prevent, or endeavor to prevent, any person employed by another from continuing or performing his work, or from accepting any new work or employment; or if any person shall circulate any false written or printed matter, or be concerned in the circulation of any such matter, to induce others not to buy from or sell to or have dealings with any person, for the purpose or with the intent to prevent such person from employing any person, or to force or compel him to employ or discharge from his employment anyone, or to alter his mode of carrying on his business, or to limit or increase the number of his employees or their rate of wages or time of service, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the county jail not more than six nor less than one month, or by fine of not less than $10 nor more than $200.

The action of the executive committee of a labor union in going to an establishment and directing the members of the union at work there to cease their work under penalty of being dealt with according to the rules of the union, is not, in the absence of acts of intimidation and violence, unlawful under this section. 26 Oreg. 544.

SEC. 2177. Employees as traders, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to compel by threats or intimidation, or threats of discharge, or to use any means to compel an employee against his will to board at any particular hotel, boarding house, or other place where lodgings or board may be provided, or to require an employee to purchase goods and supplies at any particular store.

SEC. 2178. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines, $25 to $100, or imprisonment, 10 to 30 days, or both.]

SEC. 2179. Blacklisting forbidden.—No corporation, company, or individual shall blacklist or publish, or cause to be blacklisted or published, any employee, mechanic, or laborer discharged by such corporation, company, or individual, with intent and for the purpose of preventing such employee, mechanic, or laborer from engaging in or securing similar or other employment from any other corporation, company, or individual.

SEC. 2180. Violations.—[Violations of above section are punishable by fine, $50 to $250, or imprisonment, 30 to 90 days, or both.]

Labor organizations—Unauthorized use of badges

SECTION 2202. Use of badge by nonmembers.—It is unlawful for any person not a member thereof to wear or display any badge, button, insignia, rosette or other emblem of any order, society or organization.

SEC. 2202–1. Seeking aid.—It is unlawful for any person not a member of any order, society or organization to use the name of any such order, society or organization to seek or obtain aid or assistance from any member thereof or from the public by virtue of claiming or representing himself, herself or itself to be entitled thereto as a member of any such order, society or organization when not a member thereof.

SEC. 2202–2. Definitions.—The word "person" hereinafter used in this act shall include every man, woman and every association voluntary or incorporated and every corporation whatsoever in this State or coming into the State. The words "order, society or organization" hereinafter used in this act shall include every labor organization or association. * * *

Employment on public works—Chinese—Aliens

SECTION 2906. Chinese not to be employed.—It shall be unlawful to employ any Chinese laborers on any street or part of street of any city or incorporated town of this State, or any public works or public improvement of any character except as a punishment for crime; and all contracts which any person or corporation may have for the improvement of any such street or part of street, or public works or improvements of any character, shall be null and void from and after the date of any employment of any Chinese laborers thereon by the contractor: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent any Chinese laborer working his own or any other Chinaman's property or poll road tax under the direction of any supervisor of roads in this State.

SEC. 2999. List of employees.—Every contractor shall, upon demand of the executive officer of the State or municipal corporation with which he has contracted, furnish a list of his employees, which shall set forth whether they are citizens of the United States.

Railroads—Inspection—Wages and hours.

SECTION 5843. Inspection.— * * * The commission shall also, from time to time, and as often as once each year, carefully examine and inspect the physical condition of each railroad in the State, its roadbed, stations, equipment, and the manner of its conduct and management with reference to the safety of the public and the employees of such railroad, and the convenience of the public, and shall report the result of its investigation to the railroad company, together with its recommendations thereon: Provided, That this section shall not be construed as repealing any existing law on the subject.

SEC. 5871. Investigation.— * * * The commission shall also ascertain * * * the amount paid for salaries to the officers of the road, and the wages paid to its employees, and the maximum hours of continuous service required of each class. Whenever the information required by this section is obtained, it shall be printed in the annual report of the commission. In making such investigation the commission may avail itself of any information in possession of any State board or officer.

CHAPTER 139.—Railroads—Discharge of bonded employees

SECTION 5912. Statement of cause to be furnished.—In case of any dispute or disagreement between any bonded employee, or employees, of any railroad, as the word "railroad" is defined in section 5829, which dispute shall result in the discharge or termination of the services of said bonded employee, or employees, it shall be the duty of the said railroad to furnish to such bonded employee, or employees, so discharged, upon request, a copy of the charges filed against said employee, or employees, as a result of which the services of said employee, or employees, shall have been discontinued: Provided, however, That if no written charges have been filed against such employee, or employees, as a result of which their services shall have been terminated, it shall be the duty of said railroad to furnish the employee, or employees, so discharged, with a written statement of the reasons for the discharge of said employee, or employees, within five days from the date of the termination of the services of said employee, or employees.

SECS. 5913–5916. Failure to furnish; enforcement.—[If the railroad fails to furnish a copy of the charges to the employee within five days from the discharge, such employee may complain to the railroad commission for the purpose of determining the cause of discharge; and if moral turpitude is charged, and the complaint is made that the charge was untrue, the commission will give ten days' notice of hearing. Process will issue to secure the attendance of witnesses, the presence of documents, etc., and if the charges are found to be false, a finding to that effect will be made, and reinstatement recommended, a copy being furnished to the complainant. Failure of persons to appear and answer legal inquiries subjects them to a fine, $100 to $1,000, or imprisonment not more than one year, or both.]

Railroads—Shelters for employees at division points

SECTION 5923. Sheds to be constructed.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad company, corporation, association or other person owning, controlling, or operating any line of railroad in the State of Oregon, to build, construct, or repair railroad car equipment in the State without first erecting and maintaining at every division terminal or other point where five men or more, not including car inspectors, are regularly employed on such repair work, a shed over a sufficient portion of the tracks used for such repair work, so as to provide that all men regularly employed in the construction and repair of cars, trucks, or other railroad car equipment shall be sheltered and protected from rain and other inclement weather: Provided, however, That the provisions of this act shall not apply at points where less than five men are regularly employed in the repair service, nor at points where it is necessary to make light repairs only on cars, nor to cars loaded with time or perishable freight, nor to cars when trains are being held for the movement of cars.

SEC. 5924. Violations.—[Failure to comply with above section entails a fine, $50 to $100, each day's violation constituting a separate offense.]

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees—Waivers

SECTION 5926. Company liable, when.—Every corporation operating a railroad in this State, whether such corporation be created under the laws of this State or otherwise, shall be liable in damages for any and all injury sustained by any employee of such corporation as follows: When such injury results from the wrongful act, neglect, or default of an agent or officer of such corporation, superior to the employee injured, or of a person employed by such corporation having the right to control or direct the services of such employee injured, or the services of the employee by whom he is injured; and also when such injury results from the wrongful act, neglect, or default of a coemployee engaged in another department of labor from that of the employee injured, or of a coemployee on another train of cars, or of a coemployee who has charge of any switch, signal point, or locomotive engine, or who is charged with dispatching trains or transmitting telegraphic or telephonic orders. Knowledge by an employee injured of the defective or unsafe character or condition of any machinery, ways, appliances, or structures of such corporation shall not of itself be a bar to recovery for any injury or death caused thereby. When death, whether instantaneous or otherwise, results from an injury to any employee of such corporation received as aforesaid, the personal representative of such employee shall have a right of action therefor against such corporation, and may recover damages in respect thereof. Any contract or agreement, express or implied, made by any such employee to waive the benefit of this section, or any part thereof, shall be null and void, and this section shall not be construed to deprive any such employee, or his personal representative, of any right or remedy to which he is now entitled under the laws of this State.

SEC. 5927. Contributory negligence.—The rules and principles of law as to contributory negligence which apply to other cases shall apply to cases arising under this act, except in so far as the same are herein modified or changed.

Railroads—Provisions for safety

SECTION 5928. Guards for frogs, etc.—Every person or corporation owning or operating a railroad in this State shall be, and is hereby, required on or before the first day of July, 1912, to so adjust, fill, block, and securely guard the frogs, switches, and guardrails of their roads as to protect and prevent the feet of employees and other persons from being caught therein. No person or corporation owning or operating a railroad within this State shall employ or use as a flagman on or in connection with the operation of any passenger train any person who can not read and write and speak the English language or any person who is less than 21 years of age.

SEC. 5929. Liability.—Any person or corporation owning or operating a railroad in this State shall be liable for any damage caused from a failure to comply with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5930. Violations.—[Violations entail penalties of fines, $500 to $2,000.]

Railroads—Height of wires crossing tracks

SECTION 5971. Permits.—[No wires, electric or other, may be strung over the tracks of a railroad company except as authorized and approved by the county court on notice of at least 10 days prior to hearing.]

SEC. 5972. Present construction.—[Existing construction is to be inspected and reasonable changes ordered, the cost to be apportioned as may be deemed just and reasonable. No wire may be less than 25 feet above the tracks, except trolley wires, which may be not less than 22 feet from the top of the rail.]

SEC. 5973. Violations.—[Failure to comply with orders made entails a penalty of $100 for each 10 days of noncompliance.]

Street railways—Seats for motormen—Vestibules

SECTION 5999. Seats to be provided.—Each person, firm, or corporation owning, managing, or operating any intrastate, interurban, and city electric street railway line in the State of Oregon shall provide all cars run or used on his, their, or its respective roads with good, substantial, and sufficient seats for the use of motormen operating passenger cars. Said motormen shall be permitted to occupy said seats at least one-half the time while operating said cars.

SEC. 6000. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine, $50 for the first and $100 for each subsequent violation, each day being a separate offense.]

SEC. 6001. Platform to be inclosed, when.—Each corporation, company, and individual owning, managing, or operating any street railway line in the State of Oregon shall provide, during the months of November, December, January, February, and March of each year, all cars run or used on its or their respective roads with good, substantial, and sufficient vestibules or weather guards for the reasonable protection of the employees operating passenger cars of such corporation, company, or individual.

SEC. 6002. Construction of platforms.—The vestibules or weather guards provided for in section 6001 shall be so constructed and so maintained and adjusted upon each car during each of the said months as to reasonably protect the employees of such corporation, company, or individual operating said passenger car from the wind, rain, or snow.

SEC. 6003. Violations.—[Violations entail penalty of fine, $100 for the first offense and $100 for each subsequent violation, each day being a separate offense.]

Employment of labor—Medical and hospital fees

SECTION 6642. Scope of act.—An employer under the terms of this act shall be taken to mean all persons, firms, companies, corporations, or associations of persons, not including employers engaged in interstate commerce, doing business within this State who have been withholding or who may hereafter withhold or accept any portion of the wages of their employees for medical, surgical, or hospital care and attention.

Wherever the word "contractor" is used in this act it shall be understood to include any individual, firm, association, or company which may contract with any employer for the medical, surgical, or hospital care and attention of his employees.

SEC. 6643. Law to be observed.—On or after July 1, 1917, it shall be unlawful for any employer to deduct, withhold, or accept any portion of the wages of any employee for medical, surgical, or hospital care and attention or to expend any portion of the wages deducted or accepted for such purpose, except as provided in this act.

SEC. 6644. Collection of fees lawful.—It shall be lawful for an employer to collect or deduct a portion of the wages of his employees for medical, surgical, or hospital care and attention in such an amount and in such a manner as may be reasonable: Provided, That if any employee shall complain to the industrial accident commission as to the amount or manner of said deduction, then it shall be unlawful, after notice by said commission, for any employer to deduct or accept any portion of the wages of his employees except in the manner and amounts approved by the said industrial accident commission: Provided, That it shall be unlawful for any employer to directly or indirectly retain any portion of the said fund so collected for his own use or benefit, it being the intention of this act that the money so collected by the employer shall be a trust fund and shall be kept in separate accounts and promptly paid over for the purpose for which it is so collected and shall in no event become a part of the assets of any such employer.

SEC. 6645. Contractors.—It shall be lawful for employers to make contracts with contractors with regard to the funds of his [their] employees collected under the provisions of section 6644: Provided, That the industrial accident commission shall have power and authority to cancel any such contract whenever it shall deem that the physician selected to give service is not reasonably competent or the service furnished is not reasonably efficient: Provided further, That no contract shall be valid or effective between an employer and any contractor which shall extend over a period of more than one year, except that the contractor may make a valid contract for two years with the previous consent of the commission.

SEC. 6646. Statements.—Each contractor shall, on the first day of July and the first day of January of each year, make a statement to the industrial accident commission showing the amount of funds received from each employer during the preceding six months.

SEC. 6647. Supervision.—The supervision given to the industrial accident commission under the provisions of this act shall be exercised for the best interests of the employees, and any complaint made by any employee to said industrial accident commission hereunder shall be made in writing and subscribed and sworn to.

SEC. 6648. Reports.—The industrial accident commission is hereby authorized to demand from the employer such sworn statements and reports as may be reasonably deemed necessary in the administration of this act.

SEC. 6649. Violations.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500.

Accidents to be reported

SECTION 6650. Who to report.—Every railroad (as defined in section 5829) and every public utility (as defined in section 630) and every other person, firm, association or corporation, including receivers appointed by any court, who employs more than three persons at the same time or is subject to the provisions of chapter 1 of Title XXVII [relating to cities and towns] shall report to the State industrial accident commission any and all accidents happening to any person upon the premises of such railroad, public utility, or employer, or to any workman or employee. Such report shall be made within five days from the occurrence of such accidents and shall state:

1. The time, place, cause, and nature of the accident and injuries, the name, sex, age, and particular relationship between the person injured and the person so reporting, and the probable duration of the injury resulting therefrom.

2. Whether the accident arose out of or in the course of the injured person's employment or out of any relationship as passenger or patron of the railroad or public utility.

3. Any other matters which by its rules and regulations the State industrial accident commission may prescribe.

SEC. 6651. Records.—The State industrial accident commission shall preserve such reports as a public record available for the use of any other department or agency of the State government and shall publish a summary thereof in its reports to the governor.

SEC. 6652. Immediate notice, when.—Every railroad and public utility shall, in addition to the reports required by section 6650 hereof, give immediate notice, by telegraph, telephone, or personally, to the Railroad Commission of Oregon whenever any accident occurs within this State upon its premises, line of railroad, depot grounds or yards, or directly or indirectly arises from or connected with its maintenance or operation, which accident is attended by loss of human life or limb or serious injury to property. The Railroad Commission of Oregon may, if it deem the public interest requires it, investigate such accident forthwith, after seasonably notifying the railroad or public utility of the time and place of the investigation.

SEC. 6653. Use as evidence.—No report or any part thereof required by this act shall be used as evidence or used for any purpose against the railroad, public utility, or other employer in any suit or action for damages growing out of any matter mentioned in said report.

SEC. 6654. Violations.—[Violation is punishable by fine, $5 to $100, or imprisonment, 30 days, or both.]

Rehabilitation of injured workmen.

SECTION 6655. Fund created.—There is hereby created a fund to be known as the "rehabilitation fund." The State treasurer shall transfer one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars from the industrial accident fund to the rehabilitation fund and there shall also be transferred to such fund, monthly, two and one-half per cent of the total monthly receipts of the State industrial accident commission from all sources. All interest earnings of the rehabilitation fund shall be credited to the industrial accident fund.

SEC. 6656. Rules.—The said commission is hereby authorized to provide under uniform rules and regulations, for the vocational rehabilitation of men and women injured by accident arising out of and in the course of their employment while working under the protection of the workmen's compensation law.

SEC. 6657. Use of fund.—The said commission is hereby authorized to expend as much of the said rehabilitation fund as may be necessary to accomplish the vocational rehabilitation of men and women injured as aforesaid: Provided, however, That nothing in this act shall be construed to amend or repeal the authority of the said commission under section 6628, to expend from the industrial accident fund money for the rent of buildings, the purchase of equipment and supplies, the payment of such doctors and nurses as may be necessary for the purpose of physical rehabilitation of injured workmen under said section 6628.

SEC. 6658. School boards.—Every school board of every school district maintaining vocational instructors or departments of any kind, shall upon application of the State industrial accident commission, and when its facilities will permit, furnish, to any person or persons designated by said commission, such vocational instruction as is provided for the pupils of said district and said commission shall cause to be paid to said district the actual cost of such instruction as nearly as may be estimated by said school board.

SEC. 6659. Blind and deaf.—Upon application of the State industrial accident commission, the State board of control shall provide for any person or persons designated by said commission, such vocational instruction at the Oregon State schools for the blind and deaf as is furnished to the other pupils of said school and said commission shall cause to be paid therefor, to the State board of control, such tuition charges as may be fixed by said board which amount may be expended by said board for the support and maintenance of said school.

Bureau of labor statistics

SECTION 6660. Bureau established.—There is hereby established a separate and distinct department in this State, to be known as the "bureau of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops," to be in charge and under control of a commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, which office is hereby created.

SEC. 6661. Commissioner.—At the general election in the year 1906, there shall be elected, as other State officers are elected, a citizen of the State of Oregon, who has been a resident of the State over five years, to fill the office of commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops, elected and qualified. At the general election every fourth year thereafter whose term of office shall be four years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. At the general election every fourth year thereafter there shall be elected a commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of workshops and factories, whose term of office shall be four years and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

SEC. 6662. Duties.—It shall be the duty of such officer to cause to be enforced all the laws regulating the employment of children, minors, and women; all laws established for the protection of the health, lives, and limbs of operatives in workshops, factories, mills, and other places, and all laws enacted for the protection of the working classes; laws which declare it to be a misdemeanor on the part of the employers to require as a condition of employment the surrender of any rights of citizenship; laws regulating and prescribing the qualifications of persons in trades and handcrafts, and similar laws now in force or hereafter to be enacted. It shall also be the duty of the officers to collect, assort, arrange, and present, in biennial reports to the legislature, on or before the first Monday in January, statistical details relating to all the departments of labor in the State; to the subject of corporations, strikes, or other labor difficulties; to trade-unions and other labor organizations, and their effect upon labor or capital; the number and condition of the Japanese and Chinese in the State, their social and sanitary habits; number of married and of single; the number employed and the nature of their employment; the average wages per day at each employment and the gross amount yearly; the amount expended by them in rent, food, and clothing, and in what proportion such amounts are expended for foreign and home productions, respectively; to what extent their employment comes in competition with the white industrial classes of the State; and to such other matters relating to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, moral, and sanitary conditions of the laboring classes, and the permanent prosperity of the respective industries of the State as the bureau may be able to gather. In its biennial report the bureau shall also give account of all the proceedings of its officers which have been taken in accordance with the provisions of this act, herein referred to, including a statement of all violations of law which have been observed, and the proceedings under the same, and shall join with such amounts [accounts] and such remarks, suggestions, and recommendations as the commissioner may deem necessary.

SEC. 6663. Information confidential.—It shall be the duty of every owner, operator, or manager of every factory, workshop, mill, or other establishment, excepting mines, where labor is employed, to make to the bureau, upon blanks furnished by said bureau, such reports and returns as the said bureau may require, for the purpose of compiling such labor statistics as are authorized by this act, and the owner or business manager shall make such reports and returns within the time prescribed therefor by said commissioner, and shall certify to the correctness of the same. In the report of said bureau no use shall be made of the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying the information called for by this section; such information shall be deemed confidential, and not for the purpose of disclosing personal affairs. Any officer, agent, or employee of said bureau violating this provision shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $500, or be imprisoned for not more than one year in the county jail.

SEC. 6964. Powers.—Said commissioner shall have the power to issue subpœnas, administer oaths, and take testimony in all matters relating to the duties herein required by such bureau, and such testimony to be taken in some suitable place in the vicinity to which testimony is applicable. Witnesses subpœnaed and testifying before any officer of the said bureau shall be paid the same fees as witnesses before a circuit court, such payment to be made from the fund appropriated for the use of the bureau, and in the manner provided in section 6987 for the payment of other expenses of the bureau. Any person duly subpœnaed under the provisions of this section, who shall willfully neglect or refuse to attend, or testify, at the time and place named in the subpœna, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 6965. Entering work places.—Said commissioner of the bureau of labor shall have power to enter any factory, mill, office, workshop, or public or private works, at any reasonable time, for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics, such as are contemplated by this act; and to examine into the methods of protection from danger to employees, and the sanitary conditions in and around such buildings and places, and make a record thereof; and any owner or occupant of said factory, mill, office, or workshop, or public or private works, or his agent, or agents, who shall refuse to allow an inspector or employee of said bureau to enter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, before any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed ninety days for each and every offense.

SEC. 6966. Records, etc.—At the expiration of two years all records, schedules, and papers accumulating in said bureau that may be considered of no value by the commissioner may be destroyed: Provided, The authority of the governor be first obtained for such destruction.

SEC. 6967. Salary, etc.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics and inspector of workshops and factories shall from and after the first day of January, 1911, receive an annual salary of $3,000, payable quarterly, and is authorized to incur such expense and employ such clerical aid as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act. The secretary of state is hereby authorized to draw warrants on the State treasurer for the payment of such expense upon properly verified vouchers approved by the commissioner: Provided, however, That said expense shall not exceed at any time the amount appropriated therefor. Said commissioner shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, execute a bond to the State of Oregon in the sum of $3,000, conditioned upon the faithful, honest, and impartial performance of his duties under this act, which bond shall be approved by the secretary of state and filed in his office. Such commissioner shall include in his biennial report to the governor and legislature an itemized statement of the expense of the bureau incurred by him.

Industrial welfare commission—Employment of women and children.

SECTION 6968. Commission created.—There is hereby created a commission composed of three commissioners, which shall be known as the "Industrial Welfare Commission"; and the word "commission" as hereinafter used refers to and means said industrial welfare commission; and the word "commissioner" as hereinafter used refers to and means a member of said industrial welfare commission. Said commissioners shall be appointed by the governor. The governor shall make his first appointments hereunder within thirty days after this bill becomes a law; and of the three commissioners first appointed, one shall hold office until January 1, 1914, and another shall hold office until January 1, 1915, and the third shall hold office until January 1, 1916; and the governor shall designate the terms of each of said three first appointees. On or before the first day of January of each year, beginning with the year 1914, the governor shall appoint a commissioner to succeed the commissioner whose term expires on said first day of January; and such new appointee shall hold office for the term of three years from said first day of January. Each commissioner shall hold office until his successor is appointed and has qualified; and any vacancy that may occur in the membership of said commission shall be filled by appointment by the governor for the unexpired portion of the term in which such vacancy occurs. A majority of said commissioners shall constitute a quorum to transact business, and the act or decision of such a majority shall be deemed the act or decision of said commission; and no vacancy shall impair the right of the remaining commissioners to exercise all the powers of said commission. The governor shall, so far as practicable, so select aud appoint said commissioners—both the original appointments and all subsequent appointments—that at all times one of said commissioners shall represent the interests of the employing class and one of said commissioners shall represent the interests of the employed class and the third of said commissioners shall be one who will be fair and impartial between employers and employees and work for the best interests of the public as a whole.

SEC. 6669. Organization.—The first commissioners appointed under this act shall, within twenty days after their appointment, meet and organize said commission by electing one of their number as chairman thereof and by choosing a secretary of said commission; and by or before the 10th day of January of each year, beginning with the year 1914, said commissioners shall elect a chairman and choose a secretary for the ensuing year. Each such chairman and each such secretary shall hold his or her position until his or her successor is elected or chosen; but said commission may at any time remove any secretary chosen hereunder. Said secretary shall not be a commissioner; and said secretary shall perform such duties as may be prescribed and receive such salary as may be fixed by said commission. None of said commissioners shall receive any salary as such. All authorized and necessary expenses of said commission and all authorized and necessary expenditures incurred by said commission shall be audited and paid as other State expenses and expenditures are audited and paid.

SEC. 6670. Duties.—Said commission is hereby authorized and empowered to ascertain and declare, in the manner hereinafter provided, the following things: (a) Standards of hours of employment for women or for minors and what are unreasonably long hours for women or for minors in any occupation within the State of Oregon; (b) Standards of conditions of labor for women or for minors in any occupation within the State of Oregon and what surroundings or conditions—sanitary or otherwise—are detrimental to the health or morals of women or of minors in any such occupation; (c) Standards of minimum wages for women in any occupation within the State of Oregon and what wages are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living to any such women workers and to maintain them in good health; and (d) Standards of minimum wages for minors in any occupation within the State of Oregon and what wages are unreasonably low for any such minor workers.

SEC. 6671. Investigations.—Said commission shall have full power and authority to investigate and ascertain the wages and the hours of labor and the conditions of labor of women and minors in the different occupations in which they are employed in the State of Oregon; and said commission shall have full power and authority, either through any authorized representative or any commissioner to inspect and examine any and all books and pay rolls and other records of any employer of women or minors that in any way appertain to or have a bearing upon the questions of wages or hours of labor or conditions of labor of any such women workers or minor workers in any of said occupations and to require from any such employer full and true statements of the wages paid to and the hours of labor of and the conditions of labor of all women and minors in his employment.

SEC. 6672. Meetings; hearings.—Said commission may hold meetings for the transaction of any of its business at such times and places as it may prescribe; and said commission may hold public hearings at such times and places as it deems fit and proper for the purpose of investigating any of the matters it is authorized to investigate by this act. At any such public hearing any person interested in the matter being investigated may appear and testify. Said commission shall have power to subpœna and compel the attendance of any witness at any such public hearing or at any session of any conference called and held as hereinafter provided; and any commissioner shall have power to administer an oath to any witness who testifies at any such public hearing or at any such session of any conference. All witnesses subpœnaed by said commission shall be paid the same mileage and per diem as are allowed by law to witnesses in civil cases before the circuit court of Multnomah County.

SEC. 6673. Injurious conditions.—If, after investigation, said commission is of opinion that any substantial number of women workers in any occupation are working unreasonably long hours or are working under surroundings or conditions detrimental to their health or morals or are receiving wages inadequate to supply them with the necessary cost of living and maintain them in health, said commission may call and convene a conference for the purpose and with the powers of considering and inquiring into and reporting on the subject investigated by said commission and submitted by it to such conference. Such conference shall be composed of not more than three representatives of the employers in said occupation and of an equal number of the representatives of the employees in said occupation and of not more than three disinterested persons representing the public and of one or more commissioners. Said commission shall name and appoint all the members of such conference and designate the chairman thereof. Said commission shall present to such conference all information and evidence in the possession or under the control of said commission which relates to the subject of the inquiry by such conference; and said commission shall cause to be brought before such conference any witnesses whose testimony said commission deems material to the subject of the inquiry by such conference. After completing its consideration of and inquiry into the subject submitted to it by said commission, such conference shall make and transmit to said commission a report containing the findings and recommendations of such conference on said subject. Accordingly as the subject submitted to it may require, such conference shall, in its report, make recommendations on any or all of the following questions concerning the particular occupation under inquiry, to wit: (a) Standards of hours of employment for women workers and what are unreasonably long hours of employment for women workers; (b) Standards of conditions of labor for women workers and what surroundings or conditions—sanitary or otherwise—are detrimental to the health or morals of women workers; (c) Standards of minimum wages for women workers and what wages are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living to women workers and maintain them in health. In its recommendations on a question of wages such conference shall, where it appears that any substantial number of women workers in the occupation under inquiry are being paid by piece rates as distinguished from time rate recommend minimum piece rates as well as minimum time rate and recommend such minimum piece rates as will in its judgment be adequate to supply the necessary cost of living to women workers of average ordinary ability and maintain them in health; and in its recommendations on a question of wages such conference shall, when it appears proper or necessary, recommend suitable minimum wages for learners and apprentices and the maximum length of time any woman worker may be kept at such wages as a learner or apprentice, which said wages shall be less than the regular minimum wages recommended for the regular women workers in the occupation under inquiry. Two-thirds of the members of any such conference shall constitute a quorum; and the decision or recommendation or report of such a two-thirds on any subject submitted shall be deemed the decision or recommendations or report of such conference.

SEC. 6674. Powers of commission.—Upon receipt of any report from any conference said commission shall consider and review the recommendations contained in said report; and said commission may approve any or all of said recommendations or disapprove any or all of said recommendations; and said commission may resubmit to the same conference or a new conference any subject covered by any recommendations so disapproved. If said commission approves any recommendations contained in any report from any conference, said commission shall publish notice, not less than once a week for four successive weeks in not less than two newspapers of general circulation published in Multnomah County, that it will on a date and at a place named in said notice hold a public meeting at which all persons in favor of or opposed to said recommendations will be given a hearing; and, after said publication of said notice and said meeting, said commission may, in its discretion, make and render such an order as may be proper or necessary to adopt such recommendations and carry the same into effect and require all employers in the occupation affected thereby to observe and comply with such recommendations and said order. Said order shall become effective in sixty days after it is made and rendered and shall be in full force and effect on and after the sixtieth day following its making and rendition. After such order becomes effective and while it is effective, it shall be unlawful for any employer to violate or disregard any of the terms of provisions of said order or to employ any woman worker in any occupation covered by said order for longer hours or under different surroundings or conditions or at lower wages than are authorized or permitted by said order. Said commission shall, as far as is practicable, mail a copy of any such order to every employer affected thereby; and every employer affected by any such order shall keep a copy thereof posted in a conspicuous place in each room in his establishment in which women workers work. No such order of said commission shall authorize or permit the employment of any woman for more hours per day or per week than the maximum now fixed by law.

Provided, however, That in case of emergencies which may arise in the conduct of any industry or occupation overtime may be permitted under conditions and rules which the commission after investigation, shall determine and prescribe by order and which shall apply equally to all employers in such industry or occupation.

SEC. 6675. Minors.—Said commission may at any time inquire into wages or hours or conditions of labor of minors employed in any occupation in this State and determine suitable wages and hours and conditions of labor for such minors. When said commission has made such determination, it may issue an obligatory order in the manner provided for in section 6674; and, after such order is effective, it shall be unlawful for any employer in said occupation to employ a minor at less wages or for more hours or under different conditions of labor than are specified or required in or by said order; but no such order of said commission shall authorize or permit the employment of any minor for more hours per day or per week than the maximum now fixed by law or at any times or under any conditions now prohibited by law.

SEC. 6676. Definition.—The word "occupation" as used in this act shall be so construed as to include any and every vocation and pursuit and trade and industry. Any conference may make a separate inquiry into and report on any branch of any occupation; and said commission may make a separate order affecting any branch of any occupation. Any conference may make different recommendations and said commission may make different orders for the same occupation in different localities in the State when, in the judgment of such conference or said commission, different conditions in different localities justify such different recommendations or different orders.

SEC. 6677. Prosecutions.—Said commission shall, from time to time, investigate and ascertain whether or not employers in the State of Oregon are observing and complying with its orders and take such steps as may be necessary to have prosecuted such employers as are not observing or complying with its orders.

SEC. 6678. Duties of officials.—The "commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops" and the several officers of the "board of inspection of child labor" shall, at any and all times, give to said commission any information or statistics in their respective offices that would assist said commission in carrying out this act and render such assistance to said commission as may not be inconsistent with the performance of their respective official duties.

SEC. 6679. Rules.—Said commission is hereby authorized and empowered to prepare and adopt and promulgate rules and regulations for the carrying into effect of the foregoing provisions of this act, including rules and regulations for the selection of members and the mode of procedure of conferences.

SEC. 6680. Appeals.—All questions of fact arising under the foregoing provisions of this act shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be determined by said commission, and there shall be no appeal from the decision of said commission on any such question of fact; but there shall be a right of appeal from said commission to the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Multnomah County from any ruling or holding on a question of law included in or embodied in any decision or order of said commission, and, on the same question of law, from said circuit court to the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon. In all such appeals the attorney general shall appear for and represent said commission.

SEC. 6681. Register of women and children employed.—Every employer of women or minors shall keep a register of the names of all women and all minors employed by him, and shall, on request, permit any commissioner or any authorized representative of said commission to inspect and examine such register. The word "minor," as used in this act, refers to and means any person of either sex under the age of eighteen years; and the word "women," as used in this act, refers to and means a female person of or over the age of eighteen years.

SEC. 6682. Hours of labor.—It shall be unlawful to employ women or minors in any occupation within the State of Oregon for unreasonably long hours; and it shall be unlawful to employ women or minors in any occupation within the State of Oregon under such surroundings or conditions—sanitary or otherwise—as may be detrimental to their health or morals; and it shall be unlawful to employ women in any occupation within the State of Oregon for wages which are inadequate to supply the necessary cost of living and to maintain them in health; and it shall be unlawful to employ minors in any occupation within the State of Oregon for unreasonably low wages.

SEC. 6683. Special license.—For any occupation in which only a minimum time rate wage has been established, said commission may issue to a woman physically defective or crippled by age or otherwise a special license authorizing her employment at such wage less than said minimum time rate wage as shall be fixed by said commission and stated in said license.

SEC. 6684. Violations.—[Penalty for violations is a fine, $25 to $100, or imprisonment not less than 10 days nor more than 3 months, or both.]

SEC. 6685. Discharge of employees.—Any employer who discharges or in any other manner discriminates against any employee because such employee has testified, or is about to testify, or because such employer believes that said employee may testify, in any investigation or proceedings under or relative to this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars.

SEC. 6686. Actions by woman employees.—If any woman worker shall be paid by her employer less than the minimum wage to which she is entitled under or by virtue of any order of said commission, she may recover in a civil action the full amount of her said minimum wage less any amount actually paid to her by said employer, together with such attorney's fees as may be allowed by the court; and any agreement for her to work for less than such minimum wage shall be no defense to such action.

SEC. 6687. Report.—Said commission shall, on or before the first day of January of the year 1915 and of each second year thereafter, make a succinct report to the governor and legislature of its work and the proceedings under this act during the preceding two years.

SEC. 6688. Canneries, etc.—In so far as section 6688 to 6687 confer authority upon the industrial welfare commission to regulate the hours of employment for women engaged in harvesting, packing, curing, canning or drying any variety of perishable fruit, vegetables, or fish, they are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6689. Ten-hour day.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment or office, or by any express or transportation company in this State more than ten hours during any one day, or more than sixty hours in one week. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any one time so that they shall not work more than ten hours during the twenty-four hours of one day or sixty hours during any one week: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section in relation to the hours of employment shall not apply to nor affect females employed in harvesting, packing, curing, canning or drying any variety of perishable fruit, vegetable or fish: Provided further, They be paid time and a half for time over ten hours per day when employed in canneries or driers or packing plants: Provided, also, that pieceworkers shall be paid one and a half the regular prices for all work done during the time they are employed over ten hours per day.

SEC. 6690. Seats to be provided.—Every employer in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel or restaurant, or other establishment employing any female, shall provide suitable seats for all female employees, and shall permit them to use such seats when they are not engaged in the active duties of their employment.

SEC. 6691. Violations.—[Fines of not less than $25 nor more than $100 are penalties for violations.]

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 6692. Age.—[Employment under 14 is forbidden in or in connection with factories, workshops, mercantile establishments, stores, offices, restaurants, bakeries, hotels, and apartment houses; and under 16 in telegraph, telephone, or messenger service.]

SEC. 6693. School hours.—[No employment for wages is permitted during school hours for children under 14.]

SEC. 6694. School attendance.—[Attendance up to 16 years of age is required of all children not legally employed.]

SEC. 6695. Work time.—[Work of children under 16 is forbidden between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m., or for more than 10 hours per day or 6 days per week. Meal time of 30 minutes must be allowed at noon. Notice of working hours must be posted in all workrooms.]

SECS. 6696–6699. Certificates.—[Children under 16 may not be employed without an age and schooling certificate, showing literacy and physical ability for the work contemplated. This is issued by the inspection authorities, and must be accessible to the local school authorities.]

SEC. 6700. Violations.—[Failure to produce the certificate is prima facie evidence of violation. Penalties range from $5 to $50 fines.]

SEC. 6701. Enforcement.—[Child labor inspectors may visit establishments and require the production of all certificates.]

SECS. 6702, 6703. Violations.—[Employers violating the act may be fined $10 to $25 for a first offense, $25 to $50 for a second, and for subsequent offenses be imprisoned 10 to 30 days. Parents or guardians may be fined $5 to $25.]

SEC. 6704. Vacation permits.—[Children 12 to 14 years of age may secure permits for vacation employment not injurious to their physical and moral welfare.]

SEC. 6705. Board of inspectors.—[An unsalaried board of inspectors, appointed in rotation for terms of five years, of whom 3 must be women, is provided for. A secretary at a salary of $1,500 may be employed.]

SEC. 6706. Messengers, etc.—[No minor under 18 may act as messenger or in delivery service between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

Hours of labor in factories, etc.

SECTION 6708 (as amended 1923, ch. 122). Ten hours; eight hours.—It is the public policy of the State of Oregon that no person shall be hired, nor permitted to work for wages, under any conditions or terms, for longer hours or days of service than is consistent with his health and well-being and ability to promote the general welfare of his increasing usefulness as a healthy and intelligent citizen. It is hereby declared that the working of any person more than ten hours in one day in any mill, factory, or manufacturing establishment, or the working of any person more than eight hours, exclusive of one hour, more or less, in one day, or more than forty-eight (48) hours in one calendar week, in sawmills, planing mills, shingle mills, and logging camps is injurious to the physical health and well-being of such person, and tends to prevent him from acquiring that degree of intelligence that is necessary to make him a useful and desirable citizen of the State.

SEC. 6709 (as amended 1923, ch. 122). Overtime.—No person shall be employed in any mill, factory, or manufacturing establishment in this State more than ten hours in any one day, or in sawmills, planing mills, shingle mills, and logging camps more than eight hours, exclusive of one hour, more or less, in one day, or more than forty-eight (48) hours in one calendar week, except logging train crews, watchmen, firemen, and persons engaged in the transportation, of men to and from work, and employees when engaged in making necessary repairs, or in the case of emergency where life and property is [are] in imminent danger: Provided, however, Employees may work overtime not to exceed three hours in one day, conditioned that payment be made for said overtime at the rate of time and one-half the regular wage. The provisions of this section shall not apply to persons employed in the care of quarters or live stock, conducting mess halls, superintendence and direction of work, or to the loading and removal of the finished forest product.

SEC. 6710 (as amended 1923, ch. 122). Act in effect.—Any employer who shall require or permit any person to work in any of the places mentioned in section 6709 more than the hours in said section provided for, during any day of twenty-four (24) hours, or who shall permit or suffer any overseer, superintendent, or other agent of such employee to violate any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for such offense not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500): Provided, That every day's violation of this act or any part thereof shall be deemed a separate offense: And provided further, That this act shall not be enforced is so far as same relates to working hours in sawmills, planing mills, shingle mills, and logging camps until laws containing like provisions regarding working hours in such places of employment in the States of California, Washington, and Idaho shall become effective in each of the said States, respectively.

Logging engineers, etc.—Age limit

SECTION 6711. Eighteen years, minimum.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to employ or allow any person under the age of eighteen years to act as engineer of or have charge of or operate any logging engine or engines used in logging operations, or to employ or allow any person under the age of sixteen years to act in the capacity of giving signals to the engineer in logging operations or receiving and forwarding such signals. Any person, firm, or corporation, and the agent, manager, or superintendent thereof, violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100), or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty days, nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 6712. Elevators.—No person, firm, or corporation shall employ or allow any person under the age of eighteen (18) years to run, operate, or have charge of, any elevator used for the purpose of carrying either persons or property.

SEC. 6713. Violations.—[Fines of from $10 to $100, or imprisonment 30 days to 6 months, or both, are penalties for violations.]

Hours of labor in mines

SECTION 6716. Limit of eight hours in mines.—No person who operates any underground mine yielding gold or silver or copper or lead or other metal shall permit or require any person to work in such underground mine for more than eight hours in any twenty-four hours, and the hours of employment in such employment or workday shall be consecutive excluding, however, any intermission of time for lunch or meals; but, in the case of emergency, where life or property is in imminent danger, persons may work in such underground mines for a longer time during the continuance of the exigency or emergency. This act shall not apply to mines in their first stages of development, such as tunnel work to a length of two hundred feet, or shaft work to a depth of one hundred and fifty feet, or to any surface excavation.

SEC. 6717. Violations.—[Fines of from $50 to $300, or imprisonment 30 days to 3 months, or both, are fixed for violations.]

Employment of labor on public works—Hours of labor

SECTION 6718 (as amended 1923, ch. 24). Terms of contract.— * * * Every such contract [for public works] shall contain a condition that no person shall be employed for more than eight hours in any one day, or forty-eight hours in any one week, unless in case of emergency, when no other competent labor is available, and in such cases such laborer shall be paid double wages for all overtime, * * *

SEC. 6721. Hours.—In all cases where labor is employed by the State, county, school district, municipality, municipal corporation or subdivision, either directly or through another, as a contractor, no person shall be required or permitted to labor, except as hereinafter provided, more than eight hours in any one day, or forty-eight hours in any one week, except in cases of necessity, emergency, or where the public policy absolutely requires it, in which event the person or persons so employed for excessive hours shall receive double pay for the overtime so employed; and no emergency, necessity or public policy shall be presumed to exist when other labor of like skill and efficiency, which has not been employed full time, is available: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to State institutions and departments: And provided further, That in the operation or repair of any plant owned or operated by any municipality of this State in any city or town having a population of not more than one thousand inhabitants, any person hereinbefore mentioned may be permitted to labor more than eight hours in any one day, but not more than fifty-six hours in any one week.

SEC. 6722. Eight hours a day's labor.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's labor in all cases where the State, county, school district, or any municipality, municipal corporation or subdivision is the employer of the labor, either directly or indirectly, by contract with another.

SEC. 6723. Violations.—[Fines of from $50 to $1,000, or imprisonment 5 days to 1 year, or both, are penalties for violations.]

Private employment offices

SECTION 6725. Agencies.—[Persons furnishing information as to employment for pay are agents, if for males and females, "general employment agents," if for females only, "female employment agents."]

SEC. 6726. Licenses; bonds.—[Licenses must be procured from the commissioner of labor statistics, application to be made at least 30 days in advance, with affidavits of 10 freeholders as to character and ability. Bonds conditioned on observance of the law and to cover damages due to violations or to fraud are also required.]

SEC. 6727. Fees.—[The limit on fees ranges from 5 per cent of one month's wages for females receiving not over $50 per month or for males receiving not over $60 per month to a maximum of $7.50 for either sex. Board is not to be counted as salary or wages in this respect.]

SEC. 6728. License fees; bonds.—[The fee for a license ranges from $2.50 in cities of less than 2,500 inhabitants to $50 in cities of 150,000 population and above. The amount of bond required similarly ranges from $100 to $1,000.]

SEC. 6729. Receipts; records.—[Receipts must be given, of a prescribed form, for all sums paid an agent, showing amount, situation secured, wages, cost of board, etc.; also a statement as to the return of the fee. Records must be kept of the names of applicant, employment furnished, fees received, etc.]

SEC. 6730. Civil liability.—[An applicant sent to a place where no employment exists, or the place has been filled, is entitled to return of fee and of cost of transportation; if discharged within two days, to return of fee; and if within six days, to return of one-half the fee, unless the ticket showed employment for six days or less. No return is due if the applicant voluntarily refused the employment or was discharged for intoxication or other good cause.]

SEC. 6731. Employers.—[Employers refusing labor supplied on request, or discharging such labor without cause, are liable to the agent and the applicant for damages sustained. The applicant may proceed against either the employer or the agent.]

SEC. 6732. Indorsement of receipts.—[A form printed on the back of the receipt given the applicant must be filled out by the employer if he does not employ the applicant, or discharges him within six days, stating the reasons therefor.]

SEC. 6733. Criminal liability.—[Splitting fees with an employer or his agent is forbidden; also sending an applicant on information known to be incorrect or not stated in the receipt, or for employers to refuse applicants furnished them on order, or to order help on information known to be incorrect. Penalties are fines of $25 to $200, or imprisonment, 5 to 60 days.]

SEC. 6734. Exemptions.—[The act does not apply where no fee is charged, or to teachers', professional or clerical agencies.]

SEC. 6735. Administration.—[The commissioner of labor statistics may make needed rules and provide forms necessary for carrying out the act.]

SEC. 6736. Revocation of license.—[Licenses may be revoked for continued willful violations of the act.]

SEC. 6737. Appeals.—[Appeals lie to the courts in case a person aggrieved by a decision of the commissioner of labor statistics wishes to appeal, giving proper notice and bond.]

Factory, etc., regulations—Standards of safety

SECTION 6738. Belt shifters, guards, etc.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association operating a factory, mill or workshop where machinery is used, shall provide and maintain in use belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts or pulleys while running, where the same are practicable with due regard to the nature and purpose of said belts and the dangers to employees therefrom; also reasonable safeguards for all vats, pans, trimmers, cut-off, gang edger, and other saws, planers, cogs, gearings, beltings, shafting, coupling, set screw, live rollers, conveyors, mangles in laundries, and machinery of other or similar descriptions, which it is practicable to guard, and which can be effectively guarded with due regard to the ordinary use of such machinery and appliances, and the dangers to employees therefrom, and with which the employees of any such factory, mill or workshop are liable to come in contact while in the performance of their duties; and if any machine, or any part thereof, is in a defective condition and its operation would be extra hazardous because of such defect, or if any machine is not safeguarded as provided in this act [secs. 6738–6755], the use thereof is prohibited, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto by the employer immediately on receiving notice of such defect or lack of safeguard, and such notice shall not be removed until said defect has been remedied or the machine safeguarded as herein provided.

SEC. 6739. Ventilation.—Every factory, mill or workshop where machinery is used and manual labor is exercised by the way of trade for the purpose of gain within an enclosed room (private houses in which the employees live, excepted) shall be provided in each workroom thereof with good and sufficient ventilation and kept in a cleanly and sanitary state, and shall be so ventilated as to render harmless, so far as practicable, all gases, vapors, dust, or other impurities, generated in the course of the manufacturing or laboring process carried on therein; and if in any factory, mill, or workshop any process is carried on in any enclosed room thereof, by which dust is generated and inhaled to an injurious extent by the persons employed therein, conveyors, receptacles or exhaust fans, or other mechanical means, shall be provided and maintained for the purpose of carrying off or receiving and collecting such dust.

SEC. 6740. Hoistways, etc.—The openings of all hoistways, hatchways, elevators, and wellholes and stairways in factories, mills, workshops, storehouses, warerooms, or stores, shall be protected, where practicable, by good and sufficient trapdoors, hatches, fences, gates, or other safeguards, and all due diligence shall be used to keep all such means of protection closed, except when it is necessary to have the same open that the same may be used.

SEC. 6741. Annual inspections.—It shall be the duty of the labor commissioner, by himself or his duly appointed deputy, to examine as soon as may be after the passage of this act, and thereafter annually and from time to time, all factories, mills, workshops, storehouses, warerooms, stores, and buildings and the machinery and appliances therein contained to which the provisions of this act are applicable for the purpose of determining whether they do conform to such provisions, and of granting or refusing certificates of approval, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 6742. Requests for inspection.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association carrying on business to which the provisions of this act are applicable, shall have the right to make written request to said labor commissioner to inspect any factory, mill, or workshop, and the machinery therein used, and any storehouse, wareroom or store, which said applicant is operating, occupying or using, and to issue his certificate of approval thereof; and said labor commissioner, by himself or his deputy, shall forthwith make said inspection. Upon receiving such application the labor commissioner shall issue to the person making the same an acknowledgment that such certificate has been applied for, and thirty days after such acknowledgment by said labor commissioner, and pending the granting of such certificate, such acknowledgment shall have the same effect as such certificate, till the granting of such certificate by said labor commissioner.

SEC. 6743. Duty of employees.—Any employee of any person, firm, corporation or association shall notify his employer of any defect in or failure to guard the machinery, appliances, ways, works, and plants, with which or in or about which he is working, when any such defect or failure to guard shall come to the knowledge of any said employee, and if said employer shall fail to remedy such defects then said employee may complain in writing to the labor commissioner of any such alleged defects in or failure to guard the machinery, appliances, ways, works, and plants, or any alleged violation by such person, firm, corporation or association, of any of the provisions of this act, in the machinery and appliances and premises used by such person, firm, corporation or association, and with or about which such employee is working, and upon receiving such complaint, it shall be the duty of the labor commissioner, by himself, or his deputy, to forthwith make an inspection of the machinery and appliances complained of.

SEC. 6744. Certificate of inspection.—Whenever upon any examination or reexamination of any factory, mill, or workshop, store or building, or the machinery or appliances therein to which the provisions of this act are applicable, the property so examined and the machinery and appliances therein conform, in the judgment of said labor commissioner, to the requirements of this act, he shall thereupon issue to the owner, lessee, or operator of such factory, mill or workshop, or to the owner, lessee or occupant of any such storehouse, wareroom or store, a certificate to that effect, and such certificate shall be prima facie evidence as long as it continues in force, of compliance on the part of the person, firm, corporation, or association to whom it is issued, with the provisions of this act. Such certificates may be revoked by said labor commissioner at any time upon written notice to the person, firm, corporation, or association holding the same, whenever in his opinion, after reexamination, conditions and circumstances have so changed as to justify the revocation thereof. A copy of said certificate shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place on every floor of all factories, mills, workshops, storehouses, warerooms or stores to which the provisions of this act are applicable.

SEC. 6745. Notice of defects.—If, in the judgment of said labor commissioner, such factory, mill or workshop, or the machinery and appliances therein contained, or such storehouse, wareroom or store does not conform to the requirements of this act, he shall forthwith, personally or by mail, serve on the person, firm, corporation or association operating or using such machinery or appliances, or occupying such premises, a written statement of the requirements of said labor commissioner, before he will issue a certificate as hereinbefore provided for; and upon said requirements being complied with, within a period of thirty days after said requirements have been served as aforesaid, the said labor commissioner shall forthwith issue such certificate; but if the person, firm, or corporation operating or using said machinery and appliances, or occupying such premises, shall consider the requirements of said labor commissioner unreasonable and impracticable or unnecessarily expensive, he may, within ten days after the requirements of said labor commissioner have been served upon him, appeal therefrom or from any part thereof, to three arbitrators, to whom shall be submitted the matters and things in dispute, and their findings shall be binding upon said applicant and upon the labor commissioner.

SEC. 6746. Arbitration of appeal.—Such appeals shall be in writing, addressed to the labor commissioner, and shall set forth the objection to his requirements, or any part thereof, and shall mention the name of one person who will serve as the representative of said applicant calling for arbitration. Immediately upon receipt of such notice of appeal, it shall be the duty of the labor commissioner to appoint a competent person as arbitrator, resident in the county from which such appeal comes, and to notify such person so selected, and also the party appealing, stating the cause for arbitration, and the place, date and time of meeting. These two arbitrators shall select a third, and as soon thereafter as practicable, give a hearing on the matters of said appeal, and the findings of these arbitrators, by a majority vote, shall be reported to the labor commissioner, and to the applicant, and shall be binding upon each. The expense of such arbitration shall be borne by the party calling for the arbitration; and if said arbitrators sustain the requirements of said labor commissioner or any part thereof, said applicant shall, within thirty days, comply with the findings of said arbitrators, and thereupon said labor commissioner shall issue his certificate as hereinbefore provided in section 6741; but if said arbitrators shall sustain such appeal or any part thereof, the same shall be binding upon said labor commissioner; and any such person, firm, corporation, or association shall, within thirty days after the findings of the board of arbitrators, comply with the requirements of the labor commissioner, as amended by said arbitrators, if so amended as herein provided for, and thereupon said labor commissioner shall forthwith issue to any such person, firm, corporation, or association his certificate as provided for in section 6741.

SEC. 6747. Fee to be paid.—The labor commissioner shall not issue any certificate of inspection to any person, firm, corporation, or association who has not paid for that year the inspection fee herein provided for. Every person, firm, corporation and association being the owner, operator lessee or occupant of any factory, mill, workshop, storehouse, wareroom, or store coming within the provisions of this act, shall pay to the State treasurer, and take his receipt therefor, an annual inspection fee, determined as follows: For each place of business operated by him and which may be inspected under the provisions of this act in which are employed two persons or less, $2; not less than three nor more than seven persons, $5; not less than eight nor more than twenty persons, $10; not less than twenty-one nor more than forty persons, $15; more than forty persons, $20. Any person, firm, corporation or association whose factory, mill, workshop, storehouse, wareroom or store, etc., which, on account of the nature of the business, is not operated more than four months during the year shall not be required to pay more than $10, regardless of the number of persons employed: Provided, however, the provisions of this act shall not apply to plants of any kind which use not to exceed two horse-power.

Sec. 6748. Fee a debt.—The payment of such annual inspection fee by every such person, firm, corporation, and association, shall constitute an obligation in favor of the State and shall be a debt due and owing by every such person, firm, corporation, and association, to the State from and after the time of the first inspection, herein provided for and annually thereafter, and the collection of the same shall be enforced by the labor commissioner, or his duly appointed deputy.

If any such person, firm, corporation or association shall fail to pay in full within thirty days of the service of a written demand therefor from the labor commissioner or his duly appointed deputy, and [any] such inspection fee or fees due and owing to the State of Oregon, such person, firm, corporation or association shall be liable to a penalty equal to the amount of such lawful fee or fees. Said penalty shall be in debt due and owing by such person, firm, corporation or association, to the State of Oregon and shall be collected in the same action in which the fees upon which said penalty is based are collected. The prosecuting attorney of any county, upon request of the labor commissioner, shall immediately institute or prosecute an action or proceeding for the collection of such annual inspection fees and penalties from any such person, firm, corporation or association, upon whom service of summons may be had within the county in which such prosecuting attorney was elected.

Sec. 6749. Fee covers one year's inspections.—The State treasurer shall issue his receipt for all moneys so received. Upon presentation of said receipt to said labor commissioner and compliance with the requirements of the labor commissioner and the provisions of this act, he shall forthwith issue said certificate as in this act provided. Said fee shall entitle the person, firm, corporation or association paying the same, to any and every inspection of any factory, mill, workshop, storehouse, wareroom or store, and the machinery and appliances contained in any such premises, owned or operated by the party paying said fee, that may be necessary, for a period of one year subsequent to the time when its payment becomes due, and all moneys collected for licenses and fines, under the provisions of this act, shall be paid into the State treasury, and be converted into a special factory inspection fund: Provided, however, That all sums in excess of three thousand dollars ($3,000) remaining in said fund at the end of each fiscal year shall be transferred to the general fund.

Sec. 6750 (as amended 1921, ch. 244). Salaries.—The salaries of the deputy labor commissioners, required to enforce the provisions of this act, shall be in such amounts as the labor commissioner shall designate, but at no time shall they be higher than the going wages paid to mechanics of like skill and ability, and in no event shall the wages or salary of any such deputy exceed the sum of $150 in any single month, and they shall be paid in the same manner as the salaries of other State officers are paid, which salaries and expenses of such deputy labor commissioners and the salaries of not more than two clerks or stenographers, whom the labor commissioner is hereby authorized to employ, in his discretion, and all other expenses of every kind incurred in carrying out the provisions of this act, shall be paid from the special factory inspection fund in the same manner as other State salaries and expenses are paid, for which purpose said fund is hereby permanently appropriated.

Sec. 6751. Violations.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association who violates or omits to comply with any of the foregoing requirements or provisions of this act, and such violation or omission shall be the approximate cause of any injury to any employee, shall be liable in damages to any employee who sustains injuries by reason thereof: Provided, The amount of damages which any one person may recover in an action for or [on] account of injuries received by reason of any alleged violation of any of the provisions of this act, is hereby expressly limited to the sum of $7,500.

SEC. 6752. Action.—No action for the recovery of compensation for injury under this act shall be maintained unless notice of the time, place, and cause of injury is given to the employer within six months and the action is commenced within one year from the occurrence of the accident causing the injury. The notice required by this section shall be in writing, signed by the person injured, or by some one in his behalf; but if from mental or physical incapacity it is impossible for the person injured to give the notice within the time provided in this section, he may give the same within ninety days after such incapacity is removed; and in case of his death without having given notice because of mental or physical incapacity, his executor or administrator may give such notice within thirty days after his appointment.

SEC. 6753. Penalty.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association who violates or fails to comply with any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100.

SEC. 6754. Law to be posted.—A copy of this act, together with the name and address of the labor commissioner, printed in a legible manner, shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place on each floor of every factory, mill, workshop, storehouse, wareroom, or store, and at the office of every public and private work to which the provisions of this act are applicable. The labor commissioners shall supply such operators, owners, lessees, or occupants with a sufficient number of said copies to enable such persons to comply with this section.

SEC. 6755. Definition.—Wherever in this act [secs. 6738–6755] the term "labor commissioner" or "commissioner of labor" is used, it shall be understood to mean the commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops.

SEC. 6756. Definitions.—The following terms, as used in the various sections of this act [secs. 6756–6764], shall be construed as follows:

(a) The phrase "place of employment" shall mean and include every place, whether indoors or out, or underground, and the premises appurtenant thereto, where either temporarily or permanently any industry, trade, or business is carried on, or where any process or operation, directly or indirectly, relating to any industry, trade, or business is carried on, and where any person is directly or indirectly employed by another for direct or indirect gain or profit, but shall not include any place where persons are employed in private domestic service or agricultural pursuits which do not involve the use of mechanical power.

(b) The term "owner" shall mean and include every person, firm, corporation, State, county, town, city, village, manager, representative, officer, or other person having ownership, control, or custody of any place of employment or of the construction, repair, or maintenance of the buildings of any such place of employment or who prepares the plans for the construction of any place of employment.

SEC. 6757. Lighting required.—All passageways and other portions of places of employment, and all moving parts of machinery which are not so guarded as to prevent accidents, where, on or about which persons work or pass or may have to work or pass in emergencies, shall be kept properly and sufficiently lighted during working hours. The halls and stairs leading to the workrooms shall be properly and adequately lighted, and a proper and adequate light shall be kept burning by the owner or lessee in the public hallways near the stairs, upon the entrance floor, and upon the other floors on every workday in the year, from the time when the building is open for use in the morning until the time it is closed in the evening, except in times when the influx of natural light shall make artificial light unnecessary. Such lights shall be so arranged as to insure their reliable operation when through accident or other cause the regular factory or workshop lighting is extinguished.

SEC. 6758. Workrooms.—All workrooms in any place of employment shall be properly and adequately lighted during working hours. Artificial illuminants in every workroom shall be installed, arranged, and used so that the light furnished will at all times be sufficient and adequate for the work carried on therein, and so as to prevent unnecessary strain on the vision, or glare in the eyes of the workers.

SEC. 6759. Schedule.—Working or traversed spaces in all places of employment as defined in this act shall be supplied during the time of use with artificial light in accordance with a schedule of minimum values which shall be determined as hereinafter specified, and when the natural light is less than the intensity so determined, the artificial light must be used.

SEC. 6760. Lamps.—Lamps must be so located or suitably shaded as to minimize glare.

SEC. 6761. Distribution of light.—All lamps and lighting appliances must be so installed in regard to height, spacing, reflectors or other accessories as to secure a good distribution of light on the work, avoiding objectionable shadows and sharp contrasts of intensity. Emergency lamps shall be provided in the main aisles and in all stairways, passageways, and exits so as to afford sufficient guidance to provide the safe exit from said places of employment in case of emergency. Such lamps shall be in operation concurrently with the lighting, and independent thereof.

SEC. 6762. Switch apparatus.—The switching and controlling apparatus shall be so placed that at least pilot or night lights may be turned on at the main points of entrance.

SEC. 6763. Power of commissioner of labor.—The commissioner of labor and inspector of factories and workshops of the State of Oregon is hereby authorized to establish certain minimum values for lighting, which shall be deemed proper and adequate in accordance with the conditions set forth in this act. In arriving at what values shall be used in this schedule of minimum lighting, and such other rules as shall determine definitely what shall constitute compliance with the provisions of this act, he shall be guided by the best engineering practice as set forth in the recommendations of the "illuminating engineering society." Before such schedule and rules, however, shall become effective, the commissioner of labor must, upon his own motion, appoint a commission of three persons, one to represent the manufacturing interests, one to represent the operating electrical workers, and one must be an electrical engineer. Notice of the public meetings of such commission shall be published in the leading newspapers of each county in the State, giving the time, place, and purpose of such meetings. The commission shall have power, after holding these public meetings, to establish, to rearrange or to readjust the schedule of lighting values and rules as above set forth. These rulings or readjustments shall then become effective, thirty days after they have been made, and the commissioner of labor shall serve notice, in writing or by publication in the leading newspapers of each county in the State, of the rulings thus made and of the date upon which they become effective.

SEC. 6764. Violations.—[Failure to comply with these provisions within 30 days after receiving notice, entails a fine not exceeding $50, each day constituting a separate offense.]

SEC. 6765. Duty of employers.—Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for employees therein, and shall furnish and use such safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use such practices, means, methods, operations, and processes as are reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 6766. Unsafe places.—No employer, owner, or lessee of any real property in this state shall construct or cause to be constructed or maintained, any place of employment that is not safe.

SEC. 6767. Removing guards.—No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy, or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 6768. Power of commission.—The commission is vested with full power and jurisdiction over, and shall have such supervision of, every employment and place of employment in this State as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment and place of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life and safety of every employee in such employment or place or employment. The commission is vested with full power and authority to make, establish, promulgate and enforce all necessary and reasonable rules, regulations, and provisions for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this act and in reference to the investigation of all violations hereof and fixing and setting the time and place for all hearings which may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions hereof, and shall have the power to issue and subpœna witnesses, to administer oaths, to take depositions and fix the fees and mileage of witnesses and to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents and testimony in any inquiry, investigation, hearing, or proceeding in any part of the State, and the commission shall provide for defraying the expenses thereof. The commission, or any member thereof, before whom the testimony is to be given or produced, in case of the refusal of any witness to attend or testify or produce any papers required by such subpœna, may report to the circuit court in and for the county in which the proceeding is pending, by petition setting forth that due notice has been given of the time and place of attendance of said witness, or the production of said papers and that the witness has been subpœnaed in the manner prescribed and that the witness has failed and refused to attend or produce the papers required by the subpœna or has refused to answer questions propounded to him in the course of such proceeding, and ask an order of said court to compel the witness to attend and testify or produce said papers before the commission.

The court, upon the petition of the commission or any member thereof, shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the court at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, the time to be not more than ten days from the date of the order, and then and there show cause why he has not attended and testified or produced said papers before the commission or any member thereof. A copy of said order shall be served upon said witness. If it is apparent to the court that said subpœna was regularly issued by the commission or member thereof, the court shall thereupon enter an order that said witness appear before the commission or member thereof at a time and place to be fixed in such order, and testify and produce the required papers and upon failure to obey said order said witness shall be dealt with as for contempt of court.

The commission is hereby vested with full power, authority, and jurisdiction to do and perform any and all things whether herein specifically designated or in addition thereto which are necessary or convenient in the exercise of any power or authority or jurisdiction conferred upon it under this act.

SEC. 6769. Fixing standards.—The commission shall have power, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, by general or special orders, rules, and regulations, or otherwise—

(1) To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards or other means or methods of protection are well adapted to render the employees of every employment and place of employment safe as required by law or lawful order.

(2) To fix reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify, and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption, installation, use, maintenance and operation of safety devices, safeguards and other means or methods of protection, to be as nearly uniform as possible, as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life and safety of employees in employment and places of employment.

(3) To fix and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair and maintenance of places of employment and equipment as shall render them safe.

(4) To require the performance of any other act which the protection of the life and safety of employees in employments and places of employment may demand.

SEC. 6770. Hearings.—Upon the fixing of a time and place for the holding of a hearing for the purpose of considering and issuing a general safety order or orders as authorized by section 6769 the commission shall cause a notice of such hearing to be published in one or more daily newspapers of general circulation published and circulated in the city of Portland, Multnomah County, Oregon, and in such other papers of general circulation in the State of Oregon and published therein as the commission may deem expedient. No defect or inaccuracy in such notice or in the publication thereof shall invalidate any general order issued by the commission after hearing had.

SEC. 6771. Orders.—Whenever the commission, after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint, shall find that any employment or place of employment is not safe or that the practices or means or methods or operations or processes employed or used in connection therewith are unsafe, or do not afford adequate protection to the life and safety of employees in such employments and places of employment, the commission shall make and enter and serve such order relative thereto as may be necessary to render such employment or place of employment safe and protect the life and safety of employees in such employment and places of employment, and may in said order direct that such additions, repairs, improvements or changes be made and such safety devices and safeguards be furnished, provided and used, as are reasonably required to render such employment or place of employment safe, in the manner and within the time specified in said order.

SEC. 6772. Time for compliance.—The commission may, upon application of any employer, or other person affected thereby, grant such time as may reasonably be necessary for compliance with any order, and any person affected by such order may petition the commission for an extension of time, which the commission shall grant if it finds such an extension of time necessary.

SEC. 6773. Orders, etc., to be obeyed.—Every employer, employee, and other person shall obey and comply with each and every requirement of every order, decision, direction, rule, or regulation made or prescribed by the commission in connection with the matters herein specified, or in any way relating to or affecting safety of employments or places of employment, or to protect the life and safety of employees in such employments or places of employment, and shall do everything necessary or proper in order to secure compliance with and observance of every such order, decision, direction, rule, or regulation.

SEC. 6774. Rehearings.—(a) Any party or person aggrieved directly or indirectly by any final order, decision, rule, or regulation of the commission, made or entered under any provision contained in this act [secs. 6765–6783], may apply to the commission for a rehearing in respect to any matters determined or covered by such final order, decision, rule, or regulation and specified in the application for rehearing within the time and in the manner hereinafter specified, and not otherwise.

(b) No cause of action arising out of any such final order, or decision, shall accrue in any court to any person until and unless such person shall have made application for such rehearing and such application shall have been granted or denied: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the enforcement of any such final order, decision, rule, or regulation in the manner provided in this act.

(c) Such application shall set forth specifically and in full detail the grounds upon which the applicant considers said final order, decision, rule, or regulation is unjust or unlawful, and every issue to be considered by the commission. Such application must be verified upon oath in the same manner as required for verified pleadings in the courts of record and must contain a general statement of any evidence or other matters upon which the applicant relies in support thereof. The applicant for such hearing shall be deemed to have finally waived all objections, irregularities, and illegalities concerning the matter upon which such rehearing is sought other than those set forth in the application for such rehearing.

(d) A copy of such application for rehearing shall be served forthwith on all adverse parties, if any, and any such adverse party may file an answer thereto within ten days thereafter. Such answer must likewise be verified. If there are no adverse parties, such application may be heard ex parte, or the commission may require the application for rehearing to be served on such parties as may be designated by it.

(e) Upon filing of an application for a rehearing, if the issues raised thereby have theretofore been adequately considered by the commission, it may determine the same by confirming, without hearing, its previous determination, or if a rehearing is necessary to determine the issues raised, or any one or more of such issues, the commission shall order a rehearing thereon and consider and determine the matter or matters raised by such application. Notice of the time and place of such rehearing shall be given to the applicant and the adverse parties, if any, and to such other persons as the commission may order.

(f) If after such rehearing and a consideration of all the facts, including those arising since the making of the order, or decision involved, the commission shall be of the opinion that the original order, or decision or any part thereof, is in any respect unjust or unwarranted, or should be changed, the commission shall abrogate, change or modify the same. An order, or decision, made after such rehearing, abrogating, changing or modifying the original order or decision shall have the same force and effect as an original order or decision, but shall not affect any right or the enforcement of any right arising from or by virtue of the original order or decision unless so ordered by the commission. An application for a rehearing shall be deemed to have been denied by the commission unless it shall have been acted upon within thirty days from the date of filing: Provided, however, That the commission may upon good cause being shown therefor, extend the time within which it may act upon such application for rehearing for not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 6775. Review by courts.—The orders of the commission, general or special, its rules or regulations, findings and decisions, made and entered under the safety provisions of this act, may be reviewed by the courts specified in sections 6775 and 6776 and within the time and in the manner therein specified and not otherwise.

SEC. 6776. Appeals.—(1) Within thirty days after the application for a rehearing is denied, or, if the application is granted, within thirty days after the rendition of the decision on the rehearing, any party affected thereby may appeal to the circuit court of this State for the county in which is situated the place of employment complained of for the purpose of having the lawfulness of the original order or decision on the order or decision on rehearing inquired into and determined.

(b) It shall be sufficient to give the circuit court jurisdiction that a notice be filed with the clerk of said court to the effect that an appeal is taken to the circuit court from the order or decision of the commission and describing same sufficient for purposes of identification, the said notice to be signed by the party appealing or his attorney, and a copy thereof to be served by registered mail on the commission. Within ten days after the receipt of such notice the commission shall file with the clerk of said court the record of proceedings before the commission, including a transcript of the evidence and all evidence adduced upon the hearing and rehearing, if any, before the commission. The circuit court on application for good cause shown may extend the time within which the commission shall file such record, transcript and evidence. The cause shall be tried before the court in the same manner and as a suit in equity; Provided, however, That no new or additional evidence may be introduced in such court, but the cause shall be heard on the record to the commission as certified to by it. The appeal shall not be extended further than to determine whether or not:

(1) The commission acted without or in excess of its powers, or in violation of law.

(2) The order or decision was procured by fraud.

(3) The order, decision, rule or regulation is unreasonable.

(4) If findings of fact are made, whether or not such findings of fact support the order or decision under review.

(c) An appeal may be taken from the decree of the circuit court to the supreme court as in other civil cases.

SEC. 6777. General powers.—The commission shall have further power and authority:

(1) To cause lectures to be delivered, illustrated by stereopticon or other views, diagrams or pictures, for the information of employers and their employees and the general public in regard to the causes and prevention of industrial accidents, occupational diseases and related subjects.

(2) To appoint advisers who shall, without compensation, assist the commission in establishing standards of safety, and the commission may adopt and incorporate in its general orders such safety recommendations as it may receive from such advisers.

SEC. 6778. Orders as evidence.—Every order of the commission, general or special, its rules and regulations, findings and decisions, made and entered under the safety provisions of this act [secs. 6765–6783] shall be admissible as evidence in any prosecution for the violation of any of the said provisions and shall, in every such prosecution, be conclusively presumed to be reasonable and lawful and to fix a reasonable and proper standard and requirement of safety, unless, prior to the institution of the prosecution for such violation or violations, proceedings for a rehearing thereon or a review thereof shall have been instituted as provided in section 6776, and not then finally determined.

SEC. 6779. Violations.—[Any person violating sections 6765, 6766, and 6767 is guilty of a misdemeanor.]

SEC. 6780. Violations.—[Violation of sections 6765, 6766 and 6767, or any part thereof, is punishable by a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than 6 months, or both, each day's continuance constituting a separate offense.]

SEC. 6781. Expenses and fines.—All expenses incurred by the commission under the provisions of this act shall be paid out of the industrial accident fund, and all fines imposed and collected under prosecutions for violations of the provisions of this act shall be paid into the industrial accident fund.

SEC. 6782. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops to see that the general and special orders, rules and regulations of the commission are enforced, and he shall at any and all times give said commission any information that would assist said commission in carrying out the purposes of this act.

SEC. 6783. Definition.—Whenever in this act the term "commission" is used, it shall be understood to mean the State industrial accident commission.

Protection of employees on buildings, etc.—Employers' liability

SECTION 6785. Scope of law.—All owners, contractors, subcontractors, corporations, or persons whatsoever, engaged in the construction, repairing, alteration, removal, or painting of any building, bridge, viaduct, or other structure, or in the erection or operation of any machinery, or in the manufacture, transmission, and use of electricity, or in the manufacture or use of any dangerous appliance or substance, shall see that all metal, wood, rope, glass, rubber, gutta-percha, or other material whatever, shall be carefully selected and inspected and tested so as to detect any defects, and all scaffolding, staging, false work, or other temporary structure shall be constructed to bear four times the maximum weight to be sustained by said structure, and such structure shall not at any time be overloaded or overcrowded; and all scaffolding, staging, or other structure more than twenty feet from the ground or floor shall be secured from swaying and provided with a strong and efficient safety rail or other contrivance, so as to prevent any person from falling therefrom, and all dangerous machinery shall be securely covered and protected to the fullest extent that the proper operation of the machinery permits, and all shafts, wells, floor openings, and similar places of danger shall be enclosed, and all machinery other than that operated by hand power shall, whenever necessary for the safety of persons employed in or about the same or for the safety of the general public, be provided with a system of communication by means of signals, so that at all times there may be prompt and efficient communication between the employees or other persons and the operator of the motive power, and in the transmission and use of electricity of a dangerous voltage full and complete insulation shall be provided at all points where the public or the employees of the owner, contractor, or subcontractor transmitting or using said electricity are liable to come in contact with the wire, and dead wires shall not be mingled with live wires, nor strung upon the same support, and the arms or supports bearing live wires shall be especially designated by a color or other designation which is instantly apparent and live electrical wires carrying a dangerous voltage shall be strung at such distance from the poles or supports as to permit repair men to freely engage in their work without danger of shock; and generally, all owners, contractors, or subcontractors, and other persons having charge of, or responsible for, any work involving a risk or danger to the employees or the public, shall use every device, care, and precaution which it is practicable to use for the protection and safety of life and limb, limited only by the necessity for preserving the efficiency of the structure, machinery, or other apparatus or device, and without regard to the additional cost of suitable material or safety appliance and devices.

SEC. 6786. Managers, etc.—The manager, superintendent, foreman, or other person in charge or control of the construction or works or operation, or any part thereof, shall be held to be the agent of the employer in all suits for damages for death or injury suffered by an employee.

SEC. 6787. Duty of owners, etc.—It shall be the duty of owners, contractors, subcontractors, foremen, architects, or other persons having charge of the particular work, to see that the requirements of this act are complied with, and for any failure in this respect the person or persons delinquent shall, upon conviction of violating any of the provisions of this act, be fined not less than $10, nor more than $1,000, or imprisoned not less than ten days, nor more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court, and this shall not affect or lessen the civil liability of such persons as the case may be.

SEC. 6788. Right of action.—If there shall be any loss of life by reason of the neglects or failures or violations of the provisions of this act by any owner, contractor, or subcontractor, or any person liable under the provisions of this act, the widow of the person so killed, his lineal heirs or adopted children, or the husband, mother or father, as the case may be, shall have a right of action, without any limit as to the amount of damages which may be awarded: Provided, That if none of the persons entitled to maintain such action reside within the State of Oregon, then the executor or administrator of such deceased person shall have a right to maintain such action for their respective benefit in the order above named.

SEC. 6789. Defense of fellow-service.—In all actions brought to recover from an employer for injuries suffered by an employee the negligence of a fellow-servant shall not be a defense where the injury was caused or contributed to by any of the following causes, namely: Any defect in the structure, materials, works, plant or machinery of which the employer or his agent could have had knowledge by the exercise of ordinary care; the neglect of any person engaged as superintendent, manager, foreman, or other person in charge or control of the works, plant, machinery, or appliances; the incompetence or negligence of any person in charge of, or directing the particular work in which the employee was engaged at the time of the injury or death; the incompetence or negligence of any person to whose orders the employee was bound to conform and did conform and by reason of his having conformed thereto the injury or death resulted; the act of any fellow servant done in obedience to the rules, instructions or orders given by the employer or any other person who has authority to direct the doing of said act.

SEC. 6790. Negligence to be measured.—The contributory negligence of the person injured shall not be a defense, but may be taken into account by the jury in fixing the amount of the damage.

This statute imposes an absolute duty, for the violation of which the employer is penally as well as civilly liable, and the employee does not assume the risk of injury. 133 Pac. 351.

Deductions of wages for hospital, etc., funds

SECTION 6792. Reports required.—On the first day of * * * each July, all persons, firms, companies or corporations doing business in Oregon, which have been withholding or accepting any portion of the wages of any of their employees residing in Oregon for hospital or relief purposes, shall furnish the commissioner of labor statistics of the State of Oregon a full and complete list of all money so collected, from the first of the preceding July to date, and a full and complete list of all expenditures from the same fund for the same time.

SEC. 6793. Exemption.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to common carriers.

SEC. 6794. Violations.—Any person, firm, company or corporation, violating any of the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than fifty dollars and not more than five hundred dollars for each offense.

Employment of labor—False representations

SECTION 6795. Deception.—Any person, firm, company, corporation, or association of any kind employing labor, who shall, either in person, or by or through any agent, manager, or other legal representatives, by any false or deceptive representation or false advertising, concerning the amount or character of the compensation to be paid for any work, or as to the existence or non-existence of a strike, lockout, or other labor troubles pending between employer or employees; or who shall neglect to state in such advertisement, proposal, or inducement for the employment of workmen that there is a strike, lockout, or unsettled condition of labor, when such strike, lockout, or unsettled condition of labor actually exists, shall induce, influence, persuade, or engage workmen to change from one place to another in this State; or who shall bring workmen of any class or calling into this State to work in any of the departments of labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $1,000, or confined in the county jail not exceeding one year, or both.

SEC. 6796. Recovery.—Any workmen of this State or any workmen of another State, who has [have been] or shall be influenced, induced, or persuaded to engage with any persons mentioned in section 6795, through or by means of any of the things therein prohibited, each of such workmen shall have a right of action for recovery of all damages that each such workman has sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representations, false advertising, and false pretenses used to induce him to change his place of employment against any person or persons, corporation, companies, or associations, directly or indirectly causing such damages; and, in addition to all actual damages such workmen may have sustained, shall be entitled to recover such reasonable attorney's fees as the court shall fix to be taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

Payment of wages—Scrip—Suits

SECTION 6797. Orders, etc., to be negotiable.—No person or corporation engaged in any business or enterprise of any kind in this State shall issue, in payment of or as evidence of indebtedness for wages due an employee, any order, check, memorandum, or other acknowledgment of indebtedness, unless the same is negotiable, and is payable without discount in cash on demand at some bank or other established place of business in the county where the same is issued; and such person or corporation shall, upon presentation and demand, pay any such order, check, memorandum, or other acknowledgment of indebtedness, in lawful money of the United States: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall in any way limit or interfere with the right of any such employee to accept from any such person or corporation, as an evidence or acknowledgment of indebtedness for wages due him, a negotiable instrument, payable at some future date with interest.

SEC. 6798. Wages, when due.—Whenever an employer discharges an employee, or where such employment is terminated by mutual agreement, all wages earned and unpaid at the time of such discharge shall become due and payable immediately. When any such employee, not having a contract for a definite period, shall see fit to quit or resign his employment, all wages earned and unpaid at the time of such quitting or resignation shall become due and payable immediately: Provided, Such employee shall have given not less than three days' notice of his intention to quit his employment, and if such notice has not been so given then such wages shall be due and payable three days after such employee shall have so quit his employment; but when any number of employees enter upon a strike, the wages due such striking employees at the time of entering upon such strike shall not become due and payable until the next regular pay day after the commencement of such strike: Provided, That the time between the commencement of the strike and such next regular pay day does not exceed a period of thirty days, and if such time does exceed the period of thirty days then such wages shall be due and payable thirty days after the commencement of such strike.

SEC. 6799. Suits for wages.—In any action for the collection of any such order, check, memorandum or other acknowledgment of indebtedness, or in any action for the collection of wages, if it is shown that such order, check, memorandum or other acknowledgment of indebtedness, or said wages were not paid for a period of forty-eight hours after proper demand for the payment thereof, the court shall, upon entering judgment for the plaintiff, include in such judgment, in addition to the costs and disbursements otherwise prescribed by statute, a reasonable sum for attorney's fees for prosecuting said action, unless it shall appear that such employee has willfully violated his contract of employment: Provided, In case of an employee voluntarily quitting an employment, such employee shall have given not less than three days' notice of his intentions to quit his employment.

Labor organizations—Injunctions

SECTION 6814. Unions lawful.—It shall be lawful for working men and women to organize themselves into, or carry on labor unions for the purpose of lessening the hours of labor or increasing the wages or bettering the conditions of the members of such organizations; or carrying out their legitimate purposes as freely as they could do if acting singly.

SEC. 6815. Restriction on injunctions.—No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of this State, or any judge or judges thereof in any case between an employer and employee or between employer and employees or between employees or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property, or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property rights must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant or his agent or attorney.

SEC. 6816. Strikes.—No restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons, whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment or from ceasing to perform any work or labor; or from recommending, advising or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or from attending at any place where any person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or from peacefully persuading any such person to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize any party to such dispute; or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful or lawful means so to do; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peaceably assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by a single individual; or shall any of the acts specified in this section be considered or held to be illegal or unlawful in any court of the State.

SEC. 6817. Status of labor.—The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce, and the right to enter into the relation of employer and employee, or to change that relation; or to assume and create a new relation for employer and employee; or to work and labor as an employee, shall be held and construed to be a personal and not a property right. In all cases involving the violation of the contract of employment, either by the employee or employer, where no irreparable damage is about to be committed on the property, personal rights, or property rights of either, no injunction shall be granted, but the parties shall be left to their remedy at law.

SEC. 6818. No indictment, etc.—No person shall be indicted, prosecuted, or tried in any court of this State for entering into or carrying on any arrangement, agreement, or combination between themselves made with a view of lessening the number of hours of labor or increasing the wages or bettering the conditions of working men and women, or for any act done in pursuance thereof, unless such act is in itself forbidden by law if done by a single individual.

SEC. 6819. Provisions severable.—If any part of this act shall for any reason be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair nor invalidate the remainder of this act, but shall be confined in its operation to the particular part thereof directly involved in the controversy wherein such judgment shall have been rendered.

Conciliation and arbitration—State board

SECTION 6820. Board created.—A board is hereby created which shall be known as the State board of conciliation and shall consist of three commissioners. Immediately upon taking effect of this act the governor shall appoint two of such commissioners, one to be selected from a list of five names to be submitted by the Employers' Association of Portland, and one from a list of five names to be submitted by the State Federation of Labor; and the third member of said board shall be chosen by the commissioners appointed by the governor, within ten days from the date of their appointment. If the two commissioners appointed by the governor shall be unable to agree upon the third member of the board within ten days from the date of their appointment, then the governor shall appoint such third member of the board. * * * the commissioners shall be appointed * * * for terms of four years, respectively.

SEC. 6821. Removal.—The governor may, at any time, remove any commissioner for inefficiency, neglect of duty or malfeasance in office. Before such removal he shall give such commissioner a copy of the charges against him and shall fix the time when he can be heard in his own defense, which shall not be less than ten days thereafter, and such hearing shall be open to the public. If such commissioner shall be removed, the governor shall file in the office of the secretary of state a complete statement of all charges made against such commissioner and his findings thereon, with a record of the proceedings. Such power of removal shall be absolute, and there shall be no right of review by any court on any condition whatsoever. Upon the removal of such commissioner a successor shall be appointed to fill out the unexpired term, and shall be selected in the same manner and from the same class as the commissioner so removed was selected from. Before entering on the duties of his office each commissioner shall take and subscribe to an oath or affirmation that he will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and to faithfully and honestly discharge the duties of such office of commissioner, which oath or affirmation shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

SEC. 6822. Organization, etc.—The board shall meet at the State capitol and shall organize by the election of one of its members as chairman and another member as secretary. As soon as practicable after its organization the board shall establish such rules of procedure as may be necessary to conduct the business of the board. Suitable rooms at the capitol shall be provided by the State for the use of the board.

SEC. 6823. Compensation.—Each member of the board shall receive five dollars ($5) for each day of actual service, and his necessary traveling and other expenses. Each month the chairman of the board shall certify the amount due each member of the board for service rendered and expenses incurred in the performance of his official duties hereunder, and on presentation of a claim therefor the secretary of state shall audit same in the manner provided by law and draw his warrant on the State treasurer out of the moneys appropriated therefor.

SEC. 6824. Powers.—The board shall possess all the powers and authority in respect to administering oaths, subpœnaing witnesses and compelling their attendance, preserving order during the sittings of the board, punishing for contempt, and requiring the production of books, papers, and writings, and all other powers and privileges, in their nature applicable and necessary in conducting its business, in the same manner as is conferred by law on all the judges of the circuit court of the State of Oregon in the trial of any cause, and shall have access to any reports, documents, or records filed with or in the custody of any officer in the State of Oregon.

SEC. 6825. Procedure.—When a controversy or difference, not involving a question which may be the subject of an action or proceeding in a court of this State, exists between an employer and his employees, or whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the board that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened in the State, involving an employer and his employees, if he is employing not less than fifty persons, the board shall immediately put itself in communication with such employer and employees and ascertain the cause of such difference, strike or lockout, and endeavor to persuade such employer and employees to adjust the same. If such employer and employees are unable to adjust the difference existing between them, then either of the parties to the controversy, or the officials of the city in which such strike or lockout may exist, or the officials of the county in which the same may be, if outside of any incorporated city or town, may request the board to make an investigation of the cause or causes of such strike or lockout.

SEC. 6826. Investigation.—Upon receiving such request to investigate a strike or lockout, the board shall immediately proceed to such city or county and make such investigation by a public hearing, and shall issue notice of the time and place and purpose of such hearing to said employer and to said employees. The board may issue subpœnas requiring the attendance of such witnesses and the production of such records, books, and papers as it may deem necessary to make a thorough investigation of the merits and cause or causes of such strike or lockout. Subpœnas may be signed and oaths administered by any member of the board. Said notices and subpœnas shall be delivered to the sheriff of the county in which the board is holding its investigation, and shall be served in the same manner as similar process is served in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon.

SEC. 6827. Findings.—The board shall proceed with due diligence to complete the investigation of such strike or lockout, and shall make such findings and recommendations to the respective parties as it may deem just. If either or both of the parties are not satisfied with such findings and recommendations, then either party may make written application to the board to have such controversy or difference submitted to a board of arbitration. The application shall contain a concise statement of the grievances complained of, and an agreement to abide by such award as the board of arbitration may make.

SEC. 6828. Arbitration.—The board of arbitration shall consist of three arbitrators. Such board may be mutually agreed upon, or the employer may designate one arbitrator and the employees or their duly authorized agent another, and the arbitrators so designated shall select a third, who shall be chairman of the said board. If the two arbitrators shall be unable to agree upon the third member within two days from the date of their appointment, then the State board of conciliation shall appoint such third arbitrator. The board of arbitration shall have all the powers and authority conferred upon the State board of conciliation, as provided in section 6824, in investigating such controversy, strike, or lockout.

SEC. 6829. Refusing conciliation.—If either of the parties shall refuse to accept the findings and recommendations of the State board of conciliation, or shall refuse to consent to the appointment of a board of arbitration and agree to accept and abide by the award of such board of arbitration, then the State board of conciliation shall prepare written findings, and determine therein the party who is responsible for the existence or continuance of such strike or lockout; and shall deliver a copy of such findings to each of the parties to the controversy, and file one copy with the clerk of the county court of the county in which such investigation was held, and one copy in the office of the Commissioner of Labor of the State of Oregon, which last two copies shall be public documents.

SEC. 6830. Witness fees.—Each witness summoned by the State board of conciliation, or by the board of arbitration, shall receive $2 for each day's attendance, and 5 cents for each mile necessarily traveled in going to and from the place of such hearing. The chairman of the State board of conciliation or the chairman of the board of arbitration, as the case may be, shall certify the amount due each witness and file the same with the clerk of the county court in the county in which such hearing is being held, and such claim shall be audited by the county court and allowed in the same manner as witness fees in criminal actions in the circuit court.

SEC. 6831. Pay for arbitrators.—Each member of a board of arbitration shall receive from the county in which the controversy exists the sum of $5 for each day of actual service, not exceeding twenty days, for any arbitration, to be certified to the clerk of the county court by the chairman of the board; and such claim shall be audited and allowed by the county court in the same manner as witness fees in criminal actions in the circuit court.

SEC. 6832. Findings.—The board of arbitration shall file a copy of its findings and award with each of the parties to the controversy, a copy with the clerk of the county court of the county in which such hearing is held, a copy with the State board of conciliation, and a copy with the Commissioner of Labor of the State of Oregon, within ten days from the date of the final hearing: Provided, That the State board of conciliation may allow an extension of time to file such findings and award, not to exceed twenty days. No claim for services shall be allowed any member of the board of arbitration until the findings and award shall have been filed as herein provided.

SEC. 6833. Reports.—On the thirty-first day of July of each year the State board of conciliation shall make a report to the governor, containing such statements, facts, and explanations as will disclose its methods and work, with such suggestions as to legislation conducive to the adjustment of disputes between employers and employees as it may deem proper.

Mine regulations—Signals

SECTIONS 7642-7645. Code.—[A code of bell signals to be used in mines having a power hoist is enacted, with rules for their enforcement. Violations by employees bar recovery for injuries and are grounds for discharge. Companies failing to comply may be fined $25 to $250.]

Employment of women—Minority

SECTION 9782. Effect of marriage, etc.—All female persons shall be deemed to have arrived at the age of majority upon their being married, according to law, or, for the purpose of consenting to the adoption of an illegitimate child when it is shown in the court in which such adoption proceedings are pending that such female person is the mother of said illegitimate child: Provided, however, That in the enforcement of the laws regulating the hours of labor of minor children any female under the age of eighteen years shall be regarded as a minor and subject to the labor laws applying to minor children.

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships, etc.

SECTION 10210. Amount, etc.—[Where the property of any company, association, person, or firm goes into the hands of a receiver, or is assigned for the benefit of creditors, debts owing laborers or employees, not exceeding $100 to each employee, earned within 90 days prior to the transfer, are to be paid first in full, if assets permit, otherwise pro rata; forms and procedure are prescribed.]

ACTS OF 1921

CHAPTER 169.—Factory, etc., regulations—State fire marshal

SECTION 2. Rules.—It shall be the duty of the State fire marshal to enforce all laws and all lawful ordinances, and make rules and regulations relating to:

1. The prevention of fires.
2. The storage and use of combustibles and explosives.
3. The construction, maintenance, and regulation of fire escapes.
4. To oversee the safety of and direct the means and adequacy of exit in case of fire from factories, * * * and all other places where large numbers of persons work, live, or congregate from time to time for any purpose. * * *

CHAPTER 217.—Electric lines and plants—Safety provisions

SECTIONS 1, 2. Standards.—[The public service commission may, after hearing on its own motion or on complaint, make general or special orders governing telegraph, telephone, signal, trolley or power lines, requiring construction, maintenance and operation, use of equipment, etc., so as to protect the health and safety of employees and the public. Penalties are $100 to $10,000 for each offense.]

PENNSYLVANIA

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE III.—Labor legislation

SECTION 7. Local and special laws.—The general assembly shall not pass any local or special law; * * * regulating labor, trade, mining, or manufacturing. * * *

SEC. 21 (as amended 1915). Injuries to employees.—The general assembly may enact laws requiring the payment by employers, or employers and employees jointly, of reasonable compensation for injuries to employees arising in the course of their employment, and for occupational diseases of employees, whether or not such injuries or diseases result in death, and regardless of fault of employer or employee, and fixing the basis of ascertainment of such compensation and the maximum and minimum limits thereof, and providing special or general remedies for the collection thereof; but in no other cases shall the general assembly limit the amount to be recovered for injuries resulting in death, or for injuries to persons or property, and in case of death from such injuries the right of action shall survive, and the general assembly shall prescribe for whose benefit such actions shall be prosecuted. No act shall prescribe any limitations of time within which suits may be brought against corporations for injuries to persons or property or for other causes different from those fixed by general laws regulating actions against natural persons, and such acts now existing are avoided.

STATUTES—1920

Wages as preferred claims

SECTION 766. Insolvency.—[Claims for wages have the same preference in case of assignments as provided by law in case of executions.]

SEC. 767. Current wages.—[Wages necessarily incurred in service rendered to an assignee or receiver must be paid as a part of the expenses of the assignment.]

SEC. 783. Sending claims out of the State.—[It is unlawful for a citizen to assign or transfer a claim against a resident of the State for the purpose of depriving the debtor of his right to wage exemptions under the law of Pennsylvania.]

Badges, etc., of labor organizations

SECTION 1050. Unauthorized wearing.—Any person who shall willfully wear any insignia or button of any association, society, or trades-union, or use the same to obtain aid or assistance, within this State, unless he shall be entitled to use or wear the same under the constitution and by-laws, rules and regulations, of such organizations shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not to exceed one hundred dollars, and in default of payment committed to jail for a period of not to exceed sixty days.

Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 2941. Mayor, etc., to act on complaint.—Whenever complaint is made to the mayor, director of public safety, superintendent of police, or other persons in charge of the police force, in any city of the first, second, or third class in this State, that the scaffolding, or slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons, or ropes of any sling or stationary scaffolding, used in the construction, alteration, repairing, painting, cleaning, or pointing of buildings, within the limits of any city aforesaid, are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to life or limb of any person, such mayor, director of public safety, superintendent of police, or other person in charge of the police force, shall immediately cause an inspection to be made of such scaffolding or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons, ropes, or other parts connected therewith. If, after examination, such scaffolding or any of such parts is found to be dangerous to life or limb, the mayor, director of public safety, superintendent of police, or other persons in charge of the police force shall prohibit the use thereof and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger. The person directed to make such inspection shall attach such certificate to the scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, irons, ropes, or other parts thereof examined by him, stating that he has made such examination, and that he has found it safe or unsafe, as the case may be. If he declare it unsafe, he shall at once, in writing, notify the person responsible for its erection of the fact, and warn them against the use thereof. Such notice shall be served personally upon the person responsible for the erecting, or by conspicuously affixing it to the scaffolding or part thereof to be declared unsafe. After such notice has been so served or affixed, the person responsible therefor shall immediately remove such scaffolding or part thereof, and alter or strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe, in the discretion of the person who has examined it, or of his superiors. Any person whose duty it is to examine or test any scaffolding or part thereof, as required by this act, shall have free access at all reasonable hours to any building or premises containing them or where they may be used.

Sec. 2942. Swinging scaffolds.—If any scaffolding or staging, swung or suspended from an overhead support or supports, shall be more than ten feet from the ground or floor, the same shall be deemed unsuitable and improper, and as not giving proper protection to the life and limb of any person employed or engaged thereon, unless such scaffolding or staging shall, when the same is in use, have a safety rail rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portion of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the outside thereof the entire length of the outside thereof, properly attached thereto, and unless such scaffolding or staging shall be provided with braces so as to sustain the weight of a man's body leaning against it, and prevent the scaffolding or staging from swaying from the building or structure.

Sec. 2943. Strength of scaffolds.—All swinging and stationary scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight to be dependent therefrom or placed thereon when in use, and not more than three men shall be allowed on any swinging scaffolding at one time.

Sec. 2944. Violations.—Any person who violates, or omits to comply with, any of the foregoing provisions of this act, or who suffers or permits the use of any article or scaffolding declared by a proper officer to be defective, or who destroys or defaces any notice posted in accordance with the provisions of this act, or who hinders or obstructs any officer who may be detailed to enforce its provisions, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Factory, etc., regulations—Fire escapes—Cities

Section 3322. Stairways.—Stores in which any of the stories above the second have a clear floor space of four thousand (4,000) square feet, and manufactories three or more stories in height, of the floor area, per story, of three thousand (3,000) square feet, shall have a tower stairway, completely inclosed, on the interior of the building, with brick walls or such other fireproof materials as shall be accepted by the bureau of building inspection. Should the floor area of any story above the second, in said stores or manufactories, exceed ten thousand (10,000) square feet, the bureau of building inspection may require one or more additional tower stairways.

Manufactures in tenements

Section 3461. Air space; permits.—No room or rooms in any dwelling house, rooming house, or tenement which are used for manufacturing purposes shall be occupied, at any one time, by more persons than would give to each occupant at least four hundred cubic feet of air space; and no such room or rooms shall be so occupied, in any instance, except by a permit from the bureau or board of health, which permit shall expire not later than the calendar year for which it is issued. No such permit shall be granted if such use would create dust, foul odors, or undue noise, liable to affect injuriously the health or comfort of those engaged therein, or of the tenants, occupants, or neighbors.

Employment of women—Waiters

SECTION 3489. Female waiters in theaters, circuses, etc.—[The employment of females to wait upon the audience or spectators in theaters, circuses, etc., or to offer or distribute any description of commodities or refreshments is forbidden under penalty of a fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment not more than one year, or both.]

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 5043, 5045. Attendance required.—[Children under 16 must attend school for the full term, unless, among other exemptions, the child is 14 years of age, holds an employment certificate, and is regularly, usefully, and lawfully employed.]

SEC. 5048. Names of children and parents.—[Persons employing children 14 to 16 years of age during school hours must report quarterly during the term of school the names, ages and addresses of all children employed by them, and the names of their parents or guardians.]

SEC. 5049. Lists to be posted.—[Persons employing children 14 to 16 during school time must publicly post in their places of employment the names, ages, addresses, date of employment certificaates and of employment, etc.]

SEC. 5050. Employment forbidden.—[No person may employ any child under 14 during school hours, or employ any child under 16 without a certificate. If a child leaves employment, or is absent for five days, the employer must notify in writing the school official who issued the certificate.]

SECS. 5051, 5052. Violations.—[Illegal employment, or failure to comply with the provisions of the law, entails a fine of from $10 to $25, or imprisonment for 10 days, or both, for a first offense; and for a second, a fine of from $20 to $50, or 90 days' imprisonment or both. Parents or guardians violating the law may be fined from $2 to $5 and costs or imprisoned not over 5 days in default of payment of fine and costs.]

Work in compressed air

SECTION 5424. Definitions.—The term "pressure" when used in this act means "gauge pressure in pounds per square inch."

The term "employer" when used in this act includes individuals, copartnerships, associations, and corporations.

SEC. 5425. Provisions for safety.—Every tunnel, caisson, compartment, or place to which this act applies shall be so constructed, equipped, arranged, operated, and conducted as to provide such protection to the lives, health, and safety of all persons employed therein as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

SEC. 5426. Duties of employers.—Every employer carrying on any work in the prosecution of which persons are employed in compressed air shall:

(1) Provide and install gauges in each tunnel, for showing the air pressure to which the persons so employed therein are subjected. Such gauges shall be accessible at all times during working hours to all employees in the tunnels.

(2) Provide and attach gauge to each caisson, for showing the air pressure to which the persons so employed therein are subjected, and employ a competent person, who may be the lock tender, to take charge of such gauges and of the instruments required under subdivision three of this section. The person so employed shall not be permitted to work more than eight hours in any twenty-four hours.

(3) Provide and attach an air gauge and a timepiece to each air lock. Such gauge and timepiece shall be accessible to the lock tender at all times.

(4) Keep at least two air-pipes or lines connected with each tunnel, caisson, compartment, or place in which persons are so employed.

(5) Provide a suitable iron ladder for the entire length of every shaft used in connection with such work.

(6) Keep every passageway used in connection with such work clear and properly lighted.

(7) Provide sufficient electric lights for all lighting purposes, and provide a wire for lighting the shaft, which wire shall be separated from the wire used for lighting the place where the employees are at work in compressed air; all electric wires shall be properly insulated.

(8) Provide, for the use of all persons so employed, dressing rooms, which shall be kept open and accessible during working hours and during the intervals between working periods, and also a separate room for drying clothes. The dressing rooms shall contain benches and individual lockers, shower baths, with hot and cold water, and sanitary water-closets, and shall be kept properly heated, lighted, and ventilated.

(9) If the maximum air pressure in such work exceeds seventeen pounds, provide and maintain at least one double compartment hospital lock; such lock shall be at least six feet high inside measurement, and be suitably floored; it shall be equipped with inside and outside air gauges and timepieces, and a telephone with proper connections, and shall contain benches and proper surgical and medical equipment; it shall be properly heated, lighted, and ventilated.

SEC. 5427. Position of caisson.—No caisson in which persons are employed in compressed air shall, while work is in progress therein, be suspended or hung so that the bottom of the excavation is more than four feet below the cutting edge of the caisson.

SEC. 5428. Inspection daily.—Every employer carrying on any work in the prosecution of which persons are employed in compressed air shall cause all engines, boilers, steam pipes, steam gauges, drills, caissons, air pipes, air gauges, air locks, dynamos, electric wiring, signal apparatus, brakes, buckets, hoists, cables, chains, ropes, ladders, ways, tracks, sides, roofs, timbers, supports, and all other equipment, apparatus and appliances used in connection with such work to be inspected at least once every working-day by a competent person especially designated for that purpose; and if any defect in such equipment, apparatus or appliances is found, a report thereof in writing shall forthwith be made by the inspector to the employer and the defect shall be immediately repaired.

SEC. 5429. Physicians and nurses.—Every employer carrying on any work in the prosecution of which persons are employed in compressed air shall:

(1) Employ one or more licensed physicians as medical officers, who shall be present to render medical assistance at all necessary times at the place where such work is in progress, and who shall perform such other duties as are imposed on them by this act.

(2) If the maximum air pressure in such work exceeds seventeen pounds, employ one or more registered nurses, or one or more competent persons, which persons shall be selected by the medical officer and be certified by him to be competent by actual experience to handle cases of compressed-air illness. The nurses or persons so employed shall have charge of the hospital lock provided for in this act, and may also have other duties of a clerical nature, exclusive of timekeeping, such as will not require their presence elsewhere than at the hospital lock and such as they may leave at any time their service at the lock is necessary.

SEC. 5430. Use of intoxicants.—No person known to be addicted to the excessive use of intoxicants shall be employed or permitted to work in compressed air.

SEC. 5431. Physical examinations.—(1) No person shall be employed or permitted to work in compressed air until he has been examined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor.

(2) No person who has not previously worked in compressed air shall, during the first twenty-four hours of his employment, be permitted to work therein longer than one working period, as provided in section ten [5433], and he shall not be permitted to resume such work, if the air pressure exceeds fifteen pounds, until he has been reexamined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor.

(3) No person who is employed in compressed air, but who has been absent therefrom for ten or more consecutive days for any cause, shall be permitted to resume such work until he has been reexamined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor.

(4) No person who has been employed regularly in compressed air for three months shall be permitted to continue such work until he has been reexamined by the medical officer and found to be physically qualified therefor.

SEC. 5432. Records.—The medical officer shall keep a record of all physical examinations made in accord with section eight [5431], which record shall be kept at the place where the work is in progress, and shall contain the name, age, address, and full description of each person examined, the date on which each examination was made and the physical condition on that date of the person examined, and the total time such person has worked in compressed air, including time in previous employments. The employer shall also be responsible for the observance of this section.

SEC. 5433. Working time.—When the air pressure in any tunnel, caisson, compartment, or place in which persons are employed exceeds normal, but does not exceed fifty pounds, the maximum number of hours which, in any twenty-four hours, a person may be employed or permitted to work or remain therein, shall be as hereinafter stated. In every case the maximum number of hours shall be divided into two working periods of equal length, and the minimum time interval which shall elapse between such working periods shall be as hereafter stated.

When the air pressure exceeds normal, but does not exceed twenty-one pounds, number of hours in twenty-four, eight; interval between working periods, thirty minutes.

When the air pressure exceeds twenty-one but does not exceed thirty pounds, number of hours in twenty-four, six; interval between working periods, one hour.

When the air pressure exceeds thirty but does not exceed thirty-five pounds, number of hours in twenty-four, four; interval between working periods, two hours.

When the air pressure exceeds thirty-five but does not exceed forty pounds, number of hours in twenty-four, three; interval between working periods, three hours.

When the air pressure exceeds forty but does not exceed forty-five pounds, number of hours in twenty-four, two; interval between working periods, four hours.

When the air pressure exceeds forty-five but does not exceed fifty pounds, number of hours in twenty-four, one and one-half; interval between working periods, five hours.

Except in cases of emergency, no person shall be employed, or permitted to work or remain, in any tunnel, caisson, compartment, or place where air pressure exceeds fifty pounds.

SEC. 5434. Decompression.—No person shall be permitted to pass from any tunnel, caisson, compartment, or place where he has been employed in compressed air to atmosphere or [of] normal pressure, without passing through an intermediate lock or stage of decompression. When the employee is passing from a tunnel to atmosphere of normal pressure, the rate of decompression shall be three pounds every two minutes, except when the air pressure in the tunnel exceeds thirty-six pounds, in which case the rate of decompression shall be one pound every minute. When the employee is passing from a caisson, compartment, or place to atmosphere of normal pressure, the time of decompression shall be as follows:

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds normal, but does not exceed ten pounds, time of decompression one minute.

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds ten but does not exceed fifteen pounds, time of decompression two minutes.

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds fifteen but does not exceed twenty pounds, time of decompression five minutes.

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds twenty pounds but does not exceed twenty-five pounds, time of decompression ten minutes.

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds twenty-five pounds but does not exceed thirty pounds, time of decompression twelve minutes.

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds thirty but does not exceed thirty-six pounds, time of decompression fifteen minutes.

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds thirty-six but does not exceed forty pounds, time of decompression twenty minutes.

When the pressure in a caisson, compartment, or place exceeds forty but does not exceed fifty pounds, time of decompression twenty-five minutes.

SEC. 5435. Enforcement.—The commissioner of labor and industry shall enforce this act. In enforcing this act any employee or agent of the department of labor and industry, specially authorized in writing, may at any time enter any place of employment covered by this act for purposes of inspection. It shall be unlawful to hinder or prevent such employee or agent in the performance of his duties under this act.

SEC. 5436. Violations.—[Violators are liable to a penalty of $50 for a first offense, $100 for a second, and $300 for subsequent offenses.]

Pensions for employees

SECTION 5775. Power of corporations.—Corporations organized for profit under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may, out of the earnings of said corporations, grant allowances or pensions to employees for faithful and long-continued service, who have, in such service, become old, infirm or disabled: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any director or officer of any such company or corporation.

Powers of manufacturing companies, etc.—Company stores

SECTION 5984. Powers restricted.—Every manufacturing, mining or quarrying company incorporated under the provisions of this act [relating to manufacturing companies], shall be confined exclusively to the purposes of its creation, as specified in its charter, and no such company shall manufacture or sell any commodity or article of merchandise other than those therein specified. No such company shall engage in, nor shall it permit any of its employees or officials to engage in, the buying or selling, upon the lands possessed by it, of any wares, goods or commodities or merchandise, other than those specified in their charter, or necessary for the manufacture of the same. No such company shall permit to be withheld or authorize or direct the withholding of wages due any of its operatives or employees, by reason of the sale or furnishing of goods, wares or merchandise by any person to such operatives or employees, unless the same be withheld by reason of and in obedience to due process of law. But nothing herein contained shall prohibit any such person from supplying to its employees oil, powder or other articles and implements necessary for or used in mining.

This section is not unconstitutional. It does not prevent owners of stock of a corporation from engaging in other business and the fact that stockholders in a company are also partners in a store does not make the two identical. If an employee directs his wages to be applied on a debt for goods sold to him it is a valid transaction and he can not afterward recover his wages from the company. 6 Kulp 181.

SEC. 5988. Company stores prohibited.—On and after the passage of this act it shall not be lawful for any mining or manufacturing corporation of this Commonwealth, or the officers or stockholders of any such corporation, acting in behalf or in the interest of any such corporation, to engage in or carry on, by direct or indirect means, any store known as a company store, general supply store or store where goods and merchandise other than such as have been mined or manufactured by the mining or manufacturing corporation, of which said officers or stockholders are members, are kept or offered for sale.

SEC. 5989. Right to maintain store not to be granted.—No mining or manufacturing corporation engaged in business under the laws of this Commonwealth shall lease, grant, bargain or sell to any officer or stockholder of any such corporation, nor to any other person or persons whatsoever, the right to keep or maintain upon the property of any such corporation any company, general supply or other store in which goods other than those mined or manufactured by the corporation granting such right shall be kept or exposed for sale whenever such lease, grant, bargain or sale as aforesaid is intended to defeat the provisions of the first section of this act. Nor shall any such mining or manufacturing corporation, through its officers, stockholders or by any rule or regulation of its business, make any contract with the keepers or owners of any store, whereby the employees of such corporation shall be obliged to trade with such keeper or owner, and that any such contract made in violation of this act shall be prima facie evidence of the fact that such store is under the control of such mining or manufacturing corporation and in violation of this act.

SEC. 5990. Forfeiture.—For any violation of any of the provisions of this act by any mining or manufacturing corporation aforesaid, such mining or manufacturing corporation so offending shall forfeit all charter rights granted to it under the laws of this Commonwealth, and it is hereby declared and made the duty of the attorney general of this Commonwealth, upon complaint of such violation of any of the provisions of this act by a petition signed and sworn to by two of more citizens, residents of the county where the offense is sworn to have been committed, to immediately commence proceedings against the corporation or corporations complained against by a writ of quo warranto.

Hours of labor on street railways

SECTION 6215. Twelve hours a day's labor.—It shall be unlawful for the president, board of directors, superintendent or other agents of any horse, cable and [or] electric railway company to permit or suffer any conductor, driver or any other person in the employ of any such company, to work more than twelve hours in any one day in the service of such company: Provided, That all necessary labor, over and above the time set by this section, shall be considered overwork, for which the laborer shall receive additional compensation.

SEC. 6216. Penalty.—[Violations are punishable by imprisonment not less than thirty days nor more than six months.]

SEC. 6217. Evidence.—On the preliminary trial, or hearing of any such president, director or other officer, charged with the misdemeanor aforesaid, evidence of the actual service by such conductor, driver or any other employee, during more than twelve hours in any one day, shall be sufficient prima facie proof of such permission or sufferance, by such president, director or other officer: Provided, however, That a party charged with such offense may show, in his defense, that such excessive service was without his knowledge, permission or sufferance.

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTION 8458. Rank.—[Servants' wages for not exceeding one year rank with funeral expenses and expenses of last illness as first to be paid by executors or administrators of estates.]

Payment of wages due deceased employees

SECTION 8601. Payment to wife, etc.—It shall be lawful for any employer in this Commonwealth, at any time not less than thirty days after the death of his employee, to pay all wages due to such deceased employee to the wife, children, father or mother, sister or brother (preference being given in the order named) of the deceased employee, without requiring letters testamentary or of administration to be issued upon the estate of said deceased employee, where such wages do not exceed one hundred and fifty dollars in amount. If such deceased employee shall not leave a wife or any of said relatives surviving him, then it shall be lawful for the employer in like manner to pay such wages to the creditors of the decedent, as follows, undertaker, physician, boarding-house keeper, and nurse, each his or her pro rata share, upon affidavit of fact furnished. The payment of such wages as aforesaid shall be a full discharge and release to the employer from any further claim for such wages.

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 9892. Threatening discharge, etc.—Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, give or offer to give any such gift or reward to any such elector, with the intent to induce him to vote for any particular candidate or candidates at such election, or shall directly or indirectly procure or agree to give any such gift or reward to such elector, with the intent aforesaid, or shall, with the intent to influence or intimidate such elector to give his vote for any particular candidate or candidates at such election, give, offer, or promise to give, to such elector, any office, place, appointment, or employment, or threaten such elector with dismissal or discharge from any office, place, appointment, or employment, public or private, then held by him, in case of his refusal to vote for any particular candidate or candidates at such election, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction, be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, and undergo an imprisonment not exceeding two years.

Private employment offices

SECTION 10130. License.—[No employment agent may do business for profit without a license.]

SEC. 10131 (as amended 1923, No. 193). Scope.—[The act does not apply to employment departments or bureaus of corporations of the State securing employees for themselves without fee, or to teachers' or nurses' agencies.]

SEC. 10132. Application; fee; bond.—[Applications for license must be made on blanks furnished by the commissioner of labor and industry, must be sworn to, be accompanied by a fee of $50, and a bond in the sum of $1,000 conditioned on compliance with the law and the payment of damages accruing to any person by reason of fraud, excessive charges, or other wrongful act of the agent or his employees.]

SEC. 10134. Renewal; transfer.—[Licenses expire on September 30 following issue, and are not transferable.]

SECS. 10135, 10136. Refusal; revocation.—[Licenses may be refused for unfitness of the applicant, previous revocation of license, unsuitability of proposed location, or other good reason; and may be revoked with or without hearing for violations of law or regulations, or for reasons for which the license might have been refused.]

SEC. 10137. Rules.—[The commissioner shall prescribe necessary rules and regulations.]

SEC. 10138. False statements.—[Agents are responsible for false statements made or published, and for the acts and statements of their employees. False statements or concealments by employers and applicants are forbidden.]

SEC. 10139. Form of contracts.—[Forms of contracts used by agents must have the approval of the commissioner.]

SEC. 10140. Fees.—[A schedule of fees must be submitted to the commissioner for approval, and may not be varied without approval. No registration fee may be charged, nor may fees be split with employers or their agents.]

SEC. 10141. Receipts.—[Receipts must be given for all money or other valuable consideration, stating amounts, purposes, and such other facts as the commissioner may direct.]

SEC. 10142. Return of fee.—[If the applicant fails through no fault of his own to obtain the employment to which he was referred, the whole amount of the fee and of any transportation or other expenses shall, on demand, be refunded.]

SEC. 10143. Posting license, etc.—[Licenses, schedules of fees, and notices as directed must be posted conspicuously in places of business of employment agents.]

SEC. 10144. Inspection.—[The commissioner or his agents may at any time enter the premises of an agency and inspect registers, cards, and records. A search warrant may be secured, if necessary.]

SEC. 10145. Immoral resorts, etc.—[No female may be sent to a place of bad repute or immoral resort, the character of which could be ascertained on reasonable inquiry. No person of bad character may be allowed to remain in an agency.]

SEC. 10146. Children.—[Agents may not furnish employment to children in violation of any law regulating their employment.]

SEC. 10147 (as amended 1923, No. 193). Enforcement.—[The commissioner and his agents have the power of a constable or police officer, and may arrest on view persons detected in violating the law. They may issue subpœnas, administer oaths, take testimony, etc.]

SECS. 10148–10151. Penalties.—[Conducting an agency without license subjects the offender to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both. False statements under oath are punishable as for perjury. Failure to comply with subpœnas or to answer questions subjects to a penalty of $100; and violations of the act entail a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment not over one year, or both.]

Suits for wages—Exemptions—Attachments

SECTION 10392. No property exempt.—[No exemption of property from attachment, levy, or sale on execution is allowed in judgment for wages for manual labor for $100 or less.]

SEC. 10393. Assignments to defeat exemption.—[No citizen of the State may assign a claim against a resident for collection outside the State or send such claim outside the State for collection for the purpose of depriving the debtor of his right to have his personal earnings exempt under the laws of the State.]

Sec. 10394. Evidence.—[Any assignment or transfer of a claim, or proceedings in attachment or garnishment which might, could, or does deprive one of the benefit of the exemption laws of the State, is prima facie evidence of intention to violate the above act.]

Sec. 10403. Stay.—[No stay of execution is allowed in judgments of $100 or less for wages of manual labor.]

Sec. 10431. Attachment.—[Wages of laborers and salaries of persons in public or private employment are not subject to attachment in the hands of the employer.]

Factory, etc., regulations—Fire escapes

Section 10913 (as amended 1921, No. 237). Fire protection.— * * * Every building in which persons are employed above the second story in a factory, workshop, or mercantile establishment * * * shall be equipped either with an automatic sprinkler system or with an automatic fire-alarm system, in all cases required by the commissioner of labor and industry and to be approved by him; and in all cases shall be provided with proper ways of egress or means of escape from fire, sufficient for the use of all persons accommodated, assembled, employed, lodged, or residing therein, and such ways of egress and means of escape shall be kept free from obstruction, in good repair, properly lighted, and ready for use, at all times; and all ways of egress or means of escape in said buildings wherein persons are employed after darkness or the public assembles after darkness shall be provided with a reliable emergency electric lighting circuit, independent of the main lighting circuit, of a type to be approved by the commissioner of labor and industry; and all rooms above the second story in said buildings shall be provided with more than one way of egress or escape from fire, which shall be placed as near as practical at opposite ends or sides of the building and leading to stairways on the inside, or, where not possible to provide such stairways, to stair towers or fire escapes on the outside of such buildings: Provided, That in all such buildings hereafter erected, such ways of egress or means of escape from fire shall be located within the walls of the building, and at least one of such ways of egress or means of escape from fire shall be an inclosed stair tower of fire-resistance construction, except that properly constructed bridges between two separate buildings, or parts of buildings, separated by approved fire walls, may be accepted in lieu of such inside stairway by the commissioner of labor and industry: And provided further, That the commissioner of labor and industry may order fire walls to be built in buildings already erected or which may hereafter be erected where in his judgment the erection of such fire walls is necessary to the reasonably [sic] safe protection of the inmates. Such ways of egress or means of escape from fire, or fire walls, shall be in accordance with standards drawn up by the industrial board of the department of labor and industry. Where any of said buildings is designated for the use or occupancy of fifty or more persons, the external doors of the same shall open outward, shall be kept unlocked and ready for instant use at all times, and be so constructed or arranged as to afford, when open, an unobstructed passageway of not less than five feet in the clear. Where such doors lead from stairways, there shall be landings inside the external doorways of dimensions not less than four feet between the external doors and the adjoining stairways; said landings to be of a width not less than the stairway approaches thereto.

Sec. 10915. Fire escapes.—In addition to the foregoing means of escape from fire, all such buildings as are enumerated in section one of this act that are more than two stories in height, and buildings having one or more galleries above the first or ground floor, shall have one or more fire escapes, as may be directed by the commissioner of labor and industry, or, under his instructions by the chief inspector or an inspector of the department of labor and industry. And such fire escapes as are provided for in this section shall be constructed according to specifications to be issued or approved by the department of labor and industry. Fire escapes now in use and hereafter erected must be painted at least once a year, and be kept in safe condition and up to the standard requirements of this section.

Sec. 10916. Internal provisions. [If external escapes can not be provided without trespass on other property, for which permission is denied, internal means of escape, approved by the commissioner or chief inspector, may be provided in lieu thereof; and if neither means can be provided, the use of the building or part thereof for uses subjecting it to this act shall be discontinued.]

SEC. 10917. Approval of plans.—[Designs and plans for the adaptation of old or the erection of new buildings must be approved by the commissioner of labor and industry.]

SECS. 10918–10920. Violations.—[Failure to comply with the act, or hindering inspection, etc., is punishable by a fine, not over $500, or not over 6 months' imprisonment, or both. Prosecutions may be instituted by the commissioner of labor, or by an inspector under his direction. If death or personal injury occurs in any fire or panic, in the absence of the safeguards provided by this act, the owner or owners are liable in action for damages for such death or injuries.]

SEC. 10921. Exits to be fireproof.—All exits to external fire escapes shall be by means of doors of fireproof construction, in which doors there may be placed wire glass, if glass is required for lighting the interior; and all windows hereafter opening upon, over, or under external fire escapes, shall be of fireproof construction, with wire glass therein, and with metal fireproof frames around the windows.

SEC. 10922. Violations.—[Penalties are fines not exceeding $300 or imprisonment not exceeding two months, or both.]

Wages—Attachment for board

SECTION 11950. Amount.—[Keepers of hotels, inns, boarding houses, and lodging houses may bring action to attach wages due or owing to persons indebted to such keepers, in an amount not exceeding the sum due them for 4 weeks.]

SEC. 11951. Service.—[Every person owing such wages shall be deemed to have accepted notice of attachment of wages in his hands when properly served with such notice.]

Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 13229. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[The employment or letting out to employment of any child under 15 in acrobatic, gymnastic, etc., occupations or in any indecent or illegal exhibition, or injurious vocation, is punishable by a fine of from $50 to $100.]

SEC. 13230. Mendicancy.—[The employment of children under 18 in singing, playing musical instruments, begging, or in any mendicant business is a misdemeanor, punishable as above.]

SEC. 13285. Scope.—[This act (secs. 13285–13308) applies to all places of employment for compensation of any kind, except farm and domestic service.]

SEC. 13286. Age limit.—[No minor under 14 may be employed in, about, or in connection with any establishment or in any occupation.]

SEC. 13288. Hours.—[Children under 16 may not be employed more than 9 hours per day or 51 per week, nor between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 13289. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 in a specified list of dangerous occupations, including work in mines, is forbidden; also of children under 18 in an additional list, including railway operations, the use of explosives, etc. For similar lists see Delaware Code, secs. 3145, 3148.

Minors under 18 may also be excluded from employments declared dangerous or injurious by the industrial board of the department of labor and industry, after public hearing.]

SEC. 13290. Messengers.—[No minor may be employed in messenger or delivery service between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 13291. Street trades.—[No male under 12 and no female minor may sell or distribute any newspaper, periodical, or other publication in any street or public place; nor may any male under 14 or female minor act as bootblack or in other street trade. Males under 16 may not engage in these trades between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SECS. 13292–13303. Certificates.—[Certificates must be procured and kept on file for the employment of any child under 16 in or in connection with any establishment or occupation. These are issued by the school authorities on the presentation of a statement by an employer of his purpose to employ the applicant, stating the character of the work and the number of hours per day and week he will be employed, after personal appearance of the minor, and on application of a parent, guardian or next friend. A school record, showing the completion of the sixth grade, a certificate of physical fitness signed by a physician after thorough examination, and evidence of age are required. Vacation certificates issue without a school record.

Employers must acknowledge to the issuing authority the receipt of an employment certificate, and must return the same to such authority within three days after the termination of employment. Forms are to be furnished by the State superintendent of public instruction.]

Sec. 13304. Enforcement.—[Attendance officers may be appointed by the State board of education to enforce the act.]

Sec. 13305. Act and lists to be posted.—[The provisions of the act relating to hours of labor, and lists of minors under 16 must be posted in a conspicuous place in the establishments where employed.]

Sec. 13306. Minors without certificates.—[Any enforcement officer may demand proof of the age of any minor employed without a certificate who is in his judgment under 16 years of age, or require employment to cease. Such cessation does not relieve from the penalties for unlawful employment.]

Sec. 13307. Penalties.—[Employing minors in violation of the law, or hindering inspectors in the performance of their duties, is punishable by a fine of from $10 to $200, or imprisonment not over 10 days, or both.]

Sec. 13308. Enforcement. [The commissioner of labor and industry, attendance officers, factory inspectors and the local police are charged with the duty of enforcing the law.]

Department of labor and industry

Section 13481. Department of labor and industry.—There is hereby established a department of labor and industry, the head of which shall be a commissioner of labor and industry, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, and who shall hold office for the term of four years from the date of his appointment, and who shall receive an annual salary of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), and shall appoint, and may at pleasure remove, all officers, clerks, and other employees of the department of labor and industry, except as herein otherwise provided.

Sec. 13494. Powers of board.—The industrial board shall have the power to make investigation concerning, and report upon, all matters touching the enforcement and effect of the provisions of all laws of the Commonwealth, the enforcement of which shall now and hereafter be imposed upon the department of labor and industry, and the rules and regulations made by the industrial board in connection therewith; and to subpœna and require the attendance in this Commonwealth of all witnesses, and the production of books and papers pertinent to the said investigation, and to examine them and such public records as it may require in relation to any matter which it has power to investigate. Any witness who refuses to obey a subpœna of the said board, as hereinabove provided for, or who refuses to be sworn or to testify, or who fails or refuses to produce any books, papers, or documents touching any matter under investigation or examination by the said board, or who is guilty of any contempt after being summoned to appear before the said board as above provided, may be punished as for contempt of court; and, for this purpose, application may be made to any court within whose territorial jurisdiction the said contempt took place, and for which purpose the courts of the common pleas of this Commonwealth are hereby given jurisdiction. In the course of such investigation each member of said board shall have power to administer oaths. Each member shall have the further power to make personal investigations of all establishments in this Commonwealth where labor is employed.

Sec. 13495. Construction, etc., of buildings.—All rooms, buildings, and places in this Commonwealth where labor is employed, or shall hereafter be employed, shall be so constructed, equipped, and arranged, operated and conducted, in all respects, as to provide reasonable and adequate protection for the life, health, safety, and morals of all persons employed therein. For the carrying into effect of this provision, and the provisions of all the laws of this Commonwealth, the enforcement of which is now or shall hereafter be intrusted to or imposed upon the commissioner or department of labor and industry, the industrial board shall have power to make, alter, amend, and repeal general rules and regulations necessary for applying such provisions to specific conditions, and to prescribe means, methods, and practices to carry into effect and enforce such provisions.

SEC. 13496. Rules and regulations.—The rules and regulations of the industrial board, and the amendments and alterations thereof, may embrace all matters and subjects to which power and authority of the department of labor and industry extends, and shall be distributed to all applicants. Every rule or regulation adopted by the board shall be promptly published in bulletins of the department of labor and industry, and in such daily newspapers as the board may prescribe, and no such rule or regulation shall take effect until thirty days after such publication. Any employer, employee, or other person interested, either because of ownership in or occupation of any property affected by any such order or regulation, or otherwise, may petition for a hearing on the reasonableness of a rule or regulation. Such petition for hearing shall be by verified petition, filed with the said industrial board, setting out specifically and in full detail the rule or regulation upon which a hearing is desired, and the reasons why such rule or regulation is deemed to be unreasonable. All hearings of the board shall be open to the public. Upon receipt of such petition, if the issues raised in such petition have theretofore been adequately considered, the industrial board shall determine the same by confirming, without hearing, its previous determination; or, if such hearing is necessary to determine the issue raised, the industrial board shall order a hearing thereon, and consider and determine the matter or matters in question at such time as shall be prescribed. Notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be given to the petitioner, and to such other persons as the industrial board may find directly interested in such decision.

SEC. 13497. Violations.—[Penalties for violations of the act or the rules of the industrial board are fines not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not over one month, or both.]

Mediation and arbitration

SECTION 13500. Mediation.—Whenever a difference arises between an employer and his employees, which can not be readily adjusted, the chief of the bureau shall proceed promptly to the locality thereof, and endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable settlement of the controversy. If such settlement can not be effected, the dispute may be arbitrated by a board composed of one person selected by employer, and one person selected by employees, and a third who shall be selected by the representatives of the employer and the employees; and such third member of the board shall be selected and appointed within a period of five days after the matter has been submitted for arbitration, and, in the event of any such appointment or selection not being made within a period of five days, then the chief of the bureau of mediation and arbitration shall constitute the third member of the board, and be the chairman of the board; and if such third representative is chosen, by the two representatives of the employer and employees, within five days, then a chairman of the board shall be established by the board itself. A submission to the board shall be made in writing, and the parties thereto shall agree to abide by the determination of the board. Said board shall render a written decision within ten days after the completion of the investigation, one copy thereof to be filed in the bureau, and a copy to be furnished each party to the controversy. The chief of the bureau shall make an annual report of his work, containing such information as the commissioner of labor and industry may request.

Public employment offices

SECTION 13510. Definitions.—The term "bureau," as used in this act, shall mean bureau of employment.

The term "commissioner" shall mean the commissioner of labor and industry.

The term "board" shall mean the industrial board of the department of labor and industry.

The term "local offices" shall mean local, free, public employment offices.

SEC. 13520. Cooperation.—The director may enter into an agreement with any county, city, borough, town, or township for the establishment and joint maintenance of local offices. All county, city, borough, town, or township executives shall report to the director, from time to time, the general conditions of employment, the demands of employers for employees, the demands of employees for employment, and the existence of industrial disputes, strikes, and lockouts, in their respective districts, and shall cause to be posted any bulletins or notices of the bureau pertaining to the purposes of this act. Any county, city, borough, town, or township may appoint the superintendent of the nearest district branch office to fill the office of superintendent of employment.

SEC. 13521. Duty of board.—The board shall—

(a) Devise plans and take steps toward the regularization of employment in the industries and seasonal trades of the State.

(b) Investigate the feasibility of, and induce the State, counties, cities, boroughs, towns, and townships to undertake, public improvements during the periods of unemployment.

(c) Cooperate with any persons, employer, official, association, or organ of the press whatsoever, for the accomplishment of the aforesaid purposes; appoint subcommittees for juveniles, farm laborers, and for other purposes; and the membership of these subcommittees may be enlarged to include persons outside the board, but each subcommittee must be presided over by a member of the board.

SEC. 13522. Councils.—Each district and local office shall have a representative council, appointed by the commissioner. The council shall consist of six members, one of whom shall be a woman, and all of whom are citizens of the United States and of the State and residents of the district where the council is to serve. One member shall be an employer, not a member of any employers' association; two members shall be representatives of employers' organizations; one member shall be a working person, not a member of any organization of working people, and two shall be representatives of organizations of working people. The commissioner shall designate one from the employers and one from the employees, to serve for a period of two years; and one from each group, to serve for a period of four years; and one from each group, to serve for a period of six years. Upon the expiration of said terms, the term of office of each member thereafter appointed shall be for a term of six years, except that any member appointed to fill a vacancy shall serve for the unexpired term thereof.

The commissioner and the director shall be ex officio members of each council. The superintendent in charge of a district shall be chairman of the council for his district, and in case of his inability to be present at any meeting the director or the commissioner may act as chairman.

The actual and necessary traveling expenses incurred by members of district representative councils, while engaged in the performance of their duties, shall be paid by the State.

SEC. 13523. Duty of councils.—The council in each district shall—

(a) Devise methods and take steps toward the regularization of employment in the various industries and seasonal trades of the district.

(b) Devise plans and take steps to promote public improvements by municipalities within the district during seasons of unemployment.

(c) Cooperate with any person, employer, association, or organ of the press in accomplishing the aforesaid purposes.

(d) Appoint subcommittees to deal specially with any subject which the council has power to investigate or act upon, but each subcommittee shall be presided over by a member of the council.

(e) Hold meetings at least once each month, or oftener if required, for the accomplishment of the aforesaid purposes; such meetings to be called by the chairman of the council or to be fixed at any regular meeting of the council.

(f) Keep minutes of all meetings; submit a copy of all minutes, records, and decisions, and report in full on all actions or proceedings to the director. No rule shall be prescribed or action taken by the council inconsistent with the action of the board.

SEC. 13524. Fees.—The bureau shall neither charge nor receive fees, directly or indirectly, for any service or benefit rendered to those availing themselves of advantages provided. No official, employee, or person associated with the bureau in the performance of its duties shall charge, demand, accept, or receive, directly or indirectly, any fee, compensation, contribution, or gratuity for any service or duty performed as an official or employee of the bureau.

SEC. 13525. Statements as to strikes, etc.—Each person applying for employees at any public employment office shall file, in such form and manner as the director may require, a signed statement affirming or denying the existence of an industrial dispute, strike, or lockout at or in connection with the business or place of business for which such person is applying for help. Any citizen or employee may file at any public employment office a signed statement with regard to the existence of an industrial dispute, strike, or lockout affecting any business or trade. Each statement filed shall be exhibited in the public employment office, but not until it has been communicated to the employees affected if filed by employers, or to the employers affected if filed by citizen or employees. In case a reply to such a statement is received, it shall be exhibited, together with the original statement, in the public employment office; but no statement or reply thereto shall be so exhibited until it has been ascertained, upon investigation, that an industrial dispute, strike, or lockout does exist at or in connection with the business or place of business in question. No official of the bureau shall assist, in any manner whatsoever, any person, firm, association, or corporation who is a party to an industrial dispute, strike, or lockout. Each person applying to any public employment office for help or employment shall give such information as the director may require.

Sec. 13526. Full information.—It shall be the duty of the officer in charge of each public employment office, and of his assistants, to give full and complete information with regard to any position offered, and the terms and conditions relative thereto, to any person applying for such position; and to call the attention of such applicant to any statement, or reply thereto, with reference to the existence of any industrial dispute, strike, or lockout affecting the business or trade in which the position is offered.

Sec. 13527. Refusing offer.—No applicant for employment shall suffer any disqualification, or be otherwise prejudiced, at any public employment office on account of refusing to accept employment offered. The reliability and fitness of an applicant for the particular position which he is to fill shall always be taken into consideration in referring him to an employer. No applicant procuring employment with any employer other than the State, through the medium of the bureau or its officials, shall be regarded in any sense as an employee or official of the State.

Sec. 13528. Children.—In case bureaus for vocational training and placement, or other similar bureaus, are established by local school authorities, the director shall cooperate with such bureaus in dealing with the employment of children between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years, in such manner as may be advisable. The director shall use all reasonable means to promote the establishment of bureaus for vocational training and placement, in connection with vocational education by public school authorities throughout the State. Until bureaus for vocational training and placement, or other similar bureaus, have been established by local public school authorities, for the purposes of directing, advising, and assisting children in the selection of suitable vocations, the director shall provide school principals and all public employment offices with special blank forms for the registration of all children having employment certificates, as required by law, and leaving school lawfully in search of employment. Each child applying for employment may register at a public or other approved school with the principal of such school; and the principals of public or other approved schools are hereby authorized and required to register such applications for employment, to assist and advise each applicant in the selection of a vocation, in such manner as may be necessary, and to transmit immediately to the superintendent of the district branch office all applications for employment registered. The superintendent of each public employment office shall cooperate with the school principals in his district in endeavoring to secure suitable positions for children leaving school lawfully to enter a vocation, and shall guide and induce minors to enter promising vocations; and each principal shall acquaint the teachers and pupils of his school with the purpose and functions of the public employment office in placing juveniles.

Sec. 13529. Exemptions.—No provision of any section of this act shall be construed as applying to agents procuring employment for school teachers exclusively; nor to registries of any incorporated association of nurses; nor to departments or bureaus maintained by persons, firms, or corporations or associations, for the purpose of obtaining help for themselves, where no fee is charged the applicant for employment.

Sec. 13530. False statements.—Any person willfully making any untrue statement in applying to any public employment office shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 13531. Violations.—Except as herein provided otherwise, any person who violates any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Accidents to be reported

SECTION 13535. Duty of employer.—Within thirty days after the beginning of the disability of an employee because of any persoual injury, caused by an accident occurring in the course of his employment, the employer, whether a person, firm, or corporation, shall make report of such accident to the department of labor and industry. Such report shall set forth the name, address, and nature of the business of the employer; name, address, sex, age, nationality, and occupation of the employee; date, day or week, hour, place, and character of the accideut, and the nature of the injury, and the duration of the disability, or probable disability, as far as the same can be ascertained. Such employer shall, also, upon request of the department of labor and industry, make such further report as may reasonably be required by it.

SEC. 13536. Violation.—Any person, firm, or corporation having knowledge of the occurrence of such personal injury to an employee, in the course of employment, who shall fail to make report as aforesaid, shall be liable to the Commonwealth for a penalty of one hundred dollars to be recovered by action brought by said department.

SEC. 13537. Reports not evidence.—Reports made in accordance with this act shall not be evidence against the employer in any proceeding, either under the workmen's compensation law of one thousand uine hundred and thirteen or otherwise.

SEC. 13538. Required report sufficient.—No employer who has made the report required by this act shall be required to make any other or further report of such accident to any other department of the government of the Commonwealth.

SEC. 13539. Application.—This act shall not apply to casual employments, nor to accidents resulting in disability continuing less than two days.

Employment of females—Factory regulations

SECTION 13540. Definitions.—The term "establishment," when used in this act, shall mean any place within this Commonwealth where work is done for compensation of any sort, to whomever payable: Provided, That this act shall not apply to work in private homes and farming.

The term "person," when used in this act, shall be construed to include any individual, partnership, or other unincorporated association, corporation, and municipality.

The term "week," when used in this act, shall uean any seven consecutive days, and the term "day" shall mean any twenty-four consecutive hours.

SEC. 13541. Construction.—Whenever in this act the singular is used the plural shall be included, and whenever the masculine gender is used the feminine and neuter shall be included.

SEC. 13542. Hours of labor.—(a) No female shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, any establishment for more than six days in any one week, or more than fifty-four hours in any one week, or more than ten hours in any one day: Provided, That during weeks in which a legal holiday occurs and is observed by an establishment, any female may be employed by such establishment during three days of such week for a longer period of time than is allowed by this act; but no female shall be permitted to work more than two hours overtime during any one of such three days, nor more than the maximum hours per week specified in this act.

The employment of such persons at any other time than as stated herein shall be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section, unless it appears that such employment was to make up time lost in the same week in consequence of the alteration, repairs, or accidents to machinery or plant upon which she was employed and dependent for employment; but no stopping of machinery for less than thirty consecutive minutes shall justify such overtime employment, nor shall such overtime employment be legal unless a written report of the same is sent to the commissioner of labor and industry; but no female shall be permitted to work more than two hours overtime during any one day, nor for more than the maximum number or hours per week specified in this act: Provided, That aforesaid restrictions as to hours shall not apply to females engaged in the canning of fruit and vegetable products: And provided further, That the one day of holiday in seven may be subdivided into two days of twelve hours each, for women employees in hotels, boarding houses, and in charitable, educational, and religious institutions, at the discretion of the industrial board of the department of labor and industry: Provided, That if it should be hereafter held by the courts of this Commonwealth that the power herein sought to be granted to the said board is, for any reason, invalid, such holding shall not be taken in any case to affect or impair the remaining provisions of this section.

(b) Whenever any female shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, more than one establishment in any one week or in any one day, the aggregate number of hours during which she shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, such establishment shall not exceed the number of hours prescribed in this section for such females in any one week or any one day.

(c) The provision of this section shall not apply to the work of nurses in hospitals.

SEC. 13543. Night work.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work in any manufacturing establishment before the hour of six o'clock in the morning, or after the hour of ten o'clock in the evening of any day: Provided, That this section shall not apply to managers, superintendents, or persons doing clerical or stenographic work.

SEC. 13544. Night work by females under 21.—No female under twenty-one years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, any establishment before the hour of six o'clock in the morning or after the hour of nine o'clock in the evening of any day: Provided, That this section shall not apply to females over the age of eighteen years employed as telephone operators.

SEC. 13545. Time for meals.—Not less than forty-five minutes shall be allowed to every female employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with any establishment, for the midday meal, which period shall not be considered a part of the hours of labor: Provided, That whenever any female shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, any establishment for less than eight hours in any one day, the time allowed for the midday meal may be reduced to not less than thirty minutes.

Employees shall not be required to remain in the workrooms during the time allowed for meals.

SEC. 13546. Rest period.—No female shall be employed or permitted to work for more than six hours continuously in, or in connection with, any establishment, without an interval of at least forty-five minutes, and no period of less than forty-five minutes, shall be deemed to interrupt a continuous period of work: Provided, That whenever any female shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, any establishment for less than eight hours in any one day, the interval between work periods may be reduced to not less than thirty minutes.

Employees shall not be required to remain in the workrooms during the rest periods required by this section.

SEC. 13547. Seats.—Every person employing or permitting females to work in any establishment shall provide suitable seats for their use in the rooms where they shall work, and shall maintain and keep them there, and shall permit the reasonable use thereof by such females. At least one seat shall be provided for every three females employed or permitted to work, and all seats shall during work hours be conveniently accessible to the workers for whose use they shall be provided.

SEC. 13548. Wash rooms, toilets, etc.—[Establishments in which females are employed must be supplied with suitable wash and dressing rooms, and accessible water-closets, separate for each sex, properly lighted, ventilated, cared for, and entrances screened, in the ratio of one for each 25 females employed.]

SEC. 13549. Lunch rooms.—Any person employing or permitting any female to work in any establishment where white lead, arsenic or other poisonous substances, or injurious fumes, dust or gases, shall be present, shall provide and maintain a suitable room, free from the aforesaid substances, fumes, dust and gases, for the use of said female employees; and no such person shall, during the time allowed for meals, permit any such female to remain in any room where the aforesaid substances, fumes, dust, and gases shall be present.

SEC. 13550. Exhaust fans.—Any person who shall employ or permit any female to work in any establishment in which poisonous or injurious dust, fumes, or gases shall be created by the machinery or material in process of manufacture, shall provide proper hoods and pipes connected with exhaust fans of sufficient capacity to remove such dust, fumes, or gases at their point of origin, and prevent them from mingling with the air in the room, and such fans shall be kept running constantly while such dust, fumes, or gases shall be generated.

SEC. 13551. Drinking water.—Any person employing any female in any establishment shall make reasonable efforts to at all times provide a sufficient supply of clean and pure drinking water. Such water shall be supplied through proper pipe connections with water mains which furnish water for domestic purposes, or from a spring or well, or body of pure water. If drinking water be placed in receptacles in the establishment, such receptacles shall be properly covered to prevent contamination, and shall at all times be kept thoroughly clean: Provided, That no employer in any establishment shall collect from any such female employee any money for ice furnished in his establishment for drinking purposes, for the use of the employees.

SEC. 13552. Copy of law to be posted.—Every person employing or permitting any female to work in any establishment shall keep posted, in a conspicuous place in the room where such female shall be employed or permitted to work, a printed abstract of the provisions of this act, and a schedule of the hours of labor of such female: Provided, That when any female shall be employed or permitted to work in more than one room in any establishment, the aforesaid abstract and schedule shall be required in only one of the said rooms. If any female shall be employed or permitted to work in connection with any establishment, but not in such establishment, the aforesaid abstract and schedule shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place in the office of such establishment.

The schedule of hours of labor herein required shall contain the name of the female employed or permitted to work, the maximum number of hours such female shall be required or permitted to work on each day of the week, with the total for the week, the hours of commencing and stopping work, and the hours when the time allowed for meals shall begin and end for each day of the week. Such female may begin work after the time for beginning, and stop before the time for ending work, stated in such schedule; but she shall not otherwise be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, any establishment, except as stated in such schedule.

The commissioner of labor and industry shall prepare the abstract of the provisions of this act, and a form for the schedule of hours of labor required by this section. Copies of such abstract and such form shall be printed, in accordance with the laws of this Commonwealth regulating printing and publishing, under the supervision of the superintendent of public printing and binding, and the commissioner of labor and industry shall supply the same, upon application, to all persons required to post the abstract and schedule aforesaid.

SEC. 13553. Proof.—Whenever any female shall be employed or permitted to work in, or in connection with, any establishment, before the hour of six o'clock in the morning or after the hour of nine o'clock in the evening of any day, who, in the judgment of the commissioner of labor and industry or his deputy, is under twenty-one years of age, such officer may demand from any person employing or permitting any such female to work in, or in connection with, his establishment, that such person shall either furnish to such officer within ten days satisfactory evidence, such as shall be required by law for the issuing of employment certificates to minors, that such female is, in fact, twenty-one years of age or over, or shall cease to employ or permit such female to work in, or in connection with, such establishment before or after the hours above named. In case such employer shall fail to furnish to said officer, within ten days after making such written demand, the required evidence of age, and shall thereafter continue to employ such female, or permit her to work in, or in connection with, such establishment, before or after the hours aforesaid, proof of the making of such demand and of failure to produce the evidence required shall be prima facie evidence of the illegal employment of such female, in any prosecution brought therefor.

SEC. 13554. Hindering officials.—No person shall hinder or delay the commissioner of labor and industry or any of his deputies in the performance of his duties in the enforcement of this act, or refuse to admit, or lock out, any inspector from any place while females are employed therein, and which said inspector shall be authorized to inspect, or refuse to give any inspector information required for the proper enforcement of this act.

SEC. 13555. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and industry and his deputies to enforce all the provisions of this act. They shall visit and inspect establishments, and shall have power at any reasonable time to visit and inspect any establishment in or in connection with which any female shall be employed or permitted to work. They shall investigate all complaints of violations of this act received by them, and shall institute prosecutions for violations of the provisions thereof.

SEC. 13557. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines from $10 to $50 for first offense, and from $25 to $200 for a second offense, or by imprisonment not more than sixty days, or both. Penalties may be imposed for the violation of each of two or more sections or provisions.]

SEC. 13561. Construction.—Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent females of any age from receiving industrial training or other education in, or in connection with, any school or educational institution in this Commonwealth.

Each section of this act and every part thereof is hereby declared to be an independent section, or part of a section, and if any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this act shall for any reason be held unconstitutional, the validity of the remaining phrases, clauses, sentences, subsections, and sections of this act shall not be affected thereby.

SEC. 13563. Power of board.—The industrial board of the department of labor and industry may modify the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement [No. 466, Acts of 1913], governing the employment of females, except as hereinafter provided, whenever, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the said board after due hearing upon petition filed, such modification may be justified and warranted, and will not result in or tend to the injury of the public health and welfare or of the health and welfare of the females sought to be affected by such modification.

SEC. 13565. Petition.—The request for such modification shall be by written petition filed with said board, and shall contain, in addition to such provisions as said board may from time to time prescribe, a complete statement of the character of the establishment and work to be affected, the number of females employed, the modification desired, and the reason therefor, which petition shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the applicant or of an officer thereof; and any modification made by said board, pursuant to said application and in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall apply only to the particular establishment, or department thereof, referred to in said petition.

SEC. 13567. Appeals.—Any person, firm, or corporation affected by any modification granted by said board as aforesaid may, within ten days after said board has filed its opinion, appeal therefrom to the said industrial board, as provided for in section 13496; * * * whereupon said board shall proceed to the consideration thereof as in said act provided; or may, within said time, appeal to a court of common pleas of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the manner now provided by law.

SEC. 13569. How modifications made.—Said board shall not make or decree such modification except upon the agreement of a majority of all its members, and shall file at its office at Harrisburg a written opinion, wherein shall be contained a copy of the petition filed, the testimony taken, the decisions of the board and its reasons therefor. Any modification so made may be changed or withdrawn by said board, by the action of a majority of the members thereof, or by the commissioner of the department of labor and industry whenever, in his opinion, prompt action is necessary and the attendance of a majority of the members of said board can not be secured, upon due notice to the owner of the establishment to be affected thereby; service of which notice and of any other notice required herein may be had by mailing a copy thereof to the last known post-office address of such establishment: Provided, That whenever the said commissioner takes such action he shall immediately report the same and his reasons therefor to the said board for record.

SEC. 13571. Powers limited.—Nothing in this act contained shall have the effect of, or be construed as, conferring power or authority on said board or on said commissioner to increase the maximum hours of labor per week, established by the terms of the act to which this is a supplement, which maximum of hours per week shall be and remain as in said act established; and nothing in this act contained shall have the effect of, or be construed as, applying to females employed in manufacturing establishments.

SEC. 13573. Notice.—Whenever any modification, or a change or withdrawal thereof, shall have been ordered as aforesaid, detailed notice thereof shall be mailed to the establishment affected in the manner aforesaid.

SEC. 13574. Rules.—Said board shall, from time to time, prescribe rules and regulations, not inconsistent herewith, governing the preparation and filing of petitions, the manner and time of service of all notices herein required; and shall have power to administer oaths, to subpœna witnesses and to compel obedience thereto, in the same manner, with like effect, and under like penalties as are now or hereafter may be provided by law with reference to proceedings by or before said board.

SEC. 13575. Violations.—Violations of any of the terms of such modifications, or of such changes or withdrawals thereof, as aforesaid, shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punishable in the same manner and to the same extent as is now provided for violations of the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement.

SEC. 13576. Expense.—The members of the said board shall perform the duties herein imposed upon them without additional compensation, but may incur such reasonable expense as may be necessary to the proper administration of the provisions of this act and the enforcement thereof.

SEC. 13577. Fire drills monthly.—In all factories and industrial establishments where women or girls are employed, and where fire escapes, appliances for the extinguishment of fires, or proper and sufficient exits in case of fires or panic, either or all, are required by law to be maintained, fire drills shall be periodically conducted, not less than once a month, by the person or persons in charge, under rules and regulations to be promulgated, in cities of the first and second classes, by the fire marshal, and, elsewhere in the Commonwealth, by the chief factory inspector, in which the persons employed in such factories or establishments shall be instructed in, and made thoroughly familiar with, the use of the said fire escapes, appliances, and exits; which said drill shall include the actual use of the same, and the complete removal of the persons, in an expeditious and orderly manner, by means of such fire escapes and exits, from the building to a place of safety on the ground outside.

SEC. 13578. Enforcement.—The fire marshal and his assistants in cities of the first and second classes, and the chief factory inspector and several deputy inspectors elsewhere in the Commonwealth, are hereby required to see that the provisions of this act are faithfully carried out.

SEC. 13579. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines of not less than $25 nor more than $500, and imprisonment not less than ten days nor more than sixty days, or both.]

SECS. 13580–13585. Coal mines.—[The employment of women and girls or of boys under 16 in mines and collieries, or of boys under 14 or females in or about the outside structures of the same, is forbidden; but this does not affect the employment of any person of suitable age in offices or for clerical work.]

Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 13586. Wash rooms.—[Suitable toilet facilities and wash rooms must be provided in foundries for the casting of iron, steel, brass, or other metal or any rolling mill, boiling mill, heating mill, or finishing mill.]

SEC. 13587. Access.—[Said toilet rooms or water-closets shall be situated so that access may be had without exposure to the open air.]

SEC. 13588. Violations.—[Violations are punished by fines not exceeding one hundred dollars.]

SEC. 13591. Belt shifters, guards, etc.—The owner or person in charge of an establishment where machinery is used shall provide belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts or pulleys. Whenever practicable, all machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys. All vats, pans, saws, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set screws, grindstones, emery wheels, fly wheels, and machinery of every description shall be properly guarded. The floor space of no working room in any establishment shall be so crowded with machinery as thereby to cause risk to the life or limb of an employee; nor shall there be in any establishment machinery in excess of the sustaining power of the floors and walls thereof. No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to machinery, vats or pans while the same are in use, except for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be properly replaced. Exhaust fans of sufficient power, or other sufficient devices, shall be provided for the purpose of carrying off poisonous fumes and gases, and dust from emery wheels, grindstones and other machinery creating dust. If a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition, or is not properly guarded, the use thereof may be prohibited by the chief factory inspector or by his deputy, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such notice shall not be removed until the machinery is made safe and the required safeguards are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used.

The protection provided for employees by this section can not be waived by them. An employer failing to install the prescribed appliances can not plead assumption of risks as a defense. 74 Atl. 613; 75 Atl. 728.

Sec. 13592 (as amended 1923, No. 298B). Elevators, etc.—[All elevators, dumb-waiters, escalators, hoists or other conveyances for raising or lowering persons or material must be constructed, operated and inspected in accordance with rules and regulations of the department of labor and industry. This does not apply in cities of the first and second classes.

Inspectors must pass a written examination, fee $10, and secure a certificate, fee $5, renewable annually on payment of a fee of $3. Certificates of operation are granted on examination, valid for a period specified by the rules of the commissioner. An inspection fee not exceeding $1 per annum is charged.]

Sec. 13593. Air space.—The owner, agent, lessee, or other person having charge or managerial control of any establishment shall provide or cause to be provided not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space for each and every person in every workroom in said establishment, where persons are employed, and shall provide that all workrooms, halls, and stairways in said establishment be kept in a clean and sanitary condition and properly lighted.

Sec. 13594. Manufactures in tenements.—No person, firm, or corporation engaged in the manufacture or sale of clothing or other wearing apparel, cigars, or cigarettes, shall bargain or contract with any person, firm, or corporation for the manufacture, or partial manufacture, of any of said articles or goods where the same are to be made in any kitchen, living room, or bedroom in any tenement house or dwelling house, except where the persons bargaining or contracting to make or partially make any of the aforesaid articles or goods are resident members of the family, residing in such tenement house or dwelling house where the said articles or goods are to be made or partially made, and who have furnished the person, firm, or corporation engaged in the manufacture or sale of said articles or goods, and with whom the bargain or contract is to be made, a certificate from the board of health of the city or town in which such tenement house or dwelling house is situated that the same is free from any infectious or contagious disease; which certificate may be revoked by the board of health whenever the exigencies of the case shall require: Provided, That the term "family" in this section shall include only the parents and their children, or the children of either.

Sec. 13595. Inspection required.—No person, firm, or corporation engaged in the manufacture or sale of any of the articles or goods enumerated in section fourteen [13594] of this act shall bargain or contract with any person, firm, or corporation for the manufacture, or partial manufacture, of any of the said articles or goods in any workshop, not part of a tenement or dwelling house, unless the said workshop shall have been inspected by the chief factory inspector or by one of his deputies, and who shall have issued a printed permit to the person in charge of such workshop, stating that the same is in a clean and safe and sanitary condition, and fixing the maximum limit to the number of persons who may be employed therein; the permit to be posted and kept posted in a conspicuous place in such workshop: Provided, That this section shall not apply to any workshop wherein the aforesaid articles or goods are manufactured for the general trade, and are to be sold and delivered in or upon the premises, and are not manufactured, or partially manufactured, under a bargain or contract with any person, firm, or corporation employed in the manufacture and sale of the article aforesaid.

Sec. 13597. Permits canceled, when.—Whenever the sanitary conditions of any workshop, as defined in section fifteen [13595], is dangerous to the health and safety of the employees therein or to the public, the chief factory inspector or his deputy shall cancel the permit aforesaid and shall order that the workshop be vacated until the provisions of this act shall have been complied with and the workshop restored to proper sanitary condition.

Sec. 13598 (as amended 1923, No. 297B). Steam boilers.—[All boilers used for generating steam or heat, in other than domestic, mining, or agricultural establishments, must be constructed, installed, and operated in accordance with rules and regulations of the department of labor and industry, and inspected by an inspector examined and commissioned under such rules. Inspections by commissioned insurance or city inspectors are accepted, as well as by inspectors of the department. Annual internal and external inspections, not under pressure, are required, for which a fee of $6.50 is required. The fee for inspection under operating conditions is $2.50, no total to exceed $10 per year.

An annual certificate for operation is issued for a fee of $1.

Boilers subject to Federal control, fire engines, and automobiles are not governed by this act.

The fee for an inspector's examination for commission is $10.]

Sec. 13599. Accidents.—It shall be the duty of the owner or superintendent of any establishment to report, in writing, to the chief factory inspector every serious accident or serious injury done to any person in his or her employ, where such accident or serious injury occurred in or about the premises where employed, within twenty-four hours after the accident or injury occurs, stating as fully as possible the cause of such accident or injury; and in all fatal and serious accidents the chief factory inspector or his deputy may subpœna witnesses, administer oaths, and do whatever may be necessary in order to make a thorough and complete investigation of the same: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section shall not be construed as interfering with the duties of the coroners, under existing laws.

Sec. 13600. Duty of owner, etc.—It shall be the duty of the owner, superintendent, assistant or person in charge of any establishment to furnish, from time to time, to the chief factory inspector or his deputy any information required by the provisions of this act, and the chief factory inspector and his deputies shall have authority to inspect any such establishment, at any time, for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act.

Sec. 13601. Fire escapes, etc.—Wherever the law makes it the duty of the owner, lessee, or other person in charge of any building, or room or rooms in any building, to erect and maintain fire escapes, or appliances for the extinguishment of fire, or for proper and sufficient exits in case of fire or panic, the chief factory inspector or his deputy shall inspect all said buildings, or the room or rooms in said buildings, and notify the owners, lessees, or other persons in charge of same, to comply with said law. And all fire escapes, exits and fire-extinguishing appliances shall be provided and located by order of the chief factory inspector or his deputy, and shall be subject to the approval of the chief factory inspector or his deputy: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to cities of the first and second classes.

Sec. 13603. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine of not less than $25 nor more than $500 or imprisonment not less than ten days nor more than sixty days, or both.]

Employment of a child in violation of the statute is evidence of negligence. While the statute is penal, fine and imprisonment are not exclusive remedies, but an action for damages will lie where injury results from the unlawful employment of a child. 60 Atl. 1116.

Protection of employees on buildings

Section 13607. Protective floors to be laid.—On and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the party or parties having charge of the construction of any new building hereafter erected in this Commonwealth, to have the joists or girders of each floor above the third story covered with rough scaffold boards or other suitable material, as the building progresses, so as to sufficiently protect the workmen either from falling through such joists or girders, or to protect the workmen or others, who may be under or below each floor, from falling bricks, tools, mortar or other substances whereby accidents happen, injuries occur and life and limb are endangered.

Sec. 13608. Penalty.—For every violation of this act a penalty, not exceeding one hundred dollars for each floor of joists or girders left uncovered, shall be imposed, to be collected as fines and penalties are usually collected.

Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 13609. Blowers required.—All persons, companies, or corporations operating any factory or workshop where emery wheels or emery belts of any description are used, either solid emery, leather, leather-covered, felt, canvas, linen, paper, cotton, or wheels or belts rolled or coated with emery or corundum, or cotton wheels used as buffs, shall provide the same with blowers, or similar apparatus, which shall be placed over, beside, or under such wheels or belts, in such a manner as to protect the person or persons using the same from the particles of dust produced and caused thereby, and to carry away the dust arising from or thrown off by such wheels or belts while in operation directly to the outside of the building or to some receptacle placed so as to receive and confine such dust: Provided, That grinding machines upon which water is used at the point of the grinding contact shall be exempt from the provisions of this act: And provided, This act shall not apply to factories or workshops where men are not employed continuously at such wheels or belts more than three hours in twenty-four hours.

SEC. 13610. Hoods.—It shall be the duty of any person, company, or corporation operating any such factory or workshop to provide or construct such appliances, apparatus, machinery, or other things necessary to carry out the purpose of this act, as set forth in the preceding section, as follows: Each and every wheel shall be fitted with a sheet of case iron or hood or hopper of such form and so applied to such wheel or wheels that the dust or refuse therefrom will fall from such wheels or will be thrown into such hood or hopper by centrifugal force and be carried off by the current of air into a suction-pipe attached to same hood or hopper.

SEC. 13611. Access to premises.—The inspectors of the department of labor and industry are hereby authorized to enter and inspect all factories and workshops for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act.

SEC. 13612. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, $100 to $300.]

SEC. 13613. Labor camps, etc.—The commissioner shall inspect all labor camps and housing accommodations for employees, maintained directly or indirectly in connection with any work or place where work is being performed, and all places established for the temporary shelter and care of aliens and unemployed persons, and prescribe minimum standards of sanitation for all such labor camps, accommodations, and temporary quarters.

SEC. 13614. Aliens.—The commissioner shall investigate the general industrial, social, and educational welfare and conditions of aliens within the State, for the purpose of cooperating with the various agencies of the State possessing the requisite jurisdiction in securing such remedial action as may be necessary.

SEC. 13615. Sale of tickets, etc.—The commissioner shall enforce all laws pertaining to the sale of steamship tickets or orders for transportation; and prescribe rules and regulations for the protection of purchasers in the purchase of and cancellation of third-class or steerage tickets, or orders for transportation; investigate conditions prevailing at all docks, ferries, railway stations, and other places where employees or aliens arrive or depart; and, in cooperation with the proper authorities, afford such employees or aliens protection against frauds, crimes, and exploitations; investigate all complaints of employees and aliens with respect to frauds, extortion, and improper practices by any person or corporation, whether public or private, and present to the proper authorities the results of such investigation for action thereon.

Employment of labor—Foremen, etc., accepting fees

SECTION 13628. Accepting fees a misdemeanor.—Any officer or employee of any employer of labor, in this Commonwealth, who shall solicit, demand, or receive, directly or indirectly, from any person or persons, moneys or other valuable thing, for the purpose, actual or alleged, of either obtaining for the latter employment in the service of said employer or of the continuing by the party so paying or solicited in said employment, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars and not more than three hundred dollars, and undergo an imprisonment of not less than three months nor more than one year, either or both, at the discretion of the court.

Factory regulations, etc.—Occupational diseases

SECTION 13661. Prevention.—Every employer shall, without cost to the employees, provide reasonably effective devices, means, and methods to prevent the contraction by his employees of any illness or disease incident to the work or process in which such employees are engaged in the industries and occupations specified in section two [13662] of this act.

SEC. 13662. Dangerous occupations.—Every work or process in the manufacture of white lead, red lead, litharge, sugar of lead, arsenate of lead, lead chromate, lead sulphate, lead nitrate, or fluosilicate is hereby declared to be especially dangerous to the health of the employees who, while engaged in such work or process are exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions.

SEC. 13663. Duty of employer.—Every employer shall, without cost to the employees, provide the following devices, means, and methods for the protection of his employees, who, while engaged in any work or process included in section two [13662] are exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions:

(a) The employer shall provide and maintain workrooms, adequately lighted and ventilated, and so arranged that there is a continuous and sufficient change of air; and all such rooms shall be fully separated by partition walls from all departments in which the work or process is of nondusty character; and all such rooms shall be provided with a floor permitting an easy removal of dust by wet methods or vacuum cleaning, and all such floors shall be so cleaned daily.

Every work or process referred to in section two [13662] including the corroding or oxidizing of lead, and the crushing, mixing, sifting, grinding, and packing of all lead salts or other compounds referred to in section two [13662], shall be so conducted, and such adequate devices provided and maintained by the employer, as to protect the employee as far as possible from contact with lead dust or lead fumes. Every kettle, vessel, receptacle, or furnace in which lead, in any form referred to in section two [13662], is being melted or treated, and any place where the contents of such kettles, receptacles, or furnaces are discharged, shall be provided with a hood connected with an efficient air exhaust; all vessels or containers, in which dry lead in any chemical form or combination referred to in section two [13662], is being conveyed from one place to another within the factory, shall be equipped, at the places where the same are filled or discharged, with hoods having connection with an efficient air exhaust; and all hoppers, chutes, conveyers, elevators, separators, vents from separators, dumps, pulverizers, chasers, dry pans, or other apparatus for drying pulp lead, dry pans, dump, and all barrel packers and cars, or other receptacles into which corrosions are at the time being emptied, shall be connected with an efficient dust-collecting system; such system to be regulated by the discharge of air from a fan, pump, or other apparatus, either through a cloth dust collector, having an area of not less than one-half square foot of cloth to every cubic foot or air passing through it per minute, the dust collector to be placed in a separate room, which no employee shall be required or allowed to enter except for essential repairs while the works are in operation, or such other apparatus as will efficiently remove the lead dusts from the air of the workrooms.

(b) The employer shall provide a wash room, or rooms, which shall be separate from the workrooms, be kept clean, and be equipped with:

(1) Lavatory basins, fitted with waste pipes and two spigots conveying hot and cold water; or

(2) Basins placed in troughs fitted with waste pipes, and for each basin two spigots conveying hot and cold water; or

(3) Troughs of enamel, or similar smooth impervious material, fitted with waste pipes, and for every two feet of trough length two spigots conveying hot and cold water.

Where basins are provided there shall be at least one basin for every five such employees; and where troughs are provided, at least two feet of trough length for every five such employees. The employers shall also furnish nailbrushes and soap, and shall provide at least three clean towels per week for each such employee. A time allowance of not less than ten minutes, at the employer's expense, shall be made to each such employee for the use of said wash room before the lunch hour and at the close of the day's work.

The employer engaged in the manufacture of white lead, red lead, litharge, sugar of lead, arsenate of lead, lead chromate, lead sulphate, lead nitrate, or fluosilicate shall also provide at least one shower bath for every ten such employees. The baths shall be approached by wooden runways, be provided with movable wooden floor gratings, be supplied with controlled hot and cold water, and be kept clean. The employer shall furnish soap, and shall provide at least two clean bath towels per week for each such employee. An additional time allowance of not less than ten minutes, at the employer's expense, shall be made to each such employee for the use of said baths, at least twice a week, at the close of the day's work. The employer shall keep a record of each time that such baths are used by each employee, which record shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by the State department of labor and industry, and also by the State department of health.

(c) The employer shall provide a dressing room, or rooms which shall be separate from the workrooms, be furnished with a double sanitary locker or two single sanitary lockers for each such employee, and be kept clean.

(d) The employer shall provide an eating room or eating rooms, which shall be separate from the workrooms, be furnished with a sufficient number of tables and seats, and be kept clean. No employee shall take, or be allowed to take, any food or drink of any kind into any workroom, nor shall any employee remain, or be allowed to remain, in any workroom during the time allowed for his meals.

(e) The employer shall provide and maintain a sufficient number of sanitary drinking fountains, readily accessible for the use of employees.

(f) The employer shall provide at least one pair of overalls and one pair of jumpers for each such employee and repair or renew such clothing when necessary, and wash the same weekly.

(g) The employer shall provide, and renew when necessary, at least one reasonably effective respirator for each employee who is engaged in any work or process included in section two [13662].

Sec. 13664. Duty of employees.—Every employee who, while engaged in any work or process included in section two [13662], is exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions, shall—

(a) Use the washing facilities provided by the employer in accord with section three (b) [13663 (b)], and wash himself at least as often as a time allowance is therein granted for such use;

(b) Use the eating room provided by the employer in accord with section three (d) [13663 (d)], unless the employee goes off the premises for his meals;

(c) Put on, and wear at all times while engaged in such work or process, a suit of the clothing provided by the employer in accord with section three (f) [13663 (f)], and remove the same before leaving at the close of the day's work, and keep his street clothes and his working clothes, when not in use, in separate lockers or separate parts of the locker provided by the employer in accord with section three (c) [13663 (c)];

(d) Keep clean the respirators provided by the employer in accord with section three (g) [13663 (g)], and use one at all times while he is engaged in any work or process included in section two [13662] of this act.

Sec. 13665. Instructions to be posted.—The employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every workroom where any work or process included in section two [13662] is carried on, in every room where washing facilities are provided, and in every dressing room and eating room, a notice of the known dangers arising from such work or process, and simple instructions for avoiding, as far as possible, such dangers. The commissioner of labor and industry shall prepare a notice containing the provisions of this act, and shall furnish free of cost a reasonable number of copies thereof to every employer included in section two [13662], and the employer shall post copies thereof in the manner hereinbefore stated. The notices required in this section shall be printed in plain type, on cardboard, and shall be in English and in such other languages as the circumstances may reasonably require. The contents of such notices shall be explained to every employee by the employer, when the said employee enters employment in such work or process; interpreters being provided by the employer when necessary to carry out the above requirements.

Sec. 13666. Physician's examinations.—The employer shall cause every employee who, while engaged in any work or process included in section two [13662], is exposed to lead dust, lead fumes, or lead solutions, to be examined at least once a month, for the purpose of ascertaining if symptoms of lead poisoning appear in any employee. The employee shall submit himself to the monthly examination, and to examination at such other times and places as he may reasonably be requested by the employer, and he shall fully and truly answer all questions bearing on lead poisoning asked him by the examining physician. The examinations shall be made by a licensed physician, designated and paid by the employer, and shall be made during the working hours, a time allowance therefor at the employer's expense being made to each employee so examined.

SEC. 13667. Record.—Every physician making an examination, under section six [13666], and finding what he believes to be symptoms of lead poisoning, shall enter, in a book kept for that purpose in the office of the employer, a record of such examination, containing the name and address of the employee so examined, the particular work or process in which he is engaged, the date, place, and finding of such examination, and the directions given in each case by the physician. The record shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by the State department of labor and industry and by the State department of health.

Within forty-eight hours after such examination and finding the examining physician shall send a report thereof, in duplicate—one copy to the State department of labor and industry and one to the State department of health. The report shall be on, or in conformity with, blanks to be prepared and furnished by the State department of health, free of cost, to every employer included in section two [13662], and shall state: (a) name, occupation, and address of employee; (b) name, business, and address of employer; (c) nature and probable extent of disease; and (d) such other information as may be reasonably required by the State department of health.

The examination [sic] physician shall, also, within the said forty-eight hours, report such examination and finding to the employer; and after five days from such report the employer shall not continue the said employee in any work or process where he will be exposed to lead dusts, lead fumes, or lead solutions, included in section two [13662] of this act.

SEC. 13668. Enforcement; violations.—[Enforcement rests with the department of labor and industry. Employers violating secs. 13661 or 13663 may be fined $100 to $200 for a first offense, $200 to $500 for a second, and $300 to $1,000 for subsequent offenses, to stand committed until fine and costs are paid. Employees violating sec. 13664 may be fined $10 to $20 for a first offense, $20 to $50 for a second, and $30 to $100 for subsequent offenses, to stand committed until fine and costs are paid. Employers violating secs. 13665, 13666, or 13667, and employees violating sec. 13666, are to be fined $10 to $100.]

SEC. 13669. Definition.—In this act [secs. 13661–13669], unless the context otherwise requires, "employer" includes persons, firms, partnerships, limited partnerships, and corporations.

Vocational rehabilitation of injured workmen

SECTION 13671. Definitions.—(a) The term "bureau" as used in this act, shall mean bureau of rehabilitation.

(b) The term "commissioner" shall mean the commissioner of labor and industry.

(c) The term "physically handicapped person" or "person," wherever used in this act, shall mean any resident or residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania whose capacity to earn a living is in any way destroyed or impaired throug industrial accident occurring in the Commonwealth.

(d) "Rehabilitation" shall mean the rendering of a physically handicapped person fit to engage in a remunerative occupation.

SEC. 13672. Bureau of rehabilitation.—A bureau of rehabilitation is hereby established in the department of labor and industry. The central office of the bureau shall be located in the city of Harrisburg.

SEC. 13673. Chief.—The commissioner, with the approval of the governor, shall appoint a chief of the bureau of rehabilitation, who shall be subject to the direction and supervision of the commissioner, and shall fix his salary, which, when so fixed, shall be paid out of the sums hereinafter appropriated.

SEC. 13674. Duties.—It shall be the duty of the chief of the bureau of rehabilitation to direct, as hereinafter provided, the rehabilitation of any physically handicapped person: Provided, That said duty of the chief of the bureau shall not be construed to apply to aged or helpless persons requiring permanent custodial care, or to blind or deaf persons under the care of any State or semi-State institution, or to any epileptic or feeble-minded person, or to any person who may not be susceptible to such rehabilitation.

SEC. 13675. Powers.—The chief of the bureau of rehabilitation shall have power with the approval of commissioner:

(a) To establish relations with all public and private hospitals to require prompt and complete reports of any physically handicapped persons under treatment in such hospitals. The persons thus reported may be promptly visited by representatives of the bureau of rehabilitation, who shall make record of their condition, and report to the chief of the bureau, who shall then determine whether the person is susceptible to rehabilitation. Such persons as may be found susceptible shall be acquainted by the chief of the bureau with the rehabilitation facilities offered by the State and the benefits of entering upon remunerative work at an early date. Any physically handicapped person who chooses to take advantage of these rehabilitation facilities shall be registered with the chief of the bureau, and a record kept of every such person, and the measures taken for his or her rehabilitation. The chief of the bureau shall proffer to any such person counsel regarding the selection of a suitable occupation and of an appropriate course of training, and shall initiate definite plans for beginning rehabilitation as soon as the physical condition of the person permits.

(b) To receive applications of any physically handicapped persons for advice and assistance regarding their rehabilitation. The persons thus known to be physically handicapped may be visited, examined, and advised in the same manner and for the same purposes as specified in clause (a) of this section.

(c) To make a survey to ascertain the number and condition of physically handicapped persons within the Commonwealth. The persons thus known to be physically handicapped may be visited, examined, registered, and advised in the same manner and for the same purpose as specified in clause (a) of this section.

(d) To arrange for such therapeutic treatment as may be necessary for the rehabilitation of any physically handicapped persons who have registered with the chief of the bureau.

(e) To procure and furnish at cost to physically handicapped persons who have registered with the chief of the bureau limbs and other orthopedic and prosthetic appliances, to be paid for in easy installments, when such appliances can not be otherwise provided: Provided, however, That if it be shown that any physically handicapped person is unable to pay for such artificial limbs or other appliances, the chief of the bureau may direct, with the approval of the commissioner, that such limbs or appliances shall be supplied to such physically handicapped person and the cost thereof paid out of the funds appropriated for the rehabilitation activities of the bureau; such payments to be made by the State treasurer on the warrant of the auditor general or requisition of the commissioner of labor and industry.

(f) To arrange with the superintendent of public instruction for training courses in the public schools in the Commonwealth in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons registered with the chief of the bureau.

(g) To arrange with any educational institution for training courses in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons registered with the chief of the bureau.

(h) To arrange with any public or private organization or commercial, industrial, or agricultural establishment, for training courses in selected occupations for physically handicapped persons registered with the chief of the bureau.

(i) To provide maintenance costs during the prescribed period of training for physically handicapped persons registered with the chief of the bureau: Providing, That when the payment of maintenance costs is authorized by the chief of the bureau, with the approval of the governor, it shall not exceed fifteen dollars ($15) per week, and the period during which it is paid shall not exceed twenty weeks, unless an extension of time is granted by the commissioner; said payments to be made by the State treasurer on the warrant of the auditor general on requisition of the commissioner of labor and industry.

(j) To arrange for social service, for the visiting of physically handicapped persons registered with the chief of the bureau and of their families in their homes, during the period of treatment and training and after its completion, to give advice regarding any matter that may affect rehabilitation.

(k) To conduct investigations and surveys of the several industries located in the Commonwealth to ascertain the occupations within each industry in which physically handicapped persons can enter upon remunerative employment under favorable conditions, and work with normal effectiveness, and to determine what practicable changes and adjustments in industrial operations and practices may facilitate such employment.

(l) To make such studies and reports as may be helpful for the operation of this act.

(m) To cooperate with any department of the Federal Government or of the government of this Commonwealth or with any private agency in the operation of this act.

SEC. 13676. Employees.—The commissioner, with the approval of the governor, shall appoint such officers, physicians, clerks, stenographers, and other employees, as shall be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act. He shall determine their duties, and shall fix their salaries, which when so fixed shall be paid out of the sums hereinafter appropriated. The board of public grounds and buildings shall furnish suitable accommodations for the use of the bureau.

SEC. 13677. Reports.—A report on the activities of the bureau of rehabilitation authorized by this act shall be submitted biennially to the governor, together with a statement of the sum necessary to conduct said activities during the ensuing two years.

MINE REGULATIONS

I. Department of mines

SECTIONS 15066–15077, 15078 (as amended 1923, No. 248), 15079–15091. Powers, duties, etc.—[The department of mines is charged with the supervision of the execution of the mining laws of the State, the care and publication of inspectors' reports, the certification of qualified applicants for positions as mine foremen and assistant foremen, and must preserve maps and plans of mines filed with the department, and investigate and report on the various systems of coal mining, ventilation, use of machinery, etc. The chief of the department (designated secretary of mines; sec. No. 274, Acts of 1923) must have had at least 10 years' practical experience as a miner and the qualifications of an inspector. He also has the power of an inspector to enter mines and inspect the works and machinery. He may discharge any inspector for neglect of duty, subject to right of appeal to the governor. Annual reports of the inspectors are to be received and a synopsis made and published, together with statistical data and reports of other work of the department that is of public interest.]

II. Anthracite mines

SECTIONS 15091a, 15092. Scope.—[Mines employing not more than 10 men are excluded. Operations both above and below ground are covered, including abandoned workings as well as those in use.]

SECS. 15093, 15094, 15102 (as amended 1921, No. 290), 15106, 15110, 15112–15114. Inspectors; districts.—[Eight inspection districts are created, seven of one county each, and one of three counties, for each of which inspectors ranging from one to nine in number are provided.

Inspectors must reside in their inspection districts, and give all their time to their duties. Each mine must be examined at least quarterly, and a report made of the condition of each working face, such report, or a duplicate, to be placed in a glass-faced case furnished by the operator, and to be posted in a conspicuous place at the mine. Access must be given to every portion of the mine.]

SECS. 15118–15127. Maps and plans.—[Owners, operators or superintendents must furnish accurate maps or plans, extensions to be made every six months. In case of failure, inspectors make copies at the cost of the owner. Miners may examine maps in the presence of the inspectors whenever there is reason to fear that workings are approaching places containing water or dangerous gases.]

SECS. 15128–15181. Safety.—[At least two openings are required from every seam, stratum or lift thereof, separated by at least 60 feet under ground and 150 feet at the surface; no inflammable structures must be placed over openings; railing or gates must guard the top of shafts; abandoned slopes, etc., must be fenced; cages protected; signal systems established; hoisting apparatus be suitably equipped and inspected daily; props and timbers furnished; ventilation maintained; boilers kept in good condition with inspection at least every six months; qualified engineers and oilers employed; machinery safeguarded, etc. If 20 or more men employed in any mine make request in writing, a suitably equipped washhouse must be supplied, properly lighted and heated, for the use of the workmen.]

Secs. 15182–15199. Provisions for accidents.—[Medical rooms with designated supplies must be furnished at all anthracite mines employing 10 or more men, at which injured men must be cared for. At mines employing 20 or more men motor ambulances and at least two pairs of stretchers must be provided. Mines not over 4 miles apart may combine to maintain an ambulance; or if all workmen reside within one-half mile of the principal entrance, none need be provided. Superintendents have charge of ambulances, and must see that they are kept in good condition.]

Secs. 15200–15207. Mine foremen and fire bosses.—[Mine foremen and assistants must hold certificates of qualification or service, unless in the judgment of the employer they are qualified and competent for the position. Boards of examiners consist of the district inspector and of two miners and one owner, operator or superintendent of mines, these to be appointed by the county judge. Applicants must have had at least 5 years' experience and pass a satisfactory examination. The employment of a mine foreman is required.

Fire bosses must have had 5 years' experience, at least 3 in gaseous mines, which fact must be certified to before a person authorized to administer oaths.]

Secs. 15208–15227. Miners' examining boards.—[Boards in each inspection district, consisting of 9 miners each, appointed by the county judges, constitute boards for the examination and registration of miners. Applicants must have had at least two years' practical experience and be able to answer intelligently and correctly at least 12 questions in the English language as to the requirements of a practical miner and must be identified under oath by at least one practical miner holding a miner's certificate. The fee for examination and registration is $1, and the fee for the registration of a miner who has been examined and registered by any other board is 25 cents.]

Secs. 15231–15295. Rules.—[General rules regulate ventilation, inspection, the use of safety lamps, blasting, and the handling and storage of explosives, hoisting, precautions against gas and accumulations of water, haulage, travel ways, etc. Special rules are to be established in every mine or colliery suited to the particular circumstances and conditions of the place.]

Secs. 15296–15303. Accidents.—[District inspectors are to be promptly notified of the loss of life of miners or other employees, to visit and inspect the place of the accident as soon as possible, and to make suggestions for safety. If an inquest is found necessary, it shall be held in accordance with provisions laid down in the act. No employee or person interested in the mine shall act as a juror at the inquest. Notices must be given inspectors of all serious accidents, of the opening and closing of mines, of the removal of pillars, of squeezes or crushes affecting safety, of fires, and of the finding of any dangerous body of gas.]

Sec. 15304. Reports.—[Annual reports are to be made to the district inspector showing for each mine the amount of coal mined, quantity of explosives used, number of employees classified as to kind of work, etc.]

Secs. 15305–15314. Violations.—[If an inspector finds conditions unsafe in some respect not covered by the act, he may demand that the same be remedied, subject to the right of the owner or operator, and have the question submitted to arbitration. The operation of mines not complying with the act may be forbidden by the courts. Citizens may file complaints of noncompliance. Offenses are punishable as misdemeanors, and in default of payment of fines, imprisonment from 30 days to 3 months is the penalty. Conviction or acquittal is not evidence in actions for damages. Inspectors violating their duties may be fined not over $300 or imprisoned not over 3 months.]

Secs. 15315–15320. Weighing coal.—[The coal mined by each miner must be accurately and separately weighed before being dumped from the mine car, and a record kept. The miners may employ at their own expense a checkweighman to make and keep a record of such weights. It is a misdemeanor to remove from any car the ticket or other mark which is used to indicate the person entitled to pay therefor.]

III. Bituminous mines

Sections 15331–15602. Safety, etc., provisions.—[The code for bituminous mines covers practically the points enumerated in the anthracite code, besides special provisions regulating electrical installations. Maps and plans are required, the duties and qualifications of foremen, bosses, etc., are prescribed, with the methods of examination and certification. Miners may not be employed to blast coal, rock or slate unless the employer is satisfied that they are qualified to perform the work, nor may inexperienced persons mine out pillars, or work in gaseous or dusty mines, unless accompanied by one or more experienced miners; the registration of bituminous miners is not required.

Escapes, travel ways, ventilation, blasting, hoisting and lowering workmen, signal apparatus, the use of safety lamps, illuminating and lubricating oils, etc., are regulated. Detailed provisions for electric installations cover wiring, switch boards, transformer stations, transmission circuits, motors, locomotives, lighting, the firing of shots by electricity, and electric signaling.

Provisions in case of accidents, accident reports, the supply and equipment of wash houses, and rules covering the duties of each class of employees are embodied in the act. Twenty-five inspection districts are provided for, and the mode of the appointment of inspectors regulated. Coal must be weighed before screening, and checkweighmen may be employed.]

IV. General provisions

Section 15603. Entombed miners.—[The courts may act on the petition of the relatives of entombed miners, to determine the practicability of the recovery of the bodies of such miners.]

Sec. 15604. Endangering life, etc.—[Knowingly injuring any safety lamp, water gauge, air course, etc., carrying lighted pipes or matches in places worked by safety lamps, disobeying orders, and other offenses endangering security of the mines or machinery, are misdemeanors.]

Sec. 15606. Payment for coal mined.—[Payment is required for all merchantable coal mined irrespective of size.]

Sec. 15607. Fees for employment.—[Superintendents, foremen, etc., receiving or soliciting money or other thing of value from employees to secure or retain employment are subject to a fine of from $50 to $300, "and an imprisonment of not less than six months, or both, in the discretion of the court."]

Secs. 15608, 15609. Inside constructions.—[All buildings inside of any coal mine must be of incombustible materials, approved by the chief of the department of mines, under penalty of a fine of $500.]

Sections 15613–15684. Hospitals; miners' home.—[Hospitals are provided for miners in the anthracite region and the bituminous region for the treatment without charge of persons injured in the mines, in workshops, and in other industries. Paying patients may be admitted, if room is available. Contributions may be made by employers and others.

A miners' home is provided for citizens who have worked in or about the mines of the State for 25 years and are 60 years of age, or for employees incapacitated by accident or by "miners' asthma." Wives of eligible miners are also eligible. Entrants must assign all property to the home, title passing if they remain as long as six months in the home, or die within that period.]

Liability of employers for injuries to employee

Section 15980. Fellow-service not a defense, when.—In all actions brought to recover from an employer for injury suffered by his employee, the negligence of a fellow-servant of the employee shall not be a defense, where the injury was caused or contributed to by any of the following causes; namely,—

Any defect in the works, plant, or machinery, of which the employer could have had knowledge by the exercise of ordinary care; the neglect of any person engaged as superintendent, manager, foreman, or any other person in charge or control of the works, plant, or machinery; the negligence of any person in charge of or directing the particular work in which the employee was engaged at the time of the injury or death; the negligence of any person to whose orders the employee was bound to conform, and did conform, and, by reason of his having conformed thereto, the injury or death resulted; the act of any fellow-servant, done in obedience to the rules, instructions, or orders given by the employer, or any other person who has authority to direct the doing of said act.

SEC. 15981. Vice principals.—The manager, superintendent, foreman, or other person in charge or control of the works, or any part of the works, shall, under this act, be held as the agent of the employer, in all suits for damages for death or injury suffered by employees.

The statute applies where there was negligence in giving an order, but not where the only negligence was in the manner of carrying out a proper order. 85 Atl. 1133.

Accidents to be reported—Public service companies

SECTION 18081. Personal injuries.—[All public service companies are required to give immediate notice to the public service commission of the State of all accidents occurring in, about or in connection with their operations wherein any person is killed or injured. Reports are not open to public inspection, nor are they available in any suit or action for damages.]

Employment on public works

SECTION 18268. Only citizens to be employed.—None but citizens of the United States shall be employed in any capacity in the erection, enlargement or improvement of any public building or public work within this Commonwealth: Provided, That apprentices to a trade or profession who may be under twenty-one years of age shall not be subject to the provisions of this act: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to public work where the cost thereof is paid in whole or in part from assessments of benefits.

SEC. 18269. Stipulation in contracts.—The person or persons who may be by law empowered to enter into a contract for the erection, enlargement or improvement of any public building or public work shall insert in such a contract a stipulation or covenant that the provisions of section one [18268], of this act will be fully complied with.

The contractor and his surety can not set up as a defense to the claims of aliens for wages the fact that such aliens were employed in violation of this act. 205 Pa. S. 172; 54 Atl. 719.

SEC. 18270. Eight hours a day's labor.—* * * eight hours out of the twenty-four of each day shall make and constitute a legal day's work for mechanics, workmen, and laborers in the employ of the State, or any municipal corporation therein, or otherwise engaged on public works.

SEC. 18271. Act applies to whom.—This act shall apply to all mechanics, workingmen, and laborers now or hereafter employed by the State, or any municipal corporation therein, through its agents or officers, or in the employ of persons contracting with the State or said corporation for the performance of public work, and in all such employment none but citizens of the United States, or aliens who shall have legally declared their intention to become such, who have been residents of the State in which such work is to be done for the six months next preceding the date of such employment, shall be employed by the State or any municipal corporation therein, or by any person or persons contracting with the same; and every contract hereafter made for the performance of public work must comply with the requirements of this section: Provided, That nothing in this act shall affect contracts in existence at the time of the passage of this act.

SECS. 18272, 18273. Violations.—[Officers or agents of the State or a municipality violating this act are guilty of malfeasance in office, and may be removed. Contractors evading or violating the law are punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000.]

This act was held unconstitutional as to municipalities, they not being a different class of employers from corporations generally, and as free from interference as they. Com. v. Casey, 231 Pa. 170, 80 Atl. 78. The Supreme Court upholds such laws. Adkin v. Kansas, 191 U. S. 218, 24 Sup. Ct. 124.

Strikes of railroad employees

SECTION 18527. Obstructing tracks, etc.—If any person or persons, in aid or furtherance of the objects of any strike, shall obstruct any railroad track within this State, or shall injure or destroy the rolling stock or any other property of any railroad company, or shall take possession of, or remove any such property, or shall prevent or attempt to prevent the use thereof by such railroad company or its employees, every such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, and may be imprisoned not less than six months nor more than one year, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 18537. Abandonment of locomotives.—If any locomotive engineer, or other railroad employee, upon any railroad within this State, engaged in any strike, or with a view to incite others to such strike, or in furtherance of any combination or preconcerted arrangement with any other person to bring about a strike, shall abandon the locomotive engine in his charge, when attached either to a passenger or freight train, at any place other than the schedule or otherwise appointed destination of such train, or shall refuse or neglect to continue to discharge his duty, or to proceed with said train to the place of destination as aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 18538. Refusing to move cars.—If any locomotive engineer, or other railroad employee, within this State, for the purpose of furthering the object of, or lending aid to any strike or strikes, organized or attempted to be maintained on any other railroad, either within or without this State, shall refuse or neglect, in the course of his employment, to aid in the movement over and upon the tracks of the company employing him, [of] the cars of such other railroad company, received therefrom in the course of transit, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 18539. Interfering with employees.—If any person, in aid or furtherance of the objects of any strike upon any railroad, shall interfere with, molest or obstruct any locomotive engineer, or other railroad employee, engaged in the discharge and performance of his duty as such, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court.

Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 20462. Report to auditor general.—Every person, firm, partnership, corporation or association shall, upon the first day of November of each and every year make a report, under oath or affirmation, to the auditor general, of the number and amount of all orders, checks, dividers, coupons, pass books, and all other books and papers, representing the amount, in part or whole, of the wages or earnings of an employee, that was given, made or issued by him, them or it for payment of labor, and not redeemed by the said person, firm, partnership, corporation, or association, giving, making or issuing the same, by paying to the employee or a member of his family the full face value of said order, check, divider, coupons, pass book, or other paper, representing an amount due for wages or earnings, in lawful money of the United States, within (30) days from the giving, making or issuing thereof; the honoring, though, of said order, check, divider, coupon, pass book, or other paper, representiug an amount due for wages or earnings, by a duly chartered bank, by the payment in lawful money of the United States, to the amount of said paper representing an amount due for wages or earnings, is a payment, and he, they or it shall, besides other requirements of law, pay into [the] treasury of the Commonwealth [twenty-five] (25) per centum on the face value of such orders, checks, dividers, coupons, pass books, or other paper, representing an amount due for wages or earnings, uot redeemed as aforesaid; and in case any person, firm, partnership, corporation, or association shall neglect or refuse to make report, required by this section, to the auditor general, on or before the first day of December of each and every year, such person, firm, partnership, corporation, or association, so neglecting or refusing, shall, besides other requirements of law, pay as a penalty into the State treasury twenty-five (25) per centum, in addition to the twenty-five (25) per centum tax imposed as aforesaid in this section, on the face value of all such orders, checks, dividers, coupon[s], pass books, or other paper, representing an amount due for wages or earnings, not redeemed by paying the employee or a member of his family in lawful money of the United States, within said thirty (30) days, by the person, firm, partnership, corporation, or association making, giving or issuing the same; the honoring of paper, representing wages or earnings, by a bank is a sufficient payment: Provided, This act shall not apply to tools and blasting material, and other mine supplies, furnished by the employer to the employee, used by the employee at or about the employee's vocation; "nor to coal sold by the employer to the employee, nor to rent for houses leased from the employer and occupied by the employee": And provided further, That this act shall not apply to moneys paid to the treasurers of the employees about coal mines, who have agreed to have a pro rata part of their earnings paid by the operator to such treasurers, who are to pay checkweighmen or check measurers.

Labor organizations

Sec. 21247. Incorporation of labor organizations.—Five or more employees, at least three of whom shall be citizens of the United States, may, by their agreement and upon a compliance with the provisions of this act [secs. 4 to 10], form themselves into an association for their mutual aid and benefit and protection in their trade concerns.

Secs. 21248, 21249. Petition.—[If the membership of the association is to be confined to a single county, the petition for a charter is addressed to the court of common pleas of the county; if for more than one county, to the governor of the State, naming the purpose of the organization, and its address.]

Secs. 21250, 21251. Charter; powers.—[A charter is to be thereupon granted, on the payment of a proper fee. Ordinary corporate powers then accrue.]

Sec. 21252. Embezzlement, etc., by officers.—Any officer, agent or member of such association, or of any such subordinate association, who shall fraudulently take, keep or convert to his own use, or to the use of another, any money or other thing of value, given to, collected for, or due or belonging to such association, or which is to be sent, paid or delivered by such officer, agent or member, to any person, firm or corporation, on behalf of such association, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to restore the property, unless already restored, and to be imprisoned in the county jail or workhouse for any period not exceeding one year, or to pay a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or both or either, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 21253. Withholding records from successor.—Any officer, agent or member of such association, or of any such subordinate association, who shall willfully keep, secrete, mutilate or destroy, or refuse to turn over to his successor, duly elected or appointed, or to the proper authority as provided by the constitution and by-laws thereof, any seal, minute book, record, ledger, voucher or other book or books, paper or papers, or any article of personal property belonging or pertaining to the affairs of such association, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to restore to the proper authority such article or articles, and to undergo an imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, or to be fined in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, or both or either, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 21254. Employees may refuse work, when.—It shall be lawful for employees, acting either as individuals or collectively, or as the members of any club, assembly, association or organization, to refuse to work or labor for any person, persons, corporation or corporations, whenever in his, her or their opinion the wages paid are insufficient, or his, her or their treatment is offensive or unjust, [or] whenever the continued labor or work by him, her or them would be contrary to the constitution, rules, regulations, by-laws, resolution or resolutions of any club, assembly, association, organization or meeting of which he, she or they may be a member or may have attended, and as such individuals or members, or as having attended any meeting, it shall be lawful for him, her or them to devise and adopt ways and means to make such rules, regulations, by-laws, resolution or resolutions effective, without subjecting them to indictment for conspiracy at common law, or under the criminal laws of this Commonwealth:

Provided, first, That this act shall not be held to apply to the member or members of any club, assembly, association, organization or meeting, the constitution, rules, regulations, by-laws, resolution or resolutions of which are not in conformity with the Constitution of the United States and to the constitution of this Commonwealth:

Provided, second, That nothing herein contained shall prevent the prosecution and punishment, under any law, other than that of conspiracy, of any person or persons who shall, by the use of force, threats or menace of harm to person or property, hinder or attempt to hinder any person or persons who may desire to labor or work for any employer from so doing for such wages and upon such terms and conditions as he, she or they may deem proper: And provided, third, That nothing herein contained shall prevent the prosecution and punishment of any persons conspiring to commit a felony.

A striker who interferes with his employer by insulting language and threats will be bound over to keep the peace. 11 Co. C. Rep. 481.

A striker using insulting and threatening language toward a nonunion workman will be punished for disorderly conduct. 12 Co. C. Rep. 91.

Employers may combine to resist an advance in wages by refusing to sell to parties who have conceded such advance, and are not liable in damages for so doing or for advising others not to sell to such persons. 33 W. N. C. 421.

Wages as preferred claims

SECTION 21488, 21489. Transfer, etc., of business.—[Money due for labor or service of any miner, mechanic, domestic servant, porter, hostler, seamstress, tailor, laborer, apprentice, etc., for a period of six months preceding the sale or transfer of the property of any person, company, or partnership, by execution or otherwise, on account of death or insolvency of the employer, shall be a lien to be paid first out of the proceeds of the sale of real and personal property, in an amount not exceeding $200, claims to be filed within three months. Claims may be presented in writing at any time prior to actual sale.]

SEC. 21490. Death, etc.—[In cases of death, insolvency, or assignment, the lien of preference above mentioned shall extend to every property of the person or company concerned.]

SECS. 21491, 21492. Priority.—[The priority of such claims over other claims except those recorded before the work was done, and over coal lease mortgages, is provided for.]

SECS. 21493–21496. Lumbermen's wages.—[Laborers engaged in cutting, driving, etc., saw logs, or getting out square timber, bark, etc., have a preference for six months' wages earned prior to the death or assignment for benefit of creditors in case of death, assignment, or execution, the amount not to exceed $200 for any one laborer. Owners must pay such amounts and charge the same to the contractors, if the work was done on contract.]

SEC. 21497. Preference over rent.—[The claims of laborers for wages have priority over a landlord's claims for rent, where the employer holds the property worked in or upon under lease.]

Suits for wages

SECTION 21498. Priority of trial.—[Claims for wages for manual labor only shall be listed for trial in advance of other civil causes in any court in the State.]

SEC. 21499. Stay of execution.—[No stay of execution shall be allowed in judgments for wages for manual labor in amounts not exceeding $100.]

SEC. 21500. No property exempt.—[No exemption of property from attachment, etc., is allowed on judgments for wages for manual labor in amounts of $100 or less.]

SEC. 21502. Appeals.—[A debtor taking an appeal from a judgment for wages for manual labor must declare that the appeal is not taken for delay but to remedy alleged injustice, and good and sufficient bail must be given to cover the debt and costs if the judgment below is affirmed.]

Payment of wages—Assignments

SECTION 21503. Semimonthly pay day.—Unless otherwise stipulated in the contract of hiring, each person, firm, or corporation employing any person, other than at an annual salary, shall pay to such person his or her earnings or wages semimonthly. The first payment shall be made between the first and fifteenth day of each month, and the second payment shall be made between the fifteenth and the last day of each month.

SEC. 21504. Violation.—Any person, firm, or corporation that shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any alderman, magistrate, or justice of the peace of the proper county shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100).

Sec. 21505. Effect.—Nothing in this act shall prohibit the payment of wages or earnings oftener than semimonthly.

Secs. 21509, 21510. Assignments.—[No assignment of future earnings is valid against the employer without his acceptance in writing. Assignments by a married man must have the written consent of the wife before such acceptance by the employer.]

Employment of labor—Notice of discharge

Section 21511. Notice of discharge to be given, when.—Any individual, partnership, or corporation, who or which requires from persons in his or its employ, under penalty of forfeiture of part of wages earned by them, a notice of intention to leave such employ shall be liable to pay to the party injured a sum equal to the amount of said forfeiture, if he or it discharges, without similar notice, a person in such employ, except for incapacity or misconduct, unless in case of a general suspension of labor in his or its mine, shop, or factory, or a suspension of work ordered by the employees of such individual, partnership, or corporation.

Sec. 21512. Suit to recover forfeiture.—Suit may be brought by any person or persons interested under the provisions of the first section of this act before any of the magistrates or justices of the peace of this Commonwealth having jurisdiction for the recovery of the sum or sums of money as are required to be paid by the employer or employers under the first section [21511] of this act.

Wages—Contributions to hospitals, etc.

Section 21513. Orders to retain.—It shall be the duty of any corporation, manufacturing establishment or colliery, to retain from and out of the wages or earnings of any person by them employed, on his written order, any contribution or voluntary subscription by such person, made in monthly or other payments, for the support of any hospital or other charitable institution, and the sum so retained to pay over upon demand to such hospital or other charitable institution; and any payment so made shall be as valid as if paid to the person by whom said wages or earnings were earned: Provided, That the hospital or charitable institution claiming the same shall give notice in writing at least ten days before the time for the payment of said wages or earnings to such corporation, manufacturing establishment or colliery, of the name or names of the person or persons by them employed, who have subscribed to the support of such hospital or charitable institution, and the amount by them severally subscribed, and when or how often payable, and how long to continue, and file such subscription with said corporation, manufacturing establishment, or colliery.

ACTS OF 1921

Act No. 108.—Bureau of statistics and information

Section 1. Bureau created.—* * * There is hereby established, within the department of internal affairs of the Commonwealth, a bureau of statistics and information.

Sec. 2. Personnel.—The secretary of internal affairs is authorized to appoint a chief of said bureau and such other officers and employees as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act, to prescribe their duties, and fix their compensation. He may also use temporarily any clerks or employees of the department of internal affairs in the bureau as occasion may require.

Sec. 3. Duties.—The bureau shall collect, compile, and publish all statistics and useful data and information relating to labor, coal mining, oil and gas production, manufacturing industries, commercial operations, public service companies, municipalities, maritime interests, and other business of the State; and, in order to facilitate the duties herein imposed, all persons, associations, copartnerships, and corporations, engaged as herein described, within this Commonwealth and municipal and other public officers, are hereby required to furnish such statistical information as the secretary of internal affairs or the chief of such bureau may require. The secretary of internal affairs shall have a complete, summarized, and systematized report of the statistics and information collected and compiled by the bureau published annually, and shall otherwise provide means for making such information available for the use and benefit of the public as he may find necessary.

SEC. 5. Powers.—The secretary of internal affairs, the chief of said bureau, or other person duly authorized by either of them, shall have power to issue subpœnas, administer oaths, hold hearings, and take testimony in all matters relating to the duties herein required of said bureau. Any person, association, copartnership, or corporation, doing business within the Commonwealth, or municipal, or other public officer, who shall neglect or refuse, for thirty days, to answer questions requested by circular, official blanks, or personal application, designed to secure the data and information required to be furnished by this act, or who shall refuse to obey the subpœna and give testimony according to the provisions of this act, shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars, to be collected by the secretary of internal affairs in a proper action for the use of the Commonwealth.

ACT No. 290.—Mine inspectors—Anthracite mines

SECTIONS 2–6. Examinations; certificates.—[Appointees to the board of mine inspectors' examiners give notice of the holding of examinations by publication in newspapers. Applicants for examination as inspectors must be citizens, 30 to 50 years of age, residents of the anthracite region and of good health, habits and reputation. They must have had at least ten years' experience in the anthracite mines of the State, with a comprehensive knowledge of methods of working, of ventilation, gases, machinery, electricity, first aid work, the reading of maps, etc.

Examinations shall be in writing, and those who make a rating of at least 90 per cent shall be certified to the governor and to the chief of the department of mines, the latter to issue a certificate of qualification, valid for four years and not longer unless the holder serves one full term as inspector, when the certificate becomes permanent. Inspectors serving under existing laws are not limited by the age of 50, and need not take the examination herein prescribed if they have acted as inspector for four years. Such persons shall receive a permanent certificate of qualification, setting forth the percentages made on the last examination taken.]

SECS. 7–14. Appointments, etc.—[The terms of office of all inspectors at the time of the passage of the act are terminated, and the governor is to make appointments for all vacancies, naming first the person having the highest rating. The term of appointments is four years, at an annual salary of $4,800, with necessary expenses. A bond of $5,000 is required. The chief of the department of mines is to furnish instruments, chemicals, furniture, stationery and other needed supplies.

In case of incapacity or leave of absence for 30 days or more, a temporary inspector is to be appointed. No inspector may be manager, agent or engineer for any coal company or be interested in the operation of any anthracite mine in the State.]

SEC. 15. Removal.—[On the petition of not less than 15 reputable citizens, miners or operators, charging illegal holding of office or incompetence or malfeasance, a county court shall investigate such charges, and if sustained the office shall be declared vacant.]

SEC. 17. Penalties.—[Violation of this act is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $300, or imprisonment for 30 days, or both.]

ACTS OF 1923

ACT No. 266.—Mine regulations—Examination of mine foremen, etc.—Bituminous mines

SECTIONS 1–11. Examination, certificates, etc.—[On petition of a district mine inspector, the county court appoints a board of examiners, consisting of an inspector, a qualified miner, and an operator or superintendent, to hold examinations for mine foremen, assistant mine foremen, and fire bosses. A committee of two inspectors, two miners and two operators selected from the boards by the chief of the department of mines, makes up questions for use throughout the State. Applicants for certificates as foremen or assistants must be citizens of good moral character, 23 years of age with 5 years' experience after reaching 16 as miners, mining engineers, or men of general work in the bituminous mines of the State. The same qualifications are fixed for fire bosses, except that no mention is made of mining engineering, and they must have had experience in gaseous mines.

Certificates to foremen are of two grades, one to those showing ability to have charge of gaseous mines, and the second for nongaseous mines. A rate of 80 per cent is required in each class. Assistants' certificates are granted to those showing knowledge of gaseous mines, and making a grade of 70 per cent. Fire bosses must make a grade of 65 per cent. The fee for examination is $2, for a certificate $3, in all cases. Certificates are issued by the chief of the department of mines, and certified persons must be employed for the positions named, unless the person employed is, in the judgment of the operator, equally competent. Forgery or the making of false statements is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of from $200 to $500, or imprisonment not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.]

ACT No. 274.—Administrative code—Departments of labor and industries, mines, etc.

SECTION 1. Title.—This act shall be known and may be cited as "The Administrative Code."

SEC. 203. Advisory boards.—The following advisory boards and commissions are hereby created and designated in and as parts of the respective departments, as follows:

* * * * * * *

In the department of labor and industry—industrial board.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 205. Heads.—Each administrative department shall have as its head an officer who shall either personally, by deputy, or by the duly authorized agent or employee of the department, and subject at all times to the provisions of this act, exercise the powers and perform the duties by law vested in and imposed upon the department.

(a) The following officers shall be the heads of the administrative departments following their respective titles:

* * * * * * *

Commissioner of labor and industry, who shall hereafter be known as secretary of labor and industry of the department of labor and industry.

* * * * * * *

Chief of the department of mines, who shall hereafter be known as secretary of mines, of the department of mines.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 206. Appointments.—The governor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the senate appoint: (a) * * * the secretary of labor and industry, * * * the secretary of mines, * * * (b) Except as in this act otherwise provided, the members of all departmental administrative bodies, boards, and commissions, and the officers who shall fill the departmental administrative offices mentioned in this article;

(c) Except as in this act otherwise provided, the members of all advisory boards and commissions.

SEC. 207. Terms.—[The terms of office are four years from the third Tuesday of January next following the election of a governor, and until their successors shall have been appointed and qualified.]

SEC. 208. Salaries.—Annual salaries shall be payable, in equal semimonthly installments, as follows:

* * * * * * *

To the secretary of labor and industry, ten thousand dollars.

* * * * * * *

To the secretary of mines, six thousand dollars.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 210. Salaries of boards, etc.—Except as in this act otherwise provided, the members of departmental administrative bodies, boards, and commissions, and of advisory boards and commissions, shall serve without compensation.

SEC. 212. Bureaus.—[Authorizes the heads of the administrative departments, subject to the approval of the executive board, to establish such bureaus or divisions "as may be required for the proper conduct of the work."]

SEC. 213. Deputies.—[Authorizes the heads of departments, with the approval of the governor, to appoint and fix the compensation of a deputy or such number of deputies as the executive board shall approve, to perform such duties as may be prescribed by the head of the department, within his authority under the law.]

SEC. 214. Appointees.—[Authorizes heads of departments to appoint and fix the compensation of directors, superintendents, bureaus or division chiefs, experts, inspectors, clerks, stenographers, etc., as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of their respective departments, the number and compensation to be subject to the approval of the governor; and after the executive board shall have fixed the standard compensation for any kind, grade, or class of service, compensation of appointees shall be fixed according to such standard.]

SEC. 421. Bituminous mine inspectors' examining board.—[A board to conduct examinations of applicants for positions of mine inspectors in the bituminous mines of the States consists of the superintendent of public instruction, the secretary of mines, two mining engineers of five years' experience in bituminous mines, and three members who have passed inspectors' examinations for bituminous mines generating explosive gases, with at least five years' experience as miners in the bituminous mines of the State. All members must be at least 30 years of age. Appointed members receive $15 per day for their services; the secretary of mines may limit the number of days' service per year. A secretary may be employed at a compensation fixed by the board and approved by the superintendent of public instruction. He need not be a member of the board. The secretary of mines is chairman.]

SEC. 422. Anthracite mines.—[The board to examine inspectors of anthracite mines is constituted as above, except that the appointed members must have had experience in anthracite mines instead of bituminous.]

SECS. 431, 432. Workmen's compensation; board; referees.—[The secretary of labor and industry is ex officio a member of the workmen's compensation board. (g) To receive reports of industrial accidents to persons, and to direct the investigation of such accidents and prescribe means for the prevention of similar accidents;

(h) To issue orders for removing or safeguarding against hazards that may cause accidents to employees, as may now or hereafter be provided by law.

SEC. 1703. Investigations.—The department of labor and industry shall have the power to make investigations and surveys upon any subject within the jurisdiction of the department, either upon its own initiative or upon the request of the industrial board.

SEC. 1704. Statistics.—The department of labor and industry shall have the power to collect, compile, and publish statistics relating to labor and industry, to organizations of employees, and to organizations of employers.

SEC. 1705. Rules and regulations.—Subject to approval by the industrial board, the department of labor and industry shall have the power to make rules and regulations for carrying into effect the laws regulating the labor of persons within this Commonwealth and the construction, ventilation, and equipment of the rooms, buildings, or places where such labor is performed, or where public assemblies are held, and to enforce all such rules and regulations.

SEC. 1706. Mediation and arbitration.—The department of labor and industry shall have the power and its duty shall be, whenever a difference arises between an employer and his employees with regard to wages, hours, or conditions of employment, to send a representative of the department promptly to the locality in which such difference exists and endeavor by mediation, to effect an amicable settlement of the controversy. If such settlement can not be effected and the dispute is submitted for arbitration, the department, in the event of the failure of representatives of employer and employees to name an impartial chairman of the board of arbitration, shall select such chairman to act as such third member.

SEC. 1707. Women and children.—The department of labor and industry shall have the power and its duty shall be:

(a) To make studies and investigations of the special problems connected with the labor of women and children;

(b) To create the necessary organization and to appoint an adequate number of inspectors to enforce the laws, and rules and regulations of the department relating to the work of women and children.

SEC. 1708. Workmen's compensation.—The department of labor and industry shall have the power and its duty shall be:

(a) To administer and enforce the laws of this Commonwealth, as now existing or hereafter enacted, relating to workmen's compensation: Provided, however, That the workmen's compensation board and the workmen's compensation referees shall perform their respective duties independently of the secretary of labor and industry or any other official of the department, except that all clerical, stenographic, and other assistance, required by the workmen's compensation board and the several workmen's compensation referees, shall be appointed by the department as provided in this act;

* * * * * * *

SEC. 1709. Rehabilitation.—The department of labor and industry shall have the power:

(a) To render aid to persons injured in industrial pursuits, to arrange for medical treatment for such persons, and procure artificial limbs and appliances to enable them to engage in remunerative occupations;

(b) To make surveys to ascertain the number and condition of physically handicapped persons within the Commonwealth;

(c) To cooperate with the department of public instruction in arranging for training courses in the public schools or other educational institutions for persons injured in industrial pursuits, and to arrange for such courses in industrial or agricultural establishments; and

(d) To such extent as the department shall have funds available for the purpose, to provide maintenance for such injured persons during such training in such amounts as may be provided by law.

SEC. 1710. Employment and unemployment.—The department of labor and industry shall have the power:

(a) To endeavor to bring together employers seeking employees and applicants for employment;

(b) To supervise all public and private employment agencies;

(c) To report on the extent of unemployment, the remedy therefor, and the means for the prevention thereof:

(d) To establish employment offices or labor exchanges at convenient places throughout the Commonwealth:

(e) To promote the intelligent distribution of labor and, when necessary, to assist in securing transportation for employees desiring to go to places where work is available.

SEC. 1714. Industrial board.—The industrial board created by this act shall have the power and its duty shall be:

(a) To meet at least once each month for the purpose of considering such matters as are brought before it or the secretary shall request;

(b) To hold hearings with reference to the application by the department of the laws affecting labor upon appeal either of employees or employers or of the public, and after such hearings to make recommendations to the department;

(c) To approve or disapprove the rules and regulations established by the department of labor and industry and to make suggestions to the department for the formulation of such rules and regulations;

(d) To consider, study, and investigate the conduct of the work of the department of labor and industry. For this purpose the board shall have access at any time to all books, papers, documents, and records pertaining to or belonging to the department, and may require oral or written information from any officer or employee thereof.

SEC. 1803. Housing inspection.—[Directs the department of health to cooperate with the department of labor and industry in the inspection of the sanitary condition of tenements, lodging, and boarding houses "for the purpose of avoiding any duplication of inspection or overlapping of functions."]

SECS. 2401–2403. Department of mines.—[The department of mines is to continue to exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred on it by law, to see that the laws are faithfully executed, to make necessary inspections of mines and machinery to that end, to aid and instruct the inspectors and to make examinations, investigations, and recommendations in the interest of miners, owners, and operators. Inspectors continue to perform the duties devolved upon them by law.]

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

ACTS OF UNITED STATES CONGRESS—1901–2

CHAPTER 1369.—Slave labor

SECTION 5.

* * * * * * *

Slavery prohibited.—Neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist in said islands.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 74. Employment of slave labor.—The government of the Philippine Islands may grant franchises, privileges, and concessions, including the authority to exercise the right of eminent domain for the construction and operation of works of public utility and service, * * * Provided further, That it shall be unlawful for any corporation organized under this act, or for any person, company, or corporation receiving any grant, franchise, or concession from the government of said islands, to use, employ, or contract for the labor of persons claimed or alleged to be held in involuntary servitude; and any person, company, or corporation so violating the provisions of this act shall forfeit all charters, grants, franchises, and concessions for doing business in said islands, and in addition shall be deemed guilty of an offense, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten thousand dollars.

ACTS OF U. S. PHILIPPINE COMMISSION—1903

ACT NO. 702.—Chinese labor—Immigration—Registration

SECTIONS 1–8. Certificates.—[All Chinese laborers in the islands are required to have a certificate of registration, showing name, age, date, and place of birth, residence and occupation, with a photograph of the person described; for which a fee of fifty cents is charged. A reasonable time is to be allowed for replacing lost certificates; but those without certificates will be deported. Chinese entitled to enter the islands may secure a certificate on landing.]

SEC. 12. Definitions.—The word "laborer" or "laborers" wherever used in this act shall be construed to mean both skilled and unskilled manual laborers, including Chinese laundrymen and Chinese employed in mining, fishing, huckstering, peddling, or taking, drying, or otherwise preserving shell or other fish for home consumption or exportation.

The term "merchant" as employed in this act signifies a person engaged in buying and selling merchandise at a fixed place of business, which business is conducted in his name, and who during the time he claims to be engaged as a merchant does not engage in the performance of any manual labor except such as is necessary in the conduct of his business as such merchant. The definition of "laborer" and "merchant" set out in this section shall receive the same construction as that given to it by the Federal courts of the United States and the rulings and regulations of the Treasury Department of the United States.

ACT NO. 703.—Railroads—Safety appliances—Rules

SECTION 19. Brakes, etc.—* * * Brakes and such other safety appliances for the security of life and property shall be installed by the grantee [Manila Railroad] company on all trains and locomotives, at road crossings and at other places of danger, as may from time to time be designated and approved by the government.

SEC. 29. Rules.—Before inaugurating the first district of the line conceded the grantee company shall submit for the approval of the proper governmental authority of the Islands the working rules and regulations * * * for the guidance of its employees, and the government having given the company opportunity to be heard thereon, shall make in said working rules and regulations the additions and alterations which shall be considered necessary. These working rules and regulations, after being approved by the proper governmental authority, shall have the force of law, but they shall be subject to modification at any time at petition of the company, or by direction of the government, said modifications being subject, after giving the company opportunity to be heard, to alteration by the proper authority, and when approved in presented or modified form shall have the force of law.

ACTS OF U. S. PHILIPPINE COMMISSION—1904

Act No. 1189.—License tax—Exemption of mechanics

Section 139. Tax.—Except as hereinafter specifically exempted, there shall be paid by each merchant and manufacturer a tax at the rate of one-third of one per centum on the gross value in money of all goods, wares, and merchandise sold, bartered, or exchanged for domestic consumption in the Philippine Islands, and this tax shall be paid whether such commodities consist of raw materials or manufactured or partially manufactured products, and whether of domestic production or imported. * * *

Sec. 142. Exemptions.—The following persons shall be exempted from the payment of the taxes imposed in section one hundred and thirty-nine:

* * * * * * *

(f) Carpenters, brick masons, tinsmiths, joiners, plumbers, and other mechanics and artisans, and all other persons who work by contract, by the piece, or by the day for others and who have no shop and keep no stock for sale or distribution of articles manufactured by them.

ACTS OF PHILIPPINE LEGISLATURE—1908

Act No. 1874.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

Section 1. When liable.—If personal injury is caused to an employee, who, at the time of the injury, is in the exercise of due care, by reason of—

First, a defect in the condition of the ways, works, or machinery connected with or used in the business of the employer, which arose from, or had not been discovered or remedied in consequence of, the negligence of the employer or of a person in his service who had been intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the ways, works, or machinery were in proper condition; or

Second, the negligence of a person in the service of the employer who was intrusted with and was exercising superintendence and whose sole or principal duty was that of superintendence, or, in the absence of such superintendent, of a person acting as superintendent with the authority or consent of such employer; or

Third, the negligence of a person in the service of the employer who was in charge or control of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, or train upon a railroad; the employee, or his legal representatives, shall, subject to the provisions of this act, have the same rights to compensation and of action against the employer as he had not been an employee, nor in the service, nor engaged in the work, of the employer.

A car which is in use by, or which is in possession of, a railroad corporation shall be considered as part of the ways, works, or machinery of the corporation which uses or has it in possession, within the meaning of clause one of this section, whether it is owned by such corporation or by some other company or person. One or more cars which are in motion, whether attached to an engine or not, shall constitute a train within the meaning of clause three of this section, and whoever, as part of his duty for the time being, physically controls or directs the movements of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, or train shall be deemed to be a person in charge or control of a signal, switch, locomotive engine, or train within the meaning of said clause.

Sec. 2. Injuries causing death.—If, as the result of the negligence of the employer or that of a person for whose negligence the employer is liable under the provisions of section one, an employe is killed or dies by reason of injuries received, his widow, or legal heirs, or next of kin who at the time of his death were dependent upon his wages for support, shall have a right of action for damages against the employer.

SEC. 3. Degree of culpability.—If, under the provisions of this act, damages are awarded for the death, they shall be assessed with reference to the degree of culpability of the employer or of the person for whose negligence the employer is liable.

The amount of damages which may be awarded in an action under the provisions of section one for a personal injury to an employee, in which no damages for his death are awarded under the provisions of section two, shall not exceed two thousand pesos.

The amount of damages which may be awarded in such action, if damages for his death are awarded under the provisions of section two, shall not be less than five hundred pesos nor more than two thousand five hundred pesos for both the injury and the death.

SEC. 4. Notice, limitation.—No action for damages for injuries or death under this act shall be maintained if a report thereof is not furnished to the employer within ninety days of the date, place, and cause of the injury or if the action is not brought within one year from the time of the accident causing the injury or death. The report required by this section shall be made in writing and signed by the person injured or by another in his name, or if, on account of physical or mental disability, it is impossible for the person injured to give the notice within the time provided by this section, the same may be given within ten days after such disability shall have been removed, and in case of death without said report having been given and without the person having for ten days at any time after the period above mentioned been able to give such notice, the widow, legal heirs, or next of kin dependent upon his wages for support, may give such notice within thirty days following the death of the laborer. No report given under the provisions of this act shall be considered void or insufficient by reason only of some inaccuracy as regards the date, place, or cause of the injury, if there was no intention to mislead or the employer has not been misled by reason of such inaccuracy.

SEC. 5. Suits take precedence.—All actions for damages which may be brought under this act shall have preference over all other matters save and except criminal cases and habeas corpus matters on the dockets of the courts of first instance, and shall be promptly tried by the court and decided within fifteen days after final submission of the case to the court for decision.

On application to the court by the party injured or by his duly authorized representatives, the court may make a proper allowance for food and medical attendance during the pendency of the action and while medical attendance is still necessary by reason of the injury: Provided, however, That the defendant in the action shall be given an opportunity to be heard before any such allowance is made.

SEC. 6. Employees of contractors and subcontractors.—If an employer enters into a contract, written or verbal, with an independent contractor to do part of such employer's work, or if such contractor enters into a contract with a subcontractor to do all or any part of the work comprised in such contractor's contract with the employer, such contract or subcontract shall not bar the liability of the employer for injuries to the employees of such contractor or subcontractor caused by any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, or plant, if they are the property of the employer or are furnished by him and if such defect arose or had not been discovered or remedied through the negligence of the employer or of some person intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that they were in proper condition.

SEC. 7. Contributions to insurance funds.—An employer who shall have contributed to an insurance fund created and maintained for the mutual purpose of indemnifying an employee for personal injuries for which compensation may be recovered under the provisions of this act or who shall have contributed to any relief society for the same purpose may prove in mitigation of the damages recoverable by an employee under the provisions of this act such proportion of the pecuniary benefit which has been received by such employee from any fund or society on account of such contribution of said employer as the contribution of such employer to such fund or society bears to the whole contribution thereto.

SEC. 8. Effect of knowledge of employee.—An employee or his legal representative shall not be entitled under the provisions of this act to any right of action for damages against his employer if such employee knew of the defect or negligence which caused the injury and failed within a reasonable time to give or cause to be given information thereof to the employer or to some person superior to himself in the service of the employer who was intrusted with general superintendence.

SEC. 9. Exemptions.—This act shall not be applicable to domestic servants or agricultural laborers.

SEC. 10. Waivers void.—Any agreement to renounce the benefits of this act made by the laborer prior to the occurrence of any accident resulting in his injury or death shall be null and void.

ACTS OF 1909

ACT No. 1956.—Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

SECTION 50. Rank.—[Debts for personal services rendered by clerks, laborers, or domestic servants during the 60 days preceding action rank next after legal expenses, funeral expenses of the debtor, his wife or dependent child, and debts due the insular, provincial or municipal governments.]

ACTS OF 1911–12

ACT No. 2098.—Contracts of employment—Repayment of advances

SECTION 1. Failure to render service.—Any person who, with intent to injure or defraud his employer, enters into a contract for the performance of any act of personal service, and thereby obtains money or other personal property from such employer as a gratuity or advance on wages to be earned under such contract of employment, and without just cause, and without refunding such money or paying for such property, refuses or fails to perform such act of service, shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred pesos, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or with both penalties.

SEC. 2. Cultivating rented land.—Any person who with intent to injure or defraud his landlord, enters into a contract in writing for the rent of land, under an agreement to cultivate such land, and thereby obtains money or other personal property from such landlord, and without just cause, and without refunding such money or paying for such personal property, refuses or fails to cultivate such land, or to comply with his contract relative thereto, shall on conviction be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred pesos, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or with both penalties.

SEC. 3. Failure to pay wages.—Any person who with intent to injure or defraud shall contract with another to receive from him personal services of any kind and to compensate him therefor, and thereafter with like intent receives the benefit of such services in whole or in part and fails or refuses to pay the compensation agreed upon shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred pesos, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or with both penalties.

ACT No. 2129.—Employment offices—Public registry of workmen

SECTION 1. Registry authorized.—Municipal councils organized under act numbered eighty-two, and the townships of Mindoro, Palawan, and Batanes, are hereby authorized to establish a general register of mechanics or day laborers residing in their respective municipalities. Said register shall be in charge of the municipal secretary, who shall keep same in his office and at the disposal of the public for the purposes of this act.

SEC. 2. Registration.—The municipal treasurer shall, as soon as the municipal council shall have so ordered by resolution, carefully ascertain the trade of each person presenting himself in his office to pay for his registration certificate or personal cedula, for the purpose of separating and making a list of those persons who are mechanics or day laborers by occupation, and the list made in the manner hereinafter specified shall be turned over to the municipal secretary for the purpose of entering the names of such persons in the register provided for by this act: Provided, That said list shall contain the name, age, civil status, barrio or sitio of residence, and trade of the person registered, and whether such person is then employed or unemployed: And provided further, That in municipalities where there are free labor exchanges or employment agencies established as provided in section two (c) of act numbered eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, the duties hereby imposed on the municipal secretary shall be performed by the superintendent of said exchanges or agencies.

SEC. 3. Register to be open.—The register or registers provided for in the next preceding section shall be at the disposition of the public.

SEC. 4. Dates of contracts to be entered.—As soon as said mechanics or day laborers shall have accepted the conditions of a contract and both parties thereto shall have complied with all of the requirements of existing laws regulating the relations between employers and laborers, the municipal secretary shall note in the register in his office, by the side of each name, the date on which such mechanics or day laborers were contracted and the name of the person, contractor, company, or firm to whom they are to render their services.

SEC. 5. Termination of contract.—Upon the cancellation or termination of the contract, the contractor or contractors or employers shall report the fact to the municipal secretary, who shall make a note of it under the proper date by the side of the respective name or names.

SEC. 6. Employment not restricted.—Nothing herein contained shall be understood to restrict the liberty of a mechanic or day laborer to seek employment or occupation elsewhere, subject to the provisions of an act numbered two thousand and ninety-eight, he being obliged only, when he does so, to report the fact to the municipal secretary for the purpose of noting his name in the register: Provided, That no fee shall be charged for the work of making the entries, notations, and registrations provided for in this act.

SEC. 7. Reports.—The municipal secretary shall send a report of current transactions or statistics regarding mechanics and day laborers registered in his office to the bureau of labor, monthly or quarterly, as may be ordered by the director of labor.

ACT No. 2300.—Kidnaping to service—Peonage

SECTIONS 1–3. Acts forbidden.—[Slavery, involuntary servitude, and peonage are prohibited and to be punished according to the decrees, etc., of the former Spanish Government. The provisions of the code of penal laws of the United States as to kidnaping (secs. 269–271, Criminal Code) are adopted, with the necessary modifications, "as if they had been enacted by the Philippine legislature."]

ACTS OF 1915

ACT No. 2473.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 1. Negligence presumed.—In all litigations instituted by a laborer or by his heirs and successors under the provisions of act numbered eighteen hundred and seventy-four of the Philippine Legislature, entitled "An act to extend and regulate the responsibility of employers for personal injuries and deaths suffered by their employees while at work," neglect on the part of the employer shall constitute a presumption of law.

ACT No. 2486.—Emigrant agents—Labor commissioners

SECTION 1. Who covered.—Every person or entity who, directly or indirectly, shall engage in the Philippine Islands in contracting, enlisting, recruiting, or shipment of laborers, shall pay annually, as a tax, to the provincial treasurer of each one of the provinces where laborers are contracted or recruited, and if in Manila, to the collector of internal revenue, the sum of five hundred pesos, which fund shall be subjected to the conditions expressed in the following sections: Provided, That when such contracting, enlistment, recruiting, or shipment of laborers is made in representation of a corporation or person, said tax shall be paid by the same and not by each one of its agents or employees: Provided, further, That nothing contained in this act shall be interpreted or construed in such manner as to permit any contract or recruiting of individuals of non-Christian tribes for the purpose of exhibiting same in the Philippines or in any other foreign country, which is hereby declared prohibited and unlawful: And provided finally, That nothing contained in this act shall be applied to persons who contract individuals for other personal service or to make up the crew of a vessel.

SEC. 2. Return of workmen.—Any company or entity engaged in the industry mentioned in the next preceding section shall be obliged to furnish free passage upon the return to these islands of the laborer or laborers contracted, so soon as the time stipulated in the contract made with him shall have expired in case they shall have complied with the terms and conditions of the contract on their part to be kept and performed, or in case they shall have later become unfit for work on account of physical incapacity.

SEC. 3. License.—Any person or entity referred to by this act shall annually provide himself, before engaging in the industry referred to by this law, with a license issued by the director of the bureau of labor and approved by the secretary of commerce and police, in which shall be expressed the name of the Province or names of the Provinces where he is to exercise such industry. For the issuance of said license the director of the bureau of labor shall collect the sum of six thousand pesos annually which shall be covered into the insular treasury.

SEC. 4. Commissioners.—The Governor General, with the advice and consent of the commission, shall from time to time appoint a commissioner or commissioners for service outside of the Philippine Islands, whose duty it shall be to receive and hear the complaints made by Filipino laborers, to arrange the differences between the latter and their employers, to see to the compliance of the contracts made with said laborers, and to look after their interests in general, making a report of the condition thereof to the Governor General: Provided, That the compensation, traveling and other expenses of such commissioner or commissioners shall be fixed by the Governor General; but the total expense for this purpose shall not exceed six thousand pesos in any one year.

SEC. 5. Minors.—All of the contracts made with laborers shall be supervised by the director of labor, whose duty it shall be to permit no contracting of minors under fifteen years, and minors of eighteen years without the written consent of their parents or guardians.

SEC. 6. Violations.—Any violation of this act shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed two thousand pesos [$1,000] or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

ACT No. 2549.—Company stores—Payment of wages

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, No. 3085). Coercion; use of tokens, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation engaged in any business or enterprise in the Philippine Islands in any manner to force, compel, or oblige any laborer or other employee employed by him to purchase merchandise, commodities, or personal property of any kind or nature from such person, firm, or corporation, or from any other person, firm, or corporation, or pay or cause to be paid the wages due a laborer or employee, or any part of said wages, by means of tokens, tickets, chits, or objects other than legal tender currency of the Philippine Islands: Provided, That any contract between employer and laborer by which the latter binds himself to accept payment of his wages or any part thereof in tokens, tickets, chits, or other objects, and any other contract between them the direct or indirect purpose of which shall be to defeat the purposes of this act, shall be null and void.

SEC. 1-a (added 1922, No. 3085). Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the director of labor to investigate and inspect personally or through his delegates the manner in which laborers' wages are paid not only in the cities and other industrial centers; but also on the plantations in the various parts of the Islands, and to denounce any direct or indirect violation of this act observed in the course of such investigation or inspection.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1923, No. 3085). Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, 100 to 1,000 pesos ($50 to $500), or imprisonment one month to one year, or both.]

ACTS OF 1917

ACT No. 2668.—Salary law—Bureau of labor

SECTION 1. Salaries.—The salaries of the officers and employees of the Philippine Government mentioned in this act shall hereafter be as follows:

* * * * * * *

(bb) The director of labor, 5,000 pesos ($2,500) per annum. The assistant director, 4,000 pesos ($2,000) per annum.

ACT NO. 2711.—Administrative code

SECTION 75. Departments.—There shall be six executive departments, to wit, * * * the department of commerce and communications, which shall be under the direct control of the respective secretaries of departments, exercising their functions subject to the general supervision and control of the governor general.

SEC. 86. Bureaus.—The department of commerce and communication shall have the executive supervision over the bureau of public works, the bureau of posts, the bureau of supply, the bureau of labor, and the bureau of coast and geodetic survey.

BUREAU OF LABOR

SECTION 2058. Head of bureau.—The bureau of labor shall have one chief and one assistant chief, designated, respectively, as the director of labor and the assistant director of labor.

SEC. 2059. Powers and duties.—The bureau of labor shall have the power, and it shall be its duty—

(a) To see to the proper enforcement of all laws relating to labor and capital in the Philippine Islands, and to promote the enactment of legislation which shall tend to establish the material, social, intellectual, and moral improvement of workers.

(b) To acquire, collect, compile, systematize, and submit from time to time reports to the department head, statistical data relative to the hours and wages of labor, the number of workers in each trade or occupation, employed and unemployed, their place of birth, age, sex, civil status, and moral and mental culture; the estimated number of families of married workers, houses rented by them, and annual rental; property owned by them, the value of such property; the cost of living, the amount of labor required, the estimated number of persons dependent on their daily wages, the probable changes in all the persons employed, the condition of shops, factories, railways, tramways, industrial and commercial establishments, and all other places or centers of labor, whether public or private, including the penal institutions of these islands, with respect to the safety of life and health of workers; the means adopted to avoid accidents or make reparation therefor; the number of accidents which take place, their causes and the action taken in each case; conditions and certainty of the payment of wages; the business of savings banks with the working classes; corporations, [sic] strikes, suspensions of work, and other labor difficulties, their causes and the remedies adopted in each case; mutual benefit associations, workers' insurance societies, associations for the collection of statistics and cooperative production, and other labor organizations, and their effects on labor and capital; private employment, complaint, defense, and consultation agencies for laborers; their conditions and effects and other matters relative to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, moral, and sanitary condition of the working classes and the permanent prosperity of the various industries of the islands; and in the case of laborers born in foreign countries, the date of their arrival and the length of their stay in these islands.

(c) To inspect all shops, factories, railways, tramways, vessels, industrial and commercial establishments, and all other places or centers of labor, whether public or private, and to take the proper legal steps to prevent the exposure of the health or lives of laborers, and to aid and assist by all proper legal means laborers and workers in securing just compensation for their labor, and the indemnity prescribed by law for injuries resulting from accidents when engaged in the performance of their duties.

(d) To secure the settlement of differences between employer and laborer and between master and servant and to avert strikes and lockouts, acting as arbitrator between the parties interested, summoning them to appear before it, and advising and bringing about, after hearing their respective allegations and evidence, such arrangement as these may, in his judgment, show to be just and fair.

(e) To organize in such towns in the Philippine Islands as it may deem necessary or advisable one or more free employment agencies. A fee in an amount to be fixed by the director of labor, with the approval of the department head, may be collected by said director from employers for services performed by an employment agency in securing servants and employees. An employment agent shall not be subject to the provisions of the civil service law, unless his appointment shall so state.

SEC. 2060. Attorney.—There shall be in the bureau of labor an attorney to be known as the attorney of the bureau of labor. It shall be his duty to assist the director or assistant director of labor in all legal questions by them submitted to him, and to bring suit gratuitously in the proper courts, for indigent laborers or servants when he shall deem this proper after the failure of the endeavors to bring about a friendly settlement made by the director or assistant director of labor in the performance of the duties imposed and the exercise of the powers conferred upon them by subsection (d) of the next preceding section hereof.

SEC. 2061. Oaths.—The director of labor and the assistant director of labor shall have power to administer oaths in matters connected with the administration of the bureau of labor and to take testimony in any investigation conducted in pursuance of the provisions of this chapter.

The attorney of the bureau of labor shall have power to administer oaths as aforesaid and may, when thereunto specially deputed by the director of labor, exercise the authority to take evidence which is herein-above vested in said director.

PROVINCIAL EMPLOYEES—PAYMENT OF WAGES

SECTION 2118. Payment in kind.—Money expendable for provincial improvements of any character may, when duly authorized by the provincial board, be used for purchasing rice or other necessaries to be sold or paid in kind, without profit, to laborers actually engaged upon such improvements.

PROTECTION OF EMPLOYEES AS VOTERS

SECTION 2656 (as amended 1922, No. 3030). Threatening discharge, etc.—Any person who influences or attempts to influence a voter in connection with the forthcoming election by threatening to discharge such voter from his employment or to reduce his wages, or by promising to give him employment or higher wages, and any person who discharges any voter from his employment or reduces his wages, in connection with the forthcoming election, shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than five years, and by a fine of not less than one hundred pesos nor more than two thousand pesos, and by deprivation of the right of suffrage and disqualification from public office for a period of not more than five years.

* * * * * * *

ACT NO. 3071.—Employment of women and children

SECTION 1. Mines, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to employ females or males below the age of fourteen years as laborers in the mines or in places of labor where explosives are used or manufactured.

SEC. 2. Seats; time for meals.—Any person, firm, or corporation owning a factory, shop, or industrial, or mercantile establishment, shall be obliged to provide and place in its establishment, for the use of its laborers, seats proper for women and children and permit them to use said seats during the hours when they are free of work and during working hours, provided they can perform their duties in this position without detriment to efficiency. Laborers shall be allowed not less than sixty minutes for their noon meal.

SEC. 3. Work time.—[No person under 16 may be employed in any shop, factory, or commercial, or industrial establishment more than 7 hours per day or 42 hours per week. A schedule of hours must be posted in work rooms.]

SEC. 4. Illiterates: certificates.—[No child under 14 who does not know how to read and write may be employed on school days. A birth certificate is required for all employed children under 18.]

SEC. 5. Bars.—[No female under 18 or male under 16 may be employed at a licensed bar.]

SEC. 6. Standing.—[Women may not be employed in factories, shops, and the like, where constant standing is required.]

SEC. 7. Poisonous substances.—[No child under 16 may be employed in connection with the preparation of any poisonous, noxious, explosive, or infectious substance.]

SEC. 8. Hazardous work.—[No person under 18 may be employed in work involving serious danger to life.]

SEC. 9. Toilets, etc.—[Separate and suitable closets and lavatories must be provided for males and females, and at least one dressing room for women and children; but the director of the bureau of labor may exempt small shops, financially unable to comply herewith.]

SECS. 10, 11. Employments forbidden.—[No person under 16 may be employed to operate elevators, as motorman or fireman, to clean machinery, to work underground or do similar work; nor in billiard rooms, cockpits, or other places where games are played for stakes, nor in dance halls, stadiums, or race courses as bailarinas, boxers, or jockeys.]

SEC. 12. Night work.—[No child under 16 may be employed between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 13. Child-bearing women.—[Thirty days' vacation before and 30 days after confinement must be allowed employed women; nor may they be discharged without just cause, under penalty of two months' wages.]

SEC. 14. Sale of drugs.—[No person under 16 may be employed in the sale of medicines and drugs in a pharmacy, or for any work that may affect the health of the public.]

SEC. 15. Violations.—[Violations entail fines, 50 to 250 pesos ($25 to $125), or imprisonment ten days to six months, or both.]

PORTO RICO

ACTS OF UNITED STATES CONGRESS—1916–17

CHAPTER 145.—Employment of labor—Department of agriculture and labor—Civil government act

SECTION 2. Limit of power; eight hours per day.—No law shall be enacted in Porto Rico which shall deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, or deny to any person therein the equal protection of the laws.

* * * * * * *

Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to limit the power of the legislature to enact laws for the protection of the lives, health, or safety of employees.

* * * * * * *

Eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all cases of employment of laborers and mechanics by and on behalf of the government of the island on public works, except in cases of emergency.

The employment of children under the age of fourteen years in any occupation injurious to health or morals or hazardous to life or limb is hereby prohibited.

SEC. 13. Departments.—The following executive departments are hereby created: * * * a department of agriculture and labor, the head of which shall be designated as the commissioner of agriculture and labor; * * *

SEC. 18. Duties of commissioner.—The commissioner of agriculture and labor shall have general charge of such bureaus and branches of government as have been or shall be legally constituted for the study, advancement, and benefit of agricultural and other industries, the chief purpose of this department being to foster, promote, and develop the agricultural interests and the welfare of the wage earners of Porto Rico, to improve their working conditions, and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment, and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 38. Laws not to apply.—* * * The [railroad] safety appliance acts and the several amendments made or to be made thereto * * * shall not apply to Porto Rico.

REVISED STATUTES AND CODES—1911

Liability of employers for injuries to employees

SECTION 916. Liability declared.—Where, after the passage of this act, personal injury is caused to an employee who is himself in the exercise of due care and diligence at the time:

1. By reason of any defect in the condition of the ways, works, or machinery, connected with or used in the business of the employer, which arose from or had not been discovered or remedied owing to the negligence of the employer or of any person in the service of the employer and intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the ways, works, or machinery, were in proper condition; or

2. By reason of the negligence of any person in the service of the employer intrusted with the exercising of superintendence whose sole or principal duty is that of superintendence; or

3. By reason of the negligence of any person in the service of the employer who has charge of, or physically controls, any signal, switch, locomotive engine, car, or train in motion, whether attached to an engine or not, upon a railroad. the employee, or, in case the injury results in death, his widow or children, or both of them, and if there be no such widow and children, then his parents (provided that said parents were dependent upon such employee for support) may maintain an action for damages against the employer, pursuant to the provisions of this act [secs. 916–925].
